a The Lord made thee King, and therefore thou art highly obliged to ſerve and obey him. b Thou haſt committed one Error already, for which God hath ſeverely rebuked and threatned: now therefore make amends for thy former Error, and regain God's Favour by thy exact Obedience to what he now commands.

* Ex. 17. 8. Numb. 24. 20.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, I remember that which Amalek did to Iſrael c, * how he laid wait for him in the way when he came up from Egypt d.

c I ſeem to have forgotten, but now I will ſhew that I remember, and now will revenge thoſe old Injuries done 400 Years ago, which now I will puniſh in their Children: which was the more juſt, becauſe they continued in their Parents cruel Practices; below, v. 33. d When he was newly come out of cruel and long Bondage, and was now weak, and weary, and faint, and hungry, Deut. 25. 18. and therefore it was Barbarous and Inhuman, inſtead of that pity which even Nature prompted them to afford, to add affliction to the afflicted; it was alſo horrid Impiety to fight againſt God himſelf, and to lift up their Hand in a manner againſt the Lord's Throne, as ſome Tranſlate theſe words, Exod. 17. 16. whilſt they ſtruck at that People which God had brought forth in ſo ſtupendious and miraculous a way.

3 Now go and ſmite Amalek, and utterly deſtroy all that they have e, and ſpare them not f; but ſlay both man and woman, infant and ſuckling g, oxe and ſheep, camel and aſſe h.

e Both Perſons and Goods, kill all that live, and conſume all things without life, for I will have no Name nor Remnant of that People whom long ſince I have Curſed and Devoted to utter Deſtruction. f Shew no Compaſſion or Favour to any of them. The ſame thing repeated to prevent miſtake, and oblige Saul to the exact performance hereof; or, to leave him without excuſe, in caſe of neglect. g For their Parents Crime and Puniſhment: which was not unjuſt, becauſe God is the Supreme Lord and giver of Life, and can require his own when he pleaſeth; Infants alſo are born in ſin, Pſal. 51. 5. and therefore liable to God's Wrath, Eph. 2. 3. and to death, Rom. 5. 12, 14. Their death alſo was rather a Mercy than a Curſe to them, as being the occaſion of preventing the vaſt increaſe of their Sin and Puniſhment. h Which being all made for Man's benefit, it is not ſtrange nor unjuſt, if they ſuffer with him, and for him, and for the inſtruction of Mankind.

4 And Saul called the people together, and numbred them in Telaim, two hundred thouſand footmen, and ten thouſand men of Judah k.

k Who are particularly Noted here, as alſo chap. 11. 8. either as Select Perſons of extraordinary Strength and Courage: or to commend that Tribe, which though the Kingdom had been promiſed to their own Tribe, yet were forward in ſerving and obeying a King of another, and that a far meaner Tribe.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek l, and || laid wait m in the valley.

l Their chief City, where their King was, as is probable from v. 8. m Intending to draw them forth of their City by ſome pretence, like that of Joſhua, Joſh. 7. and then to intercept them, and ſo ſurprize their City: which hapily they did, though it be not here Recorded, it being not worth while to mention all the minute Circumſtances of ſuch matters.

6 ¶ And Saul ſaid unto the Kenites n, Go, depart, get ye down from among the Amalekites, leſt I deſtroy you with them: for ye ſhewed kindneſs p to all the children of Iſrael, when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

n A People deſcending from, or nearly related unto Jethro, who anciently dwelt in Rocks near the Amalekites, Numb. 24. 21. and afterwards ſome of them dwelt in Judah, Judg. 1. 16. whence it is probable they removed, (which, dwelling in Tents, they could eaſily do) and retired to their old habitation, becauſe of the Wars and Troubles wherewith Judah was annoyed. p Some of your Progenitors did ſo, Exod. 18. 12. Numb. 10. 31. and for their ſakes all of you ſhall fare the better. You were not Guilty of that ſin for which Amalek is now to be deſtroyed.

7 And Saul ſmote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comeſt to * Shur q, that is over againſt Egypt.

q i.e. From one end of their Country to the other; he ſmote all that he met with: but a great number of them fled away upon the noiſe of his coming, as is uſual in ſuch caſes, and ſecured themſelves in other places, until the Storm was over, when they returned again: of whom we read before, chap. 13. 6. and 14. 22.

8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive r, and * utterly deſtroyed all the people ſ with the edge of the ſword.

* See Cha. 30. 1.

r Whom Saul ſpared, either out of fooliſh pity for the goodlineſs of his Perſon, which Joſephus Notes: or, for his reſpect to his Royal Majeſty, in the preſervation of which he thought himſelf concerned: or, for the Glory of his Triumph: Compare v. 12. ſ To wit, the Body of the People, but not every individual Perſon, as hath been ſhewed. Univerſal Particles are commonly thus underſtood, as is confeſſed.

9 But Saul and the people t ſpared Agag, and the beſt of the ſheep, and of the oxen, and ‖ of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good u, and would not utterly deſtroy them: but every thing that was vile, and refuſe, that they deſtroyed utterly x.

t The one propoſed to do ſo, and the other conſented to it, and ſo both were Guilty. u Which it is more than probable they reſerved for their own uſe, rather than for Sacrifice; becauſe they knew God would not accept a Sacrifice contrary to his own command. x Thus they obey God only ſo far as they could without inconvenience to themſelves; they deſtroyed only what was not worth keeping, nor fit for their uſe.

10 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Samuel, ſaying, 11 It * repenteth me y that I have ſet up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not † performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel, and he cried unto the LORD all night z.

* 2 Sam. 24. 16.

y Repentance properly Notes grief of heart, and change of Counſels, and therefore cannot be in God who is unchangeable, moſt Wiſe, and moſt Bleſſed; but it is aſcribed to God in ſuch caſes, when men give God cauſe to Repent, and when God alters his Courſe and Method of dealing, and Treats a Perſon as if he did indeed repent of all the kindneſs he had ſhewed to him. z To implore his pardoning Mercy for Saul, and for the People; ſo far was he from rejoycing in their Calamities, as an envious and ſelf-ſeeking Perſon would have done.

12 And when Samuel roſe early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, ſaying, Saul came to Carmel a, and behold, he ſet him up a † place b, and is gone about, and paſſed on, and gone down to Gilgal.

a Not Mount Carmel, of which Joſh. 12. 22. but another Mountain or Town in the Tribe of Judah; of which ſee Joſh. 15. 55. b i.e. A Monument or Trophy of his Victory, as the ſame Hebrew word is uſed, 2 Sam. 18. 18. And this may be here Noted by way of cenſure, That he ſet it up not to God's honour, but to himſelf, i.e. to his own praiſe; which he minded in the firſt place, and afterwards went to Gilgal, as it here follows, to offer Sacrifice to God.

13 And Samuel came unto Saul, and Saul ſaid unto him, Bleſſed be thou of the LORD c; I have † performed the commandment of the LORD d.

c I thank thee, and I beg that God would bleſs thee, for ſending me upon this Employment, and giving me this opportunity of manifeſting my Obedience to God. d To wit, for the main and ſubſtance of it, to wit, the Extirpation of that wicked People: for he thought the ſparing of Agag and the Cattel very inconſiderable in the caſe; though indeed it was expreſly contrary to God's Command: but Self-intereſt made him exceeding partial in his own Cauſe: or elſe like a bold Hypocrite, he pretends that for his part he had obeyed God; reſolving, it ſeems, to caſt the blame upon the People, as he did.

14 And Samuel ſaid, What meaneth then this bleating of the ſheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear e?

e How can this Evidence of Guilt conſiſt with the profeſſion of thy Innocency?

15 And Saul ſaid, They f have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people ſpared the beſt of the ſheep, and of the oxen, to ſacrifice unto the LORD g thy God h, and the reſt we have utterly deſtroyed.

f i.e. The People. Thus, after the manner of all Hypocrites, he excuſeth himſelf, and lays the blame upon the People; whereas they could not do it without his privity and conſent; and he ſhould have uſed his Power and Authority to over-rule them for God's ſake, as he had done formerly for his own ſake. But the truth is, he was zealous for his own Honour and Intereſt, but luke-warm where God only was concerned. g It is not likely that this was his and the Peoples Deſign; but this he now pretends, and aſcribes that to his Piety, which was indeed the effect of his Impiety and Avarice. h Whom thou Loveſt and Serveſt, and therefore muſt needs be pleaſed with our Pious reſpect to him and his Service.

16 Then Samuel ſaid unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what the LORD hath ſaid to me this night. And he ſaid unto him, Say on.

17 And Samuel ſaid, When thou waſt little in thine own ſight i, waſt thou not made the head of the tribes of Iſrael, and the LORD anointed thee king over Iſrael?

i i.e. Modeſt, Humble, and Submiſſive, as 1 Sam. 9. 21. and 10. 22. Whereby he implies, that now he was grown Proud, and Stubborn, and Impudent, both to commit ſin, and juſtifie it.

18 And the LORD ſent thee on a journey, and ſaid, Go, and utterly deſtroy the ſinners k the Amalekites, and fight againſt them, until † they be conſumed.

k So called by way of Eminency, as that word is uſed, Gen. 13. 13. Matth. 9. 10. John 9. 24, 31.

19 Wherefore then didſt thou not obey the voice of the LORD, but didſt flye upon the ſpoil, and didſt evil in the ſight of the LORD l?

l Who cannot be deceived by thy fair profeſſions of Religion, but knows very well, that thou didſt not ſeek Sacrifices for God, but Prey for thy ſelf.

20 And Saul ſaid unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the LORD m, and have gone the way which the LORD ſent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek n, and have utterly deſtroyed the Amalekites.

m He addeth Obſtinacy and Impenitency to his Crime, and juſtifies his Fact, though he hath nothing of any Moment to ſay, but what he ſaid before. So he gives Samuel the lye, and reflects upon him, as one that had falſly Accuſed him. n To be dealt with as God pleaſeth, and as thou thinkeſt fit.

21 But the people took of the ſpoil, ſheep and oxen, the chief of the things which ſhould have been utterly deſtroyed o, to ſacrifice unto the LORD thy God in Gilgal.

o Heb. the chief of the devoted things: which being devoted to Deſtruction, I thought it moſt proper to deſtroy them by way of Sacrifice to God. But God had commanded Saul himſelf to ſmite and ſlay all upon the place, above, verſe 3.

22 And Samuel ſaid, * Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt-offerings and ſacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, * to obey is better than ſacrifice p: and to hearken q, than the fat of rams r.

*Pſal. 50. 8, 9. Iſa. 1. 11.

* Eccl. 5. 1. Hoſ. 6. 6. Mat. 5. 24. and 9. 13. and 12. 7.

p Becauſe Obedience to God is a Moral Duty, conſtantly and indiſpenſably neceſſary; but Sacrifice is but a Ceremonial Inſtitution, ſometimes unneceſſary, as it was in the Wilderneſs; and ſometimes ſinful, when it is offered by a polluted hand, or in an irregular manner. Therefore thy groſs Diſobedience to God's expreſs Command, is not to be compenſated with Sacrifice. q i.e. To obey, as hearing is oft uſed in Scripture, r Then the choiceſt part of all the Sacrifice, to wit, the Fat, which was appropriated to God, Levit. 3. 16. Whereas the Offerer might partake of other parts of it.

23 For rebellion ſ is as the ſin of † witchcraft t, and ſtubbornneſs u is as * iniquity and idolatry x: becauſe thou haſt rejected the word of the LORD, he hath alſo rejected thee from being king y.

ſ i.e. Diſobedience to God's expreſs Precept, which was Saul's caſe. t Is, though not ſo great, yet as inexcuſable and impudent a ſin, as Witchcraft; as plainly Condemned, and as certainly Deſtructive and Damnable. u Either, wilful and preſumptuous ſin, whereby a man violently breaks looſe from God's Command, and reſiſts his Authority: Or rather, Perſeverance or Contumacy in ſin, juſtifying it, and pleading for it, which was Saul's preſent Crime. x Or, the Iniquity of Idolatry; this being an Hendiadis; as Judgment and Juſtice, Deut. 16. 18. is put for the Judgment of Juſtice, or Juſt Judgment. Or, Idolatry (for ſo the Hebrew word Aven ſignifies, as Jer. 10. 15. Hoſ. 4. 15. and 10. 5. Compare with 1 Kings 12. 29.) even the Teraphim, which is here mentioned as one of the worſt kinds of Idolatry. y i.e. Hath pronounced the Sentence of Rejection: for that he was not actually Rejected or Depoſed by God, plainly appears, becauſe not only the People, but even David, after this, owned him as King; and Samuel, at Saul's deſire, did honour him; i.e. own him as King, before the People, v. 30.

24 ¶ And Saul ſaid unto Samuel, I have ſinned z: for I have tranſgreſſed the commandment of the LORD, and thy words a; becauſe I feared the people b, and obeyed their voice.

z Which confeſſion proceeded not from true Repentance, but from the ſence of his great Danger, and from a deſire of recalling that dreadful Sentence denounced againſt him. a i.e. The Commandment of the Lord delivered to me by thy words. Another Hendiadis. b Who, as thou knoweſt, are ſet upon miſchief, and would probably have broken forth into a Mutiny or Rebellion, had I done otherwiſe. But how little he feared the People, may be ſeen by 1 Sam. 11. 7. and 14. 24. But this was a falſe cauſe: nor doth he acknowledge the true cauſe, which was his Covetouſneſs, and becauſe he did not fear God.

25 Now therefore, I pray thee, pardon my ſin c, and turn again with me d, that I may worſhip the LORD e.

c Uſe thy great Intereſt with God to obtain the Pardon of my ſin. Or, do thou pardon my ſin againſt thee: for he had ſinned not only againſt God, but againſt Samuel alſo, as God's Prophet; and therefore needed a Pardon both from God and Man. d To Gilgal, whence Saul was gone forth to meet Samuel; and Samuel is here ſaid to turn again to Gilgal; not properly, for he had not now been there: but by way of Concomitancy, becauſe he accompanied Saul, who was come thence, and returned thither: See the like expreſſion, Ruth 1. 10, 22. and 2. 6. e That I may offer further Sacrifices to God; partly, to praiſe him for the paſt Victory; and partly, to implore his Mercy, and the taking off of my ſin and puniſhment. This was a politick device of Saul's; That Samuel might at leaſt ſeem to countenance his Deſign, in reſerving the Cattel for Sacrifice: which Samuel ſeeing, refuſed to do it. Heb. and I will worſhip the Lord, i. e. I will ſeek his Pardon and Favour.

26 And Samuel ſaid unto Saul, I will not return with thee f: for thou haſt rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD hath rejected thee from being king over Iſrael.

f This was no lye, though he afterwards returned, becauſe he ſpoke what he meant; his words and intentions agreed together, though afterwards he ſaw reaſon to change his Intentions. Compare Gen. 19. 2, 3. Which may relieve many perplexed Conſciences, who think themſelves obliged to do what they have ſaid they would do, though they ſee juſt cauſe to change their minds.

*See 1 Kin. 11. 30.

27 And as Samuel turned about to go away, * he laid hold upon the skirt of his mantle, and it rent.

*Ch. 28. 17 1 King. 11. 31.

28 And Samuel ſaid unto him, * The LORD hath rent the kingdom of Iſrael from thee g this day, and hath given it to a neighbour of thine h, that is better than thou.

g Samuel makes uſe of the emergent occaſion, as a ſign, to ſignifie and confirm his former Prediction. h Either, another Man: or, another Iſraelite: for the word Neighbour, is uſed both ways: or rather, one of the Neighbouring Tribe, even Judah, whoſe Inheritance did not only joyn to that of Benjamin, but was partly mixed with it.

29 And alſo the ‖ ſtrength of Iſrael i * will not lie k, nor repent l: for he is not a man that he ſhould repent.

i So he calls God here; partly, to ſhew the reaſon why God neither will nor can lye; becauſe lying is a weakneſs, and proceeds from the ſence of a Man's weakneſs, becauſe he cannot many times accompliſh his Deſign without Lying and Diſſimulation; which therefore many Princes have uſed for this very reaſon. But, ſaith he, God needs no ſuch Artifices; he can do whatſoever he pleaſeth by his Abſolute Power, and hath no need to uſe lyes to accompliſh his Will: partly, to ſhew that Iſrael ſhould be no loſer by Saul's loſs, as he might vainly imagine, becauſe he had ſaved them from their Enemies on every ſide, chap. 14. 47. For not Saul, but God, was the Strength and Protector of Iſrael, and he would continue to ſave them when Saul was loſt and gone: and partly, to aſſure Saul that God would execute this Threatning, becauſe he wanted not ſtrength to do it, and none could hinder him it it. l i. e. Nor change his Counſel; which alſo is an effect of weakneſs and imperfection, either of Wiſdom or Power.

30 Then he ſaid, I have ſinned; yet honour me now, I pray thee, before the elders of my people, and before Iſrael m, and turn again with me, that I may worſhip the LORD thy God.

m Here he plainly diſcovers his Hypocriſie, and the true motive of this and his former Confeſſion; he was not ſolicitous for the Favour of God, but for his Honour and Power with Iſrael.

31 So Samuel turned again after Saul n, and Saul worſhipped the LORD.

n Not to Worſhip the Lord with him, for that he did not; and therefore it is here mentioned that Saul only Worſhipped the Lord: but for two other reaſons; Firſt, That the People might not upon pretence of this Sentence of rejection, immediately withdraw all Reſpect and Obedience to their Sovereign; whereby they would both have ſinned againſt God, and have been as Sheep without a Shepherd. Secondly, That he might rectifie Saul's Error, and execute God's Judgment upon Agag.

32 ¶ Then ſaid Samuel, Bring ye hither to me Agag the king † of the Amalekites: and Agag came unto him delicately o. And Agag ſaid p, Surely the bitterneſs of death is paſt q.

o Or, in Delights; or, in his Ornaments; i. e. He came not like an Offender, expecting the Sentence of Death; but in that Garb and Geſture which became his Quality. p Or, for Agag ſaid: This being the reaſon why he came ſo. q I who have eſcaped Death from the hands of a Warlike Prince in the fury of Battel, ſhall certainly never ſuffer Death from an old Prophet in time of Peace.

* Numb. 14. 45.

33 And Samuel ſaid, * As thy ſword hath made women childleſs r, ſo ſhall thy mother be childleſs among women. And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces ſ before the LORD t in Gilgal.

r Whereby it appears; that he was a cruel Tyrant, and guilty of many bloody Actions, and that towards God's People, though it be not related elſewhere. And this ſeems to be added for the fuller vindication of God's Juſtice, and to ſhew, that although God did at this time remember and revenge a Crime committed by this Man's Anceſtors 400 Years ago, yet he did not puniſh an Innocent Son for his Father's Crimes, but one that allowed and perſiſted in the ſame evil courſes. ſ This he did by divine Inſtinct, and in purſuance of God's expreſs and particular Command, above, v. 3. which being ſinfully neglected by Saul, is now executed by Samuel. See the like example 1 King. 18. 40. But theſe are no Precedents for private Perſons to take the Sword of Juſtice into their hands. For we muſt live by the Laws of God, and not by extraordinary examples. t Either, before the Ark, which, it ſeems, Saul carried with him in this, as he did, in his former expedition, chap. 14. 18. or, before God's Altar: or, in the publick Aſſembly.

34 ¶ Then Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his houſe to * Gibeah of Saul.

35 And Samuel came no more to ſee Saul u until the day of his death: nevertheleſs, Samuel mourned for Saul u: and the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Iſrael.

u i. e. To viſit him, either, in token of Reſpect or Friendſhip: or, to ſeek Counſel from God for him, or to give Counſel to him. Seeing is put for Viſiting here, and 2 Kings 8. 29. Otherwiſe he did ſee him afterwards, chap. 19. 24. Though indeed it was not Samuel that came thither with deſign to ſee Saul, which is implied in the Phraſe here; but Saul went thither to ſee Samuel, and that accidentally. x Partly for Saul's ſake, whoſe ſad condition he lamented: and partly, for Iſrael's ſake, whoſe eſtate he feared might by this means be doubtful and dangerous.

CHAP. XVI.

Samuel is ſent by God; who, under pretence of a Sacrifice for fear of Saul, cometh to Bethlehem: Sanctifieth Jeſſe and his ſons, 1,——5. His humane Judgment in chooſing Eliab the eldeſt ſon is reproved, 6, 7. God had choſen David the youngeſt to be King in Saul's place, 8,——12. Samuel anointeth him, and the ſpirit of God cometh upon him: But departeth from Saul: And an evil ſpirit cometh upon him, 13, 14. He ſends for David to quiet it: His Praiſe: Saul loveth him, and maketh him his Armour-Bearer: He playeth before Saul when the evil ſpirit diſquieted him, 15,——23.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul a, ſeeing I have rejected him from reigning over Iſrael b? Fill thine horn with oyl c, and go, I will ſend thee to Jeſſe the Bethlehemite: for I have provided me † a king d among his ſons.

a And pray for his Reſtitution, which the following words imply that he did. b The manifeſtation of my peremptory Will, ſhould make thee ſubmit to my pleaſure. c Which was uſed in the Inauguration of Kings, as chap. 10. 1. and 1 Kings 1. 39. But here it is uſed in the Deſignation of a King, though David was not actually made King by it, but ſtill remained a Subject, as is evident from chap. 24. 6. And the reaſon of this Anticipation was, partly, the comfort of Samuel, and other good men, againſt their great fears in caſe of Saul's Death, of which they expected every day to hear: and partly, the aſſurance of David's Title, which otherwiſe would have been very doubtful. For the prevention of which doubts, it was very meet, that the ſame Perſon and Prophet who had Anointed Saul, might now, upon God's rejection of Saul, Anoint David to ſucceed him upon his Death; and becauſe Samuel was now not far from his Death, and was to die before Saul, it was fit that David's Anointing ſhould be haſtned and done before its proper time. d This Phraſe is very Emphatical, and implies the difference between this and the former King. Saul was a King of the Peoples providing, he was the product of their inordinate and ſinful deſires; they deſired him for themſelves, and for their own glory and ſafety, as they ſuppoſed: but this is a King of my own providing, one that I have ſpied out, one of that Tribe to which I have allotted the Kingdom, Gen. 49. 10. A King for me; not one to gratifie the People's deſires, but to fulfil all my Will, as is ſaid, Act. 13. 22. and to ſerve my Glory. Or, my King; the Hebrew Phraſe, to me, or for me, being commonly uſed for the word mine.

2 And Samuel ſaid, How can I go e? if Saul hear it, he will kill me. And the LORD ſaid, Take an heifer † with thee, and ſay, I am come to ſacrifice to the LORD f.

e To wit, Safely? A Queſtion which ſeems to ſavour of Human frailty; for he ſhould have ſtrongly believed that God who had ſet him upon the Work, would carry him through it. f Which he uſed oft to do, ſometimes in one place, and ſometimes in another, that ſo he might encourage and keep up the Worſhip of God in all of them. This was one cauſe, though not the only cauſe, of his coming: nor was he obliged to declare all the cauſes of it.

3 And call Jeſſe to the ſacrifice g, and I will ſhew thee what thou ſhalt do: and thou ſhalt anoint unto me him whom I name h unto thee.

g i. e. Invite him to the Feaſt, which, after the manner, was made of the Fleſh of the Sacrifice: and it belonged to Samuel, as the Offerer of the Sacrifice, to invite whom he pleaſed. h i. e. Whom I ſhall deſcribe, as it were, by name.

4 And Samuel did that which the LORD ſpake, and came to Bethlehem: and the elders of the town trembled at his † coming i, and ſaid, Comeſt thou peaceably k?

i Partly, becauſe it was ſtrange and unexpected to them, this being but an obſcure Town, Mich. 5. 2. and remote from Samuel, and therefore they juſtly thought there was ſome extraordinary reaſon for it; and their guilty Conſciences made them fear that he came to denounce ſome dreadful and particular Judgment of God upon them: and partly, leſt Saul, whoſe heart was eſtranged from, and incenſed againſt Samuel, ſhould upon this occaſion conceive a jealouſie of them, and a diſpleaſure againſt them. k Heb. in or with Peace; either, firſt, to thy ſelf. Comeſt thou voluntarily, or to flee from the Rage of Saul? Or, Secondly to us. Comeſt thou with no evil Tidings to us, either from God, or from Saul? The Hebrew Phraſe, comeſt thou in Peace, being as much as to ſay (in our Phraſe) is all well?

5 And he ſaid, Peaceably: I am come to ſacrifice unto the LORD: ſanctifie your ſelves l, and come with me to the ſacrifice m: and he ſanctified Jeſſe and his ſons, and called them to the ſacrifice n.

l Prepare your ſelves in the manner expreſſed, Exod. 19. 14, 15. m Heb. in the Sacrifice; i. e. joyn with me in this act of Worſhipping God, and offering this Sacrifice, thereby to give Thanks for the Bleſſings you have received from him, and to pray for what you want. n It ſeems evident, that there was ſomething peculiar in Jeſſe's Invitation. For Firſt, Both he and his Sons were Invited, whereas the others are only Invited for their own Perſons. Secondly, The different Phraſe here uſed, that he Sanctified theſe, when he only bad the other Sanctify themſelves; argues a ſingular care and agency of Samuel in their Sanctification: (unleſs we ſhould ſay, He ſanctified them, is no more but that he cauſed them to be ſanctified; that is, theſe in particular amongſt others.) Which makes it probable, that the reſt were only to joyn with him in the act of Sacrificing; but theſe, and only theſe, were Invited to Feaſt upon the remainders of the Sacrifice; which Feaſt is here called a Sacrifice, as it is above verſe 3. And the only inconvenience of this Interpretation is, that the word Sacrifice is taken in different ſenſes in the ſame Verſe, which is no unuſual thing. See Matth. 8. 22. And this difference may poſſibly be intimated by the differing prepoſitions prefixed to the ſame word, the firſt being Bazzabach, and the latter Lazzabach. Howſoever, that only Jeſſe and his Sons were preſent at the Feaſt, may ſeem probable, from Samuel's deſign of Privacy, and from the following Relation.

6 ¶ And it came to paſs, when they were come o, that he looked on * Eliab, and ſaid, Surely the LORDS anointed is before him p.

* 1 Chron. 27. 18. Elihu.

o When the moſt of Jeſſe's Sons were come, either to the place of the Feaſt, or to ſome other place near it, appointed for this private Diſcourſe, whither they were to come before they went to the Feaſt. It muſt alſo be underſtood, that Samuel had acquainted Jeſſe with his Deſign, which is eaſily gathered out of the context, and needed not be expreſſed. p i e. Is in this place where God is now preſent. For it is obſervable, that not only the Sacrifice is ſaid to be Offered, but even the Feaſt upon the remainders of it is ſaid to be, eaten before the Lord, Deut. 12. 7. i.e. before or near his Altar, where God was preſent in a ſpecial manner. And the ground of this expreſſion ſeems to be this, That Jeſſe brought not all his Sons together, but made one after another to come to the place, and to paſs before Samuel, who ſtood before the Lord, in ſome place near the Altar, that this great buſineſs might be managed with more Solemnity. And Eliab being the Perſon now before Samuel, is ſaid to be now before the Lord. But whatſoever the ground of this Phraſe is, this is certain and confeſſed, that this is his meaning, This I take to be the Perſon whom I am ſent to Anoint: wherein yet he was greatly miſtaken, as other Prophets ſometimes were, when they haſtily ſpake their own thoughts, before they had conſulted God in the caſe, as 2 Sam. 7. 3.

y And conſequently is the moſt unfit of all my Sons for that high Employment. Either therefore he did not throughly underſtand David's great Wiſdom and Valour, or he judgeth him unfit, by reaſon of his mean Education. And God ſo ordered it by his Providence, that David's choice might plainly appear to be God's Work, and not Samuel's, or Jeſſe's Deſign. z To wit, to the Feaſt. Qu. How could David be admitted to this Feaſt, being, as it ſeems, not ſanctified with the reſt of his brethren? Anſw. 1. It is not ſtrange, if the Prophet, by God's direction, diſpenſed with the ordinary Rule, in a Perſon ſo extraordinary, both for his Piety, and the Dignity to which he was choſen. 2. It is not affirmed, that David did ſit down with them to the Feaſt; but only, that they would not do ſo till he came. And when he was come, and Samuel had done what he intended with him, David, for ought we know, might depart, and the reſt ſit down to the Feaſt. For David was not now actually raiſed to any higher degree, but returned to his former employment; as we read below, v. 19.

12 And he ſent, and brought him in: now he was ruddy a, and withal, † of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look b to, and the LORD ſaid, Ariſe, anoint him: for this is he.

c According to this Tranſlation, his Brethren were preſent at this Act, and knew that David was Anointed King. But this ſeems to ſome, neither conſiſtent with Samuel's deſign of Secreſie; not with Eliab's ſcornful words concerning him after this, Chap. 17. 28. But to this, others reply, That David's Brethren ſaw David's Unction, but did not particularly underſtand, that he was Anointed to the Kingdom; but were only told by Samuel, that he was Anointed to ſome great Service, which hereafter they ſhould know, but at preſent it was fit to be concealed: Thus Jeſſe only, and David, underſtood the whole buſineſs, and his Brethren were able to atteſt to that Act of Samuel's Anointing him, which, with other collateral Evidences, was abundantly ſufficient to prove David's Right to the Kingdom, if need ſhould be. And this ſeems fairly to accord, and explain the matter: But the words may be otherwiſe Tranſlated out of the Hebrew, That he Anointed him out of the midſt of his brethren; i.e. He ſelected him from amongſt the reſt of his Brethren to be King. As Chriſt is ſaid to be raiſed from the midſt of his brethren. And whereas, the Hebrew Word is Bekereb, in the midſt; not mikkereb, out of the midſt; it is confeſſed, that the Prepoſition beth, in, is oft uſed for min, of or out of, as hath been formerly ſhewed by many inſtances; and ſo it may be here. And further, the place may be thus rendred; that Samuel anointed him, being taken out of the midſt of his brethren: and ſo theſe words may be added, to ſignifie, That Samuel took him out from the reſt of the Company, and privately Anointed him; Jeſſe only being preſent at the Action. And thus there is an Ellipſis of a Verb or Particle, which is frequent; as Gen. 12. 15. The woman was taken (i.e. was taken and carried) into Pharaoh's houſe; and many ſuch places. d i.e. He was immediately endowed with extraordinary Gifts of God's Spirit, as Strength, and Courage, and Wiſdom, and Magnanimity, and other excellent qualities which fitted him for, and put him upon Noble Attempts; for which, he preſently, grew famous, even whilſt he lived a private Life: See below v. 18. and 17, 34, &c.

14 ¶ But the ſpirit of the LORD departed from Saul e, and an * evil ſpirit f from the LORD g ‖ troubled him h.

e God took away that prudence, and courage, and alacrity, and other gifts and aſſiſtances of God's Spirit, wherewith he had qualified him for the management of his Publick Employment. f Properly ſo called: for what need is there of forſaking the proper ſignification of the Word? It is evident both from Scripture, and Experience, that God hath permitted ſome men to be really acted, and diſquieted by the Devil: and why not Saul as well as others? g i.e. By God's permiſſion or judgment, delivering him up to Satan. h Stirred up in him unruly and tormenting Paſſions; as Envy, Rage, Fear, Deſpair, and the like.

15 And Saul's ſervants ſaid unto him, Behold now, an evil ſpirit † from God troubleth thee.

† Heb. of God.

16 Let our lord now command thy ſervants which are before thee, to ſeek out a man, who is a cunning player on an harp, and it ſhall come to paſs, when the evil ſpirit from God is upon thee, that he ſhall play with his hand, and thou ſhalt be well i.

i And the Succeſs confirms their Opinion. For although Muſick cannot directly have any influence upon an Evil Spirit to drive him away; yet, becauſe the Devil, as it ſeems, had not Poſſeſſion of him, but only made uſe of the Paſſions of his Mind, and ill humours of his Body to moleſt him: and becauſe it is manifeſt, that Muſick hath a mighty Power to qualifie and ſweeten theſe, and to make a man ſedate and chearful, as is evident by the unanimous conſent of Learned Writers, and by common Experience; it is not ſtrange, if the Devil had not that power over him when his Mind was more compoſed, which he had when it was diſordered; as the Devil had leſs power over Lunaticks in the decreaſe, than in the increaſe of the Moon: Mat. 17. 15, 18. And ſeeing Muſick prepared the Lord's Prophets for the Entertainment of the good Spirit, as 2 Kings 3. 15. Why might it not diſpoſe Saul to the reſiſtance of the evil Spirit? and why might not the chearing of his Heart, in ſome meaſure ſtrengthen him againſt thoſe temptations of the Devil, which were fed by his Melancholick Humour?

17 And Saul ſaid unto his ſervants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then anſwered one of the ſervants, and ſaid, Behold, I have ſeen a ſon of Jeſſe the Bethlehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in || matters k, and a comely perſon, and the LORD is with him l.

k Wonder not, that David was ſo ſuddenly advanced, from a poor contemptible Shepherd, to ſo great Reputation; for theſe were the Effects of that Spirit of the Lord which he received when he was Anointed. Though ſome would hence inferr, that the things related in this Chapter, happened after the Hiſtory of Chapter 17. though it be placed before, ſuch Tranſpoſitions being not unuſual in Hiſtorical Relations. l i.e. Directs and proſpers all his undertakings.

20 And Jeſſe took an aſs laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and ſent them by David his ſon unto Saul m.

m This Preſent, though in our Times it would ſeem contemptible, yet was very agreeable to the uſage of thoſe Times, and to the condition of Jeſſe, which was but mean in the World. And it ſeems to have been the Cuſtom of thoſe Times, as it is yet in the Eaſtern Countries (when they made their appearance before Princes, or great Perſons, to bring a Preſent; See Gen. 32. 20. Gen 43. 25, 26. and elſewhere.) To which civil Cuſtom, that Religious Precept ſeems conſonant, Exod. 23. 15. Deut. 16. 16. None ſhall appear before me empty. And he might ſend it; partly, as a Teſtimony of his reſpect to his Sovereign; and partly, to gain David favour and acceptance with him; being ſenſible, that he was going into a place and ſtate of hazard; but knowing Saul's furious Temper, he durſt not refuſe to ſend him; and he ſent him the more willingly, becauſe this ſeemed a moſt likely means to accompliſh God's Promiſe of the Kingdom, and to prepare him for it.

21 And David came to Saul, and ſtood before him n: and he loved him greatly, and he became his armour-bearer o.

n i.e. Miniſtred unto him; or, (as we uſe to ſpeak) waited upon him, as that Phraſe oft ſignifies; as Deut. 1. 38. and 10. 8. o He had that Place conferred upon him, though we do not read that he ever exerciſed it; for it ſeems he was gone back to his Father upon ſome occaſion not related; and had abode with him ſome conſiderable time before the War deſcribed, Chap. 17. happened.

22 And Saul ſent to Jeſſe, ſaying, Let David, I pray thee, ſtand before me: for he hath found favour in my ſight.

23 And it came to paſs, when the evil ſpirit † from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: ſo Saul was refreſhed, and was well, and the evil ſpirit departed from him p.

p To wit, for a ſeaſon. And the reaſon of this Succeſs, may be, partly natural and common; of which, ſee on v. 16. and partly, ſupernatural and ſpecial, reſpecting David; whom God deſigned by this means, to bring into favour with the King and his Court, and ſo to ſmooth the way for his Advancement.

CHAP. XVII.

The Armies of the Iſraelites and Philiſtines ready for Battel: Goliah terrifieth the Iſraelites with his Stature, Armour and Challenge, 1,——11. David ſent by his Father to viſit his Brethren; is willing to Encounter with him, 12,——27. for which Eliab chideth him: He is brought to Saul, and ſheweth the reaſon of his Confidence, 28,——37. He taketh a Staff: And Sling, with five Stones, 38,—40. Goliah curſeth and threatneth him, 41,—44. David's Faith: He ſlayeth him, 45,——50. The Philiſtines fly: Are ſmitten and plunder'd, 51,—54. Saul taketh notice of David, 55,—58.

c Heb. a man between two; either becauſe he uſed to come forth, and ſtand between the two Armies; or, becauſe he moved that the buſineſs ſhould be decided between two, whereof he would be one. d Which is not ſtrange, for beſides the Giants mentioned in Scripture, Herodotus, Diodorus Siculus, and Pliny, and others, make mention of perſons ſeven Cubits high; which is near double to an ordinary mans height.

f On which the Weavers faſten their Web. It was like this for thickneſs; and for length, that he omits, as eaſie to be collected by proportion to the reſt. And though the whole weight of Goliah's Armour may ſeem prodigious; yet it is not ſo much by far, as one Athanatus did manage: of whom Pliny relates, That he ſaw him come into the Theatre with Arms weighing 12000 Ounces.

And he ſtood and cryed unto the armies of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Why are ye come out to ſet your battel in aray? am not I a Philiſtine, and ye ſervants to Saul? chooſe ye a man for you, and let him come down to me g.

g That the Battel may be decided by us Two alone. Such offers were frequent in thoſe Times. And poſſibly he thought the Valiant Jonathan, who had Aſſaulted an whole Army, would never have refuſed this Challenge. But God ſo ordered the matter, that none ſhould accept it, becauſe he would reſerve this Honour for David, as a ſtep to his Kingdom.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your ſervants: but if I prevail againſt him, and kill him, then ſhall ye be our ſervants, and ſerve us.

10 And the Philiſtine ſaid, I defie the armies of Iſrael this day: give me a man that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and all Iſrael heard thoſe words of the Philiſtine, they were diſmayed, and greatly afraid h.

h Which may ſeem ſtrange, conſidering the glorious Promiſes, and their late Experiences of Divine Aſſiſtance. But the truth is, all Men do ſo intirely depend upon God in all things, that when he withdraws his help, the moſt Valiant and Reſolute Perſons cannot find their Hearts nor Hands, as daily experience ſhews.

12 ¶ Now David was * the ſon of that * Ephrathite i of Bethlehem-Judah, whoſe name was Jeſſe, and he had eight ſons k: and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.

20 And David roſe up early in the morning, and left the ſheep with a keeper, and took, and went as Jeſſe had commanded him: and he came to the ‖ trench q as the hoſt was going forth to the ‖ fight, and ſhouted r for the battel.

24 And all the men of Iſrael, when they ſaw the man, fled † from him, and were ſore afraid.

25 And the men of Iſrael ſaid, Have ye ſeen this man that is come up? ſurely to defie Iſrael is he come up: and it ſhall be that the man who killeth him, the King will enrich him t with great riches, and * will give him his daughter, and make his fathers houſe free u in Iſrael.

* Joſh. 15. 16.

t It is obſervable, that Saul in his great Diſtreſs, doth not encourage himſelf in God, nor ſeek his counſel or favour by Prayers and Sacrifices, but expects Relief from Men only. This was one effect and ſign of the departure of God's Spirit from him. u Free from all thoſe Tributes and Charges which either the Court or the Camp required.

26 And David ſpake to the men that ſtood by him, ſaying, What ſhall be done to the man that killeth this Philiſtine, and taketh away the reproach from Iſrael? for who is this uncircumciſed Philiſtine, that he ſhould defie the armies of the living God x?

x Why ſhould you all be thus diſmayed at him? he is but a Man, and that of an accurſed Race, a Stranger and Enemy to God. and no way able to ſtand before them who have the Living and Almighty God for their Strength and Refuge?

27 And the people anſwered him after this manner, ſaying, So ſhall it be done unto the man that killeth him.

28 ¶ And Eliab his eldeſt brother heard when he ſpake unto the men, and Eliab's anger was kindled againſt David y, and he ſaid, Why cameſt thou down hither? and with whom haſt thou left thoſe few ſheep in the wilderneſs z? I know thy pride, and the naughtineſs of thine heart a; for thou art come down that thou mighteſt ſee the battel.

y Either becauſe he thought him guilty of intollerable Folly, and Pride, and Preſumption, in pretending to ſuch an Attempt: or becauſe he feared and concluded he would be certainly Ruined in the Enterprize: or rather, becauſe he envied him the glory of ſo great an undertaking; and took this proffer of David's to be, what indeed it was, a Reproach to himſelf, and to all the reſt, that having the great God on their ſide, had not the Faith or Courage to fight with him. z Thou art much fitter to tend Sheep, than to appear in an Army, or to fight with a Giant. a Thy ſelf-confidence, and vain-glory, and curioſity.

29 And David ſaid, What have I now done? Is there not a cauſe b?

b Either, 1. Of my coming: My Father ſent me on an Errand. Or rather, 2. Of my thus ſpeaking: Is there not Reaſon in what I ſay? Is this Giant Invincible? is our God unable to Oppoſe him, and Subdue him?

30 ¶ And he turned from him towards another, and ſpake after the ſame † manner c: and the people anſwered him again after the former manner.

c For being ſecretly moved by God's Spirit to undertake the Combat, he ſpeaks with divers Perſons about it, that ſo it might come to the King's ear.

31 And when the words were heard which David ſpake, they rehearſed them before Saul: and he † ſent for him.

32 ¶ And David ſaid to Saul, Let no mans heart fail becauſe of him: thy ſervant will go and fight with this Philiſtine.

33 And Saul ſaid to David, Thou art not able to go againſt this Philiſtine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth d, and he a man of war from his youth.

d Either, 1. For Age, to wit, comparatively to Goliah, being now not much above 20 years old, as is ſuppoſed. Or rather, 2. For Military skill, as the words following explain it; as if he ſhould ſay, Thou art but a Novice, a raw and unexperienced Soldier, and therefore unable to Fight with him.

34 And David ſaid unto Saul, Thy ſervant kept his father's ſheep, and there came a lion and a bear e, and took a ‖ lamb out of the flock:

e Not both together, but one after another, at ſeveral times.

35 And I went out after him, and ſmote him f, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he aroſe againſt me, I caught him by his beard, and ſmote him, and ſlew him.

f To wit, the Lyon, as appears by his Beard: which having particularly mentioned, it was eaſily underſtood, and believed, that he did the ſame to the Bear; which therefore it was needleſs to expreſs.

36 Thy ſervant ſlew both the lion and the bear g: and this uncircumciſed Philiſtine ſhall be as one of them, ſeeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.

g This he is probably thought to have done after he was Anointed; when he was endowed with ſingular gifts of God's Spirit: and among others, with extraordinary courage of Heart, and ſtrength of Body.

37 David ſaid moreover, The LORD that delivered me out of the † paw of the lion, and out of the † paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philiſtine h. And Saul ſaid unto David, Go i, and the LORD be with thee.

h His Good-will is the ſame to me, that it then was, and his Power is not diminiſhed. i It is not ſtrange, that Saul conſents to the Combat, conſidering David's pious and convincing Diſcourſe, grounded upon ſenſible Experience; and withal, the dangerous condition of the Iſraelitiſh Affairs, and the abſolute refuſal of all other Perſons.

38 ¶ And Saul † armed David with his armour k, and he put an helmet of braſs upon his head, alſo he armed him with a coat of mail.

k Either, 1. With Saul's own Armour which he uſed to wear in Battel; which ſeems not to agree with the extraordinary height of Saul's Stature, 1 Sam. 10. 23. Nor is it like that Saul would diſarm himſelf, when he was going forth to the Battel, v. 20, 21. Or, 2. With Armour taken out of his Armory. Not that the whole Armory of Saul was brought into the Field; but that ſome choſen Arms were taken out thence, and brought for any emergent occaſion. Or rather, 3. With his veſtments, or garments. For, 1. So the Hebrew Word properly and uſually ſignifies; and ſo this ſame Word is Tranſlated, 1 Sam. 18. 4. 2. His Armor is diſtinguiſhed from this, and is particularly deſcribed in the following words. He ſeems therefore to ſpeak of ſome Military Veſtments which were then uſed in War, and were contrived for defence; ſuch as Buff-coats now are.

39 And David girded his ſword upon his armour, and he aſſayed to go, for he had not proved it: and David ſaid unto Saul, I cannot go with theſe: for I have not proved them l. And David put them off him.

l I have no skill nor experience in the management of this kind of Arms.

40 And he took his ſtaff m in his hand and choſe him five n ſmooth ſtones o out of the ‖ brook, and put them in a ſhepherds † bag which he had, even in a ſcrip, and his ſling was in his hand p, and he drew near to the Philiſtine.

m His Shepherds Staff. Theſe Arms were in themſelves contemptible, yet choſen by David; partly, becauſe he had no skill to uſe other Arms; partly, becauſe he had inward aſſurance of the Victory, even by theſe Weapons; and partly, becauſe ſuch a Conqueſt would be moſt honourable to God, and moſt ſhameful, and diſcouraging to the Philiſtines. n That if one ſhould fail him, he might make uſe of another. o Becauſe ſuch Stones would go moſt freely out of the Sling; and conſequently, with more force and certainty, directly to the Mark which he aimed at. p This ſort of Weapons was not unuſual in the Fights of ancient Times; and many arrived at great dexterity in ſlinging Stones with great certainty; of which we have inſtances both in Scripture, as Judg. 20. 16. and in Diodorus Siculus, and Livy, and other Authors.

41 And the Philiſtine came on, and drew near unto David, and the man that bare the ſhield went before him.

42 And when the Philiſtine looked about, and ſaw David, he diſdained him: for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair countenance q.

q Not having ſo much as the countenance of a Martial Perſon.

43 And the Philiſtine ſaid unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comeſt to me with ſtaves r? and the Philiſtine curſed David by his gods s.

r i. e. With a Staff. The Plural Number for the Singular; as Gen 21. 7. and 46. 7. s He prayed that his god Dagon, and Aſhtaroth, &c. would deſtroy him.

44 And the Philiſtine ſaid to David, Come to me, and I will give thy fleſh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beaſts of the field.

45 Then ſaid David to the Philiſtine, Thou comeſt to me with a ſword, and with a ſpear, and with a ſhield: but I come to thee in the name of the LORD of hoſts t, the God of the armies of Iſrael, whom thou haſt defied u.

t i.e. By a Commiſſion from him, with confidence in him, and aſſurance of his Help, and for the vindication of his Honour. u In defying that Army and People whereof he is the Lord and Protector.

46 This day will the LORD † deliver thee into mine hand, and I will ſmite thee, and take thine head from thee, and I will give the carcaſes of the hoſt of the Philiſtines this day unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beaſts of the earth, that all the earth may know that * there is a God in Iſrael x.

* 2 Kings 5. 15.

x Heb. that God, the only true God, is for Iſrael; or on Iſrael's ſide, and againſt you. Or, that Iſrael hath a God, a God indeed, one who is able to help them; and not ſuch an impotent Idol as you ſerve.

47 And all this aſſembly ſhall know, that the LORD ſaveth not with ſword and ſpear y, (for the battel is the LORD's z,) and he will give you into our hands a.

y i.e. That he can ſave without theſe Arms, and with the moſt contemptible Weapons, ſuch as mine ſeem to thee. z i.e. The Events of War are wholly in his Power, to give Succeſs to whom, and by what means he pleaſeth. a David ſpeaks thus confidently, becauſe he was aſſured of it by a particular Inſpiration from God.

48 And it came to paſs, when the Philiſtine aroſe, and came, and drew nigh to meet David, that David haſted, and ran toward the army to meet the Philiſtine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a ſtone, and ſlang it, and ſmote the Philiſtine in his fore-head, that the ſtone ſunk into his fore-head b, and he fell upon his face to the earth.

b Either, 1. The Stone pierced through his Helmet; which ſuch Stones being ſlung would not ſeldom do; as even Diodorus Siculus relates. Or 2. The Stone might get in through one of thoſe holes which are left in Helmets, that he that wears it may ſee his way, and how to direct his blows. Or rather, 3. The proud Giant had lift up that part of his Helmet which covered his Fore-head; and that in contempt of David and his Weapons, and by the ſingular direction of God's Providence.

50 So David prevailed over the Philiſtine, with a ſling, and with a ſtone, and ſmote the Philiſtine, and ſlew him; but there was no ſword in the hand of David.

51 Therefore David ran and ſtood upon the Philiſtine, and took his ſword c, and drew it out of the ſheath thereof, and ſlew him d, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philiſtines ſaw their champion was dead, they fled.

c Hence it appears, that David was not a little Man, as many fancy; but a Man of conſiderable bulk and ſtrength, becauſe he was able to manage a Giant's Sword; which alſo he did, both here and below, Chap. 21. 9. d Qu. How could this be, when he ſlew him before with the Stone, v. 50? Anſ. There he gives a general account of the Event of the Battel; and of the Giant's Death: but here he gives a particular Relation of the manner and inſtrument of his Death. The Stone threw him down to the Earth, and bereaved him of the uſe of his Senſe and Motion; but there remained ſome Life in him, (as frequently doth in ſuch caſes) which the Sword took away, and ſo compleated the Work.

52 And the men of Iſrael and of Judah aroſe, and ſhouted, and purſued the Philiſtines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron: and the wounded of the Philiſtines fell down by the way to Shaarim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.

53 And the children of Iſrael returned from chaſing after the Philiſtines, and they ſpoiled their tents e.

e Heb. their camps i.e. Their Camp: but he ſpeaks of it in the Plural Number, becauſe of the great extent, and various quarters of their Camp.

54 And David took the head of the Philiſtine, and brought it to Jeruſalem f; but he put his armour in his tent g.

f Either, to terrifie the Jebuſites, who yet held the Fort of Zion, 2 Sam. 5. 7. or, for ſome other reaſon not Recorded, nor now known. g i.e. In the Tent which was erected for him in the Camp, upon this occaſion. There it was kept for the preſent; though afterwards it ſeems to have been tranſlated to the Tabernacle; where we find his Sword, Chap. 21. and it is not unlikely the reſt of his Armour was there alſo.

55 And when Saul ſaw David go forth againſt the Philiſtine, he ſaid unto Abner the captain of the hoſt, Abner, whoſe ſon is this youth h? and Abner ſaid, As thy ſoul liveth, O king, I cannot tell i?

h Qu. How could David be unknown to Saul, with whom he had lived, Chap. 16. 21? Anſ. That might well be, for divers reaſons, becauſe David was not conſtantly with him; nor, as it ſeems, uſed by him, but upon extraordinary Occaſions, and deſperate fits of Melancholy; from which, poſſibly he had been free for a good while, by God's ſpecial Providence and Care for his People Iſrael, that ſo he might be capable of Governing and Protecting them againſt the Philiſtines, who watched all opportunities againſt them, and at laſt broke forth into an open War. Thus David had been for ſome conſiderable time diſmiſſed from Saul's Court, and was returned home. And therefore it is not ſtrange, if Saul had for the preſent forgotten David. For Kings, becauſe of the Incumbrance of Publick Buſineſs, and the multitude of Perſons who come to them on ſeveral occaſions, may eaſily forget ſome Perſons; yea, ſuch as have frequently been with them, eſpecially their Servants whom they do not uſe to obſerve with ſo much attention and care as they do others. Add to this, that the diſtemper of Saul's mind might make him forgetful; and that David might now be much changed, both in his countenance and in his habit, from what he had before; and it is apparent, that the change of habits makes ſo great a difference, that it oft keeps us from the knowledge of thoſe Perſons whom in other habits we very well know. Some give this Anſwer, That this was the firſt time that Saul had ſeen David; and that David's exploit here Recorded, was performed before that which is Recorded Chap. 17. 15, &c. though it be placed after it: But that is confuted by comparing Chap. 18 1, 2, 3. i Which is not ſtrange, becauſe Abner's converſation and employment was generally in the Camp, when David was at the Court; and when Abner was there, he took little notice of a Perſon ſo much inferior to him as David was.

56 And the king ſaid, Inquire thou whoſe ſon the ſtripling is.

57 And as David returned from the ſlaughter of the Philiſtine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philiſtine in his hand.

58 And Saul ſaid to him, Whoſe ſon art thou, thou young man? and David anſwered, I am the ſon of thy ſervant Jeſſe, the Bethlehemite.

CHAP. XVIII.

Jonathan loved David: They Covenant together, 1,—4. Saul envieth David's praiſe: In his fury ſeeketh to kill him, 5,——11. is afraid of him: And removeth him: He is loved by the People, 12,——16. Saul offereth David his Daughters, firſt Merab who is given to Adriel; then Michal who loveth David, 17,——20. Saul demandeth 100 foreskins of the Philiſtines for a Dowry: David promiſeth: Delivereth double the number: Obtaineth Michal, 21,——27. Saul's fear and hatred: And David's Glory increaſeth, 28,—30,

AND it came to paſs, when he had made an end of ſpeaking unto Saul, that the ſoul of Jonathan was † knit with the ſoul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own ſoul a.

† Heb. bound up in. Gen. 44. 30.

a Partly, for his excellent Vertues and Endowments, which ſhone forth both in his Speeches and Actions; partly, for the great and good Service which he had done to God and to his People; and partly, for the ſimilitude of their Age and Qualities.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his fathers houſe b.

b By which it appears, that before-time David had not his conſtant reſidence at Court, but did return to his Father's Houſe, and thence again to the Court, as occaſion required.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant c, becauſe he loved him as his own ſoul.

c i.e. An agreement of ſincere and perpetual Friendſhip between them.

4 And Jonathan ſtript himſelf of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his ſword, and to his bow, and to his girdle d.

d Partly, as a pledge of his great reſpect and affection to him: and partly, to vindicate David from that contempt which might cleave to him for his former Paſtoral habit and condition, and to put him into an habit ſuitable to his preſent Greatneſs and Glory.

5 ¶ And David went out e whitherſoever Saul ſent him, and || behaved himſelf wiſely: and Saul ſet him over the men of war f, and he was accepted in the ſight of all the people, and alſo in the ſight of Saul's ſervants.

e Upon Military expeditions, of which that word is oft uſed. f Gave him ſome conſiderable Command in his Army, though not the Supreme.

6 And it came to paſs, as they came, when David was returned from the ſlaughter of the || Philiſtine g, that the women came out of all the cities of Iſrael h, ſinging, and dancing i, to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with † inſtruments of muſick.

g Either, Firſt, From ſome eminent Victory obtained by him againſt the Philiſtines, though not particularly related, wherein alſo Saul might be preſent and concerned. Or rather, Secondly, From the ſlaughter of Goliah, and the other Philiſtines with him. Againſt this it is Objected, That this Song was Sung either after David was advanced and employed, as is related v. 5. and therefore not immediately after that great Victory; or, before he was ſo advanced; and then it would have raiſed Saul's Jealouſie and Envy, and conſequently hindered David's Advancement. But it may be replied, That this Song, though placed afterwards, was ſung before David's Advancement, related v. 5. And that this did not hinder David's preferment, muſt be aſcribed, partly, to Saul's Policy, who, though he had an Eye upon David, and deſigned to cruſh him upon a fit occaſion; yet ſaw it neceſſary for his own Reputation, and the encouragement of other Mens Valour, and for the ſatiſfaction of Jonathan's paſſionate Deſire, and the juſt and general Expectation of the whole Army and People, to give him ſome conſiderable Preferment for the preſent; and principally, to God's Providence over-ruling Saul, againſt his own Inclination, and his miſtaken Intereſt. h i.e. Out of all the neighbouring Cities, by or through which the Victorious Army marched. i According to the Cuſtom of thoſe times and places: Of which ſee Exod. 15. 20. Judg. 11. 34.

7 and the women anſwered one another k as they played, and ſaid, * Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands l.

* Chap. 21. 11. & 29. 5.

k Singing by parts alternately. l So they ſaid, becauſe David killed Goliah, which was the principal cauſe of all the following ſlaughter of the Philiſtines.

8 ¶ And Saul was very wroth, and the ſaying † diſpleaſed him, and he ſaid, They have aſcribed unto David ten thouſands, and to me they have aſcribed but thouſands: and what can he have more, but the kingdom m?

† Heb. was evil in his eyes.

m What greater honour can they give him, but that of the Kingdom? Or thus: And moreover, this will not reſt here, they will certainly give him the Kingdom: they will tranſlate the Crown from me to him. Or thus: And moreover, the Kingdom certainly belongs to him; i.e. I now perceive that this is the Favourite of God, and of the People; this is that Man after God's own Heart, to whom Samuel told me that God would transfer my Kingdom.

9 And Saul eyed David n from that day and forward.

n i.e. Narrowly obſerved all his Counſels and Actions, that he might underſtand whether he had any Deſign upon the Kingdom or no; and that he might find ſome colourable Pretence of putting him to death.

10 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the * evil ſpirit from God came upon Saul o, and he propheſied p in the midſt of the houſe: and David played with his hand as at other times: and there was a javelin in Sauls hand q.

* Chap. 16. 14.

o Saul's Envy, and Jealouſie, and Diſcontent revived his Melancholick Diſtemper, which the Devil, according to his wont, ſtruck in with. p Or, he feigned himſelf to be a Prophet, for ſo Hebrew Verbs in Hithpahel oft ſignifie; i.e. he uſeth uncouth Geſtures, and Signs, and Speeches, as the Prophets, or Sons of the Prophets uſed to do: for which they were by the ignorant and ungodly ſort reputed mad Men, 2 King. 9. 11. And it may ſeem probable, that Saul did now ſpeak of Divine Things politickly, that thereby he might lull David aſleep, and kill him, before he ſuſpected any Danger. q Which he kept there for the following purpoſe.

11 And Saul caſt the javelin; for he ſaid, I will ſmite David even to the wall with it: and David avoided out of his preſence twice r.

r Once at this time, and another time upon a like occaſion, chap. 19. 10.

12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David ſ, becauſe the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul.

ſ Leſt as he had gotten the favour of God and of all the People, he ſhould alſo take away his Kingdom.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from him t, and made him his captain over a thouſand, and he went out, and came in u before the people.

t From his Preſence and Court; which he did, partly, becauſe he feared leſt David ſhould watch and find an opportunity to kill him, as he had deſigned to kill David; partly, becauſe he was a great Eye-ſore, and his preſence now made him more ſad than ever his Muſick had made him chearful: and principally, that hereby he might expoſe him to the greateſt hazards, and in ſome ſort betray him into the hands of the Philiſtines. u He led his Soldiers forth to Battel, and brought them back again with ſafety. Compare 2 Sam 5. 2. Or elſe the Phraſe of coming in and going out, may be underſtood (as elſewhere) for converſing; or (as we uſe to ſay) going to and fro about buſineſs; as chap. 29. 6.

14 And David || behaved himſelf wiſely in all his ways, and the LORD was with him x.

x So that he had great Prudence in his Conduct, and proſperous ſucceſs following his Deſigns: which are two principal Qualifications of a General, and of a Prince. Thus God turned all Saul's Devices upon himſelf, and to David's Advantage.

15 Wherefore when Saul ſaw that he behaved himſelf very wiſely, he was afraid of him.

16 But all Iſrael and Judah loved David, becauſe he went out and came in before them.

17 ¶ And Saul ſaid to David, Behold, my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife y: only be thou † valiant for me, and fight the LORD's battels: for Saul ſaid, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philiſtines be upon him z.

y This was no more than Saul was obliged to do by his former promiſe, chap. 17. 25. which here he renews and pretends to perform, though he intended nothing leſs, as the Sequel ſhews. Whereby he makes himſelf guilty of Ingratitude, Injuſtice, and breach of Truſt, and withal of groſs Hypocriſie. z He thought ſo great an offer would oblige him, who was of himſelf Valiant enough, to give proofs of more than common Valour, and to venture upon the moſt dangerous Enterprizes.

18 And David ſaid unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life a, or my fathers family in Iſrael, that I ſhould be ſon in law to the king?

a i.e. My manner of living! How obſcure is that Condition in which I was born and have been bred! Or rather thus: How little is my life worth, that by the expoſing of that to ſome hazard (which Saul required of him) I ſhould purchaſe a King's Daughter! In theſe Expreſſions David ſheweth not only his Humility, but alſo his Wiſdom, in diſcovering ſo deep a ſenſe of his own meanneſs, that Saul might ſee how far he was from aſpiring at the Kingdom, and might have no occaſion to ſuſpect that he was already anointed thereto.

19 But it came to paſs at the time when Merab Sauls daughter ſhould have been given to David b, that ſhe was given unto Adriel the Meholathite c to wife.

b When the Marriage was even ready to be ſolemnized. c The Son of Barzillai, as he is called 2 Sam. 21. 8. This was an act of great Injuſtice and Perfidiouſneſs; and accordingly this Marriage was accurſed by God, and the Children begotten in it, were by God's appointment cut off, 2 Sam. 21.

20 And Michal Sauls daughter loved David: and they told Saul, and the thing † pleaſed him d.

d Not for any Reſpect he had to David; but for his own malicious and wicked Ends, that he might make uſe of her Love to David, to enſnare and ruine him, which he thought might be done many ways, whereof one is here expreſſed.

21 And Saul ſaid, I will give him her, that ſhe may be a ſnare to him, and that the hand of the Philiſtines may be againſt him. Wherefore Saul ſaid to David, Thou ſhalt * this day e be my ſon in law, in the one of the twain f.

e i.e. Suddenly, within a time which probably Saul prefixed. f Whereas I have only two Daughters, and thou waſt diſappointed of thy expectation in the one by an unexpected accident, thou ſhalt certainly have the other, which is the ſame thing. Heb. in the twain. Thus the Cities of Gilead is put for one of them, Judg. 12. 7. And the ſides of the Ship for one of the ſides, Jonah 1. 5. Or, he ſaith, in the twain, or, in both, becauſe he was in effect betrothed to the one, and ſhould be married to the other, and ſo was his Son in law upon a double account.

22 ¶ And Saul commanded his ſervants, ſaying, Commune with David g ſecretly, and ſay, Behold, the king hath delight in thee, and all his ſervants love thee: now therefore be the kings ſon in law.

g Whom having ſo lately and groſly deceived, he found backward to embrace his motion, and therefore ſets others on work to perſuade him.

23 And Sauls ſervants ſpake thoſe words in the ears of David: and David ſaid, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a kings ſon in law, ſeeing that I am a poor man, and lightly eſteemed h?

h And therefore neither have Eſtate nor Credit to give (according to the manner, Gen. 34. 12. Exod 22. 16, 17.) a Dowry ſuitable to her Quality.

24 And the ſervants of Saul told him, ſaying, † On this manner ſpake David.

† Heb. according to theſe words.

25 And Saul ſaid, Thus ſhall ye ſay to David, The king deſireth not any dowry, but an hundred fore-skins i of the Philiſtines, to be avenged of the kings enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philiſtines.

i Theſe he deſires rather than their Heads; partly, for the greater convenience of bringing them, and preſenting them before him; partly, to cover his Malice againſt David with a pretence of Zeal for God, and for his People, and for the Covenant of Circumciſion; and partly, that the Philiſtines might be the more enraged againſt David for this reproachful and barbarous uſage of them, and might therefore watch all opportunities to deſtroy him.

26 And when his ſervants told David theſe words, it pleaſed David well to be the kings ſon in law k: and the days l were not † expired.

k As for other Reaſons, ſo eſpecially becauſe this opened the Door to the Kingdom which God had promiſed him. l i.e. The time allowed by Saul to David for the execution of this Exploit.

27 Wherefore David aroſe, he, and his men, and ſlew of the Philiſtines two hundred men, and David brought their fore-skins, and they gave them in full tale to the king m, that he might be the kings ſon in law: and Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

m He doubled the number required; partly, to oblige Saul the more to the performance of his Promiſe; and partly, to ſhew his great Reſpect and Affection to Saul's Daughter.

28 ¶ And Saul ſaw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal Sauls daughter loved him.

29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David n, and Saul became Davids enemy continually.

n Becauſe he both loſt his Deſign againſt David's life, and had now paved a way for him to the Throne.

30 Then the princes of the Philiſtines went forth o: and it came to paſs after they went forth, that David behaved himſelf more wiſely than all the ſervants of Saul, ſo that his name was much † ſet by.

o To wit, to war againſt the Iſraelites, being provoked both by their former loſſes, and eſpecially by that act of David's, related above, v. 27.

CHAP. XIX.

Saul purpoſeth to kill David: Jonathan diſcloſeth it: ſpeaketh in his behalf to Saul: who ſweareth not to kill him: he returneth to court, 1,—7. By reaſon of his ſucceſs in a new war, Saul again ſeeketh to kill him: Michal acquainteth him with it: he flyeth: ſhe deceiveth her father, 8,—17. David cometh to Samuel at Ramah: Saul ſendeth meſſengers twice to apprehend him: they both propheſie, 18,—21. He goeth himſelf thither and propheſieth likewiſe, 22,—24.

AND Saul ſpake to Jonathan his ſon a, and to all his ſervants b, that they ſhould kill David.

a Whom, though lately engaged in a League of Friendſhip with David, he thought to oblige to it by ſenſe of his own Intereſt, as being the next Heir of the Crown, and likely to ſuffer moſt by David's advancement. b What before he ſecretly deſigned, now he openly and impudently avowed.

2 But Jonathan Sauls ſon, delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, ſaying, Saul my father ſeeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thy ſelf until the morning c, and abide in a ſecret place, and hide thy ſelf.

c Leſt he kill thee before I diſcourſe with him, and endeavour to reconcile him to thee; which I think not fit to attempt as yet, whilſt he is in the fit of Rage againſt thee; but I intend to do in the morning, when I may hope to find him in a better Temper.

3 And I will go out and ſtand by my father in the field, where thou art d, and I will commune with my father of thee, and what I ſee, that I will tell thee.

d In the Field where my Father uſeth to walk, where alſo I would have thee to hide thy ſelf, that I may know where to find thee at hand, to acquaint thee with the ſucceſs of my Endeavours, that thou maiſt accordingly either return to Court, or ſpeedily depart.

4 ¶ And Jonathan ſpake good of David unto Saul his father e, and ſaid unto him, Let not the king ſin againſt his ſervant, againſt David: becauſe he hath not ſinned againſt thee, and becauſe his works have been to thee-ward very good.

e Which he could not do without hazard to himſelf. Herein therefore he performed the Duty of a true Friend, and of a valiant Man.

* Judg. 9. 17. & 12. 3. Ch. 28.21. Pſal. 119. 109.

5 For he did put his * life in his hand f, and ſlew the Philiſtine, and the LORD wrought a great ſalvation for all Iſrael: thou ſaweſt it, and didſt rejoyce: wherefore then wilt thou ſin againſt innocent blood, to ſlay David without a cauſe?

f i. e. He expoſed his life to eminent hazard. See the Notes on Judg. 12. 3.

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan, and Saul ſware, As the LORD liveth, he ſhall not be ſlain g.

g This great change is not to be aſcribed to any true Repentance for his ſin againſt David, or any better affection which he now had to him; but meerly to his own worldly Intereſt; becauſe he was convinced by Jonathan's diſcourſe, that he could not kill him, without great inconvenience and ſhame to himſelf.

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan ſhewed him all thoſe things: and Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his preſence as † in times paſt.

h David's ſucceſſes againſt the Philiſtines, which ſhould have cheered his heart, made him ſad, and the Devil watched the opportunity to improve his Melancholy, as before he had done.

10 And Saul ſought to ſmite David even to the wall with the javelin: but he ſlipt away out of Sauls preſence; and he ſmote the javelin into the wall: and David fled, and eſcaped that night.

11 * Saul alſo ſent meſſengers unto Davids houſe to watch him, and to ſlay him in the morning i: and Michal Davids wife told him, ſaying, If thou ſave not thy life to night, to morrow thou ſhalt be ſlain k.

i Why not in the Night? Anſ. Partly, becauſe it would have been barbarous, and moſt diſhonourable to Saul, to break into David's Houſe by Night, and kill him in his own Houſe and Bed; and it ſeemed more expedient to kill him as he came out of his Houſe in the Morning: partly, becauſe the Night might give David ſome opportunity of eſcaping, which the Day-light would prevent: and principally, by God's ſingular Providence, infatuating Saul's Mind to take the worſt courſe, that David might be delivered from him. k Which ſhe might learn, either by information from Jonathan, or ſome other Courtier that was privy to the Deſign: or from her own obſervation of ſome ſuſpicious or dangerous Perſons hovering about the Houſe.

12 ¶ So Michal let David down thorow a window l: and he went and fled, and eſcaped.

l Becauſe they lay in wait for him at the Doors of the Houſe, whenſoever he ſhould come forth there.

m Heb. Teraphim, which was an Image made in human ſhape: which ſhe might keep ſecretly, either out of a ſuperſtitious regard to it, or out of meer curioſity. This ſtratagem ſhe uſed, becauſe knowing her Fathers unquiet, and jealous, and furious Temper, ſhe ſuſpected he might come or ſend, to ſee whether David was there or no. n Or, put great Goats hair upon his Bolſter; i e. upon the Head and Face of the Image, which lay upon his Bolſter, that it might have ſome kind of reſemblance of David's Head and Hair, at leaſt in a ſick man's Bed, where there uſeth to be but a glimmering light. Goats is here put for Goats hair, as it manifeſtly is, Exod. 25. 4. and 26. 7. and 35. 26. It is acknowledged by learned Writers, that in thoſe Eaſtern Countries, Goats had much longer hair than ours have, and were ſhorn like Sheep, and that their hair was not unlike to a Mans or Womans hair; as may alſo be gathered from Cant. 4. 1. thy hair is as a flock of Goats; i e. as the hair of a flock Goats. And as there was Goats hair of ſeveral colours, (as the Wool of Sheep in divers parts is of very differing colours, as white, or black, or yellow, &c.) ſo it is moſt probable ſhe took that colour which was likeſt the colour of David's hair. And ſhe took this rather than the hair of another Man, becauſe the procuring and ordering of that would have taken up ſome time; whereas ſhe had Goats hair of all ſorts at hand, as being uſed in Spinning or Weaving, &c. Or, the ſenſe may be this, according to our Tranſlation, That ſhe put a Pillow of the ſofteſt part of Goats hair under the head of the Image, as they uſed to put under the heads of ſick Men; whereby alſo the head of the Image ſinking into the Pillow, might be leſs diſcerned, eſpecially when it was either wholly or in part covered with a Cloth. And all this Art was uſed, that David being ſuppoſed, and, by ſome Perſons who were ſent to enquire, perceived, as they thought, to be in the Bed, Saul might be hindred from purſuing and overtaking him before he had got into ſome ſecure place. o Upon pretence of his being ſick, and needing ſome ſuch covering, but really in deſign to prevent the diſcovery of her Deceit.

14 And when Saul ſent meſſengers p to take David, ſhe ſaid, He is ſick.

p To wit, other Meſſengers in the Morning, ſuppoſing the former to be either ſlow or perfidious.

15 And Saul ſent the meſſengers again to ſee David q, ſaying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may ſlay him.

q Or only, to ſee David, which they did not before, but went away ſatisfied (as it was fit they ſhould) with her Report and Teſtimony of his Sickneſs.

16 And when the meſſengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goats hair for his bolſter.

17 And Saul ſaid unto Michal, Why haſt thou deceived me ſo, and ſent away mine enemy, that he is eſcaped? And Michal anſwered Saul, He ſaid unto me, Let me go: Why ſhould I kill thee r?

r If thou doſt not permit me to eſcape, without diſcovery, I ſhall be forced for my own defence to kill thee. Though it is moſt likely, this was a Lye, and a Fiction of her own.

18 ¶ So David fled, and eſcaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah ſ, and told him all that Saul had done to him: and he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.

ſ Partly, for Comfort and Direction in his great Diſtreſs; and partly, for Safety, ſuppoſing that Saul would be aſhamed to execute his bloody Deſigns in the preſence of ſo venerable a Perſon as Samuel, who had laid ſo great Obligations upon Saul, and had ſuch great and juſt Reputation with the People.

19 And it was told Saul, ſaying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah t.

t Or, near Ramah; the Hebrew prepoſition beth, in, being oft put for near, as it is apparently uſed, Numb 33. 37, 38 Joſ. 5. 13. Jer. 20. 2. and 32. 7. Naioth was either an Houſe or College in the Town of Ramah, or a Village in the Territory of Ramah, or near to the Town of Ramah; in which there was a College of the Prophets, amongſt whom Samuel thought David might be ſecure.

20 And Saul ſent meſſengers to take David u: and when they ſaw the company of the prophets prophe-

ſying x, and Samuel ſtanding as appointed over them y, the ſpirit of God was upon the meſſengers of Saul, and they alſo propheſied z.

x Thus Saul's Wickedneſs and Fury increaſed; and he that at firſt uſed only ſecret Practices againſt David, now breaks forth into open and impudent Hoſtilities; plainly declaring, that he neither feared God, nor reverenced Man. He would have puniſhed Samuel, as afterwards he did Abimelech, for giving David Entertainment, but that he feared the People, who had ſo great and unanimous a Veneration for him. x i. e. Speaking of God, or of the things of God by Divine Inſpiration; either praiſing God, or inſtructing Men. Compare Numb. 11. 25. 1 Sam. 10. 5. y To inſtruct, moderate and direct them in thoſe Holy Exerciſes. For though they propheſied by Divine Inſpiration, which Samuel could not govern; yet they were both to prepare and diſpoſe themſelves for it beforehand, and to make good improvement of it afterwards, in both which they needed Samuel's Counſel and Aſſiſtance. And whereas ſome might falſly pretend to thoſe Raptures; or the Devil might transform himſelf into an Angel of Light, and convey ſome evil or falſe Suggeſtions into ſome of their Minds, Samuel's Preſence and Judgment was neceſſary to prevent and to detect ſuch Impoſtures. Beſides, Samuel would by his preſent Conjunction with them in thoſe Holy Exerciſes, encourage them, and ſtir up others to the coveting of thoſe Gifts, and the performance of ſuch Religious Duties. z Being inſpired by God to do ſo, as wicked Balaam alſo was; that being wrapt up into ſuch an Extaſie, their Minds might be wholly taken up with thoſe matters, and quite taken off from their Deſign of ſeizing David.

21 And when it was told Saul, he ſent other meſſengers, and they propheſied likewiſe: and Saul ſent meſſengers again the third time, and they propheſied alſo.

22 Then went he alſo to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he asked, and ſaid, Where are Samuel and David a? And one ſaid, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.

a For, his Meſſengers not returning, he knew not exactly where they were.

23 And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah: and the ſpirit of God was upon him alſo b, and he went on, and propheſied until he came to Naioth in Ramah:

b It came upon him in the way; whereas it came not upon his Meſſengers till they came to the place. Whereby God would convince Saul of the Vanity of all his Deſigns againſt David, and that in them he fought againſt God himſelf.

* Chap. 10. 11.

24 And he ſtript off his clothes c alſo d, and propheſied before Samuel e in like manner f, and † lay down g naked h all that day, and all that night i: wherefore they ſay, * Is Saul alſo among the Prophets k?

c To wit, his Military or Royal Garments: which he did, either that he might ſuit himſelf and his habit to the reſt of the Company; or, becauſe his mind being altogether taken up with Divine things, he did not underſtand nor heed what he did. d This implies, that the Meſſengers which he ſent, who probably were Military Perſons, had done ſo before him. e This doth not contradict 1 Sam. 15. 35. where it is ſaid, that Samuel came no more to ſee Saul: for here Saul goes to Samuel, and that not with deſign to ſee him, but to ſurprize David. f As the reſt of the Prophets there did. g Heb. fell, to wit, down upon the Earth; for his Mind being in an Extaſie, he had not the uſe of his Senſes or Motion, as he, Numb. 24. 4. God ſo ordering it, that David might have an opportunity to eſcape. h i. e. Stript of his upper Garments, as was ſaid before, and as the word Naked is oft uſed, as Iſa. 20. 2. Mich. 1. 8. See alſo 2 Sam. 6. 20. Joh. 21. 7. And it is here repeated to ſignifie how long he lay in that poſture. i So God kept him as it were in Chains, till David was got out of his reach. k The ſame Proverb which was taken up upon a like occaſion, 1 Sam. 10. 12. is here remembred and revived upon this new occaſion, as an Evidence of God's wonderful Care over David; he made in ſome ſort a Prophet, that he might make David a King.

David complaineth to Jonathan of Saul: he comforteth him: can hardly believe what David ſaith of his father: promiſeth to give him notice how his abſence was taken: they renew a covenant of friendſhip, and ſwear to each other, 1,—17. Their ſign, 18,—23. Saul asketh for David at the feaſt of the new moon, 24,—27. Jonathan excuſeth David: Saul incenſed hereat revileth Jonathan, and ſeeketh to kill him, 28,—34. Jonathan advertiſeth David, 35,—40. They part with tears, 41, 42.

AND David fled a from Naioth in Ramah b, and came and ſaid before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what is my ſin before thy father c, that he ſeeketh my † life d?

a Whilſt Saul lay in an Extaſie. b To Gibeah where Jonathan was, taking the opportunity of Saul's abſence. c What is it which thus incenſeth thy Father againſt me? What Crime doth he charge me with? d To wit, to deſtroy it, as this Phraſe is oft uſed, as chap. 22. 23. Pſal. 38. 12. and 54. 3. and 63. 9.

2 And he ſaid unto him, God forbid; thou ſhalt not die e: behold, my father will do nothing either great or ſmall, but that he will † ſhew it me: and why ſhould my father hide this thing from me? it is not ſo.

e I will ſecure thee by my Intereſt with my Father; nor doth he deſign to deſtroy thee; for what he doth in his frantick fits is not to be imputed to him; and when he comes to himſelf, I doubt not to reconcile thee to him. For Jonathan gave credit to his Father's Oath, chap. 19. 6. and the worthieſt Minds are leaſt ſuſpicious, and moſt charitable in their Opinions of others.

3 And David ſware f moreover, and ſaid, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he ſaid, Let not Jonathan know this, leſt he be grieved: but truly as the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, there is but a ſtep between me and death.

f The matter being of great moment, and Jonathan doubting the truth of it, he confirms his word with an Oath, which follows in the end of the Verſe. Only he interpoſeth a reaſon why Saul concealed it from Jonathan.

|| Or, ſay what is thy mind, and I will do, &c.

4 Then ſaid Jonathan unto David, || Whatſoever thy ſoul † deſireth g, I will even do it for thee.

g To wit, for the diſcovery of the truth, and for the preſervation of thy life.

5 And David ſaid unto Jonathan, Behold, to morrow is the new moon h, and I ſhould not fail to ſit with the king at meat i: but let me go, that I may hide my ſelf in the fields, unto the third day k at even.

6 If thy father at all miſs me l, then ſay, David earneſtly asked leave of me m, that he might run to Bethlehem his city n, for there is a yearly || ſacrifice o there for all the family p.

l Queſt. How could David imagine that Saul would expect his Company, whom he had once and again endeavoured to kill? Anſ. Firſt, He might ſuppoſe that David would aſcribe all that to his Madneſs and frantick Fits, which being over, he would promiſe himſelf ſafety in the King's preſence. Secondly, David might not think that Saul would indeed expect him to Feaſt with him, conſidering his late and great danger from Saul; but that Saul would make uſe of this Pretence, and require his preſence, that he might lay hold upon him; and therefore he deſired to try the Experiment. m Who being the King's Son and Deputy, uſed to give Licence to Military Men to depart for a ſeaſon upon juſt occaſions. n i. e. The place of his Birth and Education, John 7. 42. o A Sacrifice which was offered up in ſome high place there Yearly, upon ſome ſpecial occaſion not mentioned in Scripture, which was accompanied with a Feaſt: or, a yearly Feaſt, as the Hebrew word is ſometimes uſed. p Wherein all the Members of our Family uſed to meet together, when they will earneſtly expect me above others, and will charge me with Pride and Unnaturalneſs, if I neglect their Invitation.

7 If he ſay thus, It is well, thy ſervant ſhall have peace: but if he be very wroth then be ſure q that evil is determined by him.

q Heb. know thou: For indeed David knew well enough that Saul deſigned to kill him; but he uſeth this courſe for Jonathan's Information and Satisfaction, and for his own greater Vindication, if he did wholly withdraw himſelf from Saul, and from his Wife; which he foreſaw he ſhould be forced to do.

* Chap. 18. 3. & 23. 18.

8 Therefore thou ſhalt deal kindly with thy ſervant r: for * thou haſt brought thy ſervant into a covenant of the LORD ſ with thee: notwithſtanding, if there be in me iniquity, ſlay me thy ſelf t: for why ſhouldeſt thou bring me to thy father u?

r In giving me timely notice, and a true account of Saul's Diſpoſition and Intention towards me. ſ i. e. A ſolemn Covenant, not lightly undertaken, but ſeriouſly entred into, in the name and fear of God, and in his preſence, calling him to be the Witneſs of our Sincerity therein, and the Avenger of Perfidiouſneſs in him that breaks it. t I am contented thou ſhouldſt kill me. u Why ſhouldſt thou betray me to thy Father, by concealing his evil Intentions from me?

9 And Jonathan ſaid, Far be it from thee x: for if I knew certainly, that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?

x I abhor the Thoughts of either killing thee my ſelf, or giving thee up to my Father to ſlay thee.

10 Then ſaid David to Jonathan, Who ſhall tell me y? or what if thy father anſwer thee roughly?

y By what Means or Meſſenger ſhall I underſtand this? for peradventure thou wilt not be able to come to me thy ſelf.

11 ¶ And Jonathan ſaid unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field z. And they went out both of them into the field.

z Leſt we be over-heard.

12 And Jonathan ſaid unto David, O LORD God of Iſrael a, when I have † ſounded my father, about to morrow any time, or the third day, and behold, if there be good toward David, and I then ſend not unto thee, and † ſhew it thee; a Do thou hear and judge between us. It is an abrupt Speech, which is uſual in great Paſſions.

13 The LORD do ſo, and much more to Jonathan: but if it pleaſe my father to do thee evil, then I will ſhew it thee, and ſend thee away, that thou mayeſt go in peace; and the LORD be with thee, as he hath been with my father b.

b The Lord give thee that Honour and Succeſs in all thy Affairs which he hath given to my Father. Jonathan undoubtedly knew of Samuel's final and irrevocable Sentence of Saul's Rejection from the Kingdom, and of the Subſtitution of ſome other Perſon after God's own Heart in his ſtead; and that David was this Perſon, he might ſtrongly ſuſpect (that which even Saul ſuſpected) both from his eminent Piety, and Wiſdom, and Valour, and univerſal Worth, and from the great Things which God had done, both by him, and for him, in preſerving and advancing him by ſuch unuſual Methods; and it is moſt likely that Jonathan did ask David about it, and that David did Faithfully inform him of the whole Truth, as may be gathered both from the words here following, and from chap. 23. 17. And that the knowledge hereof did not raiſe Jealouſie, and Envy, and Rage in him, who was the next Heir of the Crown, as it did in his Father, muſt be aſcribed to Jonathan's Piety towards God, to whoſe diſpoſal he chearfully ſubmitted himſelf, and to his ſincere Friendſhip to David, in whoſe Happineſs he rejoyced as in his own.

14 And thou ſhalt not only while yet I live, ſhew me the kindneſs of the LORD c, that I die not d:

c Or, And wiltſt thou not, if I ſhall then be alive, (to wit, when the Lord ſhall be with thee, as he hath been with my Father, as he now ſaid; i. e. when God ſhall have advanced thee to the Kingdom, as he did him:) yea, wiltſt thou not (the ſame Particle twice repeated for aſſeveration; i.e. I am well aſſured that thou wiltſt) ſhew me the kindneſs of the Lord; i.e. either ſuch kindneſs as the Lord hath ſhewed to thee in preſerving thy Life in the midſt of ſo many, and ſuch great Dangers: or, that kindneſs to which thou haſt engaged thy ſelf, in the Covenant ſworn between thee and me in God's preſence. d That thou do not kill me or mine, as Princes of another Line uſe to kill the neareſt Relations of the former Line, from whom the Kingdom was tranſlated to them; which they do either by way of Revenge, or in Policy, and reaſon of State, to ſecure the Kingdom to themſelves.

15 But alſo thou ſhalt not cut off * thy kindneſs e from my houſe for ever: no not when the LORD hath cut off the enemies of David, every one from the face of the earth f.

* 2 Sam. 9. 3.

e He ſaith not, the kindneſs of the Lord, as before, becauſe the Covenant between them ſeems to have been only Perſonal, and not comprehending their Poſterity. And therefore as Jonathan ſpeaks confidently of his own Preſervation by virtue of that Covenant; ſo he here lays this additional Obligation upon David, That he would extend his kindneſs to all his Progeny. f Which he will certainly do without exception of Saul my Father, and thoſe of his Children who have joyned, or ſhall joyn with him in his Hoſtilities and Cruelties againſt David. And by this word, Enemies, he implies the reaſonableneſs of his Requeſt, becauſe Jonathan was none of that number, and therefore not to be treated as ſuch.

16 So Jonathan † made a covenant with the houſe of David g, ſaying, Let the LORD even require it at the hand of Davids enemies h.

h The Covenant which before was Perſonal, he now extends to the whole Houſe of David, expecting a reciprocal Enlargement of it on David's ſide, which doubtleſs he obtained. h If either I or any of my Houſe ſhall break this Covenant, and ſhall prove Enemies to David or to his Houſe, let the Lord, the Witneſs of this Covenant, ſeverely puniſh the Violators of it, whoever they are. Others thus: Let the Lord require and puniſh the breach of this Covenant in David, if he break it. But becauſe it was ominous and reproachful to ſuppoſe ſuch a thing of David, by a Figure called Euphemiſmus, he names David's Enemies for David; as they alſo expound 1 Sam 25. 22. But the former ſenſe ſeems more probable, becauſe this Verſe contains only Jonathan's Stipulation or Covenant with David and his Houſe, which being expreſſed in the former part of it, is in this latter part confirmed by the uſual form of Imprecation; and the Reſtipulation or Covenant of David to Jonathan and his Houſe, is mentioned in the next Verſe. Yet may that other ſenſe ſtand well enough; taking theſe words for Jonathan's Adjuration of David to be kind to him, confirmed with an Imprecation in caſe he do otherwiſe. As if he ſhould ſay, I Adjure thee, as thou hopeſt to eſcape ſuch a Miſchief (which I had rather might befal thine Enemies than thee) that thou deal not ſo ungratefully with me or my Houſe. Which Adjuration of Jonathan, David ſeconds by an Oath in the next Verſe, at the requeſt of Jonathan.

17 And Jonathan cauſed David to ſwear again i, ‖ becauſe he loved him k: for he loved him as he loved his own ſoul.

i Heb. And Jonathan added or proceeded to make David Swear; i. e. Having himſelf Sworn to David, or Adjured David, in the foregoing Verſe, he here requires David's Oath to him, by way of Reſtipulation or Confirmation. k Becauſe he had a true Friendſhip for David, he deſired that the Covenant might be inviolably obſerved through all their Generations.

18 Then Jonathan ſaid to David, To morrow is the new moon: and thou ſhalt be miſſed, becauſe thy ſeat l will be † empty.

l i. e. The place where David uſed to ſit at Meals with Saul. See v. 25.

19 And when thou haſt ſtayed three days m, then thou ſhalt go down ‖ † quickly, and come to the place where thou didſt hide thy ſelf, † when the buſineſs was in hand n, and ſhalt remain by the ſtone ‖ Ezel o.

m Either at Bethlehem with thy Friends, v. 6. or elſewhere, as thou ſhalt ſee fit. n Heb. in the day of buſineſs: or, of the buſineſs. And theſe words are to be joyned, either, 1. with the words next foregoing; and ſo they note the time when David hid himſelf there; which was, when this ſame buſineſs which now they were treating about, was in agitation formerly; to wit, to diſcover Saul's Mind and Purpoſe towards him; chap. 19 2, 3. Or, 2. With the more remote words; and ſo they note the time when David ſhould come to the place appointed, and formerly uſed to hide himſelf in, upon a like occaſion; to wit, in the day when the buſineſs here ſpoken of was to be done; i. e. when the diſcovery of Saul's Mind was to be made. o Or, by the ſtone of going, or travelling; i. e. By that Stone which directs Travellers in the way; to wit, in ſome Cave, or convenient Place, which was near that Stone.

20 And I will ſhoot three arrows on the ſide thereof as though I ſhot at a mark p.

p He choſe this way to avoid Saul's ſuſpicion, becauſe Bows and Arrows were the principal Arms of thoſe Times; and Jonathan, as well as others, did oft go forth to Exerciſe himſelf with them, both for Recreation, and Improvement of his Skill in that Art. Beſides, he knew not that he ſhould have any opportunity of private Converſe with David, by reaſon of Paſſengers, though the Event proved better than he expected.

21 And behold, I will ſend a lad, ſaying, Go, find out the arrows q. If I expreſly ſay unto the lad, Behold, the arrows are on this ſide of thee, take them; then come thou, for there is peace to thee, and † no hurt, as the LORD liveth.

q I will ſend him out before I ſhoot, to find out, and take up the Arrows which I ſhall ſhoot. And I ſhall ſhoot them either ſhort of him, or beyond him, as I ſhall ſee occaſion.

22 But if I ſay thus unto the young man, Behold the arrows are beyond thee: go thy way, for the LORD hath ſent thee away r.

r Take this for an intimation of God's Providence, that thou ſhouldeſt keep away from the Court.

23 And as touching * the matter which thou and I have ſpoken of, behold, the LORD be † between thee and me for ever.

* Verſe 14, 15.

24 ¶ So David hid himſelf in the field s: and when the new moon was come, the king ſat him down to eat meat.

s To wit, at the time appointed: for it ſeems probable, that he went firſt to Bethlehem, as he bad Jonathan tell his Father, v. 6. and thence returned to the Field, when the occaſion required: elſe we muſt charge him with a downright Lye, which ought not to be imagined (without any apparent cauſe) concerning ſo good a Man; eſpecially, in ſo diſtreſſed and dangerous a Condition. And why ſhould he hide himſelf there ſo long before the time, when Jonathan was to come thither to inform him? Nor were there any need of appointing a certain time to meet, if David were there all the while.

25 And the king ſat upon his ſeat as at other times, even upon a ſeat by the wall: and Jonathan aroſe t, and Abner ſat by Sauls ſide, and Davids place u was empty.

t To wit, from his Seat where he was ſat next to the King, whence he aroſe, and ſtood up at Abner's coming, to do Honour to him, who was his Father's Couſin, and the General of the Army. u Which ſeems to have been next to Abner on the ſame ſide with him.

26 Neverthele ſs, Saul ſpake not any thing that day: for he thought, ſomething hath befallen x, he is not clean, ſurely he is not clean.

x Some Accident which hath rendred him unclean, and ſo unfit to partake of this Feaſt, which conſiſted in part of the remainders of theſe Peace-offerings, according to the Law, Levit. 7. 20. Unfit alſo to come into any company, much more, into the King's company, leſt he ſhould pollute them alſo. See above, on v. 5. See alſo, Levit. 11. and 15.

27 And it came to paſs on the morrow, which was the ſecond day of the month y, that Davids place was empty: and Saul ſaid unto Jonathan his ſon z, Wherefore cometh not the ſon of Jeſſe a to meat, neither yeſterday, nor to day b?

y Or, on the morrow of the new moon, being the ſecond day: Either, 1. Of the three Days appointed, v. 5. 19. Or, 2. Of the Feaſt. Or, 3. Of the Month. z Who was David's Friend, and beſt knew his mind, and his ways. a So he calls him in Scorn and Contempt, to note the meanneſs of his Original; and as not deigning to call him by his proper Name: See below, chap. 22. 9. and 25. 10. b For the Uncleanneſs which came by ſome chance, uſually laſted but for one Day. See Levit. 11.

28 And Jonathan anſwered Saul, David earneſtly asked leave of me to go to Bethlehem.

29 And he ſaid, Let me go, I pray thee, for our family hath a ſacrifice in the city, and my brother, he hath commanded me to be there c: and now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me get away, I pray thee, and ſee my brethren: therefore he cometh not to the kings table.

c Either in his Father's Name, or in the Right of the Firſt-born; one Branch of which was Authority over his Brethren in all the Concerns of the Family; whereof this was one.

30 Then Sauls anger was kindled againſt Jonathan, and he ſaid unto him, ‖ † Thou ſon of the perverſe rebellious woman d, do not I know that thou haſt choſen the ſon of Jeſſe to thine own confuſion e, and unto the confuſion of thy mothers nakedneſs f?

d This baſe Temper of thine, thou hadſt not from me, but from thy Mother; of whoſe perverſneſs I have had ſo much experience. Or, thou ſon of perverſe rebellion; i. e. Thou perverſe and rebellious Son: Or, thou moſt perverſe rebel: For in the Hebrew Language, the word Son, thus uſed, is an aggravation of a Man's Crime; and notes one who is extraordinarily addicted to it. Thus he calls him, becauſe he hid aud preſerved that Man whom the King had commanded to be brought forth, that he might be ſlain. e For it will be a horrible ſhame and reproach unto thee, that David by his crafty Inſinuations, and fair Pretences, ſhould Cheat thee of thy Kingdom. f Men will conclude, That thy Mother was a Whore, and thou a Baſtard; and that thou haſt no Royal Blood in thy Veins, that canſt ſo tamely give up thy Crown to ſo contemptible a Perſon.

31 For as long as the ſon of Jeſſe liveth upon the ground, thou ſhalt not be ſtabliſhed, nor thy kingdom g: wherefore now ſend and fetch him unto me, for he † ſhall ſurely die.

g Thus he groſly miſtakes the Cauſe of Jonathan's loſs of the Kingdom, which was not David's Art, but Saul's Sin; and vainly endeavours to prevent God's irrevocable Sentence.

32 And Jonathan anſwered Saul his father, and ſaid unto him, Wherefore ſhall he be ſlain? what hath he done?

33 And Saul caſt a javelin at him to ſmite him h, whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to ſlay David.

h i.e. To wound him, though not to ſmite him even to the wall; as he deſigned to do to David, chap. 19. 10.

34 So Jonathan aroſe from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no meat the ſecond day of the month: for he was grieved for David, becauſe i his father had done him ſhame.

i Or, and becauſe: for this is a ſecond cauſe of his Grief. The Conjunction and is oft-times omitted, and to be ſupplied; as Pſalm 33. 2. and 144. 9. Joſ. 63. 11. Habak. 3. 11.

35 ¶ And it came to paſs in the morning k, that Jonathan went out into the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him.

k To wit, of the third Day appointed for this Work, v. 5.

36 And he ſaid unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I ſhoot. And as the lad ran, he ſhot an arrow † beyond him.

37 And when the lad was come to the place l of the arrow which Jonathan had ſhot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and ſaid, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

l i.e. Near to the place. Or, and the Lad went, or was going on to the place: For the Words following ſhew, that he was not yet come thither. The Hebrew Verb, bo, which properly ſignifies to come, ſometimes ſignifies to go; as here, and Ruth 3. 7. and Jonah 1. 3.

38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make ſpeed, haſte, ſtay not m. And Jonathans lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his maſter.

m So he bids him, becauſe finding the Coaſt clear, he made haſte to take the opportunity to ſpeak with his dearly beloved David.

39 But the lad knew not any thing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 And Jonathan gave his † artillery n unto † his lad, and ſaid unto him, Go, carry them to the city.

n His Bow, and Arrows, and Quiver.

41 ¶ And as ſoon as the lad was gone, David aroſe out of a place toward the ſouth o, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himſelf three times: and they kiſſed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded p.

o In reſpect of the Stone where David by appointment hid himſelf. p As well he might, becauſe he was driven away, not only from his dear Friend Jonathan, but alſo from his Wife, and all his Relations, and from the Commonwealth of Iſrael, and from the Service of God; as he complains below, Chap. 26. 19.

42 And Jonathan ſaid to David, Go in peace, ‖ foraſmuch as we have ſworn both of us in the Name of the LORD, ſaying, The LORD be between me and thee, and between my ſeed and thy ſeed for ever q. And he aroſe and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

q Therefore doubt not but I will ever love thee, and faithfully ſerve thee; and the like I aſſure my ſelf from thee; and this muſt be our comfort in our State of Separation.

CHAP. XXI.

David cometh to Nob to Ahimelech the prieſt: pretendeth ſecret buſineſs from Saul: asketh bread: Ahimelech giveth him the ſhew-bread, 1,——6. Doeg ſeeth this, 7. David asketh arms: Ahimelech giveth him Goliah's ſword, 8, 9. David cometh to Achiſh: is known: and afraid: feigneth himſelf mad, 10,——13. Achiſh is angry with his ſervants for bringing him, 14, 15.

THEN came David to Nob a to Ahimelech the prieſt b, and * Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David c, and ſaid unto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee d?

* Alſo called Abiathar. Mar. 2. 26.

a A City of Prieſts, as it is called Chap. 22. 19. Either, 1. Becauſe it was aſſigned to the Prieſts. For though it be not expreſſed by this Name among their Cities, Joſ. 21. yet it might be one of thoſe Cities their named by ſome other Name, which Name might be changed; or another new Name added to the old for ſome reaſon now unknown, as was very uſual among the Hebrews: Compare 1 Chron. 6. Or, 2. Becauſe it was now inhabited by the Prieſts for the ſervice of the Tabernacle, which now was here; as appears from v. 7, 9. For as the Kings of Iſrael were to Conſult with God's Oracle in all their weighty Affairs; ſo they endeavoured to have it in, or near their own Habitations. Hence it was firſt carried by Joſhua to Shiloh in his Tribe of Ephraim; and afterwards by David into his Tribe and City; and now, as it ſeems, had been by Saul carried to Nob, a City in the Tribe of Benjamin, Neh. 11. 32. near to Anathoh, 1 King. 2. 26. Hither David reſorted, partly for a ſupply of his Neceſſities, which he ſuppoſed he might receive here, without danger of being betrayed into Saul's hands: and principally, that in this great Diſtreſs, and his Reſolution of going out of the Kingdom, he might ſeek and receive Comfort and Counſel from the Lord. b To wit, the chief Prieſt, Brother to that Ahiah, chap. 14. 3. and he being now dead, his Succeſſor in the Prieſthood, for they were both Sons of Ahitub, 1 Sam. 14. 3. and 22. 11. c Suſpecting ſome extraordinary cauſe of his coming in ſuch a manner, and fearing the worſt, as Men uſually do in ſuch caſes. d For though David had ſome Servants and Companions, as is manifeſt from v. 4, 5. and from Matth. 12. 3, 4. whom Jonathan probably had ſent to a place appointed to ſerve and guard him; yet they were left at another place: as David himſelf affirmeth, v. 2. And David was now alone, as alſo he was when he fled to Achiſh, v. 10.

2 And David ſaid unto Ahimelech the prieſt, The King hath commanded me a buſineſs e, and hath ſaid unto me, Let no man know any thing of the buſineſs whereabout I ſend thee, and what I have commanded thee: and I have appointed my ſervants † to ſuch and ſuch a place f.

† Heb. to the place of Peloni almoni, that is, of ſuch a man, Ruth 4. 1. 2 King. 6. 8. Dan. 8. 13.

e This ſeems to be a plain Lye extorted from him, by Fear and Neceſſity. But as it was officious for himſelf, ſo it was pernicious to all the Prieſts there. Whence David afterwards declares his Repentance for this ſin of Lying, Pſalm 119. 29. f To a certain place which is not material nor convenient now to mention; becauſe the whole buſineſs requires concealment.

3 Now therefore what is under thine hand g? give me five loaves of bread in mine hand, or what † there is † preſent.

g To wit, in thy Power, and ready for thee to give, and for me to take, and eat.

4 And the prieſt anſwered David, and ſaid, There is no common bread under mine hand h, but there is * hallowed bread i, if the young men have kept themſelves at leaſt from women k.

* Exod. 25. 30. Lev. 24. 5. * Matth. 12. 4.

h To wit, here in the Tabernacle: though doubtleſs he had enough of that, and of other Proviſions in his Houſe; but David was in great haſte, and in fear of Doeg whom he ſaw, and knew there, chap. 22. 22. and therefore would not ſtay till any thing could be fetched thence. i The Shew-bread, which was appropriated to the Prieſts; of which ſee Exod. 25. 30. Lev. 24. 5. k Either from uncleanneſs by Women, which might be divers ways contracted: or from Conjugal converſe with their Wives; which though it did not defile them, yet he thought might debar them from the participation of ſuch very Sacred things; which he gathered by the Analogy of that Precept, Exod. 19. 15. There was a double impediment to the giving of this Bread to them; 1. Its Sacredneſs in its ſelf; which the Prieſt implies, and David anſwers v. 5. and the Prieſt was ſatisfied therein by David's extraordinary Occaſions, and great Neceſſities. 2. The Purity and Abſtinence from all Women, which he ſuppoſeth ſhould be in thoſe that uſe it; concerning which he now enquires. And though he mention this only concerning David's young Men, and out of Modeſty and Reverence to David, forbears to name him; yet he is alſo included in the number, as David's anſwer ſhews.

5 And David anſwered the prieſt, and ſaid unto him, Of a truth women have been kept from us about theſe three days l, ſince I came out m, and the veſſels n of the young men are holy, and the bread is in a manner common o: ‖ yea, though it were ſanctified this day in the veſſel p.

q As long as the Law required, Exod. 19. 15. And ſo long David and his men had, it ſeems, hid themſelves for fear of Saul in ſome of thoſe Caves, whereof there were many in thoſe parts; whereby they were kept both from all Converſe with any other Perſons beſides themſelves, and conſequently from Women: and withal, from Food convenient for them. m From the place where Jonathan and David met. n i. e. Either, 1. Their Garments, or other Utenſils for their Journey. Or, 2. Their Bodies, for of them the Queſtion was, v. 4. and having now ſaid, that Women had been kept from them, he infers, that therefore their Bodies were Holy; their Members were undefiled. Thus the word veſſel is uſed, 1 Theſſ. 4. 4. and in other Authors, both Greek and Latin. o Heb. and this (to wit, the Bread; which is eaſily ſupplied out of the former Verſe, becauſe that was the thing about which the preſent diſcourſe was, and againſt the giving whereof the Prieſt ſtarted an Objection, v. 4. to which, David here giveth an Anſwer) is in a manner, or, after a ſort common: i. e. Conſidering the time, and our neceſſity, this may be asked in a manner. like common Bread, and ſo is uſed by others. For though for a ſeaſon whileſt it is to ſtand before the Lord, it be ſo Holy, that the Prieſt himſelf might not eat it; yet afterwards it is eaten by the Prieſt, and by his whole Family, as their common Food; and ſo it may be by us, in our circumſtances. p If it were but newly put into the Veſſel, it muſt give place to the great Law of Neceſſity, and Charity; becauſe God will have Mercy preferred before Sacrifice. Or thus, Eſpecially, when, or, The rather becauſe this day there is other (i. e. new Bread) ſanctified in the veſſel; i. e. put into the Veſſel which was made to receive this Bread, Exod. 25. 29. and thereby Sanctified, or Conſecrated to God: and therefore the former Shew-bread is now to be removed, and employed for the common uſe of the Prieſt and his Family.

* Mar. 2. 26. Luk. 6. 4.

6 So the prieſt * gave him hallowed bread, for there was no bread there p, but the ſhew-bread that was taken from before the LORD, to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away q.

p To wit, in the Tabernacle, where David and the Prieſt now were. q Which was done upon the Sabbath-day, Levit. 24. 8. For though they might not then kindle a Fire to heat the Bread in, yet they might, and did keep it hot in an Oven that had been heated before the Sabbath.

7 (Now a certain man of the ſervants of Saul was there that day detained r before the LORD s, and his name was * Doeg an Edomite t the chiefeſt of the herdmen that belonged to Saul.

r Not by force from others, but by his own choice; he fixed his abode there for that day; either becauſe it was the Sabbath-day; on which he might not proceed in his Journey, or other Buſineſs: or for the diſcharge of ſome Vow: or to beg direction and help from God in ſome great Buſineſs. s i. e. At the Tabernacle. t Either, 1. By his Habitation, and Converſation among thoſe People for ſome conſiderable time, as, for the ſame reaſon Uriah is called the Hittite; and Obed-Edom the Gittite: Or rather, 2. By his Birth, and Nation: but he was proſelited to the Jewiſh Religion: or took it up for ſiniſter Ends, being advanced, as here we read, to a place of Truſt and Preferment, poſſibly upon this occaſion.

8 ¶ And David ſaid unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand ſpear or ſword? for I have neither brought my ſword, nor my weapons with me u, becauſe the kings buſineſs required haſte x.

u Theſe he left behind him, that he might with leſs ſuſpicion remove from place to place, and hide himſelf from Saul and his Spies. x The Meſſage came to me, when I was unarmed, and the buſineſs required ſo great expedition that I could not go home to fetch my Weapons.

9 And the Prieſt ſaid, The ſword of Goliah the Philiſtine, whom thou ſleweſt in * the valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapt in a cloth behind the ephod y: if thou wilt take that, take it, for there is no other ſave that, here. And David ſaid, There is none like that z, give it me.

y i. e. Behind that Holy Place allotted for the keeping of the Sacred, or Prieſtly Garments; all which are here comprehended under the Ephod; which, as the chief of the kind, is put for all the reſt. Here it was laid up as a Sacred Monument of God's Power and Goodneſs, and that famous Victory, related chap. 17. z Becauſe it not only ſerved him for his uſe, for he was a ſtrong and tall Man, and one that could wield that Sword, as we ſaw, chap. 17. but was alſo a Pledge of God's Favour to him, and a great Encouragement to his Faith.

10 ¶ And David aroſe, and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to * Achiſh the king of Gath a:

a A ſtrange Action: but it muſt be conſidered, 1. That Saul's Rage was ſo great and implacable, his Power alſo, and Diligence in hunting after him ſo great, that he deſpaired of eſcaping him any other way: and it is not ſtrange if a deſperate Diſeaſe, produceth a deſperate Remedy. 2. David might reaſonably think, that being perſecuted, and baniſhed by Saul, and the Iſraelites under his Command, he ſhould be welcome to the Philiſtines; who would be glad, not only to be freed from all thoſe Evils which he had from time to time done, and was likely further to do to them, but alſo to make him their Friend, and oblige him by their Kindneſs; and to make him the more odious and irreconcilable to Saul and the Iſraelites. Queſt. But why did he go to theſe, and not rather to ſome other neighbour Nation? Anſ. Becauſe they were all at Peace with Saul; and therefore would certainly have delivered him up, upon Saul's Demands.

11 And the ſervants of Achiſh ſaid unto him, Is not this David the king of the land b? did they not ſing one to another of him in dances, ſaying, * Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands c.

* Chap. 18. 7.

b Or, of this land; i. e. Of the Land of Canaan. They call him King, either more generally for the Governour, as that word is uſed, Deut. 33. 5. for the moſt eminent Captain and Commander, and, as it were the King of the Iſraelitiſh Armies: or, rather more ſpecially, the king; to wit, the King elect, the Perſon deſigned to be King: for, by this time, the Fame of Saul's Rejection, and David's Deſtination to the Kingdom, was got abroad among the Iſraelites, and from them, probably to the Philiſtines Ears. c And therefore conſider what to do; and now thine, and our great Enemy is in thy hand, be ſure thou never let him go alive.

12 And David laid up theſe words in his heart, and was ſore afraid c of Achiſh the king of Gath:

c Leſt either their Revenge or Policy ſhould prompt them to kill him.

* Pſal. 34. title. ‖ Or, made marks.

13 And * he changed his behaviour d before them, and feigned himſelf mad e in their hands f, and ‖ ſcrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his ſpittle fall down upon his beard.

d His Speech and Geſture; and, it may be, his Habit alſo. e Which they might the more eaſily believe; partly, becauſe of the diſappointment of his great hopes, and his extream danger and trouble from Saul, which might well make him mad: and partly, becauſe he had put himſelf into their hands; which they ſuppoſed, none but a Fool, or a mad Man would have done. And David counterfeited this Madneſs, that he might procure, both their Pity, and and their Contempt; that they being freed from jealouſies and fears of future Miſchief from David, and from his wiſe Conduct, of which they had ſad Experience, might be ſecure of him, and ſo ſpare him. f i. e. Whileſt he was in their Power, and before them.

14 Then ſaid Achiſh unto his ſervants, Lo, ye ſee the man ‖ is mad g: wherefore then have ye brought him to me h?

g And ſo were Achiſh and his Men too, to be ſo ſoon cheated. But this muſt be aſcribed to the Wiſe and Powerful Providence of God; who, in anſwer to David's Prayer now made, which is Recorded Pſalm 34. and 56, did infatuate them, as he hath done many others in like caſes. h What Service can I expect from him? Or, What cauſe have I to fear him?

15 Have I need of mad men i, that ye have brought this fellow to play the mad man in my preſence? ſhall this fellow come into mine houſe k?

i I need wiſe Men, not ſuch Fools, or mad Men, as this is. k I will not have my Court diſgraced with entertaining ſuch Fellows.

CHAP. XXII.

David cometh to Adullam, where companies reſort to him, 1, 2. He goeth to Mizpeh and commendeth his parents to the King of Moab, 3, 4. Admoniſhed by Gad he returneth to Judah: Saul purſueth him: complaineth of his ſervant's unfaithfulneſs, 5,—8. Doeg accuſeth Abimelech: Saul ſentenceth him, the high prieſt, and the reſt of the prieſts, to die: Doeg ſlayeth 85 prieſts: the city Nob and all in it is laid waſte: only Abiathar the prieſt remained alive flying to David, 9,—20. David acknowledgeth himſelf to be the cauſe hereof, 22, 23.

* Pſal. 57. title, and 142. title.

DAvid therefore departed thence, and * eſcaped to the cave of Adullam a: and when his brethren, and all his fathers houſe heard it, they went down thither to him b.

a A Place of conſiderable ſtrength, 2 Sam. 23. 13. 1 Chron. 11. 15. in the Land of Judah, Joſ. 15. 21, 35. which being his own Tribe, and the Tribe to which God had firſt promiſed the Kingdom, Gen. 49, 10. he hoped for ſome Protection and Aſſiſtance there. b Partly to comfort and aſſiſt him; partly, to ſecure themſelves at the preſent from Saul's Rage, which they knew to be Fierce and Cruel, and thought he might extend it to David's Friends; eſpecially, becauſe they had ſo lately entertained him, chap. 20. 6, 29. And partly, that they might ſhare with David in his Honour and Advancement; which they now concluded certain, and near, though it was interrupted with ſome difficulties.

2 And every one that was in diſtreſs c, and every one that † was in debt d, and every one that was k † diſcontented e, gathered themſelves unto him, and he became a captain over them f: and there were with him about four hundred men.

c Through Want, or Oppreſſion, or otherwiſe. d How could David receive, and countenance ſuch Perſons to the wrong of their Creditors? Anſw. 1. David might be ignorant of their Debts; and it is moſt likely they concealed that, and pretended other Cauſes of their coming to him, as the Protection of the Innocent, and the Defence of his juſt Rights, &c. 2. They might be, and probably were, poor Debtors, whom their Creditors were obliged to ſpare, and favour, Exod. 22. 25. And though their Perſons were with David, yet their Lands and Goods were liable to their Creditors. e Or, bitter in ſoul; i. e. In an afflicted and calamitous Condition. f He did not juſtifie, nor maintain any Injuſtice or Wickedneſs, which ſome of them poſſibly might be guilty of; but on the contrary, he inſtructed, and obliged them to the practiſe of all Juſtice and Honeſty; as appears from chap. 25. 15. And he only uſed them for his juſt Defence.

3 ¶ And David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab g, and he ſaid unto the king of Moab h, Let my father and my mother i, I pray thee, come forth, and be with you, till I know what God will do for me k.

g So called, to diſtinguiſh it from that Mizpeh, 1 Sam. 7. 5. h Partly, becauſe he was related to, and deſcended from one of his People, Ruth 4. 10. And partly, becauſe he was Saul's Enemy, 1 Sam. 14. 47. and therefore more likely to be David's Friend. i Who being very aged, were not able to endure thoſe Journies and Hardſhips which David foreſaw that he was likly to be expoſed to. k Till I ſee the Accompliſhment of God's Promiſe made to me.

4 And he brought them before the king of Moab l: and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in the hold m.

l Into his Preſence that he might ſee them, and give them leave to dwell in his Dominion. m Either, 1. In Mizpeh of Moab, which was a very ſtrong Hold. But it is apparent, he ſpeaks of ſome Hold, where his Father and Mother were expoſed to fear and danger from Saul; which they were not in the King of Moab's Royal City. Or, 2. In the Cave of Adullam; mentioned above, v. 1. Or, 3. In Holes; the Singular Number being put for the Plural; as is frequent; i. e. as long as David was forc'd to go from Place to Place, and from Hold to Hold, to ſecure himſelf: for it concern'd David to ſecure his Father, and he did doubtleſs ſecure him for all that time; and not only whilſt he was in the Hold of Mizpeh, or of Adullam, which was but a little while.

5 ¶ And the prophet * Gad ſaid unto David, Abide not in the hold n; depart, and get thee into the land of Judah o. Then David departed and came into the foreſt of Hareth p.

* 2 Sam. 24. 11. 1 Chron. 21. 9. 2 Chron. 29. 25.

n Do not ſhut up thy ſelf in Holes, and Holds. o Go and ſhew thy ſelf in the Land of Judah, that thou maiſt publickly put in thy Claim to the Kingdom after Saul's Death; and that thy Friends may be invited and encouraged to appear on thy behalf. Hereby alſo God would exerciſe David's Faith, and Wiſdom, and Courage; and ſo prepare him for the Kingdom, and uphold, and increaſe his Reputation among the People. p Where there were many Caves and lurking Places.

6 ¶ When Saul heard that David was diſcovered, and the men that were with him: (now Saul abode in Gibeah under a ‖ tree in Ramah q, having his ſpear in his hand r, and all his ſervants were ſtanding about him.)

q i. e. In the Territory of Gibeah, in, or near (for ſo the Hebrew Particle is oft uſed; as hath been ſhewed) Ramah. Or, in the town of Gibeah — in an high place; for ſo the word Ramah unqueſtionably ſignifies; and ſo it is here rendred by ſome, both Ancient and Modern Interpreters. r Either as an Enſign of Majeſty, for in old times Kings carried a Spear inſtead of a Scepter; as Juſtin and others note; or, as an Inſtrument of Self-defence or Cruelty, as occaſion required.

7 Then Saul ſaid unto his ſervants that ſtood about him, Hear now, ye † Benjamites s, will the ſon of Jeſſe give every one of you fields, and vineyards, and make you all captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds t:

s You that are of my own Tribe and Kindred, from whom David deſigns to tranſlate the Kingdom to another Tribe. t Will he diſtribute Profits and Preferments amongſt you Benjamites, as I have done, and intend ſtill to do? will he not rather prefer thoſe of his own Tribe before you?

8 That all of you have conſpired againſt me, and there is none that † ſheweth me that my ſon hath made a league with the ſon of Jeſſe u, and there is none of you that is ſorry for me, or ſheweth unto me, that my ſon hath ſtirred up my ſervant againſt me to lie in wait x, as at this day?

u This he ſuſpected, partly, from Jonathan's paſſionate Love for David, which he had formerly, and conſtantly declared; and from his late diſcontent and departure from his Father, mentioned, chap. 20. 33. and partly, from David's Confidence, in Invading the Land with Four hundred Men, which he thought he would never preſume to do, without ſome Encouragement or promiſe of Aſſiſtance from Jonathan. x i. e. To deſign againſt my Crown, and Life; (which will appear to be a moſt groundleſs Suſpicion, and falſe Accuſation.)

9 ¶ Then anſwered * Doeg the Edomite (which was ſet over the ſervants of Saul) and ſaid, I ſaw the ſon of Jeſſe coming to Nob y, to Ahimelech the ſon of * Ahitub.

10 And he enquired of the LORD for him z, and * gave him victuals, and gave him the ſword of Goliah the Philiſtine.

* Chap. 21. 6, 9.

z This is not Recorded, Chap. 21. and therefore ſome think, that Doeg to curry favour with Saul, feigned this; for it is certain, David chargeth him with the Sin of Lying, Pſalm 52. 3. though it is not improbable, that he told other Lyes alſo, not here expreſſed; and withal, he was guilty of concealing part of the Truth, which in this Caſe he was obliged to declare for Ahimelech's juſt Defence; to wit, the cunning Pretence and Artifice whereby David circumvented Ahimelech. Others think this was true, becauſe Ahimelech ſeems to confeſs it, v. 15. though that may be ſpoken by way of conceſſion. If it were ſo as Doeg declares, this was no new thing. Then he might add, that it was not ſo; though this be not here mentioned: for it is evident, That all his Anſwer or Apology, is not here expreſſed; for here is not a word of the Victuals or Sword which he gave him.

11 Then the king ſent to call Ahimelech the prieſt the ſon of Ahitub, and all his fathers houſe a, the prieſts that were in Nob: and they came all of them to the king.

a Of the Houſe of Eli, which God had threatned to cut off, chap. 2. 31.

12 And Saul ſaid, Hear now, thou ſon of Ahitub b: and he anſwered, † Here I am, my lord.

b He ſhews his Contempt and Anger, that he would not vouchſafe to name him: See before, on chap. 20. 27.

13 And Saul ſaid unto him, Why have ye conſpired againſt me, thou, and the Son of Jeſſe, in that thou haſt given him bread, and a ſword, and haſt enquired of God for him, that he ſhould riſe againſt me to lie in wait, as at this day?

14 Then Ahimelech anſwered the king, and ſaid, And who is ſo faithful among all thy ſervants, as David c, which is the kings ſon in law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine houſe.

c He doth not determine the Differences between Saul and David; nor affirm, what David now was: but only declared what David had formerly been, both really, and in publick Fame and Opinion.

15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? be it far from me: let not the king impute any thing d unto his ſervant, nor to all the houſe of my father: for thy ſervant knew nothing of all this e, † leſs or more.

d Or, this thing; to wit, which thou now chargeſt me with, That I ſhould aſſiſt David in any evil Deſign againſt thee. e Or, of thy Suſpicion concerning him. For as for Saul's Attempts upon David, well might Ahimelech impute them wholly to the Violence of Saul's Paſſion and Diſeaſe, ſeeing even Jonathan did ſo, as may be gathered from 1 Sam. 20. 2.

16 And the king ſaid, Thou ſhalt ſurely die, Ahimelech, thou and all thy fathers houſe.

17 ¶ And the king ſaid unto the ‖ † footmen that ſtood about him, Turn, and ſlay the prieſts of the LORD, becauſe their hand is with David, and becauſe they knew when he fled, and did not ſhew it me. But the ſervants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the prieſts of the LORD f.

f Chuſing rather to offend the King, by diſobeying his wicked and bloody Command, than to offend God, by ſhedding the Blood of ſuch Innocent and Sacred Perſons.

18 And the king ſaid to Doeg, Turn thou g, and fall upon the prieſts. And Doeg the Edomite h turned, and he fell upon the prieſts, and * ſlew on that day fourſcore and five perſons i that did wear a linen ephod k.

* Chap. 2. 31.

g Or, go about, to wit, from Man to Man, till thou haſt killed all. h Which is noted to wipe off the ſtain of this Butchery from the Iſraelitiſh Nation, and to ſhew, why he was ſo ready to do it, becauſe he was one of that Nation which had an implacable hatred againſt all Iſraelites, and againſt the Prieſts of the Lord. i With his own hand: which was not difficult, when no reſiſtance was made. k Not at that time, as ſome fanſie, but uſually; ſuch as uſed to miniſter to the Lord in a Linen Ephod, which Prieſts and Levites uſed to do. See Exod. 28. 40, &c. 1 Sam. 2. 18.

19 And Nob the city of the prieſt ſmote he l with the edge of the ſword, both men and women, children and ſucklings, and oxen, and aſſes, and ſheep, with the edge of the ſword.

l Either Saul, or Doeg, with the help of ſome others whom Saul appointed to that work. By this barbarous and bloody Fact Saul thought to affright all his Subjects from giving any Countenance or Aſſiſtance to David.

20 ¶ And one of the ſons of Ahimelech, the ſon of Ahitub, named Abiathar m, eſcaped and fled after David n:

m Who by his Father's death was now High-Prieſt. n To Keilah, chap. 23. 6, 7.

21 And Abiathar ſhewed David, that Saul had ſlain the LORDs prieſts.

22 And David ſaid unto Abiathar, I knew it o that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would ſurely tell Saul: I have occaſioned the death of all the perſons of thy fathers houſe.

o His Malice and Ambition made me ſuſpect that he would do it.

23 Abide thou with me, fear not: for he that ſeeketh my life, ſeeketh thy life: but with me thou ſhalt be in ſafeguard p.

p Becauſe God will certainly preſerve me to the Kingdom which he hath promiſed: and I by his help will protect thee.

CHAP. XXIII.

David enquiring of the Lord by Abiathar, reſcueth Keilah, and goeth into it, 1,—6. God ſhewing him the coming of Saul, and treachery of the Keilites, 7,—12. He flieth thence to the wilderneſs of Ziph with his 600 men, 13,—15. Here Jonathan cometh to him and reneweth the covenant of friendſhip with him, 16,—18. The Ziphites diſcover him to Saul, 19,—23. Who purſueth him into the wilderneſs of Maon, 24,—26. He is called away by a meſſage that the Philiſtines had invaded the land, 27,28. David dwelleth at En-gedi, 29.

THen they told David a, ſaying, Behold, the Philiſtines fight againſt Keilah b, and they rob the threſhing-floors c.

a Or, Now they had told David, to wit, before he heard of the ſlaughter of the Prieſts. b A City in the Tribe of Judah, Joſ. 15. 44. not far from the Foreſt of Hareth, where David now was, chap. 22. 5. c Which uſually were without the Cities in places open to the Wind. See Judg. 6. 11. Ruth 3. 2, &c.

2 Therefore David enquired of the LORD d, ſaying, Shall I go and ſmite theſe Philiſtines e? And the LORD ſaid unto David, Go, and ſmite the Philiſtines, and ſave Keilah.

d Either by Abiathar; or rather, by Gad, who was a Prophet, 2 Sam. 24. 11. and David's Seer, 1 Chron. 21. 9. and was now with David, chap. 22. 5. for Abiathar was not yet come to him, v. 6. e For the caſe was both doubtful and new, he having not yet made any Attempt upon the Philiſtines, but by Saul's Commiſſion; and dangerous, becauſe of the ſmall number of his Forces.

3 And Davids men ſaid unto him, Behold, we be afraid here in Judah f: how much more then if we come to Keilah againſt the armies of the Philiſtines g?

f i. e. In this part of Judah, whereas yet we have no Army to oppoſe us: for elſe Keilah alſo was in Judah. g When we ſhall have a Potent Enemy before us, the Philiſtines, and, it may be, another behind us, even Saul, who probably will come forth, either to reſiſt the Philiſtines, or to intercept us.

4 Then David enquired of the LORD yet again h: And the LORD anſwered him, and ſaid, Ariſe, go down to Keilah: for I will deliver the Philiſtines into thine hand.

h Not for his own, but for his Soldiers Satisfaction and Encouragement; as Gideon did, Judg. 7.

5 So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philiſtines, and brought away their cattel i, and ſmote them with a great ſlaughter: ſo David ſaved the inhabitants of Keilah.

i Which the Philiſtines had either brought out of their Land, or had taken from the Iſraelites in their march, for the ſuſtenance of their Army.

6 And it came to paſs when Abiathar the ſon of Ahimelech * fled to David to Keilah, that he came down with an ephod k in his hand.

k Or, with the Ephod, to wit, the High-Prieſts Ephod, in which were the Urim and the Thummim, Ex. 28. 30. which when Abimelech and the reſt of the Prieſts went to Saul, were probably left in his hand, and to his care; which gave him the opportunity both of eſcaping, whilſt Doeg the Butcher was killing his Brethren, and of bringing away the Ephod, which Saul had oft groſly neglected, and now was juſtly deprived of it.

7 ¶ And it was told Saul that David was come to Keilah: and Saul ſaid, God hath † delivered him into mine hand l: for he is ſhut in, by entring into a town that hath gates and bars m.

l He eaſily believed what he greedily deſired, though his own Experience had oft ſhewed him how ſtrangely God had delivered him out of his Hands, and what a ſingular Care God had over him. m So that which he choſe for his Safety, will be his certain Ruine.

8 And Saul called all the people together, to war, to go down to Keilah, to beſiege David and his men.

9 ¶ And David knew that Saul ſecretly practiſed n miſchief againſt him, and * he ſaid to Abiathar the prieſt, Bring hither the ephod o.

* Numb. 27. 21.

n Whereby it may ſeem he pretended that he raiſed this Army to defend Keilah and his Country from the Philiſtines, and kept his Intention againſt David in his own Breaſt. Or, deſigned or deviſed: for ſo the word ſignifies; and ſo it is here tranſlated by many, and it ſeems both from v. 8. and from his publickly avowed jealouſie of, and rage againſt David, that he declared his deſign to be againſt him, as a Traitor to his Crown and Dignity. o And put it upon thee, that thou maiſt aſk Counſel of God for me.

10 Then ſaid David p, O LORD God of Iſrael, thy ſervant hath certainly heard that Saul ſeeketh to come to Keilah, to deſtroy the city for my ſake.

p To wit, by the Prieſt, for he was to make the enquiry of God, Numb. 27. 21. and David puts the words into his Mouth.

11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand q? Will Saul come down as thy ſervant hath heard? O LORD God of Iſrael, I beſeech thee tell thy ſervant. And the LORD ſaid r, He will come down ſ.

q To wit, if I continue in their City, and if Saul come down. r From this place it may appear that Gods anſwer by Urim and Thummim, was not by any change in the colour or ſituation of the precious Stones in the Breaſt-Plate of the Ephod, but by a Voice or Suggeſtion from God to the High-Prieſt. ſ i. e. He purpoſeth to come, if thou continueſt here. For ſtill as David's queſtion, ſo God's anſwer, is upon ſuppoſition, as is here ſufficiently implied.

12 Then ſaid David, Will the men of Keilah † deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? and the LORD ſaid, They will deliver thee up t.

t To wit, if thou abideſt there. For God ſaw their hearts, their purpoſes, and paſſions, their averſion from David, and their affections to Saul, and knew better than themſelves what they would do in that caſe.

13 ¶ Then David and his men, which were about ſix hundred u, aroſe, and departed out of Keilah, and went whitherſoever they could go x: and it was told Saul that David was eſcaped from Keilah, and he forbare to go forth.

u Two hundred being added to his former number, chap. 22. 2. upon his laſt and great Succeſs againſt the Philiſtines. x Hither or thither, where they could find refuge, or an hiding place.

14 And David abode in the wilderneſs in ſtrong holds, and remained in a mountain in the wilderneſs of Ziph: and Saul ſought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand y.

y As Saul fondly perſuaded himſelf, he intended, v. 7.

15 And David ſaw z that Saul was come out to ſeek his life: and David was in the wilderneſs of Ziph in a wood.

z Either by Information from his Spies: or, by Proſpect from the top of the Mountain where he was.

16 ¶ And Jonathan Sauls ſon aroſe, and went to David in the wood a, and ſtrengthned his hand in God b.

a Where David had appointed to meet him at that time. b He comforted and ſupported him againſt all his Fears, by minding him of God's infallible Promiſes made to him, and his ſingular Providence which hitherto had and ſtill would be with him.

17 And he ſaid unto him, Fear not, for the hand of Saul my father ſhall not find thee, and thou ſhalt be king over Iſrael, and I ſhall be next unto thee ∴: and * that alſo Saul my father knoweth c.

* Chap. 24. 20.

18 And they two made a covenant d before the LORD e: and David abode in the wood, and Jonathan went to his houſe.

d i. e. Renewed their former Covenant. e i. e. Setting themſelves as in God's Preſence, and calling upon him to be Witneſs between them.

19 ¶ Then came up the * Ziphites f to Saul to Gibeah, ſaying, Doth not David hide himſelf with us in ſtrong holds in the woods, in the hill of Hachilah, which is † on the ſouth of ‖ Jeſhimon?

20 Now therefore, O King, come down according to all the deſire of thy ſoul to come down, and our part ſhall be g to deliver him into the kings hand.

g It ſhall be our Care and Buſineſs to the utmoſt of our Power. Or, we will undertake to deliver him, or betray him to thee.

21 And Saul ſaid, Bleſſed be ye of the LORD, for ye have compaſſion on me h.

h Whilſt others harden their Hearts againſt me, and joyn with David in his treaſonable Conſpiracy, you ſhew your pity to me by your readineſs to help me.

22 Go, I pray you, prepare yet i, and know, and ſee his place where his † haunt is k, and who hath ſeen him there: for it is told me that he dealeth very ſubtilly.

23 See therefore, and take knowledge of all the lurking places where he hideth himſelf, and come ye again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you: and it ſhall come to paſs, if he be in the land, that I will ſearch him out throughout all the thouſands of Judah l.

l i. e. Through all the parts of that Tribe. Every Tribe was divided into Thouſands, as Counties are now with us into Hundreds. See Judg. 6. 15. Or, with all the Thouſands of Judah; i. e. I will raiſe againſt him all the Forces of that Tribe in which he truſteth and hideth himſelf. This he ſaith to animate them to the more vigorous Proſecution of him.

24 And they aroſe, and went to Ziph before Saul [m]: but David and his men were in the wilderneſs of Maon [n], in the plain on the ſouth of Jeſhimon.

[m] To prepare things for Saul, who marched after them. [n] Whither he went from the Wilderneſs of Ziph, upon ſuſpicion or information that Saul was coming thither.

25 Saul alſo and his men went to ſeek him, and they told David: wherefore he came down into a rock [o], and abode in the wilderneſs of Maon: and when Saul heard that, he purſued after David in the wilderneſs of Maon.

[o] i.e. Into a Cave which was in the Rock; or, which might be called a Rock, not for the height, but the ſtrength of its ſituation: where at firſt he might think to hide himſelf, but upon further intelligence or conſideration he removed from thence upon Saul's approach. Or, he came down from the Rock, i.e. Either, Firſt, From the Mountain mentioned in the next Verſe, whence he came down, that ſo he might get out of Saul's ſight and reach. Or, Secondly, From the Hill of Hachilah, where David hid himſelf, which is ſaid to be on the South of Jeſhimon, v. 19. as this place where he now was, is alſo deſcribed, ver. 24. only that ſpeaks of the Plain, and this of the Rock or Hill adjoyning to it, or in the midſt of it. Or, he came down to Selah, as the Syriack and Arabick tranſlate it; a place ſo called from the many Rocks or Stones which were in it, or near it.

26 And Saul went on this ſide of the mountain, and David and his men on that ſide of the mountain: and David made haſte to get away for fear of Saul: for Saul and his men compaſſed David and his men round about [p] to take them.

27 ¶ But there came a meſſenger unto Saul, ſaying, Haſte thee, and come: for the Philiſtines have † invaded the land [q].

[q] God ſtirring them up by his all-diſpoſing Providence to do it at this time for David's reſcue. Compare 2 Kings 19. 9.

28 Wherefore Saul returned from purſuing after David, and went againſt the Philiſtines: therefore they called that place || Sela-hammahlekoth [r].

[r] i.e. The Rock of Diviſions, becauſe there Saul was ſeparated, and in a manner pulled aſunder from David, who was now almoſt within his reach.

29 ¶ And David went up from thence, and dwelt in ſtrong holds at En-gedi.

CHAP. XXIV.

Saul purſueth David to En-gedi: Cometh into a Cave in which was David with his Men: Who cutteth off the Skirt of Saul's Mantle, but will not kill him, 1,——7. He communeth with Saul, and hereby evidenceth his Innocency towards him, 8,——15. Saul acknowledgeth his Fault, taketh an Oath of David, and departeth, 16,——23.

2 Then Saul took three thouſand choſen men out of all Iſrael, and went to ſeek David and his men upon † the rocks of the wild goats [a].

[a] Which the wild Goats uſe to delight and climb into. Theſe very Rocks are exceeding ſteep, and full of Precipices, and dangerous to Travellers, as an eye-witneſs hath left upon Record. And yet Saul was ſo tranſported with Rage, as to venture himſelf and his Army here, that he might take David, who, as he thought, would judge himſelf ſafe, and therefore be ſecure in ſuch inacceſſible places.

* Pſal. 57. title, and 142 title.

3 And he came to the ſheep-coats [b] by the way, where was a cave, and * Saul went in to cover his feet [c]: and * David and his men remained in the ſides of the cave [d]:

[b] Which ſome think to have been Caves into which they uſed to drive their Sheep for ſhelter in tempeſtuous Weather. [c] i.e. To eaſe his Belly, as this Phraſe is thought to be uſed, Judg. 3. 24. The reaſon whereof is, becauſe the Eaſtern and ſome other Nations of old wore no Breeches, but looſe and long Coats or Gowns, like thoſe which Women with us wear; but ſhorter, whence their Feet and Leggs were in a great part uncovered; and ſometimes other parts, which alſo in Scripture are deſigned by the name of the Feet, (of which ſee on Gen. 49. 10. Deut. 28. 57. 2 Kings 18. 27. Iſa. 7. 20.) were expoſed to view. But when they went to perform this office of Nature, which obliged them firſt to lift up their Garments, they afterwards diſpoſed them ſo decently, that all thoſe parts might be covered and kept out of the ſight of others. But poſſibly the words may have another meaning, and it is not to be deſpiſed, that thoſe ancient and venerable Interpreters, the Syriack and Arabick, interpret this Place and Phraſe quite otherwiſe, that Saul went in to ſleep there: which was no uncouth thing to Saul, who being a Military Man, uſed to ſleep with his Soldiers upon the bare Ground, as he did chap. 26. 7. And it is not improbable that Saul being exceeding weary with his eager and almoſt inceſſant purſuit, firſt of David, then of the Philiſtines, and now of David again, both needed and deſired ſome ſleep, God alſo diſpoſing him thereunto, that David might have this eminent occaſion to demonſtrate his integrity to Saul, and to all Iſrael; and, the ſeaſon poſſibly being hot, he might chuſe to ſleep in the Cave, for the benefit of the ſhade. But all the queſtion is, how it may appear that this is the meaning of this Phraſe, and what is the reaſon and ground of it? To which many things may be ſaid. Firſt, That this Phraſe is but twice uſed in Scripture, as far as I remember, here, and Judg. 3. 24. and this ſenſe may conveniently enough agree to both of them; nay, this ſenſe may ſeem better to agree with that place, Judg. 3. for that Summer Parlour, or Summer Chamber (for both ſeem to be the ſame place, and were apparently for the ſame uſe, v. 24, 25) ſeems to be a place far more convenient for ſleeping, than for eaſing of Nature. And the Servants long ſtay and waiting for their Lord, ſeems to imply that they judged him gone to ſleep (which might take up a conſiderable time), rather than to that other work which requires but a little time. See my Notes on Judg. 3. 24. Secondly, That there are many Hebrew Phraſes, which do confeſſedly ſignifie ſeveral things, albeit, the reaſon of ſuch ſignifications be now utterly unknown to us, though it was doubtleſs known to the ancient Hebrews. Nor need I inſtance in particulars, ſeeing it is ſo in all Languages, and particularly in the Engliſh Tongue at this day, in which the uſe of many Proverbs and Phraſes is well underſtood, though the reaſon of them be now loſt. Which if our modern Infidels, who ſcoff at ſome paſſages of Scripture, which they either do not, or will not underſtand, would conſider, they would loſe much of their ſport. Thirdly, Although there be not that clear and full proof of this ſenſe which ſome may require (though indeed it cannot be reaſonably expected in a thing ſo ancient, and in a Phraſe of ſo conciſe and narrow a Language as the Hebrew is, and in an expreſſion ſo rarely uſed in Scripture), yet there are ſome intimations in Scripture which may ſeem to favour this Interpretation. For Perſons compoſing themſelves to ſleep in this manner, are not only noted in the general to have been covered with a Mantle, as is ſaid of Siſera, Judg. 4. 18, 19. but particularly they are ſaid to have their Feet covered, as is expreſly obſerved concerning Boaz when he lay down to ſleep in the threſhing floor, Ruth 3. 4, 7. The reaſon whereof may poſſibly be this, That when they lay down to ſleep in their Garments, they were ſecured as to the other parts of their Body, only their Feet were open and viſible; and therefore it was convenient to cover their Feet; partly, to prevent the inconveniences of Cold, (for which reaſon we here take ſpecial care to cover our Feet in ſuch caſes); and partly, for decency ſake, leſt their Garments being looſe and large below, ſhould be diſordered, and ſo their Nakedneſs ſhould appear, as it happened to Noah, Gen. 9. 21. Compare Exod 20. 26. And therefore it cannot ſeem ſtrange or forced, if in this place Saul's covering of his feet, deſign his compoſing himſelf to his reſt. And if this be ſo, then the following difficulties of this Hiſtory will appear to be plain and eaſie. For if Saul were faſt aſleep, which might eaſily be perceived by David and his Men within; then it is not ſtrange that Saul neither heard David and his men talking of him, nor felt David when he came to cut off his lap. [d] For that there were vaſt Caves in thoſe parts is affirmed not only by Joſephus, but alſo by Heathen Authors; and Strabo in his 16*th* Book writes of one which could receive Four thouſand Men.

4 And the men of David ſaid unto him [e], Behold, the day of which the LORD ſaid unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayeſt do to him, as it ſhall ſeem good unto thee [f]. Then David aroſe and cut off the skirt of † Saul's robe privily [g].

[e] Queſt. How came it to paſs that Saul did not hear the debates of David and his Men? Anſ. Firſt, The greater noiſe of Saul's Men and Horſes juſt by the Caves mouth, might eaſily drown the leſſer. Secondly, There were in theſe large and capacious Caves, ſeveral Cells or Parts, whereof ſome were more inward and remote from the Caves mouth, in which they might freely converſe and diſcourſe, and yet neither be heard nor ſeen by Saul, though they could eaſily ſee him, and obſerve all his poſtures and actions, becauſe he was in the mouth of the Cave. Thirdly, Saul might be aſleep, as hath been diſcourſed. [f] Not that either God ſaid theſe words, or made any ſuch particular promiſe, as ſome apprehend; but they put this conſtruction upon thoſe confeſſed and known Promiſes which God had made to him, of delivering him from all his Enemies, and carrying him through all hinderances and difficulties to the Throne and Kingdom: Which Promiſe they conceived put him under an Obligation of watching and taking all opportunities which God by his Providence ſhould put into his hand for their accompliſhment, whereof this was an eminent Inſtance. [g] Qu. How could David do thus, and Saul not perceive it? Anſ. Firſt, This might be ſome looſe and upper Garment, which Saul might then lay at ſome diſtance from him, as we oft do on the ſame occaſion. Secondly, In thoſe vaſt Caves there were divers particular Cells and Rooms which were diſtinct one from another, yet ſo as there were ſecret paſſages from one to another, as may be gathered from the relations of Hiſtorians and Travellers. At the mouth of one of theſe, Saul might lay his upper Garment: which David perceiving, and very well knowing all the Cells and Paſſages of that Cave, might go ſome ſecret way to it, and cut off a little part of it. Thirdly, The noiſe which David's motion might be ſuppoſed to make, was but ſmall, and that he well knew would be perfectly drowned with the far greater noiſe of Saul's Army, which lay at the mouth of the Cave. Fourthly, The Heroical Actions of great Men in Scripture are not to be meaſured by common Rules. And as divers of the Prophets and Saints of old were in ſome of their Actions, ſo David might be in this, moved to it by a ſecret and divine impulſe, which alſo gave him confidence of God's aſſiſtance therein, and of the ſucceſs of his Enterprize. Fifthly, This difficulty doth perfectly vaniſh, if Saul was now aſleep. And as no man can prove that he was not; ſo that he was, may ſeem probable from what is ſaid on v. 3.

*2Sam.24. 10. 5 And it came to paſs afterwards, that * David's heart ſmote him, becauſe he had cut off Saul's ſkirt.

h Not only becauſe it was injurious, and reproachful, and dangerous to the King; but poſſibly becauſe he had ſome ſecret thought of doing more to him, though he ſuppreſſed and overcame it; for he attempted this in purſuance of his Soldiers ſuggeſtion, v. 4. which if followed would have carried him to further Action.

6 And he ſaid unto his men i, The LORD forbid that I ſhould do this thing k unto my maſter l the LORD's anointed, to ſtretch forth mine hand againſt him m, ſeeing he is the anointed of the LORD n.

i Either, Firſt, Before he cut off Saul's lap. Or rather, Secondly, Afterwards, when he returned with Saul's lap in his hand, and his Soldiers were enraged that he had not killed him. k Which you perſuade me to do, even cut off Saul. l Whom I muſt ſtill own for my Sovereign Lord and King, to whom I owe Allegiance whilſt he lives, although after his death the right of the Kingdom be mine. m To wit, to kill him. A Synedochical expreſſion. See Gen. 37.22. n i. e. Anointed by God to the Kingdom; by which Unction his Perſon was made Sacred and Inviolable, and is ſo to be accounted by me, and you, and all his Subjects. And as God only Exalted him, and God only could pronounce a Sentence of Deprivation of his Kingdom againſt him; ſo it belongs to God only to execute his own Sentence, and actually to Depoſe him.

† Heb. cut off. 7 So David † ſtayed o his ſervants with theſe words, and ſuffered them not to riſe againſt Saul: but Saul roſe up out of the cave, and went on his way.

o Heb. cut, or clave, or divided, or cut them off. The word notes both the eagerneſs and violence of David's men in proſecuting their deſire, and David's reſoluteneſs in oppoſing them, as it were, by force. Wherein he ſhews great Piety, and Generoſity, aud Loyalty to Saul.

8 David alſo aroſe afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, ſaying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David ſtooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himſelf.

* Pſal.141. 6. 9 ¶ And David ſaid unto Saul, * Wherefore heareſt thou mens words p, ſaying, Behold, David ſeeketh thy hurt?

p He prudently and modeſtly Tranſlates the fault from Saul to his followers, and evil counſellors.

10 Behold, this day thine eyes have ſeen, how that the LORD hath delivered thee to day into mine hand in the cave: and ſome bade me kill thee, but * mine eye q ſpared thee, and I ſaid, I will not put forth mine hand againſt my lord, for he is the LORD's anointed.

q Which words are eaſily underſtood both from the nature of the thing, and from the uſe of this Phraſe in other Scriptures, as Deut. 7. 16. and 13. 8. The Eye is ſaid to ſpare, becauſe it affects the Heart with pity, and moves a Man to ſpare.

11 Moreover, my father r, See, yea, ſee the ſkirt of thy robe in my hand: for in that I cut off the ſkirt of thy robe, and killed thee not, know thou and ſee, that there is neither evil nor tranſgreſſion in mine hand ſ, and I have not ſinned againſt thee; yet thou hunteſt my ſoul to take it.

r So he calls him; partly, becauſe he was his Father-in-law; partly, in teſtimony of his reſpect and ſubjection to him as to a Father; and partly, that by ſo amiable a compellation he might both inſinuate himſelf into his favour, and mind him of that Duty which as a Father he owed to David. ſ I neither deſign miſchief againſt thee with my heart, nor will I execute it with my hand, which my falſe accuſers told thee I would do, if thou didſt at any time fall into my hand.

† Or, will judge. 12 The LORD judge † between me and thee, and the LORD avenge me of thee t: but mine hand ſhall not be upon thee u.

t Or, will avenge me of thee, to wit, if thou doſt perſiſt in thy injurious and cruel deſigns againſt me. u I will not execute Vengeance on thee, but will leave it wholly to God.

13 As ſaith the proverb of the ancients, Wickedneſs proceedeth from the wicked x: but mine hand ſhall not be upon thee.

x i.e. Wicked men will do wicked actions, among which this is one, to kill their Sovereign Lord and King; as David implied above, v. 6. and more fully expreſſeth chap. 26. 9. And therefore if I were ſo wicked and vile a Perſon as thy Courtiers repreſent me to thee, I ſhould make no conſcience of laying wicked and violent hands upon thee, but ſhould aſſaſſinate thee when I had opportunity. Which becauſe I have now neglected and refuſed to do, though moved to it by ſome of my wicked Soldiers; know therefore that I am not guilty of any wicked deſigns againſt thee, but am juſt and innocent towards thee. Or thus: wicked actions (ſuch as that would have been if I had killed thee) proceed only from thee wicked, of which number I am none, and therefore my hand ſhall not be upon thee.

14 After whom is the king of Iſrael come out? after whom doſt thou purſue? After a dead dog, after * a flea y.

y After a worthleſs, contemptible, and impotent perſon, ſuch as I am. Thou diſparageſt thy ſelf in contending with ſuch a Perſon; and even thy conqueſt of me will be inglorious and ſhameful.

15 The LORD therefore be judge, and judge between me and thee, and ſee, and plead my cauſe, and † deliver me out of thine hand.

2 Sam. 18. 19. 16 ¶ And it came to paſs when David had made an end of ſpeaking theſe words unto Saul, that Saul ſaid, Is this thy voice, my ſon David z? And Saul lift up his voice, and wept a.

z He knew his voice, though being at a great diſtance from him, he could not diſcern his face. a Partly, from the ſenſe of his Sin againſt God, and of his wicked and baſe carriage to David, (for there are ſome ſuch Temporary Paſſions oft-times in Hypocrites and ungodly Men) and principally from the remembrance of ſo great and ſo late a danger as he had now eſcaped; which commonly produceth Grief and Tears; as 2 Sam. 13. 36. Yet theſe may be tears of affection or tenderneſs (upon the ſenſe of David's kindneſs) rather than of grief.

17 And he ſaid to David, Thou art more righteous than I: for thou haſt rewarded me good b, whereas I have rewarded thee evil c.

b For the Evil that I have deſigned and done to thee. c For thy good will to me.

18 And thou haſt ſhewed this day how that thou haſt dealt well with me: foraſmuch as when the LORD had † delivered me into thine hand, thou killedſt me not. † Heb. ſhut up.

19 For if a man find his enemy, will he let him go well away d? wherefore the LORD reward thee good, for that thou haſt done unto me this day.

d i. e. He will certainly deſtroy him. And therefore thou haſt not dealt with me after the manner of Men, but haſt imitated the clemency of God in this act.

20 And now behold, * I know well e that thou ſhalt be ſurely king, and that the kingdom of Iſrael ſhall be eſtabliſhed in thine hand. * Chap. 23. 17.

e Or, am convinced, not only by the fame of Samuel's Anointing thee, but by God's ſingular Providence watching over thee; and by that good Spirit, and thoſe great and Princely Vertues wherewith God hath endowed thee.

21 Swear now therefore unto me by the LORD, that thou wilt not cut off my ſeed after me f, and that thou wilt not deſtroy my name g out of my fathers houſe.

f As Princes uſe to deſtroy their Competitors, and thoſe that have any hopes of, or pretence to their Crown; and Saul had endeavoured to deſtroy David for the ſame reaſon, and therefore he feared a retaliation. g To wit, by cutting off my Seed. So it is the ſame thing repeated in other words, as is uſual in Scripture.

22 And David ſware unto Saul h: and Saul went home; but David and his men gat them up unto the hold i.

h Qu. How then could David deſtroy ſo many of Saul's Sons, 2 Sam. 21. 8? Anſ. David could bind himſelf by his Oaths, but he could not bind God, to whoſe good pleaſure all Promiſes, Vows, and Oaths, muſt in all reaſon be ſubmitted; and that was done by God's Command, and God was well pleaſed with it, 2 Sam. 21. 14. Nor is it to be ſuppoſed that David ſware not to deſtroy any of them in caſe God ſhould ſpecially Command it, or that ſhould by miſcarriage render themſelves obnoxious to the Sword of Juſtice: but only that he would not do it barely on his own private account, nor ſeek occaſions of ſo doing. i To wit, of En-gedi, v. 1. For having had ſo great and frequent experience of Saul's Inconſtancy, and Malice, and Perfidiouſneſs, he would truſt him no more.

CHAP. XXV.

Samuel dieth: David goeth to the Wilderneſs of Paran, 1. Nabal's Riches, 2. His and his Wife Abigail's Nature and Condition, 3. David requeſteth of Nabal ſome Relief for his Camp: He entreateth David's Meſſengers ſcornfully. David is provoked, and mindeth to deſtroy him, 4,—13. Abigail underſtands it, 14,—17. Taketh a Preſent, 18,—22. And by her Wiſdom, 23,—31. Pacifieth David, 32,—35. Nabal hearing of this, dyeth, 36,—38. David taketh Abigail and Ahinoam to be his Wives, 39,—43. Saul having given Michal to Phalti, 44.

AND * Samuel died, and all the Iſraelites were gathered together, and lamented him, and buried him in his houſe a at Ramah. And David aroſe, and went down to the wilderneſs of Paran b. * Ch. 28. 3.

a According to the manner of thoſe Times. See Gen. 23. 9. and 50. 5. Matth. 27. 60. b In the Southern Borders of the Land of Judah, that ſo when occaſion ſerved, he might retire out of Saul's Dominions.

2 And there was a man in Maon c, whoſe || poſſeſſions were in Carmel d, and the man was very great, and he had three thouſand ſheep, and a thouſand goats: and he was ſhearing his ſheep in Carmel. || Or, buſineſs.

c A place in or near to the Wilderneſs of Paran. See chap. 23. 24. d Not that Carmel in Iſſachar; of which ſee chap. 15. 12. and 1 Kings 18. 19. but another in the Tribe of Judah, near unto Maon, as appears from Joſ. 15. 55.

3 Now the name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail: and ſhe was a woman of good underſtanding, and of a beautiful countenance: but the man was churliſh, and evil in his doings, and he was † of the houſe of Caleb e.

e This is added to aggravate his Crime, That he was a degenerate Branch of that Noble ſtock of Caleb, and conſequently of the Tribe of Judah, as David was.

4 ¶ And David heard in the wilderneſs, that Nabal did ſhear his ſheep f.

f Which Times were celebrated with Feaſting and Jollity. See 2 Sam. 13. 23, 24.

5 And David ſent out ten young men, and David ſaid unto the young men, Get ye up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and † greet him in my name.

† Heb. ask him in my name of peace.

6 And thus ſhall ye ſay to him that liveth in proſperity g, † Peace be both to thee, and peace be to thine houſe h, and peace be unto all that thou haſt i.

g Heb. to him that liveth. Life is oft put for a proſperous and happy life, as in that Prayer, Let the King live, 1 Sam. 10. 24. 1 Kings 1. 25. and in other paſſages of Scripture, and other Authors; for an afflicted and calamitous life is unworthy of the name of life, and is eſteemed a kind of death, and oft ſo called, as 2 Cor. 1. 10. and 11. 23. By this expreſſion David both congratulates Nabal's felicity, and tacitly minds him of the penury and diſtreſs in which David and his Men now were. h i.e. To all thy Family. i To all thy Goods. So David's Prayer is very comprehenſive, reaching to his Soul, and Body, and Wife, and Children, and Servants, and all his Eſtate.

7 And now I have heard that thou haſt ſhearers: now thy ſhepherds which were with us, we † hurt them not, neither was there ought miſſing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel k.

k Which, conſidering the licentiouſneſs of Soldiers, and the neceſſities which David and his Men were oft expoſed to, was no ſmall favour and priviledge, which Nabal was bound both in juſtice, and gratitude, and prudence to requite.

8 Ask thy young men, and they will ſhew thee: wherefore let the young men find favour in thine eyes: (for we come in a good day l) give I pray thee, whatſoever cometh to thine hand, unto thy ſervants m, and to thy ſon n David.

l i.e. In a day of Feaſting and Rejoycing; when Men are moſt chearful and liberal; when thou mayſt relieve us out of thy abundance without damage to thy ſelf; when thou art receiving the Mercies of God, and therefore obliged to pity and relieve diſtreſſed and indigent Perſons, Deut. 12. 12. and 14. 26, 29. and 15. 7. m To us who have been and ſtill are ready to ſerve and guard thee and thine. Or, the word Servants may be only uſed as a word of reſpect, frequently uſed in Scripture, where Inferiors ſpeak to Superiors, eſpecially when they be ſuppliants, and beg ſome favour. n So he calls himſelf, to ſhew that reſpect and affection which he bore to Nabal, as being elder and wealthier than himſelf, and of the ſame Tribe with himſelf, and a Branch of ſo worthy a Family as Nabal's was.

9 And when Davids young men came, they ſpake to Nabal according to all thoſe words in the name of David, and † ceaſed.

10 ¶ And Nabal anſwered David's ſervants, and ſaid, Who is David o? and who is the ſon of Jeſſe? There be many ſervants now a days that break away, every man from his maſter p.

o What relation or obligation have I to David? p Hereby he taxeth both David, as one revolted from, and riſen up againſt Saul his Lord and Maſter; and his Soldiers as Runagates from their Maſters and Creditors, &c. See chap. 22. 2.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water q, and my † fleſh that I have killed for my ſhearers, and give it unto men whom I know not whence they be?

q He ſpeaketh thus, either becauſe in thoſe hot and dry Parts Water was ſcarce and precious: or, Water is here put for any kind of Drink, as Bread is oft taken for all ſorts of Meat.

12 So David's young men turned their way, and went again, and came and told him all thoſe ſayings.

13 And David ſaid unto his men, Gird ye on every man his ſword r. And they girded on every man his ſword, and David alſo girded on his ſword: and there went up after David about four hundred men, and two hundred abode by the ſtuff ſ.

r Having reſolved and ſworn to revenge himſelf of Nabal, as is expreſſed ver. 21, 22. ſ See chap. 17. 22. and 30. 24.

14 ¶ But one of the young men told Abigail t Nabals wife, ſaying, Behold, David ſent meſſengers out of the wilderneſs to ſalute our maſter; and he † railed on them.

t Wiſely conſidering the miſchievous effects likely to follow ſo churliſh a meſſage.

16 They were a wall u unto us both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the ſheep.

u i.e. A defence againſt wild Beaſts, and Robbers, and Enemies.

17 Now therefore know, and conſider what thou wilt do: for evil is determined againſt our maſter, and againſt all his houſhold x: for he is ſuch a ſon of Belial, that a man cannot ſpeak to him y.

x Which it was eaſie to gueſs; either from ſome threatning expreſſions which David's Men uſed; or from the conſideration of David's great Power, and that rage which ſo high a provocation was likely to produce in Military Perſons. y To wit, without hazard to himſelf, and therefore I acquaint thee, rather than him, with this matter.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haſte, and took two hundred loaves z, and two bottles of wine, and five ſheep ready dreſſed, and five meaſures of parched corn, and an hundred † cluſters of raiſins, and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on aſſes.

z Which ſhe did without his leave, and againſt his mind, becauſe it was a caſe of apparent neceſſity, for the preſervation of her ſelf, and Husband, and all the Family from imminent ruin. And ſurely, that real and urgent neceſſity which diſpenſeth with God's poſitive Commands, might well diſpenſe with the Husband's right, in this caſe.

19 And ſhe ſaid unto her ſervants, Go on before me, behold, I come after you a: but ſhe told not her husband Nabal.

a For ſhe knew ſhe could quickly overtake them.

20 And it was ſo, as ſhe rode on the aſſe, that ſhe came down by the covert of the hill b, and behold, David and his men came down c againſt her, and ſhe met them.

b In the lower part, and under the ſhadow of the Hill, or of the Trees that grew upon it; ſo that David did not ſee her till ſhe met him. c To wit, from another oppoſite Hill.

21 (Now David had ſaid d, Surely in vain have I kept all that this fellow e hath in the wilderneſs, ſo that nothing was miſſed of all that pertained unto him, and he hath requited me evil for good.

d Either in his Journey, or as ſoon as he heard that reproachful anſwer. e Whom he thought unworthy to be named, for his barbarous Ingratitude and Churliſhneſs.

22 So, and more alſo do God unto the enemies of David f, if I leave of all that pertain unto him by the morning light, any that piſſeth againſt the wall g.)

f i.e. Unto David himſelf. But becauſe it might ſeem ominous and unnatural to Curſe himſelf, therefore by a Figure called Euphemiſmus, inſtead of David, he mentions David's Enemies. See 1 Sam. 20. 16. The words may be thus rendred: So and more alſo let God do for (the Hebrew Lamed being very oft ſo uſed) the Enemies of David, i.e. Let God work for them, and give them as much Proſperity and Succeſs as Nabal hath hitherto had. Or, let God utterly deſtroy their Enemies; and eſpecially, my ſelf the chief of them, if I do not deſtroy this Man. g i.e. Any of the Males, for they only do ſo; and of them this Phraſe is manifeſtly underſtood; 1 Kings 14. 10. and 21. 21. and 2 Kings 9. 8. And Men not wholly barbarous have generally ſpared Women in ſuch caſes. Qu. Why then was Abigail ſo much concerned and afraid? Anſw. Partly from humanity, and the horror of ſo general and dreadful a Slaughter of her Family and neareſt Relations: and partly, becauſe when the Sword was once drawn, ſhe knew not where it would reſt, nor whether ſhe ſhould eſcape: for ſhe knew nothing of this limitation of David's threatning, till ſhe came to him.

23 And when Abigail ſaw David, ſhe haſted and lighted off the aſs, and fell before David on her face, and bowed her ſelf to the ground h, h Not only in token of deep reverence, but as a moſt humble ſuppliant; as 2 Kings 4. 27.

24 And fell at his feet, and ſaid, Upon me, my LORD, upon me let this iniquity be h, and let thine handmaid, I pray thee, ſpeak in thine † audience, and hear the words of thine handmaid.

h Impute Nabal's Sin to me, and if thou pleaſeſt, puniſh it in me, who here offer my ſelf as a Sacrifice to thy juſt Indignation. This whole Speech of Abigail is done with great artifice; and ſhe doth here, by an abſolute ſubmitting to Mercy, without any pretence of juſtification of what was done, (but rather with aggravation of it) endeavour to work upon David's Generoſity, and good nature, to pardon it. And, with great Art, firſt would divert the Puniſhment from her Husband to her ſelf, becauſe ſhe had then much more to ſay, why David ſhould ſpare her, then why he ſhould ſpare Nabal. And there was hardly any head of Argument, whence the greateſt Orator might argue in this caſe, which ſhe doth not manage to the beſt advantage, and moſt plauſible inſinuations for ſuch an exigent.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, † regard l this man of Belial m, even Nabal: for as his name is, ſo is he: Nabal is his name, and folly is with him n: but I thine handmaid ſaw not the young men of my lord, whom thou didſt ſend o.

l His Perſon and Words deſerve thy contempt, but not thy regard. m For ſuch he hath ſhewed himſelf to be by this wicked and abominable carriage towards thee. n His noted folly and ſtupidity is a more proper Object for thy pity than anger. His ſordid Anſwer to thy Servants did not proceed from any ill deſign, or deep Malice, but from brutiſh Sottiſhneſs, and want of the underſtanding of a Man in him. It may be thought a great Crime, that ſhe traduceth her Husband in this manner. But this may be ſaid for her, That ſhe told them nothing but what they all knew concerning him, and that ſhe only ſeemed to take away that which he never had indeed, to wit, his good Name, that ſhe might preſerve that which he had, and which was more dear and important to him, even his Life and Soul. o Though I freely ſubmit my ſelf to the Puniſhment in my Husband's ſtead, yet I was innocent of the Crime.

26 Now therefore, my lord, as the LORD liveth and as thy ſoul liveth, ſeeing the LORD hath withholden thee from coming to ſhed blood p, and from † avenging thy ſelf with thine own hand; now let thine enemies, and they that ſeek evil to my lord be as Nabal q.

p Seeing God hath ſo ordered this buſineſs by his wiſe and wonderful Providence, that I ſhould accidentally, and unexpectedly come to the knowledge of my Husband's vile and ſordid Carriage; and that I ſhould come to meet thee, and find thee ſo gracious, as to give a favourable Audience; and all this, that hereby he might with-hold thee from the Sin of Blood-guiltineſs. q Let them be as contemptible and hateful as Nabal is, and will be for this odious Action; let them be as unable to do thee any hurt as he is; let them be forced to yield to thee, and implore thy Pardon and Favour, as Nabal now doth by my mouth: let the Vengeance thou didſt deſign upon Nabal and his Family, fall upon their heads, who, by their conſtant and inveterate Malice againſt thee, do more deſerve it than this ſilly Fool for this one miſcarriage; and much more than all the reſt of our Family, who, as they are none of thine Enemies, nor ſuch as ſeek thee evil, ſo they were no way guilty of this wicked Action. And therefore ſpare theſe, and execute thy Vengeance upon more proper Objects.

† Heb. walk at the feet of, &c.

27 And now this || bleſſing r which thine handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it even be given unto the young men that † follow my lord s.

r So a Gift or Preſent is called here, and Gen. 33. 11. and elſewhere; not only becauſe the matter of it comes from God's bleſſing; but alſo becauſe it is given with a Bleſſing, or with a good Will. s As being unworthy of thine acceptance or uſe.

28 I pray thee, forgive the treſpaſs of thine handmaid t: for the LORD will certainly make my lord a ſure houſe u, becauſe my lord fighteth the battels of the LORD x, and evil hath not been found in thee, all thy days y.

t i.e. Which I have taken upon my ſelf, v. 24. and which, if it be not Pardoned, but Puniſhed, the Puniſhment will reach to me. u i.e. Will give the Kingdom to thee, and to thy Houſe for ever, as he hath promiſed thee. And therefore let God's great kindneſs to thee, make thee gentle and merciful to others; do not ſully thy approaching Glory with the ſtain of Innocent Blood; but conſider, that it is the glory of a King (which thou art by God's appointment, and ſhall e're long actually be) to paſs by Offences; and that it will be thy loſs to cut off ſuch as will ſhortly be thy Subjects. x i.e. For the Lord, and for the People of the Lord againſt their Enemies; eſpecially, the Philiſtines. And as that this is thy proper Work, and therein thou mayeſt expect God's bleſſing and help; ſo it is not thy work to draw thy Sword in thy own private quarrel againſt any of the people of the Lord; and God will not bleſs thee in it. y Though thou haſt been oft aſperſed, and charged with many Crimes, by Saul and others; yet thy Innocency hath been, and is evident to all Men: Do not therefore now by this cruel act of Vengeance juſtifie thine Enemies Reproaches, nor blemiſh thy great and juſt Reputation.

29 Yet a man z is riſen to purſue thee, and to ſeek thy ſoul a: but the ſoul of my lord ſhall be bound in the bundle of life b with the LORD thy God c, and the ſouls of thine enemies, them ſhall he ſling out, † as out of the middle of a ſling d.

z To wit, Saul, though no way injured nor juſtly provoked by thee. a i.e. To take away thy Life. b Or, in the bundle: i.e. In the Society, or Congregation of the living; out of which, men are taken, and cut off by Death. The Phraſe is taken from the common uſage of Men, who bind thoſe things in bundles, which they are afraid to loſe, becauſe things that are ſolitary and unbound, are ſoon loſt. The meaning of the place is, God will preſerve thy Life; and therefore it becomes not thee, unjuſtly and unneceſſarily to take away the Lives of any; eſpecially of the People of thy God and Saviour. c i.e. In the hand and cuſtody of God, who, by his watchful Providence, preſerves this Bundle, and all that are in it; and thee in a particular and ſingular manner, as being thy God in a peculiar way, and ſpecial Covenant. God himſelf will hide, and keep thee in the ſecret of his Preſence. Pſal. 31. 20. where no hand of violence can reach thee. And therefore all the Attempts of Saul or others againſt thee, are vain and ridiculous. For who can deſtroy whom God will keep? d God himſelf will cut them off ſuddenly, violently, and irreſiſtibly; and caſt them far away; both from his Preſence, and from thy Neighbourhood, and from all capacity of doing thee any hurt.

30 And it ſhall come to paſs, when the LORD ſhall have done to my lord, according to all the good that he hath ſpoken concerning thee, and ſhall have appointed thee ruler over Iſrael;

31 That this ſhall be † no grief unto thee, nor offence of heart unto my lord e, either that thou haſt ſhed blood cauſleſs f, or that my lord † hath avenged himſelf g: but when the LORD ſhall have dealt well with my lord, then remember thine handmaid h.

e Thy Mind and Conſcience will be free from all the Torment which the guilt and ſhame of ſuch an Action would cauſe in thee. By which, ſhe cunningly inſinuates, what a blemiſh this would be to his Glory, what a diſturbance to his Peace and Felicity, if he proceededed to execute his Purpoſe: and withal implies, how ſweet and comfortable it would be to him to remember, that he had for conſcience to God denied himſelf, and reſtrained his Paſſions. f Which ſhe ſignifies would be done if he ſhould go on. For though Nabal had been guilty of abominable Rudeneſs, Uncharitableneſs, and Ingratitude; yet he had done nothing worthy of Death, by the Laws of God or of Man. And whatſoever he had done, the reſt of his Family were innocent. g Which is directly contrary to God's Law, Levit. 19. 18. Deut. 32. 35. compare with Rom. 12. 19. h When God ſhall make thee King, aud I ſhall have occaſion to apply my ſelf to thee for Juſtice, or Relief, let me find Grace in thy ſight, and ſo let me do at this time. Or, and the Lord will bleſs my lord, and recompenſe thee for this Mortification of thy Paſſion, and thou wilt remember thine handmaid: i.e. Thou wilt remember my Counſel with ſatisfaction to thy ſelf, and thankfulneſs to me.

32 ¶ And David ſaid unto Abigail, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael, which ſent thee i this day to meet me:

i Which by his gracious and ſingular Providence ſo diſpoſed Matters, that thou ſhouldeſt come to me: He rightly begins at the Fountain of this Deliverance, which was God; and then proceeds to the Inſtruments.

33 And bleſſed be thy advice, and bleſſed be thou k, which haſt kept me this day from coming to ſhed blood l, and from avenging my ſelf with mine own hand.

k i.e. The Lord bleſs and recompenſe thee, for this thy good Advice. l Which I had ſworn to do. Hereby it plainly appears, That Oaths whereby Men bind themſelves to any Sin, are Null and Void: and as it was a Sin to make them; ſo it is adding ſin to ſin to perform them.

34 For in very deed, as the Lord God of Iſrael liveth, which hath kept me back from hurting thee m, except thou hadſt haſted and come to meet me, ſurely there had not been left unto Nabal by the morning light, any that piſſeth againſt the wall.

m Not that he intended to Kill her, but the Males only; as was noted on v. 22. But their Deſtruction was a dreadful Affliction and Damage to her.

35 So David received of her hand that which ſhe had brought him, and ſaid unto her, Go up in peace to thine houſe: ſee, I have hearkened to thy voice, and have accepted thy perſon n.

n i.e. Shewed my Acceptance of thy Perſon, by my grant of thy Requeſt: See Gen. 19. 21.

36 ¶ And Abigail came to Nabal, and behold he held a feaſt in his houſe like the feaſt of a king o, and Nabals heart was merry within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore ſhe told him nothing p, leſs or more, until the morning light.

o As the manner was upon thoſe ſolemn Occaſions. Sordid Covetouſneſs, and vain Prodigality were met together in him. p He being then uncapable of Admonition, his Reaſon and Conſcience being both aſleep.

37 But it came to paſs in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, and his wife had told him theſe things that his heart died within him, and he became as a ſtone q.

q He was oppreſſed with Grief, and fainted away through the fear and horror of ſo great a Miſchief, though it was paſt. As one, who having in the Night galloped over a narrow Plank, laid upon a broken Bridge, over a deep River; when in the Morning he came to review it, was ſtruck dead with the horror of the danger he was in.

38 And it came to paſs about ten days after, that the LORD ſmote Nabal, that he died r.

r God either inflicted ſome other ſtroke or Diſeaſe upon him, or increaſed his Grief and Fear to ſuch an height, as killed him.

39 ¶ And when David heard that Nabal was dead, he ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD, that hath pleaded the cauſe of my reproach from the hand of Nabal s, and hath kept his ſervant from evil t: for the LORD hath returned the wickedneſs of Nabal upon his own head. And David ſent u and communed with Abigail, to take her to him to wife.

s How could David rejoyce at the Death of his Enemy? Anſw. Although it may be ſaid, that he rejoyced not in Nabal's Death as ſuch, but only in the declaration of God's Juſtice in Puniſhing ſo great a Wickedneſs; which was an honour to God, and a document, and therefore a benefit to Mankind, and ſo a Publick good, and cauſe of Joy: Yet the matter is not weighty, if we confeſs, that this was another inſtance of Humane Infirmity in David, and that it is not propoſed for our Imitation, but for our Caution. Yet it may be further ſaid, That this was not purely an act of private Revenge, becauſe David was a Publick Perſon, and Anointed King: and therefore Nabal's Reproach caſt upon David above, v. 10, 11. was a contempt of God, and of his Ordinance and Apointment; which was vindicated by this remarkable Judgment. t i.e. From the ſin of Bloodſhed and Self-revenge, v. 33. u To wit, Meſſengers; which he thought fitter than to go himſelf; partly, becauſe if he had met with a Repulſe, it had been leſs Ignominious; and partly, becauſe he would leave her to her freedom and choice, and would not ſo much as ſeem to take her by violence. But this doubtleſs was not done immediately after Nabal's Death, but in ſome convenient ſpace of time after it; though ſuch Circumſtances be commonly omitted in the Sacred Hiſtory; which gives only the Heads, and moſt important Paſſages of things.

40 And when the ſervants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they ſpake unto her, ſaying, David ſent us unto thee, to take thee to him to wife.

41 And ſhe aroſe, and bowed her ſelf on her face to the earth, and ſaid x, Behold, let thine handmaid be a ſervant to waſh the feet of the ſervants of my lord.

x She ſhewed this Reverence, and ſpake thus to them, as repreſenting David's Perſon.

42 And Abigail haſted, and aroſe and rode upon an aſs with five damſels of hers that went † after her: and ſhe went after the meſſengers of David y, and became his wife.

y Not immediately, but ſome competent time after they were gone. She conſidered not David's preſent ſtraits and penury, which the thought her plentiful Eſtate might ſupply; nor his danger from Saul; but by a true and ſtrong Faith, reſted upon God's Promiſe made to David, not doubting but God would perform it.

43 David alſo took Ahinoam * of Jezreel, and they were alſo both of them his wives.

* Joſh. 15. 6.

44 ¶ But z Saul had given * Michal his daughter, Davids wife, to Phalti the ſon of Laiſh, which was of Gallim.

* 2 Sam. 3. 4, 15.

z Or, For, as the Hebrew Vau is oft-times uſed. For this ſeems to be added, as a reaſon why David took other Wives, becauſe Saul had given his former Wife to another Man, that he might as far as he could extinguiſh all Relation and Kindred to him, whom he hated; and withal, cut off his Hopes and Pretence to the Crown upon that account.

CHAP. XXVI.

Saul by the diſcovery of the Ziphites cometh to Hachilah againſt David, 1,—3. Who cometh with Abiſhai to Saul's Camp; ſtayeth him from killing Saul, but taketh his Spear and Cruſe, 4,——12. He upbraideth Abner, 13,——17. Exhorteth Saul, 18,——20. who acknowledgeth his ſin, 21,—25.

AND the Ziphites came unto Saul a to Gibeah, ſaying, * Doth not David hide himſelf in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeſhimon b?

* Chap. 23. 19. Pſal. 54. title.

a Having once betrayed him before, they thought their Caſe deſperate with David; and therefore did more ſtrenuouſly aſſiſt Saul in diſcovering him, in order to his Ruine. b He is returned to his former haunt: of which ſee Chap. 23. 19. This place might be convenient for him, either for its nearneſs to Abigail's Eſtate: or becauſe he might think, that Saul was mollified, and the Ziphites cautioned by the unſucceſsfulneſs of their former Attempt; or becauſe he could from thence, make good his Retreat into other places, if need were.

2 Then Saul aroſe, and went down to the wilderneſs of Ziph, having three thouſand choſen men of Iſrael with him, to ſeek David in the wilderneſs of Ziph.

3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah which is before Jeſhimon by the way: but David abode in the wilderneſs, and he ſaw c that Saul came after him into the wilderneſs.

c i.e. He underſtood by Information, probably, from his dear friend Jonathan.

4 David therefore ſent out ſpies, and underſtood that Saul was come in very deed.

5 ¶ And David aroſe, and came to the place where Saul had pitched d: and David beheld the place where Saul lay, and * Abner the ſon of Ner the captain of his hoſt: and Saul lay in the || trench e, and the people pitched round about him.

* Chap. 14. 0. 17. 55.

d Came near to the ſkirts of Saul's Camp; which he might eaſily diſcover from ſome neighbouring Hill, or Wood; and yet, not be diſcerned himſelf. And it is probable, he came thither diſguiſed, and towards Night. e Encompaſſed with his Carriages for better ſecurity. Compare, 1 Sam. 17. 20.

6 Then anſwered David, and ſaid to Ahimelech the Hittite f, and to Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah g, brother to Joab, ſaying, Who will go down with me to Saul to the camp? And Abiſhai ſaid, I will go down with thee.

f So called, either becauſe he was one of that Nation, but Converted to the Jewiſh Religion: Compare 2 Sam 11. 3. and 15. 18. Or, from his Habitation amongſt, or ſome Relation to ſome of that People. g David's Siſter: See 1 Chron. 2. 16. His Father is not named; either becauſe he was now dead; or becauſe he was an obſcure Perſon.

7 So David and Abiſhai came to the people h by night, and behold, Saul lay ſleeping within the trench, and his ſpear ſtuck in the ground at his bolſter: but Abner and the people lay round about him.

h i.e. To Saul's Hoſt and Camp. It might ſeem a bold and ſtrange Attempt; but many things are to be conſidered: 1. That Heroical Perſons have oft attempted things of no leſs difficulty and danger than this was; as many credible Hiſtorians relate. 2. That David did, and might eaſily perceive, that they were all faſt aſleep. 3. That David had a particular Aſſurance that God would preſerve him to the Kingdom. 4. That he had a ſpecial Inſtinct from God, to this Work; and poſſibly God might inform him, that he had caſt them into a dead ſleep, that he might have this ſecond opportunity of manifeſting his Innocency towards Saul, and the Juſtice of his Cauſe.

8 Then ſaid Abiſhai to David, God hath † delivered thine enemy into thine hand this day: now therefore let me ſmite him, I pray thee, with the ſpear, even to the earth at once, and I will not ſmite him the ſecond time i.

i I will Nail him to the Ground at one blow, that I ſhall not need a ſecond ſtroke.

9 And David ſaid to Abiſhai, Deſtroy him not: for who can ſtretch forth his hand againſt the LORDs anointed, and be guiltleſs k?

k Though Saul be a cruel Tyrant, and rejected by God, yet he is our Sovereign Lord and King; and I, though deſigned King, as yet am but a private Perſon, and his Subject; and therefore cannot kill him without Sin, nor will I conſent that thou ſhould'ſt do it.

10 David ſaid furthermore, As the LORD liveth, the LORD ſhall ſmite him l, or his day ſhall come to die m, or he ſhall deſcend into battel and periſh.

l By ſome ſudden and mortal Stroke. m According to the courſe of Nature.

11 The LORD forbid that I ſhould ſtretch forth mine hand againſt the LORD's anointed: but, I pray thee, take thou now the ſpear that is at his bolſter n, and the cruſe of water o, and let us go.

n Which will ſhew where we have been, and what we could have done. o Which might be put there, either to waſh himſelf in caſe of any accidental Pollution, which oft happened in the Night: or to refreſh him, and quench his thirſt in that hot Climate and Seaſon: or for divers other uſes.

12 So David took the ſpear, and the cruſe of water from Sauls bolſter, and they gat them away, and no man ſaw it, nor knew it, neither awaked: for they were all aſleep, becauſe a deep ſleep † from the LORD p was fallen upon them.

p Sent upon them by the Lord, for David's advantage.

13 ¶ Then David went over to the other ſide, and ſtood on the top of an hill afar q off (a great ſpace being between them.)

q That his Perſon might be out of their reach, and yet his Voice might be heard; which in a clear Air, and in the ſilence of the Night might be heard at a great diſtance.

14 And David cried to the people, and to Abner the ſon of Ner, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou not, Abner? Then Abner anſwered and ſaid, Who art thou that crieſt to the king r?

r Or, with or beſide the king, i.e. So near to him, ſo as to diſturb the King.

15 And David ſaid to Abner, Art not thou † a valiant man? and who is like to thee ſ in Iſrael? Wherefore then haſt thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the people in to deſtroy the king thy lord.

ſ For Courage and Conduct: and therefore thy fault herein is the greater.

16 This thing is not good t that thou haſt done: as the LORD liveth, ye are † worthy to die, becauſe ye have not kept your maſter the LORD's anointed. And now ſee where the kings ſpear is, and the cruſe of water that was at his bolſter.

t i.e. It is very bad, a great Crime. A Figure called Meioſis, as Prov. 18. 5. and 19. 2.

17 And Saul knew Davids voice, and ſaid, Is this thy voice, my ſon u David? And David ſaid, It is my voice, my lord, O king.

u As thou waſt my Son by Marriage, ſo thou haſt expreſſed the care and affection of a Son to me now a ſecond time.

18 And he ſaid, Wherefore doth my lord purſue thus after his Servant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand?

19 Now therefore, I pray thee, let my lord the king hear the words of his ſervant. If the LORD have ſtirred thee up againſt me x, let him † accept an offering y: but if they be the children of men z, curſed be they before the LORD: for they have driven me out this day from † abiding in the inheritance of the LORD ∴, ſaying, Go, ſerve other gods a.

x If the Lord hath by the evil Spirit which he hath ſent, or by his ſecret Providence, directed thy Rage againſt me for the Puniſhment of thine, or my Sins. y Let us offer up a Sacrifice to God to appeaſe his Wrath againſt us. z Who by their crafty Inſinuations, and Calumnies, have incenſed thee againſt me. He ſheweth his Prudence, and Reverence, and Meekneſs; that he Accuſeth not the King, but tranſlateth the fault wholly upon his Evil Miniſters; as the Iſraelites do in the like Caſe, Exod. 5. 16. ∴. From the Land which God hath given to his People for their Inheritance, and where he hath eſtabliſhed his Preſence and Worſhip. a This was the Language of their Actions. For by driving him from God's Land, and the place of his Worſhip, into Foreign and Idolatrous Lands, they expoſed him to the peril of being either enſnared by their Counſels, or Examples; or forced by their threats and power to worſhip Idols.

20 Now therefore let not my blood fall to the earth b before the face of the LORD c: for the king of Iſrael is come out to ſeek * a flea d, as when one doth hunt a partridge in the mountains d.

b Do not attempt to ſpill my Innocent Blood like Water upon the ground. c Remember, if thou doeſt it, God the Judge of all Men ſeeth it, and will avenge it of thee; though I will not avenge my ſelf. d Hard to be taken, and not worth catching; a mean and contemptible Perſon. d Where his advantage doth no way compenſate his Labour.

21 ¶ Then ſaid Saul, I have ſinned. Return, my ſon David, for I will no more do thee harm, becauſe my ſoul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly e.

e He not only confeſſeth, but aggravateth his fault, becauſe his Conſcience was fully convinced, though his Heart was not changed.

22 And David anſwered and ſaid, Behold the kings ſpear, and let one of the young men come over and fetch it.

23 The LORD render to every man his righteouſneſs and his faithfulneſs f: for the LORD delivered thee into my hand to day, but I would not ſtretch forth mine hand againſt the LORD's anointed.

f I deſire, that God would deal no otherwiſe with me, than I have dealt with thee.

24 And behold, as thy life was much ſet by this day in mine eyes, ſo let my life be much ſet by in the eyes of the LORD, and let him deliver me out of all tribulation.

† Heb. in doing thou ſhalt do: Dan. 11. 28, 32.

25 Then Saul ſaid to David, Bleſſed be thou, my ſon David: thou ſhalt both † do great things, and alſo ſhalt ſtill prevail. So David went on his way g, and Saul returned to his place.

g Knowing Saul's unſtable and deceitful Heart, he would not truſt to any of his Profeſſions, or Promiſes, but kept out of his reach.

CHAP. XXVII.

David with his 600 Men, and all his Family, goeth to K. Achiſh: And abideth there a while: Saul purſueth no more after him, 1,—4. He obtaineth Ziklag of Achiſh to dwell in, 5,—7. He invadeth neighbour Nations: Leaves no man alive to complain: Perſwadeth Achiſh he fought againſt Judah, 8,——12.

AND David ſaid in his heart, I ſhall now † periſh one day by the hand of Saul a: there is nothing better for me, than that I ſhould ſpeedily eſcape into the land of the Philiſtines b, and Saul ſhall deſpair of me, to ſeek me any more in any coaſt of Iſrael, ſo ſhall I eſcape out of his hand.

a I ſee by this late experience his reſtleſs and implacable hatred againſt me; and how little heed is to be given to all his pretences of Repentance or Friendſhip. b But this was certainly a very great miſtake and fault in David: for 1. This proceeded from groſs diſtruſt of God's Promiſe and Providence; and that after ſuch repeated demonſtrations of God's peculiar Care over him, which gave him cauſe to conclude, quite contrary to what is here ſaid. 2. He forſakes the place where God had ſettled him, Chap. 22. 5. and given him both aſſurance and experience of his Protection there. 3. He voluntarily runs upon that Rock, which he curſed his Enemies for throwing him upon, Chap. 26. 19. and upon many other Snares and Dangers, as the following Hiſtory will ſhew; and withal, deprives the people of the Lord of thoſe ſuccours which he might have given them, in caſe of a Battel. But it pleaſed God to leave David to himſelf in this, as well as in other particulars, that theſe might be ſenſible demonſtrations of the Infirmities of the beſt Men; and of the neceſſity of God's Grace, and daily direction and aſſiſtance: and of the freeneſs and riches of God's Mercy, in paſſing by ſuch great Offences. And beſides, God hereby deſigned to accompliſh his own Counſel, to withdraw David from the Iſraelites, that Saul and they might fall by the hand of the Philiſtines, without any reproach or inconvenience to David, whom God had put into a ſafe place.

2 And David aroſe, and he paſſed over with the ſix hundred men that were with him, unto Achiſh the ſon of Maoch, king of Gath c.

c It might ſeem a bold adventure: but 1. He thought himſelf forced to it by Saul's inveterate Rage, and continued reſolutions to Perſecute him. 2. It is probable, he had ſent ſome Perſons to Treat with him, and had agreed upon Conditions; and received aſſurance of his ſafe and peaceable abode with him. 3. David reaſonably thought, that Achiſh would gladly receive him, as indeed he did; partly, becauſe he ſaw Saul's implacable Enmity againſt him: partly, becauſe by this means he ſhould be freed from the moſt formidable Enemy which he had in all Iſrael, who might do him moſt miſchief in the Battel; which it ſeems at this time he deſigned: and partly, becauſe he came not now alone, as he did before, but brought with him ſufficient Pledges of his Fidelity to Achiſh; namely, all his Soldiers, and his and their Wives, v. 3.

3 And David dwelt with Achiſh at Gath, he and his men, every man with his houſhold even David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs, and Abigail the Carmeliteſs, Nabals wife.

4 And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath, and he ſought no more again for him d.

d By which it is implied, That he would have gone on in Perſecuting David, if he had continued in his Dominions.

5 ¶ And David ſaid unto Achiſh, If I have now found grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in ſome town in the country, that I may dwell there e: for why ſhould thy ſervant dwell in the royal city with thee f?

e A prudent deſire. Hereby David deſigned, 1. To preſerve his People, both from the Idolatry, and other Vices, which converſation with the Philiſtines would have expoſed them to: and from that Envy, and Malice, and Miſchief, which diverſity of Religion, or other Prejudices, might have cauſed. 2. That he might have opportunity of enterprizing ſomething againſt God's Enemies, without the knowledge or obſervation of the Philiſtines. f Which is too great an honour for me, and too burdenſome to thee, and may be an occaſion of ſuſpicion and offence to thy People, and of many other inconveniences.

6 Then Achiſh gave him Ziklag g that day: wherefore Ziklag pertaineth unto the kings of Judah h unto this day i.

g Not only to Inhabit, but to Poſſeſs it as his own. Which he did, to lay the greater obligations upon David, whom he knew ſo able to ſerve him. h It was given to the Tribe of Judah before, Joſh. 15. 31. and afterwards to the Tribe of Simeon, Joſh. 19. 5. whoſe inheritance was given them within the inheritance of the children of Judah, Chap. 19. 1. But the Philiſtines kept the Poſſeſſion of it till this time, and were hitherto permitted to do ſo. And being now given by them to David, it now belonged not to the people of the Tribe of Judah, to whom it was allotted before; but to the King of Judah, David and his Heirs for ever. i This, and ſome ſuch Clauſes ſeem to have been added by ſome Sacred Writers, after the main ſubſtance of the ſeveral Books was written.

7 And † the time that David dwelt in the countrey of the Philiſtines, was † a full year and four months k.

k Heb. days and four months; days being put for a year; as Levit. 25. 29. Or, ſome days and four months; i. e. Some days above four Months. Or, ſome days and (for, even, or that is, the Conjunction, and, being oft ſo uſed, as hath been proved above) four months.

8 ¶ And David and his men went up, and invaded the Geſhurites, and the ‖ Gezrites l, and the Amalekites m: for thoſe nations were † of old the inhabitants of the land, as thou goeſt to Shur, even unto the land of Egypt.

l Who were anciently ſeated in other places, Joſh. 12. 12. and 16. 3. but for ſome reaſons not now known, they changed their Seats, as was then very uſual and ſeated themſelves and had for ſome conſiderable time lived near the Amalekites. m The remnant of thoſe whom Saul deſtroyed, 1 Sam. 15. who fled from his Sword, and retired into remote and deſert places.

9 And David ſmote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive n, and took away the ſheep, and the oxen, and the aſſes, and the camels, and the apparel, and returned, and came to Achiſh.

n To wit, in that part where he came: but there were more of the Amalekites yet left in another part of that land, Chap. 30. 1.

10 And Achiſh ſaid, ‖ Whither have ye made a rode to day? And David ſaid, Againſt the ſouth of Judah o, and p againſt the ſouth of the Jerahmeelites q, and againſt the ſouth of the Kenites r.

‖ Or, di ye not m a rode,

o Theſe and the following Words are ambiguous: for they may be underſtood, either of the Southern parts of Judah, &c. which he would have Achiſh underſtand: or, of another Country lying Southward from Judah, &c. which David meant, and which was the truth. So though it was not a downright Lye; yet it was an Equivocation, with an intention to deceive, which is the formality of a Lye, and was contrary to that ſimplicity which became David, both as a Prince, and as an eminent Profeſſor of the true Religion.

p For, that is: for in the following words, he particularly expreſſeth what part of the South of Judah he went againſt, even that which was Inhabited by the Jerahmeelites, and by the Kenites. q The Poſterity of Hezron, a Family of Judah, 1 Chron. 2. 9, 25. r The Poſterity of Jethro, which choſe to dwell in the South of Judah, Judg. 1. 16. See Numb. 24. 21.

11 And David ſaved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath, ſaying, Leſt they ſhould tell on us ſ, ſaying, ſo did David, and ſo will be his manner all the while he dwelleth in the countrey of the Philiſtines.

ſ That the tidings of this Action againſt this People (who were, it ſeems, either Tributaries to, or confederates with Achiſh) might neither come quickly nor certainly to Achiſh his Court: which he might the rather promiſe himſelf, becauſe Achiſh and all his Men were now buſily imployed in their Warlike Preparations againſt the Iſraelites; and if any flying rumour came thither, he thought by his Intereſt and Artifices he could eaſily diſcredit and daſh it. Beſides the conſideration of God's Curſe denounced againſt the People whom he had now deſtroyed, and of God's particular Promiſes made to him, and of his ſpecial Providence which he conſtantly experienced watching over him, made him more ſecure and confident in this and in many other hazardous attempts.

12 And Achiſh believed David t, ſaying, He hath made his people Iſrael † utterly to abhor him: therefore he ſhall be my ſervant for ever.

t Partly, becauſe of his confidence in David's Authority and Fidelity: partly, becauſe moſt Men eaſily believe what they heartily wiſh to be true: And partly, from God's Providence, which blinded him in this and in divers other particulars relating to David's coming hither, and abiding here.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Achiſh intending War againſt Iſrael, relieth on David, 1,——2. Saul having deſtroyed the Witches, yet Samuel being dead, in his fear, forſaken of God, ſeeketh to a Witch, 1,——8. She, encouraged by Saul, raiſeth Samuel: Of whom hearing his approaching ruine, he fainteth, 9,——20. The Woman, with his Servants, refreſh him with Meat, 21,—25.

AND it came to paſs in thoſe days, that the Philiſtines gathered their armies together for warfare to fight with Iſrael a: And Achiſh ſaid unto David, Know thou aſſuredly, that thou ſhalt go out with me to battel b, thou and thy men.

a Encouraged thereunto by Samuel's death, and Saul's degeneration, and David's preſence with Achiſh. b This he ſaith, partly, to try his Sincerity; and partly, in confidence of David's Fidelity.

2 And David ſaid to Achiſh, Surely thou ſhalt know what thy ſervant can do c. And Achiſh ſaid to David, Therefore d will I make thee keeper of mine head e for ever.

c He ſpeaks ambiguouſly, as he did before, that Achiſh might underſtand him, as he did, of his acting for him againſt the Iſraelites; whereas he meant it of his acting for the Iſraelites againſt the Philiſtines, to which he was obliged both by God's expreſs Command, and by his indelible and manifold Obligations to God, and to God's People; and by his own manifeſt intereſt. Though it is likely he would have managed his Affairs with all poſſible regard and care of Achiſh's Perſon, to whom alone, upon the matter, David ſtood obliged, and not to the reſt of the Philiſtines, who had an ill opinion of him, as we ſhall ſee. d For that Valour which I doubt not thou wilt ſhew on my behalf. e i.e. Of my Body and Life, the Captain of my Life-Guard.

3 ¶ Now * Samuel was dead ∴ and all Iſrael had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city f: and Saul had put away thoſe that had familiar ſpirits, and the wizards g out of the land h.

4 ¶ And the Philiſtines gathered themſelves together, and came and pitched in Shunem i: and Saul gathered all Iſrael together, and they pitched in Gilboa k.

i A Town in the Tribe of Iſſachar, Joſ. 19. 18. k A Mountain not far from the Valley of Jezreel, where the Battel was fought, chap. 31. 1. 2 Sam. 1. 21. So the two Armies ſeem to be placed in the ſame manner as they were chap. 17. each upon an Hill, and a Valley between them.

5 And when Saul ſaw the hoſt of the Philiſtines l, he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled m.

l From Mount Gilboa, chap. 31. 1. m Partly, from the greatneſs and reſoluteneſs of the Hoſt of the Philiſtines, who were the agreſſors: partly, from the loſs of David, who might have been of great uſe to him at this time: partly, from the Conſcience of his own manifeſt Guilt, and juſt expectation of Divine Vengeance oft threatned, and now in all likelihood to be inflicted upon him.

6 And when Saul enquiredof the LORD n, the LORD anſwered him not o, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by Prophets p.

n In his ſlight and perfunctory way, as chap. 14. 19. as appears from hence, that when God did not ſpeedily anſwer him, he goes to the Devil for an anſwer, v. 7. For which reaſon he is ſaid, not to have enquired of the Lord, 1 Chron. 10. 14. i.e. not ſeriouſly, and after the right order. Poſſibly he enquired by ſome Prophet then with him, or by the Prieſt before the Ark. o Becauſe he ſought him not in due order; not by the Urim and Thummim which were in the Ephod, which he by his cruelty to the Prieſts had loſt, chap. 23. 6. and becauſe he did not truly repent of, nor put away his ſins, which provoked God, and kept him from anſwering; as Saul well knew by his own conſcience and experience, chap. 14. 37, 38, 39. p i.e. Neither by ordinary means, nor extraordinary.

7 ¶ Then ſaid Saul unto his ſervants, Seek me a woman q that hath a familiar ſpirit r, that I may go to her, and enquire of her. And his ſervants ſaid to him ſ, Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit at Endor t.

q Rather than a man; for he thought that Sex moſt likely to be given to thoſe wicked Arts, as being the weaker Sex, and ſo apteſt to be deceived, and moſt prone to Superſtition, and oft-times moſt malicious and revengeful. r One that converſeth with the Devil, and dead Men's Ghoſts, and by them can diſcover future things. See Iſa. 8. 19. ſ Inſtead of diſſuading him from this wicked and deſtructive practice, which they ſhould and would have done, if they had either loved God or their King, they further him in it. t A place in the Tribe of Manaſſeh, within Jordan, not very far from the place where the Armies were encamped.

8 And Saul diſguiſed himſelf u, and put on other raiment, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night, and he ſaid, I pray thee divine unto me by the familiar ſpirit, and bring me him up whom I ſhall name unto thee.

u Both becauſe he was aſhamed to be known, or thought guilty of this practice; and becauſe he ſuſpected that the Woman, had ſhe known him, would not practice her Art before him.

9 And the woman ſaid unto him, Behold, thou knoweſt x what Saul hath done, how he hath cut off thoſe that have familiar ſpirits, and the wizards out of the land: wherefore then layeſt thou a ſnare for my life, to cauſe me to die y?

x For his Speech and Garb diſcovered him to be an Iſraelite, and therefore acquainted with theſe matters. y By accuſing me to Saul as guilty of a capital Crime.

10 And Saul ſware to her by the LORD, ſaying, As the LORD liveth, there ſhall no † puniſhment happen to thee for this thing.

† Heb. iniquity. So Gr.

11 Then ſaid the woman, Whom ſhall I bring up unto thee? And he ſaid, Bring me up Samuel z.

z Whoſe kindneſs and compaſſion to him, as he had formerly experienced, ſo now he expected it in his deep diſtreſs. This practice of divination by the dead, or by the Ghoſts or Souls of dead Perſons, called up by Magical Art, was very uſual among all Nations, and from them Saul learned it.

12 And when the woman ſaw Samuel, ſhe cryed with a loud voice a: and the woman ſpake to Saul, ſaying, Why haſt thou deceived me? for thou art Saul b.

a For fear of her life, Saul himſelf being Witneſs of her Crime. b This ſhe knew, either by ſome geſture of Reverence, which this ſuppoſed Samuel might ſhew to Saul, as to the King: or, by information from this Ghoſt, or from the Spirit by whoſe help ſhe had raiſed him.

13 And the king ſaid unto her, Be not afraid: for what ſaweſt thou? And the woman ſaid unto Saul, I ſaw ‖ gods c aſcending out of the earth d.

c i.e. A god, a divine Perſon, glorious, and full of majeſty and ſplendor, exceeding not only mortal Men, but common Ghoſts. She uſeth the Plural Number, gods, either after the manner of the Hebrew Language, which commonly uſeth that word of one Perſon: or, after the Language and Cuſtom of the Heathens. But the whole Coherence ſhows that it was but one. For Saul deſired but one, v. 11. and he enquires, and the Woman anſwers only of one, v. 14. d As if it came from the place of the dead.

14 And he ſaid unto her, † What form is he of? And ſhe ſaid, An old man cometh up, and he is covered with a mantle e. And Saul perceived that it was Samuel f, and he ſtooped with his face to the ground, and bowed himſelf.

e The uſual Habit of Prophets, 2 Kings 2. 8, 13. Zech 13. 4. and particularly of Samuel, 1 Sam. 15. 27. f The Woman pretended, and Saul upon her Suggeſtion believed that it was Samuel indeed; and ſo many Popiſh, and ſome other Writers conceived. But that it was not Samuel, but the Devil repreſenting Samuel, is ſufficiently evident. For, Firſt, It is moſt incredible, that God, who had juſt now refuſed to anſwer Saul by the means which himſelf appointed, and uſed in that caſe, would anſwer him, or ſuffer Samuel to anſwer him in that way, and upon the uſe of thoſe means which God deteſted and contemned: which would have given great countenance and encouragement to Saul and the Witch, and all Profeſſors and Conſulters of thoſe Devilliſh Arts. Secondly, There are divers paſſages in this Relation which plainly diſcover that this was no good, but an evil Spirit: As firſt, That he receives that Worſhip from Saul, v. 14. which good Spirits would not ſuffer, Revel 19. 10. and 22. 8, 9. Secondly, That amongſt his other ſins for which he condemneth him, he omitteth this of asking Counſel of one that had a familiar Spirit, to enquire of it; for which tranſgreſſion, with others, he is expreſly ſaid to have died, 1 Chron. 10. 13. which the true Samuel, who was ſo zealous for God's Honour, and ſo faithful a Reprover, would never have neglected, eſpecially now, when he takes Saul in the very Fact. Thirdly, That he pretends himſelf to be diſquieted, and brought up, v. 15. by Saul's Inſtigation, and the Witches Art; which is moſt falſe, and impious, and abſurd to imagine, concerning thoſe bleſſed Souls who are returned to their God, Eccleſ. 12. 7. and entred into peace and reſt, Iſa. 57. 2. and lodged in Abraham's boſom, Luk. 16. 22. and reſt from their labour, Revel 14. 13. The only Argument of any colour to the contrary, is only this, That the Devil could not ſo particularly and punctually diſcover Saul's future Events, as this Samuel doth, v. 19. But this alſo hath little weight in it; it being confeſſed and notoriouſly known, that evil Spirits both in the Oracles of the Heathen, and otherwiſe, have oft-times foretold future contingencies; God being pleaſed to Reveal ſuch things to them, and to permit them to be the Inſtruments of Revealing them to Men, for the trial of ſome, and for the terror and puniſhmant of others. Beſides, the Devil might foreſee this by ſtrong conjectures, as by the numerouſneſs, ſtrength, courage, and reſoluteneſs of the Philiſtine Hoſt, and the quite contrary condition of the Iſraelites, and by divers other ſymptoms far above the reach of mortal Men, but ſuch as he by his great Sagacity could eaſily diſcern. And for that expreſs determination of the time, to morrow, v. 19. that word may be underſtood not of the very next day, but indefinitely of ſome ſhort time after this, as it is taken, Exod. 13. 14 Deut. 6. 20. Joſ. 4. 6, 21. And then it was eaſie to gather from the preſent poſture of the two Armies, that the Fight and the Ruine of the Iſraelites was very near. And that it was not the very next day, but ſome days after this, is evident from the courſe of the Story, and hath been proved by a late Learned Writer. See my Latin Synopſis on this place.

15 ¶ And Samuel ſaid to Saul, Why haſt thou diſquieted me to bring me up g? And Saul anſwered, I am ſore diſtreſſed; for the Philiſtines make war againſt me, and God is departed from me, and anſwereth me no more, neither † by prophets, nor by dreams h: therefore I have called thee, that thou mayeſt make known unto me what I ſhall do.

g As the Devil appeared in Samuel's Shape and Garb, ſo alſo he ſpeaketh in his Perſon, that he might enſnare Saul, and encourage others to ſeek to him in this wicked way. And God permits him to do ſo for Saul's greater condemnation and puniſhment. h He omitteth the Urim here, becauſe he neither did nor could enquire by that, becauſe Abiathar had carried it away to David, and ſo he expected no anſwer that way.

16 Then ſaid Samuel, Wherefore then doſt thou ask of me, ſeeing the LORD is departed from thee, and is become thine enemy?

|| Or, for himſelf.
* Chap. 15. 28.

17 And the LORD hath done || to him i, * as he ſpake by † me k: for the LORD hath rent the kingdom out of thine hand, and given it to thy neighbour, even to David:

i i. e. To David, as it is explained in the following words. The Pronoun Relative put before the Noun to which it belongs, as is uſual in the Hebrew Text, as Pſal. 87. 1. and 105. 19. Prov. 7. 7, 8. Jer. 40. 5. Otherwiſe, to him, is put for to thee; ſuch changes of Perſons being frequent among the Hebrews. Otherwiſe, for himſelf, i. e. for the accompliſhment of his Counſel, and Prediction, and Oath, and for the Glory of his Juſtice and Holineſs. k Still he nouriſheth this perſuaſion in Saul, that it was the true Samuel that ſpake to him.

* Chap. 15. 19.

18 * Becauſe thou obeyedſt not the voice of the LORD, nor executedſt his fierce wrath upon Amalek l, therefore hath the LORD done this thing unto thee this day.

l He mentions this as an eminent inſtance of his diſobedience.

19 Moreover, the LORD will alſo deliver * Iſrael with thee, into the hand of the Philiſtines: and to morrow ſhalt thou and thy ſons be with me m: the LORD alſo ſhall deliver the hoſt of Iſrael into the hand of the Philiſtines.

m i. e. In the ſtate of the dead; and ſo it was true both of Saul and Jonathan. Or, in the ſtate of reſt: For though thou ſhalt ſuffer here for thy ſin, yet after death thou ſhalt be happy, as dying in the Lord's Quarrel: So the Devil's deſign might be to flatter Saul into an opinion of his own future happineſs, and to take him off from all ſerious thoughts and cares about it. And it is here obſervable, That as it was the manner of the Heathen Oracles to anſwer ambiguouſly, the better to ſave his credit in caſe of miſtake, (the Devil himſelf not being certain of future events, but only conjecturing at what was moſt likely): ſo doth this counterfeit Samuel here. For, as concerning the time, he ſays to morrow: which he underſtood indifferently for the very next day, or for ſome ſhort time after. And, as concerning the condition, thou ſhalt be with me; which may be underſtood either of a good condition, if underſtood as ſpoken in the Perſon of Samuel; or, of a bad condition, if underſtood as ſpoken by an evil Spirit; or, at leaſt indefinitely of a dead condition, be it good or evil: which laſt he foreſaw by circumſtances to be very likely.

20 Then Saul † fell ſtraightway all along on the earth n, and was ſore afraid, becauſe of the words of Samuel, and there was no ſtrength in him: for he had eaten no bread all the day, nor all the night.

n Being quite diſ-ſpirited with theſe ſad and ſurprizing tidings, and ſo unable to ſtand.

21 ¶ And the woman came unto Saul o, and ſaw that he was ſore troubled, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I have put my life in my hand, and have hearkened unto thy words which thou ſpakeſt unto me.

o From whom ſhe departed, when ſhe had brought him and Samuel together, that they might more freely converſe together, as being alone.

22 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou alſo unto the voice of thine hand-maid p, and let me ſet a morſel of bread before thee; and eat, that thou mayeſt have ſtrength when thou goeſt on thy way.

p This earneſtneſs did not come meerly from her humanity and reſpect to Saul, but from a prudent and neceſſary care of her ſelf, becauſe if Saul had died in her Houſe, his Blood would have been charged upon her.

23 But he refuſed, and ſaid I will not eat. But his ſervants, together with the woman, compelled him q, and he hearkened unto their voice: ſo he aroſe from the earth, and ſate upon the bed.

q i. e. Did over-perſuade him, by importunate intreaties, as the next words ſhew.

24 And the woman had a fat calf in the houſe, and ſhe haſted, and killed it, and took flour, and kneaded it, and did bake unleavened bread r thereof.

r Not having time to Leaven it.

25 And ſhe brought it before Saul, and before his ſervants, and they did eat: then they roſe up, and went away that night ſ.

ſ i. e. Before Morning. For he came by Night, v. 8. and went away before Day; not willing to have it diſcovered that he had conſulted with a Witch.

CHAP. XXIX.

David marching with the Philiſtines: Is diſallowed by their Princes: Achiſh pleadeth for him, and againſt his Will, diſmiſſeth him, 1,—7. He expoſtulateth with Achiſh, 8. His Anſwer, 9, 10. David departeth, 11.

NOW the Philiſtines gathered together all their armies to Aphek a: and the Iſraelites pitched by a fountain which is in Jezreel.

a Either, that in the Tribe of Aſher, Joſ. 19. 24. or rather another Town of that Name in Iſſachar, though not mentioned elſewhere in Scripture; this being the caſe of many places, to be but once named.

2 And the lords of the Philiſtines paſſed on by hundreds, and by thouſands: but David, and his men paſſed on the rereward with Achiſh b.

b i. e. As the Life-guard of Achiſh, as he had promiſed, chap. 28. 2. Achiſh being, as it ſeems, the General of the Army.

3 Then ſaid the princes of the Philiſtines c, What do theſe Hebrews here? And Achiſh ſaid unto the princes of the Philiſtines, Is not this David the ſervant of Saul the king of Iſrael, which hath been with me theſe days, or theſe years d, and I have † found no fault in him, ſince he fell unto me ∴, unto this day.

c The Lords of the other eminent Cities and Territories, who were confederate with him in this expedition. d Q. d. did I ſay Days? I might have ſaid Years; either becauſe he hath now been with me a full Year and four Months, chap. 27. 7. or becauſe he was with me ſome Years ago, 1 Sam. 21. 10. and ſince that time hath been known to me. And it is not improbable, but David, after his eſcape from thence, might hold ſome correſpondency with Achiſh, as finding him to be a Man of more generous Temper than the reſt of the Philiſtines, and ſuppoſing that he might have need of him for a Refuge in caſe Saul continued to ſeek his Life. ∴ i. e. Since he revolted, or left his own King to turn to me. For that ſenſe Achiſh put upon this eſcape of David (as it is called chap. 27. 1.) and ſo is the Phraſe of falling to a party, elſewhere uſed, Jer. 37. 13, 14.

4 And the princes of the Philiſtines were wroth with him e, and the princes of the Philiſtines ſaid unto him, * Make this fellow return, that he may go again to his place which thou haſt appointed him f, and let him not go down with us to battel, leſt in the battel he be an adverſary to us: for wherewith ſhould he reconcile himſelf unto his maſter? ſhould it not be with the heads of theſe men g?

e Were unſatisfied and offended with Achiſh for this Intention and Declaration. f Herein the wiſe and gracious Providence of God appeared, both in helping him out of thoſe Snares and Difficulties, out of which no human wit could have extricated him, but he muſt either have been, or have been thought to be a Traitor, and an ungrateful unworthy Perſon either to the one or to the other ſide; and moreover in giving him the happy opportunity of recovering his own, and his All from the Amalekites, which had been irrecoverably loſt, if he had gone into this Battel. And the Kindneſs of God to David was the greater, becauſe it had been moſt juſt for God to have left David in all thoſe Diſtreſſes into which his own ſinful Counſel and Courſe had brought him. g i. e. Of theſe our Soldiers? They ſpeak according to the Rules of Reaſon and true Policy; for by this very Courſe, great Enemies have ſometimes been reconciled together.

5 Is not this David, of whom they ſang one to another in dances, ſaying, * Saul ſlew his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands?

* Chap. 18. 7. & 21. 11.

6 ¶ Then Achiſh called David, and ſaid unto him, Surely, as the LORD liveth h, thou haſt been upright, and thy going out, and thy coming in with me i in the hoſt is good in my ſight; for I have not found evil in thee, ſince the day of thy coming unto me k, unto this day: nevertheleſs † the lords favour thee not.

h He ſwears by Jehovah; either, becauſe he did acknowledge their Jehovah to be a God, being, it may be, convinced and inſtructed therein by David, though he did worſhip Dagon with him, and above him: or, becauſe this was David's God, and therefore he ſwore by him; partly, out of complaiſance with David, that he might receive his unwelcome Meſſage to him with leſs offence; and partly, that this Oath might gain more Credit to his words with David. i i. e. Thy whole Converſation with me. See chap. 18. 13 and many other places where that Phraſe is uſed. k Though before that time there was Evil in thee towards me and my People.

7 Wherefore now return and go in peace, that thou † diſpleaſe not the lords of the Philiſtines.

† Heb. do not evil in the eyes of the lords.

8 ¶ And David ſaid unto Achiſh, But what have I done? and what haſt thou found in thy ſervant ſo long as I have been † with thee unto this day, that I may not go to fight againſt the enemies of my lord the king l?

l This was deep diſſimulation and flattery, but he apprehended it neceſſary, leſt he ſhould tacitly confeſs himſelf guilty of that whereof they accuſed him, and thereby expoſe himſelf to the utmoſt hazards. Theſe perplexities he brought himſelf into by his irregular courſe, in forſaking the Land of Judah, where God had placed him, chap. 22. 5. and promiſed him Protection, and putting himſelf into the hands of the Philiſtines.

9 And Achiſh anſwered and ſaid to David, I know thou art good in my ſight, as an angel of God m: notwithſtanding the princes of the Philiſtines have ſaid, He ſhall not go up with us to the battel.

m In whom nothing is blame-worthy. Or, it may be uſed to expreſs David's great Wiſdom; (as well as Integrity) as 2 Sam. 14. 17. and 2 Sam. 19. 27. The Heathens acknowledged good Spirits, which alſo they worſhipped as an inferior ſort of Deities, who were Meſſengers and Miniſters to the Supreme God; only Achiſh had learned the Title of Angels, from the Iſraelites his Neighbours, and eſpecially from David's Converſation.

10 Wherefore now riſe up early in the morning, with thy maſters ſervants n that are come with thee: and as ſoon as ye be up early in the morning, and have light, depart o.

n He intimates the ground of the Philiſtines Jealouſie concerning David and his Men, that they were all Servants of Saul, and therefore had an Obligation, and were ſuſpected to have an Affection to their old Lord and Maſter, againſt whom even David himſelf could not make them fight, eſpecially with, and for the Philiſtines. o Before the Battel begin, leſt, if you delay, the Lords of the Philiſtines fall upon you, and deſtroy you.

11 So David and his men roſe up early to depart in the morning, to return into the land of the Philiſtines, and the Philiſtines went up to Jezreel.

CHAP. XXX.

The Amalekites in David's abſence ſpoil Ziklag: and carry away the people and his two wives captives, 1,—6. David asking counſel is encouraged by God to purſue them, 7,—10. By the means of an Egyptian, who was left behind, he is brought to the enemies, and recovereth all the ſpoil: and ſpoileth them, 11,—22. Makes an order for the dividing the prey, 23,—25. Sendeth preſents to his friends, 26,—31.

AND it came to paſs, when David and his men were come to Ziklag on the third day a, that the Amalekites b had invaded the ſouth c, and Ziklag, and ſmitten Ziklag d, and burnt it with fire:

a To wit, after David's departure from Achiſh; for Ziklag was at a great diſtance from the Camp and place of Fight, as appears from 2 Sam. 1. 2. and David's Men being all Foot-men, could make but ſlow Marches. b The remainders of that People who lived near thoſe Parts where David had deſtroyed their Brethren, chap. 27. 8, 9. c To wit, the Southern part of Judah, and the adjacent parts: See below, v. 14. d i. e. Sacked and ſpoiled it.

2 And had taken the women captives that were therein: they ſlew not any e, either great or ſmall, but carried them away, and went on their way.

e Which was ſtrange, conſidering how David dealt with them, chap. 27. 9. But this muſt be aſcribed partly to their ſelfiſh or fleſhly Intereſt: for they might reſerve them, either to make ſale of them for their Profit, or to abuſe them for their Luſt; or, it may be, to revenge themſelves upon David and his Men, by reſerving them to extraordinary, and lingring, and repeated Puniſhments; but principally, to God's over-ruling and wonderful Providence, who ſet theſe Bounds to their Rage; and though he deſigned to chaſtiſe David's Sin and Folly, yet would not deliver him nor his up to death.

3 ¶ So David and his men came to the city, and behold, it was burnt with fire, and their wives, and their ſons, and their daughters were taken captives.

4 Then David and the people that were with him, lift up their voice and wept, until they had no more power to weep f.

f Till either the Humour was wholly ſpent, or the Conſideration of their Calamity had made them ſtupid.

5 And Davids two wives were taken captives, Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs, and Abigail the wife of Nabal, the Carmelite.

6 And David was greatly diſtreſſed: for the people ſpake of ſtoning him g, becauſe the ſoul of all the people was † grieved, every man for his ſons, and for his daughters: but David encouraged himſelf in the LORD his God h.

g As the Author of their Miſeries, by coming to Ziklag at firſt, by provoking the Amalekites to this Cruelty, by his forwardneſs in marching away with Achiſh, and leaving their Wives and Children unguarded. h i. e. In this that the All-wiſe, and All-powerful Lord, was his God by Covenant-relation, and ſpecial Promiſe, and true and fatherly Affection, as he had ſhewed himſelf to be in the whole courſe of his Providence towards him.

7 And David ſaid to Abiathar the prieſt, Ahimelechs ſon, I pray thee bring me hither the ephod i: and Abiathar brought thither the ephod to David.

i And put it upon thy ſelf, that thou maiſt enquire of God according to his Ordinance, Numb. 27. 21. See above, chap 23. 9. David was ſenſible of his former Error in neglecting to ask Counſel of God by the Ephod, when he came to Achiſh, and when he went out with Achiſh to the Battel; and his Neceſſity now brings him to his Duty, and his Duty meets with Succeſs.

8 And David enquired at the LORD, ſaying, Shall I purſue after this troop? ſhall I overtake them? And he anſwered him, Purſue, for thou ſhalt ſurely overtake them, and without fail recover all k.

k Before, God anſwered more ſlowly and gradually, chap. 23. 11, 12. but now he anſwers ſpeedily, and fully at once, becauſe the buſineſs here required more haſte. So gracious is our God, that he conſiders even the degree of our Neceſſities, and accommodates himſelf to them.

9 So David went, he and the ſix hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Beſor, where thoſe that were left behind, ſtayed.

10 But David purſued, he and four hundred men l: (for two hundred abode behind, which were ſo faint, that they could not go over the brook Beſor.)

l A ſmall number for ſuch an Attempt: but David was ſtrong in Faith, giving God the Glory of his Power and Faithfulneſs.

11 ¶ And they found an Egyptian in the field m, and brought him to David, and gave him bread, and he did eat, and they made him drink water n.

m Whom by his Habit they gueſſed to be a Soldier that had been engaged in that Expedition. n Partly, out of humanity and compaſſion to a periſhing Creature: and partly, in Prudence, that by him they might learn the true ſtate of their Enemies.

12 And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs, and two cluſters of raiſins: and * when he had eaten, his ſpirit came again to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor drank any water, three days, and three nights o.

* See Judg. 15. 19. Ch. 14. 27.

o Which is to be underſtood Synecdochically of one whole day and part of two others, as the ſame Phraſe is taken Matth. 12. 40. as appears from the next Verſe, where he ſaith, three days agone I fell ſick, but in the Hebrew it is, this is the third day ſince I fell ſick.

13 And David ſaid unto him, To whom belongeſt thou? and whence art thou? And he ſaid, I am a young man of Egypt p, ſervant to an Amalekite, and my maſter left me q, becauſe three days agone I fell ſick.

p God by his Providence ſo ordering it, that he was not one of that curſed Race of the Amalekites, who were to be utterly deſtroyed, but an Egyptian, who might be ſpared. q In this Place and Condition: which was barbarous inhumanity: for he ought, and eaſily might have carried him away with the Prey which they had taken.

But he paid dear for this Cruelty, for this was the occaſion of the ruine of him and of all their Company. And God by his ſecret Providence ordered the matter thus for that very end. So that there is no fighting againſt God, who can make the ſmalleſt Accidents ſerviceable to the production of the greateſt Effects.

14 We made an invaſion upon the ſouth of the Cherethites r, and upon the coaſt which belongeth to Judah, and upon the ſouth of Caleb ſ, and we burnt Ziklag with fire.

r i. e. The Philiſtines, as is manifeſt from v. 16. who are ſo called Zeph. 2. 5. ſ This is added by way of Explication: q. d. that part of the South of Judah which belongs to Caleb's Poſterity, Joſ. 14. 13.

15 And David ſaid to him, Canſt thou bring me down to this company? And he ſaid, Swear unto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my maſter, and I will bring thee down to this company t.

t For his Maſter had told him whither they intended to go, that he might come after them, as ſoon as he could.

16 ¶ And when he had brought him down, behold, they were ſpread abroad upon all the earth u, eating, and drinking, and dancing, becauſe of all the great ſpoil that they had taken out of the land of the Philiſtines, and out of the land of Judah.

u Secure and careleſs, becauſe they were now come almoſt to the Borders of their own Country, and the Philiſtines and Iſraelites both were otherwiſe engaged, and David, as they believed, with them. So they had no viſible cauſe of danger; and yet then they were neareſt to their deſtruction.

17 And David ſmote them from the twilight ∴, even unto the evening of the † next day: and there eſcaped not a man of them, ſave four hundred young men which rode upon camels, and fled.

∴ The word ſignifies both the Morning and Evening Twi-light. But the latter ſeems here intended, partly becauſe their Eating, and Drinking, and Dancing, was more cuſtomary and proper work for the Evening, than for the Morning; and partly, becauſe the Evening was more convenient for David, that the fewneſs of his Forces might not be diſcovered by the Day-light. Object. It is not likely that David would fall upon the Amalekites before his Men, who had been tired with a long and haſty March, were refreſhed. Anſw. Nor is it ſaid that he did. It is probable, that when he came near them, he repoſed himſelf, and his Army, in ſome ſecret Place, whereof there were many in thoſe Parts, for a convenient Seaſon; and then marched on ſo as to come to them at the Evening time.

18 And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away: and David reſcued his two wives.

19 And there was nothing lacking to them, neither ſmall nor great, neither ſons nor daughters, neither ſpoil, nor any thing that they had taken to them: David recovered all.

20 And David took all the flocks, and the herds x: which they drave before thoſe other cattel y, and ſaid, This is Davids ſpoil z.

x To wit, which the Amalekites had taken from the Philiſtines or others. y Before thoſe who belonged to Ziklag. z i. e. The Soldiers, who lately were ſo incenſed againſt David, that they ſpake of Stoning him: now upon this Succeſs magnifie him, and Triumphantly celebrate his Praiſe; and ſay concerning this Spoil, David purchaſed it by his Valour and Conduct, and he may diſpoſe of it as he pleaſeth.

21 ¶ And David came to the two hundred men, which were ſo faint that they could not follow David, whom they had made alſo to abide at the brook Beſor: and they went forth to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him a; and when David came near to the people, he ‖ ſaluted them b.

a To congratulate the Victory; which, it is probable, David had ſent a Meſſenger to acquaint them with. b He ſpeak kindly to them, and did not blame them becauſe they went no further with them.

22 Then c anſwered all the wicked men, and men of Belial d of † thoſe that went with David, and ſaid, Becauſe they went not with us e, we will not give them ought of the ſpoil that we have recovered, ſave to every man his wife, and his children, that they may lead them away, and depart.

c When thoſe 200 Men required, or expected a part of the Spoil; and they gathered from David's words and carriage, that he intended to give it to them. d So he calls them for their Covetouſneſs, and Injuſtice, and Churliſhneſs to their Brethren. By which Expreſſions we may judge, how hainous and odious thoſe Sins are in God's ſight. e Which was from their impotency; not by choice, or deſign. Herein therefore was their Iniquity and Unreaſonableneſs, they would puniſh them for no fault.

23 Then ſaid David, Ye ſhall not do ſo, my brethren f, with that which the LORD hath given us g, who hath preſerved us, and delivered the company that came againſt us, into our hand.

f He uſeth his Power and Authority to over-rule them; but manageth it with all ſweetneſs, calling them Brethren; not only as of the ſame Nation and Religion with him, but as his Fellow-Soldiers. g What he hath freely imparted to us, we ſhould not unkindly and injuriouſly with-hold from our Brethren.

24 For who will hearken unto you in this matter h? but * as his part is that goeth down to the battel, ſo ſhall his part be that tarrieth by the ſtuff: they ſhall part alike i.

h What wiſe or juſt Man will be of your Opinion in this matter? i A prudent and equitable Conſtitution, and therefore practiſed by the Romans, as Polybius and others note. The Reaſon of it is manifeſt; becauſe they were expoſed to hazards, as well as their Brethren: and were a Reſerve to whom they might retreat in caſe of a Defeat; and they were now in actual Service, and in the ſtation in which their General had placed them.

25 And it was ſo from that day † that he made it a ſtatute, and an ordinance for Iſrael unto this day.

26 ¶ And when David came to Ziklag, he ſent of the ſpoil unto the elders of Judah k, even to his friends (ſaying, Behold, a † preſent for you of the ſpoil of the enemies of the LORD l.)

k Partly in gratitude for their former favour to him: and partly, in Policy, to engage their Affections to him now, when he apprehended Saul's death near. l He intimates, that though he was fled to the Philiſtines, yet he imployed not his Forces againſt the Iſraelites, as, no doubt, Saul's Courtiers and Soldiers reported that he deſigned; but only againſt God's Enemies.

29 And to them which were in Rachal, and to them which were in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them which were in the cities of the Kenites, CHAP. XXXI.

The Iſraelites are ſmitten by the Philiſtines. Saul's ſons are ſlain: Saul is wounded: he falleth on his own ſword: as doth his armour-bearer, 1,—5. The reſt flee: and the Philiſtines poſſeſs their towns, and triumph over the dead carcaſſes, 6,—10. They of Jabeſh-Gilead by night take down the bodies of Saul and of his ſons and burn them: and mournfully bury their bones, 11,—13.

NOW * the Philiſtines fought againſt Iſrael a: and the men of Iſrael fled from before the Philiſtines, and fell down ‖ ſlain in mount Gilboa.

*1 Chron. 10. 1.
‖ Or, wounded.

a Whilſt David was ingaged againſt the Amalekites. So he returns to the Hiſtory, which had been interrupted, to give an account of David's concerns.

2 And the Philiſtines followed hard upon Saul, and upon his ſons; and the Philiſtines ſlew * Jonathan b, and Abinadab c, and Malchiſhua, Sauls ſons.

* 1 Chro. 8. 33.

b David's dear Friend; God ſo ordering it for the further exerciſe of David's Faith and Patience; and that David might depend upon God alone for his Crown, and receive it ſolely from him, and not from Jonathan; who doubtleſs, had he lived, would have ſpeedily ſettled the Crown upon David's Head, which would have in ſome ſort eclipſed the Glory of God's Grace and Power in this Work. There was alſo a ſpecial Providence of God, in taking away Jonathan, (who of all Saul's Sons, ſeems to have been the faireſt for the Crown) for the preventing Diviſions, which have happened amongſt the People concerning the Succeſſor; David's way to the Crown being by this means made the more clear. c Called alſo Iſhui, 1 Sam. 14. 49. Iſhboſheth was not here, being poſſibly at home for the management of Publick Affairs there.

3 And the battel went ſore againſt Saul, and the † archers † hit him, and he was ſore wounded of the archers.

4 Then ſaid Saul unto his armour-bearer, Draw thy ſword, and thruſt me through therewith, leſt theſe uncircumciſed come, and thruſt me through, and ‖ abuſe me d. But his armour-bearer would not, for he was ſore afraid: therefore Saul took a ſword and fell upon it e.

d Leſt they take me, and put me to ſome ſhameful and cruel death.
e And died of the Wound, as it follows.

5 And when his armour-bearer ſaw that Saul was dead, he fell likewiſe upon his ſword, and died with him.

6 So Saul died with his three ſons, and his armour-bearer, and all his men that ſame day together.

7 ¶ And when the men of Iſrael that were on the other ſide of the valley f, and they that were on the other ſide Jordan g, ſaw that the men of Iſrael fled, and that Saul and his ſons were dead, they forſook the cities and fled, and the Philiſtines came and dwelt in them.

f To wit, the Valley of Jezreel, where the Battel was fought. g Or rather, on this ſide Jordan; for theſe were in the moſt danger: and the Hebrew Prepoſition is indifferently uſed for on this ſide, or for beyond.

8 And it came to paſs on the morrow, when the Philiſtines came to ſtrip the ſlain, that they found Saul and his three ſons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And they cut off his head h, and ſtripped off his armour, and ſent into the land of the Philiſtines round about, to publiſh it in the houſe of their idols i, and among the people.

h As the Iſraelites did by Goliah. i To give them the glory of this Victory.

10 And they put his armour in the houſe of Aſhtaroth: and they faſtned his body to the wall of Beth-ſhan.

11 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Jabeſh-Gilead k heard ‖ of that which the Philiſtines had done to Saul: ‖ Or, concerning him.

k Which was beyond Jordan: for the People on this ſide Jordan were fled from their Cities, as was now ſaid.

12 All the valiant men aroſe, and went all night, and took the body of Saul, and the bodies of his ſons, from the walls of Beth-ſhan, and came to Jabeſh, and * burnt them there l. *Jer. 34. 5.

l Burnt their Fleſh, after the manner.

13 And they took their bones, and * buried them under a tree at Jabeſh, and faſted ſeven days m. * 2 Sam. 2. 4, 5. & 21. 12, 13.

m To teſtifie their Sorrow for the publick loſs of Saul, and of the People of God; and to intreat God's Favour to prevent the utter Extinction of his People. But you muſt not underſtand this word of faſting ſtrictly, as if they eat nothing for ſeven whole Days; but in a more large and general ſenſe, as it is uſed both in Sacred and Prophane Writers; that they did eat but little, and that ſeldom; and that but mean Food, and drunk only Water for that time.

II. SAMUEL.

CHAP. I.

David being at Ziklag receiveth tidings by an Amalekite of Saul and Jonathan's death: the meſſenger pretendeth himſelf to have killed Saul, 1,—12 David cauſeth him to be put to death, 13,—16. Lamenteth Saul and Jonathan with a ſong, 17,—27.

*1 Sam. 30. 17. NOW it came to paſs after the death of Saul, when David was returned from * the ſlaughter of the Amalekites, and David had abode two days in Ziklag a, a Which though burnt, yet was not ſo conſumed by the Fire, that David and his Men could not lodge in it.

2 It came even to paſs on the third day b, that behold a man came out of the camp from Saul, with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head c: and ſo it was when he came to David, that he fell to the earth, and did obeiſance.

b From David's return to Ziklag, as the foregoing words manifeſt. c Pretending ſorrow for the loſs of God's People, in complyance with David's humour.

3 And David ſaid unto him, From whence comeſt thou? And he ſaid unto him, Out of the camp of Iſrael am I eſcaped.

† Heb. what was, &c. 4 And David ſaid unto him, † How went the matter? I pray thee tell me. And he anſwered, That the people are fled from the battel, and many of the people alſo are fallen and dead, and Saul and Jonathan his ſon d are dead alſo.

d He mentions only theſe two, as thoſe who ſeemed moſt to obſtruct David's coming to the Crown.

5 And David ſaid unto the young man that told him, How knoweſt thou that Saul and Jonathan his ſon be dead e?

e For the knowledge of this did moſt concern both David and the whole Commonwealth of Iſrael.

6 And the young man that told him, ſaid, As I happened by chance upon mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his ſpear: and lo, the chariots and † horſemen followed hard after him. † Heb. maſters: or, captains of the horſemen.

7 And when he looked behind him, he ſaw me, and called unto me: and I anſwered, † Here am I. † Heb. behold me.

8 And he ſaid unto me, Who art thou? and I anſwered him, I am an Amalekite.

9 He ſaid unto me again, Stand, I pray thee, upon me f, and ſlay me: for ‖ anguiſh is come upon me g, becauſe my life is yet whole within me h. ‖ Or, my coat of mail; (or, my embroidered coat) hindereth me, that my, &c.

f i.e. Lean upon me with thy weight and force, that the Spear may come through me: Or, ſtay by me; i.e. Stop thy flight, and tarry ſo long with me till thou haſt killed me. g i.e. I am in great pain of Body, and anguiſh of Mind. Or thus, my coat of mail: or, embroydered coat, hath hindred me, that the Spear could not pierce into me. Thus divers both Hebrew and other Learned Expoſitors underſtand it. h I am heart-whole, and not likely to die, as well as not willing to live.

10 So I ſtood upon him, and ſlew him i, becauſe I was ſure that he could not live after that he was faln k: and I took the crown that was upon his head l, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them hither unto my lord m.

k It is moſt probable this was a Lye, deviſed to gain David's Favour, as he ſuppoſed. For, 1. Saul was not killed by a Spear, as he pretends, but by his Sword, 1 Sam. 31. 4. 2. It is expreſly ſaid, That Saul's armour-bearer being yet living, ſaw that Saul was dead, 1 Sam. 31. 5. which doubtleſs he would very thoroughly examine and know, before he would kill himſelf upon that account, as he did. 3. Saul's death is manifeſtly aſcribed to his own Action, even to his falling upon his Sword, v. 4, 5. k This he addeth by way of caution and excuſe, that it might be thought an act of neceſſity and kindneſs, and not of choice or ill-will that he killed Saul. But here alſo he betrays himſelf: for how could this be true, when Saul's life was whole within him, as he had now ſaid, v. 9? l Not that he then wore it; which would have expoſed him too much, and that unneceſſarily, to the Rage of the Philiſtines; but that he uſed to wear it. It is not likely that he found it now actually upon Saul's Head, but that he met with it in ſome part of the Camp, whither Saul had brought it to wear it when he ſaw fit. m Unto thee, whom, now Saul is dead, I own for my Lord and King.

11 Then David took hold on his clothes, and * rent them, and likewiſe all the men that were with him. * Chap. 3. 31. & 13. 31.

12 And they mourned and wept, and faſted until even, for Saul and for Jonathan his ſon, and for the people of the LORD, and for the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe they were fallen by the ſword.

13 ¶ And David ſaid unto the young man that told him, Whence art thou n? And he anſwered, I am the ſon of a ſtranger, an Amalekite.

n David heard and knew before what he was, but he asked it again judicially, in order to his Trial and Puniſhment.

14 And David ſaid unto him, * How waſt thou not afraid to ſtretch forth thine hand to deſtroy the LORD's anointed o? *Pſal. 105. 15.

o Why didſt not thou refuſe to kill him, as his Armour-bearer had done? For notwithſtanding his great danger, ſomething might have fallen out through God's All-diſpoſing Providence, whereby his Life might have been preſerved.

15 And David called one of the young men, and ſaid, Go near and fall upon him. And he ſmote him that he died.

16 And David ſaid unto him, Thy blood be upon thy head p: for thy mouth hath teſtified againſt thee, ſaying, I have ſlain the LORD's anointed q.

p The guilt of thy blood-ſhed or death lies upon thy ſelf, not upon me. q Thy free and voluntary Confeſſion is ſufficient proof of thy guilt in killing the King.

17 ¶ And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul, and over Jonathan his ſon:

18 ¶ (Alſo r he bade them s, teach the children of Judah t the uſe of the bow u: behold, it is written x * in the book ‖ of Jaſher.) * Joſh. 10. 13. ‖ Or, of the upright.

r Having mentioned David's Lamentation in general, before he comes to the particular deſcription of it, he interpoſeth this Verſe by way of Parentheſis; to ſignifie, That David did not ſo give up himſelf to Lamentation, as to neglect his great buſineſs, the care of the Commonwealth, which now lay upon him; but took particular care to fortifie them againſt ſuch further Loſſes and Calamities as he bewails in the following Song; and by his Example, and this Counſel, to inſtruct the People, that they ſhould not give up themſelves to Sorrow and Deſpondency for their great and general Loſs; but ſhould raiſe up their Spirits, and betake themſelves to Action. s David being now actually King upon Saul's death, takes his Power upon him, and gives forth his Commands. t Theſe he more particularly teacheth, becauſe they were the Chief, and now the Royal Tribe, and likely to be the great Bulwark to all Iſrael againſt the Philiſtines, upon whoſe Land they bordered; and withal, to be the moſt friendly and true to him, and to his Intereſt. u i e. The uſe of their Arms, which are all Synecdochically expreſſed, under the name of the bow, which then was one of the chief Weapons; and for the dextrous uſe whereof Jonathan is commended in the following Song: which may be one reaſon, why he now gives forth this Order, that ſo they might ſtrive to imitate Jonathan in the Military Skill, and to excel in it, as he did. x Not the following Song, as many think, for that is written here, and therefore it was needleſs to refer us to another Book for it; but this foregoing counſel and courſe which David took to repair the laſt Loſs, which is here mentioned but briefly, and in general terms; but, as it ſeems, more largely and particularly deſcribed in the Book of Jaſher: Of which, ſee on Joſh. 10. 13.

19 The beauty of Iſrael y is ſlain upon the high places z: how are the mighty fallen a!

y Their Flower and Glory, Saul and Jonathan, and their Army, conſiſting of young and valiant Men. z Heb. upon thy high places; i. e. Thoſe which belong to thee, O Land of Iſrael. a How ſtrangely! how ſuddenly! how dreadfully and univerſally!

* Mic. 1. 10.

20 * Tell it not in Gath b, publiſh it not in the ſtreets of Askelon: leſt the daughters c of the Philiſtines rejoyce; leſt the daughters of the uncircumciſed triumph.

b This is not a Precept, but a Poetical Wiſh; whereby he doth not ſo much deſire, that this might not be done, which he knew to be vain and impoſſible; as, expreſs his great Sorrow, becauſe it was, and would be done, to the great diſhonour of God, and of his People. c He mentions theſe, becauſe it was the cuſtom of Women in thoſe Times and Places to celebrate thoſe Victories which their Men obtained, with Triumphant Songs and Dances; as Exod. 15. Judg. 11. 34. 1 Sam. 18. 6.

21 Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain upon you d, nor fields of † offerings e: for there the ſhield of the mighty f † is vilely g caſt away h; the ſhield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil i.

d This is no proper Imprecation; which he had no reaſon to inflict upon thoſe harmleſs Mountains; but only a paſſionate repreſentation of the Horror which he conceived at this publick Loſs; which was ſuch, as if he thought every Perſon or Thing which contributed to it, were fit to bear the Tokens of Divine Diſpleaſure, ſuch as this is, when the Earth wants the bleſſed and neceſſary Influences of Dew and Rain. e i. e. Fruitful Fields, which may produce fair and goodly Fruits fit to be offered unto God. f The Shields of the valiant Men of Iſrael. g Diſhonourably: for it was a great Reproach to any Soldier, to caſt away or loſe his Shield. h To wit, by themſelves, that they might flee more ſwiftly away, as the Iſraelites did, and Saul with the reſt; as is ſaid, 1 Sam. 31. 1, 2. i As if he had been no more, nor better than a common Soldier: he was expoſed to the ſame kind of Death and Reproach as they were.

22 From the blood of the ſlain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back k, and the ſword of Saul returned not empty l.

k To wit, without Effect: Compare Iſa. 45. 23. and 55. 11. Their Arrows ſhot from their Bows, and their Swords did ſeldom miſs, and commonly pierced Fat, and Fleſh, and Blood, and reached even to the Heart and Bowels. l i. e Not filled and glutted with Blood: for the Sword is Metaphorically ſaid to have a mouth, which we tranſlate an edge; and to devour, 2 Sam. 2. 26. and 11. 25. Jer. 2. 30. and 46. 10. And this their former ſucceſsfulneſs is here mentioned as an aggravation of their laſt Infelicity.

23 Saul and Jonathan were lovely, and ‖ pleaſant m in their lives n, and in their death they were not divided o: they were ſwifter than eagles p, they were ſtronger than lions q.

m Amiable, and obliging in their Carriage and Converſation, both towards one another, and towards their People: for, as for Saul's fierce behaviour towards Jonathan, it was only a ſudden Paſſion, by which his ordinary Temper was not to be meaſured; and for his Carriage towards David, 1 Sam. 20. 30, 33. that was from that Jealouſie and Reaſon of State which uſually engageth even good-natured and well-natured Princes, to the ſame Hoſtilities in like caſes. But it is obſervable, That David ſpeaks not a word here of his Piety and other Vertues; but only commends him for thoſe things which were truly in him. A fit Pattern for all Preachers in their Funeral Commendations. n Jonathan was not falſe to his Father, as was reported; but ſtuck cloſe to him. o And as he lived, ſo he died with him, at the ſame time, and in the ſame common and good Cauſe. p Expeditious and nimble in purſuing their Enemies, and executing their Deſigns; which is a great Commendation in a Prince, and in a Soldier. q In regard of their bodily Strength, and the Courage of their Minds.

r Theſe he mentions; partly, becauſe the Women then uſed to make Songs both of Triumph, and of Lamentation, as occaſion required. and partly, becauſe they uſually are moſt delighted with the Ornaments of the Body here following. s This he did, partly, becauſe he procured them ſo much Peace as gave them opportunity of enriching themſelves: and partly, becauſe he took theſe things as Spoils from the Enemies, and clothed his own People with them. Compare Pſal. 68. 12.

25 How are the mighty fallen in the midſt of the battel! O Jonathan, thou waſt ſlain in thine high places t.

t Which were in thy Country, and (had not thy Father diſinherited thee by his Sins) in thy Dominions.

26 I am diſtreſſed for thee u, my brother Jonathan, very pleaſant haſt thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, paſſing the love of women x.

u i. e. For the loſs of thee. For, beſides the loſs of a true Friend, and all the comfort of Friendſhip, which is ineſtimable; he loſt him who both could, and undoubtedly would have given him a ſpeedy, and quiet, and ſure Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom: whereas now, he met with long and troubleſom Interruptions. x i. e. That Love wherewith they love their Husbands, or Children: for their Affections are uſually more vehement and ardent than Mens.

27 How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war y periſhed?

y Either, 1. Metaphorically ſo called; to wit, Saul and Jonathan, and the brave Commanders and Soldiers of Iſrael; who might have been called, the chariots of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof. Or, rather, 2. Properly: for, together with the Men, their Arms were loſt, which was a very great aggravation of their loſs, and that loſs ſeems to be at this time more irrecoverable and dangerous, than the loſs of their Men.

CHAP. II.

David by God's direction with his company goeth up to Hebron, where he is made king of Judah, 1,—4. He commendeth them of Jabeſh-Gilead for burying Saul, 5,—7. Abner maketh Iſhboſheth king of Iſrael, 8,—11. A mortal fight between twelve of Abner's and twelve of Joab's men, 12,—17. Aſahel purſueth Abner, and is ſlain by him, 18,—24. At Abner's motion Joab ſoundeth a retreat, 25,—31. Aſahel's burial, 32.

AND it came to paſs after this, that David enquired of the LORD a, ſaying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah b: And the LORD ſaid unto him, Go up. And David ſaid, Whither ſhall I go up? And he ſaid, Unto Hebron c.

a By Urim, as 1 Sam. 23. 6, 9. and 30. 7, 8. Thus David begins at the right end, and lays his Foundation in God's Counſel and Aſſiſtance, which now he ſeeks. b He asketh not whether he ſhould take the Kingdom; for that was appointed and known before; and he would not offend God, nor diſhonour his Ordinance with frivolous and unneceſſary Enquiries; but only where he ſhould enter upon it; whether in Judah, as he ſuppoſed, becauſe of his relation to that Tribe, and his intereſt in it; or whether in ſome other Tribe: for he doth not limit God, but reſolves exactly to follow his Counſels. c Which was next to Jeruſalem (part whereof the Jebuſites now poſſeſſed) the chief City of that Tribe, and a City of the Prieſts, Joſh. 21. 10, &c. and in the very center or middle of that Tribe, to which the whole Tribe might ſpeedily reſort, when need required.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives alſo, Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.

3 And his men that were with him, did David bring up, every man with his houſhold: and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron d.

d i. e. The Cities or Towns belonging and ſubject to Hebron, which was the Metropolis, Joſh. 21. 11, 12. For in Hebron it ſelf there was not ſpace for them all, becauſe it was filled with Prieſts, and with David's Court.

4 And * the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the houſe of Judah e: and they told David, ſaying, That * the men of Jabeſh-Gilead were they that buried Saul.

* 1 Mac. 2. 57.

* 1 Sam. 31. 13.

e This they did upon juſt grounds, becauſe not only the Kingdom was promiſed to that Tribe, Gen. 49. 10. but David was deſigned and anointed by God, whoſe Will both they and all Iſrael were obliged to obſerve and obey. And they Piouſly reſolved not to neglect their Duty, though they ſaw the other Tribes would. Yet their prudent Caution and Modeſty is obſervable, That they make him King of Judah only, and not of all Iſrael. And therefore there was need of a Third Anointing to the Kingdom over all Iſrael, which he had chap. 5. 3. But as for that Firſt Anointing, 1 Sam. 16. 13. it was only a Deſignation of the Perſon who ſhould be King, but not an actual Inauguration of him to the Kingdom.

5 ¶ And David ſent meſſengers unto the men of Jabeſh-Gilead, and ſaid unto them, Bleſſed be ye of the LORD, that † ye have ſhewed this kindneſs f unto your lord, even unto Saul, and have buried him.

f This Reſpect and Affection to procure him Burial. For as it is, and ever was eſteemed an act of Inhumanity to deny Burial to the Dead; ſo it is an act of Mercy and Kindneſs to Bury them.

6 And now the LORD ſhew kindneſs and truth g unto you: and I alſo will requite you this kindneſs h, becauſe ye have done this thing.

g i.e. True and real Kindneſs; not in words only, but alſo in actions, as you have now done to your King, the Lord's anointed. h So far am I from being offended with you for this Kindneſs to my late Enemy, that I will requite it.

7 Therefore now let your hands be ſtrengthned, and † be ye valiant i: for your maſter Saul is dead k, and alſo † the houſe of Judah have anointed me king over them.

i Be not afraid leſt the Philiſtines ſhould puniſh you for this Fact, but take good Courage, I will defend you. k Or, though your Maſter Saul be dead, and ſo your Hearts may faint within you, as if you were now Sheep without a Shepherd.

8 ¶ But Abner the ſon of Ner l, captain of † Sauls hoſt, took ‖ Iſhboſheth m the ſon of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim n.

‖ Or, Eſhbaal. 1 Chr. 8. 33.

l Partly, out of Envy and Malice againſt David; and partly, out of his own Ambition and Deſire of Rule, becauſe he knew that Iſhboſheth would have only the name of King, whilſt he had the Power. m Called alſo Eſhbaal, 1 Chron. 8. 33. and 9. 39. It being uſual with the Hebrews, inſtead of Baal, the name of falſe gods, to put Boſheth, which ſignifies ſhame, or confuſion, or a ſhameful thing; as appeareth by comparing Judg. 9. 53. with 2 Sam. 11. 21. and 2 Sam. 4. 4. with 1 Chron. 8. 34. and from Jer. 3. 24. Hoſ. 9. 10. n A place beyond Jordan, whither he carried him; partly, to ſecure thoſe brave and valiant Men of Jabeſh-Gilead to himſelf; and principally becauſe this place was moſt remote from David, and from the Philiſtines too; and therefore here he might recruit his Forces with leſs diſturbance than in other places.

9 And he made him king over Gilead o, and over the Aſhurites p, and over Jezreel q, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all † Iſrael r.

o Largely ſo taken for all the Land of Iſrael beyond Jordan, as it is Joſh. 22. 9. Judg. 10. 8. p i.e. The Tribe of Aſher, as the Chaldee Paraphraſt and others underſtand it. q A large and rich Valley ſituate in the Borders of the Tribes of Zebulun, Iſſachar and Napthali, and ſo put Synecdochically for them all. r Except Judah, as it follows.

10 Iſhboſheth Sauls ſon was forty years old when he began to reign over Iſrael, and reigned two years ſ: but the houſe of Judah followed David.

ſ To wit, before the following War broke forth. Compare 1 Sam. 13. 1. For that he reigned longer, may appear both from the following Verſe, and from chap. 3. 1. and from the following Hiſtory. Though ſome think he reigned only two Years, and that the reſt of David's ſeven Years the Iſraelites by Abner's inſtigation ſtuck to the Houſe of Saul, but were in ſuſpence whether they ſhould confer the Crown upon Mephiboſheth the right Heir, but a Child; or upon Iſhboſheth a grown Man, whom with ſome difficulty, and after long debates amongſt themſelves, they preferred.

11 (And the † time that David was king in Hebron over the houſe of Judah, was ſeven years and ſix months.)

12 ¶ And Abner the ſon of Ner, and the ſervants t of Iſhboſheth the ſon of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon u.

t i.e. His Officers, and Commanders, and their Army. u In the Country of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 25. near Judah, to fight with David's Army, and to bring back the reſt of the Kingdom to Saul's Houſe.

13 And Joab the ſon of Zeruiah, and the ſervants of David, went out x, and met † together y by the * pool of Gibeon: and they ſate down, the one on the one ſide of the pool, and the other on the other ſide of the pool.

* Jer. 41. 12.

x To Battel. Queſt. How could or durſt this one Tribe oppoſe all the reſt? Anſ. Firſt, This Tribe was very numerous and valiant of themſelves, and they had a King of extraordinary Courage, and Conduct, and Succeſs. Secondly, There were great numbers of the other Tribes which favoured them, as appears from 1 Chron. 12. Thirdly, They had the encouragement of ſpecial Promiſes of God, made both to their Tribe, and to David. y i.e. Met the oppoſite Army, and put themſelves into a Poſture for Battel.

14 And Abner ſaid to Joab z, Let the young men now ariſe, and play a before us: and Joab ſaid, Let them ariſe.

z Abner truſting to his greater numbers, offers Battel. a i.e. Shew their Proweſs and Dexterity in managing their Weapons, and Fighting together. He ſpeaks like a vain-glorious and cruel Man, and a Soldier of Fortune, that eſteemed it a Sport to ſee Men wounding and killing one another. So this he deſigned, partly for their mutual Recreation, and trial of Skill and Valour; and partly, that by this occaſion they might be engaged in a Battel.

15 Then there aroſe and went over by number twelve of Benjamin b, which pertained to Iſhboſheth the ſon of Saul, and twelve of the ſervants of David.

b He ſelected all his Combatants out of that Tribe, both becauſe that was a warlike and valiant Tribe; and that he might give the more honour to his own Tribe.

16 And they caught every one his fellow by the head c, and thruſt his ſword in his fellows ſide; ſo they fell down together: Wherefore that place was called ‖ Helkath-hazzurim d, which is in Gibeon.

c By the Hair of the Head, which after their manner was of a conſiderable length, and therefore gave their Enemy advantage; which every one of them endeavoured to get, and to improve againſt the other. d Or, the field of Rocks; i.e. of Men who ſtood like Rocks unmovable, each one dying upon the Spot where he fought.

17 And there was a very ſore battel that day: and Abner was beaten, and the men of Iſrael, before the ſervants of David.

18 ¶ And there were three ſons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abiſhai, and Aſahel: and Aſahel was as light † of foot † as a wild roe.

19 And Aſahel purſued after Abner, and in going down he turned not to the right hand, nor to the left from † following Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and ſaid, Art thou Aſahel? And he anſwered, I am.

21 And Abner ſaid to him, Turn thee aſide to thy right hand, or to thy left, and lay thee hold on one of the young men, and take thee his ‖ armour e. But Aſahel would not turn aſide from following of him.

e If thou art ambitious to get a Trophy or Mark of thy Valour, deſiſt from me who am an old and experienced Captain, and go to ſome young and raw Soldier; try thy Skill upon him, and take away his Arms from him.

22 And Abner ſaid again to Aſahel, Turn thee aſide from following of me: Wherefore ſhould I ſmite thee to the ground? how then ſhould I hold my face to Joab thy brother f?

f He was loth to enrage Joab too much againſt him, becauſe his guilty Conſcience told him that his Cauſe was bad, and therefore he preſaged ill ſucceſs, and that he might need ſuch a Friend as Joab, to make his peace with David.

23 Howbeit, he refuſed to turn aſide: Wherefore Abner with the hinder end of the ſpear g, ſmote him * under the fifth rib h, that the ſpear came out behind him, and he fell down there, and died in the ſame place i: and it came to paſs, that as many as came to the place where Aſahel fell down and died, ſtood ſtill.

* Chap. 20. 10.

g Which was ſharp pointed after the manner. h The ſeat of the Liver and Bowels, where Wounds are mortal. i Upon the Spot, not being able to go one ſtep further.

24 Joab alſo and Abiſhai purſued after Abner: and the ſun went down when they were come to the hill of Ammah, that lieth before Giah, by the way of the wilderneſs of Gibeon.

25 ¶ And the children of Benjamin gathered themſelves together after Abner, and became one troop, and ſtood on the top of an hill k.

k Where, being upon the upper Ground, they might better defend themſelves.

26 Then Abner called to Joab, and ſaid, Shall the ſword devour for ever? Knoweſt thou not that it will be bitterneſs in the latter end l? How long ſhall it be then, ere thou bid the people return from following their brethren m?

l It will produce dreadful Effects, and many bloody Slaughters, if by a further proſecution thou makeſt them deſperate; which is againſt all the Rules of Policy. m By Nation and Religion: whom therefore they ſhould not purſue with ſo fierce a Rage, as if they were purſuing the Philiſtines.

27 And Joab ſaid, As God liveth, unleſs thou hadſt ſpoken n, ſurely then † in the morning, the people had ‖ gone up every one from following his brother.

n Unleſs thou hadſt made the motion that they might fight, v. 14. It was thou, not I, that gave the firſt occaſion of this Fight. Withal, he intimates, That Abner was the ſole cauſe of this War; and that if he had not given Commiſſion and Command, the War had never been undertaken, but all things had been ended by an amicable Agreement: which might have been made that very morning, if he had ſo pleaſed.

28 So Joab blew a trumpet, and all the people ſtood ſtill, and purſued after Iſrael no more, neither fought they any more o.

o Either, Firſt, At that time. Or rather, Secondly, In any pitch'd Battel.

29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the plain, and paſſed over Jordan, and went through all Bithron p, and they came to Mahanaim.

p Otherwiſe called, the Mountains of Bether, Cant. 2. 17. which were beyond Jordan. Or, ſome other Country, now not known by that name: which is the caſe of hundreds of places.

30 And Joab returned from following Abner: and when he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of Davids ſervants nineteen men, and Aſahel.

31 But the ſervants of David had ſmitten of Benjamin and of Abners men, ſo that three hundred and threeſcore men died.

32 ¶ And they took up Aſahel, and buried him in the ſepulchre of his father, which was in Bethlehem: and Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at break of day.

CHAP. III.

The war between the houſe of David and the houſe of Saul. Six ſons born to David in Hebron, 1,—5. Abner diſpleaſed with Iſhboſheth, 6,—11. Revolteth to David: who requireth of him that he bring with him Michal: which he does: and communes with the elders of Iſrael: is feaſted by David and diſmiſſed, 12,—21. Joab returning from battel is diſpleaſed with the king, and treacherouſly murthereth Abner, 22,—27. David curſeth Joab, 28,—30. Mourneth over Abner, 31,——39.

NOw there was long war a between the houſe of Saul, and the houſe of David: but David waxed ſtronger and ſtronger, and the houſe of Saul waxed weaker and weaker.

a For five Years longer: for it is probable that Iſhboſheth was made King preſently upon Saul's death, to give them countenance for their Rebellion againſt David; and the other Tribes did not ſubmit to David before ſeven Years were expired.

2 ¶ And * unto David were ſons born in Hebron: and his firſt-born was Ammon, of Ahinoam the Jezreeliteſs:

* 1 Chron. 3. 1.

3 And his ſecond Chileab b, of Abigail † the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: and the third Abſalom, the ſon of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai king of Geſhur c:

b Called alſo Daniel, 1 Chron. 3. 1. c A part of Syria, Northward from the Land of Iſrael, Deut. 3. 14. Joſ. 12. 5. See 2 Sam. 13. 37. and 14. 13. and 15. 8. Her he married, as it may ſeem, in Policy, that he might have a powerful Friend and Allie to aſſiſt him againſt Iſhboſheth's Party in the North, whilſt himſelf oppoſed him in the Southern parts. But he paid dear for making Piety give place to Policy herein, as the Hiſtory of Abſalom ſheweth. There were other Geſhurites Southward from Canaan, whom David invaded, 1 Sam. 27. 8. and it is not impoſſible but they were a Colony of thoſe in the North.

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the ſon of Haggith: and the fifth, Shephatiah the ſon of Abital:

5 And the ſixth, Ithream by Eglah Davids wife d: theſe were born to David in Hebron.

d This is added, either becauſe ſhe was of obſcure Parentage, and was known by no other Title but her relation to David: or, to diſtinguiſh her from ſome other Perſon of that name, who poſſibly might be of no good fame: or, becauſe this was his firſt and moſt proper Wife, beſt known by her other name of Michal, who, though ſhe had no Child by David after ſhe ſcoffed at him for dancing before the Ark, chap. 6. 23. yet might have one before that time. And ſhe might be named the laſt of theſe here, becauſe ſhe was given away from David, and married to another Man, when David took the other Wives, and therefore though ſhe had been firſt, yet now ſhe was become the laſt of them. Or, this Title, being put in the laſt place, may belong to all the reſt of the Women abovementioned, by a Figure called Zeugma, to diſtinguiſh them from his Concubines, 2 Sam. 5. 13. 1 Chron. 3. 9.

6 ¶ And it came to paſs while there was war between the houſe of Saul, and the houſe of David, that Abner made himſelf ſtrong for the houſe of Saul e.

e He uſed all his endeavours to ſupport Saul's Houſe. Which is mentioned, to ſhew the reaſon of his deep Reſentment of the following Aſperſion. Or, he ſtrengthned himſelf in the Houſe of Saul; i. e. he ſo managed all Affairs, as to get all the Riches and Power into his own hands: which made Iſhboſheth ſuſpect that he aimed at the Kingdom, and ſought to Marry the King's Concubine in order to it, as the manner was. See 2 Sam. 12. 8. and 16. 21. and 1 King. 1. 17.

7 And Saul had a concubine whoſe name was * Rizpah the daughter of Aiah: and Iſhboſheth ſaid to Abner, Wherefore haſt thou gone in unto my fathers concubine f.

* Chap. 21. 10.

f Either, Firſt, To ſatisfie thy own Luſt. Or rather, Secondly, By that pretence to take away my Crown firſt. For this was that which ſtirred up his Jealouſie and Rage, and cauſed him to ſpeak that to Abner which otherwiſe he neither would nor durſt. But whether Abner were guilty or no, it is not evident from the following words: for if it were true, great Men cannot endure to be told of their Faults, though they be true and great.

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Iſhboſheth, and ſaid, Am I a dogs head g, which againſt h Judah do ſhew kindneſs this day unto the houſe of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his friends, and have not delivered thee into the hand of David i, that thou chargeſt me to day with a fault concerning this woman k.

g i. e. A vile and contemptible Creature, as a Dog was. See Deut. 23. 18. 1 Sam. 24. 14. 2 Sam. 9. 8. and 16. 9. Job 30. 1. Eccleſ. 9. 4. And a Dogs head is put for a Dog by a Synecdoche, uſual both in the Hebrew and in other Languages, as the Head is oft put for the whole Man in the Latin Tongue. h So the Particle Lamed is well rendred, as el, which among the Hebrews is confeſſedly of the ſame nature and uſe; is uſed Eccleſ. 9. 14. Jer. 34. 7. Ezek. 13. 9, 20. Amos 7. 15. i Which I could oft and eaſily have done. k Either that thou accuſeſt me falſly concerning this matter: or, that thou canſt not wink at ſo ſmall a Fault (for ſo he eſteemed it) as Converſation with this Woman, who, whatſoever ſhe formerly was, is now ſo impotent and inconſiderable, that ſhe can do thee no ſervice, as I have done.

9 * So do God to Abner, and more alſo, except as the LORD hath ſworn to David l, even ſo I do to him:

* Ruth 1. 17.

l Whence it appears that this wicked Wretch did all this while fight againſt his own Knowledge and Conſcience, and againſt God himſelf.

10 To tranſlate the kingdom from the houſe of Saul, and to ſet up the throne of David over Iſrael, and over Judah, from Dan even to Beerſheba.

11 And he could not anſwer Abner a word again m, becauſe he feared him n.

m Becauſe he durſt not provoke Abner further, leſt he ſhould really execute what he ſuppoſed as yet he only threatned. n As having a greater Intereſt in, and power with both the Army and the reſt of the People, than himſelf had.

12 ¶ And Abner ſent meſſengers to David on his behalf o, ſaying, Whoſe is the land p? ſaying alſo, Make thy league with me q, and behold, my hand ſhall be with thee, to bring about all Iſrael unto thee.

o Who in his name and ſtead might treat with David concerning his Reconciliation with him. Thus God over-rules the Luſts and Paſſions of wicked Men, to accompliſh his own wiſe and holy Purpoſes. And who then dare contend with that God who makes even his Enemies to do his work, and deſtroy themſelves? p To whom doth this whole Land belong, but to thee? Is it not thine by Divine Right? Saul's Son is but an Uſurper, thou only art the rightful owner. q That thou wiltſt pardon all paſt Offences to me, and to all Iſrael, and thou wiltſt receive me into thy Grace and Favour.

13 ¶ And he ſaid, Well, I will make a league with thee r: but one thing I require of thee, † that is, Thou ſhalt not ſee my face, except thou firſt bring Michal Sauls daughter, when thou comeſt to ſee my face.

r To wit, upon thy terms: which, all Circumſtances conſidered, ſeems to be lawful, to prevent the great effuſion of Iſraelitiſh Blood, which otherwiſe would certainly have been ſpilt. And although the principle of this action of Abner's was baſe and wicked, yet the action it ſelf was Lawful and Commendable, and no more than his Duty to God and David obliged him to; and therefore David might well perſuade and induce him to it.

14 And David ſent meſſengers to Iſhboſheth Sauls ſon ſ, ſaying, Deliver me my wife Michal t, which I eſpouſed to me * for an hundred fore-skins of the Philiſtines.

* 1 Sam. 18. 25, 27.

ſ Whoſe Conſent was neceſſary, both to take her away from her preſent Husband, and to perſuade her to return to David. Hereby David opened to him alſo a door of hope for his Reconciliation, leſt being deſperate he ſhould hinder Abner in his preſent Deſign. t Who, though ſhe was taken from me by force, and conſtrained to marry another, 1 Sam. 25. 44. yet is indeed my rightful Wife. Her David demands, partly, for the affection he formerly had, and ſtill retained to her: partly, to deliver her from the Sin and Reproach of Adultery with another Man, who was not in truth and juſtice her Husband, though he was ſo called and accounted: and partly, upon a politick Conſideration, that ſhe might ſtrengthen his Right and Title to the Kingdom.

15 And Iſhboſheth ſent and took her from her husband u, even from * Phaltiel the ſon of Laiſh.

* 1 Sam. 25. 44. Phalti.

u For, being forſaken by Abner, he durſt not deny David, into whoſe Power he ſaw he muſt unavoidably come: and beſides, he ſuppoſed that ſhe might be an effectual Inſtrument to make his Peace with David.

16 And her husband went with her † along weeping behind her to Bahurim x: then ſaid Abner unto him, Go, return. And he returned.

x A City of Benjamin, upon the Borders of Judah. See 2 Sam. 19. 16. 1 King. 2. 8.

17 ¶ And Abner had communication with the elders of Iſrael, ſaying, Ye ſought for David † in times paſt to be king over you y.

† Heb. both yeſterday and the third day.

y Even in Saul's time you highly honoured him, and prized his Conduct, and wiſhed that the Power were in his hands; and great numbers of you went to him, when he was in the Hold, 1 Chron. 12. And after Saul's death you would gladly have advanced him to the Crown, if your reſpect to Saul's Family, together with my Authority and Influence, had not diverted you.

18 Now then do it z; for the LORD hath ſpoken of David a, ſaying, By the hand of my ſervant David, I will ſave my people Iſrael out of the hand of the Philiſtines, and out of the hand of all their enemies b.

z You ſhall have my free Conſent and utmoſt Aſſiſtance in procuring it. a He wickedly pretends Religion, when he intended nothing but the ſatisfaction of his own Pride, and Malice, and Fury againſt Iſhboſheth. b It is very probable God ſpake theſe words, but undoubtedly he ſpake the ſame ſenſe by Samuel, though it be not expreſſed before.

19 And Abner alſo ſpake in the ears of Benjamin c: and Abner went alſo to ſpeak in the ears of David in Hebron, all that ſeemed good to Iſrael, and that ſeemed good to the whole houſe of Benjamin.

c To theſe he particularly applies himſelf, becauſe they might be thought moſt kind to Saul and his Houſe, and moſt loth to let the Kingdom go out of their own Tribe; and therefore it was neceſſary that he ſhould uſe all his Art and Power with them, to perſuade them to a compliance with his Deſign; and beſides, they were a valiant Tribe, and bordering upon Judah, and ſituate between them and the other Tribes; and therefore the winning of them, would be of mighty concernment to bring in all the reſt.

20 So Abner came to David to Hebron, and twenty men with him: and David made Abner, and the men that were with him, a feaſt d.

d Which in thoſe times was cuſtomary when Perſons entred into Covenant. See Gen. 26. 30. and 31. 44, 46.

21 And Abner ſaid unto David, I will ariſe, and go, and will gather all Iſrael e unto my lord the king, that they may make a league with thee, and that thou mayeſt reign over all that thy heart deſireth. And David ſent Abner away, and he went in peace.

e i. e. The Elders and Chieftains of all Iſrael, Repreſenting and Ruling all the reſt.

22 ¶ And behold, the ſervants of David, and Joab, came from purſuing a troop f, and brought in a great ſpoil with them: (but Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had ſent him away, and he was gone in peace.)

f Of Robbers, either Philiſtines, or Edomites, or ſome others, who taking advantage of the Diſcord between the Houſes of Saul and David, made inroads into Judah, as they had occaſion.

23 When Joab and all the hoſt that was with him, were come, they told Joab, ſaying, Abner the ſon of Ner came to the king, and he hath ſent him away, and he is gone in peace.

24 Then Joab came to the king, and ſaid, What haſt thou done g? behold, Abner came unto thee: why is it that thou haſt ſent him away, and he is quite gone?

g Thou haſt committed a great over-ſight, to diſmiſs ſo dangerous and miſchievous a Perſon, when he was in thy hands.

25 Thou knoweſt Abner the ſon of Ner, that he came to deceive thee, and to know thy going out, and thy coming in h, and to know all that thou doſt.

h To ſearch out thy Counſels and ſecret Deſigns, and to make uſe of them againſt thee.

26 And when Joab was come out from David, he ſent meſſengers after Abner i, which brought him again from the well of Sirah: but David knew it not.

i In the King's Name, and upon pretence of ſome further Communication with him.

27 And when Abner was returned to Hebron, Joab * took him aſide in the gate k, to ſpeak with him || quietly l: and ſmote him there under the fifth rib m, that he died, for the blood of * Aſahel his brother n.

* 1 King. 2. 5.
|| Or, peaceably.
* Chap. 2. 23.

k In the entrance into the City before he came to the King; and in the place where Conferences uſed to be. l With appearance of great Civility and Kindneſs. Or, ſecretly, as having ſome matter of great importance to utter, which none but himſelf muſt hear. m As he did Aſahel, chap. 2. 23. n To revenge the death of Aſahel; and withal (though that be not here mentioned) to ſecure his own ſtanding, and rid his hands of ſo great and powerful a Competitor. And this was Joab's Deſign; but God had other Deſigns in it, both to puniſh Abner's manifold Wickedneſs, and particularly his Rebellion againſt David, and againſt God and his own Conſcience therein: and that David might not owe his Kingdom to Abner, and to his Revenge and Treachery, but wholly to God's wiſe and powerful Providence.

28 ¶ And afterward when David heard it, he ſaid o, I and my kingdom are guiltleſs before the LORD p for ever, from the † blood of Abner the ſon of Ner:

o Publickly before his Courtiers and People; and ſeriouſly as in God's preſence. p I call the Lord to Witneſs, that this was not done by my Inſtigation or Authority, or by any publick Counſel, but only by Joab's Malice; and therefore I truſt that God will not puniſh me nor my Kingdom, but Joab only.

29 Let it q reſt on the head of Joab, and on all his fathers houſe r, and let there not † fail from the houſe of Joab one that hath an iſſue ſ, or that is a leper, or that leaneth on a ſtaff t, or that falleth on the ſword, or that lacketh bread.

q i. e. This Blood, the guilt and puniſhment of it. r But Children were not to ſuffer for their Parents ſin, Deut. 24. 16. And therefore either this was only a Prediction; or, if it were an Imprecation, David may ſeem to have tranſgreſſed his Bounds, and mingled his Paſſion with his Zeal, that ſo he might expreſs his utter deteſtation of this horrid Murder, and how far he was from having any hand in it. ſ Which was not only a troubleſome and ſhameful Diſeaſe, but alſo infectious, both to him that had it, and to all that touched him: ſo that, whilſt it was upon a Man, he was cut off in a great part from Converſe either with God or Men. t Through crazineſs, or feebleneſs, or lameneſs, whereby he is rendred unfit for Action and publick Service.

30 So Joab and Abiſhai u his brother ſlew Abner, becauſe he had ſlain their brother * Aſahel at Gibeon in the battel x.

* Chap. 2. 23.

u For though Joab only committed the Murder, yet Abiſhai was guilty of it, becauſe it was done with his Conſent, and Counſel, and Help, and Approbation: for by theſe and ſuch like actions Men are involved in the guilt of other mens Sins, at leaſt in God's Judgment. x Which he did in the fury of Battel, and for his own neceſſary defence; and therefore it was no juſtification of this unneceſſary and treacherous Murder in a time of Peace.

31 ¶ And David ſaid to Joab y, and to all the people that were with him, * Rent your clothes, and gird you with ſackcloth, and mourn before Abner z. And king David himſelf followed the † bier a.

* Joſh. 7. 6.

y Him he eſpecially obliged to it; partly, to bring him to Repentance for his Sin: partly, to expoſe him to publick ſhame, and to the contempt and hatred of all the People, with whom he had too great an Intereſt, which hereby David deſigned to diminiſh. z i. e. Attending upon his Corps, and paying him that Reſpect and Honour which was due to his Quality. a Which was againſt the uſage of Kings, and might ſeem below David's Dignity; but it was now expedient to vindicate himſelf from all ſuſpicion and contrivance or concurrence in this Action.

32 And they buried Abner in Hebron, and the king lift up his voice, and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented over Abner, and ſaid, Died Abner as † a fool dieth b?

† Heb. Nabal. So Gr.

b i. e. As a wicked Man, for ſuch are oft called Fools in Scripture. Was he cut off by the hands of Juſtice for his Crimes? Nothing leſs; but by Joab's Malice and Treachery. Or, did he die by his own Folly, becauſe he had not Wiſdom or Courage to defend himſelf? Ah no. The words may be thus rendred: ſhall or ſhould Abner die like a Fool, or a vile contemptible Perſon? i. e. unregarded, unpitied, unrevenged; as Fools or vile Perſons die, for whoſe death none are concerned. Or, How is Abner dead like a Fool! pitying his miſchance. It being honourable for a great Man and a Soldier to fight, if met with by an Enemy, and not (having his Arms at liberty) ſtand ſtill like a Fool to be killed, without making any reſiſtance or defence; which, by this treachery of Joab, happened to be his caſe.

34 Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet put into fetters c: as a man falleth before † wicked men d, ſo felleſt thou. And all the people wept again over him.

c Thou didſt not tamely yield up thy ſelf to Joab, as his Priſoner, to be bound hand and foot at his pleaſure. Joab did not overcome thee generouſly and honourably in an equal Combat, nor durſt he attempt thee in that way, as a General or Soldier of any worth would have done. d Or, before; i. e. in the preſence, or by the hands of froward, or perverſe, or crooked men, by Hypocriſie and Perfidiouſneſs, whereby the vileſt Coward may kill the moſt valiant Perſon. Thus he reproached Joab to his very Face, before all the People: which was a great Evidence of his own Innocency herein; becauſe otherwiſe Joab, being ſo powerful, and proud, and petulant to his Sovereign, would never have taken the ſhame and blame of it wholly to himſelf, as he did.

35 And when all the people came to cauſe David to eat meat e, while it was yet day, David ſware, ſaying, So do God to me, and more alſo, if I taſte bread, or ought elſe, till the ſun be down e.

d To refreſh and chear up his depreſſed Spirits; as they uſed to do at Funerals. See Jer. 16. 5. Ezek. 24. 17. e i. e. Till Evening, for then Faſting Days ended of courſe.

36 And all the people took notice of it f, and it † pleaſed them g: as whatſoever the king did h pleaſed all the people.

f Obſerved what the King ſaid and did. g They were ſatisfied concerning David's Integrity, and the method he uſed here for his own juſt Vindication. h Either in this matter: or rather, in all things following this Action. The meaning is, By his carriage herein he gained ſo great an Intereſt in the hearts of his People, that they judged moſt favourably of, and put the beſt conſtruction upon all his words and actions; as, on the contrary, when People have a prejudice againſt, or an ill will towards their Prince, they are apt to judge moſt harſhly of all his Counſels and Doings.

37 For all the people, and all Iſrael underſtood that day, that it was not of the king h to ſlay Abner the ſon of Ner.

h Not done by his deſign or good will.

38 And the king ſaid unto his ſervants, Know ye not that there is a prince, and a great man i fallen this day in Iſrael?

i Both for his illuſtrious Quality, and for his high Courage and wiſe Conduct; and eſpecially, now for his great uſefulneſs and ſerviceableneſs to me in giving me the intire and peaceable Poſſeſſion of all Iſrael. But ſtill obſerve David's Prudence and Piety, that he doth not commend him for his Vertues and Graces, as Men of vendible Conſciences and Tongues uſe to do upon Funeral-occaſions; but only for that kind of worth which was really in him. Compare 2 Sam. 1. 23.

39 And I am this day † weak k, though anointed king; and theſe men the ſons of Zeruiah l be * too hard for me m: * the LORD ſhall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedneſs.

k Or, tender, in the infancy of my Kingdom, not well rooted and ſettled in it. The Metaphor is taken from a young and tender Child or Plant. l Joab and Abiſhai, the Sons of my Siſter Zeruiah. m i. e. Too powerful. They have ſo great a Command over all the Soldiers, and ſo great Favour with the People, that I cannot Puniſh them without apparent hazard to my Perſon and Kingdom; eſpecially, now when all the Tribes, except Judah, are yet in a ſtate of Oppoſition againſt me. But this, although it might give ſome colour to the delay of their Puniſhment for a ſeaſon, yet it may ſeem to have been one of David's Infirmities, that he did not do it within ſome reaſonable time, both becauſe this Indulgence proceeded from a diſtruſt of God's Power and Faithfulneſs; as if God could not, or would not make good his Promiſe of the Kingdom to him, without, and againſt Joab and all his Confederates; and becauſe it was contrary to God's Law, which ſeverely requires the Puniſhment of wilful Murderers, Gen. 9. 6. Exod. 21. 14. Numb. 35. 21. which David had no power to diſpence with. And David might, and ſhould have remembred, how dear Saul paid for this very thing, that he diſpenſed with God's Command, and ſpared thoſe whom God commanded him to ſlay, 1 Sam. 15. And it ſeems David's Conſcience oft ſmote him for this: which made him watch for a fit opportunity to remove, and then puniſh him, and having neglected it till death, he declareth his Sorrow for that neglect, by giving Solomon a charge to execute it after his death, 1 King. 2. 5, 6, 34.

2 And Sauls ſon had two men that were captains of bands, the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the † other Rechab, the ſons of Rimmon, a Beerothite, of the children of Benjamin c: (for Beeroth alſo was reckoned to Benjamin d; c Of Iſhboſheth's own Tribe, whom therefore he truſted the more; and this gave them opportunity to execute their wicked deſign. d This is added as the reaſon why he called them Beerothites, becauſe though Beeroth was now in the Hands and Poſſeſſion of the Philiſtines, 1 Sam. 31. 7. yet of right it belonged to the Benjamites, Joſh. 18. 25.

3 And e the Beerothites fled to Gittaim, and were ſojourners there until this day.)

e Or, Yet, or But. For this comes in to anticipate an Objection againſt what he had now ſaid. It is true, ſaith he, the Beerothites fled, as others did, upon the overthrow of Saul and his Army, 1 Sam. 31. 7. to a place called Gittaim, 2 Sam. 4. 3. not that in Benjamin, Nehem. 11. 33. but ſome other place of that name more remote from the Philiſtines, and ſo they were Gittaimites by their preſent Habitation; but Beerothites by their Original, and place of their Birth.

4 And Jonathan Sauls ſon had a ſon that was lame of his feet f, and was five years old when the tidings came of † Saul and Jonathan out of Jezreel g, and his nurſe took him up, and fled, and it came to paſs as ſhe made haſte to flee, that he fell, and became lame; and his name was || Mephiboſheth h.

f This Hiſtory is inſerted as that which encouraged theſe Men to this wicked Murder, becauſe Saul's Family was now reduced to a low ebb; and if Iſhboſheth was diſpatched, there would be none left, but a lame Child, who was altogether unfit to manage the Kingdom, eſpecially in ſo troubleſome a time as this was; and therefore the Crown muſt neceſſarily come to David by their act and deed; for which they promiſed themſelves no ſmall recompence. g The place of that laſt and fatal Fight, 1 Sam. 29. 11. h Called alſo Merib-baal, 1 Chron. 8. 34. See the Notes on chap. 2. 8.

5 And the ſons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went and came about the heat of the day to the houſe of Iſhboſheth, who lay on a bed at noon i.

i Either, from diſcontent of Mind, as Ahab did, 1 King. 21. 4. or from ſloth and ſenſuality, as David ſeems to have done, chap. 11. 2.

6 And they came thither into the midſt of the houſe k, as though they would have fetched wheat l; and they ſmote him under the fifth rib; and Rechab and Baanah his brother eſcaped m.

k Or, into the houſe: for the midſt is not always taken exactly, and Mathematically, but for any part within, as Gen. 48. 16. Exod. 8. 22. Joſh. 3. 17. l Which was laid up in publick Granaries in the King's Houſe, and was fetched thence by the Captains and Commanders of the Army for the Pay of their Soldiers, who, in thoſe ancient Times were not paid in Money, but in Corn, as is well known. Upon this Pretence they were admitted into the Houſe, and ſo went from Room to Room, to the place where the King lay. m Which was not difficult to do, when the King was left alone, either becauſe he deſired to compoſe himſelf to reſt or ſleep: or, becauſe his Guards, if he had any, were very ſmall, and negligent, now at leaſt, in his declining and forlorn Condition.

7 For when they came into the houſe, he lay on his bed in his bed-chamber: and they ſmote him, and ſlew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plain n all night.

n i. e. In the way from Mahanaim to Hebron; which for the moſt part was a plain Country.

8 And they brought the head of Iſhboſheth unto David to Hebron, and ſaid to the king, Behold, the head of Iſhboſheth the ſon of Saul, thine enemy, which ſought thy life o; and the LORD hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and of his ſeed p.

o i. e. To deſtroy it, or take it away; as this Phraſe is uſed, 1 Sam. 20. 1. and 23. 15. and elſewhere. p They thought their Action not only blameleſs, but Meritorious; becauſe they had but executed Juſtice upon Saul's Houſe, and David's Enemies, and made way for David's obtaining of his Rights. It may ſeem ſtrange, they were not diſcouraged by David's puniſhing of the Amalekite for killing Saul, 2 Sam. 1. and by his ſharp Reproof of Joab for Murdering Abner; but they thought the firſt Caſe much differing from theirs, becauſe Saul was anointed King by God: whereas Iſhboſheth was not, but was a meer Uſurper: and for the latter, they thought that David's ſharp words proceeded rather from Art and Policy, than from any real diſlike of the thing; which they judged, becauſe David contented himſelf with words, and Joab did not only go unpuniſhed, but continued in his former Place and Power.

9 ¶ And David anſwered Rechab, and Baanah his brother, the ſons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and ſaid unto them, As the LORD liveth, who hath redeemed my ſoul out of all adverſity q.

q Who hath hitherto delivered, and will deliver me from all mine Enemies. So that I needed not your wicked help in this way.

* Chap. 1. 4, 15. † Heb. he was in his own eyes as a bringer, &c. || Or, which was the wound I gave him for his tidings: or, to whom I was to give a reward for his tidings, ſo Gr.

CHAP. V.

The tribes come to Hebron to anoint David king over all Iſrael: the years of his reign at Hebron and Jeruſalem: his age, 1,—5. He taketh the ſtrong hold of Zion from the Jebuſites and dwelleth there, 6,—10. Hiram maketh a league with David, and ſendeth wood and work-men to build an houſe, 11, 12. He taketh more wives, and eleven ſons are born to him at Jeruſalem, 13,—16. David directed by God ſmiteth the Philiſtines at Baal-Perazim, 17,—21. And again at the Mulberry-trees, 22,—25.

* 1 Chron. 11. 1.

THen * came all the tribes of Iſrael a to David unto Hebron, and ſpake, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bone, and thy fleſh b.

a To wit, by their Ambaſſadors, Iſhboſheth and Abner being now dead; and that without David's concurrence. b i. e. Thy Brethren, or Kinſmen, of the ſame Nation and Parentage, though not of the ſame Tribe; and therefore, as God's Law, Deut. 17. 15. permits us, ſo our own relation and affection inclines us to chuſe thee for our King; and we doubt not thou wilt receive us for thy Subjects and People, and Pardon our Offences againſt thee.

* 1 Sam. 18. 13. * Pſal. 78. 71.

2 Alſo in time paſt, when Saul was king over us, * thou waſt he that leddeſt out, and broughteſt in Iſrael c: and the LORD ſaid to thee d, * Thou ſhalt feed my people Iſrael e, and thou ſhalt be a captain over Iſrael.

c Thou waſt our chief Commander in our Expeditions againſt the Philiſtines, and therefore art moſt fit to be King over us. d To wit, by Samuel, 1 Sam. 16. 11, 12, 13 for though the words vary, yet the ſence is the ſame. e i. e. Rule them, and take care of them, as a Shepherd doth of his Sheep, Pſal. 78. 70, 71. This Expreſſion he uſeth to admoniſh David, that he was not made a King to advance his own Glory and Intereſt, but for the good and benefit of his People; and that he ought to Rule them with all tenderneſs, and to watch over them with all diligence.

3 So all the elders of Iſrael came to the king to Hebron, and king David made a league with them f in Hebron before the LORD g: and they anointed David h king over Iſrael.

f Whereby David obliged himſelf to rule them according to God's Laws; and the People promiſed Fidelity and Obedience to him. g Either, 1. Before the Ark, which might be here, though that be not mentioned in this place. Or, 2. Before the Prieſt clothed with the Ephod; whereby he was in a manner put into God's Preſence. Or rather, 3. In the congregation of the mighty, or Magiſtrates, where God uſed to be preſent, Pſal. 82. 1. in the Publick Aſſembly now met together in God's name and fear, and as in his Preſence to call upon him, to appeal to him as the Witneſs and Judge of their Tranſactions. 6 ¶ And the king and his men went k to Jeruſalem l unto the Jebuſites m, the inhabitants of the land, which ſpake unto David, ſaying, ‖ Except thou take away the blind and the lame, thou ſhalt not come in hither n: ‖ thinking, David cannot come in hither o.

k Having the advantage of ſo great a confluence of his People to make him King, he thought fit to begin his Reign with ſome eminent Action, and to lead them forth in this Expedition. Wherein doubtleſs he asked Advice from God, and the conſent of the Elders now preſent. l As the place which God had deſigned for his Worſhip; and in the center and heart of his Kingdom, and therefore fitteſt for his Royal City. m Who continued to dwell there in ſpight of the Benjamites, to whoſe lot it fell. By the blind and the lame they underſtand, either, 1. Their own People; and ſo they imply, that the Place was ſo Impregnable, that a few blind and lame Men were able to defend it againſt all David's Aſſaults. And theſe may be called, and were the hated of David's ſoul, v. 8. Not becauſe they were Blind and Lame, but becauſe they were Jebuſites, a People hated and accurſed by God: and the Jebuſites of this place were more hateful to him, than the reſt of that Nation; partly, becauſe they poſſeſſed this Place, which David knew was deſigned for the one and only place of God's ſolemn Worſhip; and partly, becauſe they did ſo wickedly and inſolently defie the Armies of Iſrael, and conſequently, the God of Iſrael. Or 2. Their gods or images; which, after the manner of the Heathens, they Worſhipped as their tutelary gods, and placed in their Gates or Walls. Theſe they call blind and lame ſarcaſtically, and with reſpect to David's Opinion; as if they ſaid, Theſe gods of ours, whom you Iſraelites Reproach, as Blind and Lame, Pſal. 115. 5, 6. and ſo unable to direct and protect us, they will defend us againſt you; and you will find, they are neither Blind nor Lame, but have Eyes to watch for us, and Hands to fight againſt you; and you muſt Conquer them before you can take our City. And theſe may well be called, the hated of David's ſoul. But I preferr the former ſence, as being moſt eaſie, and natural, and proper; whereas, the latter is Metaphorical, and ſeems doubtful and forced. o Concluding their Fort to be Impregnable.

7 Neverthеleſs, David took the ſtrong hold of Zion o: the ſame is † the city of David.

o Either, 1. A very ſtrong Fort which they had built upon Mount Sion; which being taken, the City quickly yielded. Or, 2. The City of Zion, which was very ſtrongly Fortified.

8 And David ſaid on that day, Whoſoever getteth up to the gutter p, and ſmiteth the Jebuſites, and the lame, and the blind q, that are hated of David's ſoul r, * he ſhall be chief and captain s: ‖ wherefore they ſaid, The blind and the lame ſhall not come into the houſe t.

* 1 Chron. 11. 6.
‖ Or, becauſe they had ſaid, even the blind and the lame, he ſhall not come into the houſe.

p i. e. Whoſoever ſcaleth the Fort, or getteth up to the top of it, where the Gutter was. q Or even, or eſpecially (for the Hebrew Particle Vau, ſignifies both ways) the lame and the blind: i. e. Thoſe of them who are ſet to defend that Place; who, as they pretend, ſhould be only the Lame and the Blind. Others underſtand it, of their Idols, or Images. But they could not properly be ſaid to be ſmitten, i. e. Killed; as that Word is uſed here, and elſewhere. r This belongs to the Jebuſite, and the lame and the blind; and it is explained in v. 6. s Theſe words are fitly ſupplied out of 1 Chron. 11. 6. where they are expreſſed; and they muſt needs be underſtood to make the ſence compleat. And ſuch Ellipſes or Defects of a part of the Sentence, are uſual in Promiſes and Oaths, and Conditional Offers, ſuch as this was. t i. e. Whence it became a Proverb, or a common ſaying, uſed by David, and others, upon this occaſion: or otherwiſe, The blind and the lame Jebuſites were ſet to keep the Houſe, i. e. The Fort of Zion; and to keep others from coming into it; but now they are ſhut out of it, and none of them, to wit, either, 1. Of the Jebuſites; or, 2. Of blind and lame Perſons, ſhall be admitted to come into it again. Which David might reſolve, and ordain, to keep up the memory of this great Exploit, and of the Inſolent Carriage of the Jebuſites, and their unhappy Succeſs. Or, the blind and the lame ſhall not come into my houſe: to wit, Into the King's Palace. And although this might be a general Rule and Decree of David's, yet he might diſpenſe with it in ſome ſpecial caſes, as in that of Mephiboſheth. But it is not neceſſary, that this ſhould be a Proverb; for the Words may be thus rendred, as it is in the Margent of our Bible, becauſe they had ſaid, even the blind and the lame, he (i. e. David) ſhall not come into the houſe: or, becauſe they (i. e. the Jubuſites) had ſaid, the blind and the lame ſhall hinder him; (which words are eaſily ſupplied out of v. 6. where having ſpoken of this more largely, it was ſufficient here to mention the moſt emphatical Words, as is uſual in ſuch caſes;) He ſhall not come into the houſe, or hither; as they ſay, v. 6. i. e. Into the Fort: for the Word houſe is uſed very largely and generally in the Hebrew Language, for any place; as Judg. 16. 21.

9 So David dwelt in the fort, and called it, The city of David: and David built round about from Millo u, and inward.

12 And David perceived a, that the LORD had eſtabliſhed him king over Iſrael, and that he had exalted his kingdom for his people Iſraels ſake.

a By reflecting upon the Promiſes which God had made him, and the conſtant courſe of God's Providence favouring him.

13 ¶ And * David took him moe concubines and wives b out of Jeruſalem, after he was come from Hebron, and there were yet ſons and daughters born to David.

* 1 Chron. 3. 9. and 14. 3.

b This may well be reckon'd amongſt David's Miſcarriages, the multiplication of Wives being expreſly forbidden to the King, Deut. 17. 17. The uſe of it ſeems to have been his Policy, that hereby he might enlarge his Family, and ſtrengthen his Intereſt by Alliances with ſo many conſiderable Families. And the number of Wives being not limited, Deut. 17. he might conceive this was no Tranſgreſſion of that Law.

17 ¶ * But when the Philiſtines heard that they had anointed David king over Iſrael c, all the Philiſtines came up to ſeek David d, and David heard of it, and went down to the hold e.

* 1 Chron. 11. 16. and 14. 8.

c Whilſt the Civil War laſted between the Houſes of Saul and David, they wiſely forbore all Hoſtilities, and left them to tear out one anothers Bowels, that afterwards they might make a more eaſie Conqueſt of both. But that being ended, and all united under David, they beſtir themſelves. d To find him out, and fight againſt him, and cut him off now in the Infancy of his Kingdom. Whereby they give David a juſt occaſion to fight againſt them for his own neceſſary Defence, and acquit him from any note of Ingratitude, in oppoſing them who had formerly exerciſed kindneſs and hoſpitality to him. Though indeed David's Obligations were in a manner wholly to Achiſh, who ſeems to be dead at this time, there being no mention of him. e To ſome fortified place to which his People might conveniently reſort from all places, and where he might intrench his Army, and which lay towards the Philiſtines.

18 The Philiſtines alſo came and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim f.

f Or, of the Giants: which lay Weſtward from Jeruſalem, and ſo was the ready way to Jeruſalem, which it ſeems they deſigned to take.

19 And David enquired of the LORD, ſaying, Shall I go up to the Philiſtines? wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? and the LORD ſaid unto David, Go up: for I will doubtleſs deliver the Philiſtines into thine hand.

20 And David came to * Baal-perazim g, and David ſmote them there, and ſaid, The LORD hath broken forth upon mine enemies before me, as the breach of waters h. Therefore he called the name of that place ‖ Baal-perazim.

22 And the Philiſtines came up yet again l, and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim.

k Doubtleſs with greater Force, as thoſe that ſaw their All lay at ſtake.

23 And when David enquired of the LORD, he ſaid, Thou ſhalt not go up m: but fetch a compaſs behind them, and come upon them over againſt the mulbery-trees n.

m To wit, directly againſt them, as the following words explain it. n Where they leaſt expect thee; God's Purpoſes and Promiſes do not exclude Mens juſt endeavours, but require them.

24 And let it be when thou heareſt the ſound of a going o in the tops of the mulbery-trees, that then thou ſhalt beſtir thy ſelf p: for then ſhall the LORD go out before thee, to ſmite the hoſt of the Philiſtines.

o A noiſe as it were of Perſons walking upon the tops of them, which I ſhall cauſe; and by this ſign, both thou ſhalt be aſſured that I am coming to help thee; and the Philiſtines ſhall be affrighted and amuſed, and not perceive the noiſe of thy Army, until thou art upon them. p Do thou fall upon them.

25 And David did ſo, as the LORD had commanded him, and ſmote the Philiſtines from Geba, until thou come to Gazer q.

q They followed their Victory, and purſued them to their own Borders, in which Gazer was, as Joſephus relates.

CHAP. VI.

David fetcheth the Ark with much People, and great joy out of the Houſe of Abinadab, 1,——5. Uzza laying hold of the Ark is ſlain of God: David is grieved: Carries the Ark into the Houſe of Obed-Edom, whom God bleſſeth for its ſake, 6,——11. David bringeth the Ark into Zion with Sacrifices: Danceth before it: For which Michal deſpiſeth him, 12,——16. They place it in a Tabernacle: He offereth to God: Bleſſeth the People: Giveth them Preſents, 17,——19. Michal reproving David: He anſwereth her: She is Childleſs to her Death, 20,——23.

AGain David gathered together all the choſen men of Iſrael a, thirty thouſand.

a The ſtouteſt, and valianteſt Men in his Army and Land; leſt the Philiſtines ſhould attempt to diſturb them in this work.

2 And * David aroſe, and went with all the people that were with him b, from Baale of Judah c, to bring up from thence the ark of God d, || whoſe name is called by the name of the LORD of hoſts e, that dwelleth between the cherubims. * 1 Chron. 13. 5, 6. || Or, on which the name, even the name of the LORD of hoſts was called upon.

b With the whole body of the People: for theſe ſeem to be a differing Party from the 30000 now mentioned. See 1 Chron. 13. 1, 2. c Qu. How from it, when they went to it; as is evident, both from 1 Chron. 13. 6. and becauſe the Ark was there, and to be fetched thence? Anſw. Some affirm, That the Hebrew Prepoſition Mem, ſometimes ſignifies to, as Gen. 13. 11. But there is no need of that: for, 1 Chron. 13. 6. mentions their going to Baalah; and this place mentions their going from it; and the one of theſe doth manifeſtly ſuppoſe the other: for they went thither, that they might return thence. So the ſence is plain, They went from Baaleh of Judah, to bring (or rather to carry; for the Word ſignifies either) up from thence the ark. Whereby it is ſuppoſed, that they firſt went thither, which is related 1 Chron. 13 6. Moreover, this place is commonly called Kiriath jearim, 1 Sam. 7. 1. and 1 Chron. 13. 5. and formerly, Kiriath-baal, Joſh. 15. 60. and Baalah, Joſh. 15. 9. and here Baale of Judah, ſo called, becauſe it was in the Tribe of Judah, as is evident from Joſh. 15. 1, &c. d Unto Jeruſalem, which, in many reſpects, was fitter for it than Baalah; becauſe this was a more Publick place, where it would be more obſerved and regarded; and in the Center of the Kingdom, to which they might more eaſily come from all Parts; and the Royal City, where it might be always at hand for David to enquire at, as occaſion required; and the place which God had allotted for it. e Thus whoſe, belongs not to the Ark, but to God: for what follows is not the name of the Ark, but of God. The place may well be, and is by ſome rendred thus, Upon (or At, or Beſide, or Before,) which (Ark) the name, even the name of the Lord of hoſts, that dwelleth between the Cherubims is called upon: i. e. By, or before which, they were to preſent their Prayers to God for Counſel and Succour upon all occaſions. And this is mentioned here as the reaſon why David put himſelf and his People to ſo great trouble and charge, becauſe it was to fetch up the choiceſt Treaſure which they had, and ſo the benefit would abundantly recompenſe the inconvenience.

3 And they † ſet the ark of God * upon a new cart f, and brought it out of the houſe of Abinadab that was in || Gibeah g: and Uzzah and || Ahio the ſons of Abinadab h, drave the new cart. † Heb. made to ride. * See 1 Sam 6 7. || Or, the hill. || Or, his brother. So Gr.

f Being taught, and encouraged to do ſo, by the Example of the Philiſtines, who did ſo without any token of God's diſpleaſure upon them for ſo doing. But they did not ſufficiently conſider, that God might wink at the Philiſtines, becauſe they were ignorant of God's Laws; and yet be angry with them for the ſame thing, becauſe they knew, or might, and ſhould have known the Law of God, which commanded the Prieſts to bear it upon their Shoulders, Numb. 4. 14, 15. and 7. 9. But their preſent tranſports of Joy at the happy change of their Affairs, and their greedy deſire of having the Ark removed, made them haſty and inconſiderate. g Or, on the hill, as 1 Sam. 7. 1. h For Abinadab himſelf ſeems now to have been dead; or at leaſt, detained at home through infirmity or indiſpenſable occaſions.

4 And they brought it out of * the houſe of Abinadab which was at Gibeah, † accompanying the ark of God, and Ahio went before the ark i. * 1 Sam. 7. 1. † Heb. with.

i To lead the Oxen that drew it.

5 And David and all the houſe of Iſrael played before the LORD, on all manner of inſtruments made of fir-wood, even on harps, and on pſalteries, and on timbrels, and on cornets, and on cymbals.

6 ¶ And * when they came to Nachons k threſhing-floor, Uzzah * put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it, for the oxen || ſhook it l. * 1 Chron. 13. 9. * See Num. 4. 15. || Or, ſtumbled, or, threw it down; 2 Kings 9. 33.

k Otherwiſe called Chidon, 1 Chron. 13. 9. l For they ſtumbled, 1 Chron. 13. 9.

7 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Uzzah, and God ſmote him m there for his || error n, and there he died o by the ark of God. || Or, raſhneſs.

m With ſome deadly Diſeaſe or Stroke, as it follows. n Either, 1. For his touching the Ark, when he was no Levite, as Joſephus reports; nor indeed was Kiriath jearim a Levitical City: or, that being but a Levite, he touched the bare Ark, which only the Prieſts might do, Numb. 5. 15. and 18. 3. And though the Ark was ordinarily covered, yet it is not impoſſible but the covering might be either looſe, and ſo blown aſide by the Wind; or worn out, and ſo he might touch the Ark it ſelf. Or, 2. Becauſe he put the Ark into a Cart, and thereby expoſed it to the danger of falling, which would have been a great diſcouragement to the Iſraelites, and a reproach to the Ark. And though Ahio alſo might have an hand in putting it into the Cart, yet Uzzah only is ſmitten; either, becauſe he was the Elder Brother, and the Perſon to whoſe care the Ark was more eſpecially committed; or, becauſe he was the chief Author of this Counſel of putting it into a Cart; or, becauſe he added a new fault of touching the Ark, and that out of diſtruſt of God's care over it. o This may ſeem very ſevere, conſidering that his Intention was Pious, and his Tranſgreſſion not great. But, beſides that, Men are very improper Judges of the Actions of God; and that God's Judgments are always juſt, though ſometimes obſcure: There are many things to be ſaid of this, and ſuch like caſes. 1. That it is fit and reaſonable, that God ſhould make ſome Perſons Examples of his juſt and high Diſpleaſure againſt Sins, ſeemingly ſmall; partly, for the demonſtration of his own exact and impartial Holineſs; partly, for the eſtabliſhment of Diſcipline, (for which very reaſon, even Earthly Princes have oft-times Inflicted great Puniſhments for ſmall Offences;) and for the greater Terror and Caution of Mankind, who are very prone to have ſlight thoughts of Sin, and to give way to ſmall Sins, and thereby to be led on to greater; all which is, or may be prevented by ſuch inſtances of Severity: and conſequently, there is more of God's Mercy, than of his Juſtice, in ſuch Actions, becauſe the Juſtice is confined to one particular perſon, but the Mercy and Benefit of it publick and common to Mankind of that, and all future Ages. 2. That God is juſtly moſt ſevere in thoſe things which immediately concern his Worſhip and Service; and againſt thoſe perſons who have the neareſt Relation to him, and the greateſt opportunities of Knowing, and the higheſt obligations of careful Practiſing thoſe Duties which they neglect: See Levit. 10. 3. 3. That this Puniſhment poſſibly was not ſo great as it may ſeem to be; for as for his Body, the Diſeaſe, though dangerous, might not be exceedingly painful; and for his Soul, the ſtroke probably was not ſo ſudden, as not to give him ſpace of Repentance.

8 And David was diſpleaſed p, becauſe the LORD had † made a breach upon Uzzah: And he called the name of the place || Perez Uzzah to this day. † Heb. had broken. || That is, the breach of Uzzah.

p Or, grieved, both for the ſin, which he acknowledgeth, 1 Chron. 15. 2, 13. and for God's heavy Judgment; whereby their hopes were daſhed, and their joys interrupted, and a good Subject ſtruck dead for the circumſtantial error of a Pious Mind, which he might poſſibly think harſh and very ſevere, and therefore be diſpleaſed or offended at this ſharp Providence.

9 And David was afraid of the LORD q that day, and ſaid, How ſhall the ark of the LORD come unto me r?

q Either, that God was diſpleaſed with him for removing the Ark, and bringing it to his City: or leſt God ſhould proceed further in the way of his Judgments upon him and his People: or, leſt the Ark being brought to his Houſe, might be the occaſion of Inconveniencies and great Calamities, for ſome Neglects or Errors which they might eaſily and frequently commit. r How may I preſume, or how ſhall I dare do it, when God hath ſhewed his diſpleaſure for my attempting it? I will therefore wait further upon God for his direction in the caſe, and at preſent forbear. But why did not David conſult God preſently by the Urim, as he uſed to do? This therefore ſeems to have been his infirmity and neglect.

10 So David would not remove the ark of the LORD unto him into the city of David: but David carried it aſide into the houſe of Obed-Edom ſ the * Gittite t. * Joſh. 21. 24. 1 Chr. 13. 13.

ſ Which doubtleſs was done by the conſent and deſire of the owner of it, who for the enjoyment of ſo great a Priviledge, was willing to expoſe himſelf to ſome hazard; and wiſely conſidered, that the late Judgment was not to be imputed to the Ark, but to Uzzah's careleſneſs in managing it. t He was certainly a Levite, 1 Chron. 15. 18, 21, 24. and 16. 5. and 26. 4. and here called a Gittite, either, Firſt, From Gath of the Philiſtines, where he or his Father might be Born or have Sojourned, which might be upon divers occaſions: Or, Secondly, From Gath-rimmon, which was a Levitical City, Joſ. 21. 24, 25.

11 And the ark of the LORD continued in the houſe of Obed-Edom the Gittite three months: and the LORD bleſſed Obed-Edom, and all his houſhold u.

u With happy Succeſs in all their Affairs and Actions.

12 ¶ And it was told king David, ſaying, The LORD hath bleſſed the houſe of Obed-Edom, and all that pertaineth unto him, becauſe of the ark of God. * So David went and brought up the ark of God x from the houſe of Obed-Edom y, into the city of David, with gladneſs. * 1 Chron. 15. 25.

x Underſtanding that the Ark was entertained without danger or inconvenience, and with great advantage, he apprehended his former miſtake, and brought it to himſelf. y Which is thought to have been either in Jeruſalem, or very near it.

13 And it was ſo, that when they that bare the ark of the LORD, had gone ſix paces z, he ſacrificed * oxen and fatlings a. * See 1 Chr. 15. 26.

z With ſafety and comfort. a Upon an Altar ſuddenly erected, as was uſual in ſuch caſes. See Exod. 20. 24. This he did, either, to appeaſe God for the former miſcarriage: or, to praiſe him for his preſent Mercy, that he had not made another breach upon them: or, to implore his favour and gracious preſence with them in this great Affair.

b To expreſs his inward joy and thankfulneſs to God by his outward carriage, according to the manner of thoſe Times. See Exod. 15. 20. Judg. 11. 34. and 21. 21. 1 Sam. 18. 6. Pſal. 149. 3. and 150. 4. c The uſual Habit of the Prieſts and Levites, in their Sacred miniſtrations, yet ſometimes worn by others, as it was by the young Child Samuel, 1 Sam. 2. 18. before he was come to thoſe years in which the Levites were allowed to Miniſter; and ſo hereby David, who laid by his Royal Robes, and put on this Robe to ſignifie and declare, that although he was King of Iſrael, yet he willingly owned himſelf to be the Lord's Miniſter and Servant.

15 So David and all the houſe of Iſrael brought up the ark of the LORD with ſhouting, and with the ſound of the trumpet.

16 And as the ark of the LORD came into the city of David, Michal Sauls daughter looked through a window, and ſaw king David leaping and dancing before the LORD, and ſhe deſpiſed him in her heart d.

d As one of a baſe and mean ſpirit, that knew not how to carry himſelf with that Majeſty which became his place, but behaved himſelf like one of the Fools or vain Perſons in Iſrael.

17 ¶ And * they brought in the ark of the LORD, and ſet it in his place, in the midſt of the tabernacle that David had † pitched for it e: and David offered burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings before the LORD. * 1 Chron. 16. 1. † Heb. ſtretched.

e For Moſes his Tabernacle was ſtill at Gibeon, 1 Chron. 16. 39 and 21. 29. and 2 Chron. 1. 3. which David left there, becauſe he deſigned to build a Temple at Jeruſalem with all ſpeed, though he was countermanded therein by God himſelf.

18 And aſſoon as David had made an end of offering burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings, * he bleſſed the people f in the name of the LORD of hoſts. * 1 Chron. 16. 2.

f i.e. He heartily and ſolemnly prayed to God for his Bleſſing upon them: which he did both as Prophet, and as their King, to whom by office it belongs, by all means, to ſeek his Peoples welfare.

19 And he dealt among all the people, even among the whole multitude of Iſrael, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a good piece of fleſh, and a flagon of wine: ſo all the people departed every one to his houſe.

20 ¶ Then David returned to bleſs his houſehold; and Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and ſaid, How glorious was the king of Iſrael to day, who uncovered himſelf g to day in the eyes of the handmaids of his ſervants h, as one of the vain fellows i || ſhamefully uncovereth himſelf! || Or, openly.

g Either, Firſt, By ſtripping himſelf of his Royal Robes, that he might put on a Levitical Ephod: or, by diſcovering ſome part of his Thighs or Legs, as might poſſibly happen whilſt he danced with all his might, as is ſaid above, ver 14. conſidering that the men did then wear looſe Garments. Or, ſhe ſpeaks thus, not that he did ſo, but only by way of aggravation of his fault, and to vilifie him the more, as is uſual with Perſons in ſuch caſes. h Who either bare a part in the Solemnity, as Women ſometimes did, Exod. 15. 20. or, at leaſt were ſpectators of it, and of David's Carriage in it. i As idle and light Perſons uſe to do.

21 And David ſaid unto Michal, It was before the LORD k, which choſe me before thy father, and before all his houſe l, to appoint me ruler over the people of the LORD, over Iſrael: therefore will I play before the LORD.

k In his preſence and ſervice, which though contemptible to thee, is, and ever ſhall be honourable in mine eyes. l Which took away the honour from him and his, and transferred it upon me, whereby he hath obliged me to Love and Serve him with all my Might.

22 And I will yet be more vile than thus, and will be baſe in my own ſight m: and || of the maidſervants which thou haſt ſpoken of, of them ſhall I be had in honour n. || Or, of the handmaids of my ſervants.

m I will always be ready to humble and abaſe my ſelf before God. n I ſhall rather chuſe to get Honour from the meaneſt of my People, in ſerving and praiſing God, than to gain eſteem from thee by my lukewarmneſs in God's ſervice.

23 Therefore o Michal the daughter of Saul had no child p until the day of her death q.

o Not becauſe of David's words to her, which have nothing in them to this purpoſe; but becauſe of her proud, and petulant, and ungodly ſpeech and carriage to David, which God juſtly puniſhed with ſterility. p To wit, by David, and after this time, which theſe words evidently reſpect. Which was true, although thoſe five Children aſcribed to Michal, 2 Sam. 21. 8. were hers by Birth, and not by Adoption only. q i.e. Never: for it ſhe ever had any, it muſt be before her death. Compare 1 Sam. 15. 35. Matth. 1. 25.

CHAP. VII.

David being at reſt, deſires to build God an Houſe: Which Nathan at firſt approves of: Afterwards in obedience to the Word of God forbiddeth him, 1,——11. He promiſeth him Benefits and Bleſſings in his Seed, Solomon and the Meſſiah who ſhould build the Houſe of God, 12,——17. David's Prayer and Thankſgiving, 18,——29.

AND it came to paſs, * when the king ſat in his houſe a, and the LORD had given him reſt round about from all his enemies b: * 1 Chron. 17. 1.

a i.e. Was ſettled and warm in the Houſe which Hiram's Men built for him, chap. 5. 11. then he reflected upon the unhandſome and unſettled ſtate of the Ark. b Philiſtines, Moabites, and others, ſo that they durſt not invade his Land, as they had formerly done. For though you read of David's Wars with them, chap. 8. yet in them David was the Aggreſſor, and entred their Lands.

2 That the king ſaid unto Nathan the prophet, See now, I dwell in an houſe of Cedar; but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains c.

c i.e. In a Tent or Tabernacle, v. 6. compoſed of ſeveral Curtains, Exod. 26. 1, &c.

3 And Nathan ſaid to the king, Go, do all that is in thine heart d: for the LORD is with thee.

d Purſue thy Intentions, and build an Houſe for the Ark. The deſign being Pious, and the thing not forbidden by God, Nathan haſtily approves it, before he had either ſeriouſly conſidered it in his own mind, or conſulted God about it, as both he and David certainly ought to have done in a matter of ſo great moment. And therefore Nathan meets with this rebuke, that he is forced to acknowledge his error, and recant it. For the Holy Prophets did not ſpeak all things by Prophetical Inſpiration, but ſome things by an human Spirit, and prudent conjecture; and therefore they were ignorant and miſtaken in ſome matters, as 1 Sam. 16. 6. 2 Kings 4. 27.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs that night e, that the word of the LORD came unto Nathan f, ſaying, e Becauſe David's miſtake was Pious, and from an honeſt Mind, God would not ſuffer him to lie long in his miſtake, nor to diſquiet his Mind, or run himſelf into inconveniencies, in order to the Work, before he gave a ſtop to it. f That the ſame Perſon who had confirmed David in his miſtake, might now rectifie it.

5 Go and tell † my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the LORD, * Shalt thou build g me an houſe for me to dwell in? † Heb. to my ſervant, to David. * See 1 Kin. 5. 3. 1 Chr. 22. 8. and 28. 3

g i.e. Thou ſhalt not. Or, wilt thou build, &c? Doſt thou purpoſe it?

6 Whereas I have not dwelt in any houſe, * ſince the time that I brought up the children of Iſrael out of Egypt, even to this day, but have walked in a tent, and in a tabernacle h. * 1 Kings 8. 16.

h Theſe two ſeem thus to be diſtinguiſhed, the one may note the Curtains and Hangings within, the other the Frame of Boards, and Coverings upon it.

7 In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Iſrael, ſpake I a word i with || any of the tribes k of Iſrael, whom I commanded to feed my people Iſrael, ſaying, Why build ye not me an houſe of cedar? || 1 Chron. 17. 5. any of the Judges.

i Did I ever give any Command about it, without which neither they did, nor thou ſhouldſt attempt it? k In 1 Chron. 17. 6. it is of the Judges, and to them, not to the Tribes, the following words agree, whom I commanded to feed my People Iſrael. Either therefore the Tribes are here put Synecdochically for the Rulers of the Tribes, as the word Church is ſometimes uſed for the Governors of it: or, the word here rendred Tribes, may be rendred Scepters, as it is uſed Gen. 49. 10. and Scepters put for Scepter-bearers or Rulers, as is very frequent.

8 Now therefore, ſo ſhalt thou ſay unto my ſervant David l: Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, * I took thee from the ſheep-coat, † from following the ſheep, to be ruler over my people, over Iſrael m.

* 1 Sam. 16. 11, 12. Pſa. 78. 71. † Heb. from after.

l Leſt David ſhould be too much diſcouraged, or judge himſelf neglected and forſaken of God, as one thought unworthy of ſo great an honour, God here gives him the honourable title of his Servant, thereby ſignifying that he accepted of his Service, and of his good Intentions, which alſo was expreſſed at this time, as it may ſeem from 1 Kings 3. 18. though not in this place. m I advanced thee, and I do not repent of it.

9 And I was with thee whitherſoever thou wenteſt, and have cut off all the enemies † out of thy ſight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.

10 (Moreover, I will appoint a place n for my people Iſrael o, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own p, and move no more: neither ſhall the children of wickedneſs afflict them any more, as before-time q.

n i. e. I will make room for them, whereas hitherto they have been much conſtrained and diſtreſſed by their Enemies. Or, I will eſtabliſh (for ſo that Verb ſometimes ſignifies) a place for them, i. e. I will eſtabliſh them in their Place or Land. Some Learned Men render the Verſe thus, and the Hebrew words will bear it: And I have appointed (or, aſſigned, or, given) a place for my people Iſrael (to wit, the Land of Canaan) and have planted them in it, that they may dwell in their own place, and be no more driven to and fro: or rather, and they ſhall dwell in their own place, &c. i. e. As I did long ago appoint it to them, and afterwards planted them, or put them into actual poſſeſſion, ſo now they ſhall continue or dwell in it, in ſpight of all their Enemies. o Among the favours which God had vouchſafed, and would vouchſafe to David, he reckons his Bleſſings to the People of Iſrael, becauſe they were great Bleſſings to David; partly, becauſe the ſtrength and happineſs of a King conſiſts in great part in the multitude and happineſs of his People; and partly, becauſe David was a Man of a pious and publick Spirit, and therefore no leſs affected with Iſrael's felicity than with his own. p i. e. In their own Land, not in ſtrange Lands, nor mixed with other People. q Either, Firſt, As in the Land of Egypt, and ſo he goes downward to the Judges. Or, Secondly, As in Saul's Time; and ſo he aſcends to the Judges.

11 And as ſince the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Iſrael r, and ‖ have cauſed thee to reſt from all thine enemies ſ.) Alſo the LORD telleth thee, That he will make thee an houſe t.

‖ Or, I will cauſe. So Gr.

r Nor as they did under the Judges, neither ſo oft, nor ſo long. But all this is to be underſtood with a condition, except they ſhould notoriouſly forſake God, or rebel againſt him: which being ſo oft declared by God in other places, it was needleſs to mention it here. Or, this may relate to the later Ages of the World, when the People of Iſrael ſhall be converted to Chriſt, and recalled out of Captivity, and planted in their own place; when they ſhall enjoy a far greater degree of Tranquility than ever they did before. And this agrees beſt with the Future Tenſe, I will appoint ——— and will plant them, &c. otherwiſe the work was already done, God had already appointed this Land for them, and actually planted them in it. ſ i. e. And until this time in which I have given thee reſt. But theſe words, though according to our Tranſlation they be incloſed in the ſame Parentheſis with the foregoing Clauſes, may ſeem to be better put without it, and to be taken by themſelves. For the foregoing words in this Verſe, and in v. 10. do all concern the People of Iſrael; but theſe words ſeem to concern David alone, to whom the Speech returns after a ſhort digreſſions concerning the People of Iſrael. And they may be rendred either thus, And I have cauſed thee to reſt, &c. or, And I will cauſe thee to reſt, &c. to wit, more fully and perfectly than yet thou doſt. t For thy good Intentions to make him an Houſe, he will make thee an houſe, to wit, a ſure houſe, as is expreſſed, 1 Kings 11. 38. i. e. he will encreaſe and uphold thy Poſterity, and continue thy Kingdom in thy Family.

12 ¶ And * when thy days be fulfilled u, and thou ſhalt ſleep with thy fathers, I will ſet up thy ſeed after thee x, which ſhall proceed out of thy bowels y, and I will eſtabliſh his kingdom.

u When the time of thy life ſhall expire. This Phraſe implies, that his days ſhall be compleated and prolonged to the uſual courſe and ſtint of Natnre, and not cut off in the midſt, by any violent or untimely death. x I will ſet up in thy ſtead and Throne, thy Poſterity, firſt Solomon, and then others ſucceſſively, and at laſt the Meſſias. So the following words may be underſtood diverſly, part of his Poſterity in general or indefinitely taken; part of Solomon, and part of Chriſt only, according to the differing nature of the ſeveral paſſages. y Out of thy inward parts, or from thy Loins; who ſhall be begotten by thee.

13 * He ſhall build an houſe z for my Name a, and I will ſtabliſh the throne of his kingdom b for ever.

z This is meant literally and immediately of Solomon, who alone did build the material Houſe or Temple; but myſtically and ultimately of Chriſt, who is the Builder of God's Spiritual Houſe or Temple Heb. 3. 3, 6. 1 Pet. 2. 5. a i. e. For my Service, and Worſhip, and Glory. b This is not meant of Solomon, for his Kingdom was not for ever. And though the Phraſe for ever is ſometimes uſed of the time of a Man's Life, yet it cannot be ſo underſtood here, becauſe the Mercy here promiſed to David's Son is of another nature, and of far longer continuance, than that which was given to Saul, v. 15. who yet enjoyed the Kingdom as long as he lived. But it is to be underſtood of David's Poſterity in general, but with ſpecial reſpect to Chriſt, in whoſe Perſon the Kingdom was to be lodged for ever, Iſa. 9. 7. Dan. 2. 44. Luke 1. 32. 33.

14 * I will be his father, and he ſhall be my ſon c: * if he commit iniquity d, I will chaſten him with the rod of men ∴, and with the ſtripes of the children of men:

* Heb. 1. 5. * Pſal. 89. 26, 30, 31, 32.

c I will carry my ſelf towards him as becomes a Father, with all affection and tenderneſs, and I will own him as my Son. This is intended both of Solomon, as a Type of Chriſt; and of Chriſt himſelf, as is evident from Heb. 1. 5. d This agrees only to Solomon and ſome others of David's Poſterity; but not to Chriſt, who never committed Iniquity, as Solomon did, who therein was no Type of Chriſt, and therefore this branch is terminated in Solomon; whereas in thoſe things wherein Solomon was a Type of Chriſt, the ſenſe paſſeth through Solomon unto Chriſt. ∴ Either, Firſt, With ſuch Rods as Men uſe to correct their Sons, or to beat other Men: which are here oppoſed to the Rods or Strokes which an angry God inflicts. See Job 23. 6. Pſal. 39. 11. Iſa. 47. 3. Rom. 9. 22. Heb. 10. 31. and 12. 29. Or, Secondly, With ſuch Rods as are gentle and moderate, and ſuited to Man's weakneſs; as a tolerable and reſiſtible temptation is called human, or common to men, 1 Cor. 10. 13.

15 But my mercy e ſhall not depart away from him, as I took it from Saul f, whom I put away before thee.

e i. e. Or, my kindneſs, i. e. the Kingdom which I have mercifully and kindly promiſed to thee and thine. f In regard of his Poſterity, for the Kingdom was continued to his Perſon during life.

16 And thine houſe, and thy kingdom ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever * before thee g: thy throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever.

* 1 Kings 1. 48.

g Thine Eyes in ſome ſort beholding it: for he lived to ſee his Wiſe and Godly Son Solomon actually placed in the Throne, with great reputation and general applauſe, 1 Kings 1. 39, 40. which was in it ſelf a good preſage of the continuance of the Kingdom in his Family; and being conſidered, together with the infallible certainty of God's Promiſe to him and his for ever, of the accompliſhment whereof, this was an earneſt, gave him good aſſurance thereof; eſpecially conſidering that he had his Eyes and Thoughts upon the Meſſiah, Pſal. 110. 1, &c. whoſe day he ſaw by Faith, as Abraham did, John 8. 56. and whom he knew that God would raiſe out of the fruit of his Loins to ſit on his Throne, as is affirmed, Acts 2. 30. and that for ever: and ſo the Eternity of his Kingdom is rightly ſaid to be before him. The LXX and Syriack read before me, which is an uſual Phraſe, which makes no great variation in the Hebrew Text.

17 According to all theſe words, and according to all this viſion, ſo did Nathan ſpeak unto David h.

h Although it was contrary to his own Opinion, and an evidence of his Raſhneſs and Folly: This therefore is here mentioned as an evidence of his Fidelity and Impartiality, in relating the whole Mind of God herein, and of his Modeſty in taking Shame to himſelf.

18 ¶ Then went king David in, and ſat i before the LORD, and ſaid, Who am I, O LORD God? and what is my houſe, that thou haſt brought me hitherto k?

i This word may note either, firſt, his Bodily geſture: for there is no certain geſture to which Prayer is limited; and we have examples of Saints Praying in that poſture, Exod. 17. 12. 1 Kings 19. 4. or, he might ſit for a ſeaſon whilſt he was Meditating upon theſe things, and then alter his Poſture (though it be not here expreſſed) and betake himſelf to Prayer. Or rather, Secondly, His continuance there, as this Hebrew word is oft uſed, as Gen. 27. 44. Levit. 14. 8. 1 Sam. 1. 22. and 20. 19. that he did not barely preſent himſelf before God, but abode there for ſome competent time, that he might with God's leave pour out his Soul freely before him. For howſoever one may in ſome caſes pray ſitting, yet it is moſt probable that David would in this Holy Place, and upon this occaſion, uſe a more humble and reverent Geſture, ſuch as kneeling is, which therefore David preſcribeth or adviſeth, Pſal. 95. 6. and Solomon accordingly practiſeth, 1 Kings 8. 54. 2 Chron. 6. 13. k How infinitely unworthy am I and my Family of this great honour and happineſs!

19 And this l was yet a ſmall thing in thy ſight, O LORD God m: but thou haſt ſpoken alſo of thy ſervants houſe for a great while to come n: and is this the † manner of man, O LORD God o?

l To wit, which thou haſt already done for me, as he now ſaid, That thou haſt brought me hitherto, i. e. to that pitch of Honour, and Peace, and Proſperity, in which through thy favour I now ſtand. m Though it was more than I deſerved, or could expect, yet thou didſt not think it enough for thee to give to me. n For many future Ages, and indeed to all Eternity. o Do Men uſe to deal ſo freely and kindly with their Inferiors, as thou haſt done with me? No: this is the Prerogative of Divine Grace, to give ſuch Promiſes and Largeſſes as this. So theſe are words of admiration: which very well ſuit with the foregoing and following words. Or, And is this the Manner, or Law, or Cuſtom of mean or obſcure men, &c. as the Hebrew Adam is confeſſed ſometimes to ſignifie, as Pſal. 49. 2. and 62. 9. Iſa. 2. 9. i. e. Is this the manner of Mens dealing with mean and obſcure Perſons, ſuch as I am? So the Hebrew, haadam, is the Genitive Caſe of the Object, which is frequent in the Hebrew and other Languages. And this ſeems more probable, becauſe it exactly agrees with the parallel place, 1 Chron. 17. 17. where the words are, thou haſt regarded me according to the eſtate of a man of high degree, i. e. thou haſt dealt with me as if I had been not a poor mean Shepherd, but the Son of ſome great Monarch, to whom ſuch honours beſt agree.

20 And what can David ſay more unto thee p?
‖ Or, but. for ‖ thou LORD God, knoweſt thy ſervant q.

p Either, Firſt, In way of gratitude and praiſe to thee, words cannot expreſs my Obligations to thee, nor my ſenſe of theſe Obligations. Or rather, Secondly, In way of Prayer, as appears by the parallel place, 1 Chron. 17. 17. What can I ask or deſire of thee more than thou haſt freely done? q Thou knoweſt, Either, Firſt, My deep ſence of thy favours, and my obligations to thee. Or rather, Secondly, My condition and neceſſities, what I do or may need hereafter; and as thou knoweſt this, ſo I doubt not thou wilt be ready to ſupply me accordingly. Compare Matth. 6. 8, 32.

David ſubdueth the Philiſtines and the Moabites: Smiteth the King of Zoba: And the Syrians: Placeth a Garriſon in Damaſcus, 1,—8. Toi ſendeth Joram with Preſents to bleſs him: Which, with the ſpoil, he dedicateth to God, 9, —13. Smiteth the Edomites, and placeth a Garriſon in their Land, 14. David's Government and Officers, 15,—18.

2 And he ſmote Moab b, and meaſured them with a line c, caſting them down to the ground d: even with two lines meaſured he to put to death e; and with one full line to keep alive: and ſo the Moabites became Davids ſervants, and brought gifts.

b For although the King of Moab, out of hatred to Saul, pretended ſome kindneſs to David, and gave protection to his Parents, 1 Sam. 22. 3, 4. yet the Moabites were perpetual and ſworn Enemies to the Iſraelites, who therefore were forbidden to admit them into the Congregation of the Lord, and to ſeek their Peace and Proſperity, Deut. 23. 6 And though God commanded them in their March to Canaan, to ſpare the Moabites, Deut. 2. 9, 19. yet afterwards they proved unthankful, and inſolent, and fierce Enemies to God and his People, Numb. 22. 2, &c and 24. 17. and 25. 17, 18. Judg. 3. 14, &c. 1 Sam 14 47, &c. and thereby provoked God to alter his courſe and carriage towards them. c i.e As with Line, the Particle as being oft underſtood, as Pſal. 11. 1. and 22. 6. and 45. 1. It is likely theſe two People were Confederates, and that divers of the Syrians whom David had defeated in Syria, fled to Edom, and there joyned with them againſt their common Enemy, and made up together a very great Army (as the number of the Men ſlain in it ſheweth) conſiſting of the veterane Soldiers of both Countries. Although the ſlaughter here following may ſeem not to have been of the Syrians, as the words at firſt reading ſeem to intimate, but of the Edomites; (it not being probable that the Syrians would come ſo far from their own Country, as to the Valley of Salt, to fight) and this Verſe may be read thus, and that very agreeably to the Hebrew: And David gat him a name when he returned from ſmiting of the Syrians, in ſmiting (which is eaſily repeated out of the laſt Clauſe, according to the common uſage of Scripture) in the Valley of Salt eighteen thouſand men, who were Edomites, as is ſufficiently implied here in the next Verſe, and expreſſed 1 Chron. 18. 12. y A place in Edom ſo called, either from its Neighbourhood to the Salt Sea, or for ſome other cauſe now unknown. z As it is alſo 1 Chron. 18. 12. where alſo they are ſaid to be ſmitten by Abiſhai; becauſe he was then a chief Commander of the Army under David, and, it may be, began the fight; as, for the like reaſon, they are ſaid to be ſmitten by Joab, Pſal. 60. title, where alſo there are only 12000 mentioned; which place, if it ſpeak of this Battel, the ſtate of it was this: Abiſhai begins the Combat, and kills 6000, after him comes in Joab and kills 12000 more, which makes up this 18000. But why may not that be another Hiſtory and Battel? So the Edomites and Syrians together did firſt fight with Abiſhai, and loſt 18000 Men, and afterwards recruited their Forces and fought with Joab, and loſt other 12000 Men. Nor is it ſtrange if two Battels were fought in one place; of which there are divers inſtances in Hiſtorians.

17 And * Zadok the ſon of Ahitub d, and Ahimelech the ſon of Abiathar e, were the prieſts f; and Seraiah was the || Scribe;

d Not of that Ahitub, 1 Sam. 4. for that was of Ithamar's Race, but this of Eleazar. e So Abiathar called his Son by the name of his Father, 1 Sam. 22. 20. f i. e. The Chief Prieſt next under Abiathar, who fled to David, 1 Sam. 22. 20. and now was High Prieſt, as may be gathered from 2 Sam. 15. 35. and 1 Kings 2. 27, 35. under him theſe two were the next Chief Prieſts, or the Second Prieſts, each one being Chief of the Houſe of his Father, Zadok of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of Ithamar. See Numb. 3. 32. 1 Chron. 24. 3, 4. Or, theſe two are here mentioned, becauſe they conſtantly attended upon the King, that he might conſult with them in the matters of the Lord, as need required.

* 1 Chron. 18. 17. || Or, Princes.

18 * And Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada was over g both the Cherethites and the Pelethites h: and Davids ſons were || chief rulers i.

g Theſe words are ſupplied out of the parallel place, 1 Chron. 18. 17. and out of 2 Sam. 20. 23. where they are expreſſed. h The Cherethites and Pelethites were undoubtedly Soldiers, and ſuch as were eminent for their Valour and Fidelity to the King, as is evident from 2 Sam. 15. 18. and 20. 7. and 1 Kings 1. 38, 44. and moſt probably they were the Kings Guards, which conſiſted of theſe two Bands, who might be diſtinguiſhed either by their ſeveral Weapons, or by the differing time or manner of their ſervice. They are ſuppoſed to be thus called, either, firſt, from their Office, which was upon the King's Command to cut off or puniſh offenders, and to preſerve the King's Perſon, as their names in the Hebrew Tongue may ſeem to imply. Or, Secondly, From ſome Country, or place to which they had relation. As for the Cherethites, it is certain they were either a Branch of the Philiſtines, or a People neighbouring to them, and confederate with them, as is manifeſt from 1 Sam. 30. 14. Ezek. 25. 16. Zeph. 2. 4, 5. And ſo might the Pelethites be too, though that be not related in Scripture. And theſe Iſraelites and Soldiers of David might be ſo called, either, becauſe they went and lived with David when he dwelt in thoſe parts: or, from ſome notable Exploit againſt, or Victory over theſe People; as among the Romans the names of Aſiaticus, Africanus, &c. were given for the ſame reaſon. One of their Exploits againſt the Cherethites is in part related, 1 Sam. 30. 14. And it is likely they did many other againſt them, and againſt other People, amongſt which the Pelethites might be one. i Had the places of greateſt Authority and Dignity conferred upon them.

CHAP. IX.

David, for Jonathan's ſake, ſendeth for his Son Mephiboſheth, 1,—6. Entertaineth him at his Table: And reſtoreth him all that was Saul's: Appointeth Ziba to be his Servant, 7, ——— 13.

AND David ſaid a, Is there yet any that is left of the houſe of Saul b, that I may ſhew him kindneſs for Jonathans ſake?

a David's Wars being ended, he ſet himſelf to the Adminiſtration of Juſtice to all his People, chap. 8. 15. And amongſt others he minds his juſt debt and obligation to Jonathan and his Family. b He ſaith not of the houſe of Jonathan, for he knew not of any Son which he had left, and therefore thought his kindneſs and obligation was to paſs to the next of his Kindred. As for Mephiboſheth, he was very young and obſcure, and poſſibly concealed by his Friends, leſt David ſhould cut him off from Jealouſie of State, as hath been uſual among Princes in like caſe, and therefore was unknown to David, as well he might be, eſpecially when David's head and hands were full of War with divers and Potent Enemies, as they had hitherto been.

* Chap. 16. 1. and 19. 29.

2 And there was of the houſe of Saul a ſervant c whoſe name was * Ziba: and when they had called him unto David, the king ſaid unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he ſaid, Thy ſervant is he.

c One who had been a Servant, and, as it may ſeem, a Steward to Saul. See below, v. 10.

* Cha. 4. 4.

3 And the king ſaid, Is there not yet any of the houſe of Saul, that I may ſhew the kindneſs of God d unto him? And Ziba ſaid unto the king, Jonathan hath yet a ſon, which is * lame on his feet.

d Either, Firſt, That kindneſs which I owe him for God's ſake, and by vertue of my Oath given to him about it, 1 Sam. 20. 14, 15. But that Oath ſeems only to oblige him to Jonathan's Poſterity, and not to any other of Saul's Houſe. Or, Secondly, Great and eminent kindneſs.

4 And the king ſaid unto him, Where is he? And Ziba ſaid unto the king, Behold, he is in the houſe of Machir, the ſon of Ammiel, in Lodebar e.

e In a place beyond Jordan, chap. 17. 27. where his Friends thought he might be kept out of David's ſight.

5 ¶ Then king David ſent, and fet him out of the houſe of Machir the ſon of Ammiel, from Lodebar.

6 Now when Mephiboſheth the ſon of Jonathan, the ſon of Saul, was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence: And David ſaid, Mephiboſheth. And he anſwered, Behold thy ſervant.

7 ¶ And David ſaid unto him, Fear not; for I will ſurely ſhew thee kindneſs for Jonathan thy fathers ſake, and will reſtore thee all the land of Saul thy father f, and thou ſhalt eat bread at my table continually.

f Which are now ſeized and poſſeſſed by David, as due to him, either, in right of his Wife, to whom the Inheritance was devolved, Saul's Sons by his Wives being all dead. See Numb 27. 8. or, by Divine Donation, as belonging to the Crown which God had now given him: or, by forfeiture, becauſe of Iſhboſheth's Rebellion againſt his Lord and King.

8 And he bowed himſelf, and ſaid, What is thy ſervant, that thou ſhouldeſt look upon ſuch a * dead dog as I am [g]?

* 1 Sam. 24. 14.

[g] So contemptible in my Perſon and Condition.

9 ¶ Then the king called to Ziba Sauls ſervant, and ſaid unto him, * I have given unto thy maſters ſon all that pertained to Saul, and to all his houſe.

* See Cha. 19. 29.

10 Thou therefore, and thy ſons, and thy ſervants ſhall till the land for him, and thou ſhalt bring in the fruits, that thy maſters ſon may have food to eat [h]: but Mephiboſheth thy maſters ſon ſhall eat bread alway at my table. Now Ziba had fifteen ſons, and twenty ſervants [i].

[h] i. e. That he may have wherewith to buy Food for all his Family, and all manner of Proviſions (which oft come under the title of Food and Bread) neceſſary for himſelf and them. [i] For it is probable he had been the chief Steward to manage Saul's Lands: whereby he had great opportunities to inrich himſelf, which alſo he was very intent and reſolved upon, either directly, or indirectly, as the following Hiſtory of him ſhews; and therefore it is not ſtrange that he was ſo rich.

11 Then ſaid Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his ſervant, ſo ſhall thy ſervant do. As for Mephiboſheth, ſaid the king, he ſhall eat at my table, as one of the kings ſons [k].

[k] Theſe are the words, Either, Firſt, Of David; the words, ſaid he, or ſaid the King, being ſupplied out of the former and following Verſes. Or, Secondly, Of Ziba, being thus rendred and underſtood, Alſo Mephiboſheth, if the King ſo pleaſe, ſhall eat at my table, and ſhall be treated there according to his Quality, as one of thy Sons, as thou deſireſt: for the Eſtate will ſuffice for that alſo.

12 And Mephiboſheth had a young ſon [l], whoſe name was Micha [m]: and all that dwelt in the houſe of Ziba were ſervants unto Mephiboſheth.

[l] Either, Firſt, Before he was diſcovered and brought to the King; and then David ſeems guilty of a great error in forgetting his dear Jonathan ſo long; although his long and continued Wars both Civil and Foreign, might afford him ſome excuſe, as filling his mind and time with buſineſs of another nature. Or, Secondly, After that time: for there is nothing here which determines when this Son was Born. [m] Who alſo had other Children and Grand-Children, to keep up the name and memory of worthy and famous Jonathan. See 1 Chron. 8. 34, 35. and 9. 40, 41.

13 So Mephiboſheth dwelt in Jeruſalem: for he did eat continually at the kings table; and was lame on both his feet.

CHAP. X.

David ſendeth Meſſengers to comfort the King of the Ammonites: He abuſeth them 1,——5. The Ammonites and Syrians prepare to fight againſt the Iſraelites: And are overcome by Joab and Abiſhai, 6,——14. They renewing their Forces, are again Conquered by David, 15,——19.

AND it came to paſs after this, that the * king of the children of Ammon [a] died, and Hanun his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

* 1 Chron. 19. 1.

[a] Nahaſh, v. 2. probably the ſame whoſe Army Saul defeated and deſtroyed, 1 Sam. 11. who out of enmity to Saul ſhewed kindneſs to David, as it follows; hoping alſo by fomenting the differences between Saul and David, to make way for his future Conqueſts.

2 Then ſaid David, I will ſhew kindneſs unto Hanun the ſon of Nahaſh [b], as his father ſhewed kindneſs unto me [c]. And David ſent to comfort him by the hand of his ſervants, for † his father: and David's ſervants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

[b] Therefore there had hitherto been Peace and Friendſhip between David and him; and therefore the ſpoils of the children of Ammon are mentioned, chap. 8. 12. by way of anticipation, and with reſpect to the ſtory here following. [c] Which he might do, either, by offering him his help, if he needed it; or, by ſupplying him with Military or other Proviſions upon occaſion, or many other ways.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon ſaid unto Hanun their lord, † Thinkeſt thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath ſent comforters unto thee? Hath not David rather ſent his ſervants unto thee, to ſearch the city, and to ſpie it out [d], and to overthrow it?

Heb. in e eyes h David

[d] To obſerve where the City is weakeſt, and may ſooneſt be taken. The ground of this ſuſpicion was, partly, the Conſcience of their ill deſerts and carriage towards the Iſraelites, whoſe quarrel David had eſpouſed: partly, the opinion they had of David's Policy: and partly, the ſeverity of God's Law, particularly againſt them, Deut. 23. 6. which might eaſily come to their ears. And they knew David was a zealous aſſerter of God's Laws.

[e] Partly, that he might compel them to bear a part in their Mourning, and that in ſuch a way as was uſual with them, but forbidden to the Iſraelites, Levit. 19. 27. Deut. 14. 1. which probably was not unknown to them: And partly, to faſten this as a reproach upon them, and to make them ridiculous and contemptible. Compare Iſa. 20. 4. and 47. 2. and 50. 6. [f] This was worſe than the former, becauſe the Iſraelites wore no Breeches, and ſo their nakedneſs was hereby uncovered. Compare Iſa. 20. 4.

5 ¶ When they told it unto David, He ſent to meet them [g], becauſe the men were greatly aſhamed: and the king ſaid, Tarry at Jericho [h] until your beards be grown [i], and then return.

[g] He ſent them Clothes and other neceſſaries. [h] Both becauſe this was one of the firſt places which they came to in Canaan: and becauſe it was now a very obſcure Village, and therefore fitteſt for them in their circumſtances: for it was not built as a City till after this time, 1 Kings 16. 34. [i] For the want or loſs of Beards was eſteemed a reproach among the Iſraelites.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon ſaw that they ſtank before David, the children of Ammon ſent and hired the Syrians of Beth-Rehob [k], and the Syrians of Zoba [l], twenty thouſand footmen, and of king Maacah [m] a thouſand men, and of Iſhtob [n] twelve thouſand men.

[k] Near Hamath, Numb. 13. 21. [l] Of which ſee 1 Sam. 14. 47. and 2 Sam. 8. 3. [m] i. e. Of that part of Syria which was under King Maachah: for Syria was a large Country, and there were divers Kings in the ſeveral parts of it. This part was near Gilead. See Deut. 3. 14. [n] Or, of the men of Tob, the Country where Jephthah dwelt, Judg. 11. 3. Beſides theſe, they hired others out of Aram Naharaim, or Meſopotamia, as appears from 1 Chron. 19. 6. and Pſal. 60. title. And all theſe were forward enough to Combine againſt David, both to revenge their former loſſes and reproaches, and to give check to his growing Greatneſs.

7 And when David heard of it, he ſent Joab, and all the hoſt of the mighty men [o].

[o] Chuſing wiſely to carry the War into their Country, rather than to expect it in their own.

8 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battel in aray at the entring in of the gate [p]: and the Syrians of Zoba, and of Rehob, and Iſhtob, and Maacah, were by themſelves in the field [q].

[p] To wit, of Medeba, as it is expreſſed, 1 Chron. 19. 7. which was a frontier City. See Numb. 21. 30. This place they choſe for the Fight, that they might both defend that City and their Country, whereof that was the entrance, and, if need were, might retreat into it. [q] That by their numerous Forces they might fall upon the Iſraelites on the other ſide.

9 When Joab ſaw that the front of the battel was againſt him before and behind, he choſe of all the choice men of Iſrael, and put them in aray againſt the Syrians [r].

[r] Which were the moſt valiant and expert Soldiers.

10 And the reſt of the people he delivered into the hand of Abiſhai his brother, that he might put them in aray againſt the children of Ammon.

11 And he ſaid if the Syrians be too ſtrong for me, then thou ſhalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too ſtrong for thee, then I will come and help thee.

12 Be of good courage, and let us play the men for our people [ſ], and for the cities of our God [s]: and the LORD do that which ſeemeth him good [t].

[ſ] For the preſervation of our ſelves and all our Brethren from that utter ruine which our Enemies deſign for us. Our War is not vainly undertaken to enlarge our Empire or Glory, but for our own juſt and neceſſary defence: and therefore we may hope for God's Bleſſing and aſſiſtance in it. [s] Which are devoted to his Worſhip and Service, and therefore he will plead their Cauſe againſt his Enemies. [t] Let us do our parts, and quietly referr our ſelves and the event to God's good pleaſure, which we have no reaſon to diſtruſt.

13 And Joab drew nigh, and the people that were with him, unto the battel againſt the Syrians [u]: and they fled before him.

[u] He prudently falls upon them firſt, becauſe they were but Mercenaries, and not concerned ſo much in the Succeſs as the Ammonites were, all whoſe Intereſt lay at ſtake; and therefore not likely to venture too far in their defence.

14 And when the children of Ammon ſaw that the Syrians were fled [x], then fled they alſo before Abiſhai, and entred into the city: ſo Joab returned from the children of Ammon [y], and came to Jeruſalem.

[x] In whoſe numbers and proweſs they had the moſt confidence. [y] Not judging it convenient or ſafe to purſue them; becauſe the Forces were not utterly ruined, but only diſperſed and put to flight, and ſo might eaſily rally together.

15 ¶ And when the Syrians ſaw that they were ſmitten before Iſrael, they gathered themſelves together z.

z Partly, to wipe out the ſtain of Cowardize which they had now contracted: partly, to prevent that Vengeance which they ſuppoſed David would execute upon them for their laſt attempt: and partly, to ſhake off the Yoke that David had lately put upon them.

16 And Hadarezer a ſent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river b: and they came to Helam; and Shobach c the captain of the hoſt of Hadarezer went before them.

a The ſame with Hadadezer, chap. 8. 3. b Who having engaged themſelves in the former expedition, as was noted before, were now obliged to proceed in their own defence, being alſo perſwaded and hired to this ſecond Expedition, v. 19. c Or, Shophack, 1 Chron. 19. 16.

17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Iſrael d together, and paſſed over Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Syrians ſet themſelves in aray againſt David, and fought with him.

d i.e. The Choſen and Valiant Men pick'd out of all Iſrael.

18 And the Syrians fled before Iſrael, and David ſlew the men of ſeven hundred chariots e of the Syrians, and forty thouſand horſemen f, and ſmote Shobach the captain of their hoſt, who died there.

e Heb. ſeven hundred chariots: i.e The Men belonging to them, that fought in, or with them; as plainly appears, 1. Becauſe the Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as theſe are ſaid to have been. 2. Becauſe it is thus explained in the Book of Chronicles, which was written after this Book, for this end, to explain what was dark or doubtful, and to ſupply what was omitted here; where, inſtead of theſe Words, are ſeven thouſand men which fought in Chariots, 1 Chron. 19. 18. And this is a very common Metonymy; of which, See above Chap 8. 4. and the Notes on 1 Sam. 13. 5. Although there might be 7000 Chariots in all, whereof 700 were choſen ones; according to the diſtinction made Exod. 14. 7 f For which in 1 Chron. 19. 18. is forty thouſand footmen. Which may be reconciled divers ways. 1. Both theſe may be true, that he ſlew 40000 Horſemen, which being the moſt conſiderable part and ſtrength of the Army, it might ſeem ſufficient to name them, and every one could eaſily underſtand, that the Footmen in that caſe were certainly cut off; and that he ſlew alſo 40000 Footmen, as is ſaid 1 Chron where he mentions them only, becauſe they were omitted in 2 Sam. and the Horſemen being expreſſed here, it was needleſs to repeat them in 1 Chron 2. The Horſemen may be here called footmen, in oppoſition to thoſe that fought in Chariots; becauſe they ſometimes fought on Horſeback, and ſometimes came down from their Horſes, and fought on Foot, when the place of the Battel was more commodious for Footmen than for Horſemen; which it is not improbable was their Caſe here; for David being a Soldier of great Prudence and Experience, and underſtanding the great Numbers of the Syrian Horſemen; whereas the Iſraelites had but very few, Deut. 17. 16. would doubtleſs endeavour to chuſe a place as inconvenient for their Horſemen as he could. 3. Peradventure the Syrians deſigned to bring the War into David's Country, and therefore haſtned their March, and for that end put their Footmen on Horſeback, (as hath been frequently done in like Caſes) who, when they came to the place of Battel, came down from their Horſes, and fought on Foot. So there is no need of acknowledging an error of the Scribe in the Sacred Text: which, yet if it were granted in ſuch Hiſtorical Paſſages of no moment to the Doctrine of Faith and good Life, it would not ſhake the Foundation of our Faith in matters of great Importance, which it might reaſonably be preſumed the Providence of God would more watchfully preſerve from all depravation or corruption.

f To wit, for that time, or in that Expedition to which he hired them.

Whilſt Joab beſieged Rabbah David committeth Adultery with Bathſheba, 1,—4. *And hearing that ſhe was big with Child he ſendeth for Uriah her Husband out of the Camp, to cover his ſhame. 2 ¶ And it came to paſs in an evening-tide, that David aroſe from off his bed e, and walked upon the roof f of the kings houſe: and from the roof he ſaw a woman waſhing her ſelf g: and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

e Where he had lain, and ſlept for ſome time; being poſſibly diſpoſed to ſleep after Dinner, by reaſon of ſome Exceſs committed in Eating or Drinking; and indulging himſelf in his Lazy Humour, which may ſeem very improper for ſo great a Prince and Captain, who had ſo many and great Burdens upon his Shoulders, eſpecially in a time of War; and therefore ſuch Practices have been condemned by Heathens: and Homer will not allow a General and great Counſellor to ſleep all the Night, much leſs to take any part of the Day for it. And therefore this is thought to be David's firſt Error, and the occaſion of his following Fall. f Which was plain after the manner, Deut. 22. 8. g To wit, in a Bath, which poſſibly was in her Garden, or in ſome room near to the King's Palace, where ſhe might waſh her ſelf divers ways, and for different ends; either for health, or coolneſs, or to cleanſe her ſelf from ſome kind of legal Impurity: where alſo, the Windows being open, and ſhe careleſs, David might eſpie her.

h Inſtead of ſuppreſſing that Luſt which the ſight of his Eyes had kindled, he ſeeks rather to feed it; and firſt enquires who ſhe was; that, if ſhe were unmarried, he might make her either his Wife or his Concubine. i Called alſo Bathſhua, 1 Chron. 3. 5. where alſo Eliam is called Ammiel. k So called, either, 1. Which is here noted, as the reaſon, either why David purſued his Luſtful deſire; or why ſhe ſo eaſily yielded to it, becauſe ſhe was not under that Pollution which might alienate her from it; or rather, why ſhe ſo readily conceived, that time being obſerved by Ariſtotle and others, to be the moſt likely time for Conception.

5 And the woman conceived, and ſent, and told David, and ſaid, I am with child o.

o Conſider therefore what to do for thy own honour, and for my ſafety, whom thou haſt brought into a moſt ſhameful and dangerous condition.

6 And David ſent to Joab, ſaying, Send me Uriah the Hittite: And Joab ſent Uriah to David.

Yet ſuch might be the Queſtions, (though not here particularly mentioned) concerning thoſe Heads, as every private Perſon might not be acquainted with, nor able to reſolve, but ſuch only as were acquainted with the Counſel of War.

11 And Uriah ſaid unto David, The ark x, and Iſrael, and Judah abide in tents, and * my lord Joab, and the ſervants of my lord are encamped in the open fields y; ſhall I then go into mine houſe to eat, and to drink, and to lie with my wife z? As thou liveſt, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not do this thing.

His meaning is, Now when God's People are in a doubtful and dangerous Condition, it becomes me to Sympathize with them, and to abſtain even from lawful Delights. Whereby he might poſſibly intimate, how unworthy it was for David in ſuch a ſeaſon to indulge himſelf in ſinful and injurious Pleaſures. Nathan by a parable reproveth, and threatneth David, 1.—12. He confeſſeth his ſin and is pardoned, 13, 14. But the child muſt die: David mourneth and prayeth for it whilſt life was in it, after is ſatisfied and cheared: the reaſon, 15,—23. He goeth in to Bathſheba: Solomon is born of her: and is called Jedidiah, 24, 25. David taketh Rabbah and tortureth the people thereof, 26,—31.

AND the LORD ſent Nathan a unto David: and * he came unto him, and ſaid unto him, There were two men in one city b; the one rich and the other poor:

a The Prophet, chap. 7. 2. 1 King. 1. 8. When the ordinary means did not awaken David to Repentance, God uſeth an extraordinary Courſe. Thus the Merciful God pities and prevents him who had ſo horribly forſaken and forgotten God. b He prudently uſhereth in his Reproof with a Parable, after the manner of the Eaſtern Nations, and ancient Times, that ſo he might ſurprize David, and cauſe him unawares to give Sentence againſt himſelf. He manageth his Relation as if it had been a real thing; and demands the King's Juſtice in the caſe. Though the Application of this Parable to David be eaſie and obvious, yet it matters not, if ſome Circumſtances be not ſo applicable; becauſe it was fit to put in ſome ſuch Clauſes, either for the decency of the Parable, or that David might not too early diſcover his Deſign.

2 The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds c.

c Noting David's many Wives and Concubines.

3 But the poor man had nothing ſave one little ewlamb d, which he had bought e and nouriſhed up: and it grew up together with him, and with his children, it did eat of his own † meat, and drank of his own cup, and lay in his boſom f, and was unto him as a daughter.

d Deſigning Uriah, with his own and only Wife. e As Men then uſed to buy their Wives: or, had procured. f Which David might take for Hyperbolical Expreſſions of his tender Care of, and Affection to it. Although there want not Inſtances of ſome who have treated ſuch Brute-Creatures in this manner.

4 And there came a traveller g unto the rich man, and he ſpared to take of his own flock, and of his own herd, to dreſs for the wayfaring man that was come unto him, but took the poor mans lamb, and dreſſed it for the man that was come to him.

g This ſome make to be the Devil, whom David gratified by his Sin; but it rather ſeems added for the decency of the Parable.

5 And Davids anger was kindled greatly againſt the man, and he ſaid to Nathan, As the LORD liveth, the man that hath done this thing, ‖ † ſhall ſurely die h.

h This ſeems to be more than the Fact deſerved, or than he had Commiſſion to inflict for it, Exod. 22. 1. But it is obſervable, That David now when he was moſt indulgent to himſelf, and to his own Sin, was moſt ſevere to others; as appears by this Paſſage, and the following Relation, v. 31. which was done in the time of David's impenitent continuance in his Sin.

6 And he ſhall reſtore the lamb * fourfold, becauſe he did this thing, and becauſe he had no pity.

* Exod. 22. 4.

7 And Nathan ſaid to David, Thou art the man i. Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, * I anointed thee king over Iſrael, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul:

* 1 Sam. 16. 13.

i Thou haſt committed this Crime with great Aggravations; and out of thine own Mouth thy Sentence hath proceeded, and thou art worthy of Death.

8 And I gave thee thy maſters houſe, and thy maſters wives k into thy boſome, and gave thee the houſe of Iſrael and of Judah, and if that had been too little, z Partly, to wipe out the ſtain of Cowardize which they had now contracted: partly, to prevent that Vengeance which they ſuppoſed David would execute upon them for their laſt attempt: and partly, to ſhake off the Yoke that David had lately put upon them.

15 ¶ And when the Syrians ſaw that they were ſmitten before Iſrael, they gathered themſelves together z.

16 And Hadarezer a ſent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river b: and they came to Helam; and Shobach c the captain of the hoſt of Hadarezer went before them.

a The ſame with Hadadezer, chap. 8. 3. b Who having engaged themſelves in the former expedition, as was noted before, were now obliged to proceed in their own defence, being alſo perſwaded and hired to this ſecond Expedition, v. 19. c Or, Shophack, 1 Chron. 19. 16.

17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Iſrael d together, and paſſed over Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Syrians ſet themſelves in aray againſt David, and fought with him.

d i. e. The Choſen and Valiant Men pick'd out of all Iſrael.

18 And the Syrians fled before Iſrael, and David ſlew the men of ſeven hundred chariots e of the Syrians, and forty thouſand horſemen f, and ſmote Shobach the captain of their hoſt, who died there.

e Heb. ſeven hundred chariots: i. e The Men belonging to them, that fought in, or with them; as plainly appears, 1. Becauſe the Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as theſe are ſaid to have been. 2. Becauſe it is thus explained in the Book of Chronicles, which was written after this Book, for this end, to explain what was dark or doubtful, and to ſupply what was omitted here; where, inſtead of theſe Words, are ſeven thouſand men which fought in Chariots, 1 Chron. 19. 18. And this is a very common Metonymy; of which, See above Chap. 8. 4. and the Notes on 1 Sam. 13. 5. Although there might be 7000 Chariots in all, whereof 700 were choſen ones; according to the diſtinction made Exod. 14. 7. f For which in 1 Chron. 19. 18. is forty thouſand footmen. Which may be reconciled divers ways. 1. Both theſe may be true, that he ſlew 40000 Horſemen, which being the moſt conſiderable part and ſtrength of the Army, it might ſeem ſufficient to name them, and every one could eaſily underſtand, that the Footmen in that caſe were certainly cut off; and that he ſlew alſo 40000 Footmen, as is ſaid 1 Chron where he mentions them only, becauſe they were omitted in 2 Sam. and the Horſemen being expreſſed here, it was needleſs to repeat them in 1 Chron 2. The Horſemen may be here called footmen, in oppoſition to thoſe that fought in Chariots; becauſe they ſometimes fought on Horſeback, and ſometimes came down from their Horſes, and fought on Foot, when the place of the Battel was more commodious for Footmen than for Horſemen; which it is not improbable was their Caſe here; for David being a Soldier of great Prudence and Experience, and underſtanding the great Numbers of the Syrian Horſemen; whereas the Iſraelites had but very few, Deut. 17. 16. would doubtleſs endeavour to chuſe a place as inconvenient for their Horſemen as he could. 3. Peradventure the Syrians deſigned to bring the War into David's Country, and therefore haſtned their March, and for that end put their Footmen on Horſeback, (as hath been frequently done in like Caſes) who, when they came to the place of Battel, came down from their Horſes, and fought on Foot. So there is no need of acknowledging an error of the Scribe in the Sacred Text: which, yet if it were granted in ſuch Hiſtorical Paſſages of no moment to the Doctrine of Faith and good Life, it would not ſhake the Foundation of our Faith in matters of great Importance, which it might reaſonably be preſumed the Providence of God would more watchfully preſerve from all depravation or corruption.

f To wit, for that time, or in that Expedition to which he hired them.

2 ¶ And it came to paſs in an evening-tide, that David aroſe from off his bed e, and walked upon the roof f of the kings houſe: and from the roof he ſaw a woman waſhing her ſelf g: and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

e Where he had lain, and ſlept for ſome time; being poſſibly diſpoſed to ſleep after Dinner, by reaſon of ſome Exceſs committed in Eating or Drinking; and indulging himſelf in his Lazy Humour, which may ſeem very improper for ſo great a Prince and Captain, who had ſo many and great Burdens upon his Shoulders, eſpecially in a time of War; and therefore ſuch Practices have been condemned by Heathens: and Homer will not allow a General and great Counſellor to ſleep all the Night, much leſs to take any part of the Day for it. And therefore this is thought to be David's firſt Error, and the occaſion of his following Fall. f Which was plain after the manner, Deut. 22. 8. g To wit, in a Bath, which poſſibly was in her Garden, or in ſome room near to the King's Palace, where ſhe might waſh her ſelf divers ways, and for different ends; either for health, or coolneſs, or to cleanſe her ſelf from ſome kind of legal Impurity: where alſo, the Windows being open, and ſhe careleſs, David might eſpie her.

h Inſtead of ſuppreſſing that Luſt which the ſight of his Eyes had kindled, he ſeeks rather to feed it; and firſt enquires who ſhe was; that, if ſhe were unmarried, he might make her either his Wife or his Concubine. i Called alſo Bathſhua, 1 Chron. 3. 5. where alſo Eliam is called Ammiel. k So called, either, 1. Which is here noted, as the reaſon, either why David purſued his Luſtful deſire; or why ſhe ſo eaſily yielded to it, becauſe ſhe was not under that Pollution which might alienate her from it; or rather, why ſhe ſo readily conceived, that time being obſerved by Ariſtotle and others, to be the moſt likely time for Conception. * Lev. 15. 19. and 18. 19.

5 And the woman conceived, and ſent, and told David, and ſaid, I am with child o.

7 And when Uriah was come unto him, David demanded of him † how Joab did, and how the people did, and how the war proſpered p? † Heb. of the peace of, &c.

And he might underſtand ſomething, either by David's Meſſengers, v. 4. or by ſome of his own Family, concerning her being ſent for to the Court: which, together with other Circumſtances might give him cauſe of further ſuſpicion. Yet ſuch might be the Queſtions, (though not here particularly mentioned) concerning thoſe Heads, as every private Perſon might not be acquainted with, nor able to reſolve, but ſuch only as were acquainted with the Counſel of War.

d Deſigning Uriah, with his own and only Wife. e As Men then uſed to buy their Wives: or, had procured. f Which David might take for Hyperbolical Expreſſions of his tender Care of, and Affection to it. Although there want not Inſtances of ſome who have treated ſuch Brute-Creatures in this manner.

4 And there came a traveller g unto the rich man, and he ſpared to take of his own flock, and of his own herd, to dreſs for the wayfaring man that was come unto him, but took the poor mans lamb, and dreſſed it for the man that was come to him.

g This ſome make to be the Devil, whom David gratified by his Sin; but it rather ſeems added for the decency of the Parable.

5 And Davids anger was kindled greatly againſt the man, and he ſaid to Nathan, As the LORD liveth, the man that hath done this thing, ‖ † ſhall ſurely die h.

h This ſeems to be more than the Fact deſerved, or than he had Commiſſion to inflict for it, Exod. 22. 1. But it is obſervable, That David now when he was moſt indulgent to himſelf, and to his own Sin, was moſt ſevere to others; as appears by this Paſſage, and the following Relation, v. 31. which was done in the time of David's impenitent continuance in his Sin.

6 And he ſhall reſtore the lamb * fourfold, becauſe he did this thing, and becauſe he had no pity.

* Exod. 22. 4.

7 And Nathan ſaid to David, Thou art the man i. Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, * I anointed thee king over Iſrael, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul:

* 1 Sam. 16. 13.

i Thou haſt committed this Crime with great Aggravations; and out of thine own Mouth thy Sentence hath proceeded, and thou art worthy of Death.

8 And I gave thee thy maſters houſe, and thy maſters wives k into thy boſome, and gave thee the houſe of Iſrael and of Judah, and if that had been too little, tle, I would moreover have given unto thee ſuch and ſuch things l.

k Or, women, as that word is elſewhere uſed; as Numb. 31. 18. And though we read not a word of God's giving, or of David's taking any of Saul's Wives into his Boſome; or, which is all one, into his Bed; yet (which I think to be aimed at here) it might be according to the manner of that time, that the Wives and Concubines of the precedent King, belonged to the Succeſſor, to be at leaſt at his diſpoſe. And to pretend to them, was interpreted little leſs than pretending to the Crown. Which made it fatal to Adonijah to ask Abiſhag, 1 Kings 2. 23. And to Abner to be ſuſpected for Riſpah, 2 Sam. 3. 8. And Abſalom, uſurping the Crown, uſurped the Concubines alſo; which is looked on as a Crime unpardonable, 2 Sam. 16. 21. nor would this have been reckoned amongſt the Mercies and Bleſſings which God here is ſaid to give him, and which are oppoſed to that which he ſinfully took: but we do read, That Merab Saul's Daughter, was given to him for his Wife by Saul's promiſe, and conſequently by God's grant; though afterwards Saul perfidiouſly gave her to another Man; and that Michal, the other Daughter, was actually given to him, 1 Sam. 18. And it is very poſſible, that ſome other of David's Wives were nearly Related to the Houſe of Saul; whereby David might deſign to enlarge and ſtrengthen his Intereſt in the Kingdom. Although there is no abſolute Neceſſity of reſtraining this to Saul, ſeeing the word is Plural, Maſters; and may belong to others alſo, who ſometimes were owned by David as his Maſters, Lords, or Superiors, ſuch as Nabal was, and ſome others not elſewhere named might be, whoſe Houſes and Wives, or, at leaſt, Women, God might give to David. l Such other things as thou hadſt wanted, or in reaſon deſired.

m i. e. Thoſe Laws of God which forbad thee to do this thing, by not giving them that reſpect and obſervance which they deſerved. n That Valiant, and Generous, and Noble Perſon. o This he mentions amongſt his other Sins; partly, becauſe he had rewarded her, who by God's Law ſhould have been ſeverely puniſhed: partly, becauſe he compaſſed this Marriage by wicked Practices, even by Uriah's Murther, and for ſinful Ends, even for the gratification of his inordinate and ſenſual Luſts, and for the concealment of that Sin which he was obliged to confeſs and lament. p Thoſe curſed Enemies of God, and of his People, whom thou haſt encouraged and hardned in their Idolatry, by giving up him, and others of God's People into their hands. And note here, That although David did not kill Uriah himſelf, nor command any to do it; but only that he ſhould be put upon dangerous Service, (which a General of an Army oft doth to Soldiers under him, on juſtifiable accounts, without being therefore legally chargeable with Murther, though the Perſon ſo employed die in the Service:) yet in God's account, who judged of David's Deſign therein, it is juſtly ſo reputed. And therefore, though the Ammonites ſlew Uriah, yet David is ſaid to have killed him with their Sword.

10 Now therefore the ſword ſhall never depart from thine houſe q, becauſe thou haſt deſpiſed me, and haſt taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

q During the reſidue of thy Life: as appears from the following Hiſtory.

11 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will raiſe up evil r againſt thee out of thine own houſe s, and I will * take thy wives before thine eyes t, and give them u unto thy neighbour x, and he ſhall lie with thy wives in the ſight of the ſun y.

* Deut. 28. 38. Ch. 16. 22.

r To wit, the evil of Puniſhment. s From thy own Children and Family. t i. e. Openly, ſo as thou ſhalt know it as certainly as if thou didſt ſee it, and yet not be able to hinder it. u i. e. I ſhall by my Providence, give him Power over them, which I know he will abuſe; and I ſhall not reſtrain him from ſo doing, either by my Grace or Providence. x To one who is very near to thee, even thy beloved Son Abſolom. But God expreſſeth this here darkly and doubtfully, that the accompliſhment of it might not be hindred. y In the open Day, and in a publick Place. The accompliſhment hereof, ſee chap. 16. 22.

12 For thou didſt it ſecretly: but I will do this thing z before all Iſrael, and before the ſun.

z i. e. I will execute this Judgment. This God did by inclining David's Heart to leave his Concubines, to keep his Houſe, and ſo to come into Abſalom's Power, by giving up Achitophel to his own Carnal Policy, which readily ſuggeſted to him that wicked and deſperate Counſel; and by expoſing Abſalom to theſe Temptations, and leaving him to his own vicious Inclinations, which God certainly knew would in ſuch Circumſtances produce that Effect. So the Sin was wholly from Men; but the ordering and over-ruling their Miſtakes and Miſcarriages to this end, was from God.

* Pſal. 32. 5. & 51. 4.

a I now freely confeſs, that Sin which I have hitherto ſo wickedly ſmothered; and I have deſerved all theſe, and far heavier Judgments for it; and I am more troubled for my Sin againſt my Soveraign Lord and gracious God, than for the ſhame and puniſhment that follow it. How ſerious and pathetical this Confeſſion was, we may ſee, Pſalm 51. b i. e. So far as concerns thy own Life and Eternal Salvation: both which were forfeited by this Sin. c As by thy own Sentence v. 5. thou didſt deſerve, and as thou mighteſt expect to do by my immediate Stroke; though poſſibly thou mighteſt elude the Law, before a humane Judicature; or there be no Superior to execute the Law upon thee.

14 Howbeit, becauſe by this deed thou haſt given great occaſion to the enemies of the LORD to blaſpheme d, the child alſo that is born unto thee ſhall ſurely die e.

d i. e. To reproach both God and his People, and the true Religion. For though theſe were not concerned in David's Sin, the blame and ſhame of which ſhould have been appropriated to him; yet Heathens and wicked Men would, according to their own evil Minds, and malicious Hearts, faſten the Reproach of this upon God and Religion; as if God were unholy, becauſe the Man after God's own Heart was ſo; and partial, in conniving at ſo great a Crime, when Saul was caſt off for a far leſs Sin: and negligent in the Government of the World, and of his Church in ſuffering ſuch a Wickedneſs, as even Heathens have abhorred to go unpuniſhed; and as if all Religion were but Hypocriſie and Impoſture, and a pretence for Villanies. Beſides, the Ammonites upon their ſucceſs againſt Uriah and his Party, did doubtleſs magnifie and praiſe their Idols, and blaſpheme the God of Iſrael. e Which, conſidering his Affection to it, and the Puniſhment threatned to the poor innocent Infant for his ſake, muſt needs be grievous to him.

15 And Nathan departed unto his houſe: and the LORD ſtrook the child f that Uriahs wife bare unto David, and it was very ſick.

f With ſome ſudden and dangerous Diſtemper.

16 David therefore beſought God for the child g, and David † faſted, and went in h, and lay all night upon the earth.

g Suppoſing the Threatning might be conditional, and ſo the execution of it prevented by Prayer. h To wit, into his Cloſet, as Matth. 6. 6. to pray ſolitarily and earneſtly as he had done with others. Or this word may only note his progreſs and continuance in the Actions here expreſſed.

17 And the elders of his houſe i aroſe, and went to him, to raiſe him up from the earth: but he would not, neither did he eat bread with them k.

i The chief Officers of his Kingdom and Houſhold who were there preſent. k This exceſſive Mourning did not proceed ſimply from the fear of the loſs of the Child; but from a deep ſence of his Sin, and from the Divine Diſpleaſure manifeſted herein; and particularly from a juſt apprehenſion of the Injury which he had done to the Child by his Sin, which Juſtice obliged him to do his utmoſt to repair by Prayer, or other means.

18 And it came to paſs on the ſeventh day l, that the child died: and the ſervants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they ſaid m, Behold, while the child was yet alive, we ſpake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then † vex himſelf, if we tell him that the child is dead?

l Either, 1. From the beginning of the Diſtemper. Or, rather, 2. From the Day of his birth, which is the moſt uſual way of computation of Mens Days or Years: for it is apparent, that this happened during the time of David's Faſting, and lying upon the Earth, v. 20. which it is not probable that it laſted for ſeven Days.

19 But when David ſaw that his ſervants whiſpered, David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David ſaid unto his ſervants, Is the child dead? And they ſaid, He is dead.

m Whiſpering among themſelves, v. 19.

20 Then David aroſe from the earth, and waſhed, and anointed himſelf, and changed his apparel, and came into the houſe of the LORD n, and worſhipped: then he came to his own houſe, and when he required, they ſet bread before him, and he did eat.

n i. e. To the Tabernacle, to confeſs his Sin before the Lord, and to own his Juſtice in this ſtroke, and the other Threatnings, and to deprecate his great and juſt Diſpleaſure, and to acknowledge God's rich Mercy, in ſparing his own Life; and to offer ſuch Sacrifices as were proper and required in ſuch Caſes. Nor did David tranſgreſs that Law, Numb. 19. 14. in going thither before the ſeven Days were expired. For neither is there the ſame reaſon of a Tent, and of a Dwelling-Houſe, where the ſeveral Rooms of the Houſe are as diſtinct as ſeveral Tents; nor is it here ſaid, that David was in the ſame Room, or in the ſame Houſe where the Child died.

21 Then ſaid his ſervants unto him, What thing is this that thou haſt done? thou didſt faſt and weep for the child while it was alive, but when the child was dead, thou didſt riſe and eat bread.

22 And he ſaid, While the child was yet alive, I faſted and wept: * for I ſaid, Who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live o?

* See Iſa. 38. 1. Jon. 3. 9.

o For God's threatning of the Child's death might be conditional, as that was of *Nineveh*s Deſtruction, Jonah 3. 4.

23 But now he is dead, wherefore ſhould I faſt p? can I bring him back again? I ſhall go to him q, but he ſhall not return to me.

p Seeing Faſting and Prayer cannot now prevail with God for his Life. q Into the ſtate of the Dead, in which he is, and into Heaven, where I doubt not I ſhall find him.

r Who was now much dejected, both for her former Sin, which ſhe truly repented of, as may be gathered from Prov. 31. 1, 2, 3, &c. and for the loſs of that Child which was very dear to her, and which might ſeem to be the only tie of David's Affection to her; which being now dead, ſhe might think that David would utterly caſt her off, and leave her to that Shame and Puniſhment which ſhe had deſerved. s To wit, into her Chamber or Bed. t i. e. The Lord declared to David, that he loved his Son, notwithſtanding the juſt cauſe which David had given to God to alienate his Affections from him.

25 And he ſent by the hand of Nathan the prophet; and he called his name || Jedidiah, becauſe of the LORD u.

|| That is, beloved of the LORD.

u Either, becauſe of the Lord's Love to him, as the Name ſignifies: or becauſe the Lord commanded him to do ſo.

26 And Joab fought againſt Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and took the royal city x.

x i. e. That part of the City where was the King's Palace, where he ordinarily reſided; though now it ſeems he was retired to a ſtrong Fort.

27 And Joab ſent meſſengers to David and ſaid, I have fought againſt Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters y.

y The ſame Royal City ſo called, becauſe it either ſtood beſide the River, or was encompaſſed with Water, both for defence and delight. Although the words are by ſome learned Men rendred thus, I have taken, or intercepted, or cut off water from the city. Which well agrees, both with the words, eth being here put for meeth, which is frequent; as Gen. 4. 1. and 44. 4. Exod. 9. 29, &c. and with the Relation of Joſephus the Jew, who ſaith, The Conduits of Water were cut off, and ſo the City was taken: And with a Relation of Polybius concerning the ſame City, which was taken afterwards by Antiochus in the ſame manner, by cutting off Water from the City.

28 Now therefore, gather the reſt of the people together, and encamp againſt the city, and take it z: leſt I take the city, and † it be called after my name a.

z For having taken one part of the City, he concluded the remaining part of it could not long ſtand out. a Leſt I have the Honour of taking it. Thus he ſeeks to ingratiate himſelf with the King, by pretending great care for his Honour and Intereſt.

29 And David gathered all the people together b: and went to Rabbah: and fought againſt it, and took it.

b Either becauſe Joab needed more help for the Storming of the City: or, at leaſt, for the Proſecution of the Victory, and Execution of Juſtice upon the whole Land: or becauſe he would have them all to partake of the ſpoil of the City, which was there in great abundance, v. 30. the rather becauſe they were all expoſed to the hazard of utter Ruine, in caſe the Ammonites had prevailed againſt them.

30 * And he took their kings crown from off his head, (the weight whereof was a talent of gold c, with the precious ſtones) and it was ſet on Davids head: and he brought forth the ſpoil of the city † in great abundance.

c Or rather, the price whereof, &c. For as the Hebrew Shekel ſignifies both a Weight, and a piece of Money of a certain price; ſo alſo may miſhkal, as proceeding from the ſame Root. And in general, the ſame words both in Hebrew, Greek, end Latin, are promiſcuouſly uſed, to ſignifie either Weight, or Price; as is well known to the Learned. And the addition of precious ſtones, which are never valued by the Weight of Gold, makes this ſignification here moſt proper, and probable. Moreover, the Weight might ſeem too great either for the King of Ammon, or for David to wear it upon his Head. Although, if this were meant of the Weight, it might be ſaid, that this was not a Crown to be worn ordinarily, but meerly to be put on upon the King's Head at his Coronation, or upon Solemn Occaſions, as here where this was done, in token of the Tranſlation of this Kingdom to David; and, it may be, it was held up, or ſupported by two Officers of State, that it might not be too burdenſome to him, and after a little while taken off.

31 And he brought forth the people that were therein d, and put them under ſaws e, and under harrows of iron, and under axes of iron f, and made them paſs through the brick-kiln g: and thus did he unto all the cities of the children of Ammon. So David and all the people returned unto Jeruſalem.

d The words are indefinite, and therefore not neceſſarily to be underſtood of all the People; for it had been barbarous to uſe Women and Children thus; but of the Men of War, and eſpecially, of thoſe who had been the Chief Actors or Abbettors of that Villanous Action againſt David's Ambaſſadors, (which was contrary to the Law of Nature, and of Nations, and of all Humanity,) and of the Dreadful War enſuing upon it; for which, they might ſeem to deſerve the ſevereſt Puniſhments. Although indeed there ſeems to have been too much Rigour uſed; eſpecially, becauſe theſe dreadful Deaths were inflicted not only upon thoſe great Counſellors, who were the only Authors of that vile Uſage of the Ambaſſadors; but upon a great number of the People who were innocent from that Crime. And therefore it is probably conceived, That David exerciſed this Cruelty whilſt his Heart was hardned, and impenitent; and when he was bereaved of that free and good Spirit of God, which would have taught him more Mercy and Moderation. e He ſawed them to Death: of which Puniſhment, we have Examples both in Scripture, Heb. 11. 37. and in other Authors. f He cauſed them to be laid down upon the Ground, and torn by ſharp Iron Harrows drawn over them, and hewed in pieces by keen Axes. g i. e. To be burnt in Brick-Kilns. Or, made them to paſs through the furnace of Malchen: i. e. of Moloch, called alſo Milchom, and here Malchen; Puniſhing them with their own Sin, and with the ſame kind of Puniſhment which they inflicted upon their own Children: See 2 Kings 16. 3. and 23. 10. and Levit. 18. 21. and 20. 2. and Deut. 18. 10.

CHAP. XIII.

Amnon loveth his ſiſter Tamar: raviſheth her: then hateth and driveth her away, 1,—19. Abſalom entertaineth and revengeth her with Amnon's death, 20——29. David is grieved: Abſalom fleeth to Geſur, 30,—39.

AND it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom the ſon of David had a fair ſiſter a, whoſe name was Tamar: and Amnon the ſon of David loved her.

a His Siſter by Father and Mother: See 2 Sam. 3. 3.

2 And Amnon was ſo vexed, that he fell ſick b for his ſiſter Tamar, for ſhe was a virgin c, and † Amnon thought it hard for him to do any thing to her.

† Heb. it was marvellous, or hidden in the eyes of Amnon.

b The Paſſion of his Mind diſturbed his Body, as is uſual. c And therefore diligently kept, ſo as he could not get private Converſe with her; and withal Modeſt, and abhorring any compliance with his Luſtful Deſires, both from her Inclination and Intereſt.

3 But Amnon had a friend whoſe name was Jonadab, the ſon of Shimeah d, Davids brother: and Jonadab was a very † ſubtil man.

d Called alſo Shammah, 1 Sam. 16. 9.

4 And he ſaid unto him, Why art thou, being the kings ſon, † lean † from day to day e? wilt thou not tell me f? And Amnon ſaid unto him, I love Tamar my brother Abſaloms ſiſter.

e Heb. from morning to morning: for, whereas in the Day he had many Diverſions, and Refreſhments; in the Night he was peſter'd with tormenting Thoughts and Paſſions; the Effects whereof appeared in his Countenance in the Morning. f Thy ſure Friend and faithful Servant, who am ready to adviſe and aſſiſt thee.

5 And Jonadab ſaid unto him, Lay thee down on thy bed, and make thy ſelf ſick: and when thy father cometh to ſee thee, ſay unto him, I pray thee, let my ſiſter g Tamar come, and give me meat, and dreſs the meat in my ſight, that I may ſee it, and eat it at her hand h.

g So he calls her, to prevent the ſuſpicion of any diſhoneſt Deſign upon ſo near a Relation, whom neither Nature, nor Reſpect and Affection would permit him to vitiate. h Pretending, that his Stomach was ſo nice, that he could eat nothing but what he ſaw dreſſed, and that by a Perſon whom he much affected.

6 So Amnon lay down, and made himſelf ſick: and when the king was come to ſee him, Amnon ſaid unto the king, I pray thee, let Tamar my ſiſter come, and make me a couple of cakes in my ſight, that I may eat at her hand.

7 Then David ſent home to Tamar, ſaying, Go now to thy brother Amnons houſe, and dreſs him meat i.

i It is ſtrange, that ſo wiſe and ſagacious a Perſon, as David, did not ſee through ſo vain a Pretence: but that muſt be aſcribed partly to the Inſtincts of Nature, which generally preſerve near Relations from ſuch monſtrous Actions; and partly to God's Providence, which blinded David's Mind, that he might bring upon him the deſigned and threatned Judgments.

8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnons houſe, (and he was laid down k) and ſhe took || flour, and kneaded it, and made cakes in his ſight, and did bake the cakes.

k Upon his Bed, or rather his Couch.

9 And ſhe took a pan, and poured them out l before him, but he refuſed to eat. And Amnon ſaid, Have out all men from me: and they went out every man from him.

l Out of the Frying-pan into the Diſh.

10 And Amnon ſaid unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber m, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar took the cakes which ſhe had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

m An inner Chamber: either, 1. That wherein he lay ſick upon his Bed, where alſo Tamar made the Cakes in his ſight, who then carried them out into the next Room, to bring them in again when he called for them. Or rather, 2. Another Chamber. Amnon lying upon his Couch in one Chamber where the Company were with him, where alſo ſhe made the Cakes before him, firſt ſendeth all out of that Room, and then riſeth from his Couch, and, upon ſome pretence, goes into another ſecret Chamber, where he might have the better opportunity for his intended Wickedneſs.

11 And when ſhe had brought them unto him to eat, he took hold of her, and ſaid unto her, Come lie with me, my ſiſter.

12 And ſhe anſwered him, Nay, my brother n, do not † force me o: for * † no ſuch thing ought to be done in Iſrael p; do not thou this folly.

n Whom Nature both teacheth to abhor ſuch Thoughts and obligeth to defend me from ſuch a Miſchief with thy utmoſt hazard, if another ſhould attempt it. o Thou ſhouldeſt abhor it, if I were willing; but to add Violence to thy Filthineſs, is Abominable. p Among God's People who are taught better things; who alſo will be infinitely reproached for ſuch a baſe Action.

13 And I, whither ſhall I cauſe my ſhame to go q? And as for thee, thou ſhalt be as one of the fools in Iſrael r: now therefore I pray thee, ſpeak unto the king, for he will not withhold me from thee ſ.

q How can I either endure or avoid the ſhame and reproach of it? r i.e. Loathſom and contemptible to all the People, whereas now thou art in great Reputation, and Heir apparent of the Crown. ſ This ſhe ſpake, either becauſe ſhe did not underſtand, or not remember that the Law of God prohibited ſuch Marriages between a Brother and his half-Siſter: or, becauſe ſhe thought her Royal Father could or would diſpenſe with it, upon this extraordinary occaſion, to ſave his firſt-born Son's life: or, that by this pretence ſhe might free her ſelf from her preſent and moſt urgent danger, knowing ſhe ſhould have opportunity enough to prevent other miſchiefs.

14 Howbeit, he would not hearken unto her voice: but being ſtronger than ſhe, forced her, and lay with her.

15 ¶ Then Amnon hated her † exceedingly s, ſo that the hatred wherewith he hated her, was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her: and Amnon ſaid unto her, Ariſe, be gone.

s Partly, becauſe his Luſt being now ſatisfied, his Mind and Conſcience had a true and clear proſpect, and deep ſenſe of the natural turpitude and baſeneſs of the action, and of that ſhame, and contempt, and loſs, and miſchief, which was likely to follow it, and conſequently an utter averſion from her who had been the inſtrument and occaſion of his ſin; and principally, by the juſt Judgment of God both upon Amnon and David, that ſo the ſin might be made publick, and way made for the ſucceeding Tragedies: for otherwiſe it would probably produce Love and Kindneſs to her, as it did in another, Gen. 34. 2, 3. eſpecially in him, whom both Nature, and Intereſt, and even Luſt it ſelf, obliged to allay her grief and ſhame, by all poſſible demonſtrations of kindneſs.

16 And ſhe ſaid unto him, There is no cauſe ∴: this evil in ſending me away, is greater than the other t that thou didſt unto me: but he would not hearken unto her.

17 Then he called his ſervant that miniſtred unto him, and ſaid, Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.

18 And ſhe had a garment of divers colours u upon her: for with ſuch robes were the kings daughters that were virgins, apparelled. Then his ſervant brought her out, and bolted the door after her.

u Of Embroidered work. Compare Gen. 37. 3.

19 ¶ And Tamar put aſhes on her head, and rent her garment x of divers colours that was on her, and laid her hand on her head y, and went on, crying z.

x To ſignifie her grief for ſome Calamity which had befallen her, and what that was, concurring circumſtances did eaſily diſcover. y In token of grief and ſhame, as if ſhe were unable and aſhamed to ſhew her face. See Jer. 2. 37. z To manifeſt her abhorrency of the Fact, and that it was not done by her conſent.

20 And Abſalom her brother ſaid unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee a? but hold now thy peace, my ſiſter: he is thy brother b, † regard not this thing c. So Tamar remained † deſolate d in her brother Abſaloms houſe.

a i.e. Lien with thee. Behold, and imitate the modeſty of Scripture expreſſions. b Therefore thou muſt forgive and forget the Injury; therefore thy diſgracing of him will be a blot to us all: therefore thou wilt not get right from David againſt him, becauſe he is as near and dear to him as thou: therefore thy diſhonour is the leſs, becauſe thou waſt not abuſed by any mean Perſon, but by a King's Son: therefore this Evil muſt be born, becauſe it cannot be revenged. And thus he covers his deſign of taking vengeance upon him at the firſt opportunity. c So as to torment thy ſelf. d Neglected and forſaken by others, none now ſeeking her in marriage; and through ſhame and dejection of Mind, giving her ſelf up to ſolitude and retirement.

e To wit, with Amnon: whom yet he did not puniſh, at leaſt ſo ſeverely as he ſhould: either from the conſcience of his own guilt in the like kind; or, from that fooliſh indulgence which he oft ſhewed to his Children: or, becauſe the caſe was perplexed: for if he had been put to death for the Fact, by virtue of that Law, Deut. 22. 23, 24. ſhe alſo, who was innocent, muſt have died with him, becauſe ſhe did not cry out: although indeed that Law did not reach the preſent caſe, Tamar not being betrothed to an Husband: and for the following Law concerning a Virgin not betrothed that could have no place here: he could not force Amnon to marry Tamar, becauſe that Marriage had been inceſtuous.

22 And Abſalom ſpake unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad f: for g Abſalom hated Amnon, becauſe he had forced his ſiſter Tamar.

f i.e. He ſaid nothing at all to him; to wit, about that buſineſs. It is a Synecdochical expreſſion, uſed in like manner, Gen. 31. 24. He neither debated it with him, nor threatned him for it; but ſeemed willing to cover it, and paſs it by with Brotherly kindneſs. For if he had wholly forborn all diſcourſe and converſe with him, it would have raiſed great jealouſies in Amnon and David, and hindred him in his intended and deſired revenge. g Or rather, but, or though, as the Hebrew Particle, Chi, commonly ſignifies: for the following Clauſe is not added as a reaſon of the former, but by way of exception or oppoſition. Though he outwardly expreſſed no diſlike of the Fact, yet he inwardly hated him.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs after two full years ∴, that Abſalom * had ſheep-ſhearers h in Baal-Hazor, which is beſides Ephraim i: And Abſalom invited all the kings ſons.

* 1 Sam. 25. 4.

∴ This circumſtance of time is noted, partly, as an aggravation of Abſalom's malice, which was ſo inveterate and implacable: and partly, as an act of Abſalom's policy, that both Amnon and David might more ſecurely comply with his deſires, as being now free from all ſuſpicion of revenge. h According to the manner of thoſe ancient times, when Princes did not give themſelves up to ſloth and luxury, but ſpent their time and pains in ſome honeſt employment. i Either, Firſt, The City called Ephraim, or Ephrem, John 11. 54. Or, Secondly, The Tribe of Ephraim, towards or nigh unto which this place was ſituate.

24 And Abſalom came to the king, and ſaid, Behold, now, thy ſervant hath ſheep-ſhearers, Let the king, I beſeech thee, and his ſervants go with thy ſervant k.

k To the Feaſt, which was uſual upon thoſe occaſions. See Gen. 38. 12. 1 Sam. 25. 7, 11.

25 And the king ſaid to Abſalom, Nay, my ſon, let us not all now go, leſt we be chargeable unto thee. And he preſſed him l: howbeit he would not go, but bleſſed him m.

l Pretending great deſire of his preſence there, to prevent any jealouſies, which otherwiſe he thought would ariſe in the Breaſt of a King ſo wiſe and experienced, and under the expectation of God's dreadful Judgments to be inflicted upon his Family. m Diſmiſſed him with thanks for his kindneſs, and with his Fatherly bleſſing.

26 Then ſaid Abſalom, If not, I pray thee, let my brother Amnon go with us n. And the king ſaid unto him, Why ſhould he go with thee?

n For the King deſigned (as the following words ſhew) to keep him at home with him, as being his eldeſt Son, and Heir of his Kingdom: otherwiſe Abſalom would never have made particular mention of him; which now he was forced to do. Nor did this deſire of Amnon's preſence want ſpecious Pretences, as that ſeeing the King would not, he who was next to him might, honour him with his company; and that this might be a manifeſt and publick token of that Love and Friendſhip which was between him and his Brother, notwithſtanding the former occaſion of difference.

27 But Abſalom preſſed him, that he let Amnon and all the kings ſons go with him o.

o It is ſtrange that his urgent deſire of Amnon's company raiſed no ſuſpicion in ſo wiſe a King; but God blinded his Mind that he might execute his Judgments upon David, and bring upon Amnon the juſt puniſhment of his lewdneſs.

28 ¶ Now Abſalom had commanded his ſervants, ſaying, Mark ye now when Amnons heart is merry with wine p, and when I ſay unto you, Smite Amnon, then kill him, fear not: || have not I commanded you q? be couragious, and be † valiant.

|| Or, wi ye not, ſi I have co manded you? † Heb. ſo of valo

p When he leaſt ſuſpects, and will be moſt unable to prevent the evil. q I who am the King's Son, and, when Amnon is gone, his Heir: who therefore ſhall eaſily obtain pardon for you, and will liberally reward you.

29 And the ſervants of Abſalom did unto Amnon as Abſalom had commanded: then all the kings ſons aroſe, and every man † gat him up upon his mule r, and fled.

r Which were in uſe amongſt the Iſraelites. See 1 King. 23. 33. For though they might not promote ſuch mixed kinds of procreation, Levit. 19. 19. yet they might uſe Creatures ſo engendred.

30 ¶ And it came to paſs, while they were in the way, that tidings came to David, ſaying, Abſalom hath ſlain all the kings ſons ſ, and there is not one of them left.

ſ Which was not improbable, when the Sword was once drawn among them, and one of them killed, which might provoke the reſt to draw their Swords, both to defend themſelves, and to revenge their Brother's death, and thereby occaſion the death of all. And God ſuffered this falſe report to be ſpread for David's greater terror and humiliation, that he who had formerly rejoyced in the tidings of Uriah's death, might now be tormented with the report of the death of all his Sons.

31 Then the king aroſe, and tare his garments, and lay on the earth, and all his ſervants ſtood by with their clothes rent.

32 And Jonadab the ſon of Shimeah, Davids brother t, anſwered and ſaid, Let not my lord ſuppoſe that they have ſlain all the young men the kings ſons: for Amnon only is dead: for by the † appointment u of Abſalom this hath been || determined, from the day that he forced his ſiſter Tamar.

t A Man of great craft and ſubtilty, and one that had exact knowledge of Amnon's Fact, and of Abſalom's Temper. u Or, by the command; Heb. mouth, put for command, Numb. 3. 16. x It was reſolved from that time in his Breaſt: but the word of command was not then given to others; for that would probably have hindred his deſign. But all this he ſeems to have ſpoken from a probable conjecture, rather than of certain knowledge, as appears by the ſequel.

33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing to heart, to think that all the kings ſons are dead: for Amnon only is dead.

34 But Abſalom fled y. And the young man that kept the watch lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, there came much people by the way of the hill-ſide behind him z.

y He who had undertaken to defend his Servants, flies for his own life. z Behind the Watch-man: for it ſeems they did not come in the direct Road, where the Watch-man looked for them, but (for ſome reaſon or fanſie they had) fetched a compaſs, and came that way which he leaſt expected them.

35 And Jonadab ſaid unto the king, Behold, the kings ſons come: † as thy ſervant ſaid, ſo it is.

36 And it came to paſs as ſoon as he had made an end of ſpeaking, that behold, the kings ſons came, and lift up their voice and wept: and the king alſo and his ſervants wept † very ſore.

37 ¶ But Abſalom fled, and went to Talmai, the ſon of || Ammihud king of Geſhur ∴: and David mourned for his ſon every day.

|| Or, Ammihur.

∴ His Mothers Father, 2 Sam. 2. 3. that he might have preſent protection and ſuſtenance from him; and that by his mediation he might obtain his Father's pardon and favour.

38 So Abſalom fled, and went to Geſhur, and was there three years.

39 And * the ſoul of king David || longed to go forth unto Abſalom a: for he was comforted concerning Amnon, ſeeing he was dead.

* 1 Sam. 24. 10. Pſal. 16. 2.

a To wit, to viſit him, or to ſend for him. And thus this word, the Soul, is here underſtood, partly, from the Hebrew Verb, which being of the Femine Gender, agrees not with David, but with David's Soul; and partly, by comparing this with other places, where the ſame Verb is uſed, and the Soul expreſſed, as Pſal. 84. 3. and 119. 81. But as this Supplement may ſeem too bold, ſo this Verſion ſeems not ſo well to agree with that Phraſe of going out to Abſalom; for David neither deſired nor intended to go out to Abſalom, but that Abſalom ſhould come home to him. And theſe words may be, and are otherwiſe rendred, by the moſt ancient and remarkable Interpreters to this purpoſe, And king David made an end of going out (to wit, in an Hoſtile manner, as that Verb is oft uſed, Gen. 14. 18. 2 Sam. 11. 1.) againſt (for ſo the Hebrew Particle, El, is oft uſed, as Jer. 34. 7. Ezek. 13. 9, 20. Amos 7. 15.) Abſalom; i. e. having uſed ſome, though it is probable, but cold and remiſs endeavours to purſue after Abſalom, and to fetch him from his Grand-fathers to receive condign Puniſhment, he now gave over thoughts of it. Thus the ſame Verb, and that in the ſame conjugation, is uſed in the ſame manner, 1 King. 3. 1. he made an end of building. It is to be objected, That the Hebrew Verb is of the Feminine Gender, and therefore doth not agree with King David, which is Maſculine. It may be anſwered, That Enallage of Genders is a moſt frequent Figure; and as the Maſculine Gender is ſometimes applied to Women when they do ſome manly and gallant Action, Exod. 1. 21. ſo the Feminine Gender is ſometimes uſed of Men when they ſhew an effeminate tenderneſs in their diſpoſition; which is the caſe here, as ſome learned Hebricians have noted.

CHAP. XIV.

Joab ſuborning a widow of Tekoah by a parable to incline the king's heart to fetch home Abſalom, bringeth him to Jeruſalem, but not into David's ſight, 1,—24. Abſalom's beauty, hair, and children, 25,—27. After two years Joab bringeth him into the kings preſence, 28,—33.

NOw Joab the ſon of Zeruiah, perceived that the kings heart was toward Abſalom a.

a He deſired to ſee him, but was aſhamed to ſhow kindneſs to one whom God's Law and his own Conſcience obliged him to puniſh; and wanted a fair pretence, which therefore Joab gave him.

2 And Joab ſent to Tekoah b, and fetcht thence a wiſe woman c, and ſaid unto her, I pray thee, feign thy ſelf to be a mourner, and put on now mourning apparel, and anoint not thy ſelf with oil d, but be as a woman that had a long time mourned for the dead:

b A City of Judah, 2 Chron. 11. 5, 6. One of Jeruſalem was not convenient, leſt the King might know the Perſon, or ſearch out the buſineſs. And beſides, this Woman ſeems to be of great eminency for her Wiſdom, as the following diſcourſe manifeſts. c Rather than a Man, becauſe Women can more eaſily expreſs their Paſſions, and do ſooner procure pity in their Miſeries, and an anſwer to their Requeſts. d As they uſed to do when they were out of a mourning ſtate. See Ruth 3. 3. Matth. 6. 17.

3 And come to the king, and ſpeak on this manner unto him: ſo Joab put the words in her mouth.

4 ¶ And when the woman of Tekoah ſpake to the king, ſhe fell on her face to the ground, and did obeiſance, and ſaid, † Help, O king.

5 And the king ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? And ſhe anſwered, I am indeed a widow-woman e, and mine husband is dead.

e One of them who moſt need thy compaſſion and aſſiſtance, and whom thou art by God's Law obliged in a ſingular manner to protect and relieve.

6 And thy handmaid had two ſons, and they two ſtrove together in the field, and there was † none to part them f, but the one ſmote the other, and ſlew him g.

f And therefore there is no witneſs, either that he killed him, or how he killed him, whether from ſome ſudden paſſion and great provocation, or in his own neceſſary defence, or otherwiſe. g As the avengers of Blood report.

7 And behold, the whole family is riſen againſt thine handmaid, and they ſaid, Deliver him that ſmote his brother, that we may kill him h, for the life of his brother whom he ſlew, and we will deſtroy the heir alſo i: and ſo they ſhall quench my coal which is left k, and ſhall not leave to my husband l neither name nor remainder † upon the earth.

h According to the Law, Numb. 35. 19. Deut. 19. 12. i So they plainly diſcover, that their proſecution of him was not ſo much from love of Juſtice, as from a covetous deſire to deprive him of the Inheritance and to transfer it to themſelves; which ſelf-intereſt might juſtly render their Teſtimony ſuſpected. Or, perhaps theſe words are not ſpoken as the expreſs words of the proſecutors (who can hardly be thought ſo directly to expreſs a ſiniſter deſign) but as the Womans Inference or Comment upon what they were doing: (for this would be indeed the reſult of it, though they did not ſay ſo in expreſs words) thereby to repreſent her caſe as the more deſerving pity. k The poor remainder of my light and comfort, by whom alone my hopes may be revived and repaired. l She names him rather than her ſelf, becauſe Children bear the Names of their Fathers, not of their Mothers.

8 And the king ſaid unto the woman, Go to thine houſe, and I will give charge concerning thee m.

m That thy Cauſe may be juſtly and truly examined, and thy Son preſerved from their unjuſt and malicious proceedings.

9 And the woman of Tekoah ſaid unto the king, My lord, O king, the iniquity be on me, and on my fathers houſe: and the king and his throne be guiltleſs n.

n The ſenſe is, either, firſt, this, If I do not inform thee aright, and thou thereby beeſt drawn to give an unrighteous Sentence on my behalf, I am willing to bear the whole blame of it before God and Men; I acknowledge thou art wholly innocent in the caſe. Compare Gen. 27. 13. Or, ſecondly, this, If through thy forgetfulneſs or neglect of this my juſt cauſe, my Adverſaries prevail and deſtroy my Son, my deſire is, that God would not lay it to the King's charge, but rather to me and mine, ſo the King may be exempted thereby. Whereby ſhe both inſinuates her great eſteem of, and affection for the King, thereby winning upon him to compaſs her deſign; and withal implies, that ſuch an omiſſion of the Kings will bring guilt upon him; and yet moſt prudently and decently orders her Phraſe ſo as not to ſeem to blame or threaten the King. Compare Exod 5. 16. 2 Sam. 20. 16. This ſenſe ſeems beſt to agree with David's anſwer, which ſhews that ſhe deſired ſome further aſſurance of the King's Care and Juſtice in her concern.

10 And the king ſaid, Whoſoever ſaith ought unto thee, bring him to me, and he ſhall not touch thee o any more.

o i. e. So as to hurt or moleſt thee, by purſuing thy Son.

11 Then ſaid ſhe, I pray thee, let the king remember the LORD thy God p, † that thou wouldeſt not ſuffer the revengers of blood do deſtroy any more q, leſt they deſtroy my ſon r. And he ſaid, As the LORD liveth, there ſhall not one hair of thy ſon fall to the earth ſ.

p The ſenſe is, either, firſt, Make mention (as this Hebrew Verb is oft rendred) of the Name of the Lord thy God, to wit, in an Oath; i. e. ſwear to me by God, That thou wilt protect me and my Son againſt the Revenger of Blood. For ſo David did in compliance with this deſire of hers. Only ſhe was forced to expreſs her Mind in more general and ambiguous terms, becauſe it had been preſumption and rudeneſs for her in plain terms to deſire the King's Oath, as if ſhe durſt not truſt his word; yet withal ſhe inſinuates her meaning ſo plainly, that the King underſtood it; and yet ſo handſomly and elegantly, that the King was much pleaſed with her Wiſdom, and thereby inclined to grant her requeſt. Or, ſecondly, this, Remember the gracious Nature of thy God, who is not too ſevere and rigorous to mark at all that is amiſs, nor doth cut off every man-ſlayer, as appears from Numb. 35. and from the example of Cain, and from thy ſelf, O King: though this ſhe expreſſeth not, but only uſeth ſuch words which ſhe knew would give ſo wiſe and good a King occaſion to reflect upon himſelf, and upon the goodneſs of God in ſparing him, though a wilful Murtherer, that thereby he might be obliged to imitate God, in ſparing the Perſon whom ſhe deſigned. Or, Thirdly, this, Remember the Lord, in whoſe preſence thou haſt made me this promiſe, and who will be a witneſs againſt thee, if thou breakeſt it. q Heb. leſt the avenger of blood multiply to deſtroy; i. e. leſt they cauſe one deſtruction to another, and add my ſurviving Son to him who is ſlain already. Or, leſt thou doſt multiply avengers of blood to deſtroy; i. e. leſt by thy connivence at their cruel and malicious proceedings againſt my Son, thou doſt encourage Avengers of Blood to the like furious Practices, and thereby increaſe the number of that ſort of Men, and upon that pretence occaſion multitudes of Murthers. r Or, and let them not deſtroy my Son; the Future Tenſe, being put for the Imperative Mood, as is frequent. ſ i. e. He ſhall not ſuffer the leaſt damage. We have the ſame Phraſe uſed 1 Sam. 14. 45. 1 King. 1. 52. Act. 27. 34. Compare Mat. 10. 30.

12 Then the woman ſaid t, Let thine handmaid, I pray thee, ſpeak one word unto my lord the king. And he ſaid, Say on:

t Having obliged the King by his Oath in her ſuppoſed caſe, ſhe now throws off the Veil, and begins to apply this Parable to the Kings and Kingdoms preſent caſe.

13 And the woman ſaid, Wherefore then haſt thou thought ſuch a thing againſt the people of God u? for the king doth ſpeak this thing as one which is faulty x, in that the king doth not fetch home again his baniſhed y.

u If thou wouldſt not permit the Avengers of Blood to moleſt me, or to deſtroy my Son, who are but two Perſons; how unreaſonable is it that thou ſhouldeſt proceed in thy endeavours to avenge Amnon's Blood upon Abſalom, whoſe death would be highly injurious and grievous to the whole Commonwealth of Iſrael, all whoſe Eyes are upon him as the Heir of the Crown, and a wiſe, and valiant, and amiable Perſon, unhappy only in this one act of killing Amnon, which was done upon an high and hainous provocation, and whereof thou thy ſelf didſt give the occaſion by permitting Amnon to go unpuniſhed? x By thy Word, and Promiſe, and Oath given to me for my Son, thou condemneſt thy ſelf for not allowing the ſame Equity towards thy own Son. y To wit, Abſalom, from that Heatheniſh Country where he is in evident danger of being infected with their Idolatry and other Vices: which is likely to be a great and publick Miſchief to all thy People, if he come to Reign in thy ſtead, which he is very likely to do. It is true, there was a conſiderable diſparity between her Sons, and Abſalom's caſe, the one being a raſh and ſudden action, the other a deliberate and premeditated Murther; but that may ſeem to be balanced in ſome meaſure; partly, by Amnon's great and laſting provocation; and principally, by the vaſt difference between a private Injury, which was her caſe, and a publick calamity and grievance, which ſhe affirmed, and the King eaſily believed was Abſolom's caſe: And what David ſaid in the caſe of Joab's Murther of Abner, That he could not revenge it, becauſe the ſons of Zeruiah were too hard for him, 2 Sam. 3. 39. the like peradventure might have been ſaid in this caſe, where the Peoples hearts may ſeem to have been univerſally and vehemently ſet upon Abſalom, and the rather, becauſe his long baniſhment moved their pity, and his abſence made him more deſirable, as it frequently happens among People; and therefore it might really be out of the King's power to puniſh him; and ſo he might ſeem to be obliged to ſpare him for the common ſafety of his whole Kingdom.

|| Or, becauſe God hath not taken away his life, he hath alſo deviſed means, &c.

z Heb. In dying we ſhall die; i. e. we ſhall certainly and ſuddenly die all of us, both thou, O King, who therefore art obliged to take due care of thy Succeſſor, who is Abſalom; and Abſalom, who, if he do not die by the hand of Juſtice, muſt ſhortly die by the neceſſity of Nature: and Amnon too muſt have died in the common way of all fleſh, if Abſalom had not cut him off. Therefore, O King, be not implacable towards Abſalom for nipping a Plower a little before its time of fading, and reſtore him to us all before he die in a ſtrange Land. a Which is quickly drunk up and buried in the Earth, and cannot be recovered. b To wit, ſo far as to exempt him from this common Law of dying. But this Verſion ſeems not to agree with the Scripture-Phraſe: for the accepting of a perſon is never to my knowledge expreſſed in Hebrew by Naſa Nepheſh, which is the Phraſe here, but by Naſa Panim, every where. The words therefore may be rendred either thus: yet God will not take away, or doth not uſe to take away (the Future Tenſe oft noting a continued act, as Hebricians obſerve) the ſoul, or ſouls, or lives of Men, to wit, by violence. God doth not ſeverely and inſtantly cut off Offenders, but ſuffers them to live till they die by the courſe of Nature; and therefore ſo ſhouldſt thou do too. Or, rather thus: yet God hath not taken away his ſoul or life; the Pronoun, his, being underſtood here, as it is in many other places, and as being eaſily ſupplied out of the context. So the ſenſe is, God hath hitherto ſpared him, and did not ſuffer his Brethren to kill him, as in reaſon might have been expected; nor hath God himſelf yet cut him off for his Murther, as he oft doth with Perſons who are out of the Magiſtrates reach; but hath hitherto preſerved him even in a Heatheniſh Land. All which are intimations that God would have him ſpared. c Or, but hath deviſed means, &c. i. e. hath given Laws to this purpoſe, That the man-ſlayer who is baniſhed ſhould not always continue in baniſhment, but upon the High-Prieſts death return to his own City. Whereby he hath ſhewed his pleaſure, that the Avenger of Blood ſhould not implacably perſiſt in ſeeking revenge, and that the man-ſlayer ſhould be ſpared. Or rather, thus, but thinketh thoughts, or, but hath deſigned, or, therefore he intendeth that he who is baniſhed (to wit, Abſalom) be not (always) expelled or baniſhed from him; i. e. from God and from his People, and from the place of his worſhip, but that he ſhould return home to him. So the ſenſe is, That God by ſparing Abſalom's life in the midſt of dangers, did ſufficiently intimate, that he would in due time bring him back to his Land and People.

15 Now therefore that I am come to ſpeak of this thing unto my lord the king, it is becauſe the people have made me afraid d: and thy handmaid ſaid e, I will now ſpeak unto the king; it may be that the king will perform the requeſt of his handmaid.

d The truth is, I was even forced to this bold Addreſs to thee, by the diſpoſition and condition of thy People, who are diſcontented at Abſalom's perpetual baniſhment, and full of fears; either leſt, upon thy death, which none knoweth how ſoon it may happen, they ſhould be involved in a Civil War about thy Succeſſor; or leſt, in the mean time, if Abſalom by his Father-in-laws aſſiſtance invade the Land, and endeavour by force to re-gain and ſecure his Right to the Succeſſion, the People, who have a great opinion of him, and kindneſs for him, and think he is very hardly uſed, ſhould take up Arms for him; or leſt he who is thy Heir and Succeſſor ſhould by continual and familiar converſation with Heathens, be inſnared in their Errors, or alienated from the true Religion, and from God's Worſhip, from which he is now utterly excluded. e Or, therefore thy handmaid ſaid, either, within my ſelf; i. e. I intended: or, to the People, to quiet them.

16 For the king will hear f, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man g that would deſtroy me and my ſon h together out of the inheritance of God i:

f For I know the King is ſo wiſe and juſt, that I aſſure my ſelf of Audience and Acceptation. Which expectation of hers is cunningly inſinuated here, that the King might conceive himſelf obliged to anſwer it, and not to diſappoint her hope, nor to forfeit that good opinion which his Subjects now had of him. g To grant my requeſt concerning my Son, and conſequently the Peoples Petition concerning Abſalom. h Implying that her life was bound up in the life of her Son, and that ſhe could not out-live his death; (and ſuppoſing, it is like, that it might be David's caſe alſo, and would therefore touch him in a tender part, though it were not proper to ſay it expreſly:) and thereby ſuggeſting, that the tranquillity, ſafety, and comfort of the People of Iſrael, depended upon Abſalom's Reſtitution, and the ſettlement of the Succeſſion in him. i i. e. Out of that Inheritance which God hath given to me and mine: or, out of that Land which God gave to his People to be their Inheritance and Poſſeſſion, and in which alone God hath ſettled the place of his Preſence and Worſhip. Whereby ſhe intimates the danger of Abſalom's living in a ſtate of ſeparation from God, and his Houſe, and amongſt Idolaters.

17 Then thine handmaid ſaid, The word of my lord the king ſhall now be † comfortable k: for as an angel of God l, ſo is my lord the king † to diſcern good and bad m: therefore n the LORD thy God will be with thee o.

k I doubt not the King will give a gracious and ſatisfactory Anſwer to my Petition. l To wit, in Wiſdom, and Juſtice, and Goodneſs. m To hear and judge of Cauſes and Requeſts, whether they be juſt, and good, and fit to be granted, as mine is; or unrighteous, and unreaſonable, and fit to be rejected. So ſhe intimates her confidence in the Juſtice of her Cauſe, and thereby confirms the King in his purpoſe and promiſe to grant her Requeſt, and withal arms the King againſt the ſuggeſtions of them who ſhould adviſe him to a rigorous execution of God's Law againſt Abſalom, and be ready to cenſure him for reſtoring Abſalom, and this for want of that Angelical Wiſdom which the King had, who wiſely conſidered many things far above their reach. n Becauſe thou art ſo wiſe, and juſt, and pitiful, and gracious to thoſe who in ſtrict Juſtice deſerve puniſhment. o God will own and ſtand by thee in this thy act of Grace: or, God will proſper thee in thy enterprizes: or, at leaſt, not be offended with thee.

18 Then the king anſwered and ſaid unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I ſhall ask thee. And the woman ſaid, Let my lord the king now ſpeak.

19 And the king ſaid, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this p? And the woman anſwered, and ſaid, As thy ſoul liveth, my lord the king, none can turn to the right hand, or to the left, from ought that my lord the king hath ſpoken q: for thy ſervant Joab he bade me, and he put all theſe words in the mouth of thine handmaid r:

p Haſt thou not ſaid and done this by Joab's direction and contrivance? q As the King is ſo wiſe that no Man can deceive him by any turnings or windings to the right or left hand, but he quickly ſearcheth out the truth in every thing; ſo (it is a folly to diſſemble, or go about to conceal it) it is even ſo, thou haſt now diſcovered the truth of this buſineſs. r To wit, for the ſcope and ſubſtance of them, but not as to all the expreſſions which ſhe uſed, for theſe were to be varied as the King's anſwer gave occaſion, which alſo ſhe did with ſingular prudence.

20 To fetch about this form of ſpeech ſ hath thy ſervant Joab done this thing: and my lord is wiſe, according to the wiſdom of an angel of God, to know all things that are in the earth t.

ſ i. e. To

ſ i.e. To propoſe mine, and his, and the Peoples deſire of Abſalom's reſtitution in this parabolical manner, in mine, and my Sons Perſon. t Or, in this Land, in all thy Kingdom; all the Counſels and Devices of thy Subjects, which have any relation to thee or thy Affairs.

21 ¶ And the king ſaid unto Joab, Behold now, I have done this thing u: go therefore, bring the young man x Abſalom again.

u In compliance with thy deſire: although in truth it was according to his own deſire. He overlooks the Woman in this grant, becauſe ſhe was but Joab's Inſtrument in it. x By which expreſſion he mitigates his Crime, as being an act of youthful heat, and folly, and raſhneſs.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himſelf, and † thanked the king: and Joab ſaid, To day thy ſervant knoweth that I have found grace in thy ſight, my lord, O king, in that the king hath fulfilled the requeſt of ‖ his ſervant y.

y i.e. Reſtored Abſalom at my requeſt. Whereby Joab thought to eſtabliſh himſelf for ever, and that he ſhould be both the Father's and the Son's favourite. Queſt. Whether David did well in granting this requeſt? Anſ. Although there be ſome Circumſtances which in part extenuate David's fault herein, as Amnon's high provocation of Abſalom; Abſalom's being out of the reach of David's Juſtice, where alſo he could and would have kept himſelf, if David had not promiſed him impunity; the extream danger of Abſalom's infection by Heatheniſh Principles and Practices; the ſafety of David's Kingdom, which ſeemed to depend upon the Eſtabliſhment of the Succeſſion, and that upon Abſalom, to whom the hearts of the People were ſo univerſally and vehemently inclined, if the matter was really ſo, and not pretended or magnified by the Art of this ſubtil Woman; yet it ſeems moſt probable that David was faulty herein, becauſe this action was directly contrary to the expreſs Laws of God, which ſtrictly command the Supreme Magiſtrate to execute Juſtice upon all wilful Murtherers, without any reſervation, Gen. 9. 6. Numb. 35. 30, 31. And David had no power to diſpenſe with God's Laws, nor to ſpare any whom God commanded him to deſtroy: for the Laws of God did bind the Kings and Rulers, as well as the People of Iſrael, to obſerve and obey them, as is moſt evident from Deut. 17. 18, 19. and from Joſ. 1. 8. and many other places. And indeed we may read David's Sin in the Glaſs of thoſe tremendous Judgments of God which befel him, by means of his indulgence to Abſalom. For although God's Providences be in themſelves no Rule to judge of the good or evil of Mens actions; yet where they comply with God's Word, and accompliſh his Threatnings, as here they did, they are to be taken for the tokens of God's Diſpleaſure.

23 So Joab aroſe and went to Geſhur, and brought Abſalom to Jeruſalem.

24 And the king ſaid, Let him turn to his own houſe, and let him not ſee my face z. So Abſalom returned to his own houſe, and ſaw not the kings face.

z Leſt whilſt he ſhewed ſome mercy to Abſalom, he ſhould ſeem to approve of his Sin, and thereby wound his own Conſcience, and loſe his Honour, and encourage him and others to ſuch like Attempts; and that by this means Abſalom might be drawn to a more thorough Humiliation and true Repentance.

25 ¶ † But in all Iſrael there was none to be ſo much praiſed as Abſalom for his beauty a: from the ſole of his foot even to the crown of his head, there was no blemiſh in him.

† Heb. and as Abſalom there was not a beautiful man in all Iſrael to praiſe greatly.

a This is here noted as the occaſion of his Pride and Inſolency, and of the Peoples Affections to him, and conſequently of the following Rebellion.

26 And when he polled his head, (for it was at every years end that he polled it: becauſe the hair was heavy on him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred ſhekels b, after the kings † weight.

b Whereas ordinarily the hair of a Man's head which grows in a years ſpace, comes not to half ſo much. But ſome Mens hair grows much faſter, and is much heavier than others. But others underſtand this not of the weight, but of the price of his hair, which was ſold by him that Polled it at that rate.

27 And unto Abſalom there were born three ſons c and one daughter, whoſe name was Tamar d: ſhe was a woman of a fair countenance.

c All which died not long after they were born, as may be gathered from chap. 18. 18. where it is ſaid, that Abſalom had no ſon. d So called from her Aunt, chap. 13. 1.

28 ¶ So Abſalom dwelt two full years in Jeruſalem, and ſaw not the kings face.

29 Therefore Abſalom ſent for Joab, to have ſent him to the king e, but he would not come to him: and when he ſent again the ſecond time, he would not come f.

e That by his mediation he might be admitted into the King's favour and preſence. f Partly, becauſe perceiving David's affections to be cold to Abſalom, he would not venture his own Intereſt for him, eſpecially in deſiring that which he feared he ſhould be denied; partly, leſt by interceeding further for Abſalom, he ſhould revive the remembrance of his former Murther, and meet with the reproach of one Murtherers interceeding for another; and partly, becauſe by converſe with Abſalom, he obſerved his temper to be ſuch, that if once he were fully reſtored to the King's favour, he would not only eclipſe and oppoſe Joab's Intereſt and Power with the King, but alſo attempt high things, not without danger to the King and Kingdom, as it happened.

30 Therefore he ſaid unto his ſervants, See, Joabs field is † near mine, and he hath barley there; go and ſet it on fire g: and Abſaloms ſervants ſet the field on fire.

g That Joab may be forced to come to me to complain of, and demand reparations for this Injury.

31 Then Joab aroſe and came to Abſalom unto his houſe, and ſaid unto him, Wherefore have thy ſervants ſet my field on fire?

32 And Abſalom anſwered Joab, Behold, I ſent unto thee, ſaying, Come hither that I may ſend thee to the king, to ſay, Wherefore am I come from Geſhur? It had been good for me to have been there ſtill h: now therefore let me ſee the kings face: and if there be any iniquity in me, let him kill me i.

h Rather than here, becauſe my eſtrangement from him now when I am ſo near to him, is both more grievous and more ſhameful to me. But the truth of the buſineſs was this, Abſalom ſaw that his Father had accompliſhed his deſign in bringing him thither, having ſatisfied both his own natural affection, and his Peoples deſire of Abſalom's return from baniſhment; but that he could not without reſtitution into the King's preſence and favour compaſs his deſign; i.e. confirm and improve that Intereſt which he ſaw he had in the Peoples hearts. i For it is better for me to die, than to want the ſight and favour of my dear Father. Thus he inſinuates himſelf into his Father's affections, by pretending ſuch Reſpect and Love to him. It ſeems that by this time Abſalom having ſo far recovered his Father's favour, as to be re-called, he began to grow upon him, and take ſo much confidence as to ſtand upon his own juſtification, as if what he had done, had been no iniquity, at leaſt not ſuch as to deſerve death. For ſo much this Speech intimates.

33 So Joab came to the king, and told him: and when he had called for Abſalom, he came to the king, and bowed himſelf on his face to the ground before the king: and the king kiſſed Abſalom k.

k In teſtimony of his thorough Reconciliation to him. Which Abſalom did very ill requite, as the next Chapter manifeſteth.

CHAP. XV.

Abſalom ſtealeth the hearts of Iſrael, 1,—6. Under pretence of a vow obtaineth leave to go to Hebron: there with Abithophel's aid he conſpires to be king, 7,—12. David flyeth from Jeruſalem with all his men: leaveth ten of his concubines, 13,—37.

AND it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom * prepared him charets, and horſes, and fifty men to run before him a.

* 1 King. 1. 5.

a As being the King's eldeſt Son, now Amnon was dead; for Chileab, who was his eldeſt Brother, 2 Sam. 3. 3. was either dead, or manifeſtly uncapable of the Government. And this courſe he knew would draw the Eyes and Minds of People to him, and make them conclude that David intended him for his Succeſſor.

2 And Abſalom roſe up early b, and ſtood beſide the way of the gate c: and it was ſo, that when any man that had a controverſie, † came to the king for judgment, then Abſalom called unto him d, and ſaid, Of what city art thou e? And he ſaid, Thy ſervant is of one of the tribes of Iſrael f.

b Thereby making a ſhew of ſelf-denial, and diligence, and ſollicitude for the good of the publick, and of every private Perſon, as he had opportunity. c Either, Firſt, Of the King's Palace. Or rather, Secondly, Of the City, for that was the place of Judicature or Judgment, for which theſe Men came. d Preventing him with the offers of his aſſiſtance. e As if he were ready to make particular enquiry into the ſtate of his cauſe. f Or rather, of one City (which word is eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing queſtion) of the tribes of Iſrael; i.e. of an Iſraelitiſh City, either this, or that; of ſuch or ſuch a City.

And Abſalom ſaid unto him, See, thy matters are good and right g: but ‖ there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee h.

‖ Or, none will hear thee from the king downward.

g Upon ſome very ſlight hearing of their Caſe, he approved it, that he might oblige all. h To wit, none ſuch as will do thee Juſtice. The other Sons and Relations of the King, and the reſt of the Judges and Rulers under him and them, are wholly corrupted, and ſwayed by favour or bribes; or, at leaſt not careful and diligent as they ſhould be: and my Father being grown in years, is negligent of publick Affairs, leaving them wholly to their Conduct.

4 Abſalom ſaid moreover, O that I were made judge in the land i, that every man k which hath any ſuit or cauſe, might come unto me, and I would do him juſtice.

i For the King had only reſtored Abſalom to favour, but thought not fit to put him into any place of Power and Truſt. k I ſhould refuſe no Man, and decline no Pains to do any Man good. So he pretends to a very publick Spirit.

5 And it was ſo, that when any man came nigh to him, to do him obeiſance, he put forth his hand, and took him and kiſſed him l.

l Putting on the Garb of ſingular humanity and good will to all Men. For that ſeems to have been a Ceremony, in frequent uſe in thoſe times, of ſhewing reſpect, as pulling off the Hat, and bowing, or imbracing, is at this day with us.

6 And on this manner did Abſalom to all Iſrael, that came to the king for judgment: ſo Abſalom ſtole the hearts of the men of Iſrael m.

m i. e. He ſecretly and ſubtilly undermined his Father, and robbed his Father of the good Opinions and Affections of his People, that he might gain them to himſelf, by ſuch inſinuations into their Affections, by his plauſible and over-civil Carriage.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs after forty years n, that Abſalom ſaid unto the king, I pray thee, let me go, and pay my vow o which I have vowed unto the LORD in Hebron p.

n Queſt. Whence are theſe to be computed? Anſ. Not from Abſalom's Birth; for he was born in Hebron ſome conſiderable time after David had begun his Reign, 2 Sam. 3. 3. much leſs from the time of his Vow made, or of his return from Baniſhment: but, either, firſt, from the time of David's election or deſignation to the Kingdom, 1 Sam. 16. 13. Or, Secondly, From the beginning of Saul's Reign: which being a ſolemn time, and obſervable for the change of the Government in Iſrael, might very fitly be made an Epocha, from which the computation or account of Times begin; as the Greeks and Romans began their Accounts in the ſame manner, and upon the ſame ground. Or rather, Thirdly, From the beginning of David's Reign, who reigned 40 Years; and ſo the words may be rendred, about or towards the end of forty years; i. e. in the beginning of the fortieth Year. And ſo this very Phraſe is uſed, Deut. 15. 1. At the end of every ſeven years; i. e. in the ſeventh Year, even from the beginning of it, as is manifeſted and confeſſed. So in a like expreſſion, After three days will I riſe again, Mark 8. 31. i. e. on the beginning of the third Day, when Chriſt did riſe; the number of three Days being then compleated when the third Day is begun. And the 40 Years are here expreſſed as one motive or inducement to Abſalom to rebel, becauſe now his Father's end grew near; and one of the Hebrew Doctors affirms, That there was a Tradition, or Rumour, or Prediction, that David ſhould Reign but 40 Years. And Abſalom might eaſily underſtand that David intended to decline him, and to make Solomon his Succeſſor, as well by the conſcience of his own wickedneſs and unfitneſs for ſo great a Truſt, as by that eminent Wiſdom and Piety which appeared in Solomon in his tender Years, and that great Reſpect and Affection which his Father muſt needs have and manifeſt to him upon this account, and by that Promiſe and Oath given to Bathſheba concerning his Succeſſion mentioned, 1 King. 1. 30. but made before that time, which alſo might come to Abſalom's ear. Againſt this Opinion two things are objected: Firſt, That David was in the time of this Rebellion a ſtrong Man, for he marched on Foot, v. 30. whereas in his laſt Year he was very infirm and bed-rid. Secondly, That after this Rebellion was ended, divers other things happened, as the three Years Famine, 2 Sam. 21. 1. and other things following in the Hiſtory. But it may be anſwered to the firſt, That David might in the beginning of his laſt Year, have ſo much ſtrength and vigour left as to march on Foot, eſpecially when he did ſo humble and afflict himſelf, as it is apparent he did, v. 30. and yet through his his tedious Marches, and the tormenting Cares, Fears, and Griefs of his Soul for Abſalom, might be ſo ſtrangely and ſuddenly impaired, as in the end of the ſame Year to be very feeble and bed-rid, it being a very common accident, eſpecially in old Men, and upon extraordinary occaſions, to languiſh and decline exceedingly, and to fall from ſome competent degree of health and vigour, to be very infirm and bed-rid, and that in the ſpace of a few Months. And to the ſecond Objection, That thoſe Hiſtories related chap. 21, &c. though they be placed after this Rebellion, yet indeed were done before it; the proof of which ſee on chap. 21. 1. For it is ſo confeſſed and evident, that things are not always placed in the ſame order in which they were done, that it is a Rule of the Hebrews, and approved by other learned Men, Non datur prius & poſterius in Sacris literis; that is, There is no firſt and laſt in the order of Scripture-relations. And here is a plain reaſon for this tranſplacing of this Hiſtory, which is allowed in other like caſes, That when once the Hiſtory of Tamar's Rape had been mentioned, it was very fit to ſubjoin the Relation of all the Miſchiefs which followed upon that occaſion. If any Infidel will yet cavil with this Text and number of Years, let him know, that inſtead of forty, the Syriack, and Arabick, and Joſephus the Jew, read four years; and that it is much more rational to acknowledge an Error of the Scribe, who copied out the Sacred Text, than upon ſo frivolous a ground to queſtion the Divine Authority of the Holy Scriptures. And that ſome Men chuſe the latter way rather than the former, is an evidence that they are Infidels by the choice of their wills, more than by the ſtrength of their reaſons. o He pretends Piety, which he knew would pleaſe his Father, and eaſily procure his conſent. p Which is mentioned as the place, not where the Vow was made, for that was at Geſhur, v. 8. but where he intended to perform it. The pretence for which was, That he was born in this place, 2 Sam. 3. 3. and that here was a famous high-place; and, till the Temple was built, it was permitted to ſacrifice upon the high-places.

8 For thy ſervant vowed a vow while I abode at Geſhur in Syria, ſaying, If the LORD ſhall bring me again indeed to Jeruſalem, then I will ſerve the LORD q.

q i. e. Worſhip him by the offering of Sacrifices of Thankſgiving to God, for reſtoring me to the place of his preſence and ſervice, and to my Father's favour. But why ſhould not this ſervice have been performed at Sion, or at Gibeon? Here was ſome ground of ſuſpicion; but God blinded David's Eyes, that he might bring upon David and upon Abſalom the Judgments which they deſerved, and he deſigned.

9 And the king ſaid unto him, Go in peace. So he aroſe, and went to Hebron r.

r This place he choſe as being an eminent City, and next to Jeruſalem, the chief of the Tribe of Judah, and the place of his birth, and the place where his Father began his Kingdom, which he took for a good Omen, and where it is probable that he had ſecured many Friends, and which was at ſome convenient diſtance from Jeruſalem, that his Father could not ſuddenly reach him.

10 ¶ But Abſalom ſent ſ ſpies throughout all the Tribes of Iſrael, ſaying, As ſoon as ye hear the ſound of the trumpet t, then ye ſhall ſay, Abſalom reigneth in Hebron.

ſ From Hebron. Or, had ſent from Jeruſalem, that when he went to Hebron, they ſhould go into the ſeveral Tribes to ſift the People, and to diſpoſe them to Abſalom's Party, and acquaint them with his ſucceſs. t Which I ſhall take care to have ſounded in ſeveral parts by other Perſons; and when that is done, you ſhall inform them of the reaſon of it. Or, as ſoon as you underſtand that the Trumpet was ſounded at Hebron; partly, to call the People together for my aſſiſtance; and partly, to celebrate my Inauguratiou to the Kingdom, which you ſhall ſpeedily know by Meſſengers whom I ſhall ſend to you to that end.

11 And with Abſalom went two hundred men out of Jeruſalem, that were called u, and they went in their ſimplicity, and they knew not any thing x.

u Such as Abſalom had pick'd out as fit for his purpoſe; ſuch as were of ſome quality and reputation with the King and People, which would give a great countenance to his undertaking, and give occaſion to People at firſt to think that this was done by his Father's conſent or connivence, as being now aged, and infirm, and willing to reſign the Kingdom to him, as his eldeſt Son, and the Nobleſt too, as being deſcended from a King by both Parents; and ſuch as by their Wiſdom and Intereſt in the People, might have done David much ſervice in this needful time; yet ſuch as were not very martial Men, nor likely with violence to oppoſe his proceedings. x Concerning Abſalom's deſign.

y Who is thought to have been the Author, or, at leaſt, the fomenter of this Rebellion; either, becauſe he was diſcontented with David, for which there might be many reaſons; or, becauſe he ſaw the Father was old and nigh his end, and he thought it beſt policy to worſhip the riſing Sun, and to follow the young Prince, whom he obſerved to have ſo great an Intereſt in the Hearts of the People, and whom he ſuppoſed he could eaſily manage as he pleaſed, which he could not do with David. z Which he did not in Devotion to God, for he neither feared God, nor reverenced Man; nor to implore God's favour and aſſiſtance againſt his Father, which he knew was a vain thing to expect; but meerly that upon this pretence he might call great numbers of the People together, whereof many would come to join with him in the worſhip of God, and moſt to partake of the Feaſts which were made of the remainders of the Sacrifices, according to the manner.

13 ¶ And there came a meſſenger to David, ſaying, The hearts of the men of Iſrael are after Abſalom a.

a The generality of the People are for him. Which is not ſtrange, conſidering, either, firſt, David, whoſe many miſcarriages had greatly loſt him in the hearts of his People. Or, Secondly, The People, whoſe Temper is generally unſtable, weary of old things, and deſirous of changes, and apt to expect great benefits thereby. Or, Thirdly, Abſalom, whoſe noble Birth, and ſingular Beauty, and moſt obliging Carriage, and ample Promiſes, had won the Peoples hearts, conſidering alſo that he was David's firſt-born, to whom the Kingdom of right belonged, and yet that David intended to give away his right to Solomon, which the People thought might prove the occaſion of a civil and dreadful War, which hereby they deſigned to prevent. Or, Fourthly, The Juſt and Holy God, who ordered and over-ruled all theſe things for David's chaſtiſement, and the inſtruction and terror of Sinners in all future Ages.

14 And David ſaid unto all his ſervants, that were with him at Jeruſalem, Ariſe, and let us flee b: for we ſhall not elſe eſcape from Abſalom: make ſpeed to depart, leſt he overtake us ſuddenly, and † bring evil upon us, and ſmite the city with the edge of the ſword.

b For though the Fort of Zion was ſtrong and impregnable, and he might have defended himſelf there; yet he had not laid in Proviſions for a long Siege; and, if he had been once beſiged there, Abſalom would have got ſpeedy and quiet poſſeſſion of his whole Kingdom; whereas if he marched abroad, he might raiſe a conſiderable Army for his defence and the ſuppreſſion of the Rebels. Beſides, the greateſt part of Jeruſalem could not be well defended againſt him. And he ſuſpected that a great number of the Citizens might take part with Abſalom, and poſſibly deliver him up into Abſalom's hands. Beſides, if he had made that the Seat of the War, he feared the deſtruction of that City, which he vehemently deſired to preſerve, becauſe it was the Chief and Royal City, and the place in which God had appointed to put his Name and Worſhip. Moreover, when David conſidered, that God's hand was now againſt him, and that he was now bringing evil upon him out of his own houſe, as he had threatned, chap. 12. 11. it is no wonder if he was intimidated and diſpoſed to flee.

16 And * the king went forth, and all his houſhold

* Pſal. 3. title.

† after him c: and the king left ten women which were concubines d, to keep the houſe.

c Or, on foot, by comparing v. 30. which the King choſe to do, rather than to ride; partly, to humble himſelf under the hand of God; partly, to encourage his Companions in this hard and comfortleſs March; and partly, to move Compaſſion in his People towards him. d For he ſuppoſed that their Sex would protect them even among Barbarians, and their relation to David would gain them ſome reſpect, and, at leaſt, ſafety from his Son. But it ſeems he did not now actually conſider that Clauſe of the threatning concerning his Wives, (God diverting his Mind to other things) or he thought that would be accompliſhed ſome other way, conceiving that Abſalom would abhor the thoughts of ſuch inceſtuous Converſe, eſpecially with Perſons which were now grown in Years.

17 And the king went forth, and all the people after him, and tarried e in a place that was far off f.

e Either to reſt and refreſh themſelves a little: or rather in expectation of others who ſhould or would come after him, that they might March away in a conſiderable Body, which might both defend the King, and invite others to come in to their aſſiſtance. f At ſome convenient diſtance, but not very far.

18 And all his ſervants paſſed on beſide him: and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites g, and all the Gittites h, ſix hundred men, which came after him from Gath, paſſed on before the king.

g Of whom ſee the notes on chap. 8. 18. h Who were either, firſt, Iſraelites by Birth, called Gittites, becauſe they went with him to Gath, and abode with him in that Country. Or rather, Secondly, Strangers, as Ittati their head is called, v. 19. and they are called his Brethren, v. 20. and probably they were Philiſtines by Birth, born in the City or Territory of Gath, as the following words imply, who by David's Counſel, and Example, and the ſucceſs of his Arms, were won to embrace and profeſs the true Religion, and had given good proof of their Military Skill, and Valour, and Fidelity to the King.

19 ¶ Then ſaid the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore goeſt thou alſo with us? return to thy place i, and k abide with the king l: for thou art a ſtranger, and alſo an exile m.

i Either, Firſt, To thy native Country of Gath, where thou wilt be remote from our broils. Or, Secondly, To Jeruſalem, where thy ſettled abode now is. k Or, or: for he could not both go to Gath, and tarry in Jeruſalem with Abſalom. Although this part of the Verſe lies otherwiſe in the Hebrew Text, and may be rendred thus, Return (to wit, to Jeruſalem) and abide with the King (there;) for thou art a ſtranger and exile from thy own place; or, in reſpect of thy own place, or, as concerning thy place, i. e. in regard of the place of thy birth and former habitation. l With Abſalom, who is now made King by the choice of the People, and therefore is able to give thee that protection and encouragement which thou deſerveſt; whereas I am in a manner depoſed and unable to do for thee what I deſired and intended. m Not much concerned in our affairs, and therefore not fit to be involved in our troubles.

20 Whereas thou cameſt but yeſterday n, ſhould I this day † make thee go up and down with us? ſeeing I go whither † I may o, return thou, and take back thy brethren p: * mercy and truth be with thee q.

* Cha. 2. 6.

n By which it may be gathered, that theſe were not the Iſraelitiſh Soldiers which went with David to Gath, and came up with him from thence to Hebron, which was above thirty Years before this time, but ſome Proſelytes which came from thence more lately. For though this word yeſterday be ſometimes uſed of a time long before paſt, as 2 Kings 9. 26. Job 8. 9. Iſa. 30. 33. yet it ſeems to be here reſtrained to a ſhorter compaſs by the following words, and by the argument here uſed. o I know not whither; having now no certain dwelling place. p Thy Countrymen and Soldiers the Gittites, v. 18. q Since I am now unable to recompenſe thy kindneſs and fidelity to me, my hearty Prayer to God is, That he would ſhew to thee his Mercy, in Bleſſing thee with all ſorts of Bleſſings, and his Faithfulneſs in making good all thoſe Promiſes which he hath made, not to Iſraelites only, but in and with them to all true-hearted Proſelytes, ſuch as thou art.

21 And Ittai anſwered the king, and ſaid, As the the LORD liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, ſurely in what place my lord the king ſhall be, whether in death or life, even there alſo will thy ſervant be.

22 And David ſaid to Ittai, Go and paſs over. And Ittai the Gittite paſſed over, and all his men, and all the little ones that were with him r.

r For being ſo deeply engaged for David, he durſt not leave his little ones to Abſalom's Mercy.

23 And all the countrey ſ wept with a loud voice, and all the people paſſed over: the king alſo himſelf paſſed over the brook ‖ Kidron t, and all the people paſſed over toward the way of the wilderneſs u.

ſ i.e. The generality of the People by whom they paſſed: for it muſt be conſidered, that Abſalom's Friends and Partizans were gone to him to Hebron, and the reſt of the People thereabouts were either well-willers to David, or at leaſt moved with compaſſion at the ſad and ſudden change of ſo great and good a King, which was able to affect an heart of Stone. t Which was near Jeruſalem. See Matth. 26. 36. John 18. 1. u Which was between Jeruſalem and Jericho.

24 ¶ And lo, Zadok alſo, and all the Levites were with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God x, and they ſet down the ark of God y: and Abiathar went up z, until all the people had done paſſing out of the city.

x As a pledge of God's preſence and aſſiſtance, and that David might enquire at it upon occaſion. y Either in expectation of drawing forth more People to David's Party, if not from their Loyalty to their Lawful King, yet from their Piety and Reverence to the Ark: or, that all the People might paſs along, and the Ark might come in the rear of them for their ſafeguard and encouragement. z Either, 1. From the Ark which now was in the low ground, being near the Brook Cedron, to the top of the Mount of Olives, whence he had the proſpect of the City and Temple; as appears from Mark 13. 3. where he could diſcern when the People ceaſed to come out of the City after David; which when they did, he gave notice to David, that he ſhould wait no longer, but march away and carry the Ark with him. Or, 2. From the Ark to the City, which was in an higher ground, that ſo he being High-Prieſt, might uſe his Authority and Intereſt with the People, to perſwade them to do their duty, in going forth to defend and help their King againſt his Rebellious Son; and there he ſtaid until all thoſe whom he could perſwade were gone forth.

a Partly, out of Care and Reverence to the Ark, which though ſometimes it was, and might be carried out to a certain place; yet he might juſtly think unfit to carry it from place to place he knew not whither, and to expoſe it to all the hazards and inconveniences to which he himſelf was likely to be expoſed: partly, out of reſpect to the Prieſts, whom, by this means, he thought he ſhould expoſe to the Rage of Abſalom, as he had before expoſed them to Saul's Fury on another occaſion, 1 Sam. 22. And partly, that by this means he might have the better opportunity to ſearch out, and to Counter-work Abſalom's Plots; which was ſo neceſſary, not only for himſelf, but for the defence and maintenance of the Ark, and all God's Ordinances, and of the true Religion. b i e. The Tabernacle which David had lately built for it, Chap. 6. 17. in which the Ark, and God, by means thereof, ordinarily dwelt. And hereby he inſinuates another reaſon of his returning the Ark to Jeruſalem, becauſe there was the Tabernacle made for the receipt of it.

26 But if he thus ſay, I have no delight in thee c: behold, here am I, d let him do to me as ſeemeth good unto him.

c I will not receive thee into my Favour, nor reſtore thee to thy Throne and City, and to the enjoyment of my Ark and Ordinances. d Ready to obey him, and to ſubmit to his Will and Pleaſure concerning me.

27 The king ſaid alſo unto Zadock the prieſt e, * Art not thou a ſeer f? return into the city in peace g, and * your two ſons with you, Ahimaaz thy ſon, and Jonathan the ſon of Abiathar.

* 1 Sa. 9. 9.
* See cha. 17. 17.

e Either becauſe Abiathar was gone from him, v. 24. and not yet returned: or becauſe David put more confidence in Zadok. f i.e. Either, 1. A Prophet, for ſuch were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9. 2 Sam. 24. 11. Amos 7. 12. And ſuch he may be called, either becauſe he really had the gift of Prophecy: or, becauſe as the name of Prophets is ſometimes given to thoſe who had not Prophetical Gifts, but were only Officers and Miniſters devoted to, and employed in God's Worſhip and Service, as 1 Sam. 10. 5, &c. 1 Kings 18. 4, 13. Compare 1 Chron. 25. 1, 2, 3. So it it is reaſonable, That the name of Seers be extended to the ſame Latitude; and therefore he may properly and fitly be called a Seer, as he was with, and under Abiathar the Chief Governour of the Houſe and Worſhip of God; who, by his Office, was to inſtruct and direct the People in thoſe matters, whereby he had many opportunities both of ſifting out Abſalom's Counſels, and of minding the People of their Duty to David, as he ſaw opportunity. Which ſence ſuits well with David's Scope and Deſign. Or, 2. a ſeeing, or diſcerning, or obſerving Man: for ſo the Hebrew Verb raah is oft uſed. And this ſuits well with David's Mind: Thou art a wiſe Man, and therefore fit to manage this great buſineſs, which requires Prudence and Secreſie. g As Men of Peace, giving over all thoughts of War, and devoting your ſelves entirely to God's Service.

28 See, I will tarry in the plain of the wilderneſs, until there come word from you to certifie me.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jeruſalem; and they tarried there.

30 And David went up by the aſcent of mount Olivet, † and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went bare foot h: and all the people that was with him, covered every man his head, and they went up weeping, as they went up.

h In Teſtimony of his deep Sorrow, and Humiliation and Shame for his Sins, whereby he had procured this Evil to himſelf: for theſe were the Habits of Mourners, 2 Sam. 19. 4. Eſth. 6. 12. Iſa. 20. 3, 4. Jer. 14. 3, 4. and to take an Holy Revenge upon himſelf for his former Delicacy and Luxury.

31 And ‖ one told David i, ſaying, Ahitophel is among the conſpirators with Abſalom. And David ſaid, O LORD, I pray thee, turn the counſel of Ahitophel into fooliſhneſs k.

i Or, David told; i. e. David being hereof informed, acquaints his Friends and Followers with it, to ſtir them up to joyn with him, in the following Prayer againſt him. k Either infatuate him, that he may give fooliſh Counſel; or let his Counſel be rejected as fooliſh, or ſpoiled by the fooliſh execution of it.

* Joſh 16. 2.

32 And it came to paſs that when David was come to the top of the mount where he worſhipped God l, behold, Huſhai * the Archite came to meet him, with his coat rent, and aſhes upon his head:

l Looking towards Jeruſalem where the Ark and Tabernacle was. Compare 1 Kings 8. 44, 48. Dan. 6. 10.

33 Unto whom David ſaid, If thou paſſeſt on with me, then thou ſhalt be a burden unto me m.

Increaſing my Charge, and Care, and Sorrow, for what may befall thee; and being but of little uſe to me: for it may ſeem he was an Old Man, and fitter for Counſel than for War.

34 But if thou return to the City, and ſay unto Abſalom, I will be thy ſervant, O king: as I have been thy fathers ſervant || hitherto, ſo will I now alſo be thy ſervant n; then mayeſt thou for me defeat the counſel of Ahitophel.

n i.e. As faithful to thee, as I have been to thy Father; which he neither was, nor ought to be. And therefore, the profeſſion of this was great diſſimulation: And David's ſuggeſting this crafty Counſel, may be reckon'd amongſt his Errors: which, proceeding from a violent Temptation, and his preſent and preſſing Straits, God was pleaſed mercifully to pardon and to direct this Evil Advice to a good End.

35 And haſt thou not there with thee Zadok, and Abiathar the prieſts? therefore it ſhall be, that what thing ſoever thou ſhalt hear out of the kings houſe, thou ſhalt tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the prieſts.

* Ver. 27.

36 Behold, they have there * with them o their two ſons, Ahimaaz Zadoks ſon, and Jonathan Abiathars ſon: and by them ye ſhall ſend unto me every thing that ye can hear.

o Not in Jeruſalem, but in a place near to it, to which they could eaſily ſend upon occaſion. See Chap. 17. 17.

37 So Huſhai Davids friend came unto the city, and Abſalom came into Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XVI.

Ziba by Preſents and falſe Suggeſtions, obtaineth of David his Maſter's Inheritance, 1,——4. Shimei revileth and curſeth David: Who reſtraineth Abiſhai from revenging it, 5,——14. Abſalom cometh with Achitophel to Jeruſalem: lieth with his Father's Concubines in the ſight of all Iſrael, according to the Counſel of Abitophel who was eſteemed as an Oracle, 15,——23.

* Cha. 9. 2.

AND when David was a little paſt the top of * the hill, behold, * Ziba a the ſervant of Mephiboſheth met him with a couple of aſſes ſadled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and an hundred bunches of raiſins, and an hundred of ſummer fruits, and a bottle b of wine.

a A Crafty Man; who being perſwaded, that God would in due time appear for the Righteous Cauſe of ſo good a King, and ſcatter the Cloud which was now upon him, takes this occaſion to make way for his future Advancement. b A large Bottle, or Veſſel proportionable to the other Proviſions.

2 And the king ſaid unto Ziba, What meaneſt thou by theſe? And Ziba ſaid, The aſſes be for the kings houſhold to ride on c, and the bread and ſummer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine, that ſuch as be faint in the wilderneſs may drink.

c For the King, and his Wives and Children were all on Foot; not that he had not, or cou'd not procure Aſſes for them at Jeruſalem; but becauſe he choſe it as beſt becoming that State of Penitence and Humiliation in which they were.

3 And the king ſaid, And where is thy maſters ſon? And Ziba ſaid unto the king, Behold, he abideth at Jeruſalem: for he ſaid, To day ſhall the houſe of Iſrael reſtore me the kingdom of my father d.

d Which though it might ſeem a very unlikely thing, yet ſuch vain Expectations do often get into the Minds of Men; nor was it impoſſible, that when David's Family was thus divided, and one part ingaged againſt another, they might deſtroy themſelves by mutual Wounds; and the People being tired out with Civil Wars, might reſtore the Kingdom to the Family of Saul their old Maſter, whereof this was the top-branch. And this was a time of general Defection of many whom the King had greatly obliged, witneſs Abitophel. And Mephiboſheth's abſence made the Calumny more probable.

4 Then ſaid the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained unto Mephiboſheth e. And Ziba ſaid, † I humbly beſeech thee that I may find grace in thy ſight, my lord, O King f.

e A raſh Sentence, and unrighteous, to condemn a Man unheard, upon the ſingle Teſtimony of his Accuſer, and Servant. But David's Mind was both clouded by the deep ſenſe of his Calamity, and byaſſed by Ziba's great and ſeaſonable kindneſs. And he might think, that Ziba would not dare to accuſe his Maſter of ſo great a Crime, which, if falſe, might ſo eaſily be diſproved. f Thy favour is more to me, than this gift; which, as a token of thy favour, I accept with all thankfulneſs.

5 And when king David came to Bahurim g, behold, thence came out a man of the family of the houſe of Saul, whoſe name was Shimei the ſon of Gera: || he came forth, and curſed ſtill as he came.

g A City in Benjamin, Chap. 3. 16. and 19. 16. i.e. To the Territory of it, for to the City he came not till v. 14.

6 And he caſt ſtones h at David, and at all the ſervants of king David: And all the people, and all the mighty men were on his righthand, and on his left i.

h Not ſo much to hurt them, as to ſhew his Contempt of them. i Which is noted to ſhew the Prodigious Madneſs of the Man: though Rage, (which is truly ſaid to be a ſhort Madneſs) and the height of Malice hath oft tranſported Men to the moſt hazardous and deſperate Speeches and Actions.

7 And thus ſaid Shimei when he curſed, Come out k, come out thou † bloody man, and thou man of Belial:

k Or rather, go out, as the Word properly ſignifies. Be gone out of thy Kingdom, as thou deſerveſt.

8 The LORD hath returned upon thee all the blood of the houſe of Saul l, in whoſe ſtead thou haſt reigned, and the LORD hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Abſalom thy ſon: and † behold, thou art taken in thy miſchief m, becauſe thou art a bloody man.

l Either, 1. The Blood of Abner and Iſhboſheth; which he maliciouſly imputes to David, as if they had been killed by David's Contrivance: eſpecially the former, becauſe David did only give Joab hard Words, as in Policy he was obliged to do; but inſtead of Puniſhing him, did Reward and Preferr him. Or, 2. The Death of Saul's ſeven Sons, Chap. 21. 8. which, though related after this, ſeems to have been done before: Of which, ſee the Notes on Chap. 15. 7. m The ſame Miſchief thou didſt bring upon others, is now returned upon thy own head. Or, Thy Sin hath found thee out, and thou art now receiving the juſt Puniſhment of it.

* 1 Sam. 24. 14. Chap. 3. 8.

9 Then ſaid Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah unto the king, Why ſhould this * dead dog curſe my lord the king? let me go over, I pray thee, and take off his head.

10 And the king ſaid, What have I to do with you n, ye ſons of Zeruiah? ſo let him curſe, becauſe the LORD hath ſaid unto him o, Curſe David. Who ſhall then ſay p, Wherefore haſt thou done || ſo?

n To wit, in this Matter I ask not your Advice, nor will I follow it; nor do I deſire you ſhould at all concern your ſelves in it, but wholly leave it to me, to do what I think fit. o Not that God commanded it by his Word; for that ſeverely forbids it, Exod. 22. 28. or moved him to it by his Spirit; for neither was that neceſſary, nor poſſible, becauſe God tempteth no man, Jam. 1. 13. but that the ſecret Providence of God did order and over-rule him in it. God did not put any Wickedneſs into Shimei's Heart, for he had of himſelf an heart full of Malignity and Venome againſt David; but only left him to his own Wickedneſs; took away that common Prudence which would have kept him from ſo fooliſh and dangerous an Action; directed his Malice that it ſhould be exerciſed againſt David, rather than another Man; as when God gives up one Traveller into the hands of a Robber, rather than another; inclined him to be at home, and then to come out of his doors at that time when David paſſed by him; and brought David into ſo diſtreſſed a condition, that he might ſeem a proper Object of his Scorn and Contempt. And this is ground enough for this Expreſſion, the Lord ſaid, not by the Word of his Precept, but by the Word of his Providence, in reſpect whereof he is ſaid to command the Ravens, 1 Kings 17. 4. and to ſend forth his Word and Commandment to ſenſeleſs Creatures, Pſal. 147. 15, 18. p Not unto Shimei, for it was juſtly ſaid ſo to him afterwards, 1 Kings 2. 9. but unto the Lord: who ſhall reproach God's Providence for permitting this? Or, who ſhall by Words or Actions reſtrain him from executing God's juſt Judgment againſt me?

11 And David ſaid to Abiſhai, and to all his ſervants, Behold, my ſon, which came forth of my bowels, ſeeketh my life q: how much more now may this Benjamite || do it? let him alone, and let him curſe r: for the LORD hath bidden him.

q Which is a greater Miſchief, than to Reproach me with Words. || Of that Tribe and Family from which God hath taken away the Kingdom, and given it to me; which was likely to ſtir up his Rage and Hatred againſt me. r Do not now hinder him violently from it, nor puniſh him for it. It is meet I ſhould bear the Indignation of the Lord manifeſted herein, and ſubmit to his Pleaſure, and poſſeſs my Soul with Patience; and by bearing theſe leſſer Evils, prepare my ſelf for greater, which are coming towards me.

† Heb.

12 It may be s that the LORD will look on mine || † affliction t, and that the LORD will requite me good for his curſing this day.

s He ſpeaks doubtfully, becauſe he was conſcious, that by his Sins he had forfeited all his Claim to God's Promiſes. t With an Eye of Commiſeration.

13 And as David and his men went by the way, Shimei went along on the hills ſide over againſt him, and curſed as he went, and threw ſtones at him, and † caſt duſt u. † Heb. duſted him with duſt.

u Not that he could reach, or hurt him with it; but only as an expreſſion of Contempt. And the like is to be thought concerning the Stones, wherewith he could not think to reach David, when he was Encamped with his Men on every ſide.

14 And the king, and all the people that were with him, came x weary, and refreſhed themſelves there.

x To the City of Bahurim, v. 5.

15 And Abſalom and all the people, the men of Iſrael, came to Jeruſalem, and Ahitophel with them.

16 And it came to paſs when Huſhai the Archite, Davids friend, was come unto Abſalom, that Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, † God ſave the king y, God ſave the king. † Heb. Let the King live.

y To wit, Abſalom, whom he pretends to own for his King and Liege Lord.

17 And Abſalom ſaid to Huſhai, Is this thy kindneſs to thy friend z? why wenteſt thou not with thy friend?

z Doth this Action anſwer that Profeſſion of greateſt Friendſhip which thou haſt hitherto made to him? Doſt thou thus requite his Favour and true Friendſhip to thee? He ſpeaks thus only to try him. And he ſaith, thy Friend, by way of Reflection upon David; as one who was a Friend to Huſhai, and to Strangers, but not to his own Son, whom, by his Severity and Deſign to give away his Right to Solomon, he provoked to this Courſe; and therefore he doth not vouchſafe to call him his Father.

18 And Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, Nay, but whom the LORD, and this people, and all the men of Iſrael chuſe a, his will I be, and with him will I abide.

a Though as a private Perſon, I owed and payed Friendſhip to David whilſt he was King; yet I muſt make all my Obligations give place to the Authority of God, who putteth down, and ſetteth up Kings at his pleaſure; and to the common Sence and Decree of the whole Body of the Nation. But Huſhai expreſſeth himſelf very cautiouſly; for though he would be thought to underſtand Abſalom, yet in truth this Character did not agree to him, whom neither God, nor all the People had choſen, but only a part, and that the worſt part of them.

19 And again, whom ſhould I ſerve? ſhould I not ſerve in the preſence of his ſon b? as I have ſerved in thy fathers preſence, ſo will I be in thy preſence.

b Thou art his Son, and Heir, and Succeſſor, and now in his place and ſtead: whereby my Friendſhip which was due to him, is devolved upon thee by Right of Inheritance; and I reckon, that my Friendſhip is not wholly alienated from him, when it is transferred upon one that came out of his Bowels.

20 Then ſaid Abſalom to Ahitophel, Give counſel among you what we ſhall do.

21 And Ahitophel ſaid unto Abſalom, Go in unto thy fathers concubines c, which he hath left to keep the houſe, and all Iſrael ſhall hear that thou † art abhorred of thy father d, then ſhall the hands of all that are with thee be ſtrong e. † Heb. ſtinkeſt with thy father.

c This Counſel he gave, partly to Revenge the Injury done to Bathſheba, who was the Daughter of Eliam, 2 Sam. 11. 3. who was the ſon of Abitophel, Chap. 23. 34. and principally for his own, and the People's ſafety, that the Breach between David and Abſalom might be made wide, and irreparable by ſo Vile an Action, which muſt needs provoke David in the higheſt Degree, both for the Sin, and ſhame of it: as the like Action had done Jacob, Gen. 49. 3, 4. and cut off all hopes of Reconciliation, which otherwiſe might have been expected by ſome Treaty between Abſalom and his tender-hearted Father; in which Caſe his Followers, and eſpecially Abitophel himſelf, had been left to David's Mercy. d And therefore obliged by thy own Intereſt to proſecute the War with all poſſible Vigour, and to abandon all thoughts of Peace: as knowing that his Father, though he might diſſemble, yet would never forgive ſo foul and ſcandalous a Crime. e They will fight with greater Courage and Reſolution, when they are freed from the fear of thy Reconciliation, which otherwiſe would make their Hearts faint, and Hands ſlack in thy Cauſe. But by this we may ſee the Character of Abſalom's Party, and how abominably wicked they were, whom ſuch a loathſome and ſcandalous Action tied the faſter to him, whom for that very reaſon they ſhould have deſerted and abhorred. And we may further learn, how corrupt and filthy the Body of the People was, and how ripe for that ſevere Judgment which is now haſtening to them.

22 So they ſpread Abſalom a tent upon the top of the houſe f, and Abſalom * went in unto his fathers concubines g, in the ſight of all Iſrael h. *Chap. 12. 11.

f To wit, of the King's Palace, the very place from whence David had ſpied and gazed upon Bathſheba, Chap. 11. 2. So that his Sin was legible in the very place of his Puniſhment. g i. e. To one, or ſome of them. And by ſo doing did further make Claim to the Kingdom as his own; and, as it were, take Poſſeſſion of it. It being uſual in the Eaſtern Countries to account the Wives and Concubines of the late King, to belong of right to the Succeſſor; See the note on Chap. 12. 8. h Who ſaw him go into the Tent; and thence concluded, That he lay with them, as he had deſigned to do.

23 And the counſel of Ahitophel which he counſelled in thoſe days, was as if a man had enquired at the † oracle of God i: ſo was all the counſel of Ahitophel, both with David k, and with Abſalom. † Heb. word.

i It was received by the People with equal Authority and Veneration, and was uſually attended with as certain Succeſs. Which is mentioned as the reaſon why a Counſel which had ſo ill a face, ſhould meet with ſuch general approbation. k To whoſe Pious Diſpoſition he accommodated himſelf, as Policy obliged him; but being weary of it, he takes this firſt occaſion to diſcover himſelf, and execute that Wickedneſs which before lay in his Heart.

CHAP. XVII.

Huſhai, David's Friend, being, by David's Order, gone over to Abſalom, by God's appointment, overthroweth Abitophel's Counſel, 1,——14. Huſhai certifieth David thereof, and adviſeth him forthwith to march on, 15,——21. David paſſeth over Jordan, 22. Achitophel hangeth himſelf, 23. David cometh to Mahanaim: Abſalom paſſeth over Jordan, making Amaſa the Captain of his Hoſt, 24,——26. David is there furniſhed with Proviſions by his Friends, 27,——29.

MOreover, Ahitophel ſaid unto Abſalom, Let me now chuſe out twelve thouſand men, and I will ariſe and purſue a after David this night:

a I am ſo well aſſured of the goodneſs of this Counſel, that I will venture my own Perſon and Life in the execution of it.

2 And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak-handed, b and will make him afraid: and all the people that are with him ſhall flee, and I will ſmite the king only.

b Tired with a tedious March on Foot, and deſtitute of Men, and Military Proviſions; and diſheartned by his own ſmall Numbers, and by the general defection of his Subjects.

3 And I will bring back all the people unto thee: the man whom thou ſeekeſt is as if all returned c: ſo all the people ſhall be in peace.

c i. e. The Death of that Man whom thou ſeekeſt to deſtroy, is no leſs conſiderable to thee, than if all the People that follow him ſhould deſert him, and return unto thee.

4 And the ſaying † pleaſed Abſalom well, and all the Elders of Iſrael. † Heb. was right in the eyes of, &c.

5 Then ſaid Abſalom, Call now Huſhai the Archite alſo, and let us hear likewiſe † what he ſaith d. † Heb. what is in his mouth.

d A wonderful Effect of Divine Providence, blinding his Mind, and influencing his Heart, that he could not reſt in Abitophel's Counſel, though it was ſo evidently Wiſe, and Good, and approved by the general conſent of his whole Party; and that he ſhould deſire Huſhai's Advice, though neither his Reputation for Wiſdom was equal to Abitophel's, nor had he yet given any one proof of his Fidelity to Abſalom, as Abitophel had done; nor was he ſo fixed by his Intereſt to him, as Abitophel was; and though there wanted not juſt cauſe to ſuſpect him, and his Counſel too. But there is no contending with that God who can Arm a Man againſt himſelf, and deſtroy him by his own Miſtakes and Paſſions, without any other help.

6 And when Huſhai was come to Abſalom, Abſalom ſpake unto him, ſaying, Ahitophel hath ſpoken after this manner: Shall we do after his † ſaying? if not, ſpeak thou. † Heb. Word.

7 And Huſhai ſaid unto Abſalom, The counſel that Ahithophel hath † given, is not good at this time e. † Heb. counſelled.

e Though at other times he generally gives moſt wiſe and admirable Counſel; yet, as he is a Man, he ſeems now to be under a miſtake, and not ſufficiently to conſider all the preſent Circumſtances of this Buſineſs.

8 For (ſaid Huſhai) thou knoweſt thy father and his men, that they be mighty men f, and they be † chafed in their minds g, as * a bear robbed of her whelps in the field: and thy father is a man of war h, and will not lodge with the people. † Heb. bitter of ſoul. *Hoſ. 13. 8.

f Of approved Courage and Strength, therefore not ſo ſoon vanquiſhed as Abitophel ſuppoſeth. g Heb. bitter of ſoul, inflamed with Rage; deſperate, and therefore reſolved to ſell their Lives at a dear rate. h A wiſe Prince and General; who knowing of what Importance it is to ſecure his own Perſon, and that your great Deſign is againſt his Life; will doubtleſs uſe extraordinary care to keep out of your reach, which he may eaſily do.

9 Behold, he is hid now in ſome pit, or in ſome other place i: and it will come to paſs, when ſome of them k be † overthrown at the firſt l, that whoſoever heareth it, will ſay m, There is a ſlaughter among the people that followeth Abſalom. † Heb. fallen.

i Having been oft accuſtomed to that courſe, and well acquainted with all hiding-places from Saul's time. In one of them, unknown to us, he will lurk with ſome of his choſen Men, and lie in Ambuſh for us; and, when they ſee a fit opportunity, they will ſuddenly come forth and ſurprize ſome of our Men, when they leaſt expect it, and fall upon them with great fury, and probably will at firſt put them to flight. k To wit, of Abſalom's Men ſent againſt David. l Implying, that their good ſucceſs at firſt would mightily animate David's Men to proceed vigorouſly in the fight, and intimidate Abſalom's Army, and conſequently would be both a preſage and an occaſion of their total defeat. m They who firſt hear theſe ill tidings will propagate it, and ſtrike terror with it into the reſt of the Army.

10 And he alſo that is valiant, whoſe heart is as the heart of a lion, ſhall utterly melt: for all Iſrael knoweth that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are valiant men n.

n The known fame of the prodigious Valour of David and his followers will eaſily gain credit to that report, and ſtrike the ſtouteſt of our Men with dread, even Ahithophel himſelf, if he ſhould go with them.

11 Therefore I counſel, that all Iſrael be generally gathered unto thee o, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, as the ſand that is by the ſea for multitude, and † that thou go to battel in thine own perſon p.

† Heb. that thy face, or preſence go, &c.

o His pretence was, that they might have a far greater Army, and make ſure, though ſlow work: his deſign was to gain David more time, that he might increaſe his Army, and make better proviſions for the Battel; and that the preſent heat of the People might be cooled, and they might at laſt bethink themſelves of their duty to David, and return to their former Allegiance. p For thy preſence will put more Life and Courage into all thy Soldiers, who will be ambitious to ſhew their utmoſt Skill and Courage in defending thy Perſon and Cauſe, when they know that all their Actions are obſerved by him who hath the diſtribution of Rewards and Puniſhments in his hands. So mayeſt thou alſo give Counſel as occaſion offers, and encourage thy men to kill David, which otherwiſe they may poſſibly be afraid to do. Beſides, the glory of the Victory will be wholly thine, which now Ahithophel ſeeks to get to himſelf.

12 So ſhall we come upon him in ſome place where he ſhall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground q: and of him, and of all the men that are with him, there ſhall not be left ſo much as one.

q i.e. Plenteouſly, ſuddenly, irreſiſtibly, and on all ſides; for ſo the Dew falls.

13 Moreover, if he be gotten into a city, then ſhall all Iſrael bring ropes to that city r, and we will draw it into the river ſ, until there be not one ſmall ſtone found there.

r Not that they ſhould do ſo, or that it was the Cuſtom to do ſo; but it is an Hyperbolical and Thraſonical Expreſſion, ſuited to the vain-glorious temper of this inſolent young Man; and therefore moſt likely to prevail with him: implying, that they would do ſo if they could not diſcover and deſtroy him another way: or, that they ſhould be enough to do ſo, if there were occaſion. ſ Adjoyning to the City; it being uſual to build Cities near ſome River, both for defence, and for other accommodations.

14 And Abſalom and all the men of Iſrael ſaid t, The counſel of Huſhai the Archite is better than the counſel of Ahithophel: for the LORD had † appointed to defeat the good counſel u of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring evil upon Abſalom.

t Being infatuated by a Divine Power, and given up to believe Lyes and Miſtakes. u So it was, politically conſidered; being the wiſeſt and moſt effectual courſe to accompliſh Abſalom's end.

15 ¶ Then ſaid Huſhai unto Zadok, and to Abiathar the prieſts, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counſel Abſalom and the elders of Iſrael: and thus and thus have I counſelled.

16 Now therefore ſend quickly, and tell David, ſaying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderneſs x, but ſpeedily paſs over, leſt the king be ſwallowed up, and all the people that are with him.

x Leſt the King's and People's Minds change, and Ahithophel, by his deep wit and great intereſt, perſuade the King to follow his former advice, and to purſue you ſpeedily.

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz ſtayed by En-rogel y: (for they might not be ſeen to come into the city) and a wench z went and told them: and they went and told king David.

y Or, the Fullers well. A place near Jeruſalem, Joſ. 15. 7. and 18. 16. z Pretending to go thither to waſh ſome Cloaths.

18 Nevertheleſs, a lad ſaw them a, and told Abſalom, but they went both of them away quickly b, and came to a mans houſe in Bahurim, which had a well in his court, whither they went down c.

a Who knew them to be favourers of David, and obſerved them to wait there upon deſign, and to gain intelligence, and poſſibly ſaw the Wench ſpeaking privately to them. b Suſpecting by this Lads obſervation and Carriage, that they were diſcovered. c Either to ſome hole in the ſide of the Pit: or, to the bottom of the Pit, it being then dry, as Pits often were in thoſe hot Countries. And this being in ſo open a place, they concluded none would imagine them to be hid there. And beſides, they relied upon God's good Providence, which they knew watched over David, and them for his ſake.

19 And the woman took and ſpread a covering over the wells mouth, and ſpread ground corn thereon ∴, and the thing was not known.

∴ Under pretence of drying it by the Sun: which ſhews it was Summer-time.

20 And when Abſaloms ſervants came to the woman to the houſe, they ſaid, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman ſaid unto them, They be gone over the brook of water d. And when they had ſought, and could not find them, they returned to Jeruſalem.

d i.e. Over Jordan. This was a manifeſt Lye; but becauſe it was ſpoken for no hurt, but good only, many Perſons in thoſe times conceived ſuch Lyes to be lawful. Compare Exod. 1. 19. Joſ. 2. 4, 5. But although God was pleaſed to overlook and pardon the ſin, and graciouſly to reward the good intention which accompanied them; yet it is certain that all kinds of Lyes are moral Evils, and condemned by plain Scriptures, and that we muſt not do evil that good may come, nor tell a lye for Gods glory, Rom. 3. 7, 8.

21 And it came to paſs, after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and ſaid unto David, Ariſe, and paſs quickly over the water: for thus hath Ahithophel counſelled againſt you.

22 Then David aroſe, and all the people that were with him, and they paſſed over Jordan e: by the morning-light, there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.

e Either at the Ford, or in Boats.

23 ¶ And when Ahithophel ſaw that his counſel was not † followed, he ſadled his aſſe, and aroſe, and gate him home to his houſe, to his city, and † put his houſhold in order f, and hanged himſelf g, and died, and was buried in the ſepulchre of his father.

f Diſpoſed of his Eſtate by Will. Compare Iſa. 38. 1. g Partly, becauſe he could not indure to outlive his diſgrace, and the rejection of his Counſel: and partly, becauſe he foreſaw by this means David would gain time and ſtrength, and in all probability be Victorious, and then the ſtorm would fall moſt heavily upon his head, as the main Author and Pillar of the Rebellion, and the contriver of thoſe two pernicious Counſels above-mentioned.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim h: and Abſalom paſſed over Jordan i, and all the men of Iſrael with him.

h A place in the Country of Gilead, bordering upon the Land of the Ammonites, v. 27. See Gen. 32. 2. and 2 Sam. 2. 8. i Not ſpeedily, but when all the men of Iſrael were gathered together according to Huſhai's Counſel, who are ſaid to be with him here, as it follows.

25 ¶ And Abſalom made Amaſa captain of the hoſt inſtead of Joab: which Amaſa was a mans ſon whoſe name was Ithra, an Iſraelite k, that went in to Abigail l the daughter of Nahaſh m, ſiſter to Zeruiah, Joabs mother.

k Obj. He was an Iſhmaelite, 1 Chron 2. 17. Anſ. Not Amaſa; but Ithra, or Jether, Amaſa's Father, is there ſo called, becauſe he was ſuch, either by his Birth from ſuch Parents, or by his long habitation among them, or for ſome other reaſon now unknown. Compare 2 Sam. 15. 18. And Amaſa is here called an Iſraelite, either, becauſe he was a Proſelyte: or, in oppoſition to Joab, who was of the Tribe of Judah, as Amaſa was of one of the ten Tribes: or rather, to intimate, that although he or his Parents were called Iſhmaelites for ſome reaſon, yet as to their extraction they were indeed Iſraelites. Which if Amaſa had not been, it is not probable that he could have had ſo powerful an influence upon the Tribe of Judah, as he had, chap. 19. 14. l i.e. Lay with her, whether being firſt Married to her, or not, is uncertain. m Nahaſh is either another name of Jeſſe: or rather, the name of Jeſſe's Wife, by whom he had this Abigail, as he had Zeruiah by another Wife; ſo they were ſiſters by the Father, but not by the Mother; and Nahaſh is here named to ſignifie ſo much.

26 So Iſrael and Abſalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And it came to paſs when David was come to Nahanaim, that Shobi the ſon of Nahaſh of Rabbah of the children of Ammon n, and * Machir the ſon of Ammiel of Lodebar o, and * Barzillai the Gileadite, of Rogelim,

* Chap. 19. 31. 1 King. 2. 7.

n Who, as it may ſeem, diſliked and diſowned that barbarous action to the Embaſſadors; and therefore, when the reſt were deſtroyed, was left King or Governour of the reſidue of the Ammonites. o See above chap. 9. 4.

28 Brought beds, and ‖ baſins p, and earthen veſſels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulſe.

p i.e, All ſorts of Houſhold-ſtuff, as well as other proviſions, all which David now wanted.

29 And honey, and butter, and ſheep, and cheeſe of kine for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they ſaid, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirſty in the wilderneſs q.

q i.e. Having been in the wilderneſs. Which is an eaſie and common Ellipſis. Or, becauſe of (ſo the Hebrew Particle beth is oft uſed) the Wilderneſs, which they have paſſed thorough, in which Proviſions are very ſcarce.

CHAP. XVIII.

David viewing the Armies in their March, giveth them charge of Abſalom, 1,——5. whoſe Men are ſmitten: He hanging by his Hair on an Oak is ſlain by Joab, and caſt into a Pit: His Pillar and Monument, 6,——18. David hearing hereof, 19,———32. Mourneth for Abſalom, 33.

AND David numbred the people that were with him a, and ſet captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds over them.

a Which flocked to him thither, ſo as to make up a ſmall Army.

2 And David ſent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab b, and a third part under the hand of Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah Joabs brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite: and the king ſaid unto the people, I will ſurely go forth with you my ſelf alſo c.

b To wit, for his eſpecial conduct and management in the Battel: otherwiſe Joab was the General of all the Forces; nor had David yet taken away that Power from him, nor was this a time to do it. But ſuch diſtributions of Forces are uſual in Battels. c That by my preſence I may put life and courage into my Soldiers; and becauſe it is fit I ſhould run the ſame hazards with you, which you do for my ſake.

* Chap. 21. 17.
† Heb. ſet their heart on us.
† Heb. as ten thouſand of us.

3 But * the people anſwered, Thou ſhall not go forth d: for if we flee away, they will not † care for us; neither if half of us die, will they care for us: but now thou art † worth ten thouſand of us e: therefore now it is better that thou † ſuccour us out of the city f.

d For this was Abſalom's great error, into which he was drawn by a Divine infatuation, and by Huſhai's craft to go to Battel in his own Perſon, which was the utter ruin of him and of his Cauſe. e Not only for the Dignity of thy Perſon, but alſo for the importance of our common cauſe and concern, which, if thou art ſlain, is irrecoverably loſt. f By ſending us Supplies of Men, and Proviſions of all ſorts, as we have occaſion; and by ſecuring our retreat, if we be defeated. Or thus: not go along to the Battel with us, but only go out with us, or accompany us out of the City (to encourage the Company) and then retire for thy own ſafety. And ſo it ſeems by the next Verſe.

4 And the king ſaid unto them, What ſeemeth you beſt, I will do. And the king ſtood by the gateſide g, and all the people came out by hundreds, and by thouſands.

g i.e. Between the two Gates of the City, as it is expreſſed below, v 24.

5 And the king commanded Joab, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, Deal gently for my ſake with the young man, even with Abſalom h. And all the people i heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Abſalom.

h If you Conquer (which he preſaged they would by God's gracious Anſwer to his Prayer for the turning of Abithophel's Counſel into fooliſhneſs), take him Priſoner, but do not kill him. Which deſire proceeded, partly, from his great Indulgence towards his Children: partly, from David's Conſciouſneſs that he himſelf was the meritorious and procuring cauſe of this Rebellion, Abſalom being given up to it for the puniſhment of David's ſins; and therefore did indeed deſerve ſome pity from him: partly, from the conſideration of his Youth, which commonly makes Men fooliſh, and heady, and violent, and ſubject to ill Counſels: And partly, from his Piety, being loth that he ſhould be cut off in the act of his ſin without any ſpace, or means for repentance, whereby both his Soul and Body would be in danger to periſh for ever. i To wit, the Citizens and others who ſtood with the King in the Gate when the Army marched forth.

6 ¶ So the people went out into the field againſt Iſrael: and the battel was in the wood of Ephraim k.

k So called, not from its ſituation in the Tribe of Ephraim, which was on the other ſide Jordan, as is evident; but from ſome memorable action or occurrent of the Ephraimites beyond Jordan; whether it was their killing of Oreb and Zeeb there, Judg. 7. 25. and 8. 3. or, their ſlaughter by Jephthah, Judg. 12. 5, 6. or, ſome other not mentioned in Sacred Scripture.

7 Where the people of Iſrael l were ſlain before the ſervants of David, and there was there a great ſlaughter that day of twenty thouſand men.

l i.e. The Soldiers of Abſalom; ſo called, partly, to note that all Iſrael (ſome few excepted) were engaged in this Rebellion, which made David's deliverance more glorious and remarkable: and partly, in oppoſition to David's Men, who, as to the main Body, or moſt conſiderable part, were of the Tribe of Judah, or had followed him from Judah.

Iſa. 15. 9.
Heb. ltiplied devour.

8 For the battel was there ſcattered m over the face of all the country: and the * wood † devoured more people n that day than the ſword devoured o.

m i.e. The Warriers being beaten in the fight, fled and were diſperſed: the abſtract being put for the concrete, as poverty is put for poor men, 2 Kings 24. 14. and deceit for the deceiver, and dreams for dreamers, Prov. 12. 24. and 13. 6. n i.e. More People died in the Wood, either through hunger, and thirſt, and wearineſs: or, by the wild Beaſts, whereof great numbers were there, which, though they were driven away by noiſe and clamour from the place of the main Battel, yet might eaſily meet with them when they fled ſeveral ways, which alſo might be directed and ſent to them by God's Providence, and juſt Judgment to puniſh them for their Rebellion: or, by falling into Ditches and Pits, which were in that place, v. 17. and probably were covered with Graſs or Wood, ſo as they could not ſee them till they fell into them: or, by being hanged in Trees, as Abſalom was, v. 9. and eſpecially by David's Men, who purſued them, and killed them in the Wood: and the Wood is rightly ſaid to have devoured them, becauſe it gave the occaſion to their deſtruction, inaſmuch as the Trees, and Ditches, and Pits, entangled them, and ſtopped their flight, and made them an eaſie prey to David's Men, who followed them, and ſlew them in the purſuit, being therein directed and aſſiſted by the People of that Country, who, after the manner, fell in with the victorious ſide. o To wit, in the main Battel: the Sword being put for the Battel, by a common Metonymy.

9 ¶ And Abſalom met the ſervants of David p; and Abſalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak q, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth, and the mule that was under him went away r.

p Who, according to David's Command, ſpared him, and gave him an opportunity to eſcape. q In which probably he was entangled by the hair of the head, which being very long and thick, might eaſily catch hold of a Bough, eſpecially when the great God directed it. Either he wore no Helmet, or his Helmet was ſuch as left much of his Hair viſible; or he had thrown away his Helmet as well as his other Arms, to haſten his flight, or becauſe of the heat of the ſeaſon. Thus the matter of his Pride was the inſtrument of his Ruine, as alſo Aſahel's ſwiftneſs, chap. 2. 18. and Abithophel's Policy, chap. 17. 23. were the occaſions of their deſtruction. r Which might eaſily happen, becauſe being in flight the Mule paſſed along very ſwiftly.

10 And a certain man ſaw it, and told Joab, and ſaid, Behold, I ſaw Abſalom hanged in an oak.

11 And Joab ſaid unto the man that told him, And behold, thou ſaweſt him, and why didſt thou not ſmite him there to the ground ſ, and I would have given thee ten ſhekels of ſilver, and a girdle s?

ſ Why didſt thou not ſmite him down from the Oak, and with thy Spear nail him to the ground? s A Military Belt of more than ordinary price, as a teſtimony of thy Valour and good Service. See on 1 Sam. 18. 4.

12 And the man ſaid unto Joab, Though I ſhould † receive a thouſand ſhekels of ſilver in mine hand, yet would not I put forth mine hand againſt the kings ſon: for in our hearing the king charged thee, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, † Beware that none touch the young man ∴ Abſalom.

† Heb. Beware whoſoever ye be, of, &c.

∴ Or, take heed what (for ſo the Hebrew Pronoun mi, is ſometimes uſed, as Judg. 13. 17.) ye do with the young man. He expreſſeth David's ſenſe, though not his words.

13 Otherwiſe I ſhould have wrought falſhood againſt mine own life t: for there is no matter hid from the king u, and thou thy ſelf wouldeſt have ſet thy ſelf againſt me x.

t Either, Firſt, I ſhould have been guilty of falſe and perfidious dealing againſt the King's expreſs Injunction, and that with the manifeſt hazard of my own Life. Or, Secondly, I ſhould have betray'd my own Life. I ſhould not only have deceived my ſelf with falſe hopes, either of concealing my Fact from the King, or of obtaining a Reward, yea, or a Pardon, from him or thee for it, but alſo have deſtroyed my ſelf thereby, and laid a plot againſt my own Life. u This, as all other things, would certainly come to the King's ear. x Thou wouldſt have been my Adverſary and Accuſer; partly, becauſe it was thy duty to be ſo; and partly, to vindicate thy ſelf by caſting the blame upon another. Or, thou wouldſt have ſtood afar off, as this Phraſe is uſed, Pſal. 38 11. Thou wouldſt not have ſtood to me to intercede for my Life or Reward, but wouldſt keep at a diſtance from me.

14 Then ſaid Joab, I may not tarry thus † with thee y. And he took three darts in his hand, and thruſt them through the heart z of Abſalom, while he was yet alive a in the † midſt of the oak.

y I muſt not loſe time in contending with thee till I let the occaſion ſlip. z Not properly ſo called, for he was yet alive after theſe wounds, and was ſlain, ver. 15. but through his middle, as the word heart is oft uſed, as Pſal. 46. 2. and that too, not exactly, but more largely underſtood, as Deut. 4. 11. Ezek. 27. 4. Matth. 12. 40. or through his Body: which might be, and yet the wounds not mortal. a Or, yet he continued alive, i.e. the Darts did not diſpatch him, and therefore they ſmite him again, and kill him, v. 15.

15 And ten young men that bare Joabs armour, compaſſed about, and ſmote Abſalom, and ſlew him b.

b Judging that there could be no ſafety to the King, nor peace to the Kingdom, nor ſecurity to himſelf, and all David's Friends, and Loyal Subjects, and good Men, if Abſalom had lived, as may ſeem probable from chap. 19. 10. and yet perceiving that the King's Heart was reconcilable to Abſalom, notwithſtanding his abominable Crimes of lying with his Father's Concubines, and of horrid and unnatural Rebellion; both which were capital Crimes by the Law of God; he adventured to ſave David's Life againſt his Will. But whether Joab did well in this, all things conſidered I ſhall not here determine.

16 And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from purſuing after Iſrael: for Joab held back the people c.

c Who otherwiſe were highly incenſed againſt the Rebels, and hotly purſued them. But, the head of the Rebellion being cut off, and the danger thereby paſt, he puts a ſtop to the effuſion of Iſraelitiſh blood.

17 And they took Abſalom, and caſt him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a very great heap of ſtones upon him d: and all Iſrael fled every one to his tent e.

d As a laſting monument of Abſalom's ſin and ſhame, and of the Righteous Judgment of God upon him. Compare Joſ. 7. 26. and 8. 29. and 10. 27. He was firſt hanged, after a ſort, which was an accurſed death, Deut. 21. 23. and then thruſt through with Darts and Swords; and, after all, in a manner ſtoned, which was the proper puniſhment of a Rebellious Son, Deut. 21. 21. e To their houſes and dwellings, to avoid the ſhame and puniſhment of their Rebellion.

* Gen. 14. 17.

18 ¶ Now Abſalom in his life time had taken and reared up for himſelf a pillar f, which is in * the kings dale g: for he ſaid, I have no ſon to keep my name in remembrance h: and he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called unto this day, Abſaloms place i.

f To preſerve his name in memory; whereas it had been more for his honour if his name had been buried in perpetual oblivion. But this was the effect of his pride and vain-glory. g A place near Jeruſalem ſo called. Geneſis 14. 17. h Object. He had three ſons, Chap. 14. 27. Anſ. Either they were all now dead; or, if one of them was left alive, he thought him unfit and unworthy to keep up his name and honour; or, he erected this Pillar before his Sons were born. But the firſt opinion ſeems moſt probable; and it was a remarkable Judgment of God, that he who ſtruck at his Father's life, ſhould be puniſhed with the death of all his Sons. i Heb. Abſalom's hand, i.e his work, made, though not by his hand, yet for him and his glory, and by his procurement.

19 ¶ Then ſaid Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok, Let me now run, and bear the king tidings, how that the LORD hath † avenged himſelf of his enemies.

† Heb. judged him from the hand of, &c.

20 And Joab ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not † bear tidings this day, but thou ſhalt bear tidings another day: but this day thou ſhalt bear no tidings, becauſe the kings ſon is dead k.

k And thou ſhalt not be a Meſſenger of Evil tidings, which will be unwelcome to him, and prejudicial to thee.

21 Then ſaid Joab to Cuſhi l, Go tell the king what thou haſt ſeen. And Cuſhi bowed himſelf unto Joab, and ran.

l Or, to an Ethiopian; ſo he might be by birth, and yet by profeſſion an Iſraelite.

22 Then ſaid Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok yet again to Joab, But † howſoever, let me, I pray thee, alſo run after Cuſhi. And Joab ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou run, my ſon m, ſeeing that thou haſt no tidings ‖ ready?

‖ Or, convenient, or, ſufficient, Numb. 11. 22.

m So he calls him with reſpect both to his younger years, and to that true and tender affection which he had for him.

23 But howſoever (ſaid he) let me run. And he ſaid unto him, Run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain n, and over-ran Cuſhi.

n Which was the ſmoother and eaſier, though the longer way.

24 And David ſate between the two gates o: and the watchmen went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall p, and lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, a man running alone.

o For the Gates of the Cities then were, as now they are large and thick; and for the greater ſecurity, had two Gates, one more outward, the other inward. Here he ſate, that he might hear tidings when any came into the City. p Unto the top of the Wall or Tower upon the Gate, where watchmen uſed to watch. Compare 2 Kings 9 17. Ezek 33 2.

25 And the watchmen cried, and told the king. And the king ſaid, If he be alone there is tidings in his mouth q. And he came apace, and drew near.

q He is ſent with ſome ſpecial Meſſage: which was a very probable conjecture: for if he had run or fled from the Enemy, many others would have followed him.

26 And the watchman ſaw another man running, and the watchman called unto the porter, and ſaid, Behold, another man running alone. And the king ſaid, He alſo bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman ſaid, † Methinketh the running of the foremoſt, is like the running of Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok. And the king ſaid, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings r.

r He loves me well, and therefore would not afflict me with Evil tidings.

28 And Ahimaaz called and ſaid unto the king, ‖ † All is well. And he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD thy God, which hath † delivered up ſ the men that lift up their hand againſt my lord the king.

‖ Or, Peace be to thee. † Heb. Peace.

ſ Into thy hand and power; or, to deſtruction. Compare 1 Sam. 24. 19. and 26. 8.

29 And the king ſaid, † Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? And Ahimaaz anſwered, When Joab ſent the kings ſervant s, and me thy ſervant, I ſaw a great tumult, but I knew not what it was t.

† Heb. Is there peace?

s Cuſhi. t He ſeems to tell an untruth, as is evident from v. 20. becauſe he now plainly perceived what Joab foretold him, that ſuch tidings would be very unwelcome to David. But he made a bad choice, to offend God with a lye, rather than to diſpleaſe the King with a truth. Yet thus far it might be true; that though he had reaſon to think Abſalom was dead, yet was not able to give account of the particulars which concerned it, wherewith Cuſhi was intruſted.

30 And the king ſaid unto him, Turn aſide, and ſtand here. And he turned aſide, and ſtood ſtill.

31 And behold, Cuſhi came, and Cuſhi ſaid, † Tidings my lord the king: for the LORD hath avenged thee this day of all them that roſe up againſt thee.

32 And the king ſaid unto Cuſhi, Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? And Cuſhi anſwered, The enemies of my lord the king, and all that riſe up againſt thee to do thee hurt, be as that young man is u.

u May they periſh and be cut off, as he is.

33 ¶ And the king was much moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate x, and wept: and as he went, thus he ſaid, O my ſon Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon Abſalom: would God I had died for thee, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon y.

x Retiring himſelf from all Men and Buſineſs, that he might wholly give up himſelf to lamentation. y This he might ſpeak from a deep ſenſe of his Eternal State, becauſe he died in his ſins, without the leaſt teſtimony of repentance, and becauſe David himſelf had by his own ſins been the unhappy inſtrument and occaſion of his Sons death.

CHAP. XIX.

Joab by hard words moveth the King to ceaſe his mourning, and ſhew himſelf to the People, 1,——8. The King is brought back by the men of Judah: And Amaſa put in Joab's place, 9,——15. Shimei ſueth for mercy, and obtaineth it, 16,——23. Mephiboſheth meeting the King, recovers half his Eſtate, 24,——30. Barzillai is diſmiſſed: Chimham his Son is taken into the King's Family, 31,——40. The Iſraelites expoſtulate with Judah for bringing home the King without them, 41,—43.

AND it was told Joab a, Behold, the king weepeth and mourneth for Abſalom.

a By his Meſſengers, upon their return.

2 And the † victory that day was turned into mourning, unto all the people: for the people heard ſay that day, how the king was grieved for his ſon.

† Heb. ſalvation, or, deliverance.

3 And the people gat them by ſtealth that day into the city b, as people being aſhamed ſteal away when they flee in battel.

b Not openly, and orderly, and triumphantly, as Conquerors uſe to do; but ſecretly, and diſorderly, and aſunder, as if they were afraid and aſhamed, leſt David ſhould ſee them, and look upon them with an evil eye, as thoſe that had an hand in the killing of his dearly beloved Son.

4 But the king covered his face c, and the king cried with a loud voice, O my ſon Abſalom, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon.

c As a deep mourner, as one that deſired neither to ſee, nor to be ſeen by any others.

5 And Joab came into the houſe d to the king, and ſaid, Thou haſt ſhamed this day the faces of all thy ſervants e, which this day have ſaved thy life, and the lives of thy ſons, and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines f, d Either the Gate-houſe: or, his now dwelling-houſe in the City: to which he was retired, that he might more freely indulge himſelf in the expreſſions of his Grief. e By diſappointing their juſt hopes of Praiſes and Rewards, and by requiting them with Comtempt and tacit Rebukes. f All which Abſalom ſtruck at, and had ſooner or later actually taken away, if he had not been cut off in ſuch a manner, without expecting thy knowledge or conſent: and therefore thy carriage towards them that have ſaved the lives of thee and thine, with the utmoſt hazard of their own, is highly unjuſt and ungrateful.

6 † In that thou loveſt thine enemies, and hateſt thy friends; for thou haſt declared this day, † that thou regardeſt neither princes, nor ſervants: for this day I perceive, that if Abſalom had lived, and all we had died this day, then it had pleaſed thee well g.

g This is not to be underſtood as exactly true in the rigour of it; but only comparitively and hyperbolically ſpoken. For David deſired their preſervation and Abſalom's too: but it muſt be conſidered, that Joab was now in an high tranſport of Paſſion, which might eaſily hurry him into indecent expreſſions; and that David's carriage gave too much colour to ſuch a ſuggeſtion; and that ſuch ſharpneſs of ſpeech was in a manner neceſſary to awaken the King out of his Lethargy, and to preſerve him from the impendent Miſchiefs.

7 Now therefore ariſe, go forth, and ſpeak † comfortably unto thy ſervants: for I ſwear by the LORD h, if thou go not forth i, there will not tarry one with thee this night k, and that will be worſe unto thee than all the evil that befel thee from thy youth until now.

h This Oath was either aſſertory of what he believed might in reaſon be expected, as likely in great meaſure to come to paſs; or elſe promiſſory; or rather, minatory of what he by his influence could and would effect; and if ſo, it was much more than became him to ſay to his Sovereign; and could only be excuſed by the circumſtances which at this time might make it ſeem neceſſary: For David was indeed to blame in taking no more notice of their good ſervice (however Joab might be faulty alſo in diſobeying the Kings expreſs Command as to Abſalom's Perſon); and great reaſon there was that David, as Joab did now adviſe, ſhould ſhew himſelf leſs diſpleaſed to the People, who had expoſed their Lives to preſerve him and his. i To the Gate, to ſhew thy ſelf to thy People, and kindly and thankfully to acknowledge the good ſervice that they have now done thee. k The hearts of all thy People will forthwith be irrecoverably alienated from thee, and they will look out for ſome other Perſon on whom they may ſet the Crown.

8 Then the king roſe, and ſate in the gate l: and they told unto all the people, ſaying, Behold, the king doth ſit in the gate: and all the people came before the king m: for Iſrael had fled every man to his tent.

l He was come forth out of his retirement, and appeared in publick, on the Seat of Judgment, at the Gate of the City, to receive the Addreſſes of his People, and mind the Affairs of the Kingdom. m To congratulate him for the Victory, and to profeſs their ſubjection to him. So Joab's Speech, though very ſevere and preſumptuous, was, it ſeems, a word in ſeaſon, and had that good effect which he deſigned.

9 ¶ And all the people were at ſtrife n throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſaying o, The king ſaved us out the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philiſtines, and now he is fled out of the land for Abſalom p.

n Quarrelling one with another as the Authors or Abettors of this ſhameful and curſed Rebellion. o Diſcourſing privately and publickly of David's high Merits, which God, being now reconciled to David, brings afreſh to their Memories, and reneweth the ſenſe of their obligations to their King, which they had lately ſhaken off. Thus the Crowns of Kings ſit faſter or looſer upon their heads, as God is pleaſed to diſpoſe of the Thoughts and Hearts of their People, which he can turn in an inſtant which way he will. p Now we come to reflect upon our own Actions, we are ſenſible of our folly and unworthineſs in adhering to Abſalom, and thereby forcing David to fly out of the Land of Canaan, to the parts beyond Jordan for his ſecurity.

10 And Abſalom whom we anointed q over us, is dead in battel r: now therefore why † ſpeak ye not a word ſ of bringing the king back?

q i. e. Cauſed to be Anointed by Zadok, or Abiathar, or ſome other of the Prieſts, whom they perſuaded or conſtrained to do this office: for this being a Sacred Ceremony, of a great Reputation, and a likely means to gain the more authority and veneration from the People to Abſalom, as one whom God by his Vicegerent had conſtituted and ſet up; and this Rite being uſual upon all tranſlations of the Government from one Perſon to another in an extraordinary way, as this confeſſedly was, it is not likely that they would now omit it: though otherwiſe Anointing is frequently put for deſigning or conſtituting. r And therefore we have no obligation to him, and no hope of any thing from him. ſ The People of Iſrael ſpeak thus to the Elders of Iſrael, as appears by comparing this Verſe with the next. Seeing their deſigns for Abſalom diſappointed, they now repented of that undertaking, and were willing to teſtifie ſo much by their forwardneſs to bring back David, and re-eſtabliſh him.

11 ¶ And king David ſent to Zadok, and to Abiathar the prieſts, ſaying, Speak unto the elders of Judah t, ſaying, Why are ye the laſt to bring the king back to his houſe u? (ſeeing the ſpeech of all Iſrael is come to the king, even to his houſe x).

t Who being the firſt and chief Abettors of Abſalom's Rebellion, deſpaired of ever obtaining the King's Grace and Pardon, and therefore were backward to promote the King's Reſtauration. u To his Royal Palace at Jeruſalem. x i. e. Even to Mahanaim, where now the King's Houſe and Family is. Thus ſometimes one word is taken in divers ſenſes in the ſame Verſe, as Matth. 8. 22. Or rather thus: About bringing the King back to his houſe: For, Firſt, Thoſe words are very fitly and eaſily underſtood here, out of the foregoing member of the Verſe; ſuch defects being uſual in the Hebrew, which is a very conciſe or ſhort Language. So it is Exod. 22. 15. and Deut. 1. 4, &c. Secondly, It ſeems moſt reaſonable to underſtand the ſame Phraſe, to his houſe, being twice here uſed in the ſame ſence in both places, to wit, of his Houſe in Jeruſalem: and this is moſt agreeable to rule, and to Scripture-uſage. Thirdly, Thus the words have more Emphaſis than the other way: For if the Speech came to the King at Mahanaim, it matters not whether it found him in his Houſe there, or in the Gate-houſe, or in the Field. Fourthly, David had no Houſe in Mahanaim, which could properly be called his houſe; as he had in Jeruſalem. And then the Parentheſis ſhould cloſe before thoſe laſt words, even to his houſe, or even to his own houſe, to wit, that at Jeruſalem.

12 Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my fleſh y: wherefore then are ye the laſt to bring back the king z?

y Of the ſame Tribe, and ſome of you of the ſame Family with my ſelf; and therefore if I ſhould revenge my ſelf of you, which perhaps you may fear I will do when I have fully regained my power, I ſhould but tear my own Fleſh in pieces, and hate my own Body, which Nature and Intereſt obligeth every Man to preſerve. z This delay doth not ſuit with the relation you have, and the affection you owe to me.

13 And ſay ye to Amaſa a, Art thou not * of my bone, and of my fleſh b? God do ſo to me, and more alſo, if thou be not captain of the hoſt before me c continually, in the room of Joab d.

* Chap. 17. 25.

a Abſalom's late General; who judging his caſe, above all others, deſperate, might be ready to uſe all his Intereſt with that Tribe, to delay or hinder the King's return. b i. e. My near Kinſman, my Nephew. See 1 Chron. 2. 16, 17. c i. e. In my preſence; or, now whilſt I live; leſt he ſhould think he promiſed him only the reverſion of it. d Who, beſides his other Crimes, had lately exaſperated the King by his wilful Murther of Abſalom, contrary to David's expreſs Command; and by his inſolent Carriage towards him. And therefore the King having now the opportunity of another Perſon who had a greater Intereſt both in Judah and Iſrael than Joab, he gladly complies with it, that ſo he might both chaſtiſe Joab for his faults, and reſcue himſelf from the Bondage in which Joab had hitherto held him. Yet it is not neceſſary, from thoſe words in the room of Joab, to conclude that Joab was to be diſplaced to make room for Amaſa; but that he might be in like condition with Joab: But, what follows in the next Chapter, makes very probable that he was indeed diſplaced, and Amaſa put in his place.

14 And he e bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, * even as the heart of one man, ſo that they ſent this word unto the king, Return thou and all thy ſervants.

* Judg. 20. 1.

e Either, Firſt, Amaſa by his great influence upon them. Or, rather, Secondly, David by this prudent and kind Meſſage, and his free offer of pardon and favour to them, as if they had never offended.

15 So the king returned, and came to Jordan: and Judah came to Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan f.

f To attend upon the King in his paſſage over Jordan, and to furniſh him with conveniencies for his paſſage and journey. See below, ver. 41, 42.

16 ¶ And * Shimei, the ſon of Gera, a Benjamite, which was of Bahurim, haſted and came down with the men of Judah, to meet king David.

* Chap. 16. 5. 1 Kin. 2. 8.

17 And there were a thouſand men of Benjamin with him g, and * Ziba the ſervant of the houſe of Saul h, and his fifteen ſons, and his twenty ſervants with him, and they went over Jordan before the king i.

* Chap. 16. 1.

g Whom he brought, partly to ſhew his power and intereſt in the People, whereby he was able to do David either great ſervice, or great diſſervice: and partly, as Interceſſors on his behalf, and as witneſſes of David's clemency or ſeverity, that in him they might ſee what the reſt of them might expect. h Who, being conſcious of his former abuſe of David, and of his Maſter Mephiboſheth, which he knew the King would underſtand, deſigned to ſweeten David's Spirit towards him, by his great officiouſneſs and forwardneſs in meeting him, and congratulating his return. i They did not tarry on this ſide Jordan waiting till the King came over, as the moſt of the men of Judah did; but went over Jordan to pay their reſpects and duty to the King there, to expreſs their eager and impatient deſire to ſee the King.

18 And there went over a ferry-boat k to carry the kings houſhold, and to do † what he thought good: and Shimei the ſon of Gera fell down before the king as he was come over Jordan l; k Made by the men of Judah for the King's proper uſe; beſides which there were doubtleſs many Boats ready for the uſe of others. l Or rather, as he was paſſing, or about to paſs over Jordan; but this was beyond Jordan: for as he went over Jordan to the King, v. 17. ſo doubtleſs he fell down before him at his firſt coming into his preſence there.

19 And ſaid unto the king, Let not my lord impute iniquity unto me, neither do thou remember * that which thy ſervant did perverſly the day that my lord the king went out of Jeruſalem, that the king ſhould take it to his heart m.

* Chap. 16. 5.

m i. e. Be affected with it, or excited to revenge it.

20 For thy ſervant doth know that I have ſinned n: therefore behold, I am come the firſt o this day of all the houſe of Joſeph p, to go down to meet my lord the king.

n I do not excuſe my Sin, but with grief and ſhame confeſs it; in which caſe the Lord thy God is ready to pardon Offenders, and ſo I truſt wilt thou be. o The ſenſe of my former Sin now hath, and whilſt I live will make me the firſt and moſt forward in all Acts of Duty and Service to thy Majeſty. p Object. He was a Benjamite, Chap. 16. 5. How then doth he make himſelf one of the houſe of Joſeph? Anſw. The houſe of Joſeph is here put, either, 1. For the Ten Tribes, which are oft diſtinguiſhed from Judah, and then they are called the houſe of Joſeph; as Zech. 10. 6. But this diſtinction was not made before the diviſion of the People into two Kingdoms: And even after that Diviſion, Benjamin was conſtantly reckoned with Judah, and not with Joſeph or Ephraim. Or, 2. For all the Tribes of Iſrael, who are all called the children of Joſeph, Pſal. 77. 15. Compare Pſal. 80. 1. and 81. 5. as well they might, not only becauſe of Joſeph's Eminency, (the moſt Eminent Perſons and Things being oft put for the reſt of the kind) and becauſe the rights of Primogeniture were in a great part devolved upon him, 1 Chron. 5. 1. but alſo becauſe Joſeph had been as a Father to them, and had nouriſhed them all like Children; as is expreſſed in the Hebrew Text, Gen. 47. 12. But in this ſence this was not true, for the Houſe of Judah came before him, ver. 15. Or rather, 3. For all the Tribes, except Judah, which are conveniently called the houſe of Joſeph, for the reaſons now mentioned, and are fitly diſtinguiſhed from Judah, becauſe the Rights of the Firſt-born were divided between Judah and Joſeph, 1 Chron. 5. 2. And though Benjamin, after the Diviſion of the Kingdoms was fitly joyned with Judah, becauſe then they adhered to that Tribe; yet before that time it was more conveniently joyned with Joſeph, becauſe they marched under the Standard of the Houſe of Joſeph, or of Ephraim, Numb. 10. 22, 23, 24. Whence it is, that Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manaſſeh, are put together, Pſal. 80. 2.

21 But Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah anſwered and ſaid, Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, becauſe he curſed the LORD's anointed q?

q i. e. The King. By this Expreſſion, he minds David of his former Zeal againſt thoſe who offered any injury to Saul, becauſe he was the Lord's Anointed, 1 Sam. 24. 6. and 26. 9. and therefore demands the ſame Juſtice againſt Shimei for his Curſing of the King, which was ſo expreſly forbidden, Exod. 22. 28. and by the Analogy of that Law, Exod. 21. 17. might ſeem puniſhable with Death.

22 And David ſaid, What have I to do with you r, ye ſons of Zeruiah s, that ye ſhould this day be adverſaries unto me t? * Shall there any man be * 1 Sam.
put to death this day in Iſrael? for do not I know, 11. 13.
that I am this day king over Iſrael u?

r I do not ask, neither will I take your Advice in this Matter. s Implying, that Joab's hand was in this Contrivance, or that he ſuſpected it. t i e. That you put me upon things unfit for me to do, and contrary to my preſent Intereſt; for it was David's Intereſt at this time to appeaſe the People, and reconcile them to him, and not now to give them any new diſtaſt by acts of Severity: For this would make others jealous, that David will not forgive them neither, but would watch an opportunity to be Revenged on them. You pretend Friendſhip herein, and would have me take it for an effect of your Zeal for my Service; but in truth you give me ſuch Counſel as my Enemies would wiſh me to follow, that thereby I might awaken the fears and jealouſies of my People which are now aſleep, and caſt them into a ſecond Rebellion: which either Joab and Abiſhai really deſigned by this Advice, that ſo Joab might recover his Place again, and be made neceſſary for the King's Service; or David ſuſpected that they did ſo. u Is not my Kingdom, which for my Sins was in a manner wholly loſt, juſt now reſtored and aſſured to me? And when God hath been ſo merciful to me in forgiving my Sin, ſhall I now ſhew my ſelf Revengeful to Shimei? Shall I ſully the Publick Joy and Glory of this Day, with an act of ſuch ſeverity? Or, ſhall I alienate the Hearts of my People from me, now when they are returning to me?

* 1 Kings 23 Therefore * the king ſaid unto Shimei, Thou
2. 37, 46. ſhalt not die x: and the king ſware unto him y.

x To wit, this day, as Abiſhai deſireth; nor whilſt I live, nor by my Hands, as it is repeated and explained, 1 Kings 2. 8. nor for this Cauſe alone. For though David gave order to Solomon for his Puniſhment after his Death; nor was it fit for the Publick Good that ſuch a horrid Crime ſhould go unpuniſhed; yet he would not have him puniſhed for this Fault alone, but for ſome other Capital Crime, which he preſumed Shimei's Temper would eaſily betray him to; and Solomon's deep Wiſdom would eaſily find out, 1 Kings 2. 9. y That he would not put him to death with the Sword, as it is expreſſed 1 Kings 2. 8.

24 ¶ And Mephiboſheth the ſon z of Saul came down to meet the king, and had neither dreſſed his feet a, nor trimmed his beard b, nor waſhed his cloathes c, from the day the king departed, until the day he came again in peace.

z i. e. The Grandſon, 2 Sam. 6. 3, 6. a By cutting his Nails, and by waſhing his Feet, which was uſual in thoſe hot Climates, and very refreſhing; and therefore now neglected, as becoming a Mourner. b But ſuffered it to grow very long, and diſorderly, as was uſual with many Perſons in a forlorn, or mournful State. c His Linnen Clothes. This and the former were ſigns, that he was a true and obſtinate Mourner, that laid aſide his uſual Refreſhments: and they are here mentioned as Evidences of the Falſhood of Ziba's former Relation concerning him, Chap. 16. 3, 25 And it came to paſs when he was come to Jeruſalem d to meet the king, that the king ſaid unto him, Wherefore wenteſt not thou with me e, Mephiboſheth?

d So it is ſuppoſed, That Mephiboſheth, though he went to meet the King, wanted either Courage, or fit Opportunity to ſpeak to the King till he came to Jeruſalem, becauſe of the great Multitudes that Addreſſed themſelves to the King by the way. Though it might more reaſonably be thought, that he could not go from Jeruſalem to meet the King, as others did, becauſe he wanted conveniencies for his Journey: for Ziba had gotten all his Lands and Goods, Chap. 16. 4. and it is not likely that he, who would not provide him an Aſs to ride on, or to accompany the King at his departure, would now be haſty to furniſh him with one to meet the King, to whom he knew he would complain of him. But the Words may ſeem to be better rendred thus, when he went (for ſo the Hebrew Verb ſignifies, Ruth 3. 7. Jonah 1. 3.) from (which Præpoſition is oft underſtood) Jeruſalem. For there he was, Chap. 16. 3. and having continued there, as probably he did, (becauſe he wanted an Aſs to convey him elſewhere, and knew not where to be with more ſafety) he could not properly nor truly be ſaid to have come thither to meet the King. e As Juſtice and Gratitude obliged thee to do.

26 And he anſwered, My lord, O king, my ſervant deceived me f; for thy ſervant ſaid, I will ſaddle me an aſs, that I may ride thereon, and go to the king, becauſe thy ſervant is lame:

h i. e. Before thy Tribunal: we were all at thy Mercy: not my Eſtate only (which thou haſt now granted to Ziba) but my Life alſo was in thy Power, if thou hadſt dealt with Rigour, and as Earthly Kings uſe to do with their Predeceſſors and Enemies Children. For otherwiſe by the Law of God Saul himſelf had not deſerved to die by David's hands, as David himſelf confeſſed: Much leſs his Children, who were not to dye for their Father's Sins, Deut. 24. 16. But Mephiboſheth ſpeaks like a Courtier, and like an Orator, aggravating Matters againſt himſelf, that he might ſeem to juſtifie the King's Sentence, and to ſubmit to it; and ſo inſinuate himſelf into the King's favour. i To wit, for the Vindication of mine Honour, and the Reſtitution of my Eſtate.

29 And the king ſaid unto him, Why ſpeakeſt thou any more of thy matters k? I have ſaid l, Thou and Ziba divide the Land m.

k For as Ziba was preſent, ſo doubtleſs he was not ſilent, but ſaid and did what he could to make good his former Charge; which muſt needs occaſion many Words before the King. And the King was not now at leiſure for long Debates, and therefore makes an end of the Matter. l To wit, within my ſelf; I have conſidered the Matter as far as now I can, and upon the whole am come to this Reſolution, wherein I expect that thou and he do both acquieſce. Or, I do now ſay, I pronounce this Sentence in the Cauſe. m The meaning is either, 1. The Land ſhall be divided between thee and him, as it was by my firſt Order, Chap. 9. 10. He and his Sons managing it, and ſupporting themſelves out of it, as they did before, and giving the reſt of the Profits thereof to thee. And to this the following words may well enough be accommodated; Yea, let him take all; to wit, to his own ſole uſe. Or, 2. The Right and Profits of the Land ſhall be equally divided between you. It ſeems a very raſh and harſh Sentence, and very unbecoming David's Wiſdom, and Juſtice, and Gratitude to Jonathan; and Ziba ſeems to have deſerved Death for falſly accuſing his Maſter of Treaſon, rather than a Recompence. But the whole Tranſaction of the Matter is not here ſet down. Poſſibly Ziba might bring plauſible Pretences to juſtifie his Accuſation; and it might be pretended, That Mephiboſheth neglected the trimming and dreſſing himſelf only in Policy, and that for a ſeaſon, till David and his Family had deſtroyed one another by their Civil Wars, and giving him a fit opportunity to take the Crown. So that David might really be at a loſs what to determine. And Ziba had given proof of his Affections to David by an Act of kindneſs which could not be without hazard to himſelf, Chap. 16. 1, 2. which Mephiboſheth had not done. And poſſibly, this was only a preſent Sentence, and David reſolved to Examine things more throughly when he had more leiſure, and then to make a more full and final Determination of the Buſineſs; which alſo he might do, though it be not here Recorded. For we muſt not think, that nothing was done and ſaid about ſuch things but what is mentioned in Scripture. Beſides, Ziba being a powerful Man, and the Crown not yet firmly fixed upon the King's Head, David might think fit to ſuſpend his final Sentence till a more convenient ſeaſon, and not now to provoke him too much by taking away all his Eſtate from him at once, but to proceed againſt him by degrees. Howſoever, this is certain, we cannot paſs a right Judgment upon this Action of David's, unleſs we underſtood all the Circumſtances of it, which we cannot pretend to do.

30 And Mephiboſheth ſaid unto the king, Yea, let him take all, foraſmuch as my lord the king is come again in peace unto his own houſe n.

n I am contented to loſe all, being fully ſatisfied with the happineſs of ſeeing my dear and dread Sovereign reſtored to his Crown, and Truth and Peace returned to his Kingdom.

31 ¶ And * Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim, and went over Jordan with the king, to conduct him over Jordan o.

* 1 King. 2. 7.

o And then to croſs Jordan again, and ſo return to his Native Land.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourſcore years old, and * he had provided the king of ſuſtenance while he lay at Mahanaim: for he was a very great man.

* Chap. 17. 27.

33 And the king ſaid unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jeruſalem.

34 And Barzillai ſaid unto the king, † How long have I to live, that I ſhould go up with the king unto Jeruſalem p?

† Heb. how many days are the years of my life?

p Seeing my time of continuance in this World is but ſhort, it is not adviſable to change my Habitation, or to give thee or my ſelf any further trouble.

35 I am this day fourſcore years old: and can I diſcern between good and evil? can thy ſervant taſte what I eat or what I drink? can I hear any more the voice of ſinging-men, and ſinging women q? wherefore then ſhould thy ſervant be yet a burden unto my lord the king r?

q My Senſes are grown dull, and uncapable of reliſhing the Delights of the Court. I am paſt taking Pleaſure in delicious Taſtes, or ſweet Muſick, and other ſuch Delights of the Court. r I am through Age both uſeleſs and burthenſome to others, and therefore moſt improper for a Court-life.

36 Thy ſervant will go a little way over Jordan s with the king: and why ſhould the king recompenſe it me t with ſuch a reward?

s A little onward in thy way to Jeruſalem, and then return. t Or, recompence me, to wit, for my ſmall kindneſs to thee at Mahanaim, which was but a part of my Duty to thee.

37 Let thy ſervant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, and be buried by the grave of my father, and of my mother: but behold thy ſervant Chimham u, let him go over with my lord the king, and do to him what ſhall ſeem good unto thee.

u Barzillai's Son, 1 King. 2. 7.

38 And the king anſwered, Chimham ſhall go over with me: and I will do to him that which ſhall ſeem good unto thee: and whatſoever thou ſhalt † require of me, that will I do for thee.

39 And all the people went over Jordan: and when the king was come over, the king kiſſed Barzillai, and bleſſed him, and he returned unto his own place.

40 Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him, and all the people of Judah conducted the king x, and alſo half the people of Iſrael y.

x Attended upon him on his Journey towards Jeruſalem. y Whereas the Men of Judah came intirely and unanimouſly to the King, as is noted here, and above, ver. 14. the Iſraelites of the other Tribes came in but ſlowly, and by halves, as being no leſs guilty of the Rebellion, than the Tribe of Judah; but not encouraged and invited to come in by ſuch a particular and gracious Meſſage as they were. And this is here mentioned as the occaſion both of the Contention here following, and of the Sedition, chap. 20.

41 ¶ And behold, all the men of Iſrael z came to the king, and ſaid unto the king, Why have our brethren the men of Judah ſtolen thee away a, and have brought the king and his houſhold, and all Davids men b with him over Jordan?

z To wit, ſuch as were preſent. a i. e. Conveyed thee over Jordan haſtily and privily, not expecting nor deſiring our Conſent and Concurrence in the Buſineſs, which we were no leſs ready to afford than they. It is alſo a ſecret Reflection upon the King, for permitting this Precipitation. b i. e. All thy Men; ſuch changes of Perſons being moſt frequent in the Hebrew Language; thine Officers, and Guards, and Soldiers. This is mentioned as an aggravation of their Fault, That they did not only carry the King over Jordan, but all his Men too, without asking their Advice.

42 And all the men of Judah anſwered the men of Iſrael, Becauſe the king is near of kin to us c: wherefore then be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten at all of the kings coſt? or hath he given us any gifts d?

c Of the ſame Tribe with us, and therefore both oweth the more reſpect to us, and might expect and challenge more reſpect from us. d We have neither fought nor gained any advantage to our ſelves hereby, but only diſcharged our duty to the King, and uſed all Expedition in bringing him back, which you alſo ſhould have done, and not have come in by halves, and ſo coldly as you have done; See ver. 40.

43 And the men of Iſrael anſwered the men of Judah, and ſaid, We have ten parts e in the king f, and we have alſo more right in David than ye g: Why then did ye † deſpiſe us, that our advice ſhould not be firſt had in bringing back our king h? And the words of the men of Judah were fiercer i than the words of the men of Iſrael.

e They ſay but ten, though ſtrictly there were Eleven; either, becauſe they accounted Joſeph (which comprehends both Ephraim and Manaſſeh under it) for one Tribe, as it is ſometimes reckon'd; or becauſe Simeon, whoſe Lot lay within the Tribe of Judah, were joyned with them in this Action. f i. e. In the Kingdom, and the management of the Affairs of it; the word King being put for Kingdom, as it is 2 Chron. 23. 20. and Iſa. 23. 15. Dan. 7. 17. Hoſ. 10. 15. Or, in the King's Perſon, and the diſpoſal thereof. g As in the general we have more right in the King and Kingdom; ſo particularly, we have more right in David than you, becauſe you were the firſt beginners, and the moſt zealous promoters of this Rebellion: and as David is neareſt of kin to you, ſo he hath been moſt injured by you; howſoever, as he is King, we juſtly Claim a greater Intereſt in him, than you; inaſmuch as we are the far greateſt part of his Subjects. h That we being the far greater Number, ſhould not have the firſt and chiefeſt Vote in this Action. But the words are by ſome, and may well be rendred interrogatively, And was not my word firſt about bringing the King back? Did not we make the firſt mention of it, before you could be drawn to it? For ſo indeed they did, ver. 11. And therefore the neglect of their Advice herein might ſeem more inexcuſable. i Inſtead of mollifying them with gentle words, they anſwered them with greater fierceneſs and inſolency; ſo that David durſt not interpoſe himſelf in the matter.

CHAP. XX.

By occaſion of this quarrel Sheba ſtirreth up Iſrael to ſedition, 1, 2. David's ten concubines are ſhut up in perpetual priſon, 3. Amaſa is ſlain by Joab, 4,—10. He and Abiſhai purſueth Sheba unto Abel, 11,—15. The citizens by the advice of a wiſe woman cut off his head and caſt it over the wall to Joab, 16,—22. David's officers, 23,—26.

AND there happened a to be there a man of Belial b, whoſe name was Sheba the ſon of Bichri, a Benjamite c, and he blew a trumpet, and ſaid, * We have no part in David d, neither have we inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe e: every man to his tents f, O Iſrael.

* 1 King. 12. 16.

a His preſence was caſual in it ſelf, though certain, and ordered by God's Providence. b A lawleſs Perſon, one that attempted to ſhake off the Yoke of Civil Authority: See Deut. 13. 13. c Agrieved at the tranſlation of the Kingdom from Saul, and that Tribe, to David. d The Tribe of Judah have monopolized the King to themſelves, and will not allow us any ſhare in him; let them therefore enjoy him alone, and let us ſeek out a new King. e An expreſſion of Contempt, implying their rejection of him, that he was no more to be owned as their King, but as a private Perſon, as the Son of Jeſſe. f Let us all deſiſt from this unthankful Office, of bringing the King back, and go each to our homes, that we may conſider, and then meet together to chuſe a new King.

2 So every man of Iſrael ∴ went up from after David, and followed Sheba the ſon of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave unto their king, from Jordan even to Jeruſalem.

∴ i.e. The generality of thoſe Iſraelites who were preſent.

3 ¶ And David came to his houſe at Jeruſalem, and the king took the ten women his * concubines, whom he had left to keep the houſe, and put them in † ward g, and fed them, but went not in unto them: ſo they were † ſhut up unto the day of their death, † living in widowhood.

g Partly, becauſe they had not vigorouſly oppoſed Abſalom's luſtful Deſire, as they ſhould have done, even with the hazard of their Lives: and partly, leſt the ſight of them ſhould renew the Memory of Abſalom's Filthineſs, and of their own and David's Reproach, which it was fit to bury in perpetual Oblivion: and partly, becauſe it might appear Inceſtuous to have to do with thoſe who had been defiled by his own Son: and partly, becauſe as David would not, ſo it was not now convenient that any other Man ſhould have any conjugal Converſation with them.

4 ¶ Then ſaid the king to Amaſa, † Aſſemble me the men of Judah h, within three days i, and be thou here preſent k.

h And march in the Head of them as their General, as I have promiſed thee, chap. 19. 13. i Which he ſuppoſed Amaſa, having been their late General, could eaſily do: and the buſineſs required haſte. k Within that time to receive Orders and Inſtructions from me.

5 So Amaſa went to aſſemble the men of Judah; but he tarried longer than the ſet time l which he had appointed him.

l Either, becauſe the People being wearied out by the late Civil War, were not forward to engage in another: or, becauſe the Soldiers had more Affection to Joab, than to their new General; to whoſe ill Conduct poſſibly they might impute their unſucceſsfulneſs in the laſt Battel: Or, becauſe Amaſa for his own Intereſt might ſeek delays, to render himſelf more neceſſary and uſeful to the King, and to keep up his honourable and profitable Employment, which is the common Policy of ſuch Men.

6 And David ſaid to Abiſhai m, Now ſhall Sheba the ſon of Bichri do us more harm than did Abſalom: take thou * thy lords ſervants n, and purſue after him, leſt he get him fenced cities, and † eſcape us.

* Chap. 11. 11.

m Not to Joab; leſt by this means he ſhould recover his Place, and Amaſa be diſcontented, and David's Fidelity in making good his Promiſe to Amaſa be queſtioned. n i. e. My Guards that attend upon my Perſon, and the other Soldiers who are now preſent with me. He ſpeaks of himſelf in the Third Perſon, as is very frequent. For it is not probable he would now call Joab his lord, whom he had lately depoſed; nor Amaſa, who had not yet taken actual Poſſeſſion of his Place, nor had the Command over the King's Guards.

7 And there went out after him Joabs men o, and the * Cherethites, and the Pelethites p, and all the mighty men: and they went out of Jeruſalem to purſue after Sheba the ſon of Bichri.

* Chap. 8. 18.

o The remainders of Joab's Army who were there preſent, with whom alſo Joab might go as a Reformade, watching an opportunity to do what he deſigned. p Of whom, ſee on chap. 8. 18.

8 When they were at the great ſtone which is in Gibeon, Amaſa went before them q; and Joabs garment that he had put on, was girded unto him r, and upon it a † girdle with a ſword faſtned upon his loins in the ſheath thereof, and as he went forth s is fell out t.

q Having gathered ſome Forces, and given due Orders for the reſt to follow him, he returned to Jeruſalem, and by the King's Command went after thoſe mentioned ver. 7. and being come up to them at the place where they waited for him, he put himſelf into the Head of Joab's Men, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and ſuch as he had brought along with him, and marched before them as their Chief and General. r After the manner of Travellers and Soldiers. s To meet and ſalute Amaſa, who was coming towards him to do him Honour. t Things having (it is likely) been ſo contrived by Joab, that upon the leaſt motion of his Body, his Sword ſhould drop out, and he might take it up without raiſing Amaſa's Suſpicion.

9 And Joab ſaid to Amaſa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amaſa by the beard u with the right hand to kiſs him.

u As the manner of Ancient Times was, when they kiſſed and ſaluted one another.

10 But Amaſa took no heed to the ſword that was in Joabs hand x: ſo he ſmote him therewith in the fifth rib y, and ſhed out his bowels to the ground, and † ſtrook him not again z, and he died: ſo Joab a and Abiſhai his brother purſued after Sheba the ſon of Bichri.

x Which falling out, as it ſeemed, caſually, he ſuppoſed that Joab intended only to put it into its Scabbard, and therefore took no care to defend himſelf againſt the ſtroke. y See on chap. 2. 23. z He diſpatched him at one ſtroke; or, gave him his Deaths Wound at the firſt blow, and needed not to ſmite him again. a Who now boldly reſumed his former Place, and marched in the Head of the Army. It is not ſtrange, that Amaſa's Soldiers did not fight to revenge his Death; partly, becauſe not many of them were yet come up, but came by degrees, as the following Verſes ſhew; and partly, becauſe Joab's Intereſt and Authority with the Military-men was very great; eſpecially, with David's Guards, who were here preſent, and who had no kindneſs for Amaſa, as having been the General of the Rebellious Army; and, as they might think, was not fit to be put into a Place of ſo great Power and Truſt.

11 And one of Joabs men b ſtood by him, and ſaid, He that favoureth Joab c, and he that is for David d, let him go after Joab.

b Left there on purpoſe to deliver the following Meſſage. c He that would have Joab to be General, rather than ſuch a perfidious Rebel and Traytor as Amaſa. d He that wiſheth David good ſucceſs againſt Sheba, and againſt all Rebels. Whereby he implies, that though this Fact of his was done againſt the King's Command, yet it was for his Intereſt and Defence.

12 And Amaſa wallowed e in blood f in the midſt of the high way: and when the man ſaw that all the people g ſtood ſtill h, he removed Amaſa out of the high way into the field i, and caſt a cloth upon him, when he ſaw that every one that came by him ſtood ſtill.

e Heb. rolled himſelf, being in the Pangs of Death; yet having ſo much life left, as to move himſelf a little, though not to raiſe himſelf up from his place. f In his own Blood, which was ſhed there. g To wit, the Soldiers which were upon their march. h Wondering at the Spectacle, and enquiring into the Author and Occaſion of it. i Perceiving, that it both incenſed them againſt Joab, and hindred the King's preſent Service.

13 When he was removed out of the high way, all the people went on after Joab, to purſue after Sheba the ſon of Bichri.

14 ¶ And he k went through all the tribes of Iſrael unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah l, and all the Berites m: and they n were gathered together, and went alſo after him o.

k Either, 1. Joab, who purſued Sheba through all the Tribes as far as Abel. Or rather, 2. Sheba, who was laſt mentioned, who marched from Tribe to Tribe to ſtir them up to Sedition; and to him the following words ſeem beſt to agree. l Or rather, to Abel, even to Beth-maachah; i. e. unto Abel-beth-maachah, as this place is called here in the Hebrew Text, ver. 15. and 1 King. 15. 20. 2 King. 15. 29. to diſtinguiſh it from other Abels; and to ſignifie, that this was that Abel which was in the Tribe of Napthali in the Northern border of Canaan towards that part of Syria called Maachah, 2 Sam. 10. 8. m Such as lived in the City, or Territory of Beeroth of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 25. who being of the ſame Tribe, if not City with Sheba, and his greateſt Acquaintance and Friends: or, being moſt implacable againſt David, adhered to Sheba, and followed him through all the Tribes of Iſrael. n To wit, the Tribes of Iſrael; i. e. a conſiderable Number of them; as might well be expected, when the Diſcontents were ſo high and general. o i. e. After Sheba.

15 And they p came and beſieged him in Abel of Beth-maachah, and they caſt up a bank againſt the city q, and || it ſtood in the trench r: and all the people that were with Joab, † battered the wall to throw it down:

p i. e. Joab and his Army, which is eaſily underſtood, both from the foregoing and following Verſes. q From whence they might either batter the Wall, or ſhoot at thoſe who defended it againſt them, who ſhould aſſault it. See 2 King. 19. 32. Jer. 32. 24. and 33. 4. Otherwiſe, they threw down the bank of the City, which they had raiſed up to defend the City on the weakeſt ſide. r i. e. The Bank ſtood in, or near to the Trench, or the Wall of the City; ſo that the City was in great danger of being taken. Otherwiſe, the City ſtood within the Trench, or Wall, being defended only by a ſingle Trench, or a weak Wall; the Bank which was raiſed up there to defend it, being thrown down.

16 ¶ Then cried a wiſe woman out of the city, Hear, hear, ſay, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may ſpeak with thee.

17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman ſaid, Art thou Joab? And he anſwered, I am he: Then ſhe ſaid unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he anſwered, I do hear.

18 Then ſhe ſpake, ſaying, || They were wont to ſpeak in old time, ſaying, They ſhall ſurely ask counſel at Abel: and ſo they ended the matters.

|| Or, They plainly ſpake in the beginning, ſaying, Surely they will ask of Abel, and ſo make an end.

s According to this Tranſlation the ſence is, This City which thou art about to deſtroy, is no mean and contemptible one, but ſo honourable and conſiderable for its Wiſdom, and the wiſe People in it, that when any Differences did ariſe among any of the Neighbours, they uſed Proverbially to ſay, We will ask the Opinion and Advice of the Men of Abel about it, and we will ſtand to their Arbitration; and ſo all Parties were ſatisfied, and Diſputes ended. But there is another Tranſlation in the Margent, embraced alſo by ſome others, which ſeems to be the beſt; They (i. e. the Citizens of this City) plainly (or, commonly) ſpake (among themſelves) in the beginning (to wit, when Sheba and his Men firſt came into the City, and they were informed, That Joab was purſuing him) ſaying, Surely they will ask of Abel, and ſo make an end: They will peaceably Expoſtulate the buſineſs with us, and enquire, Why we received Sheba into our City? And whether we would deliver him up into their hands, and would inform us of the reaſon of their Hoſtile Attempt upon us, and offer to us Conditions of Peace, which by God's Law, Deut. 20. 10. they were to do even to ſtrange, and much more to Iſraelitiſh Cities. So ſhe doth both modeſtly reprove Joab for the neglect of his Duty, and oblige him to the Performance of it.

19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Iſrael t: thou ſeekeſt to deſtroy a city, and a mother u in Iſrael: why wilt thou ſwallow up the inheritance of the LORD x?

t Or, I (to wit, the City of Abel, in whoſe Name and Perſon ſhe ſpeaks this) am one of the peaceable and faithful Cities of Iſrael. Whatſoever Sheba may deſign, whom we have innocently received into our City, before we well underſtood the matter: We of this City abhor the thoughts of Warring, and Rebelling againſt the King, as having had no hand in Abſalom's late Rebellion: which is probable enough, conſidering both their Situation in the utmoſt Borders of the Land, very remote from the Seat of that Civil War; and their open Profeſſion of their Peaceableneſs, and Fidelity, or Loyalty to the King; which had been impudent if they had been ſo lately involved in the laſt War and Rebellion. u i. e. A Mother: for great Cities are commonly called Mothers; as leſſer Towns or Villages ſubject to them, and depending upon them, for Direction and Defence, are called their Daughters, as Ezek. 16. 27, 46. x i. e. A conſiderable part of that Land which God hath choſen for his peculiar Poſſeſſion. The Deſtruction which thou art about to bring upon us, is an Injury alſo to Iſrael, and to the God of Iſrael.

20 And Joab anſwered and ſaid, Far be it, far be it from me, that I ſhould ſwallow up, or deſtroy.

21 The matter is not ſo: but a man of mount Ephraim y (Sheba the ſon of Bichri † by name) hath lift up his hand z againſt the king, even againſt David: deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman ſaid unto Joab, Behold, his head ſhall be thrown to thee over the wall a.

y Queſt. How can this be ſo, when he is called a Benjamite? ver. 1. Anſ. Either he was a Benjamite by Birth, but dwelt in the Tribe of Ephraim, as many did upon ſeveral occaſions dwell out of their own Tribes: or, mount Ephraim was a place in Benjamin, which might be ſo called, either becauſe it was upon the Borders of Ephraim, and looked towards it; or from ſome notable Action or Event of the Ephraimites in that place. Compare chap. 18. 6. z i. e. Taken up Arms, or raiſed Rebellion. a Which ſhe undertook, becauſe ſhe knew the preſent Temper, and great Fears of the Citizens, and Soldiers too; and that conſidering their evident and extream Danger, they were generally deſirous of Peace, from which they were reſtrained only by Sheba's Authority and Intereſt; and therefore did not doubt by God's Bleſſing upon her wiſe Counſel to effect it, as indeed ſhe did. And it is not unlikely, that this Woman might be a Governeſs in that City. For though this Office was commonly performed by Men; yet were not the Women wholly excluded, but ſometimes imployed in the Government: As we ſee in Deborah, who judged Iſrael, Judg. 4. 4. And Queen Athalia, 2 King. 11.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people in her wiſdom b, and they cut off the head of Sheba the ſon of Bichri, and caſt it out to Joab: and he blew a trumpet, and they c † retired from the city, every man to his tent: and Joab returned to Jeruſalem unto the king.

A three years famine declared by God to be for the Gibeonites ſake ceaſeth by their hanging ſeven of Saul's ſons, 1,—9. Rizpah preſerveth the dead bodies, 10, 11. a When? Either, Firſt, After Abſalom's and Sheba's Rebellion, as it is here related. Or rather, Secondly, In ſome other time before. It is well known and confeſſed, that the Particle, then, doth not always note that the thing was done in that order in which it is mentioned; but is oft of an indefinite ſignification; as alſo that the Scripture in its Hiſtories and Relations, doth not always obſerve the order of time, but the order of things, putting that after, which was done before, as occaſion requires. And ſo it ſeems to be here. The things related here and chap. 24. are by the moſt and beſt Interpreters conceived to have been done long before Abſalom's Rebellion. And this Opinion is not without ſufficient grounds: Firſt, This Particle, then, is here explained, in the days, i.e. during the Life and Reign of David: which general and indefinite words ſeem to be added as an intimation that theſe things were not done after the next foregoing Paſſages, for then the Sacred Writer would rather have added, after theſe things, or ſome ſuch expreſſion, as it is 2 Chron. 32. 1. and in many other places. Secondly, Here are divers Paſſages which it ſeems very improbable to aſcribe to the laſt Years of David's Reign: Such as theſe, Firſt, That Saul's Sin againſt the Gibeonites ſhould ſo long remain unpuniſhed. And indeed that this was done, and Saul's ſeven Sons hanged by David's order before that time, ſeems plainly to be intimated by that paſſage 2 Sam. 16. 8. where he is charged with the blood of the houſe of Saul: for which there was not the leaſt colour till this time. Secondly, That David ſhould not remove the Bones of Saul and Jonathan to their proper place, here v. 12, 13, 14. till that time. Thirdly, That the Philiſtines ſhould wage War with David again and again, v. 15, &c. ſo long after he had fully ſubdued them, chap. 8. 1. and that David in his old Age ſhould attempt to fight with a Philiſtine Giant, or that his People ſhould ſuffer him to do ſo. Fourthly, That David ſhould then have ſo vehement a deſire to number his People, chap. 24. 1, &c. which being an act of youthful heat and vanity, ſeems not at all to agree with his old age, nor with that ſtate of deep humiliation, and great affliction in which he then was. And the reaſon why theſe matters are put here out of their proper order, is plainly this, becauſe David's Sin being once related, it was very convenient that David's Puniſhments inflicted for it ſhould immediately ſucceed: this being very frequent in Scripture-ſtory, to put thoſe things together which belong to one matter, though they happened at ſeveral times. And this is the more conſiderable, becauſe it tends to the clearing of that great difficulty 2 Sam. 15. 7. b Concerning the reaſon of his Diſpleaſure, and this Judgment. c Which was not only an act of Cruelty, but alſo of Perfidiouſneſs and Perjury, becauſe it was a direct and publick violation of that Solemn Oath given to them for their ſecurity by Joſhua and the Princes, in the name of all the Iſraelites, of that, and of ſucceeding Generations, and conſequently a great ſcandal to the true Religion, and the Profeſſors of it, and a mean to diſcourage others from embracing it, as the Gibeonites had done. Queſt. Why did not God puniſh Saul whilſt he was alive for this fault, but his innocent Children, and David and the Iſraelites of this Age? Anſ. Firſt, God did ſeverely puniſh Saul for this and his other Sins. Secondly, As God may juſtly inflict Temporal Puniſhments upon any Offender, either in his Perſon, or in his Poſterity, when he pleaſeth; ſo it is meet he ſhould take his own time for it; and it is folly and wickedneſs in us to quarrel with God for ſo doing. Thirdly, The Iſraelites might ſundry ways make themſelves guilty of Saul's ſin; though it be not particularly mentioned in Scripture, adviſing or encouraging him to it; or, by aſſiſting him in the execution of it; or, by conniving at it; or, by rejoycing in it, for ſome worldly advantage which they received, or expected from it; or, by not repairing the Injuries which Saul had done them, as far as they might. And ſome of theſe ways David himſelf might be involved in the guilt: although indeed this evil fell principally upon the People. And whereas many of the People probably were innocent of that Crime, yet they alſo were guilty of many other Sins, for which God might puniſh them, though he took this occaſion for it. And it may be further obſerved, That God is pleaſed many times ſeverely to puniſh leſſer Delinquents, and to ſuffer the greater for the preſent to go unpuniſhed; and that not only to manifeſt his own Sovereign Power and Liberty, but alſo to give the World thereby aſſurance of a future Judgment, and Puniſhments reſerved for the next life.

2 And the king called the Gibeonites, and ſaid unto them, (now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Iſrael, but * of the remnant of the Amorites, and the children of Iſrael had ſworn unto them: and Saul ſought to ſlay them d, in his zeal to the children of Iſrael and Judah e.)

* Joſh. 9. 3, 16, 17.

d i. e. He ſought occaſions and pretences how he might cut them off with ſome colour of Law or Juſtice, diligently ſearching out and aggravating their Faults, and puniſhing them worſe than they deſerved; oppreſſing them with exceſſive Labours, and openly killing ſome of them, and intending by degrees to wear them out. e Conceiving, or rather, pretending that it was not for the honour, nor comfort, nor advantage of God's People, to nouriſh any of that viperous Brood in their Boſoms; and that howſoever Joſhua and the Princes which then were, had by their Fraud been drawn into an Oath to preſerve them, Joſh. 9. 15. yet in truth that Oath was contrary to God's Command, Exod. 23. 32. Deut. 7. 2. and therefore (as he thought) not to be obſerved. This was his pretence: but how little Zeal he had for God, or for the publick good of his People, is evident by the whole courſe of his life: and therefore it is more than probable he had ſome particular motive or deſign in the caſe: either, becauſe ſome of them had highly provoked him, for whoſe ſake he would be revenged of the whole Race: or, becauſe they being cut off, their Eſtates might be forfeited to the Crown: or, for ſome other reaſon now unknown.

3 Wherefore David ſaid unto the Gibeonites f, What ſhall I do for you g? and wherewith ſhall I make the atonement, that ye may bleſs the inheritance of the LORD h?

f To ſome of the chief of them, who were to impart it to the reſt. g What ſatisfaction do you expect or require for the Injuries formerly done to you? h That by your acknowledgment of ſatisfaction received, the guilt and curſe may be removed from the Land and People of God, and by this means, as alſo by your Prayers, God may be reconciled, and may reſtore his Bleſſing of Plenty to us, which hitherto he hath denied us.

4 And the Gibeonites ſaid unto him, || We will have no ſilver or gold of Saul, nor of his houſe, neither for us ſhalt thou kill any man in Iſrael i. And he ſaid, What you ſhall ſay k, that will I do for you.

|| Or, It is not ſilver nor gold that we have to do with Saul or his houſe, neither pertains it to us to kill, &c.

i Except Saul's Family, as it here follows. k To wit, in any reaſon, and as far as God's Law will permit.

5 And they anſwered the king, The man that conſumed us, and that || deviſed againſt us, that we ſhould be deſtroyed from remaining in any of the coaſts of Iſrael l,

l That we ſhould be either killed, or baniſhed from the Land of Iſrael; which is as bad as death to us, becauſe here, and here only God is truly worſhipped and enjoyed. Whereby it ſeems divers of them were hearty Proſelites, and godly Perſons; and therefore God is more ſevere in puniſhing the Injuries done to them. Compare 1 Sam. 26. 19.

6 Let ſeven men of his ſons be delivered unto us, and we will hang them up unto the LORD m in Gibeah of Saul n || whom the LORD did chuſe o. And the king ſaid, I will give them p.

m To vindicate his Honour, which was injured by Saul's violation of the Oath and Covenant of God, and to appeaſe his wrath. n Saul's Country, 1 Sam. 10. 26. and 11. 4. for their greater ſhame. o This is added to aggravate Saul's Offence, that it was committed not only againſt them, but alſo againſt the Lord who had choſen and advanced him, and therefore did little deſerve this from Saul's hand, to have his Laws broken, and his Name diſhonoured by Perjury. p Having doubtleſs conſulted God in the matter; who as he had before declared Saul's Bloody Houſe to be the cauſes of this Judgment, ſo now commanded that Juſtice ſhould be done upon it, and that the remaining Branches of it ſhould be cut off; as ſufficiently appears from hence, that God was ſatisfied and well pleaſed with the action; which he would not have been, if David had done it without his command; for then it had been a ſinful action of David's, and contrary to a double Law of God, Deut. 21. 23. and 24. 16. which none but God himſelf could diſpenſe with.

7 But the king ſpared Mephiboſheth q the ſon of Jonathan ∴, the ſon of Saul, becauſe of * the LORD's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the ſon of Saul.

* 1 Sam. 18. 3. and 20. 8, 42. and 23. 18.

q For the Gibeonites deſiring only ſuch a number, without deſigning the Perſons, it was at David's choice whom to ſpare. Or, he prevailed with the Gibeonites that they did not demand him; and with the Lord, that he might not be one of thoſe who were devoted to deſtruction. ∴ This is expreſly added, to diſtinguiſh him from the other Mephiboſheth. v. 8.

8 But the king took the two ſons of Rizpah r, the daughter of Aiah, whom ſhe bare unto Saul, Armoni, and Mephiboſheth, and the five ſons of ‖ Michal ſ the the daughter of Saul, whom ſhe † brought up t for Adriel the ſon of Barzillai the Meholathite u, r Saul's Concubine, v. 11. and chap. 3. 7. ſ Or, of Michal's Siſter, to wit, Merob: for Michal had no Children, 2 Sam. 6. 23. nor was ſhe married to this Adriel, but to Phalti or Phaltiel the ſon of Laiſh, 1 Sam. 25. 44. and 2 Sam. 3. 15. and Merob her Siſter was married to this very Adriel the Meholathite, 1 Sam. 18. 19. And it muſt be remembred, that the Hebrew Language is very ſhort, and full of Elipſes or defects of words, which yet may be eaſily underſtood from the ſenſe. Particularly, relative words are oft lacking, and to be ſupplied, as Goliah is put for Goliah's brother, here v. 19. and Uncle for Uncle's ſon, Jer. 32. 7, 12. Or, the Sons of Merob are called the ſons of Michal, to wit, by adoption; or, the near Kindred and next Heirs of Michal, and brought up by her. For upon that and ſuch like accounts the Title of Son is oft given in Scripture, as Gen. 48. 5. Exod. 2. 10. Deut. 25. 5, 6. Ruth. 1. 11, 12. and 4. 17. Queſt. But why then are not theſe called the ſons of Merob? Anſ. Becauſe they were better known by their Relation to Michal, who was David's Wife, and, it may be alive at this time, and having no Children of her own, took theſe and bred them up as her own; when Merob was now a more obſcure Perſon, and poſſibly dead many Years before this. t For ſo this Hebrew Verb, which primarily and properly ſignifies to bear, is ſometimes uſed, as Gen. 50. 23. Ruth 4. 17. becauſe the Education of Children is a kind of bearing of them, as requiring frequently no leſs care and pains than the bearing doth; whence it is that Nurſes are reputed as Mothers, and ſometimes go under that Name both in Sacred and Prophane Writers. See Ruth 4. 16, 17. and compare Gen. 16. 2. and 30. 3. Numb. 11. 12. Gal. 4. 19. u Of Abel-meholah in the Tribe of Benjamin, Judg. 7. 22. So he is here called by way of diſtinction from Barzillai the Gileadite, chap. 19. 31.

9 And he delivered them into the hand of the Gibeonites x, and they * hanged them in the hill y before the LORD z: and they fell a all ſeven together, and were put to death in the days of harveſt, in the firſt days, in the beginning of barley harveſt b.

* Joſh. 10. 26.

x Queſt. How could David do this, when he had Sworn that he would not cut off Saul's Seed, 1 Sam. 24. 21, 22. Anſ. Becauſe he had ſpecial warrant and direction from God about it, who, as all confeſs, can diſpenſe with Mens Oaths, and with his own Laws when he ſees fit. And that he did ſo here, is manifeſt, becauſe God was pleaſed with it, and removed the Judgment upon it, whereas otherwiſe David had been guilty of the ſame Sin with Saul, to wit, of the breach of his Oath and Covenant, for which this Famine was inflicted. See the Note on 1 Sam. 24. 22. y Or, in an hill, in or near Gibeah; in a conſpicuous place for their greater infamy, and for the caution and terror of others who ſhould make any attempt upon the Gibeonites for the future. z As a Sacrifice offered up to God to appeaſe his Wrath: or, unto the Lord, as was ſaid v. 6. a i. e. Died: for ſo the word, to fall, is oft uſed, as Exod. 19. 21. 1 Chron. 21. 14. Pſal. 91. 7. Jer. 39. laſt. Hoſ. 5. 5. or, were executed. b Which was before the Wheat-harveſt.

10 ¶ And * Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took ſackcloth, and ſpread it for her c upon the rock d, from the beginning of harveſt, until water dropped upon them out of heaven e, and † ſuffered neither the birds of the air to reſt on them by day f, nor the beaſts of the field g by night.

* Chap. 3. 7.

c As a Tent to dwell in: being informed that their Bodies were not to be taken away ſpeedily, as the courſe of the Law was in other and ordinary caſes, Deut. 21. 23. but were to continue there until God was intreated, and did remove the preſent Judgment. And God was herein pleaſed to diſpenſe with his own Law, that it might plainly appear that theſe were not put to death by David for politick Reaſons, as that he and his Sons might be freed from Competitors, which doubtleſs David's Enemies were ready to ſuggeſt; but by God's ſpecial Command, who was pleaſed to execute this Judgment upon them, as partly and principally for the puniſhment of Saul's Sin; ſo ſecondarily for the ſtabliſhing of David's Throne to himſelf and to his Seed for ever, as he had promiſed. d In ſome convenient place in a Rock, near adjoyning. e i. e. Until they were taken down: which was not to be done till God had given Rain as a ſign of his Favour, and a mean to remove the Famine, which was cauſed by the want of it. f i. e. On their Carcaſſes. g From which ſhe might preſerve her ſelf and them by divers methods.

11 And it was told David h what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done.

h Who heard it with ſo much approbation, that he thought fit to imitate her Piety, being by her Example provoked to do what hitherto he had neglected, to beſtow an honourable Interment upon the remains of Saul and Jonathan, and, with them, upon thoſe that were now put to death, that the honour done to them herein, might be ſome comfort to this dejected and diſconſolate Widow.

12 ¶ And David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his ſon, from the men of Jabeſh-Gilead, which had ſtollen them from the ſtreet of Beth-ſhan, where the * Philiſtines had hanged them, when the Philiſtines had ſlain Saul in Gilboa:

* 1 Sam. 31. 10.

13 And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his ſon, and they gathered the bones i of them that were hanged.

i Having firſt burnt off the Fleſh which remained upon them when they were taken down. Compare 1 Sam. 31. 10, &c.

14 And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his ſon, buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah k, in the ſepulchre of Kiſh his father: and they performed all that the king commanded: and after that l God was intreated for the land.

k A place in Benjamin, mentioned Joſh. 18. 28. l After thoſe things were done which were before related; i. e. after they were hanged up: for by that God was pacified, and not by their burial. So the relative belongs to the remoter antecedent. Or, if this relate to what was laſt mentioned, the meaning is, that God was pleaſed to reſtore the Bleſſing of Plenty to the Land.

15 ¶ Moreover, the Philiſtines had yet a war again with Iſrael m, and David went down, and his ſervants with him, and fought againſt the Philiſtines, and David waxed faint.

m Theſe Wars though here related, were tranſacted long before this time: of which ſee the Notes on v. 1. For it is no way probable, either, that the Philiſtines being ſo fully and perfectly ſubdued by David, chap. 8. 1. ſhould in his days be in a capacity of waging War with the Iſraelities: or, that David in his old age would undertake to fight with a Giant, or that his People would permit him to do ſo.

16 And Iſhbi-benob, which was of the ſons of ‖ the giant n, (the weight of whoſe † ſpear weighed three hundred ſhekels o of braſs in weight) he being girded with a new ſword p, thought to have ſlain David.

‖ Or, Rapha.

n So called by way of eminency. Or, of Rapha, a Giant ſo called. o See 1 Sam. 17. 5. p Or rather, with a new Girdle or Belt: For, Firſt, This was the uſual habit of Soldiers, 1 Sam. 18. 4. 2 Sam. 18. 11. and 20. 8. 1 King. 2. 5. Iſa. 5. 27. and, when it was of an extraordinary faſhion and price, and Enſign of Dignity and Command in the Army, Ezek. 23. 15. So this may be mentioned to note, that this was the firſt time either of his going out to fight, or of his advancement to ſome eminent place in the Army: which made him deſirous to ſignalize himſelf with ſome great Action. Secondly, This Supplement is more natural and uſual, the word girdle being eaſie ſupplied from the word being girded: ſuch Ellipſes of conjugate words being frequent in the Hebrew Tongue, as Numb. 11. 14. Pſal. 76. 12. Matth. 20. 12. Thirdly, The newneſs of the Sword ſeems to have no emphaſis nor ſignificancy for the preſent purpoſe; ſeeing an old and tried Sword would ſeem more conſiderable for his encouragement, than one new and unproved.

17 But Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah ſuccoured him, and ſmote the Philiſtine, and killed him. Then * the men of David ſware unto him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt go no more out with us to battel, that thou quench not the † light of Iſrael q.

* Chap. 18. 3.

q Leſt thou be ſlain, and thereby thy People be ruined. Good Kings are in Scripture juſtly called the Light of their People, as 1 King. 11. 36. and 15. 4. Pſal. 132. 17. becauſe the beauty and glory, the conduct and direction, the comfort and ſafety, and welfare of a People depends upon them, and comes from them.

18 * And it came to paſs after this r, that there was again a battel with the Philiſtines at Gob ſ: then Sibbechai the Huſhathite t ſlew Saph, which was of the ſons of ‖ the giant.

* 1 Chron. 20. 4.

r After the Battel laſt mentioned. ſ Or, in Gezer, as it is 1 Chron. 20. 4. whereby it ſeems Gob and Gezer were neighbouring Places, and the Battel fought in the Confines of both. t One of David's Worthies, 1 Chron. 11. 29.

19 And there was again a battel in Gob, with the Philiſtines, where Elhanan u, the ſon of Jaare-oregim, a Bethlehemite, ſlew * the brother of Goliah the Gittite x, the ſtaff of whoſe ſpear was like a weavers beam y.

* See 1 Chron. 20. 5.

u Another of David's worthy and valiant Commanders. x The relative word Brother, is not in the Hebrew Text, but is fitly ſupplied out of the parrallel place, 1 Chron. 20. 5. where it is expreſſed. And ſuch defects of relatives are not unuſual in Scripture. Thus the word Wife is underſtood, Matth. 1. 6. Joh. 19. 25. and Father or Mother, Mar. 15. 40, 47. Compare with Mar. 16. 1. and Luke 24. 10. and Son, Matth. 4. 21. Mar. 2. 14. Joh. 21. 15. and Brother, Luke 6. 16. Compare with Jud. v. 1. And ſuch Ellipſes do alſo frequently occur in prophane Authors. Although the place may be, and is otherwiſe rendred Elhanan the ſon of Jaare-oregim, ſlew Beth-halachmi or Lachmi, (as he is called by way of abbreviation, 1 Chron. 20. 5. which is very frequent in the Hebrew Tongue,) who was (which words are frequently underſtood in the Hebrew Text) with (ſo eth is oft rendred, as hath been noted before) Goliath the Gittite; i. e. in his Company, bred up with him to the War, and related to him as his Brother. Or, he ſlew Beth halachmi a Goliath (or, another Goliath) of Gath, or the Gittite. So the name of the Giant was Beth-halachmi, who may be here called Goliath, not only for his near relation to him, being his Brother, but for his exact reſemblance of him in Feature, or in Stature and Strength, or in Courage and Military Skill; as John the Baptiſt was called Elias, for the like reaſon. Peradventure alſo, after the death of the firſt and famous Goliath the Gittite, 1 Sam. 17. that name was either given to him by others, or taken by himſelf. y In thickneſs. See 1 Sam. 17. 7.

20 And there was yet a battel in Gath z, where was a man of great ſtature ∴, that had on every hand ſix fingers, and on every foot ſix toes, four and twenty in number, and he alſo was born to ‖ the giant.

‖ Or, Rapha.

z i. e. In the Territory of the City of Gath. Which circumſtance intimates, that this, and conſequently the other Battels here deſcribed, were fought before David had taken Gath out of the hands of the Philiſtines, which he did 2 Sam. 8. 1. compare with 1 Chron. 18. 1. and therefore not in the laſt days of David, as ſome conceive from their mention in this place. ∴ Or, a man of Middin or Madon, as the LXX render it, ſo called from the place of his birth, as Goliath is ſaid to be of Gath for the ſame reaſon.

21 And when he ‖ defied Iſrael, Jonathan the ſon of * Shimea, the brother of David, ſlew him.

* 1 Sam. 16. 9.

22 Theſe four were born to the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David a, and by the hand of his ſervants.

a Either, becauſe they were ſlain by his Conduct, and Counſel, or Concurrence; for he contributed by his hand to the death of one of them, whilſt maintaining a fight with him, he gave Abiſhai the eaſier opportunity of killing him, ver. 16. 17. or becauſe what is done by the inferior Commanders, is commonly aſcribed to the General, both in Sacred and Prophane VVriters.

CHAP. XXII.

A pſalm of thankſgiving for God's powerful deliverance and manifold bleſſings, 1,—51.

This Chapter is in a manner wholly the ſame with Pſalm 18. and therefore I ſhall adjourn the Expoſition of it to that place.

AND David ſpake unto the LORD the words of this ſong, in the day that the LORD had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul,

2 And he ſaid, * The LORD is my rock, and my fortreſs, and my deliverer:

* Pſal. 18. 2, &c.

3 The God of my rock, in him will I truſt: he is my ſhield, and the horn of my ſalvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my ſaviour; thou ſaveſt me from violence.

4 I will call on the LORD, who is worthy to be praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſaved from mine enemies.

5 When the ‖ waves of death compaſſed me; the floods of † ungodly men made me afraid;

6 The ‖ ſorrows of hell compaſſed me about: the ſnares of death prevented me;

7 In my diſtreſs I called upon the LORD, and cried to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.

8 Then the earth ſhook and trembled: the foundations of heaven moved and ſhook, becauſe he was wroth.

9 There went up a ſmoke † out of his noſtrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.

† Heb. by.

10 He bowed the heavens alſo, and came down: and darkneſs was under his feet.

11 And he rode upon a cherub, and did flee: and he was ſeen upon the wings of the wind.

12 And he made darkneſs pavillions round about him, † dark waters, and thick clouds of the ſkies.

13 Through the brightneſs before him were coals of fire kindled.

14 The LORD thundred from heaven, and the moſt High uttered his voice.

15 And he ſent out arrows, and ſcattered them: lightning, and diſcomfited them.

16 And the chanels of the ſea appeared, the foundations of the world were diſcovered, at the rebuking of the LORD, at the blaſt of the breath of his noſtrils.

17 He ſent from above, he took me, he drew me out of ‖ many waters.

18 He delivered me from my ſtrong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too ſtrong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my ſtay.

20 He brought me forth alſo into a large place: he delivered me, becauſe he delighted in me.

21 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteouſneſs: according to the cleanneſs of my hands hath he recompenſed me.

22 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

23 For all his judgments were before me: and as for his ſtatutes, I did not depart from them.

24 I was alſo ‖ upright † before him, and have kept my ſelf from mine iniquity.

25 Therefore the LORD hath recompenſed me according to my righteouſneſs: according to my cleanneſs † in his eye-ſight.

26 With the merciful thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf merciful, and with the upright man thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf upright.

27 With the pure thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf pure: and with the froward thou wilt ‖ ſhew thy ſelf unſavoury.

‖ Or, wreſtle, Pſa. 18. 26.

28 And the afflicted people thou wilt ſave: but thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayeſt bring them down.

29 For thou art my ‖ lamp, O LORD: and the LORD will lighten my darkneſs.

30 For by thee I have ‖ run through a troop: by my God have I leaped over a wall.

31 As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the LORD is ‖ tried: he is a buckler to all them that truſt in him.

‖ Or, refined

32 For who is God ſave the LORD? and who is a rock, ſave our God?

33 God is my ſtrength and power: and he † maketh my way perfect.

34 He † maketh my feet like hinds feet: and ſetteth me upon my high places.

35 He teacheth my hands † to war: ſo that a bow of ſteel is broken by mine arms.

36 Thou haſt alſo given me the ſhield of thy ſalvation, and † thy gentleneſs hath † made me great.

† Heb. thy hearkning to me. So Gr.
† Heb. multiplied me.

37 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me: ſo that my † feet did not ſlip.

38 I have purſued mine enemies, and deſtroyed them, and turned not again until I had conſumed them.

39 And I have conſumed them, and wounded them, that they could not ariſe: yea, they are fallen under my feet.

40 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength to battel: them that roſe up againſt me, haſt thou † ſubdued under me.

41 Thou haſt alſo given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might deſtroy them that hate me.

42 They looked, but there was none to ſave: even unto the LORD, but he anſwered them not.

43 Then did I beat them as ſmall as the duſt of the earth, I did ſtamp them as the mire of the ſtreet, and did ſpread them abroad.

44 Thou alſo haſt delivered me from the ſtrivings of my people, thou haſt kept me to be head of the heathen: a people which I knew not, ſhall ſerve me.

46 Strangers ſhall fade away, and they ſhall be afraid out of their cloſe places.

47 The LORD liveth, and bleſſed be my rock, and exalted be the God of the rock of my ſalvation.

49 And that bringeth me forth from mine enemies: thou alſo haſt lifted me up on high above them that roſe up againſt me: thou haſt delivered me from the violent man.

50 Therefore I will give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among * the heathen, and I will ſing praiſes unto thy name.

CHAP. XXIII.

David's laſt words: a character of himſelf: of a good ruler, and his uſefulneſs, 1,—4. His faith on God's covenant with him, 5. Deſtruction to the wicked, 6, 7. David's worthies and their valiant acts, 8,—39.

NOw theſe be the laſt words of David a: David the ſon of Jeſſe ſaid, and the man who was raiſed up on high b, the anointed of the God of Jacob c, and the ſweet pſalmiſt of Iſrael d ſaid, a Not ſimply the laſt that he ſpoke, but ſome of the laſt uttered in his laſt days upon the approach of his death: or, the laſt which he ſpake by the Spirit of God, aſſiſting and directing him in an extraordinary manner. b Advanced from an obſcure Family and Eſtate, to the Kingdom. c Whom, though deſpiſed by Men, and rejected by his own Brethren, God himſelf ſingled out from all his Fathers Houſe, and out of all the Families and Tribes of Iſrael, and anointed to be King. d Or, ſweet, or delightful, or amiable in the Songs of Iſrael: Either, Firſt, As the object of them: he whom the People of Iſrael mentioned in their Songs with Joy and Praiſe, as when they ſung, Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands; and many others which doubtleſs they made and ſung concerning him, upon the occaſion of his eminent Victories, and the Bleſſings of his wiſe and righteous Government; ſome whereof we have in the Book of Pſalms. Or, 2dly, As the Author of them: he who was eminent and famous among the People of God, for the compoſing of ſweet and holy Songs to the praiſe of God, and for the uſe of his Church in after Ages: for he did not only indite moſt of the Book of Pſalms, by the the direction of God's Spirit; but alſo invented the Tunes, or appointed Tunes to which they were to be ſung, and the Inſtruments of Muſick which were uſed in and with thoſe Holy Sons, 1 Chron. 25. 2, 6. Amos 6. 5. If the expreſſions here uſed ſeem arrogant, and not fit to be ſaid by David in his own Praiſe; let it be conſidered, Firſt, That holy Men ſpake by Inſpiration from God; and therefore muſt follow his ſuggeſtions impartially, as indeed they do, ſometimes in the publiſhing their own Praiſes; which yet is never done unneceſſarily, and always moderately; and ſometimes in the publiſhing of their own infirmities and ſhame, as they are moved thereunto, and as the Edification of the Church requires. Secondly, That theſe ſeem not to be the words of David, but of the Sacred Pen-man of this Book, to make for, and gain the greater attention and reſpect unto David's following words.

2 The ſpirit of the LORD ſpake by me, and his word was in my tongue e:

e The following words, and conſequently the other words and Pſalms compoſed and uttered by me upon the like ſolemn occaſions, are not to be looked upon as my private Fancies or humane Inventions, but both the matter and the words of them are ſuggeſted and governed by God's Spirit, which is the great Teacher of the Church.

* Deut. 32. 4.

3 The God of Iſrael ſaid, * The rock of Iſrael f ſpake to me g: || He that ruleth over men muſt be juſt, ruling in the fear of God h:

f He who is the ſtrength, and defence, and protector of his People; which he here manifeſts by obliging and directing Kings and Rulers ſo to manage their Power and Authority as may moſt conduce to their comfort and benefit. g By way of command. Or, of me, by way of Prediction and Promiſe concerning me and my Houſe, and the Meſſias who is to come out of my Loins. h Thus it is a Precept or Declaration of the Duty of Kings, and particularly of Solomon his Son (to whom as a dying Man he gives this Advice) and of his Succeſſors the Kings of God's Iſrael, for whoſe Inſtruction he gives this Rule. And ſo here are the two principal parts of a King's Duty, anſwerable to the two Tables of God's Law, Juſtice towards Men, and Piety towards God, both which he is to maintain and promote among his People. To which if you add Benignity and Clemency, whereby a King renders his Government not frightful and burdenſom, but acceptable and amiable to his People, which poſſibly may be meant by the following Similitudes, here is a compleat Character of an excellent Prince or Governour. Others make it a Prophecy of Chriſt, and then the words are or may be thus rendred, There ſhall be a Ruler over Men (or rather, among Men, as the Hebrew word properly ſignifies, to wit, the Meſſias, who, though he be the Eternal and Inviſible God, yet ſhall viſibly appear and rule among Men) a juſt or righteous one (a Title oft given to Chriſt, as Iſa. 53. 11. Jer. 23. 5, 6. and 33. 15. Zech. 9. 9.) ruling in the fear of the Lord, making it his great buſineſs to advance the Service, and Worſhip, and Glory of the Lord: or, as it is in the Hebrew, ruling the fear of the Lord; i. e. Governing and ordering the Worſhip of God, which is oft called, the fear of God. And ſo this Clauſe is added to prevent or remove ſcandals and offences which might be taken at the Meſſias when he ſhould come, becauſe of his changing and abrogating the Ceremonial Law; and to inſinuate that he ſhould have no leſs power in the governing of God's Houſe and Worſhip, than Moſes had; and that he might make ſuch Laws as he thought meet. And if this be the meaning of the place, then as Jacob, being greatly afflicted with the troubles which he by the Spirit of Prophecy foreſaw were coming upon his Poſterity, comforts himſelf with the thoughts of that great and glorious Salvation of God, which he alſo foreſaw and waited for, Gen. 49. 18. So David reflecting upon the great Diſorders, and Miſcarriages, and Calamities which had already ariſen in his Houſe; and either, wiſely preſaging, or foreſeeing by the Spirit of the Lord, ver. 2. that the ſame ſins and miſeries ſhould befal his Poſterity and Succeſſors; he ſupports and comforts himſelf with this Conſideration, That one of them ſhould be a moſt excellent Perſon; Juſt, and Pious, and Merciful, and an unſpeakable Bleſſing to David himſelf, and to all his Family and People, and to the whole World, even the great Meſſias, who was undoubtedly revealed to, and expected by David, as appears by many paſſages of the Pſalms, and by other Scriptures.

* Judg. 5. 31. Pſa. 89. 36. Prov. 4. 18. Hoſ. 6. 5.

4 And * he ſhall be i as the light of the morning, when the ſun riſeth, even a morning without clouds; as the tender graſs ſpringing out of the earth by clear ſhining after rain.

i Theſe words are either, 1. A further Deſcription of the King's Duty, which is not only to Rule with exact Juſtice and Piety, but alſo with ſweetneſs, and gentleneſs, and condeſcention to the Infirmities of his People; to render his Government as pleaſant and acceptable to them, as is the Sun-ſhine in a clear Morning, or the tender Graſs which ſprings out of the Earth by the warm and refreſhing Beams of the Sun after the Rain, which hath a peculiar kind of ſweetneſs and fragrancy in it. Or rather, 2. A Prediction or Declaration of the ſweet and bleſſed Effects of ſuch a Government, both to the Governour himſelf, in that Peace, and Proſperity, and Glory, and Happineſs which it brings to him, and to his People; to whom it is no leſs grateful, and comfortable, and beneficial, than thoſe great and publick Bleſſings of Sun-ſhine and Rain, and the Fruits which they produce: Which is true of every good King or Governour; but moſt eminently of the Meſſias.

5 Although my houſe be not ſo with God k; yet he hath made with me an everlaſting covenant l, ordered in all things m and ſure n: for o this is p all my ſalvation q, and all my deſire r, although he make it s not to grow.

k Although God knows, that neither I, nor my Children have Lived and Ruled as we ſhould have done, ſo juſtly, and in the fear of the Lord; and therefore have not enjoyed that uninterrupted Proſperity which we might have enjoyed: but our Morning-light, or, the beginning of that Kingdom promiſed to me and mine for ever, hath been over-caſt with many black and diſmal Clouds, and my Children have not hitherto been like the tender Graſs ſpringing out of the Earth, and thriving by the Influences of the Sun and Rain; but rather like the Graſs that withereth away, or is cut off before its due time. l Notwithſtanding all our Tranſgreſſions whereby we have broken Covenant with God, and the Confuſions and Civil Wars which have threatned our Diſſipation and utter Deſtruction; yet I comfort my ſelf with this, That God, to whom all my Sins were fore-known before I committed them, was graciouſly pleaſed to make a ſure Covenant, to give and continue the Kingdom to me, and to my Seed for ever, chap. 7. 16. until the coming of the Meſſias; who is to be my Son and Succeſſor, and whoſe Kingdom ſhall have no End. m Ordained in all Points by God's Eternal and Unchangeable Counſel; and diſpoſed by his wiſe and powerful Providence, which doth and will over-rule all things, even the Sins and Sufferings of my Houſe ſo far, that although he would puniſh them for their Sins, yet he will not utterly root them out, nor break his Covenant made with me and mine; as is ſaid, Pſal. 89. 31, 32, 33, 34. n Or, preſerved, or obſerved, or kept; to wit, on God's part, or by God's Power and Faithfulneſs in the midſt of all the Oppoſitions and Uncertainties to which it ſeems to be expoſed on our part: Compare Rom. 3. 3. and 2 Tim. 2. 13. o Or therefore, as the Hebrew Particle, chi, oft ſignifies; therefore i. e. becauſe God hath made ſuch a Covenant. p Or, he is, he who hath made this Covenant: or, in this is, i. e. it conſiſts in, and depends upon this Covenant. q Both my own Eternal Salvation, and the Temporal Salvation, or the Preſervation of the Kingdom to me and mine. r Or, every deſirable thing; the word deſire being oft put for deſired, or a deſirable Thing; as Pſal. 21. 2. and 78. 29, 30. Ezek. 24. 16. David being deeply ſenſible, and having had large experience of the vanity and uncertainty of all Earthly things, here declares, That the Covenant made by God with him, and his in the Meſſias, is the only happineſs which he prizeth and deſireth, in which he doth fully acquieſce. s i. e. My Houſe, mentioned before. So the ſence is, Although God as yet hath not made my Houſe or Family to grow; i. e. to increaſe, or to flouriſh with worldly Glory and Proſperity, as I expected; but hath for my Sins cut off divers of my moſt eminent Branches, and ſorely afflicted my Perſon and Family; and although he may for the future deal in like manner with my Sons and Succeſſors for the like miſcarriages, which it is probable they may commit: yet this is my great ſupport and comfort, that God will conſtantly and inviolably keep this Covenant; and therefore, in the midſt of all the ſhakings, and confuſions, and interruptions, which may happen in my Houſe, and Kingdom, will preſerve my Line and Family until the coming of the Meſſiah out of my Loins, whoſe Kingdom is an Everlaſting Kingdom; who, as he is the deſire of all Nations, Hag. 2. 7. ſo in a ſpecial manner is my deſire, and the Author of all my Salvation.

6 ¶ But the ſons of Belial t ſhall be all of them as thorns thruſt away u, becauſe they cannot be taken with hands.

t Or, the Men of Belial, as it is expreſſed 2 Sam. 16. 7. and elſewhere. Having in the foregoing Verſes deſcribed the nature, and felicity, and ſtability of that Kingdom which God himſelf had by a ſure and everlaſting Covenant ſettled upon him and his Seed; and eſpecially, upon the Meſſiah, who was to be one of his Poſterity; he now deſcribes the quality, the miſchievous nature, the hazardous and miſerable condition, of all the Enemies of this Holy and Bleſſed Kingdom, whom he juſtly calleth ſons of Belial, becauſe they rebelled againſt God's appointment, and againſt that King whom God had ſet over them: for which reaſon others are ſo called, 1 Sam. 10. 27. 2 Chron. 13. 7. u Which Men do not uſe to handle, as they do other Trees, but thruſt them away from themſelves, by ſome Inſtrument choſen for that purpoſe. And ſo will God remove, or thruſt away from himſelf, and from his People, and Kingdom, all thoſe who ſhall either ſecretly or openly ſet themſelves againſt it. And this may be here added, either, 1. By way of Preſcription to Rulers, whom, as before, he admoniſhed to be juſt and kind to their People, ver. 3, 4. So here he requires them to be ſevere in Puniſhing, and Purging away wicked and incorrigible Men from about his Throne, and from among his People; the Encouraging of the Good, and the Puniſhing of the Bad, being the two chief Works of every good Magiſtrate, and the two Pillars of all Government. Or, 2. By way of caution; to ſhew, That notwithſtanding the holineſs, and happineſs, and ſureneſs of this Kingdom, yet there would be ſons of Belial in it, who would endeavour to diſturb, and overthrow it, but to no purpoſe; for all their Projects againſt it ſhould be vain, and fall upon their own Heads.

7 But the man that ſhall touch them, muſt be † fenced with iron, and || the ſtaff of a ſpear x, and y they ſhall be utterly burnt with fire in the ſame place z.

x So the meaning is, He muſt fill his Hand, or Arm himſelf with ſome Iron Weapon, whereby he may cut them down; or, with the ſtaff of a ſpear, or ſome ſuch like thing, whereby he may thruſt them away from himſelf, that they do him no hurt. Or thus, he will be filled, or will fill himſelf; i.e. his Hand, wherewith he attempted to touch, and take them with Thorns, as with iron and the ſtaff of a ſpear. i.e. He will be as ſurely and ſorely wounded, as if one ſhould run the Iron-head, and part of thee Wood of a Spear, into his Hand. y Or, therefore, becauſe Men cannot ſafely touch them, therefore they will burn them up. Or, or, i.e. if they do not cut them down with Iron, or thruſt them away with the Staff of a Spear, they will burn and conſume them. z Or, in their place, where they grow or ſtand; and they will not trouble or hazard themſelves to remove them. Withal, it may imply, that they ſhall be deſtroyed, when, and where they thought themſelves moſt ſecure, even in their own place. And, it may poſſibly intimate, That thoſe Children of Belial, the wicked and unbelieving Jews, who rejected and rebelled againſt the Meſſiah, David's Succeſſor, and their lawful King, ſhould be deſtroyed in their great, and ſtrong, and Holy City Jeruſalem, where the greateſt part of that People were gathered together as Fewel for the Fire, and were deſtroyed together by the Romans under Titus, where alſo their wicked Predeceſſors had been deſtroyed by Nebuchadnezar in former times.

a i.e. Of his chief and moſt valiant Commanders. And as it was noted upon chap. 21. 1. that the things related in that Chapter were done before Abſalom's and Sheba's Rebellion, though they be mentioned after them; ſo that Opinion is confirm'd by this Catalogue, which though placed here, was taken long before, as is manifeſt from hence, that Aſahel and Uriah are named here. And whereas there are ſome differences between this Liſt, and that, 1 Chron. 11. moſt of them are eaſily reconciled by theſe two Conſiderations; 1. That nothing is more common than for one Perſon to have divers Names. 2. That as ſome of the Worthies died, and others came in their ſteads; ſo this muſt needs cauſe ſome alteration in the latter Catalogue, 1 Chron. 11. from this which was the former. b Or, Hachmonite, called Jaſhobeam, 1 Chron. 11. 11. from his place; or, as here, Joſheb-basſhebeth; i.e. as we render it, that ſate in the ſeat; i.e. Was, under Joab, Chief, or Preſident of the Council of War, or Lieutenant (locum tenens.) c This was his proper Name. d So called, either from his Family, or from the place of his Birth or Education. e Which words are fitly ſupplied out of 1 Chron. 11. 11 where they are expreſſed. Or thus, he was above 800; i.e. He conquered them. So there is only an Ellipſis of the Verb ſubſtantive, which is moſt frequent. f In one Battel, which though it be ſtrange, yet cannot ſeem incredible, ſuppoſing him to be a Perſon of extraordinary ſtrength and activity, and his Enemies to be weak, or diſcouraged, and fleeing away; and eſpecially, God's ſingular Bleſſing, and Aſſiſtance: all which may very reaſonably be ſuppoſed. Obj. But this Man is ſaid to have ſlain only 300 in 1 Chron. 11. 11. Anſ. 1. Poſſibly he ſlew 800 at one time, and 300 at another; whereof the former is related here, as being moſt conſiderable; and the latter in the Book of Chronicles, which ſupplies many Paſſages omitted in the former Writings. 2. He ſlew 300 with his own Hands, and the other 500, though killed by his Men, are ſaid to be ſlain by him, becauſe he was the chief Cauſe of all their deaths; for he by his undaunted Courage killing 300, put the reſt to flight, who were eaſily ſlain by his Soldiers, in the Purſuit. 3. Some of the Hebrew VVriters affirm, That theſe were two diſtinct Perſons, being called by differing Names; the one the Father, and the other the Son, who ſucceeded his Father, as in Strength and Valour, ſo alſo in his place of Honour and Truſt.

9 And after him was * Eleazar the ſon of Dodo the Ahohite g, one of the three h mighty men with David i, when they defied the Philiſtines k that were there gathered together to battel, and the men of Iſrael were gone away l; g Of the Children of Ahoah, 1 Chron. 8. 4. h i.e. One of the firſt Three, ver. 19. i Who were with David at this time: or, who uſually attended upon David. k When he either in the name of all the Iſraelites, or with the countenance and help of ſome of them, challenged the Philiſtines to fight. Or, when ſome of, or among the Philiſtines defied them: i.e. The Iſraelites, according to their manner, and the example of their great Goliath, 1 Sam. 17. 25, 36. Or, in Horpam (for ſome make it a proper name of a Place) among the Philiſtines. l i.e. Fled away, 1 Chron. 11. 13. being diſmayed at the approach of their Enemies. Heb. aſcended, i.e. Vaniſhed away like Smoke which aſcends, and ſo diſappears, as that Verb is oft uſed.

10 He aroſe m, and ſmote the Philiſtines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto the ſword n: and the LORD wrought a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to ſpoil ∵.

Or thus, yet did his hand cleave to his ſword; i.e. Though he was weary, he did not deſiſt, but continued fighting. ∵ i.e. To purſue the Enemy whom he had diſcomfited, and to take their Spoil.

11 And after him was * Shammah the ſon of Agee the Hararite: and the Philiſtines were gathered together ‖ into a troop, where was a piece of ground full of lentiles o: and the people fled from the Philiſtines.

* 1 Chron. 11. 27.

o Or Barley, as it is 1 Chron. 11. 13. For both might very well grow in the ſame Field, in divers parts of it. And this fact is aſcribed to Eleazar, 1 Chron. 11. 12, but ſo as it is implied, that he had ſome Partner or Partners in it; for it is there ſaid, v. 14. They ſet themſelves, &c. So Eleazar might ſtand and fight in that part where the Barley was; and Shammah there where the Lentiles were.

12 But he ſtood in the midſt of the ground and defended it p, and ſlew the Philiſtines: and the LORD wrought a great victory.

p That the Philiſtines could neither burn, nor tread it down, and ſpoil it, nor carry it away.

13 ‖ And three of the thirty q chief went down and came to David, in the harveſt-time, unto the cave of Adullam r: and a troop of the Philiſtines pitched in the valley of Rephaim s.

‖ Or, the three captains over the thirty.

ſ Either, 1. The Three already named, as is generally ſuppoſed, becauſe it is ſaid of them, in the cloſe of this Hiſtory, 1 Chron. 11. 19. Theſe things did thoſe three mightieſt. But in the Hebrew it is only, theſe three mighty men, as the ſame words are rendred here, ver. 17. Or rather, 2. The following three: for it is expreſly ſaid, both here, ver. 16. and 1 Chron. 11. 20. That Abiſhai was chief, and therefore one of the three: and this Three are plainly diſtinguiſhed from the firſt Three, ver. 19. and 1 Chron. 11. 25. r VVhich was a ſtrong Place where David had been before, 1 Sam. 22. 1, &c. and where he had now again fortified himſelf in the beginning of his Reign, when the Philiſtines were too ſtrong for him. s Of which ſee above, chap. 5. 18.

14 And David was then in an hold, and the gariſon of the Philiſtines was then in Bethlehem.

15 And David longed, and ſaid, O that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Bethlehem t, which is by the gate!

t Being hot and thirſty, he expreſſeth how acceptable a draught of that water would be to him; as is uſual with Men to do in ſuch caſes: but was far from deſiring, or expecting that any of his Men ſhould hazard their Lives to procure it, as appears from ver. 17.

16 And the three mighty men brake through the hoſt of the Philiſtines u, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: nevertheleſs he would not drink thereof x, but poured it out unto the LORD y.

17 And he ſaid, Be it far from me, O LORD, that I ſhould do this: is not this the blood of the men z that went in jeopardy of their lives? therefore he would not drink it. Theſe things did theſe three mighty men a.

CHAP. XXIV.

David tempted by Satan forceth Joab to number the people: who are thirteen hundred thouſand fighting men, 1,—9. David acknowledgeth his ſin in it: having three judgments propounded by God: he is in great diſtreſs, and chuſeth the peſtilence: of which ſeventy thouſand men die, 10,——15. David by his humiliation preventeth the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, 16, 17. He by Gad's direction and order from God purchaſeth Araunah's threſhing-floor to build an altar there: on which having ſacrificed, the plague ſtayeth, 18,—25.

AND again a the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Iſrael, and || he moved David b againſt them c, to ſay d, Go number Iſrael and Judah.

a To wit, after the former tokens of his Anger, ſuch as the three years Famine, chap. 21. b He; Who? Either, 1. Satan, as is expreſſed, 1 Chron. 21. 1. Or, 2. God; who is ſaid, in like manner, to ſtir up Saul againſt David, 1 Sam. 26. 19. and to turn the hearts of the Egyptians to hate his people, Pſalm. 105. 25. and to make men to err from his ways, Iſa. 63. 17. and to ſend ſtrong deluſions, &c. and to harden their hearts. All which Expreſſions are not ſo to be underſtood, as if God did work theſe ſinful Diſpſitions; which neither was neceſſary, becauſe they are naturally in every Man's heart, nor poſſible for the Holy God to do; but becauſe he permits them, and withdraws his Grace, and all reſtraints and hindrances from them, and giveth occaſions and advantages to them; and directs their Thoughts to ſuch Objects as may indeed be innocently thought of, which yet he knows they will wickedly abuſe, and give them up to Satan, who, he knows, will deceive and entice them to ſuch and ſuch Sins; which, being tempted to do by Satan, and being effected by their own wicked Hearts, he ſo orders and over-rules, that they ſhall be Puniſhments for their former Sins. c i.e. For Iſrael's Puniſhment. d Or, ſaying. For this may be referred, either, 1. to God, of whom the ſame Expreſſion is uſed, 2 Sam. 16. 10. The Lord ſaid to Shimei, Curſe David. Which in both places is not to be underſtood of any command or impulſe of God, but of his ſecret Providence diſpoſing things in manner here above expreſſed. Or, 2. To David: he moved David to ſay, to wit, to Joab, as he did, ver. 2.

|| Or, Compaſs.

2 For the king ſaid to Joab the captain of the hoſt, which was with him, || Go now through all the tribes of Iſrael, from Dan even to Beerſheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people e.

e Which Expreſſion points at David's Sin in this matter, that he numbred them, not by direction from God, nor for any important buſineſs of the Church or Kingdom; but out of meer curioſity, and pride, and vain-glory; accompanied either with a ſecret diſtruſt of God's Promiſe; or rather, with a carnal confidence in the Numbers of his People. All which were great Sins, and were ſo manifeſt, that not only God ſaw them, and all the degrees and aggravations of them in David; but even Joab and the Captains of the Hoſt were very ſenſible of them, ver. 3. 4.

3 And Joab ſaid unto the king, Now the LORD thy God add unto the people (how many ſoever they be) an hundred fold, and that the eyes of my lord the king may ſee it: but why doth my lord the king delight in this thing f?

f What reaſon or neceſſity is there for this Action? It is to no purpoſe, and will be burdenſome to thy People, and may offend God, and produce ill Effects.

4 Notwithſtanding, the kings word prevailed againſt Joab g, and againſt the captains of the hoſt: and Joab and the captains of the hoſt went out from the preſence of the king, to number the people of Iſrael.

g Joab perceiving the King bent upon it, would not hazard the King's Favour, by further diſputing, or diſobeying his Command.

5 ¶ And they paſſed over Jordan h, and pitched i in Aroer, on the right ſide of the city that lieth in the midſt of the || river of Gad k, and toward Jazer l.

h They began their Computation in the Eaſtern part of David's Dominions, which were beyond Jordan. i Or, encamped. For Joab carried with them divers of his Commanders, and others; partly, for his honour, and the credit of the work: partly, to aſſiſt him in that troubleſome work: and partly, to overcome the People, in caſe they ſhould oppoſe it as ſinful or burdenſome, or ſavouring of ſome evil Deſign which David might have upon them. k i.e. Of the River which lay in the Tribe of Gad, or upon the borders of Gad and Reuben, which was called Arnon, Deut. 2. 36. l Or, near Jazer, which alſo was upon the River Arnon.

6 Then they came to Gilead m, and to the || land of Tahtim-hodſhi n; and they came to Dan-Jaan o, and about to Zidon p, m To Mount Gilead, which lay Northward from Arnon. n A Place ſo called. Or, the low-land lately gained; i.e. not given by Joſhua, but taken lately from the Hagarens by Saul; which was near Gilead, 1 Chron. 5. 10. o i.e. Probably, the famous City of Dan, as it is called, Joſh. 19. 47. Judg. 18. 7. for this was in the Northern Border of the Land, and in the way from Gilead to Zidon. p. i. e. To the City and Territory of Zidon; but not into it, becauſe it was not in the Power and Poſſeſſion of the Iſraelites: and the like is to be thought concerning Tyre, and the Cities which the Hivites and Canaanites yet poſſeſſed in the Neighbourhood of Tyre and Sidon.

7 And came to the ſtrong hold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites: and they went out to the ſouth of Judah, even to Beerſheba.

8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jeruſalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9 And Joab gave up the ſum of the number of the people unto the king: and there were in Iſrael eight hundred thouſand q valiant men that drew the ſword; and the men of Judah were five hundred thouſand r men.

q Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 5. They are numbred 1100 thouſand: Anſw. The ſum here expreſſed, is only of ſuch as were not in the ordinary and ſettled Militia waiting upon the King, which being 24000 for every Month, as is largely related, 1 Chron. 27. amounts to 288 thouſand, which either with their ſeveral Commanders, or with the Soldiers placed in ſeveral Gariſons, might very well make up 300 Thouſand. Or, 288 Thouſand may paſs in ſuch accounts for 300 Thouſand; it being frequent in ſuch great Sums to neglect a ſmaller number. But in the Book of the Chronicles, which was to gather up the Fragments omitted in the former Books, both ſorts are put together, and ſo they amount to 1100 Thouſand. r In 1 Chron. 21. 5. but 470 Thouſand. Anſ. Either, 1. they were exactly no more, but are called 500 Thouſand in a round ſum, as is uſual in Scripture, and other Authors. Or, 2. the Gariſon-Soldiers, and ſuch as were imployed in other Services about the King are here included, which are there excluded. Or, 3. They were 500 Thouſand when Joab gave up the Number to the King; though preſently after that, they were but 470 Thouſand, 30000 being ſlain by the Plague, in the Tribe of Judah; which being David's own Tribe, it was but juſt and fit it ſhould ſuffer more than the reſt for this Sin. And though it be true, that Joab gave up the Sum before the Plague begun, yet the ſacred Pen-man of the Book of Chronicles thought fit to make a defalcation of them who had been ſwept away by the Plague, that the Judgment of God therein might be obſerved.

Or, 4. There are included here the 30000 which belonged to the 30 Colonels mentioned Chap. 23. who are excluded 1 Chron. 21. although it be queſtionable, whether thoſe were all of the Tribe of Judah.

10 ¶ And Davids heart ſmote s him after that he had numbred the people: and David ſaid unto the LORD, I have ſinned greatly in that I have done: and now I beſeech thee, O LORD, take away the iniquity of thy ſervant; for t I have done very fooliſhly.

s His Conſcience diſcerned his Sin, and he was heartily ſorry for it. And the occaſion of his Repentance was, God's Meſſage by the Prophet Gad, as it here follows, ver. 11. For when, &c. as formerly God's Meſſage by Nathan had the ſame effect, 2 Sam. 12. Both which Paſſages are noted, to ſhew how neceſſary the further and repeated ſupplies of God's Grace, are even to the beſt of Men, to raiſe them when they fall into Sin. t Becauſe I am ſenſible of my Sin and Folly, as it is more fully expreſſed, Pſal. 51. 5, 6. Or, although, as this Particle is oft uſed.

11 For when David was up in the morning, the word of the LORD came unto the prophet Gad, Davids * ſeer u, ſaying, * 2 Chron. 29. 25.

u So called, becauſe he was a Prophet (for ſuch were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9.) now and at other times employed by God to reveal his Mind and Will to David. See 1 Sam. 22. 5. 1 Chron. 29. 29.

12 Go, and ſay unto David, Thus ſaith the LORD, I offer thee three things; chooſe thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and told him, and ſaid unto him, Shall ſeven years of famine x come unto thee, in thy land? or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, while they purſue thee? or that there be three days peſtilence in thy land? now adviſe, and ſee what anſwer I ſhall return to him that ſent me.

x Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 12. it is only three years of famine. Anſ. 1. Some conceive, that here was an Error in the Tranſcriber, and that the true Reading is, three years, as the LXX read it in this place, being ſuppoſed to have found it ſo in their Copies, and that otherwiſe they durſt never have preſumed to make ſo great a change in the Text. 2. In Chron. he ſpeaks exactly of thoſe years of Famine only which came for David's Sin: but here he ſpeaks more confuſedly and comprehenſively, including thoſe Three Years of Famine ſent for Saul's Sin, Chap. 21. And this Sin of David's was committed in the Year next after them, which was in a manner a year of Famine; either, becauſe it was the Sabbatical Year, wherein they might not Sow, nor Reap: or rather, becauſe not being able to Sow in the Third Year, becauſe of the exceſſive Drought, they were not capable of Reaping this Fourth Year. And Three Years more being added to theſe Four, make up the Seven here mentioned. So the meaning of the Words is this, As thou haſt already had Four Years of Famine, ſhall Three Years more come? And that it is ſaid of theſe Seven Years, that they ſhall come, it is a Synecdochical Expreſſion frequent in Scripture, becauſe part of the Years were yet to come. Even as it is ſaid of the Iſraelites, that they ſhould wander in the wilderneſs forty years, Numb. 14. 33. when part of that time was already ſpent.

14 And David ſaid unto Gad, I am in a great ſtrait, let us fall now into the hand of the LORD y (for his mercies are ‖ great z) and let me not fall into the hand of man. ‖ Or, many.

y To wit, his immediate Stroke, which is chiefly in the Peſtilence: for though the Sword and Famine be alſo God's Hand, yet there is alſo the hand of Man, or other Creatures in them. The reaſon of this choice was partly his Experience in, and confidence of God's great goodneſs: partly, becauſe the other Judgments, eſpecially the Sword, had been more diſhonourable, not only to David, but alſo to God, and to his People, and to the True Religion: and partly, becauſe he having ſinned himſelf, thought it juſt and reaſonable to chuſe ſuch a Plague to which he was as obnoxious as his People; whereas, he had better fences for himſelf againſt Sword and Famine than they had. z And therefore will not exceed meaſure in his Strokes, as Men will do.

15 ¶ So the LORD ſent a Peſtilence upon Iſrael, from the morning even to the time appointed a: and there died of the people from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, ſeventy thouſand men b.

a Either, 1. From Morning to Evening, which is here called the time appointed; or, the time of the convention, or, publick meeting, as this Hebrew Word oft ſignifies, i.e. till the time of the Evening-Prayer and Sacrifice, when the People uſed more ſolemnly to meet together. See Pſal. 141. 2. Act. 3. 1. Thus God mitigated his Sentence, and turned three days into one; it being a thing not unuſual with God, to qualifie his threatnings, and to take off the evil threatned ſometimes wholly, as in Nineveh's Caſe, and ſometimes in part. And this God might do here upon the ſpeedy and ſerious Repentance of David, and of his People. Or rather, 2. from the morning, (or rather, from that morning; for the Article ſeems to be Emphatical, and to denote, That very morning in which Gad came to David, ver. 11. and that the Plague did immediately enſue after Gad's offer, and David's choice:) even to the time appointed; to wit, by God, i.e. for Three Days, as God had ſet the time, ver. 13. Object. If it continued Three Days, how is it ſaid, That God repented him of the evil, and ſtopped the Angel in his courſe? ver. 16. Anſw. This he did in the beginning of the Third Day, whereas otherwiſe it ſhould have gone on to the end of the Day. Or, it may ſignifie no more but this; At the end of the Third Day God gave over ſmiting: For then is God ſaid (after the manner of Men) to repent, when he ceaſeth to proceed as before he had done. b So the number of his People, which was the matter of his pride and glorying was diminiſhed.

16 And when the angel c ſtretched out his hand upon Jeruſalem d to deſtroy it, * the LORD repented him of the evil e, and ſaid to the angel that deſtroyed the people, It is enough: ſtay now thine hand. And the angel of the LORD was by the threſhing-place of * Araunah f the Jebuſite. *1 Sam. 15. 11. * 1 Chron. 21. 18, 20, 21.

c Which appeared in the ſhape of a Man with a Sword in his hand, 1 Chron. 21. 16. to convince them more fully that this was no natural nor common Plague, but inflicted immediately by the hand of God. d Which he had begun to ſmite, and was proceeding to make a far greater ſlaughter. e i.e. He moderated, and in part recalled his Sentence of the Plagues continuance for three whole days, and this he did upon David's Prayers and Sacrifices, as appears from v. 25. though theſe be mentioned afterward. f Called alſo Aranjah in the Hebrew of v. 18. and Ornan, 1 Chron. 21. 22. ſuch changes in the pronunciation of the names being uſual in Scripture.

17 And David ſpake unto the LORD, when he ſaw the angel that ſmote the people, and ſaid, Lo, I have ſinned, and I have done wickedly: but theſe ſheep, what have they done? Let thine hand, I pray thee, be againſt me g, and againſt my fathers houſe h.

g Wherein David ſhews his Juſtice, and Piety, and Fatherly care of his People, and that he was a Type of Chriſt. h Againſt my neareſt Relations, who probably either put David upon, or encouraged him in this action, becauſe they were no leſs vain-glorious than David; and the honour which they thought would come to David thereby, would alſo redound to them; or, at leaſt they did not uſe their utmoſt endeavours to diſſuade David from it, as they ſhould have done, and therefore were involved in David's Guilt. Howſoever it was but fit and reaſonable that his Family which did partake of his honour and happineſs, ſhould alſo partake in his ſuffering, rather than thoſe who were leſs related to him. Nor doth David abſolutely deſire that they may ſuffer, but only ſpeaks comparatively, and by way of ſuppoſition, and with reference to God's good pleaſure.

18 ¶ And Gad came that day to David i, and ſaid unto him, Go up k, rear an altar unto the LORD in the threſhing-floor of Araunah the Jebuſite l.

i By command from God, v. 19. 1 Chron. 21. 18. k To Mount Moriah. l Which place God appointed for this work, partly, in gracious condeſcenſion to, and compliance with David's fear of going to Gibeon, which is expreſſed 1 Chron. 21. 29, 30. partly, becauſe this was the place where God by his Angel appeared in a threatning poſture, where therefore it was meet he ſhould be appeaſed: and partly, becauſe God would hereby ſignifie the tranſlation of the Tabernacle from Gibeon hither, and the erection of the Temple here, 2 Chron. 3. 1.

19 And David, according to the ſaying of Gad, went up, as the LORD commanded.

20 And Araunah looked, and ſaw the king, and his ſervants coming on toward him: and Araunah went out, and bowed himſelf before the king, on his face upon the ground.

21 And Araunah ſaid, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his ſervant m? And David ſaid, To buy the threſhing-floor of thee, to build an altar unto the LORD, that † the plague may be ſtayed from the people. † Sacrifices may be offered, and ſo.

m Wherefore doth the King do me this honour, and give himſelf the trouble of coming to me?

22 And Araunah ſaid unto David, Let my lord the king take and offer up what ſeemeth good unto him: Behold, here be oxen n for burnt-ſacrifice, and threſhing-inſtruments, and other inſtruments of the oxen for wood.

n Which were employed by him in his preſent work, which was threſhing, 1 Chron. 21. 20. See the notes on Deut. 25. 4.

23 All theſe things did Araunah, as a king o give p unto the king: and Araunah ſaid unto the king, The LORD thy God accept thee q.

o The Particle, as, being underſtood, as it oft is in the Hebrew: i.e. with a Royal Bounty. Or, Araunah the king; as he might be called, either, becauſe he was King of the Jebuſites before David took their City: or, becauſe he was the Son and Heir of that King. p He not only offered, but actually gave them, i.e. he actually reſigned his right and property in them unto David; for ſo he did; and David by his refuſal returned it to Araunah again. q He was a Jebuſite by Nation, but an hearty Proſelyte: which made him ſo liberal in his offers to God's ſervice, and the common good of God's People.

24 And the king ſaid unto Araunah, Nay, but I will ſurely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt-offerings unto the LORD my God, of that which doth coſt me nothing r. So David * bought the threſhing-floor, and the oxen, for fifty ſhekels of ſilver ſ. * 1 Chron. 21. 25.

r For this would be both diſhonourable to God, as if I thought him not worthy of a coſtly Sacrifice: and a diſparagement to my ſelf, as if I were unable and unwilling to offer a Sacrifice of my own Goods: and unſatisfactory to the Command of God, which obligeth all offenders, and me in a particular manner, to offer Sacrifice of their own Eſtate. ſ Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 25. he is ſaid to give for the place ſix hundred ſhekels of gold by weight. Anſ. Theſe two places may be fairly reconciled divers ways. Firſt, Here he ſpeaks of the price paid for the threſhing-floor, and oxen, and Inſtruments; and there for the whole place adjoyning, on which the Temple and its Courts were built, which certainly was very much larger than this Threſhing-floor, and probably had Araunah's Houſe, if not ſome others, now built upon it. Secondly, The Shekels here may be of Gold; and in 1 Chron. 21. of Silver; and ſo the proportion of Gold to Silver being that of twelve to one, 50 Shekels of Gold make 600 Shekels of Silver. And whereas it may be objected, That on the contrary theſe 50 Shekels are ſaid to be of Silver, and the 600 of Gold; this they anſwer by another tranſlation of the words. For they render this place thus, agreeably enough to the words and the order of the Hebrew Text, he bought them for ſilver, (or, for money, as the Hebrew word Cheſeph, oft ſignifies, and particularly in this very Hiſtory in the parallel place, 1 Chron. 21. 24. where David deſires to buy it for the full price, or for full money, where in the Hebrew it is for full ſilver): even for fifty ſhekels, to wit, of Gold, as it is expreſſed 1 Chron. 21. 25. which place they render thus; and that conſonantly to the Hebrew, he gave ſhekels of gold of the value (for the Hebrew word Miſhkal, ſignifies value as well as weight, as was before noted on 2 Sam. 12. 30.) of ſix hundred ſhekels, to wit, of Silver. And this may ſeem added in the Book of the Chronicles, leſt it ſhould be thought that the 50 Shekels here mentioned were but common and Silver Shekels. Thirdly, There is a conſiderable difference in the Phraſe in theſe two places, Here he mentions for what David bought it, or what he was obliged to give for it; and in Chronicles what he actually gave for it, to wit, of his Royal bounty, over and beſides the full price of it: which was decent and convenient for ſo great a King, and eſpecially upon ſo great an occaſion, and to him who had given him ſuch a noble example.

25 And David built there an altar unto the LORD t, and offered burnt-offerings u, and peace-offerings x: ſo the LORD was intreated for the land y, and the plague was ſtayed from Iſrael.

t Which he might well do, having God's command for it, and the place being Sanctified by God's ſpecial preſence in and by the Angel. u To make atonement for his ſins. x To praiſe God for his Gracious manifeſtation of himſelf. y As appeared both by fire from Heaven, which conſumed the Sacrifices, as was uſual in ſuch caſes: and by the ſpeedy ceſſation of the Plague.

I. KINGS.

The ARGUMENT.

These two Books called of the Kings, becauſe they treat of the Kings of Judah and Iſrael, were written by the Prophets or Holy Men of God, living in or near their ſeveral times, and by ſome one of them digeſted into this order. But whoever was the Penman, that theſe are a part of thoſe Holy Scriptures which were Divinely inſpired, is ſufficiently evident, Firſt, From the concurring Teſtimony of the whole Jewiſh Church in all Ages, to whom were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. who alſo did faithfully diſcharge their Duty in preſerving and delivering them entirely and truly to their Poſterity from time to time, as plainly appears, becauſe Chriſt and his Apoſtles who, reproved them freely for their ſeveral ſins, never taxed them with this fault, of depraving the Holy Scriptures of the Old Teſtament. Secondly, Becauſe this is manifeſt concerning divers parcels of them which were taken out of the Records of the Prophets Nathan, Ahijah and Iddo, 2 Chron. 9. 29. and out of the Propheſies of Iſaiah and Jeremiah; and the reſt doubtleſs were of the ſame nature. Thirdly, From the approbation of theſe Books by the New Teſtament, both generally, as 2 Tim. 3. 16. All Scripture is given by inſpiration from God, &c. which is affirmed concerning all thoſe Holy Scriptures which Timothy had known from a child, v. 15. and therefore muſt neceſſarily be meant of all the Books of the Old Teſtament, which the Jews owned for Canonical Scripture; and particularly Rom. 11. 2, 3, &c. where a paſſage out of theſe Books is quoted and owned as a part of the Holy Scripture, called the Scripture by way of eminency.

c His Phyſicians. d Whoſe natural Heat is freſh and wholſome, and not impaired with bearing or breeding of Children. The ſame counſel doth Galen give for the cure of ſome cold and dry Diſtempers. e i. e. Miniſter unto him, or wait upon him, (as this Phraſe is oft uſed) in his ſickneſs, as occaſion requires. f As his Wife or Concubine: for that ſhe was ſo, may appear by divers arguments. Firſt, Otherwiſe this had been a wicked counſel and courſe; which therefore neither his Servants durſt have preſcribed, nor would David have uſed, eſpecially being now in a dying condition. And ſeeing this was eaſily prevented by his talking her for his Concubine, which then was eſteemed allowable, it is abſurd to think that he would not chuſe the ſafer way. Secondly, That paſſage, v. 4. but the king knew her not, implies that the King might have had carnal knowledge of her without ſin or ſcandal. Thirdly, It appears from this Phraſe of lying in his boſom, which is every where in Scripture mentioned as the priviledge of a Wife and Concubine, as Gen. 16. 5. Deut. 13. 6. 2 Sam. 12. 8. Mic. 7. 5. Fourthly, This made Adonijah's Crime in deſiring her to Wife, ſo hainous in Solomon's account, becauſe he wiſely ſaw, that by Marrying the King's Wife he deſigned to revive his pretence to the Kingdom, at leaſt in caſe of Solomon's death; which pretence had been ridiculous, if ſhe had been only the King's handmaid.

3 So they ſought for a fair damſel g throughout all the coaſts of Iſrael; and found Abiſhag a Shunamite h, and brought her to the king.

g Whoſe beauty might engage his affections, and refreſh his ſpirits, and invite him to thoſe embraces which might communicate ſome of her natural Heat to him, as was deſigned. h Of the City of Shunem in Iſſachar, Joſ. 19. 18. See 2 Kings 4. 8.

4 And the damſel was very fair, and cheriſhed the king, and miniſtred unto him: but the king knew her not i.

i Which is mentioned to note the continuance and progreſs of the King's Malady, and the ground of Adonijah's Rebellion, and of his following requeſt, chap. 2. 17.

5 ¶ Then k Adonijah the ſon of Haggith l exalted himſelf m, ſaying, I will † be king n: and he prepared him charets, and horſemen, and fifty men to run before him o.

6 And his father had not diſpleaſed him † at any time p, in ſaying, Why haſt thou done ſo q? And he alſo r was a very goodly man; and his mother bare him after Abſalom ſ.

p This is noted as David's great error, and the occaſion of Adonijah's preſumption. q He neither reſtrained him from, nor reproved him for his miſcarriages: which was a great ſin againſt that plain Law, Levit. 19. 17. and ſeverely puniſhed in Eli, which David was not ignorant of, except Adonijah's Errors were ſmall or concealed from David. r This particle relates, either, Firſt, To Abſalom here following, who alſo was a goodly Man. Or rather, Secondly, to what goes before, to ſignifie that this was a ſecond ground of his confidence, becauſe his great comelineſs made him amiable in the People's Eyes, as his Father's indulgence was the firſt. ſ i. e. Next after Abſalom was born of his Mother: See 2 Sam. 3. 2, 4.

7 And † he conferred with Joab the ſon of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the prieſt: and they † following Adonijah, helped him t.

t Either, becauſe they thought the right of the Crown was his: or rather, from ſecret grudges, becauſe they perceived themſelves neglected by David, and poſſibly by Solomon too; and from Carnal Policy, that they might ſecure and advance their own Intereſt, which they ſaw to be in manifeſt danger.

8 But Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and * Shimei and Rei, and * the mighty men which belonged to David u, were not with Adonijah.

9 And Adonijah ſlew ſheep and oxen, and fat cattel x, by the ſtone of Zoheleth, which is by ‖ Enrogel y, and called all his brethren the kings ſons z, and all the men of Judah the kings ſervants a.

10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men b, and Solomon his brother he called not.

b Becauſe he knew they favoured Solomon his Competitor.

11 ¶ Wherefore Nathan ſpake c unto Bathſheba the mother of Solomon d, ſaying, Haſt thou not heard that Adonijah the ſon of * Haggith doth reign, and David our lord knoweth it not e?

* 2 Sam. 3. 4.

c Being prompted to it both by his Piety in fulfilling the will of God declared to him, and by him to David concerning Solomon's Succeſſion, 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Chron. 22. 8, 9. and by his prudence, as knowing that Adonijah hated him for being the principal inſtrument of Solomon's advancement. d Who being retired and private in her apartment, was yet ignorant of what was done abroad: and, who was likely to be moſt zealous in the cauſe, and moſt prevalent with David. e So far is he from conſenting to it, as thou may'ſt fear or others think, that they have not yet acquainted him with it.

12 Now therefore come, let me, I pray thee, give thee counſel, that thou mayſt ſave thine own life, and the life of thy ſon Solomon f.

f For he will never reckon himſelf ſafe till his Competitor and his Friends be taken out of the way.

13 Go, and get thee in unto king David, and ſay unto him, Didſt not thou, my lord, O king, ſwear g unto thine hand-maid h, ſaying, * Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne i? Why then doth Adonijah reign k?

* 1 Chron. 22. 9.

g i.e. Thou didſt Swear; which David himſelf owneth, v. 30. which probably he did to ſatisfie Bathſheba's doubts and fears about it, and to oblige himſelf to a compliance with the Divine Will declared about it. See chap. 2. 15. and 1 Chron. 28. 5. h So ſhe calleth her ſelf, to teſtifie her reverence and ſubjection to him, not only as her Husband, but as her King. i Another expreſſion of the ſame thing, to ſignifie David's ſincerity and fervency in his Swearing, which adds to his obligation. k How comes this to paſs? Or why doſt thou ſuffer it?

14 Behold, while thou yet talkeſt there with the king, I will alſo come in after thee, and † confirm thy words.

† Heb. fill up.

15 ¶ And Bathſheba went in unto the king, into the chamber: and the king was very old, and Abiſhag the Shunamite miniſtred unto the king.

16 And Bathſheba bowed, and did obeiſance unto the king: and the king ſaid, † What wouldſt thou?

† Heb. what to thee?

17 And ſhe ſaid unto him, My lord, thou ſwareſt by the LORD thy God l unto thine handmaid, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne:

l To whom thou art highly obliged, whoſe name thou juſtly feareſt and honoureſt, and therefore thou wilt'ſt not pollute it by Perjury, but make Conſcience of thy Oath.

18 And now behold, Adonijah reigneth; and now my lord the king, thou knoweſt it not m.

m This ſhe adds, partly, leſt ſhe ſhould ſeem to accuſe the King of inconſtancy and perfidiouſneſs; and partly, to aggravate Adonijah's Crime, from that groſs neglect and contempt of the King, which did accompany it.

19 And he hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattel, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the ſons of the king, and Abiathar the prieſt, and Joab the captain of the hoſt: but Solomon thy ſervant hath he not called.

n Who is not ſo preſumptuous as Adonijah, uſurping the Throne before his time, but carries himſelf modeſtly and ſubmiſſively, as thy Son, and Servant, and Subject.

20 And thou, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Iſrael are upon thee o, that thou ſhouldſt tell them who ſhall ſit upon the throne of my lord the king p after him q.

o The generality of the People are in ſuſpence, whether Adonijah's practices be with thy conſent or no, and wait for thy Sentence, which they will readily embrace. p She ſpeaks only in general, as owning the King's Prerogative to give the Crown to which of his Sons he pleaſed, if he had not reſtrained himſelf by his Oath to Solomon. q i. e. After thy death. Whereby ſhe taxeth Adonijah's Ambition, who uſurped the Crown whilſt his Father lived.

21 Otherwiſe it ſhall come to paſs, when my lord the king ſhall ſleep with his fathers r, that I and my ſon Solomon ſhall be counted † offenders ſ.

r i.e. Die as his Fathers did. See Gen. 47. 30. ſ We ſhall be puniſhed with death as Malefactors, as guilty of practiſing againſt the right Heir of the Crown, and transferring the Kingdom to Solomon, and covering our ambitious deſigns with a pretence of Religion.

22 ¶ And lo, while ſhe yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet alſo came in t.

t To diſcourſe with the King; which made it fit for her to withdraw, as ſhe did, v. 28.

23 And they told the king, ſaying, Behold, Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in before the king, he bowed himſelf before the king with his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan ſaid, My lord, O king, haſt thou ſaid u, Adonijah ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne?

u Is this done by thy conſent, without which it ſeems ſtrange that he durſt attempt it?

25 For he is gone down this day, and hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattel, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the kings ſons, and the captains of the hoſt, and Abiathar the prieſt; and behold, they eat and drink before him, and ſay, † God ſave king Adonijah.

† Heb. Let king Adonijah live

29 But me, even me thy ſervant x, and Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and thy ſervant Solomon hath he not called.

x Whom he knew to be acquainted with thy mind, and with the mind of God in this matter: And therefore his neglect of me herein gives me cauſe to ſuſpect that this is done without thy privity: which now I come to know.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou haſt not ſhewed it unto thy ſervant y, who ſhould ſit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

y Who, having been an inſtrument in delivering God's meſſage to thee concerning thy Succeſſor, might reaſonably expect that if the King had changed his Mind, or God had ſince made ſome revelation contrary to the former, thou wouldſt have acquainted me with it, as being both a Prophet of the Lord, and one whom thou haſt always found Faithful to thee, and to whom thou haſt uſed to communicate thy ſecret counſels.

28 ¶ Then king David anſwered and ſaid, Call me Bathſheba z: and ſhe came † into the kings preſence, and ſtood before the king.

z Who, upon Nathan's approach to the King had modeſtly withdrawn her ſelf, either in another Room, or into another part of this Room, more remote from the Bed upon which David lay.

29 And the king ſware, and ſaid, As the LORD liveth, that hath redeemed my ſoul out of all diſtreſs, 30 Even as I ſware unto thee by the LORD God of Iſrael, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne in my ſtead; even ſo will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bathſheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and ſaid, Let my lord king David live for ever a.

a i. e. For a long time, as that word is oft uſed, as Chap. 2. 33. Dan. 2. 4. Though I deſire thy Oath may be kept, and the right of Succeſſion confirmed to my Son, yet I am far from thirſting after thy death for his advancement, and ſhould rather rejoyce, if it were poſſible for thee to live and enjoy thy Crown for ever.

32 ¶ And king David ſaid, Call me Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 The king alſo ſaid unto them, Take with you the ſervants of your lord b, and cauſe Solomon my ſon to ride upon † mine own mule c, and bring him down to Gihon d.

b i. e. My publick Officers, and my Guards. c As a token that the Royal Dignity is transferred upon Solomon, and that by my conſent. Compare Gen. 41. 43. Eſth. 6. 8. d A River near Jeruſalem, on the Weſt ſide, as may be gathered from 2 Chron. 32. 30. as En-rogel, where Adonijah was inaugurated, was on the Eaſt ſide. This place David choſe, either, as remote from Adonijah and his company, that ſo the People might go thither, and be there without fear of Tumults or Bloodſhed; or to ſhew that Solomon was choſen King in oppoſition to Adonijah: or, becauſe this was a place of great reſort, and fit to receive and diſplay that numerous company, which he knew would follow Solomon thither: or, that he might from thence return and make the more magnificent entrance into the City.

34 And let Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, anoint him there king e over Iſrael: and blow ye with the trumpet f, and ſay, God ſave king Solomon.

e As they uſed to do where there was any thing new, or doubtful, or extraordinary in the Succeſſion, as 1 Sam. 10. 1. and 16. 12, 13. 1 Kings 19. 15, 16. 2 Kings 9. 3. And this unction ſignified both the deſignation of the Perſons to the Office, and the Gifts and Graces which were neceſſary for their Office, and which, they ſeeking them ſincerely from God, might expect to receive. f To make the action more Solemn, and Glorious, and Publick.

35 Then ye ſhall come up after him, that he may come and ſit upon my throne; for he ſhall be king in my ſtead g; and I have † appointed h him to be ruler over Iſrael, and over Judah i.

† Heb. commanded him So Gr.

g My Deputy and Vice-King whilſt I live, and abſolutely King when I die. Or, if David and Solomon were Joint-Kings, it is no more than was afterwards frequent at Rome, where the Father and Son, or two other Perſons were not ſeldom Joint-Emperors. h And that by Divine direction. i This is added, partly, as being the moſt Eminent and Royal Tribe, it being frequent, together with the general diſtinction, to mention one of the moſt eminent particulars, as 1 Kings 11. 1 Pſal. 18. title. Mark 16. 7. and partly, leſt the men of Judah, who were in a ſpecial manner invited by Adonijah, v. 9. might think themſelves exempted from his Juriſdiction.

36 And Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada anſwered the king, and ſaid, Amen k: The LORD God of my lord the king ſay ſo too l.

k Which was both an approbation of the King's Fact, and a profeſſion of his Allegiance to the new King, and a Petition to God to ratifie and confirm it. l The Lord ſtabliſh Solomon's Throne in ſpight of Adonijah, and all his other Enemies.

37 As the LORD hath been with my lord the king, even ſo be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David m.

m Which Petition, albeit it might have offended an unworthy, vain-glorious and envious Father, he knew would be welcome to ſo pious and generous a Man as David was, and to one ſo kind and indulgent to his Children.

38 So Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down, and cauſed Solomon to ride upon king Davids mule, and brought him to Gihon.

39 And Zadok the prieſt n took an horn of * oil out of the tabernacle o, and anointed Solomon: and they blew the trumpet, and all the people ſaid, God ſave king Solomon.

* Exod. 30. 23, 25, 32.

n For though he was not the High-Prieſt, he might do this office, eſpecially having the direction of the Prophet Nathan, v. 34. o That which David had erected for the Ark, 2 Sam 6. 17. in which Oyl was kept for divers Sacred uſes: for Moſes his Tabernacle was at Gibeon, 1 Chron. 16. 39. and 21. 29. which was too remote for the preſent occaſion, which required all poſſible expedition.

40 And all the people came up after him p, and the people piped with || pipes, and rejoyced with great joy q, ſo that the earth rent r with the ſound of them.

p Which flocked thither in abundance, ſome out of curioſity to ſee ſo ſolemn an Action; others to do their Duty; and others in expectation of ſome advantage by their chearſul attendance upon the new King. q Partly, becauſe this would certainly prevent Civil Wars, under which they had ſo lately and ſo ſorely groaned, and which they had reaſon to fear from Adonijah's pretence to the Crown, and the aſſiſtance he might have from the great and famous Lord General Joab, and from Abiathar the High-Prieſt, and from others who were or might eaſily be engaged for him, if David had not ended the Controverſie in his life-time: and partly, becauſe of the ſingular wiſdom and vertue for which Solomon was even then famons. See chap. 2. 5, 9. r An Hyperbolical Expreſſion: yet even ſolid Bodies have been oft broken and rent by great ſounds.

41 ¶ And Adonijah, and all the gueſts that were with him, heard it, as they had made an end of eating ſ: and when Joab heard the ſound of the trumpet, he ſaid, Wherefore is this noiſe of the city, being in an uproar?

ſ For Nathan having given wiſe Counſel, took all due care to expedite the execution of it, that it might not be ſpoiled by delays, as frequently happens.

42 And while he yet ſpake, behold, Jonathan the ſon of Abiathar t the prieſt came, and Adonijah ſaid unto him, Come in, for thou art a valiant man u, and bringeſt good tidings.

t Who it ſeems was left at Jeruſalem for a Spy, as he had formerly been under Abſalom. u Or, a man of vertue or worth, as this Hebrew word is uſed, Prov. 12. 4. and therefore an happy man, and haſt good news for thy ſelf and us. Compare 2 Sam. 18. 27.

43 And Jonathan anſwered and ſaid to Adonijah, Verily x, our lord king David hath made Solomon king.

x Or, but, or, nay but; i. e. The matter is not as thou expecteſt, but quite contrary.

44 And the king hath ſent with him Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have cauſed him to ride upon the kings mule.

45 And Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are come up from thence rejoycing, ſo that the city rang again: this is the noiſe that ye have heard.

46 And alſo Solomon ſitteth on the throne y of the kingdom.

y i. e. Is put into actual poſſeſſion of the Kingdom.

47 And moreover, the kings ſervants came to bleſs our lord king David z, ſaying, God make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne: And the king bowed himſelf upon the bed a.

z To praiſe and thank him for his great and good care, in leaving them in the hands of ſo excellent a Succeſſor, under whom they might expect Peace and all Proſperity; and to congratulate with him for God's great Mercy to him, in giving him ſuch a Son and Succeſſor, and that his Eyes had now ſeen the actual accompliſhment of God's promiſe made to him concerning this thing. a Adoring God for this great Mercy, and thereby declaring his hearty approbation and conſent to this action. Compare Gen. 47. 31.

48 And alſo thus ſaid the king, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael, which hath given one to ſit on my throne this day, mine eyes even ſeeing it.

49 And all the gueſts that were with Adonijah, were afraid, and roſe up, and went every man his way b.

b i. e. The way to his own Houſe, leſt they ſhould be diſcovered and taken.

50 ¶ And Adonijah feared, becauſe of Solomon, and aroſe, and went, and caught hold on the horns of the altar c.

c Either, that which was at Gibeon, as appears from 1 Chron. 16. 39. 2 Chron. 1. 3. and was made with four Horns, Exod. 38. 2. to which the Sacrifices were bound, Pſal. 118. 27. Or rather, that which David had lately ſet up in the Threſhing-floor of Araunah, which doubtleſs was made after the ſame form as that at Gibeon: For, Firſt, This was next at hand. Secondly, The Altar only is mentioned here, whereas in Joab's caſe there is mention of the Tabernacle and Altar both, Chap 2. 28, 29. which ſeems to be noted to diſtinguiſh the two Altars: for Adonijah being the King's Son, he might ſafely go to Araunah's Altar, and the People would not be forward to ſeize upon him, or bring him to Juſtice: but Joab truly thought it was not ſafe for him to venture himſelf there, and therefore he flieth to Gibeon, as a place more remote from Jeruſalem. Hither he fled, either to implore God's Mercy; or rather, to avoid Solomon's Rage: ſuppoſing that his Reverence to that Sacred place would not permit him to pollute him with his Brother's blood; or that the conſideration of God's Grace and Mercy, which himſelf needed and begged of God, in pardoning his Offences, and accepting the Sacrifices which he ſhould offer there, would engage and diſpoſe him to ſhew Mercy to his offending and now penitent Brother; or, that his Piety would not allow him violently to pluck him as it were out of the Arms of God, into which he had put himſelf. And for theſe or ſuch like reaſons the Altar was eſteemed a kind of Sanctuary or place of Refuge, not only among the Gentiles, but alſo among the Hebrews, though it be not called by that name, as may be gathered from Exod. 21. 14. 1 Kings 2. 28.

51 And it was told Solomon, ſaying, Behold, Adonijah feareth king Solomon: for lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, ſaying, Let king Solomon ſwear unto me to day, that he will not ſlay his ſervant d with the ſword.

d He owns Solomon as his King, and himſelf as his Servant and Subject; and being ſenſible of his great guilt, and of the jealouſie which Kings have of their Competitors, could not be ſatisfied without Solomon's Oath.

52 And Solomon ſaid, If he will ſhew himſelf † a worthy man e, * there ſhall not an hair of him fall to the earth f: but if wickedneſs ſhall be found in him g, he ſhall die.

* 1 Sam. 14. 45. 2 Sam. 14. 11. Acts 27. 34.

e Heb. a man of ſtrength or courage: for it requires great ſtrength of mind, and reſolution, to reſiſt all temptations of Vice, and to do Vertuouſly. f Herein Solomon manifeſts his Clemency and Brotherly Affection, and withal his prudence in ſparing him, whom, being his Brother, and his eldeſt Brother too, it would have been invidious to have ſlain. g Not only if he ſhall be guilty of ſome capital Crime, but of any great wickedneſs or evil deſign. For as this pardon was Solomon's free act, ſo he might juſtly qualifie it as he pleaſed.

53 So king Solomon ſent, and they brought him down from the altar; and he came and bowed himſelf to king Solomon: and Solomon ſaid unto him, Go to thine houſe h.

h Lead a private, or retired and quiet life, without noiſe and numerous attendants, and meddle not with the Affairs of the Court and Kingdom.

Or, Secondly, Indirectly in what he did againſt Abner and Amaſa: whoſe death was a great injury to David, as it was a breach of his Laws and Peace; a contempt of his Perſon and Government; a pernicious example to others of his Subjects upon the like occaſions; a great ſcandal and diſhonour to him, as if Joab had been only David's inſtrument, to effect what he ſecretly deſired and deſigned; whereby the hearts of his People either were, or might have been alienated from him, and inflamed againſt him, and the wounds which were well-nigh healed, might have been widened again, and made to bleed afreſh. o Or, even; the following branches being added as an explication of the foregoing, to ſhew what and how he acted towards or againſt David. And did David upon his Death-bed bear malice againſt Shimei? Anſ. Firſt, David was not a private Perſon which might remit ſuch Offences without any inconvenience; but a publick Magiſtrate, who for the honour and maintenance of Government was obliged to puniſh ſuch inſolent and opprobrious Speeches, if the neceſſity of his Affairs had not then engaged him to paſs it by. Otherwiſe it appears from divers paſſages of the Pſalms, and of this Hiſtory, how free David was from a rancorous and revengeful ſpirit even towards his Enemies. Secondly, The following advice is not contrary to David's Oath, both becauſe that was only perſonal, that David would not kill him either at that time, as Abiſhai deſired him, or whilſt he lived; and did not oblige his Succeſſors; and eſpecially, becauſe it was not David's mind that Shimei ſhould be put to death for that fault (as is evident, for then there was no need of Solomon's Wiſdom to find out an occaſion, but only of his Juſtice to puniſh him for the old crime) but for ſome other competent crime, which Solomon's Wiſdom narrowly prying into all his actions, would eaſily find out. And if the condition which Solomon impoſed upon Shimei, v. 36, 37. ſeem hard, it muſt be remembred, that David only ſwore that he would Pardon him as to life, but not that he would exempt him from all puniſhment or confinement.

9 Now therefore hold him not guiltleſs b: for thou art a wiſe man c, and knoweſt what thou oughteſt to do unto him d, but his hoar head bring thou down to the grave with blood e.

See 2 Sam. 12. 8. m They looked upon me as their King, and David's Succeſſor, expecting that David ſhould confirm my Election. n Tranſlated from me to him by the viciſſitude of human Affairs, and the changeable humour of the People. o Either, Firſt, By God's Providence ſo diſpoſing David's Mind, and the People's Hearts. s So ſhe eſteemed it, becauſe ſhe did not perceive his Deſign in it; and as for that Law, Levit. 18. 7. ſhe might apprehend, that becauſe David knew her not, it was only a Contract for Marriage, and therefore no impediment of her Marriage to any other after his Death; which alſo is the Opinion of ſome of the late Learned Hebrew Doctors. t Suppoſing thy Requeſt be but ſmall, as thou ſay'ſt it is, and not unlawful, nor injurious to my ſelf, or others.

u By the Father's ſide, whom brotherly Affection and Relation obligeth thee to gratifie; at leaſt, in ſmall things.

22 And king Solomon anſwered and ſaid unto his mother, And why doſt thou aſk Abiſhag the Shunamite for Adonijah? aſk for him the kingdom alſo x; (for he is mine elder brother y) even for him, and for Abiathar the prieſt, and for Joab the ſon of Zeruiah z.

x His Deſign is not upon Abiſhag, but upon the Kingdom; which, by this means, he thinks to recover; partly, becauſe ſhe was the laſt King's Wife, or Concubine, which might ſtrengthen his Pretence to the Crown; See 2 Sam. 3. 7, and 12. 8. and 16. 21. and partly, becauſe by her eminent Beauty, and near Relation to David, ſhe had a powerful Intereſt in the Court. Queſt. Was not this too harſh a Cenſure, and the following Puniſhment of it too ſevere? Anſw. 1. That Adonijah had ſuch a Deſign, is very probable, both from his Temper, for he was an aſpiring and deſigning Man, and highly diſcontented with Solomon's Government, and deſirous of a Change; and from the nature of the thing, becauſe he would not have made ſo daring and preſumptuous a Requeſt, if he had not ſome great Deſign in it. 2. It is very likely from the following words, though not expreſſed, that he, and Joab and Abiathar were engaged in ſome Deſign againſt Solomon, and that Solomon had got Information of it; and therefore he did, and might reaſonably take this for an Indication, and the firſt overt act of his Treaſon. 3. Solomon did not pardon Adonijah's Treaſon ſimply, and abſolutely, but upon condition that he carried himſelf worthily, Chap. 1. 52. and this being confeſſedly a bold and unworthy Action, and arguing more confidence and preſumption than became him; and carrying in it the appearance and intention of an Inceſtuous Marriage, he might juſtly revive his Guilt, and take this occaſion to execute the Sentence which he formerly deſerved. If it be ſaid, That it is very improbable that Adonijah ſhould expect to get the Kingdom from Solomon, who was ſo firmly eſtabliſhed in it with univerſal Applauſe; it may be anſwered, That Adonijah was not the only Man that hath fed himſelf with vain hopes, and engaged himſelf in high and treaſonable Deſigns, where, to other wiſe Men there was but little likelihood of Succeſs: and that he might now be only laying the Foundation of what he further intended, when he ſaw a fit time, and getting a pretence for his future Attempts upon the Crown; either, when Solomon ſhould loſe the Peoples Affections, as David had done; or when Solomon ſhould die, which alſo Adonijah might ſecretly procure and haſten; and he had only Solomon's young and tender Son to conteſt with. All which, and many other things, Solomon in his great Wiſdom might eaſily diſcern; yea, or have ſome ſecret Intelligence of, though it be not Recorded. y He looks upon the Kingdom as his, by Nature and Birthright, and the Law of Nations; and therefore he may ſeek to recover his own, and to caſt me out as an Uſurper. z Who have all an hand in the Plot, though he alone appear in it: which appears the more likely, becauſe of Solomon's proceeding againſt them all at the ſame time; as appears in the following Verſes.

* 2 Sam. 7. 12, 13.

b Though Adonijah be my elder Brother, yet I have an undoubted Right and Title to the Crown, and that from the promiſe and appointment of that God who diſpoſeth of all Kingdoms, and eſpecially this of Iſrael, to whom he pleaſeth; and therefore Adonijah in this, and his former Attempt, is guilty of Treaſon againſt me, and of Rebellion againſt God. c Either, 1. who hath given me Poſterity, as that Phraſe is uſed, Exod. 1. 21. and elſewhere: for Rehoboam moſt probably was born before this time; by comparing 1 Kings 14. 21. Or rather, 2. who hath eſtabliſhed me in the Houſe and Throne of David: which he thus expreſſeth, to ſignifie, that God hath fulfilled in and to him that Promiſe which he made to David, in 2 Sam. 7. 11. where the ſame Phraſe is uſed, and where it doth not ſo much ſignifie the giving of David Poſterity, which he had ſufficiently before that time; as the ſettlement of the Crown in him and his Seed. d For he knew delays were dangerous in matters of that Nature.

25 And king Solomon ſent by the hand of Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada e, and he fell upon him f that he died.

m Either from his Office; or, at leaſt, from the Execution of his Office. For ſome think, that he was thruſt from his Office before David's Death, when Zadok was formerly made Prieſt; i. e. High Prieſt in his ſtead, 1 Chron. 29. 22. But that ſeems to be a miſtake: For although that paſſage immediately follows the Hiſtory of what was done in the time of David's Life and Health, when he was in a capacity of going into the Publick Congregation: yet it manifeſtly belongs to another time, and was done after it: For he there ſpeaks of Solomon's being made King the ſecond time, and he was made King but twice; once undoubtedly before this, 1 Chron. 23. 1. and again, 1 Kings 1. 39. When David was Bedrid, and Adonijah's Uſurpation made a ſecond Unction neceſſary. And therefore what is ſaid, 1 Chron. 29. 22. of Zadok's being made Prieſt, was done after Abiathar's Depoſition, and upon that occaſion. n For what hinders but Solomon might intend this not only as a Puniſhment for his Treaſon, but alſo as a means to accompliſh God's Word? o i. e. Concerning the Tranſlation of the Prieſthood from the Houſe of Eli, and of Ithamar, unto that of Eleazar: which being threatned 80 years ago, is now Executed. 28 ¶ Then tidings p come to Joab, (for Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he turned not after Abſalom) and Joab fled unto the Tabernacle of the LORD q, and caught hold on the horns of the altar r.

p Concerning Adonijah's Death, and Abiathar's Depoſition. q Which then was at Gibeon, 1 Kings 3. 4. compared with 2 Chron. 1. 3, 5. r Of which ſee before, Chap. 1. 50.

29 And it was told king Solomon that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD, and behold, he is by the altar: then Solomon ſent Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, ſaying, Go, fall upon him s.

s To wit, if he will not come thence, as I foreſee he will not.

30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the LORD, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the king, Come forth t. And he ſaid, Nay, but I will die here u. And Benaiah brought the king word again, ſaying, Thus ſaid Joab, and thus he anſwered me.

t That the King gave him this Command, though it be not mentioned before, is evident, both from the nature of the thing; for Solomon would not pollute the Altar without neceſſity; and from Benaiah's affirmation of it; for why ſhould he tell a lye without a cauſe? and from his return to the King for new Orders upon Joab's Reſolution not to come thence. u For he ſuppoſed, either, that Solomon would not defile that place with his Blood: or, that he would ſpare him for his reſpect to it, as he had done Adonijah: or, he had a ſuperſtitious conceit, that his dying there might give his guilty and miſerable Soul ſome advantage.

31 And the king ſaid unto him, Do as he hath ſaid x, and fall upon him, and bury him; that thou mayſt take away the innocent blood y which Joab ſhed from me, and from the houſe of my father.

x Either, 1. Kill him in that place: and for ſo doing, Solomon might ſeem to have warrant from God, Exod. 21. 14. and might further deſign by this juſt ſeverity, to deterr future Offenders, by ſhewing, that no place nor perſon ſhould protect them from the ſtroke of Juſtice. Or rather, 2. let him Die as he is reſolved; kill him, though he be there; take him by violence from that place, and then kill him: for Exod. 21. 14. doth not command the Ruler to kill the Murderer there, but to remove him thence, to take him from tht Altar, that he may die. And ſeeing this might be done, why ſhould Solomon unneceſſarily ſtain the Altar with his Blood? y i.e. Both the Guilt of it, which would reſt upon my Fathers and my Family, if it went unpuniſhed; and the ſcandal and reproach of it, that neither this, nor following Ages may imagine that it was done by David's ſecret inſtigation, or with his conſent.

32 And the LORD ſhall return his blood z upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he a, and ſlew them with the ſword, my father David not knowing thereof, to wit, *2Sa.3.27. * Abner the ſon of Ner, captain of the hoſt of Iſrael, *2Sam. 20.10. and * Amaſa the ſon of Jether, captain of the hoſt of Judah.

z i.e. The guilt of the Blood which he ſhed. a Of more ingenuous and generous Tempers, abhorring from all ſuch Treacherous Practices; and both of them then devoted to, and employed in my Service.

*2Sam. 3.29. 33 Their blood therefore ſhall return * upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his ſeed for ever b: but upon David and upon his ſeed, and upon his houſe, and upon his throne, ſhall there be peace for ever from the LORD c.

b Either as long as he ſhall have a Poſterity: or, for a long time: as that Phraſe is commonly uſed. c In, and by this Execution of Juſtice upon him, and ſuch Malefactors, my Throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed, and God will bleſs me, and mine, with Peace and Proſperity.

34 So Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and ſlew him, and he was buried in his own houſe in the wilderneſs d.

d Places which have but few Houſes and Inhabitants, are oft ſo called in Scripture; as, Iſa. 42. 11. Jer. 25. 24. Ezek. 34. 25.

35 ¶ And the king put Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada in his room over the hoſt, and Zadok the prieſt did the king put in the room of Abiathar e.

e He now put him in the execution of that Office, to which he may ſeem to have been Anointed before, 1 Chron. 29. 22. But of that, ſee my notes here on ver. 27.

*2Sam. 16.5. 36 ¶ And the king ſent, and called for * Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Build thee an houſe in Jeruſalem, and dwell there, and go not forth thence any whither f.

f This Solomon ordered, partly, for his own ſecurity; that being removed from that place where his Kindred, and Eſtate, and Intereſt lay, to a place where he was but a ſtranger, and ſufficiently odious for his former, and never-to-be-forgotten Inſolency towards his Lord and King, he might be uncapable of raiſing any Tumults and Seditions; partly, as a penalty for his former Wickedneſs, wherein yet there was more Mercy than Juſtice, and from which David had not promiſed him any ſecurity, but only given him his Life; and partly, That being in this Publick Theatre, all his Words, and Actions might be narrowly obſerved; which, conſidering his buſie, and covetous, and wicked Temper, was likely to give Solomon the advantage which he ſought for; and this very Prohibition would probably inflame his deſire of Tranſgreſſing it, as the manner of Men is.

37 For it ſhall be, that on the day thou goeſt out,

g A Brook nigh unto Jeruſalem, of which ſee 2 Sam. 15. 23. 2 Kings 23. 4. Which he particularly names, becauſe that was the way to Bahurim, his former and ſettled Habitation: but this is not to be underſtood excluſively to other ways and places; for the reſtraint was general, that he ſhould not go forth thence any whither, ver. 36. to wit, as far any other way as Cedron was; which alſo appears from the following Hiſtory; for when he went to Gath, he went not over Cedron, (which lay Eaſtward from the City) but Weſtward, as Gath lay. h The blame and guilt of thy Blood ſhall lie upon thy ſelf only.

38 And Shimei ſaid unto the king, The ſaying is good i: as my lord the king hath ſaid, ſo will thy ſervant do k. And Shimei dwelt in Jeruſalem many days.

i Thy Sentence is much more merciful than I expected, or deſerved. k And Shimei did not only promiſe it, but alſo ſwore to it; being required by Solomon to do ſo, as is manifeſt from verſe 42, 43.

39 And it came to paſs at the end of three years, that two of the ſervants of Shimei ran away unto Achiſh ſon of Maachah king of Gath l, and they told Shimei, ſaying, Behold, thy ſervants be in Gath.

l A King, but ſubject and tributary, firſt to David, and then to Solomon. This might be, either that Achiſh who ſhewed ſo much kindneſs to David, 1 Sam. 27. and 28. or his Son; who, in requital of this kindneſs was ſtill permitted to enjoy the Title and Honour of a King, but not the full Power; whence it was, that Achiſh could not, or durſt not keep theſe Servants, though they had fled to him for Protection; but ſuffered Shimei to take them away from his Royal City.

40 And Shimei aroſe, and ſadled his aſs, and went to Gath m, to Achiſh, to ſeek his ſervants: and Shimei went and brought his ſervants from Gath.

m Which, though highly dangerous, he attempted, partly, becauſe he was blinded with Covetouſneſs and Rage againſt his Servants, which two Luſts have done, and daily do engage Men to ſuch Courſes and Actions as are no leſs dangerous to their lives than this is; partly, becauſe he thought length of time had worn this out of Solomon's mind, and other mens thoughts: and that this being done ſecretly and ſpeedily, would never have come to Solomon's ears; or that Solomon would not be ſevere in this Caſe, where it was not wantonneſs nor contempt of his Authority, but the neceſſity of his Houſhold-concerns, which put him upon it: And partly, becauſe God withdrew from him the light of common Prudence, and wholly left him to his own Miſtakes, and Folly, and Luſts; and withal, to the Inſtigation of the Devil, whoſe cunning and powerful Artifices, and Inſinuations he could not reſiſt, without Divine help.

41 And it was told Solomon n, that Shimei had gone from Jeruſalem to Gath, and was come back again.

n Who doubtleſs had his Spies appointed, to obſerve him in all his Motions.

42 And the king ſent and called for Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Did I not make thee to ſwear by the LORD, and proteſted unto thee, ſaying, Know for a certain, that on the day thou goeſt out, and walkeſt abroad any whither, that thou ſhalt ſurely die? And thou ſaidſt unto me, The word that I have heard is good.

43 Why then haſt thou not kept the oath of the LORD, and the commandment that I have charged thee with o?

o He was guilty both of Rebellion againſt the expreſs, and juſt, and (as himſelf called it) good Command of the King, and of Perjury againſt God; which were two high and heinous Crimes. His Oath, he calls the Oath of the Lord, becauſe it was taken in God's Preſence, and he was called upon as witneſs of it, and as the Avenger of all Violations of it, and becauſe the Law of God obliged him to the performance of it.

44 The king ſaid moreover to Shimei, Thou knoweſt all the wickedneſs which thine heart is privy to p, that thou didſt to David my father: therefore the LORD ſhall return q thy wickedneſs upon thine own head.

p For which thy own Conſcience accuſeth thee, and there is no need of other Witneſſes. q Heb. hath returned, which ſeems moſt proper. God hath Puniſhed thee for thy former Wickedneſs, by ſuffering thee to fall into further Crimes, and expoſe thy ſelf to thy deſerved Death.

45 And king Solomon ſhall be bleſſed, and the throne of David r ſhall be eſtabliſhed s before the LORD t for ever.

r That Royal Power and Dignity conferred upon David to him and his Heirs for ever. s By the execution of ſuch Righteous Judgments as this is. t In the preſence of that God, who is both an Obſerver and Rewarder of all ſuch Righteous Actions: or, under God's inſpection, and by his Bleſſing.

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiadah, which went out u, and fell upon him that he died: and the * kingdom was eſtabliſhed in the *2Chron. 1.1.
hand of Solomon x.

u Carrying Shimei along with him to the place of Execution, which was not fit to be in the King's Preſence. x His ſecret and worſt Enemies being taken out of the way.

Solomon marrieth Pharaoh's Daughter : High Places being in uſe, he goeth to Gibeon to Sacrifice, 1,——4. There the Lord appeareth to him : Gives him a choice : He preferreth Wiſdom : Obtaineth it, and alſo Riches and Honour, 5.—15. His Judgment between the two Harlots, 16,——28.

* Cha. 7. 8. AND * Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt a, and took Pharaohs daughter b, and brought her into the city of David c, until he had made an end of building his own houſe, and the houſe of the LORD d, and the * wall of Jeruſalem round about e. * Chap. 9. 15, 19.

a As being a powerful neighbour. b Upon what conditions is not here expreſſed : but it is probable, ſhe was firſt Inſtructed in, and Proſelyted to the Jewiſh Religion ; as may be gathered, 1. Becauſe he was not yet fallen from God, but loved the Lord, and walked in the ſtatutes of David, ver. 3. And therefore would never have married a groſs Idolater, which was ſo contrary to God's Law, and ſo pernicicous in its Conſequences. 2. Becauſe he is no where reproved for this Fact, as he is for loving many other ſtrange women, 1 Kings 11. 1. 3. By comparing Pſal. 45. and the Book of Canticles : whereby it plainly appears, that this Action had ſomething extraordinary in it, and was deſign'd by God to be a Type of Chriſt, calling his Church to himſelf, and to the true Religion, not only out of the Jews, but even out of the Gentile World. c Of which, ſee Chap. 2. 10. Into David's Palace there. d i.e. The Temple appropriated to the Worſhip and Honour of God. e Which though in ſome ſort built by David, 2 Sam. 5. 9. yet Solomon is here ſaid to Build, either becauſe he made it higher, and ſtronger, and more beautiful, and glorious ; in which, or the like ſenſe Nebuchadnezzar is ſaid to have built Babylon, Dan. 4. 30. or becauſe he built another Wall beſides the former, for greater ſecurity ; for after this time Jeruſalem was encompaſſed with more Walls than one.

* 2 Chron. 33. 17. 2 * Only ∴ the people ſacrificed in high places f, becauſe there was no houſe g built unto the name of the LORD h until thoſe days.

∴ This Particle is uſed here, and v. 3. as an Exception to Solomon's Integrity and Glory, and as his infirmity, and a blemiſh to his Government, That he himſelf both permitted and practiſed this which was expreſly forbidden, Levit. 17. 3, 4. Deut. 12. 13, 14. except in ſome extraordinary caſes. Poſſibly he permitted it, becauſe he thought it better to allow an Error in a Circumſtance, than to occaſion a neglect of the Subſtance of God's Worſhip, which he apprehended would follow upon a ſevere Prohibition of that Practiſe, becauſe the People's hearts were generally and conſtantly ſet upon theſe high Places, as appears from all the following Hiſtory ; and they were not willing to ſubmit to ſo much trouble and charge as the bringing of all their Sacrifices to one place would cauſe ; nor would yield to it until the Temple was built, which he knew would eaſily encline and oblige them to it ; and that being ſpeedily to be done, he might think it more adviſeable, rather to delay the Execution of that Law of God for an approaching Seaſon, wherein he doubted not, they would be ſweetly and freely drawn to it than at preſent to drive them to it by force. Although theſe and all other prudential Conſiderations ſhould have given place to the Will and Wiſdom of God. f Which were Groves, or other convenient places upon Hills, in which the Patriarchs uſed to offer up their VVorſhip and Sacrifices to God ; and from them this Cuſtom was derived both to the Gentiles and the Jews : and in them the Gentiles Sacrificed to Idols, Jer. 7. 31. Ezek. 6. 3, 4. Hoſ. 10. 8. the Hebrews to the true God. g VVhich reaſon was not ſufficient, for there was a Tabernacle, to which they were as much confined as to the Temple, Deut. 12, &c. h Either, 1. To the Honour, and Praiſe, and Service of God ; to the Glory of his Name ; i. e. of his Majeſty, and all his Perfections, which ſhall be adored and manifeſted there.

i Or, yet, although he miſtook, and miſcarried himſelf in the matter of High Places, yet in the general, his Heart was right with God, and he both loved him with inward Affection, and walked with him in outward Converſation and Worſhip. k i.e. According to the Statutes or Commands of God, which are here called the ſtatutes of David ; not only becauſe they were ſo freely choſen, and heartily loved, and diligently practiſed by David, but alſo becauſe the obſervation of them was ſo earneſtly preſſed upon Solomon, and fortified with David's Authority and Command : See 1 Kings 2. 2, 3, 4. and 1 Chron. 28. 8, 9.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to ſacrifice there ; for that was the great high place l : a thouſand burnt-offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar m.

l The moſt eminent and frequented, becauſe there was the Tabernacle, and the Altar of Moſes, 1 Chron. 16. 39. and 21. 29. And 2 Chron. 1. 3, 5, 6. which poſſibly were placed upon an high, or raiſed Ground. m Thereby ſhewing his ſpecial reſpect to this above all other places ; and by his Example teaching and inviting all his People to do ſo.

5 ¶ In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream n by night : and God ſaid o, Ask what I ſhall give thee.

n Queſt. How could Solomon pray in his Dream, or that prayer be acceptable to God, as this was, v. 10 ? Anſ. The Dreams of Men are not ſuch inſignificant things as many imagine. That good Dreams are oftentimes praiſe-worthy, and evil Dreams blame-worthy, is not only the opinion of the Jews and Chriſtians, but of divers of the wiſer and better Heathens ; and the reaſon hereof is evident, becauſe mens Dreams are commonly the Images of their Minds and Tempers, and do only reflect and repreſent, though but faintly and imperfectly, thoſe very things which are moſt imprinted upon their hearts by their waking Meditations, and daily Converſation ; and therefore it is not unreaſonable, that either the ſinful Dreams of evil-minded Men ſhould be imputed to them, and puniſhed in them, or the vertuous Dreams of good Men imputed to, and rewarded in them ; which was Solomon's caſe : for his heart having been daily and conſtantly imployed in paſſionate longings and prayers for the Wiſdom, which here he begs ; it was a natural and likely thing that his heart ſhould, as it did, work that way even in his Dreams. Although, to ſpeak truly and ſtrictly, Solomon's prayer made in his Dream, would have been no way pleaſing to God, nor profitable to himſelf, if it had not been the reſult of his daily and moſt ſerious practice ; and though God ſignified his mind in a Dream, yet it was Solomon's waking Prayers (which were ſhadowed by this dark repreſentation) which God accepted and required ; and this acceptance of God was ſignified to him in an extraordinary manner, and by a Divine Dream, which was one of thoſe ways whereby God oft uſed to communicate his Will to his Prophets and People. So the whole buſineſs lies thus: Solomon dreamed that God bid him ask what he would, 1 Kings 3. 5. and that he did ask Wiſdom, v. 6, &c. and that God accepted his deſire, v. 10. and gave him that gracious anſwer, ver. 11, &c. And all this was done in a Dream, but with this difference ; Solomon's prayer was but imaginary, but God's anſwer was real, though conveyed in a Dream. And when he awoke, he knew by Divine Inſpiration that this was a Dream ſent from God to aſſure him that he would give him Wiſdom, and Riches, and Honour, and this with reſpect unto his frequent, conſtant, and fervent waking deſires, which his Dream of his Prayers did ſufficiently intimate. See more on v. 6. o i.e. He dreamed that God ſaid ſo.

6 And Solomon ſaid p, Thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant David my father great || mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth q, and in righteouſneſs, and in uprightneſs of heart with thee r, and thou haſt kept ſ for him this great kindneſs, that thou haſt given him a ſon to ſit on his throne, as it is this day. || Or, bounty.

p i. e. He dreamed that he ſaid. See on v. 5. Or, he really ſaid. For although the uſe of reaſon is ordinarily ſo dark and imperfect in Dreams, that ſuch actings are not human actions ; yet in extraordinary and Divine Dreams it is but reaſonable to allow ſomething extraordinary. For who can doubt but God may ſo clear up and aſſiſt a Man's reaſon in his Dream, that he may have a true and ſtrong apprehenſion of ſome things, which alſo may make a ſuitable impreſſion upon the will or affections ; and conſequently ſuch acts of the Soul may be moral acts and regardable by God and men ? And this might be a kind of exſtatical rapture, whereby his Soul might be as it were carried out of his Body, as St. Paul's was, 2 Cor. 12. 3. for a ſeaſon, in which caſe both his reaſon might clearly and diſtinctly apprehend God's mind, and his gracious offer ; and his Will might make a free choice of Wiſdom ; which therefore might be accepted and rewarded by God. q Either, Firſt, Sincerely, and without diſſimulation. But that is more fully expreſſed in the following words, in uprightneſs of heart. Or rather, Secondly, in the true Worſhip and Service of God, in the profeſſion, belief, practice and defence of the truth, or of the true Religion, or of God's Will or Word, which is called truth, Prov. 23. 23. John 17. 17. Gal. 3. 1. So truth here contains all his duties to God, as righteouſneſs doth his duties to men, and uprightneſs the right manner of performing both ſorts of duties. r i. e. In thy Judgment, to whom alone his heart was known, and to whom he oft appealed as the witneſs of his Integrity ; and with reſpect to whom he performed all his duties, even to men. ſ Or, reſerved ; that which thou didſt not reſerve for Saul, whoſe Poſterity thou didſt cut off from the Kingdom.

7 And now, O LORD my God, thou haſt made thy ſervant king inſtead of David my father : and I am but a little child s : I know not how to go out or come in t.

s So he was in Years : not as if he were now but twelve Years old, as many gather from this name of Child ; for that name is given to Iſhmael, when 18 Years old, Gen. 21. 14, 15. and to Rehoboam when 41 Years old, 2 Chron. 13. 7. where the word is the ſame in the Hebrew : and before this time David calls him a wiſe man, chap. 2. 9. but he was now not above 20 Years old ; and withal (which he principally intends) he was raw and unexperienced, as a Child, in State Affairs, and altogether unfit for ſo hard a task. t i. e. To govern my People, and manage Affairs ; as that Phraſe ſignifies, Num. 27. 17. Deut. 31. 2. Joſ. 14. 11.

8 And thy ſervant is in the midſt of thy people u which thou haſt choſen x, a great people, that cannot be numbred, nor counted for multitude.

u i. e. Is ſet over them to rule and guide them. A Metaphor from the Overſeer of divers VVorkmen, who uſually is in the midſt of them, that he may the better obſerve how each of them diſchargeth his office. x Thy peculiar People, whom thou takeſt ſpecial care of, and therefore wilt expect a more punctual account of my Government of them.

9 * Give therefore thy ſervant an † underſtanding heart y to judge z thy people, that I may diſcern between good and bad a : for who is able b to judge this thy ſo great a people? * 2 Chron. 1. 10. † Heb. heart.

y Whereby I may both clearly diſcern, and faithfully perform all the parts of my duty : for both theſe are ſpoken of in Scripture, as the effects of a good underſtanding; and he that lives in the neglect of his Duties, or the practice of Wickedneſs, is called a Fool, and one void of underſtanding. z Or, govern, as that word is uſed, Judg. 3. 10. and 4. 4. Pſal. 7. 8. and 67. 4. Iſa. 2. 4. and 16. 5. a To wit, in Cauſes and Controverſies among my People; that I may not through miſtakes, or prejudices, or paſſions, give wrong Sentences, and call evil good, or good evil. b Of himſelf, or without thy gracious aſſiſtance.

10 And the ſpeech pleaſed the LORD c, that Solomon had asked this thing.

c How ſuch a dreaming Prayer could pleaſe God, ſee in the Notes on v. 5, and 6.

11 And God ſaid unto him, Becauſe thou haſt asked this thing, and haſt not asked for thy ſelf † long life, neither haſt asked riches for thy ſelf, nor haſt asked the life of thine enemies d, but haſt asked for thy ſelf underſtanding † to diſcern judgment; † Heb. many days. † Heb. to hear.

d That God would take away their lives, or put them into thy power to deſtroy them.

12 Behold, I have done according to thy word e: lo, I have given thee a wiſe and an underſtanding heart f, ſo that there was none g like thee before thee, neither after thee ſhall any ariſe like unto thee ∵.

e I have granted, and do at this preſent grant unto thee thy deſire. And accordingly at this time God did infuſe into him a far higher degree, and greater meaſure of Wiſdom than he naturally had. f i. e. Wiſdom to govern thy People, to know and do thy ſeveral Duties; which was the thing that Solomon deſired, v. 7, 9. and the effects whereof here follow, v. 16, &c. and withal, all Divine and Humane Wiſdom, the knowledge of all Things, of all the Arts and Sciences, as may be gathered from 1 King. 4. 29, &c. and that in a far greater proportion than by his years, and the time he could get for his ſtudy, could poſſibly produce. g Either, no King: or rather, no Man: for he is herein preferred not only before all Kings, but before all men, chap. 4. 31. no meer Man ſince the Fall equalled him, to wit, in univerſal Knowledge, and eſpecially in the Art of well-governing his People. ∵ Queſt. Did not the Apoſtles excel him? Anſ. They did not in Natural and Political Knowledge, but only in the knowledge of the Myſteries of Faith, which were more freely and more fully imparted in thoſe Times; the ignorance whereof was no diſparagement to Solomon's Wiſdom, becauſe they were not diſcoverable by any Creature without Divine Revelation, which God ſaw fit not to afford in Solomon's time. I know no inconvenience in affirming that Solomon's natural Capacities were higher than any of the Apoſtles; and Solomon had a more comprehenſive Knowledge of all things known in that Age, than the Apoſtles had in all the Diſcoveries of their Age.

* Matth. 6. 33. ‖ Or, hath not been. 13 And I have alſo * given h thee that which thou haſt not asked, both riches and honour, ſo that there ‖ ſhall not be i any among the kings like unto thee all thy days k.

h Either, Firſt, I have granted and decreed to give: for words ſignifying action, are oft put only for the purpoſe of the action. Or rather, Secondly, I will give, as it is expreſſed in the Parallel place, 2 Chron. 1. 12. I will as certainly give them, as if I had actually done it; for future certain things are oft expreſſed in Scripture in the paſt time, as is well known to all. i So it is true of all the ſucceeding Kings of Iſrael, of whom he ſpeaks. Or, hath not been, as it is in the Hebrew: and ſo it may be true of all the Kings that then were or had been in the World, whereof none was like to him, to wit, in all the things here mentioned, and wherein he is compared with them, which is not only in Riches, but alſo in Wiſdom, and in Honour or Renown. k To wit, of thy life. Whereby he ſignifies, that theſe Gifts of God were not temporary and tranſient, as they were in Saul, but ſuch as ſhould abide with him whilſt he lived.

* Chap. 15. 5. 14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways l, to keep my ſtatutes, and my commandments, * as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.

l This Caution God gives him, leſt his great Wiſdom ſhould make him proud, or careleſs, or preſumptuous, as if he were out of all danger; and to oblige him to more care and circumſpection to avoid the ſnares and miſchiefs to which ſo much proſperity and glory would probably expoſe him; and withal to juſtifie himſelf in caſe he ſhould afterwards alter the courſe of his Providence towards Solomon; and that, when Men are ſurprized with Solomon's dreadful fall, they might know, it was no ſurpriſal to God, but that he did foreſee it, and would over-rule it to his own Glory one way or other.

15 And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream m: and he came to Jeruſalem, and ſtood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD n, and offered up burnt-offerings o, and offered peace-offerings p, and made a feaſt to all his ſervants.

m i. e. He perceived that it was a Dream; not a vain Dream, wherewith Men are commonly deluded; but a Divine Dream, aſſuring him of the thing: which he knew, partly, by a Divine Impreſſion and Inſpiration thereof in his mind after he was awakened: and partly, by the vaſt alteration which he preſently found within himſelf in point of Wiſdom and Knowledge. n Which was there in the City of David, 2 Sam. 6. 17. before which he preſented himſelf in way of Holy Miniſtration and Adoration, which may be noted by the word, ſtood. Or, that word may note his abode there for ſome conſiderable time, as the offering of ſo many Sacrifices required. o Chiefly for the expiation of his and his Peoples Sin, through the Blood of Chriſt, manifeſtly ſignified in theſe Sacrifices. p Solemnly to praiſe God for all his Mercies, and eſpecially for giving him a quiet and fixed poſſeſſion of the Kingdom, and for his glorious Appearance to him in a Dream, and for the great Promiſe therein made to him, and the actual accompliſhment of it ſince wrought in him.

16 ¶ Then came there two women that were harlots q, unto the king r, and ſtood there before him ſ.

q Or, Victuallers: for the Hebrew word ſignifies both. See on Joſh. 2. 1. And poſſibly they might be both, this by their open profeſſion, and the other by their ſecret practice: not that they were common Harlots; for neither would Solomon have tolerated ſuch; nor durſt ſuch have preſented themſelves before ſo wiſe and juſt a Ruler; nor do ſuch uſe either to bring forth Children, or to have ſuch a tender care of, and affection to them as theſe expreſs. Yet that they were unmarried Perſons, and ſo guilty of Fornication, ſeems moſt probable, both becauſe there is no mention of any Huſbands, whoſe office it was, if there were any ſuch, to conteſt for their Wives; and becauſe they lived a ſolitary life in one Houſe. r Haply they had preſented their Cauſe to the Inferior Courts, who could not determine; and therefore now they bring it to the King, as the Supreme Magiſtrate, and famous for his Wiſdom. ſ Deſiring and expecting his Sentence in the Caſe.

17 And the one woman ſaid, O my lord, I and this woman dwell in one houſe, and I was delivered of a child with her in the houſe.

18 And it came to paſs the third day t after that I was delivered, that this woman was delivered alſo: and we were together; there was no ſtranger with us in the houſe u, ſave we two in the houſe.

t So they could not be diſtinguiſhed by their Age. u Therefore no Witneſs on either ſide: and although there might be ſome ſenſible difference to an exact Obſerver between the Features of the two Children; yet it is not probable that was much minded by the Neighbours: for though civil Women might aſſiſt them both in their Child-births, yet it is not likely they would afterwards converſe much with them, as being Perſons of ſuſpected Fame, and the Features of the children, eſpecially for ſo few days, might eaſily be ſo like, that it was difficult to diſcern the one from the other. And the Teſtimonies of the Women were of equal credit, i. e. of none at all.

19 And this womans child died in the night, becauſe ſhe over-laid it x.

x And ſo ſmothered it: which ſhe juſtly conjectures, becauſe there were evidences of that kind of death, but no appearance of any other cauſe thereof.

20 And ſhe aroſe at midnight y, and took my ſon from beſide me z, while thine handmaid ſlept a, and laid it in her boſome, and laid her dead child in my boſome.

y When I was aſleep, as ſhe reaſonably and truly concluded. z Either, becauſe ſhe really deſired the comfort of a Child, to be educated by her, and owned as hers: or, becauſe ſhe would not be thought guilty of the Child's death, for which ſhe knew not how ſeverely Solomon would puniſh her. a As ſhe might well know, becauſe had ſhe been awake, ſhe had diſcovered and prevented her deſign.

21 And when I roſe in the morning to give my child ſuck, behold, it was dead: but when I had conſidered it in the morning, behold, it was not my ſon, which I did bear.

22 And the other woman ſaid, Nay, but the living is my ſon, and the dead is thy ſon: and this ſaid, No; but the dead is thy ſon, and the living is my ſon. Thus they ſpake before the king b.

b Both peremptorily and vehemently affirmed the ſame thing, oft repeating the ſame words.

23 Then ſaid the king, The one ſaith, This is my ſon that liveth, and thy ſon is the dead: and the other ſaith, Nay; but thy ſon is the dead, and my ſon is the living.

24 And the king ſaid, Bring me a ſword: and they brought a ſword before the king.

25 And the king ſaid c, Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other.

c With ſeeming ſincerity and earneſtly, though with a deſign far above the reach of the two Women, or of the People preſent, who probably with admiration and horror expected the execution of it.

26 Then ſpake the woman whoſe the living child was, unto the king, (for * her bowels † yerned upon her ſon) and ſhe ſaid, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it: but the other ſaid, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it. * Hoſ. 11. 8. † Heb. were hot.

27 Then the king anſwered and ſaid, Give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it: ſhe is the mother thereof d.

d As is evident from her Natural and Motherly Affection to the Child, which ſhe had rather have alienated and given away from her, than deſtroyed.

28 And all Iſrael heard of the judgment which the king had judged, and they feared the king: for they ſaw that the wiſdom of God e was † in him to to judgment f. † Heb. in the midſt of him.

e Either, great and eminent Wiſdom, as the Cedars or mountains of God are the higheſt and moſt eminent of the kind: or, Divine Wiſdom, with which God had inſpired him for the better government of his People. f To aſſiſt him in wiſely Examining and juſtly Determining the Cauſes and Controverſies of his People.

CHAP. IV.

Solomon's chief princes, 1,—6. And officers for proviſion, 7,—19. The peace and largeneſs of his kingdom, 20, 21. His daily proviſion for his court, 22,—25. The ſtables for his horſes, 26,—28. His wiſdom, 29,—34.

SO king Solomon was king over all Iſrael a.

a This is ſpoken with reſpect to his Succeſſors, who were Kings only over a part, and that the ſmalleſt part of it. Or, in reference to the times of Diviſion and Rebellion under David; when part went after David, and part after Iſhboſheth; or part after Abſalom, or Sheba, or Adonijah: but now all Iſrael were united under Solomon, and adhered to him, not only a part of them; eſpecially ſince the death of Adonijah and Joab (who may be ſuſpected to have watched an opportunity of revolting,) and the confinement of Abiathar, and of Shimei (if not his death alſo) who could now have little or no Intereſt or Opportunity of ſetting up a Party againſt Solomon (their Principals being taken away, to whom they were but Acceſſaries;) nor, in probability, any Deſign to attempt it.

2 And theſe were the princes which he had b, Azariah the ſon c of Zadok d, || the prieſt e.

b i.e. The chief Rulers or Officers belonging to him. c Or, the Grand-ſon, by comparing this with 1 Chron. 6. 8, 9. d Either Zadok the Prieſt, 1 Chron. 6. 8, 9. or ſome other of that name. e So he was the ſecond Prieſt, or the Prieſt that attended upon Solomon's Perſon in Holy Offices and Adminiſtrations. But when this Sacred Writer profeſſeth to give an account of Solomon's Princes, why ſhould he put the ſecond Prieſt, or Solomon's Domeſtick Prieſt, in the firſt place? Or, why ſhould he be mentioned diſtinctly from his Father, who was generally preſent with Solomon, and could eaſily, either by himſelf, or ſome other fit Perſon or Perſons appointed by him, manage all the King's Sacred Concerns? Or, why is he named before his Father? Others therefore render this Hebrew word, Prince, as it is uſed, Gen. 41. 45. and 47. 22, 26. Exod. 2. 16. 2 Sam. 8. 18. So he was either the chief in Dignity, the firſt Prince, and the higheſt Officer in the State next to the King: or the chief Miniſter of State, by whom the great Affairs of State were managed and prepared for the King's Conſideration, &c.

3 Elihoreph, and Ahiah the ſons of Shiſha, || ſcribes f: Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Ahilud the || recorder g.

f i.e. Secretaries of State. He choſe two, whereas David had but one: either, becauſe he obſerved ſome inconveniencies in truſting all thoſe matters in one hand: or, becauſe he had now much more employment than David had, this being a time of great Peace and Proſperity, and his Empire enlarged, and his Correſpondencies with Foreign Princes more frequent. g Of which ſee on 2 Sam 8. 16.

4 And Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, was over the hoſt: and Zadok and Abiathar were the prieſts h.

h i.e. The High-Prieſts, to wit, ſucceſſively, firſt Abiathar, and then Zadok. Queſt. Why is Abiathar named when he was depoſed? Anſ. Firſt, Becauſe it is ordinary for Perſons to retain the Names and Titles of thoſe Places which in reallity they have loſt. Secondly, Becauſe though he was depoſed from the High-Prieſthood, yet he was a Prieſt, and the Chief of one of the Prieſtly Families: and as Zadok was jointly named with Abiathar when Abiathar alone was the High-Prieſt, as 2 Sam. 8. 17. and 20. 25. ſo now Zadok and Abiathar are joined, although the High-Prieſthood was reſted in Zadok alone. Thirdly, Poſſibly Abiathar, though he was depoſed from the Supreme Prieſthood, yet upon his ſerious Repentance, and by the Interceſſion of his Friends, was reſtored to the execution of the Prieſtly Office, and put into that Place which Zadok enjoyed when Abiathar was High-Prieſt. Fourthly, Some ſay that here is mention made of all Solomon's Chief Officers, both ſuch as now were, and ſuch as had been, and ſuch as were afterwards, as they gather from v. 11. and 15. where two Perſons are named who married two of Solomon's Daughters, which could not be till many Years after this time.

5 And Azariah the ſon of Nathan was over the officers i: and Zabud the ſon of Nathan k was principal officer l, and the kings friend m.

i Or, Overſeers, or Surveyors, to wit, over thoſe twelve Officers named ver. 7, &c. where this Hebrew word is uſed, who were all ſubject, and to give up their Accompts to him. Though the word ſignifies any Governors or Commanders of the higher ſort, as 1 King. 5. 16. 2 Chron. 8. 10. k The Prophet, who had been ſo highly inſtrumental in Solomon's Eſtabliſhment in the Throne. l Poſſibly, Preſident of the King's Council. The Hebrew word is Cohen, which ver. 2. is rendred Prieſt, whence ſome read this place thus: Zabud the ſon of Nathan the Prieſt, or the Miniſter (as the word properly ſignifies, and that Title well enough agrees to a Prophet, or the Prince: for the Prophet Nathan was a Man conſiderable both for his Quality, and for his Honour and Eſteem with the King,) was the kings friend. m Either his ſpecial Favourite, both for his Father's ſake and for his own, having, it ſeems, been brought up with him: or, his Confident, with whom he uſed to communicate his moſt ſecret Counſels.

* Chap. 5. 14.

6 And Abiſhar was over the houſhold n: and * Adoniram the ſon of Abda was over the || tribute o.

n Steward of the King's Houſhold. o To wit, the perſonal Tribute, or the levy of Men, as appears by comparing this with chap. 5. 13, 14. it being very fit that there ſhould be ſome one perſon to whom the chief Conduct or Inſpection of that great buſineſs was committed.

7 ¶ And Solomon had twelve officers over all Iſrael, which provided victuals for the king and his houſhold: each man his month in a year made proviſion.

8 And theſe are their names: || the ſon of Hur p in mount Ephraim. || Or, Ben-hur.

p This and others of them are denominated from their Fathers, becauſe they were known and famous in their Generation.

9 || The ſon of Dekar in Makaz, and in Shaalbim, and Bethſhemeſh, and Elon-Beth-hanan q. || Or, Ben-dekar.

q Or, Elon, the houſe or dwelling-place of Hanan; and Hanan may be a Mans name, and this Place may be ſo differenced from other Elons. Or, the plain (for ſo the Hebrew word ſignifies) of Beth-hanan.

10 || The ſon of Heſed in Aruboth, to him pertained Sochoh r, and all the land of Hepher ſ. || Or, Ben-heſed.

r There were two Sochohs, but both near together. See Joſh. 15. 35, 48. ſ In Judah. See 1 Chron. 4. 6.

11 || The ſon of Abinadab in all the region of Dor s, which had Taphath the daughter of Solomon to wife. || Or, Ben-abinadab.

s In Manaſſeh with Jordan, where alſo were Taanach, Megiddo, and Bethſhean, v. 12.

12 Baana the ſon of Ahilud, to him pertained Taanach, and Megiddo, and all Beth-ſhean, which is by Zartanah beneath Jezreel t, from Beth-ſhean to Abel-Meholah, even unto the place that is beyond Jockneam.

t Which was in Iſſachar. And this ſeems added to diſtinguiſh it from that Zartanah, Joſh. 3. 16.

13 || The ſon of Geber in Ramoth-Gilead u, to him pertained the towns of Jair x the ſon of Manaſſeh, which are in Gilead: to him alſo pertained the region of Argob, which is in Baſhan, threeſcore great cities with walls and brazen bars y. || Or, Ben-geber.

u Ramoth in the Land of Gilead, Deut. 4. 43. Joſh. 20. 8. 1 King. 22. 3. ſo called to difference it from Ramoth in Iſſachar, 1 Chron. 6. 73. x In Manaſſeh beyond Jordan. See Numb. 32. 41. Deut. 3. 14. y This is added by way of diſtinction from thoſe Town of Jair. For being without Jordan, they were liable to the attempts of their Enemies.

z The City and Territory of Mahanaim: of which ſee Gen. 32. 2. Joſh. 13. 26. But this ſeems too narrow a compaſs for one of theſe great Officers, and unequal to the reſt: although theſe portions ſeem not to be diſtributed into equal portions of Land, but into larger or leſſer parts, according to their fertillity or barrenneſs. And this ſeems to have been a very fruitful place. See 2 Sam. 17. 27. Or, to Mahanaim. So he may underſtand all the ſpace from the parts laſt mentioned to Mahanaim, which was in the Tribe of Gad.

15 Ahimaaz was in Napthali: he alſo took Baſmath the daughter of Solomon to wife.

16 Baanah the ſon of Huſhai was in Aſher, and in Aloth.

17 Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Paruah in Iſſachar.

18 Shimei the ſon of Elah a, in Benjamin.

a Which he adds to diſtinguiſh him from that curſed and curſing Shimei, 2 Sam. 16. 5.

19 Geber the ſon of Uri was in the country of Gilead b, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Baſhan: and he was the only officer which was in the land c.

b i.e. In the remaining part of that Land of Gilead, which was mentioned above, v. 19. c Or rather, in that land, for the Hebrew points intimate that the emphatical Article is there underſtood, to wit, in all Gilead, excepting the parcels mentioned before, in all the Territories of Sihon and Og; which becauſe they were of large extent, and yet all committed to this one Man, it is here noted concerning him as his priviledge above the reſt, whoſe Juriſdictions were of a narrower extent.

20 ¶ Judah and Iſrael were many, as the ſand which is by the ſea in multitude, eating and drinking, and making merry.

21 And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms, from the river d unto the land of the Philiſtines e, and unto the border of Egypt f: they brought preſents, and ſerved Solomon g all the days of his life.

d Euphrates: for ſo far David, having conquered the Syrians, extended his Empire, which Solomon alſo maintained in that extent. And ſo God's Promiſe concerning the giving of the whole Land, as far as Euphrates, to the Iſraelites, was fulfilled. And, if the Iſraelites had multiplied ſo much that the Land of Canaan would not ſuffice them, having God's Grant of all the Land as far as Euphrates, they might have ſeized upon it whenſoever occaſion required. e Which is to be underſtood incluſively; for it is unreaſonable to think that the Philiſtines were not within Solomon's Dominion f Unto the River Sihor, which was the border between Egypt and Canaan, Joſh. 13. 3. Compare Gen. 15. 18. g By Tribute, or other ways, as he needed and required.

22 ¶ And Solomons † proviſion for one day was thirty † meaſures h of fine flour, and threeſcore meaſures of meal i, h Heb. Cors: each of which contained ten Ephah's, Exod. 16. 36. So this Proviſion was ſufficient for near three thouſand Perſons. i Of a courſer ſort for common uſe, and for the inferior ſort.

† Heb.

23 Ten fat oxen k, and twenty oxen out of the paſtures l, and an hundred ſheep, beſide harts, and roebucks, and fallow-deer, and fatted fowl.

k Fatted in ſtalls. l Well fleſhed, tender and good, though not ſo fat as the former.

24 For he had dominion over all the region on this ſide the river, from Tiphſah m even to Azzah, over all the kings on this ſide the river n: and he had peace on all ſides round about him.

m Either that Tiphſah, 2 King. 15. 16. which was in the Kingdom of Iſrael within Jordan; or, rather, another place of that name upon the River now mentioned, to wit, Euphrates, even that eminent City which is mentioned by Ptolemy, and Strabo, and Pliny, called Thapſarum. And this beſt agrees with the following Azzah, which was the border of Canaan in the South and Weſt, Gen. 10. 19. Deut. 2. 23. as Tiphſah was in the North and Eaſt. And ſo his Dominion is aſcribed by both its borders. n Who owned ſubjection, and payed Tribute to him.

† Heb. confidently 25 And Judah and Iſrael dwelt † ſafely, * every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree o, from Dan * Mic. 4. 4. even to Beerſheba, all the days of Solomon.

o Enjoying the Fruit of his own Labours with ſafety and comfort. Under theſe two Trees, which were moſt uſed and cultivated by the Iſraelites, he underſtands all other Fruit-bearing Trees, and all other comforts, by a Synecdoche. And they are brought in as ſitting or dwelling under theſe Trees, partly for Recreation or Delight in the Shade; and partly, for the Comfort or Advantage of the Fruit; and withal, to note their great ſecurity, not only in their ſtrong Cities, but even in the Country, where the Vines and Fig-trees grew, which were moſt open to the incurſions of their Enemies.

* 2 Chron. 26 ¶ And * Solomon had forty thouſand ſtalls of 9. 25. horſes p for his charets q, and twelve thouſand horſemen r.

p In 2 Chron. 9. 25. it is but four thouſand. Anſ Firſt, Some acknowledge an error of the Tranſcriber, writing arbahim, forty, for arbah, four, which was an eaſie miſtake. And ſuch miſtakes in ſome Copies, in theſe leſſer matters, God might permit, for the trial and exerciſe of our Faith, without any prejudice to the Authority of the Sacred Scriptures in the great Doctrines of Faith and good life. Secondly, It is not exactly the ſame Hebrew word which is here and there, though we tranſlate both ſtalls; and therefore there may well be allowed ſome difference in the ſignification, the one ſignifying properly ſtables, of which there were 4000, the other ſtalls or partitions for each Horſe, which were 40000. Which great number ſeems directly forbidden, Deut. 17. 16. except Solomon had ſome particular diſpenſation from God, which might be, though it be not recorded. q Both for his Military Charets, which ſeem to be thoſe 1400, 1 King. 10. 26. and for divers other uſes, as about his great and various Buildings, and Merchandiſes, and other occaſions, which might require ſome thouſands of other Charets. r Appointed partly for the defence and preſervation of his People in peace; and partly, for attendance upon his Perſon, and for the Splendor of his Government. Compare chap. 10. 26. But the words may be otherwiſe rendred, and 12000 horſes, for Paraſh manifeſtly ſignifies both an horſe and horſemen. And theſe might be a better ſort of Horſes than moſt of thoſe which were deſigned for the Charets. Or thus, and for (which Particle is eaſily underſtood and borrowed from the foregoing clauſe) 12000 horſemen: and ſo he means that the 40000 Horſes were in part appointed for his Charets, and in part for his 12000 Horſemen.

27 And thoſe officers ſ provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomons table, every man in his month: they lacked nothing s.

ſ Named above, v. 7, &c. s Or rather, they ſuffered nothing to be lacking to any man that came thither, but plentifully provided all things neceſſary.

‖ Or, mules, 28 Barley alſo and ſtraw for the horſes, and ‖ droor, ſwift medaries t, brought they unto the place where the of- beaſts, ficers were, every man according to his charge.

t Or, Mules, by comparing this with 2 Chron. 9. 24. or, Poſt-Horſes: which are particularly mentioned and diſtinguiſhed from the other Horſes, becauſe they took a more exact and particular care about them. Howſoever, it is agreed that theſe were ſwift Beaſts, which is evident from Eſth. 8. 10, 14. Mich. 1. 13.

29 ¶ And God gave Solomon wiſdom, and underſtanding, exceeding much, and largeneſs of heart u, even as the ſand that is on the ſea ſhore x.

u i. e. Either, Firſt, Magnanimity, or generoſity and greatneſs of ſpirit, whereby he was diſpoſed and emboldened to undertake great things. But this ſeems not ſo well to ſuit with the following reſemblance. Or rather, Secondly, Vaſtneſs of underſtanding, a moſt comprehenſive knowledge of all things both Divine and Humane: for this Wiſdom is the thing for which he is here commended, both in the foregoing and following words. x Which cannot be numbred or meaſured; and which, though it be ſo vaſt and comprehenſive, yet conſiſts of the ſmalleſt parts, and ſo it may note that Solomon's Wiſdom was both vaſt, reaching to all thing; and moſt accurate, ſearching and diſcerning every ſmall thing.

30 And Solomons wiſdom excelled the wiſdom of all the children of the eaſt country y, and all the wiſdom of Egypt z.

y The Chaldeans, Perſians, and Arabians, who all lay Eaſtward from Canaan, and who were famous in ancient times for their Wiſdom and Learning, as appears both from Sacred and Prophane Writers. z i. e. The Egyptians, whoſe Fame was then great for their Skill in the Arts and Sciences, which made them deſpiſe the Grecians as Children in knowledge. See Act. 7. 22.

31 For he was wiſer than all men a: than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman b, and Chalcol, and Darda c the ſons of Mahol d: and his fame was in all nations round about.

a Either of his Nation: or, of his time: or, of all Times and Nations, whether of the Eaſt or any other Country, excepting only the firſt and ſecond Adam. b Iſraelites of eminent Wiſdom, probably the ſame mentioned, 1 Chron. 2. 6. and 15. 19. and 25. 4. Pſal. 88. title, and 89. title. c Of whom ſee 1 Chron. 2. 6. d Obj. All theſe four were the Sons of Zerah, 1 Chron. 2. 6. or of Ezrah, as others call him. Anſ. Either, the ſame Man had two names, Zerah and Mahol, which was common amongſt the Jews; and he might be called Mahol from his Office or Employment; for that ſignifies a Dance, or a Pipe; and he was expert in Muſical Inſtruments, and ſo were his Sons, 1 Chron. 15. 17, 18, 19. who poſſibly may here be called by a vulgar Ebraiſme, Sons of the Muſical Inſtrument, from their dexterity in handling it, as upon another account we read of the daughters of muſick, Eccleſ. 12. 4.

32 And he ſpake three thouſand proverbs e: and his ſongs were a thouſand and five f.

e i. e. Short, and deep, and uſeful Sentences, whereof a great and the beſt part are contained in the Books of Proverbs and Eccleſiaſtes. f Whereof the chief and moſt Divine are in the Canticles.

33 And he ſpake of trees g, from the cedar-tree that is in Lebanon, even unto the hyſſop that ſpringeth out of the wall h: he ſpake alſo of beaſts, and of fowl, and of creeping things, and of fiſhes.

g i. e. Of all Plants, of their nature and qualities: all which Diſcourſes are loſt, without any impeachment of the Perfection of the Holy Scriptures; which were not inſpired and written to teach Men Philoſophy or Phyſick, but only to make Men wiſe to Salvation. See Joh. 20. 31. 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17. h i. e. From the greateſt to the leaſt.

34 And there came of all people to hear the wiſdom of Solomon, from all i kings of the earth, which had heard of his wiſdom.

i To wit, from all the neighbouring Kings; univerſal Particles being frequently underſtood in a reſtrained ſenſe; and ſuch reſtriction is grounded upon the following words, where this is limited to ſuch as heard of Solomon's Wiſdom.

CHAP. V.

Hiram ſendeth to congratulate Solomon: who deſireth of Hiram timber to build the temple, 1,—6. Hiram bleſſeth God for Solomon: and, for food for his family, ſendeth him trees, 7,—12 The number of labourers and workmen employed about the temple, 13,—18 a To wit, as ſoon as he heard of his Succeſſion in the Throne, as the following words ſhew, he ſent to congratulate with him, as the manner of Princes is.

2 And * Solomon ſent to Hiram, ſaying, * 2 Chron.

b By common Fame, and by particular Information. c i. e. Either, Firſt, For the Worſhip and Service of God, 1 King 3. 2. Or, Secondly, For the Lord himſelf, as that Phraſe is uſed Deut. 28. 58. Pſal. 20. 1. and 52. 9. d Which diverted his Cares and Thoughts to other things, and withal occaſioned God's denial of the honour of that work to him. e i. e. Made them ſubject to him, that he might trample upon them at his pleaſure. Compare Pſal. 8. 6. 1 Cor. 15. 27.

4 But now the LORD my God hath given me reſt on every ſide, ſo that there is neither adverſary, nor evil occurrent.

5 And behold, I † purpoſe to build an houſe unto † Heb. ſay.

an houſe unto my name. and 17. 12.

6 Now therefore command thou, that they f hew us any that can skill to hew timber, like unto the Si-

f i. e. Thy Servants, as appears both from the foregoing words, command, &c. and from the following oppoſition of my ſervants. And this aſſiſtance which theſe Gentiles gave to the building of Solomon's Temple, was a Type of the calling of the Gentiles, and that they ſhould be very inſtrumental in the building and conſtituting of Chriſt's Spiritual Temple, to wit, his Church. g Which for their ſoundneſs, and ſtrength, and fragrancy, and durableneſs, were moſt excellent and proper for his deſign. Of theſe David had procured ſome, but not a ſufficient number. h Which was either wholly or in part in Solomon's Juriſdiction: and therefore he doth not deſire that Hiram would give him the Cedars, becauſe they were his own already; but only that his Servants might hew them for him; which required Art and Skill, in the time and manner of doing of it; all which the ingenious Tyrians well underſtood. i Either to be employed therein as they ſhall direct; or to receive the Cedars, being cut down and hewed, from their hands, and to tranſmit them to me; although Hiram in his return eaſed him of that trouble. k i.e. Pay them for their Labour and Art. l Or Tyrians: for theſe Places and People being near, and ſubject to Hiram, are promiſcuouſly uſed one for another.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoyced greatly m, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD n this day, which hath given unto David a wiſe ſon over this great people.

m Being an ingenuous Prince, a lover of Excellency, and a faithful Friend to David and to his Houſe. n For though it be not probable that he was a ſincere Proſelite, becauſe he did not endeavour the inſtruction of his People, and the extirpation of their groſs Idolatry, which by God's bleſſing and Solomon's help he might eaſily have effected; yet he had ſufficient information concerning the Nature and Excellency of the God of Iſrael, and had honourable thoughts of him, as alſo divers other Heathens had, 1 Sam. 4. 8. Dan. 6. 16. 2 Macc. 3. 3.

8 And Hiram ſent o to Solomon, ſaying, I have † conſidered the things which thou ſenteſt to me for: and I will do all thy deſire concerning timber of cedar, and concerning timber of fir p.

o A Letter, 2 Chron. 2. 11. p Which formerly was, and ſtill is very uſeful in moſt buildings. Others render the Hebrew word, pitch-trees, or aſh-trees, or pine-trees. To others, it was a particular ſort of Cedars, and therefore comes under the general name of Cedars, in Solomon's meſſage before related.

9 My ſervants ſhall bring them down from Lebanon unto the ſea q: and I will convey them by ſea in || floats r unto the place that thou ſhalt † appoint me ſ, and will cauſe them to be diſcharged t there, and thou ſhalt receive them: and thou ſhalt accompliſh my deſire, in giving food for my houſhold u.

q The Mid-land Sea. r Or, Ships, or Rafts. It is thought the Timbers were tied together in the Water, as now it is uſual, and ſo by the help of Boats or Ships, conveyed to the appointed place, which was at no great diſtance. ſ Which was Joppe, 2 Chron. 2. 16. a Town upon the Sea, Joſh. 19. 46. Act. 9. 43. t Heb. diſperſed, or diſſolved: which implies that they were tied together. u Or, i.e. Either, Firſt, My Kingdom or People: for the word houſe or family is ſometimes uſed for a Nation or People, as Judg. 13. 2. and 18. 11. Zech. 12. 13. and 14. 18. The reaſon of this deſire is, becauſe the Country belonging to Tyre and Sidon, was very barren, and the People there being very numerous, depended upon Solomon's Country for relief, as is manifeſt from Acts 12. 20. Compare Ezra 3. 7. Ezek. 27. 17. And this Relief or Proviſions, Hiram doth not deſire to be freely given to him, but to be ſold to him and his People at a reaſonable rate, as Joſephus reports it. Or, Secondly, My ſervants employed in the work, as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 2. 16. Though divers, both Jewiſh and Chriſtian Interpreters, conceive that this and that are differing accounts; and that here he ſpeaks of the recompence which was given to Hiram himſelf, and to his Houſe, for the materials which were taken out of his Territories; and in 2 Chron. 2. of what was given to his Servants for their Labour. Or, Thirdly, My Royal Family and Court, which moſt properly is called his houſe.

10 So Hiram gave Solomon cedar-trees, and fir-trees, according to all his deſire.

11 And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thouſand † meaſures of wheat, for food to his houſhold, and twenty meaſures of pure oil x: thus gave Solomon to Hiram year by year y.

x Heb. Twenty Cors of pure oil; but in 2 Chron. 2. 10. it is twenty thouſand baths of oil. To which is there added 20000 meaſures of barley, and 20000 baths of wine. Either therefore, Firſt, He ſpeaks of ſeveral things, as was now ſaid on v. 9. Or, Secondly, He ſpeaks there of what Solomon offered: for it runs thus, I will give; and here of what Hiram accepted; and accordingly Solomon gave, for it is here ſaid, Solomon gave Hiram. Or, Thirdly, The Barley, and Wine, and 20000 baths of common oil, mentioned 2 Chron. 2. muſt be added to the 20000 meaſures of wheat, and the twenty meaſures of pure oil here expreſſed, and the whole ſumm is to be made up from both places; that Book of Chronicles being written to ſupply and compleat the Hiſtories of the Books of Samuel, and of the Kings. y Either, Firſt, For ſuſtenance to the Workmen, during the Years wherein they were employed in the cutting down and hewing of the Timber. Or, Secondly, For the yearly ſupport of the King's Houſe, during the ſaid time. And theſe words being left out in 2 Chron. 2. may ſeem to favour their Opinion, that theſe places ſpeak of divers Paſſages, and ſeveral Recompences, the one given to the King's Houſe, the other to the Labourers, although the Argument is not cogent; and this might be omitted there, either becauſe it was ſufficiently implied in the nature of the thing, or becauſe it had been plainly expreſſed here.

* Chap. 3. 12.
* Judg. 4. 17.

12 And the LORD gave Solomon wiſdom z, * as he promiſed him, and there was * peace between Hiram and Solomon, and they two made a league together.

z i.e He increaſed in Wiſdom more and more: which is here mentioned, becauſe he ſhewed his Wiſdom in all his Tranſactions with Hiram.

13 ¶ And king Solomon raiſed a † levy out of all Iſrael, and the levy was thirty thouſand men a.

a Which were to be employed in the moſt honourable and eaſie parts of the Work relating to the Temple; in manner expreſſed, ver. 14. And theſe were Iſraelites; but thoſe 150000 mentioned ver. 15. were Strangers, by comparing this with chap. 9. 21, 22. If it ſeem ſtrange to any Man, that ſo many Thouſands ſhould be employed about ſo ſmall a Building as the Temple was; it muſt be conſidered, 1. That the Temple, all its parts being conſidered, was far larger than Men imagine; of which, more hereafter. 2. That it is probable, that they were employed by turns, as the 30000 were, ver. 14. elſe they had been oppreſſed with hard and uninterrupted Labours. 3. That the Timber and Stone hewed and carried by them, was deſigned, not only (though principally) for the Temple, but alſo for Solomon's own Houſes, and Buildings; becauſe we read of no other Levy of Men, nor of any great care and pains taken after the Building of the Temple, for the procurement, or preparation of Materials for his own Houſes, or his other Buildings; which implies, That that Work was done before; nay, that this very Levy of Men was made and employed for the building of the Lords houſe, and Solomons houſe, and Millo, and the wall of Jeruſalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer, is expreſſed 1 King. 9. 15. which may fully ſatisfie that ſcruple.

14 And he ſent them to Lebanon, ten thouſand a month by courſes: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home: and * Adoniram was over the levy.

* Chap. 4. 6.

15 And Solomon had threeſcore and ten thouſand that bare burdens, and fourſcore thouſand hewers b in the mountains:

b Either of Timber, or rather of Stones: for Hiram had taken care for the Timber.

16 Beſides the chief of Solomons officers which were over the work, three thouſand and three hundred c, which ruled over the people that wrought in the work.

c Whereof 3000 were ſet over the 150000, expreſſed ver. 15. each of theſe over 50 of them, and the odd 300 were ſet over theſe 3000, each of theſe to have the overſight of ten of them, to take an account of the Work from them. But in 2 Chron. 2. 18. theſe Overſeers are ſaid to be 3600. Anſ. The 300 added in 2 Chron. 2. might be a reſerve, to ſupply the places of the other 3000: yea, or of the 3300, as any of them ſhould be taken off from the work by Death, or Sickneſs, or Weakneſs, or neceſſary occaſions; which was a prudent Proviſion, and not unuſual in ſuch like caſes. And ſo there were 3600 commiſſioned for the work, but only 3300 employed at one time; and therefore both Computations may fairly ſtand together. Some learned Men add, That thoſe 3600 were Strangers, which indeed is manifeſt from 2 Chron. 2. 17. And that thoſe 3300 were a diſtinct number of Men, and Iſraelites, which were ſet over all the reſt, both Strangers and Iſraelites; who therefore are here called, the chief of Solomons officers, and are ſaid to rule over the workmen: whereas, all that is ſaid of thoſe 3600 2 Chron. 2. 18. is, that they were overſeers to ſet the people a work. Which may deſerve further Conſideration. Others ſay, That the 300 added in 2 Chron. were overſeers of the Tyrian Workmen in Mount Lebanon, and the reſt in all other places; or that they were ſet over ſome particular and more curious and conſiderable parts of the work.

d Marble and Porphiry, or other Stones of great ſize and value. e Where they could not afterward be ſeen: and therefore that this was done, is mentioned only as a point of Magnificence, except it was intended for a Type, or Myſtical ſignification of the Precioufneſs of Chriſt, who is the foundation of the true Temple, the Church of God; as he is called, Iſa. 28. 16. 1 Cor. 3. 11.

18 And Solomons builders, and Hirams builders did hew them, and the || ſtone-ſquarers f: ſo they prepared timber and ſtones to build the houſe.

|| Or, Giblites, as Ezek. 27. 9.

f Heb. the Giblites, the Inhabitants of Gebel, a place near Zidon, named Pſalm 83. 7. Ezek. 27. 9. famous for Artificers and Architects, Joſh. 13. 5. Theſe are here mentioned apart, as diſtinct from the reſt of Hiram's Builders, as the moſt Eminent of them.

* 2 Chron. 3. 1.

AND * it came to paſs in the four hundred and fourſcore year after the children of Iſrael were come out of the land of Egypt a, in the fourth year of Solomons reign b over Iſrael, in the month Zif, which is the ſecond month, that he † began to build c the houſe of the LORD.

a This Chronological difficulty, is too vaſt and comprehenſive to be fully diſcuſſed here, or to be determined by Unlearned Readers, and for the Learned, I refer them to what is largely digeſted in my Latin Synopſis upon this place. It may ſuffice at preſent to ſuggeſt theſe Particulars, 1. That Iſraels coming out of Egypt is variouſly underſtood in Scripture, and with ſome latitude, ſo as not only to note the time when firſt they came out of Egypt, but the time of their being in, or coming out of the Wilderneſs; as is manifeſt from Deut. 4. 45. where the words in the Hebrew are not after, &c. as we tranſlate it, but in their coming forth out of Egypt: And Pſalm 114. 1, 2, 3. When Iſrael came forth, &c. Heb. in their coming forth, &c. And it is not impoſſible it may be ſo underſtood here; after they were come out, &c. to wit, compleatly; i. e. towards the end of their Expedition out of Egypt into Canaan. Nor doth the difference between the Hebrew Prepoſitions, Lamed and Beth, which a learned Man objects, hinder this ſence; for as Beth ſignifies, (as he ſaith) after; ſo alſo doth Lamed, Gen. 7. 4. 10. Numb. 33. 38. 2. That whereas the times of the Judges do chiefly cauſe this difficulty, there are many things which will relieve us therein; as, 1. That divers of the years there mentioned belong to one and the ſame time, as is evident from Jair's 22 years, within which fell out, as divers learned Chronologers agree, the 18 years of the Oppreſſion of the Ammonites, and ſeveral years of the Philiſtine Tyranny, who oppreſſed Iſrael in the Weſt, whilſt the Ammonites vexed them in the Eaſt: and the like might be obſerved in other caſes. 2. That the years of Reſt are not neceſſarily to be underſtood of ſo many diſtinct years, beſides thoſe of War, and Servitude; and thoſe words which are generally rendred, the land had reſt forty, or eighty years, or the like; may be thus rendred, and that very agreeable to the Hebrew, The land had reſt, or began to reſt, or recovered its reſt, in the fortieth, or in the eightieth (the Cardinal Numbers being frequently put for the Ordinal, eſpecially where the Number exceeds Ten) year, to be computed from ſome remarkable time; and ſo that Phraſe doth not note how long time, or till what time the Reſt continued, but at what time it began. As for inſtance, in Judg. 3. 11. the land had reſt, not forty years, as it is in our Tranſlation, but in the fortieth year; to wit, from, and after their firſt Reſt in, or quiet Poſſeſſion of, the Land of Canaan, which Joſhua gave them; which time may very probably be made up of the days of Joſhua, after he had ſettled them in a ſtate of Reſt; and of the elders that out-lived him; Judg. 2. 7. and the time of their Corruption after the death of thoſe Elders; and the eight years of Servitude under the King of Meſopotamia. So Judg. 3. 30. The land had reſt in the eightieth year; to wit, from, and after that Reſt which Othoniel obtained for them, ver. 11. And Judg. 5. 31. It reſted in the fortieth year; to wit, after that Reſt got by Ehud, Judg. 3. 30. and Judg. 8. 28. It reſted in the fortieth year; to wit, from the laſt Reſt got by Deborah. And thus the computation of Years is more plain and certain, being thus made from Reſt to reſt, than theirs that proceed the other way. And this is the more conſiderable, becauſe it was the Opinion of that famouſly Learned and Pious Biſhop of Armagh. All which conſidered, it will be very eaſie to contain all the parts and paſſages of Sacred Story, from the coming out of Egypt, to this time, within the compaſs of 480 Years: of the ſeveral parcels whereof, ſee my Latin Synopſis. And as for other Scriptures, which ſome conceit to be contradictory to this, I ſhall by God's help Vindicate them in their ſeveral places. b His three firſt Years being ſpent, partly, in ſettling the Affairs of his Kingdom; without which, neither Civil nor Eccleſiaſtical Concerns could have any Conſiſtency; and partly, in making neceſſary Preparations for the Work. c For ſo it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 3. 1. And ſo it is explained here below, ver. 37. The foundation of the houſe was laid: though in the Hebrew it be only, he built. Thus active words are oft underſtood of the beginning of the Action, as Gen. 5. 32. and 11. 26.

2 And the houſe d which king Solomon built for the LORD, the length thereof e was threeſcore cubits f, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits, and the height thereof g thirty cubits.

d Properly ſo called, as diſtinct from all the Walls and Buildings which were adjoyning to it; to wit, the holy, and moſt holy Place. e From Eaſt, and to Weſt. And this, and the other Meaſures may ſeem to belong to the inſide from Wall to Wall. f Cubits of the Sanctuary; of which, ſee on Gen. 6. 15. g To wit, of the Houſe: for the Porch was 120 Cubits high, 2 Chron. 3. 4. So that all the meaſures compared each with other, were harmonious. For 60 to 20. (the length to the breadth) is triple: or as 3 to 1: And 60 to 30 (the length to the height) is double, or as 2 to 1: And 30 to 20 (the heighth to the breadth) is Seſquialter, or one and a half, as 3 to 2. Which are the Proportions anſwering to the Three great Concords in Muſick, commonly called, a Twelfth, an Eighth, and a Fifth. Which therefore muſt needs be a graceful Proportion to the Eye, as that in Muſick is graceful to the Ear.

3 And the porch before the temple of the houſe h, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the houſe; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the houſe.

h In the Front of, or Entrance into the houſe, 2 Chron. 3. 4. Being a Periſtilium or Portico, a VValk or Gallery, at one end of the Building (from ſide to ſide.) And the meaſures of this were Harmonious alſo. For 20 to 10 (the length of the Portico to the breadth of it) is double, or as 2 to 1. And, if the height within, be the ſame with that of the Houſe, that is 30; it will be to the length ôf it, as 3 to 2; and to its breadth, as 3 to 1. Or, if we take in the whole height mentioned 2 Chron. 3. 4. which is 120; there is in this no diſproportion (being to its length as 6 to 1; and to its breadth as 12 to 1; eſpecially when this height was conveniently divided into ſeveral Galleries, one over another, each of which had their due Proportions.

4 And for the houſe, he made || windows of narrow lights i.

i Narrow outward, to prevent the inconveniencies of the VVeather; widening by degrees inward, that ſo the Houſe might better receive, and more diſperſe the Light. Or, for proſpect; i. e to give Light; yet ſhut; i. e. ſo far cloſed as to keep out VVeather, and let in Light.

5 ¶ And || againſt the wall k of the houſe he built † chambers l round about, againſt the walls of the houſe round about m, both of the temple, and of the oracle: and he made † chambers n round about.

k Or, upon it; or joyning to it: for the Beams of the Chambers were not faſtned into the VVall, but leaned upon the Buttreſſes of the VVall. l For the laying the Prieſts Garments, and other Utenſils belonging to the Temple, or to the Worſhip of God, therein; ſee 2 Kings 11. 2. 1 Chron. 28. 12. Ezek. 42. 13, 14. m Not ſimply, for there were none on the Eaſt-ſide; and it may ſeem, that there were ſome ſpaces left for the Windows, which being narrow outwardly, little ſpaces would ſuffice; but in a manner, i. e. on all the ſides except the Eaſt, where the Porch was; and except ſome very ſmall paſſages for the Light. And yet theſe Lights might be in the Five uppermoſt Cubits of the Wall, which were above all theſe Chambers, for theſe were only 15 Cubits high, and the Wall was 20 Cubits high. n Heb Ribs; i. e. Either, other Chambers above, and beſides the former: or rather, long Galleries which encompaſſed all the Chambers, as the Ribs do Mans Body; and which were neceſſary for paſſage to all the ſeveral Chambers.

6 The nethermoſt chamber was five cubits broad o, and the middle was ſix cubits broad, and the third was ſeven cubits broad: for without in the wall of the houſe he made † narrowed reſts p round about, that the beams ſhould not be faſtned in the walls of the houſe q.

o To wit, on the inſide, and beſides the Galleries mentioned above. p Or, narrowings: as in our Buildings the Walls of an Houſe are thicker, or broader at the bottom, and narrower towards the top: only theſe Narrowings were in the outſide of the VVall, which at each of the Three Stories was a Cubit narrower than that beneath it. And this is mentioned, as the reaſon of the differing breadth of the Chambers; becauſe the VVall being narrower, allowed more ſpace for the upper Chambers. q That there might be no holes made in the VVall for the faſtening of them; and that the Chambers might be removed, if occaſion were, without any inconvenience to the Houſe.

7 And the houſe, when it was in building, was built of ſtone, made ready r before it was brought thither: ſo that there was neither hammer, nor ax, nor any tool of iron heard in the houſe, while it was in building s.

r Hewed, and ſquared, and fitted exactly according to the direction of the Architect. s So it was ordered, partly for the eaſe and conveniency of Carriage: partly, for the Magnificence of the VVork, and Commendation of the VVorkmens skill and diligence: and partly, for Myſtical ſignification. And as this Temple was a manifeſt Type both of Chriſt's Church upon Earth, and of the Heavenly Jeruſalem: ſo this Circumſtance ſignified as to the former, That it is the duty of the Builders and Members of the Church, as far as in them lies, to take care that all things be tranſacted there with perfect peace and quietneſs; and that no noiſe of Contention, or Diviſion, or Violence, be heard in that Sacred Building: and for the latter, that no Spiritual Stone, no Perſon, ſhall bear a part in that Heavenly Temple, unleſs he be firſt hewed, and ſquared, and made meet for it in this Life.

8 The door for the middle chamber t was in the right † ſide u of the houſe: and they went up with winding ſtairs x into the middle chamber y, and out of the middle into the third.

t i. e. By which they entred to go up to the middle Chamber or Chambers; to wit, ſuch as were in the middle Story. u i. e. In the South-ſide, called the right-ſide here, and in the Hebrew Text, Pſalm 89. 12. and in other Authors; becauſe when a Man looks towards the Eaſt, or Sun-riſing, which is eſteemed the moſt Glorious part of the Heavens, and to which Men moſt frequently look for divers reaſons; the South is on his right-hand. VVhereby it is implied, That there was another Door on the left, or the North-ſide, leading to the Chambers on that ſide; though for brevity ſake it be not mentioned here. x VVhich were either, 1. VVithin the thickneſs of the Temple-wall, as many think, which is not probable, as tending to the great weakning of the VVall; eſpecially in the upper parts, where the VVall was much narrower. And if ſuch care was taken to preſerve the VValls intire and unbroken, that there might not be ſmall holes made into it for the faſtning of the Beams of the Chambers, ver. 6. it ſeems very abſurd and incredible, that there ſhould be made ſuch great Breaches within them, as the Stairs would require. Or rather, 2. VVithout the VVall, and without the Chambers too, as leading up to the Gallery out of which they went into the ſeveral Chambers. y Or rather, into the middle Story, or row of Chambers; and ſo in the following words, out of the middle Story: for theſe Stairs could not lead up into each of the Chambers; nor was it needful, or convenient it ſhould do ſo, but only into the Story, which was ſufficient for the uſe of all the Chambers.

9 So he built the houſe, and finiſhed it z; and covered the houſe || with beams and boards of cedar a.

z To wit, the Bulk, and the Body of the Houſe. a Or, the houſe, i. e the top of the Houſe: for the like is ſaid of the ſides, and bottom, ver. 15. even the beams and boards; (or, the vault-beams, and the cielings; the arched Beams and Boards wherewith the top of the Houſe was covered, which was made of other VVood, which was more pliable than Cedar, and would better endure bowing and bending) with Cedars.

b Which Interpreters underſtand of thoſe Chambers deſcribed ver. 5, 6. But why ſhould that be repeated again, and that ſo darkly and confuſedly, after he had particularly and exactly treated of them? (unleſs to give an account of the height of each Chamber, or Story, which before was not done.) And the Hebrew words may be truly and properly rendred thus, He built a roof, (to wit, a flat and plain Roof, called Tatziah, becauſe of the exact reſemblance it hath with the Floor of an Houſe) over all the houſe, according to the manner of all the Iſraelitiſh Buildings, which were flat at the top; of which, ſee Deut. 22. 8. Joſh. 2. 6. 2 Sam. 11. 2. The inner Roof was arched, ver. 9. that it might be more beautiful and glorious to behold; but the outward Roof was flat. c Above the Walls of the Temple; which was neceſſary, that it might be a little higher than the arched Roof, which it was deſigned to cover and ſecure. d Heb. it reſted, to wit, the Roof: for the Hebrew Verb is of the Singular Number. e Which reſted upon the top of the Wall, as the Chambers, v. 5. reſted upon the ſides of the Wall. But all this I ſubmit to the Learned and Judicious.

11 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto Solomon f, ſaying, f Either by ſome Prophet, or rather in a Viſion or Dream, as it did before.

12 Concerning this houſe which thou art in build-
* Chap. 24 & 9. 4. ing g, * if thou wilt walk in my ſtatutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments to walk in them, then will I perform my word with thee,
* 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Chron. 22. 10. * which I ſpake unto David thy father.

g God ſpeaks thus, partly to encourage him to proceed in his Work; and partly, to purge out that Pride and Vain-glory, (which God, the ſearcher of hearts, ſaw either then did, or would ariſe in Solomon's Mind, as being the Author and Builder of ſo glorious a Work:) and that Preſumption and Security which was very likely to grow, and God foreſaw would grow both in Solomon, and in the People; as if God was now in a manner engaged to continue his Preſence with them, and in his own Temple; and that they had now no great reaſon to fear God's departure from them, though they ſhould provoke him. Therefore he expreſſeth the Condition upon which his Promiſe and Favour is ſuſpended; and by aſſuring him thereof in caſe of Obedience, he plainly intimates the contrary, upon his Diſobedience.

* Exod. 25. 8. 13 And I will * dwell among the children of Iſrael, and will not forſake my people Iſrael.

14 So Solomon built the houſe, and finiſhed it.

15 And he built the walls of the houſe within with || Or, from the floor of the houſe, unto the walls, &c. and ſo ver. 16. boards of cedar, || both the floor h of the houſe, and the walls of the cieling i, and he covered them k on the inſide with wood l, and covered the floor of the houſe m with planks of fir.

h Or rather, from the floor, as it is in the Hebrew: for the floor it ſelf was not covered with Cedar, but with fir, as it here follows. i Or rather, as it is in the Hebrew, unto the walls of the cieling, or of the roof; i. e. unto the top of the Wall, which was even with the Roof: for the Roof it ſelf was not of Stone, but Wood. Or, unto the walls of the cieling; i. e. unto the Cieling it ſelf; which performing the office of a Wall, may well be called by that name. For the name of a wall is not appropriated to Stone or Brick, becauſe we read of a brazen wall, Jer. 15. 20. and a wall of iron, Ezek. 4. 3. And that wall into which Saul ſmote his javelin, 1 Sam. 19. 10. ſeems more probably to be underſtood of Wood, than of Stone; eſpecially, conſidering that it was the Room where the King uſed to dine. So by this Periphraſis, from the floor of the houſe, unto the walls of the cieling, he deſigns all the ſide-walls of the houſe. k To wit, the ſide-walls of the Houſe, now mentioned. l i. e. With other kind of VVood, even with Fir; as appears from 2 Chron. 3. 5. wherewith the Floor is here ſaid to be covered. m This is here ſpoken only concerning the Floor, becauſe there was nothing but Planks of Fir; whereas there was both Cedar and Fir in the ſides of the Houſe, the Fir being either put above, or upon the Cedar; or, intermixed with, or put between the Boards or Ribs of Cedar: as may be gathered from the ſaid Parallel place, 2 Chron. 3. 5.

16 And he built twenty cubits on the ſides of the houſe n both the floor and the walls o with boards of cedar: he even built them for it within, even for the n i. e. The moſt holy Place, which contained in the length of the Houſe twenty Cubits, by comparing this with ver. 2. and ver. 17. which may be ſaid to be on the ſides of the houſe, becauſe this part took off 20 Cubits in length from each ſide of the Houſe, and was alſo 20 Cubits from ſide to ſide, ſo it was 20 Cubits every way; or on the ſides, (i. e. on all the ſides, as indeed it was) of the houſe, or of that houſe; to wit, The moſt holy place, as it here follows. Or, from the ſides of the houſe; i. e. from one ſide to the other. And ſo this is meant only of the Partition-VVall, which was between the holy and the moſt holy Place. o Or rather, as ver. 15. from the floor to the wall, or ceiling, or roof. So it is not neceſſary, at leaſt by virtue of theſe words, to underſtand this, as they generally do, That the Floor it ſelf was built with Cedar; but only all the ſides of it from the bottom 20 Cubits upward. If it be ſaid, that the whole Houſe, and conſequently the moſt holy Place, was 30 Cubits high, ver. 2. it may be replied, either, That that is true only of the greater Houſe, or the holy Place, which is called the houſe, ver. 17. and that the leſſer, or that moſt holy Place, was but 20 Cubits high, as divers think; or that the ten cubits at the top, were cevered with ſome other VVood or thing; or were left open, that it might thereby receive both Light from the Candleſticks, and Smoke from the Altar of Incenſe. p i. e. That it might be the Oracle, or, the moſt holy place. Or, on the inner ſide (whereby he might imply, that the outſide of the Partition-VVall which looked towards the holy Place, was not ſo covered.) Of (for the Hebrew Lamed is very oft a note of the Genitive Caſe) the Oracle, even of the moſt holy place: which laſt words are added, to explain what he means by the word Oracle, which he had not uſed before.

17 And the houſe q, that is, the temple r, before it s, was forty cubits long.

q i. e. The holy Place. r This is added, to reſtrain the ſignification of the word houſe, which otherwiſe notes the whole Building. s i. e. Before the Oracle. Or, as it is in the Hebrew, before my face; i. e. before the place of my Preſence. Or, it may be ſaid to be before God, becauſe he being pleaſed to deſcribe himſelf as ſitting upon the Cherubim, hath his face towards this houſe, where he beholds the ſervices of his People. So this part of the Houſe diſtinct from the moſt Holy, hath its harmonious proportions alſo. The Length 40, to the Height 30, is Seſquiterian, or 4 to 3; (which is that of a Fourth in Muſick:) The Length to the Breadth, 40 to 20; as 2 to 1: The Height to the Breadth, 30 to 20, as 3 to 2.

18 And the cedar of the houſe within was carved with || knops, and † open flowers; all was cedar t, || Or, gourds. † Heb. openings of flowers.
there was no ſtone ſeen.

t i. e. All the Houſe was covered with Cedar. Queſt. How was this true, when it was covered with Fir, 2 Chron. 3. 5? Anſ. 1. It was done with Cedar and Fir: of which ſee on ver. 15. 2. It may be ſaid to be all cedar, becauſe the greateſt part was ſo, univerſal Particles being oft ſo uſed. 3. Cedar is here named, not to exclude all other VVood, but Stone only; as the following words ſhew. 4. Or, all was of Cedar; that is, all the Carving was of Cedar.

19 And the oracle he prepared u in the houſe x within y, to ſet there the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

u i. e. Adorned and fitted it for the Receipt of the Ark. x Heb. in the middle of the houſe, or building; not the middle Mathematically or exactly, but in general within the Houſe, as that Phraſe, in the middle, oft ſignifies; as Deut. 4. 11. Joſh. 7. 21. Dan. 3. 26. y Or, in the uttermoſt part of the Houſe; for ſo this was, the entrance into the Houſe being at the other end.

20 And the oracle in the forepart z was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in the height thereof a: and he overlaid it with † pure gold, and ſo b covered the altar c which was † Heb. ſhut up, or beaten gold.
of cedar d.

z Or rather, which was in the inner part, to wit of the Houſe, called here in Hebrew, the fore-part; not becauſe a Man firſt enters there, but becauſe when a Man is entring, or newly entred into the Houſe, it is ſtill before him. Thus the ſame or the like word proceeding from the ſame Root, is oft uſed, as Levit. 10. 18. 1 Kings 6. 19, 29, 30, 36. 1 Chron. 28. 11. a Object. The great Houſe was 30 Cubits high, above, ver. 2. Anſ. It is probably affirmed by divers, That the moſt holy Place was not ſo high as the holy Place, by ten Cubits: which was no way inconvenient, nor againſt the Rules of Proportion obſerved in Buildings. And as the ſecond part of the Building was far lower than the firſt, which was the Porch; ſo the third part might be conſiderably lower than the ſecond. And it might be lower either, 1. Outwardly, or in reſpect of the Walls of it, which might be only 20 Cubits high, and at that height covered with a flat Roof; it being but decent that that eminently holy Place ſhould be diſtinguiſhed from the leſs holy, even by its outward and viſible ſhape. Or, 2. Inwardly, or within the VValls of that part. For although this part might be vaulted at the top, as the holy Place was, which vaulted Roof ſome think was ten Cubits high; yet here might be the difference, That the vaulted Roof of the holy Place lay open to view; whereas that of the moſt holy was covered with a flat Roof from Wall to Wall, at the height of 20 Cubits, b i. e. With Gold, chap. 7. 48. 1 Chron. 28. 18. c To wit, The Altar of Incenſe, which was put next to the moſt high Place, ver. 22. d Object. This Altar was made of Shittim Wood, Exod. 30. 1. Anſ. Either that was covered with Cedar, that it might be agreeable to the reſt, all being Cedar, as was ſaid, ver. 18. Or this was a new Altar which Solomon made by Divine Command and Direction, delivered to him, either immediately, or by his Father: of which, ſee 1 Chron. 28. 12, &c. But this place may ſeem to be better tranſlated thus, and he covered the altar with Cedar, either to make it like the reſt; or, becauſe this was a new Altar made of Stone, and therefore fit to be covered with Cedar, that it might better receive and retain the Gold wherewith this Cedar was over-laid, ver. 22.

21 So Solomon overlaid the houſe e within with pure gold f: and he made a partition by the chains of gold g before the oracle h, and he overlaid it i with gold.

e Or, that houſe, to wit, the Oracle. f Compare 2 Chron. 3. 8. g i. e. He made a Veil, which was upon, or before the Partition; or which was a further Partition between the holy, and the moſt holy; which Veil did hang upon theſe Golden Chains. Others render it thus, he cloſed or ſhut (as the word ſignifies in the Chaldee Dialect, from which divers Hebrew words borrow their ſignification) it (i. e. the Houſe now mentioned; to wit, the Door of it) with chains or bars of gold. h i. e. In the outward part of the Wall, or Partition, which was erected between the Oracle and the holy Place; which is properly ſaid to be before the Oracle, which was the ſpace within, and beyond that Partition: for there the Veil was hung; and there the Chains or Bars, or whatſoever it was which faſtned the Doors of the Oracle, were placed. i To wit, the Partition; which he here diſtinguiſheth from the houſe, or the main Walls of the Houſe, which he had in the former part of this Verſe told us were overlaid with Gold; and now he affirms as much of the Partition.

22 And the whole houſe k he overlaid with gold, until he had finiſhed all the houſe: alſo the whole altar that was by the oracle l, he overlaid with gold m.

k Not only the Oracle, but all the Holy Place; and, as ſome add, even the Chambers belonging to it. l i e. The Altar of Incenſe, which was ſet in the Holy Place cloſe by the Doors of the Oracle. m As before he overlaid it with Cedar: of which, ſee the Notes on ver. 20.

23 ¶ And within the oracle he made two cherubims n of || † olive-tree o, each ten cubits high.

n Beſides thoſe two made by Moſes, Exod. 25. 18. which were of Gold, and far leſs than theſe, and fixed in another place and poſture. o Or, of oily trees, which ſometimes are diſtinguiſhed from the Olive-trees, as Iſa. 41. 19.

24 And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the other wing of the cherub: from the uttermoſt part of the one wing unto the uttermoſt part of the other, were ten cubits.

25 And the other cherub was ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one meaſure, and one ciſe.

26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and ſo was it of the other cherub.

27 And he ſet the cherubims within the inner houſe; and * || they ſtretched forth the wings of the cherubims, ſo that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall: and their wings touched one another in the midſt of the houſe.

* Exod. 25. 20. || Or, the Cherubims ſtretched forth their wings.

28 And he overlaid the cherubims with gold.

29 And he carved all the walls of the houſe round about with carved figures of cherubims p, and palm-trees q, and † open flowers, within and without r.

p As ſigns of the Preſence and Protection of the Angels vouchſafed by God to that Place. q Emblems of that Peace and Victory over their Enemies, which the Iſraelites duly ſerving God in that Place might expect. r Within the Oracle and without it, in the Holy Place.

30 And the floor of the houſe he overlaid with gold, within and without.

31 ¶ And for the entring of the oracle, he made doors of olive-tree: the lintel and ſide-poſts were || a fifth part of the wall ſ.

ſ i. e. Four Cubits in height or breadth, whereas the Wall was 20 Cubits. Or, a fifth part of the Door now mentioned. Or rather, five ſquare, having 5 Sides, and 5 Angles, which is not incongruous, nor unuſual in Buildings.

32 The two || doors alſo were of olive-tree, and he carved upon them carvings of cherubims and palm-trees, and † open flowers, and overlaid them with gold, and ſpread gold upon the cherubims, and upon the palm-trees.

|| Or, leaves of the door. † Heb. openings of flowers.

33 So alſo made he for the door of the temple, poſts of olive-trees || a fourth part of the wall s.

s Or rather, four-ſquare. See on ver. 31.

* Ezek. 41. 23.

35 And he carved thereon cherubims, and palm-trees, and open flowers, and covered them with gold, fitted upon the carved work.

36 And he built the inner court t with three rows of hewed ſtone, and a row of cedar-beams u.

t i. e. The Prieſts Court, 2 Chron. 4. 9. ſo called, becauſe it was next to the Temple which it did encompaſs. u Which is underſtood, either, 1. Of the thickneſs of the Wall, the three rows of Stones being one within another, and the Cedar innermoſt as a lining to the Wall. Or, 2. Of the height of the Wall, which was only 3 Cubits high, that the People might ſee the Prieſts Sacrificing upon the Altar, which was in their Court; each row of Stones being about a Cubit, and poſſibly of a differing Colour from the reſt, and all covered with Cedar. Or rather, 3. Of ſo many Galleries, one on each ſide of the Temple, whereof the Three firſt were of Stone, and the Fourth of Cedar, all ſupported with rows of Pillars: upon which there were many Chambers for the uſes of the Temple, and of the Prieſts: for it is hard to think, that only the making of a low Wall about the Court would be called a Building of the Court. And that a great number of Buildings and Rooms were neceſſary for the various Offices and VVorks which were to be done, and the Treaſures of all ſorts which were to be laid up in the Temple, largely ſo called, is ſufficiently evident from the nature of the things, and divers paſſages in Scripture: See among others, 1 Chron. 28. 11, 12.

37 ¶ In the fourth year was the foundation of the houſe of the LORD laid, in the month Zif.

38 And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, (which is the eighth month) was the houſe finiſhed || throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the faſhion of it: ſo was he ſeven years x in building it.

x Compleat, and 6 Months, as appears by computation. But ſmaller Summs are uſually neglected, and ſwallowed up in the greater, both in Scripture, as Judg. 20. 46. 2 Sam. 5. 5. 1 King. 2. 11. and in other Authors. It is not ſtrange that this VVork took up ſo much time: for, 1. The Temple properly ſo called, was for Quantity the leaſt part of it, there being very many and great Buildings both above Ground in the ſeveral Courts, (for though only the Court of the Prieſts be mentioned, yet it is thereby implied, that the ſame thing was proportionably done in the others) and under Ground. 2. The great curioſity of Art which was uſed here, and the fewneſs of exquiſitite Artiſts, required the longer time for the doing of it. And if the Building of Diana's Temple did employ all Aſia for 200 Years; and the Building of one Pyramid employed 360 Thouſand Men, for 20 Years together; both which, Pliny affirms: no reaſonable Man can wonder that this Temple was 7 Years in Building.

CHAP. VII.

The building of Solomon's houſe: the houſe of Lebanon, 1,—5. The porch of pillars, and of judgment: the houſe of Pharaoh's daughter, 6,—12. Hiram's work of the two pillars of braſs, 13,—22. Of the molten ſea, 23,—26. Of the ten baſes of braſs, 27,—37. The ten brazen lavers: all the veſſels of braſs and gold, 38,—50. The dedicated things are brought into the temple, 51.

BUT Solomon was building his own houſe a * thirteen years b, and he finiſhed all his houſe.

* Chap. 9. 10.

a The Royal Palace for himſelf, and for his Succeſſors. Or, his houſes, the Singular Number being put for the Plural. b Almoſt double time to that in which the Temple was built; becauſe neither were the Materials ſo far provided and prepared for this, as they were for the Temple: nor did either he or his People uſe the ſame alacrity and diligence in this, as in the other VVork; nor had they the ſame Obligations to this VVork, as they had to that, to which they were quickned by God's expreſs Command; and by the neceſſity of ſetting up God's VVorſhip there, as the Foundation of all the hopes and happineſs both of King and People, whereas his Building was only for Solomon's greater conveniency, and he had already a Palace of David's building.

2 ¶ He built alſo the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon c, the length thereof d was a hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar-pillars e, with cedar-beams upon the pillars f.

c An Houſe ſo called. Either, Firſt, Becauſe it was built in the Mountain and Foreſt of Lebanon, for his Recreation there in Summer-time. But it is generally and more probably held, that it was in or near Jeruſalem, both becauſe there was the throne of judgment, v. 7. which was fitteſt to be in the place of his conſtant and uſual Reſidence: and becauſe there was the chief Magazin of Arms, Iſa. 22. 8. and Solomon's Golden Shields were put there, as is manifeſt from 1 King. 10 17 and 14. 25, 26, 28. which no wiſe Prince would do in a place ſo remote from his Royal City, and in the utmoſt Borders of his Kingdom, as this was. Or rather, Secondly, From ſome reſemblance it might have with that Place, for the pleaſant Shades and Groves which were about it: nothing being more frequent both in Sacred and other VVriters, than to transfer the names of Carmel, or Tempe, or the like, to other Places of the ſame nature and quality with them. d To wit, of the principal Manſion; to which doubtleſs other Buildings were adjoyned. e Upon which the Houſe was built, and between which there were four ſtately VValks. f VVhich were laid for the Floor of the ſecond Story.

3 And it was covered with cedar above upon the † beams that lay on forty five pillars, fifteen in a row g.

g So in this ſecond Story were only three rows of Pillars, which was ſufficient for the Ornament of the ſecond, and for the ſupport of the third Story.

4 And there was windows in three rows, and † light was againſt light h in three ranks i.

h One directly oppoſite or anſwering to the other, as is uſual in well-contrived Buildings. i One exactly under another.

5 And all the || doors and poſts were ſquare with the windows: and light was againſt light in three ranks k.

|| Or, ſpaces and pillars were ſquare in proſpect.

k He ſpeaks, either, firſt, of the ſame Lights mentioned, v. 4. it being the manner of the Hebrews to repeat the ſame things. Or rather, of the ſmaller VVindows or Lights, which were over the ſeveral Doors, as the manner of many Buildings is.

|| Or, according to them. || Or, according to them.

l i e. Supported by divers Pillars, for the more Magnificent entrance into the Houſe; upon which alſo it is thought there were other Rooms built, as in the Houſe. m Now mentioned, which is ſaid to be before them; i. e. before the Pillars on which the Houſe of Lebanon ſtood; or, before the Doors and Poſts mentioned v. 5. or, a porch; i e. another and a leſſer Porch, which was before them; i e. before the Pillars of the greater Porch now mentioned. n Or, and pillars; i. e. fewer and leſſer Pillars for the ſupport of the leſſer Porch. o Which was laid upon theſe Pillars, as the others were, v. 2.

7 ¶ Then he made a porch p for the throne q where he might judge r, even the porch of judgment: and it was covered with cedar † from one ſide of the floor to the other ſ.

p Another Porch or diſtinct Room without the Houſe. q Deſcribed chap. 10. 18. r The People that brought their Cauſes before him. ſ i. e. The whole Floor; or, from floor to floor, i. e. from the lower Floor on the Ground, to the upper Floor which covered it.

8 ¶ And his houſe where he dwelt, had another court within the porch t, which was of the like work. Solomon made alſo an houſe for Pharaohs daughter u, (* whom he had taken to wife) like unto this porch x.

* Chap. 3. 1.

t i. e. Between the Porch and the Houſe, called therefore the middle court, 2 King. 20. 4. u Of which ſee 1 King. 3. 1. and 2 Chron. 8. 11. x Not for Form or Quantity, but for the Materials and Workmanſhip, the Rooms being covered with Cedar, and furniſhed with like Ornaments.

9 All theſe y were of coſtly ſtones according to the meaſures of hewed ſtones z, ſawed with ſaws, within and without a, even from the foundation unto the coping b, and ſo on the outſide toward the great court c.

y Buildings deſcribed here and in the former Chapter. z Either, Firſt, which were hewed in ſuch meaſure and proportion as exact Workmen uſe to hew ordinary Stones. Or, Secondly, As large as common hewed Stones, which are oft very great. a Both on the inſide of the Buildings which were covered with Cedar, and on the outſide alſo. b From the bottom to the top of the Building. c Not only on the outſide of the front of the Houſe, which being moſt viſible, Men are more careful to adorn; but alſo of the other ſide of the Houſe, which looked towards the great Court belonging to the King's Houſe 10 And the foundation was of coſtly ſtones, even great ſtones, ſtones of ten cubits d, and ſtones of eight cubits.

d Not ſquare, which would have been both unneceſſary, and unportable, and unmanageable; but of ſolid meaſure, by which Stones and Timber are uſually meaſured: and ſo they were only two Cubits ſquare, but there were twenty ſolid Cubits contained in them. And ſo alſo the following eight cubits are to be underſtood.

11 And above e were coſtly ſtones (after the meaſures of hewed ſtones) and cedars f.

e i. e. In the Roof or upper part; for this is oppoſed to the foundation. f Intermixed here the one, and there the other.

12 And the great court g round about, was with three rows of hewed ſtones, and a row of cedar-beams h, both for the inner court of the houſe of the LORD i, and for the porch of the houſe k.

g To wit, of Solomon's Dwelling-Houſe, mentioned ver. 8. h Of which ſee the Note on 1 King. 6. 36. i Or, as (Heb. and, which is oft uſed in that Senſe for a Particle of compariſon or ſimilitude, as Prov. 11. 25. and 17. 3. and 25. 23.) for the inner court, &c. i. e. as it was in that inner Court, of which the very ſame thing is ſaid, 1 King. 6 36. Otherwiſe it might ſeem very improper and impertinent to ſpeak of the Court of the Lord's Houſe here, where he is treating only of Solomon's Houſe. k Or, of this houſe, to wit, of which I am here ſpeaking; i. e. Of the King's Houſe, the Porch whereof had Pillars, verſe 6. and theſe both of Stone and Cedar, as may ſeem moſt probable, becauſe the other Pillars were ſuch. And whereas the Number and Quality of the Pillars of the Porch was omitted, verſe 6. that defect is here ſupplied, and we are implicitly acquainted with both of them. But this I ſpeak with ſubmiſſion.

14 He was † a widows ſon of the tribe of Naphthali l, and his father was a man of Tyre m, a worker in braſs: and he was filled with wiſdom and underſtanding, and cunning to work all works in braſs n: and he came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.

l Obj. She was one of the daughters of Dan, 2 Chron. 2. 14. Anſ. So indeed Hiram King of Tyre there affirms; but he might eaſily miſtake or be miſinformed, eſpecially being no Iſraelite, nor a careful Obſerver of the diſtinction of Tribes. Or, ſhe might be of Dan by her Father, and of Naphthali by her Mother, or by her Huſband, who was of that Tribe, and therefore ſhe was truly a widow of Naphthali. m Either by his deſcent, being a Tyrian by Birth: or, by Education and Habitation, he or his Father being given to the ſtudy of theſe Arts, and having planted themſelves at Tyre for their improvement therein. However that was, it was a ſingular Providence of God that there was at that time ſo excellent a Workman fit for ſo great and glorious Works. n And of gold, and ſtone, and purple, and blue, &c. as is affirmed 2 Chron. 2. 14. But only his skill in braſs is here mentioned, becauſe he ſpeaks only of the Braſen things which he made.

15 For he † caſt * two pillars of braſs o, of eighteen cubits high a piece p: and a line of twelve cubits did compaſs either of them about q.

† Heb. faſhioned. * 2 Chron. 4. 12.

o Of which ſee 2 King. 25. 16, 17. Jer. 52. 21. p Obj. They are ſaid to be 35 Cubits high, 2 Chron. 3. 15. Anſ. That place manifeſtly ſpeaks of both the Pillars; and this of each, or one pillar, as it is in the Hebrew. Obj. But then it ſhould have been 36 Cubits. Anſ. Either the odd half Cubit is ſwallowed up either in the top of the Chapiter, or in the bottom of the Baſis of each Pillar; or, it is neglected in the Account, as commonly ſmall Meaſures or Numbers are. q So the Diameter was four Cubits, which, conſidering the chapiter of five cubits added to the height of each Pillar, 2 Chron. 3. 14. was not unproportionable to the height.

16 And he made two chapiters of molten braſs, to ſet upon the tops of the pillars: the height of the one chapiter was five cubits ſ, and the height of the other chapiter was five cubits.

ſ Obj. It is but three cubits in 2 King. 25. 17. Anſ. The word chapiter is taken diverſly, as hundreds of other words are, either more largely for the whole, ſo it is 5 Cubits; or, more ſtrictly, either for the pommels, as they are called, 2 Chron. 4. 12. or for the Cornice or Crown, and ſo it was but three Cubits, to which the Pomegranates being added make it four cubits, as it is below, ver. 19. and the other work upon it took up one Cubit more, which in all made five cubits.

17 And nets of checker-work, and wreathes of chain-work, for the chapiters t which were upon the top of the pillars: ſeven for the one chapiter, and ſeven for the other chapiter.

t Which thoſe Nets and Wreathes did encompaſs, either covering, and as it were receiving and holding the Pomegranates, or being mixed with them.

18 And he made u the pillars, and two rows x round about upon the net-work, to cover the chapiters that were upon the top, with pomegranates: and ſo did he for the other chapiter.

u Or, ſo he made, or framed, or perfected. x Either of Pomegranates, by comparing this with ver. 20. or of ſome other curious Work.

19 And the chapiters that were upon the top of the pillars, were of lily-work y in the porch z, four cubits a.

y Made like the Leaves of Lilies, or ſuch Flowers. z Or, as in the porch; i. e ſuch Work as there was in the Porch of the Temple, in which theſe Pillars were ſet, ver. 21. that ſo the work of the tops of theſe Pillars might agree with that in the top of the Porch. So there is only an Ellipſis or defect of the Particle as, which is frequent, as Gen. 49. 9. Deut. 33. 22. Pſal. 11. 1. Iſa. 21. 8. a Of which ſee on ver. 16.

20 And the chapiters upon the two pillars, had pomegranates alſo above, over againſt the belly b, which was by the net-work: and the pomegranates were two hundred c, in rows round about upon the other chapiter.

b So he calls the middle part of the Chapiter, and that which jetted furtheſt out. c Theſe Pomegranates are variouſly accounted in Scriptures. They are ſaid to be ninety and ſix on a ſide of a pillar; i. e. in one row, and in all an hundred, Jer. 52. 23. four great Pomegranates between the ſeveral Checker-works being added to the firſt 96. And it muſt needs be granted, that there were as many on the other ſide of the Pillar, or in the other Row, which makes them 200 upon a Pillar, as is here ſaid, and 400 upon both Pillars, as they are numbred, 2 Chron. 4. 13.

21 * And he ſet up the pillars in the porch of the temple d: and he ſet up the right pillar, and called the name thereof ‖ Jachin e: and he ſet up the left pillar, and called the name thereof ‖ Boaz.

* 2 Chron. 3. 17.
‖ That is, he ſhall eſtabliſh.
‖ That is, in it is ſtrength.

d Where they were placed for meer Ornament and Magnificence, for they ſupported nothing. e Jachin ſignifies he; i. e. God ſhall eſtabliſh, to wit, his Temple, and Church, and People: and Boaz ſignifies, in it, or rather, in him (to anſwer the he in the former name) is ſtrength. So theſe Pillars being eminently ſtrong and ſtable, were in a manner Types or Documents of that ſtrength which was in God, and would be put forth by God for the defending and eſtabliſhing of his Temple and People, if they were careful to keep the Conditions required by God on their parts.

22 And upon the top of the pillars was lily-work: ſo was the work of the pillars finiſhed.

23 ¶ And he made * a molten ſea f, ten cubits † from the one brim to the other: it was round all about, and his height was five cubits: and a line of thirty cubits did compaſs it round about.

* Jer. 52. 17.

f He melted the Braſs, and caſt it into the form of a great Veſſel, for its vaſtneſs called a Sea, which name is given by the Hebrews to all great collections of Waters. The uſe of it was for the Prieſts to waſh their Hands and Feet, or other things as occaſion required, with the VVater which they drew out of it. See 2 Chron. 4. 2. Compare Exod. 30. 19, 20.

* 2 Chron. 4. 3.

g Or, carved or molten figures: for learned Hebricians note, that this word ſignifies the Figures or Pictures of all ſorts, as Flowers, Beaſts, &c. This general word is particularly explained of oxen, 2 Chron. 2. 3. unleſs there were ſo many Figures, or Sculptures of Gourds, or other Flowers; and in each of theſe a little Ox's head. h So there were 300 in all. i Together with the Sea, not carved. k It ſeems doubtful whether the ſecond Row had ten in each Cubit, and ſo there were 300 more; or, whether the ten were diſtributed into five in each Row.

25 In ſtood upon twelve oxen l, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the weſt, and three looking toward the ſouth, and three looking toward the eaſt m: and the ſea was ſet above upon them, and all their hinder-parts were inward.

l Of ſolid Braſs, which was neceſſary to bear ſo great a weight. it is probably conceived, that the Water was by Cocks drawn out of the Mouths of theſe Oxen. m Partly, for the more equal and convenient ſupport of the Veſſel; and partly, that divers perſons might draw Water out of it at the ſame time, which was frequently neceſſary, eſpecially in great Solemniries.

26 And it was an hand-breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies: it contained two thouſand baths n.

n Which amounts to 500 Barrels, each Bath containing about 8 Gallons; the Bath being a meaſure of the ſame bigneſs with an Ephah, Ezek. 45. 11. Obj. This Sea is ſaid to contain 3000 Baths, 2 Chron. 4 5. Anſ. Either there were two ſorts of Baths, as of Cubits, the one common, the other ſacred, and the ſacred held half as much more as the common: or rather, he here ſpeaks of what it did actually and uſually contain, to wit, 2000 Baths, which was ſufficient for uſe, and in 2 Chron. 4. 5. he ſpeaks of what it could contain if it were filled to the brim, as it is implied in the Hebrew words, which differ from theſe, and properly ſound thus, ſtrengthning it ſelf (to wit, to receive and hold as much as it could, or being filled to its utmoſt capacity) it contained, or could contain 3000 Baths.

27 And he made ten baſes o of braſs: four cubits was the length of one baſe, and four cubits the breadth thereof, and three cubits the height of it.

o Upon which ſtood the ten Lavers mentioned below, v. 38. in which they waſhed the parts of the Sacrifices, 2 Chron. 4. 6.

28 And the work of the baſes was on this manner: they had borders p, and the borders were between the ledges:

p Broad brims, poſſibly for the more ſecure holding of the Lavers.

29 And on the borders that were between the ledges, were lions, oxen, and cherubims: and upon the ledges there was a baſe r above: beneath the lions and oxen were certain additions ſ made of thin work.

r So he calls the uppermoſt part of the Baſe: for though it was above, yet it was a Baſe to the Laver, which ſtood upon it. ſ Either as Baſes for the Feet of the ſaid Lions and Oxen: or, only as further Ornaments.

30 ¶ And every baſe had four brazen wheels t, and plates of braſs: and the four corners thereof had under-ſetters u: under the laver were under-ſetters molten, at the ſide of every addition.

t Whereby the Baſes and Lavers might be carried from place to place as need required. u Heb. Shoulders; fitly ſo called, becauſe they ſtrongly ſupported the Lavers, that they ſhould not fall from their Baſes, when the Baſes were removed together with the Lavers.

31 And the mouth of it x within the chapiter y and above z was a cubit a: but the mouth thereof was round after the work of the baſe, a cubit and an half b: and alſo upon the mouth of it were gravings with their borders, four-ſquare, not round c.

x So he calls that part in the top of the Baſe which was left hollow, that the foot of the Laver might be let into it, and faſtned in it. y i.e. Within the little Baſe, which he calls the chapiter, becauſe it roſe up from, and ſtood above the great Baſe, as the Head doth above the reſt of the Body. z Above the Chapiter; for the Mouth went up, and grew wider like a Funnel. a Either in breadth: or rather in height, v. 35. whereof half a Cubit was above the Chapiter or little Baſe, as is ſaid v. 25. and the other half is here implied to be within it, and below it. b To wit, in compaſs. c So the innermoſt part, called the Mouth, was round, but the outward part was ſquare, as when a Circle is made within a Quadrangle.

32 And under the borders were four wheels: and the axle-trees of the wheels were † joined to the baſe, and the height of a wheel was a cubit and half a cubit.

33 And the work of the wheels was like the work of a charet-wheel: their axle-trees, and their naves, and their felloes, and their ſpokes were all molten d.

d And caſt together with the Baſes.

34 And there were four under-ſetters to the four corners of one baſe: and the under-ſetters were of the very baſe it ſelf e.

e Not only of the ſame matter, but of the ſame piece, being caſt with it.

35 And in the top of the baſe was there a round compaſs of half a cubit high: and on the top of the baſe, the ledges thereof, and the borders thereof were of the ſame.

36 For on the plates of the ledges thereof, and on the borders thereof, he graved cherubims, lions, and palm-trees, according to the † proportion f of every one, and additions round about.

f Or, empty place, i. e. according to the bigneſs of the ſpaces which were left empty for them, implying that they were ſmaller than thoſe above-mentioned.

37 After this manner he made the ten baſes: all of them had one caſting, one meaſure, and one ciſe.

38 ¶ Then made he ten lavers of braſs: one laver contained forty baths g: and every laver was four cubits: and upon every one of the ten baſes, one laver.

g Ten Barrels; of which ſee above on ver. 26.

39 And he put five baſes on the right † ſide h of the houſe i, and five on the left ſide of the houſe k: and he ſet the ſea on the right ſide of the houſe eaſtward, over againſt the ſouth l.

40 ¶ And Hiram made the lave, and the ſhovels, and the baſons: So Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he made king Solomon, for the houſe of the LORD.

41 The two pillars, and the two bowls of the chapiters that were on the top of the two pillars: and the two net-works to cover the two bowls of the chapiters, which were on the top of the pillars:

42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two net-works, even two rows of pomegranates for one net-work, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters that were † upon the pillars:

† Heb. upon the face of the pillars.

43 And the ten baſes, and ten lavers on the baſes:

44 And one ſea, and twelve oxen under the ſea:

45 And the pots m, and the ſhovels, and the baſons: and all theſe veſſels which Hiram made to king Solomon for the houſe of the LORD, were of † bright braſs.

† Heb. made bright: or, ſcoured.

† Heb. in the thickneſs of the ground.

n Or, in thick clay, fat, and tough, and tenacious, and therefore fitteſt to make Moulds of all ſorts, into which the melted Braſs was to be poured.

47 And Solomon left all the veſſels unweighed † o, becauſe they were exceeding many: neither was the weight of the braſs † found out.

o Becauſe the weighing of them was very troubleſome, and to no purpoſe.

48 And Solomon made all the veſſels that pertained unto the houſe of the LORD p: the altar of gold q, and the table of gold, whereupon the * ſhew-bread was r.

* Exod. 25. 30.

r Such as God by the Mouth of Moſes had commanded to be made for his Houſe and Service, and ſuch as Moſes had made, only theſe were larger, and richer, and more, according to the difference of the Temple, and Tabernacle, and Solomon's vaſt riches, and the poverty of Moſes and the Iſraelites at that time. q To wit, of Incenſe, as appears from 1 Chron. 28. 18. where this is mentioned amongſt the things for which David left Gold, and Solomon is here ſaid to build it; and therefore this cannot be that Altar made by Moſes, Exod. 25. 23, 24. and 30. 1, 3. which alſo was of Shittim-Wood, whereas this was made of Cedar, and covered with Gold, 1 Kings 6. 20. r Under which, by a Synedoche are comprehended both all the utenſils belonging to it, and the other ten Tables which he made together with it, 2 Chron. 4. 7, 8.

ſ Which were ten, according to the number of the Tables, whereas Moſes made but one: whereby might be ſignified the progreſs of the Light of Sacred Truth, which was now grown clearer than it was in Moſes his time, and ſhould ſhine brighter and brighter until the perfect day of Goſpel-Light t Of maſſie and fine Gold. u In the Holy place. x Wrought upon the Candleſticks, as it had formerly been. See on Evod. 25. 31.

50 And the bowls, and the ſnuffers, and the baſons, and the ſpoons, and the † cenſers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner houſe, the moſt holy place, and for the doors of the houſe, to wit, of the holy temple.

51 So was ended all the work that king Solomon made for the houſe of the LORD: and Solomon brought in the † things * which David his father had dedicated, even the ſilver and the gold y, and the veſſels z did he put among the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD.

The Feaſt of the Dedication of the Temple: The Ark of the Covenant with the Holy Inſtruments are brought into it: The Lord giveth a token of his preſence, 1,—11. Solomon's Bleſſing and Thankſgiving, 12,—21. His Prayer, 22,—61. His Sacrifice of Peace-Offering, 62,—66.

* 2 Chron. 5. 2. † Heb. princes. THen * Solomon aſſembled the elders of Iſrael a, and all the heads of the tribes b, the † chief of the fathers c of the children of Iſrael, unto king Solomon d in Jeruſalem e, that they might bring up the ark f of the covenant of the LORD, out of the city of David g, which is Zion h.

a The Senators, and Judges, and Rulers. b For each Tribe had a peculiar Head or Governour. c The chief Perſons of every great Family in each Tribe. d Unto himſelf; the antecedent Noun being put for the relative and reciprocal Pronoun, as is frequent with the Hebrews. e Where the Temple was built, and now finiſhed. f To the top of this high Hill of Moriah, upon which it was built; whither they were now to carry the Ark in a ſolemn pomp, that by this their attendance they might make a publick profeſſion of that ſervice and reſpect, and obedience which they owed unto that God who was graciouſly and gloriouſly preſent in the Ark g Where David had placed the Ark, 2 Sam. 6. 12, 17. See on 1 Kings 2. 10 and 3. 1. h Which is called Zion, becauſe it was built upon that Hill.

2 And all the men of Iſrael i aſſembled themſelves unto king Solomon at the feaſt k, in the month Ethanim, which is the ſeventh month l.

i Not only the chief Men who were particularly invited, but a vaſt number of the common People, as being forward to ſee and to joyn in this great and glorious Solemnity. k Underſtand either firſt, The Feaſt of Tabernacles. Or rather, Secondly, The Feaſt of the Dedication, to which Solomon had invited them, which was before that Feaſt: for that began on the 15*th* day of the 7*th* month, Lev. 23. 34. but this began at the leaſt 7 days before that Feaſt; for Solomon and the People kept the Feaſt for 14 days, here v. 65 i. e. 7 days for the dedication of the Temple, and 7 other days for that of Tabernacles; and after both theſe were finiſhed, he ſent all the People to their homes on the 23 day of the month. See 2 Chron. 7, 9, 10. l Which time he choſe with common reſpect to his Peoples convenience, becauſe now they had gathered in all their Fruits, and now they were come up to Jeruſalem, to Celebrate the Feaſt of Tabernacles. Queſt The Temple was not finiſhed till the eighth month, 1 Kings 6. 38. how then could he invite them in the ſeventh month? Anſ. This was the ſeventh month of the next Year. For although the houſe in all its parts was finiſhed the Year before, yet the utenſils of it deſcribed Chap. 7. were not then fully finiſhed, but took up a conſiderable time afterward: and many preparations were to be made for this great and extraordinary occaſion.

3 And all the elders of Iſrael came, and the prieſts took up the ark m.

m For although the Levites might do this, Numb. 4. 15. yet the Prieſts did it at this time, partly, for the greater honour of the Solemnity; and partly, becauſe the Levites might not enter into the Holy place, much leſs into the Holy of Holies, where it was to be placed, into which the prieſts themſelves might not have entred, if the High-Prieſt alone could have done it. Obj. The Levites are ſaid to have done this, 2 Chron. 5. 4. Anſ. That is moſt true, becauſe all the Prieſts were Levites, though all the Levites were not Prieſts.

4 And they brought up the ark of the LORD, and the tabernacle of the congregation n, and all the holy veſſels that were in the tabernacle, even thoſe did the prieſts and Levites o bring up.

n That made by Moſes, which doubtleſs before this time had been tranſlated from Gibeon to Zion, and now together with other things, was put into the Treaſuries of the Lord's-Houſe, to prevent all the ſuperſtitious uſe and prophane abuſe of it, and to oblige the people to come up to Jeruſalem, as the only place where God would now be Worſhipped. o The Prieſts carrying ſome, and the Levites others.

5 And king Solomon, and all the congregation of Iſrael, that were aſſembled unto him, were with him before the ark, ſacrificing ſheep and oxen p that could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

p Either, Firſt, In the way, as David did upon the like occaſion, 2 Sam. 6. 13. Or, Secondly, When the Ark was come into the Prieſts Court where the Altar ſtood, whence it was ſpeedily to be conveyed to that place where the People could never behold it more. Or rather, Thirdly, When the Ark was ſeated in its place: for although they might in the way or paſſage offer ſome Sacrifices, as David did; yet that was not a proper ſeaſon to offer ſo many Sacrifices as could not be told nor numbred, as theſe are here ſaid to be; which far better agrees with what is more particularly related below, ver. 62, 63, 64. which is here ſignified in the general by way of anticipation, as is frequently done in the Scripture in like caſes.

6 And the prieſts brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD unto his place, into the Oracle of the houſe q, to the moſt holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims r.

q i. e. To that part of the Houſe which is called the Oracle. 1 Kings 6. 5, 16, 19, 23. or, as it here follows, the moſt holy place. r To wit, of Solomon's new-made Cherubims, 1 Kings 6. 23, 24, 27. not of the Moſaical Cherubims, which were far leſs, and unmovably fixed to the Ark, Exod. 37. 7, 8. and therefore together with the Ark, were put under the wings of theſe Cherubims.

7 For the cherubims ſpread forth their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark, and the ſtaves thereof above.

ſ Not wholly, which was expreſly forbidden, Exod. 25. 15. Numb 4. 6. but in part. t Either, Firſt, Properly ſo called: which place was indeed before the oracle. But how then could it be ſaid, that they were not ſeen without, to wit, in the Holy place? For that they ſhould be ſeen without, to wit, in the Court, was ſo ridiculous a conceit, that it had been abſurd to ſuppoſe it, or to ſay any thing to prevent it. Nor is it much better what others ſay, that theſe ends of the ſtaves did diſcover themſelves thorough the veil, which they thruſt forward, though they did not pierce thorough it. For neither in that caſe had they been ſeen; and beſides, there was a Wall as well as a Veil in that place. Or rather, Secondly, In the moſt holy place, which is oft called by way of eminency, the Holy place, as Exod 29. 30. and 39. 1. Levit. 6. 30. and 10. 18. and 16 2, 16, 17, 20 And the Hebrew words rendred before the oracle, may be as well rendred, within the oracle, the Phraſe, al pene, being ſo uſed, Gen. 1. 2. the ſpirit of God moved upon the face of the waters, i. e. in the Waters, or in that confuſed heap of Earth and Water, in which God was now working, that he might bring it into order and uſe; and Gen 1. 20. where it is well rendred, in the open firmament of heaven, i. e. of the Air. And thus the whole is moſt true, They were ſeen out, to wit, without the Ark, and the Cherubims which covered all the other parts, but they were not ſeen without the Oracle, to wit, in the Holy place, ſtrictly ſo called. For how could they be ſeen there, when there was both a Wall and a thick Veil between that place and the Oracle? And theſe Staves were left in this poſture, that the High-Prieſt might hereby be certainly guided to that very particular place where he was one day in a year to ſprinkle Blood, and to offer Incenſe before the Ark, which otherwiſe he might miſtake in that dark place, where the Ark was wholly covered with the Wings of the great Cherubims, which ſtood between him and the Ark when he entred thither. Some conceive that the Door of the Oracle ſtood always open (which yet ſeems very improbable); and that they who were near the Door, might ſee the ends of the Staves, though, by reaſon of the darkneſs of the place they could ſee nothing elſe there.

9 * There was nothing in the ark u, ſave the two tables of ſtone, which * Moſes put there at Horeb, ‖ when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Iſrael, when they came out of the land of Egypt. * Exo. 25. 21. Deut. 10. 2. * Deut. 10. 5. ‖ Or, where u Strictly and properly: for in a more large ſenſe, as in is oft taken for by or near, as is confeſſed, and hath been proved before; ſo the pot of Manna, and Aaron's rod were alſo in it, Heb. 9. 4. i. e. by it, to wit, in the moſt Holy place, before the Ark of the teſtimony, where God commanded Moſes to put them, as it is expreſſed, Exod. 16. 33, 34. Numb. 17. 10. and not ſtrictly in it. But of this more, God aſſiſting, on Heb. 9. 4.

10 And it came to paſs when the prieſts were come out of the holy place x, that the cloud y * filled the houſe of the LORD z. * Exod. 40. 34, 35.

x Either, Firſt, The moſt Holy place, into which the Prieſts had now entred to carry in the Ark. Or rather, Secondly, The Holy place, where they might have ſtood to miniſter, if the Cloud had not hindred them, as may be gathered from the next Verſe. y The uſual token of God's glorious preſence. See Exod. 16. 10. and 24. 15, 16. Numb. 9. 15. z Partly, in teſtimony of his gracious acceptance of this Work, and their Service; and partly, to beget an awe and reverence in them, and in all others, when they approach to God.

11 So that the prieſts could not ſtand to miniſter, becauſe of the cloud a: for the glory of the LORD had filled the houſe of the LORD.

a Becauſe the Cloud was either ſo bright that it dazled their eyes: or rather ſo dark, that it ſtruck them with horror and amazement, as is implied in the next Verſe.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Solomon b, The LORD * ſaid * 2 Chr. 6. 1 c that he would dwell * in the thick darkneſs. * Lev. 16. 2 b Perceiving both Prieſts and People ſtruck with horror and wonder at this darkneſs, he minds them, that this was no ſign of God's diſlike or diſfavour, as ſome of them might poſſibly imagine; but a token of his Approbation, and Grace, and ſpecial Preſence among them. c Not in expreſs words, but by plain conſequence, becauſe he hath declared both by his Words and Actions, that he would manifeſt his preſence with, and dwelling among his People, by a dark Cloud, in which he would appear. See Exod. 13. 21, 22. and 24. 16. and 40. 35. Numb. 9. 15. Deut. 4. 11. and 5. 22. Pſal. 18. 12. and 97. 2.

13 I have ſurely built thee an houſe to dwell in d, a ſettled place for thee to abide in for ever e.

d I perceive by this thick darkneſs, that thou art coming among us, and therefore make haſte and come, O thou Bleſſed Gueſt, into the dwelling-place which I have built by thy Command, and for thy Service. e Not a Tabernacle, which was made to be carried from place to place; but a durable, and, I hope, perpetual Habitation.

14 And the king turned his face about f, and bleſſed all the congregation of Iſrael g; (and all the congregation of Iſrael ſtood h).

f From the Temple, towards which he was looking to obſerve that thick and extraordinary darkneſs, to the Body of the Congregation. g Or, Bleſſed, (to wit, the Lord, which is eaſily underſtood from the following words; in which he only bleſſeth or praiſeth God, but doth not bleſs the People at all) with (to the Hebrew eth is oft uſed, as hath been ſhewed before) all the congregation. Although he might do both, firſt bleſs the Congregation, which poſſibly he might do in that ſolemn and appointed Form, Num. 6. which therefore it was needleſs to repeat here; and then bleſſed God. And indeed he doth both here below, where theſe ſame words are uſed, ver. 55, 56, &c. h Partly, in way of Devotion to God, whom they adored: and partly, out of reſpect to the King.

15 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael, which ſpake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it i, ſaying, i Praiſed be God both for his Grace in making ſuch a promiſe, and for his Goodneſs and Truth in fulfilling it 16 Since the day that I brought forth my people Iſrael out of Egypt k, I choſe no city l out of all the tribes of Iſrael to build an houſe, that my Name might be therein m; but I choſe * David n to be over my people Iſrael.

* 2 Sam. 7. 8.

k Until David's time; for then he did chuſe Jeruſalem. l i. e. I did not declare my choice of it: for ſo chuſing is uſed for declaring or executing ones choice, as Deut. 12. 1. 2 Chron. 6. 5. Zech. 2. 12. and things are oft ſaid to be done when they are only manifeſted or declared to be ſuch; in which ſenſe God is ſaid to be, juſtified, Pſal. 51. 4. and Men to be guilty, Hoſ. 5. 15. ‖ Or, in this place. ‖ Or, be favourable. So Gr.

h Which he adds, that the People might not Idolize the Temple, nor preſume upon it, as if God were now faſt tied to them, as having no other dwelling-place; and to direct them in all their Addreſſes to God in this Temple, to lift up their eyes above it, even to Heaven, where God's moſt True, and moſt Glorious Dwelling-place is. i To wit, the Sins of thy People, praying, and even of their Prayers; which, if not pardoned, will certainly hinder the Succeſs of all their Prayers, and the courſe of all thy Bleſſings upon them.

31 ¶ † If any man treſpaſs k againſt his neighbour, † and an oath be laid upon him l, to cauſe him to ſwear, and the oath come before thine altar in this houſe m:

33 ¶ When * thy people Iſrael be ſmitten down before the enemy, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee, and * ſhall turn again to thee, and confeſs thy Name p, and pray, and make ſupplication unto thee ‖ in his houſe:

* Lev. 26. 17. Deu. 28. 25 * Lev. 26. 39, 40. ‖ Or, toward.

p Give Glory to thy Name, by acknowledging their Sins, and thy Juſtice; and by accepting the puniſhment of their Iniquity; and by truſting to thy Power and Goodneſs alone, for their Deliverance.

34 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy people Iſrael, and bring them again q unto the land, which thou gaveſt unto their fathers.

q From the Land into which they are ſuppoſed to be carried by their Enemies, into Canaan. Queſt. If they were Baniſhed into a ſtrange Land, how could they pray in this houſe, as they are ſaid to do, ver. 33. Anſw. 1. That may be rendred to, or, towards this houſe, as it is expreſſed, v. 29, 30. The Hebrew Prepoſition Beth, in, being oft put for El, to, or, towards. 2. This may be underſtood of divers Perſons; and ſo the ſence is this: When the People of Iſrael be defeated in Battel, and many of their Brethren be taken Priſoners, and carried into Captivity; if then their Brethren remaining in the Land, ſhall heartily pray for their Captive Brethren, they ſhall be delivered.

*Lev. 26. 19. Deut. 28. 23.

35 ¶ When * heaven r is ſhut up s, and there is no rain, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee; if they pray towards this place, and confeſs thy Name, and turn from their ſin, when thou afflicteſt them t:

r The lower Heaven in which the Clouds are; as Deut. 11. 17. Pſal. 147. 8. s The Heaven is compared to a great Store-Houſe in God's keeping, out of which nothing can be had, ſo long as it is cloſe ſhut up. t Do not reject their Prayers, becauſe they are forced from them by their Afflictions, as thou may'ſt juſtly do.

36 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy ſervants, and of thy people Iſrael, that thou teach them u the good way x wherein they ſhould walk, and give rain y upon thy land which thou haſt given to thy people for an inheritance.

u That their Sin being Pardoned, and thou being Reconciled unto them, may'ſt vouchſafe to teach them. Or rather, as our Tranſlators render the very ſame Words, 2 Chron. 6. 27. When thou ſhalt teach, or haſt taught them, not only by thy Word, for that was done before; but by their Afflictions, which is one of God's Schools; and eſpecially, by thy Spirit, enlightning their Minds, and enclining their Hearts, that they may learn, and profit both by the Word, and by their Afflictions. And this is here fitly added, to ſhew, that he could not expect, and did not deſire from God the Pardon of their Sins, but upon God's Terms, to wit, upon their True Repentance. x i.e. The way, or Will of God; or the way of their Duty, as the following words explain it, which is moſt rightly called the good way here, and 1 Sam. 12. 23. becauſe it is both Juſt and Holy, and therefore good in it ſelf; and good, that is, both Delightful and Profitable, to thoſe that walk in it. The meaning is, When thou haſt effectually taught them, and they have throughly learned how to pleaſe and ſerve thee acceptably, and to walk before thee in the way which thou haſt preſcribed them. y The order of Solomon's Prayer is very obſervable; firſt and chiefly, he prays for their Repentance and Forgiveneſs, which is the chief Bleſſing, and the only ſolid Foundation of all other Mercies: and then he prays for the Temporal Mercy; thereby teaching us what to mind and deſire principally in our Prayers; which alſo Chriſt hath taught us in his perfect Pattern and Form of Prayer; wherein there is but one Petition for outward, and all the reſt are for Spiritual Bleſſings.

z i.e. The Plague of Locuſts, or Caterpillars, infeſting a Land by their great numbers, and venomous or noxious qualities: of which ſee, Exod. 10. 4, 5. Deut. 28. 42. Pſal. 105. 34, 35. a That chiefly ſignifies, an extraordinary Judgment ſent from God.

38 What prayer and ſupplication ſoever be made by any man, or by all thy people Iſrael, which ſhall know every man the plague of his own heart b, and ſpread forth his hands towards this houſe:

b i.e. Either, 1. His Sin, which may be called the plague of his heart, in oppoſition to the other Plagues here mentioned, which afflict only the Body, or outward Man; So the ſence is, Who, by their Afflictions are brought to a true and ſerious ſence of their worſe and inward Plague of their Sins, which are moſt fitly called the plague of the heart, becauſe that is both the principal Seat of Sin, and the Fountain from whence all actual Sins flow, Matth. 15. 19. Or rather, 2. His Affliction; for ſo this is Explained in the parallel-place, 2 Chron. 6. 29. (which is the more conſiderable, becauſe that Book was written after this, to explain what was dark or doubtful, and to ſupply what was lacking in this) when every one ſhall know his own ſore, and his own grief; which is not unfitly called, the plague of his heart, becauſe it was that Plague which his Heart was moſt Afflicted with, which pained him at the very heart; as the Phraſe is, Jer. 4. 19. compare Pſal. 55. 4. which cauſed him moſt vexation or grief, which is a Paſſion of the Heart: and ſo the ſence is, Who ſhall know, i.e. be duly and deeply ſenſible of his Affliction, and the hand of God in it; and his Sin as the cauſe of it: for Words of Knowledge in Scripture, do very frequently note ſuch a kind of Knowledge as affects and changeth the Heart, and reforms the whole courſe of a Man's Life; for which cauſe, Men of ungodly Lives are frequently ſaid in Scripture not to know God, or Chriſt, or his Word, &c. And therefore no man knows his ſore in a Scripture-ſence, but he who bears the rod, who turneth unto him that ſmiteth him, and ſincerely ſeeketh to the Lord for Relief.

39 Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways c, whoſe heart thou knoweſt d, (for thou, even thou only knoweſt the hearts of all the children of men.)

c According to his Repentance, or Impenitency. I pray with more hope and confidence, becauſe I do not deſire that thou wouldſt deliver ſuch as are inſenſible of thy Judgments, and their Sin; but only thoſe who truly know the Plague of their own Heart, in manner before explained. d Thou knoweſt who are truly Penitent, and who are not; and therefore the granting of my Requeſt will be no diſhonour to thy Government, nor injury to thy Holy Nature.

41 Moreover concerning a ſtranger that is not of thy people Iſrael, but cometh out of a far country for thy Names ſake f; f This may note, either 1. The end of his coming, that he may Worſhip, and Glorifie thy Name: or rather, 2. The motive, or occaſion of his Coming, which was the fame of God's Greatneſs, and Power, and Kindneſs to his People: as the following words Explain it.

42 (For they ſhall hear of thy great Name, and of thy ſtrong hand, and of thy ſtretched-out arm) when he ſhall come and pray towards this houſe.

43 Hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and do according to all that the ſtranger calleth to thee for g: that all people of the earth may know thy Name, to fear thee, as do thy people Iſrael h, and that they may know that † this houſe, which I have builded, is called by thy Name i.

g To wit, Agreeable to thy Will and Word: for he would not have them heard, if they had prayed for any thing diſhonourable to God, or deſtructive to his People. It is obſervable, That his prayer for the Strangers is more large, and comprehenſive, than for the Iſraelites; that thereby he might both ſhew his Publick-ſpiritedneſs, and encourage Strangers to the Worſhip of the True God. h Whereby we ſee, how ſincerely and heartily the ancient and godly Jews deſired the Converſion of the Gentiles; whereas, the latter and degenerate Jews, in the days of Chriſt, and of the Apoſtles, did Envy, Oppoſe it, and Fret at it. i i.e. Is owned, not only by us, but by thy ſelf, as thy Houſe; the only place in the World to which thou wilt vouchſafe thy Preſence and Protection, and wherein thou wilt be Publickly and Solemnly ſerved.

64 The * ſame day did the king hallow the middle of the court m that was before the houſe of the LORD: for there he offered burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings, becauſe * the brazen altar that was before the LORD, was too little to receive the burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings. *2 Chron. 7. 7. *2 Chr. 4. 1 m To wit, of the Prieſts Court, in which the great Altar was. This he Conſecrated as he did the great Altar, to wit, by Sacrifices; but with this difference, That he Conſecrated That for laſting and perpetual uſe: but This only for the preſent time and occaſion, being warranted to do ſo both by the nneceſſity of it for God's Service, and for the preſent Solemn Work, for which the Brazen Altar was not ſufficient, as it here follows; and by the direction of God's Spirit, wherewith Solomon was endowed, as being a Prophet, as well as a King. Here therefore he ſuddenly reared up divers Altars, which after this Solemnity were demoliſhed.

65 And at that time Solomon held a feaſt n, and all Iſrael with him, a great congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt o, before the LORD p our God, ſeven days, and ſeven days q, even fourteen days.

n i.e. Kept the Solemnity. o The uſual and known bounds of the Land, in the utmoſt length of it, of which, ſee Num. 34. 8. Joſh. 13. 5. Judg. 3. 3. p i.e. Before the Temple, and as in God's Preſence. q Seven for the Dedication of the Temple, or Altar; and the other ſeven for the Feaſt of Tabernacles; as may be gathered from 2 Chron. 7. 9. And it ſeems to be expreſſed in this manner, to intimate, that theſe 14 days of Rejoycing, were not all together, but that there was ſome interval between them, which indeed was neceſſary, becauſe the Day of Atonement was on the Tenth Day of this Month, Levit. 23. 27. And becauſe theſe 14 days ended on the Twenty-ſecond day, 2 Chron. 7. 10. it may ſeem moſt probable, that the Feaſt of the Dedication was kept before the Tenth day: and the Feaſt of Tabernacles ſome days after it.

66 On the eighth day he ſent the people away r: and they ‖ bleſſed the king s, and went unto their tents joyful and glad of heart, for all the goodneſs that the LORD had done for David t his ſervant, and for Iſrael his people. ‖ Or, thanked.

r Solomon having joyned with the People in the Solemn Aſſembly, which was kept on the Eighth day; in the cloſe of that Day and Service, he took his ſolemn farewel, and diſmiſſed them with his Bleſſing; and the next Morning when the Heads and Elders who came to Solomon upon this ſpecial Summons, above ver. 3. and with them divers of the People came to take their leave of the King, he ſent them away. And ſo this place agrees very well with 2 Chron. 7. 9, 10. s i e. They prayed to God to Bleſs him, according to their duty and cuſtom. Or, they praiſed him, for his great care and pains in Building of the Temple, aud ſetting up God's Worſhip among them. t In giving him a ſure Houſe, and a wiſe and religious Son, by whom he had now fulfilled the Promiſe made to David about the Building of the Temple.

2 That the LORD appeared to Solomon the ſecond time a, * as he had appeared unto him at Gibeon. *Cha. 3. 5.

a To wit, in a Dream or Viſion: for that which is mentioned, Chap. 6. 11. ſeems to have been imparted unto him by ſome Prophet or Meſſenger ſent from God, with that Errand. The time of this Revelation was, either 1. after all Solomon's Buildings, as the words, thus rendred plainly imply. And if it ſeem ſtrange, that God ſhould not Reveal this purpoſe and ſentence of his concerning the Temple, till ſo many years after the finiſhing of it; it muſt be conſidered, 1. That as it is an act of God's ſingular Grace, when he doth thus Reveal himſelf to any Perſon, ſo it is but meet he ſhould chuſe his own time for it. 2. That God had preſently after the finiſhing of the Temple, at the Feaſt of the Dedication of it, ſufficiently ſhewed his acceptance and approbation of it, by that glorious Cloud, Chap. 8. 10, 11. and therefore this Revelation was not then neceſſary. 3. That God might chuſe this as the fitteſt time for giving Solomon the following Admonition, when he perceived that his heart began to be lifted up in Pride, for his ſumptuous and magnificent Buildings, &c. and that he was grown vain, and careleſs, and ſecure; and therefore moſt needed ſuch an awakening Oracle. Or, 2. Preſently after the Building of the Temple, as may be thought from the Matter of this Revelation, which ſeems beſt to ſuit with that time when it was newly Built, and when Solomon's Prayer here mentioned was newly made: for ſeeing the following words contain God's Anſwer to that Prayer, it ſeems improbable, that the Anſwer ſhould come ſo many Years after it. But then this ſecond Verſe, and the reſt even to ver. 11. are to be incloſed with a Parentheſis; and the place muſt be thus rendred, ver. 2. For (ſo the Hebrew Vau is oft rendred) the Lord appeared, or, had appeared to Solomon, &c. ver. 3. And the Lord had ſaid unto him, &c.

And this Parentheſis may ſeem to have a foundation in ver. 10. where the firſt Verſe (in ſubſtance, though not in the very ſame words) is repeated, as is uſual after long digreſſions; and then he compleats the Sentence, ver. 11, &c. which till then had been ſuſpended. Nor are ſuch long Parentheſis without Example in Scripture; See my Latin Synopſis, on Rom. 5. 12, &c. Eph. 3. 1, &c. Revel. 22. 7.

3 And the LORD ſaid unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and thy ſupplication that thou haſt made

b I have, by my glorious Preſence in the Cloud, and by my acceptation of thy Sacrifices, Sanctified it to my proper uſe and Service. c As long as the Moſaical Diſpenſation laſts; whereas hitherto my Name and Worſhip hath been ſucceſſively in ſeveral places d i. e. My watchful and gracious Providence. e My true and tender Affection. f Shall be towards this Place and People. g Upon condition of your Obedience; as it here follows.

4 And if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked h, in integrity of heart, and in uprightneſs, to do according to all that I have commanded thee, and wilt keep my ſtatutes and my judgments:

i Upon that condition; for my Promiſe to David was Conditional.

* 2 Sam. 7. 14. 6 But * if ye ſhall at all turn from following k Or rather, if ye ſhall wholly turn, &c. If you ſhall wilfully and obſtinately depart from God, and violate his Laws, as the doubling of the Word implies. Whereby he alſo intimates, That he would not be ſo rigid and ſevere towards them, as to mark every thing that was amiſs; but would bear with much, as he did in David, &c. only that he would not endure a total defection from him.

and Iſrael ſhall be a proverb m, and a by-word among all people:

l I will not regard it; I will take away my Protection and gracious Preſence from it. m Their Miſeries ſhall be named Proverbially, to expreſs extream Calamities. See Deut. 28. 37.

8 And at this houſe which is high n, every one that paſſeth by it ſhall be aſtoniſhed o, and ſhall hiſs p; * Deut. 29. 24. Jer. 22. 8. and they ſhall ſay, * Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and to this houſe?

n i. e. Exalted in its Priviledges, Glorious, and Renowned. The Particle which is oft underſtood, and is here fitly ſupplied out of 2 Chron. 7. 21. where it is expreſſed. o At its unexpected and wonderful Ruine. p By way of Contempt and Deriſion. See Jer. 19.8 and 49. 17. and 50. 13.

9 And they ſhall anſwer, Becauſe they forſook the LORD their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worſhipped them, and ſerved them: therefore hath the LORD brought upon them all this evil.

*2Chr.8.1. 10 ¶ And * it came to paſs at the end of twenty *Chap 6. 37, 38. and 7. 1. years, * when Solomon had built the two houſes, the houſe of the LORD, and the kings houſe,

11 (Now Hiram the king of Tyre had furniſhed Solomon with cedar-trees, and fir-trees, and with gold, according to all his deſire) that then king Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee p.

p Or, near (as Beth oft ſignifies, as hath been proved before) the Land of Galilee bordering upon it; in thoſe parts which were near, and adjoyning to Hiram's Dominions. with the Cities, underſtand the Lands and Territories belonging to them. Queſt How could Solomon give away any part of that Land wherein the People had a Right by a Divine Lot, and God had a Right, as being the only Proprietary of it; upon which ground the total Alienation of it, or any part of it, was forbidden. Levit. 25. 23? Anſw. 1. It is not ſaid, that he gave them away wholly, and for ever; but he might Aſſign them to him only for a time, until he was fully ſatisfied for his Debt. 2 If theſe Cities were poſſeſſed by Iſraelites, Solomon did not give him their particular Poſſeſſions, but only his own Royalties over them, and all the Profits he received from them. which were very conſiderable, as may be gathered from that paſſage, Chap 12.4. 3. Theſe Cities, though they were within thoſe large bounds which God fixed to the Land of Promiſe, Gen. 15. 18 Joſ. 1. 4. yet were not within thoſe parts which were diſtributed by Lot in Joſhua's Time; nor belonging to the Tribe of Aſher, (as ſome ſuppoſe) as may be gathered both from Joſh. 19. ver. 27. where their border is ſaid to go out only to the Land of Cabul; to wit, excluſively: and ver. 30 where all their Cities are ſaid to be but twenty and two; and from 2 Chron. 8. 2. where it is ſaid of thoſe Cities, when Hiram reſtored them, That Solomon built them, and cauſed the children of Iſrael to dwell there. Which makes it more than probable, that theſe Cities were not Inhabited by Iſraelites, but by Canaanites, or other Heathens; who being Subdued, and Extirpated by David, or Solomon, thoſe Cities became a part of their Dominions, and at their Diſpoſal; and afterwards were reckon'd a part of Galilee, as Joſephus notes. And may be one reaſon, why he gave theſe, rather than other Cities, becauſe they were in his power to give, when others were not.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to ſee the cities which Solomon had given him, and they † pleaſed † Heb. Were not right in his eyes.
him not q.

q He did not accept them for ſatisfaction, becauſe the Cities were out of repair, as appears from ver. 13 and the Soyl not good in his Eyes, and therefore he refuſed them, 2 Chron. 8. 2. and expected, and doubtleſs had ſatisfaction ſome other way; as may be gathered from the following Story.

13 And he ſaid, What cities are theſe which thou haſt given me, my brother? And he called them the land of ‖ Cabul r unto this day. ‖ That is, diſpleaſing, or, dirty.

r i. e. Of dirt, as moſt interpret it. Not that It was a barren Soil, as ſome imagine; for they who deſcribe thoſe parts, commend them as Fruitful: nor would Solomon have made him ſo unworthy a return: but becauſe it was not pleaſant, nor agreeable to his, nor to his Peoples Humour; becauſe, though the Land was very good, yet being a thick and ſtiff Clay, and therefore requiring great pains to Manure and Improve it, it was very unſuitable to the diſpoſition of the Tyrians, who were Delicate, and Lazy, and Luxurious, and wholly given to Merchandiſe.

14 And Hiram ſent s to the king ſixſcore talents of gold.

s Or rather, for Hiram had ſent. And this ſeems to be here added, both to declare the quantity of the Gold ſent, which had been only named before, ver. 11. and as the reaſon why he reſented Solomon's Action ſo ill, becauſe ſo great a Sum required a better Recompence.

15 ¶ And this is the reaſon of the levy which king Solomon raiſed t, for to build the houſe of the LORD, and his own houſe, and Millo u, and the wall of Jeruſalem, and Hazor x, and Megiddo y, and Gezer z.

t Both the Levy of Men; of which, Chap. 5. 13. and the Levy of Money upon his People and Subjects, which is ſufficiently evident from many Scriptures. And this Sentence may look both backward and forward. He raiſed this Levy, both to pay what he owed to Hiram, which is mentioned before; and to Build the Works here following. u It ſeems to have been an eminent, and large, and ſtrong Fort or Caſtle in Jeruſalem; as may be gathered from 1 Kings 11. 27. 2 Chron. 32. 5. x In Napthali, See Joſh. 11. 10. and 19. 36. y In that part of the Tribe of Manaſſeh within Jordan: of which ſee Joſh 17. 15. z In Ephraim, Joſh. 21. 21. It now was, and long had been in the poſſeſſion of the Canaanites, Joſh. 16. 10. Judg. 1 29. and permitted ſo to be by David, and Solomon; either by neglect, or becauſe they were buſied in greater and more neceſſary Employments.

16 For Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up, and taken Gezer a, and burnt it with fire, and ſlain the Canaanites that dwelt in the City, and given it for a preſent unto his daughter, Solomons wife.

a Not now, but long before this time, and preſently after the Marriage of his Daughter, as is moſt probable; and it is here mentioned only as the occaſion of Solomon's Building it. Poſſibly the Canaanites of this place had been guilty of ſome hainous Crime; and becauſe Solomon thought not fit to deſtroy them himſelf, he deſired Pharaoh to do it for him, or Pharaoh might offer his Service therein for his Daughter's advantage.

17 And Solomon built Gezer, and Beth-horon the nether b, b In Benjamin, Joſ. 18. 13, 14. and Bethoron the upper, which is added 2 Chron. 8. 5. a City in the Tribe of Ephraim, Joſ. 16. 5. poſſibly bordering upon Benjamin, and nigh unto the lower Bethoron: which alone may be here mentioned, either, becauſe it was the more famous place: or, becauſe it needed more reparations.

18 And Baalath c, and Tadmor d, in the wilderneſs, in the land e, c In the Tribe of Dan, Joſ. 19. 40, 44. d Suppoſed to be called Tamar, Ezek. 47. 19. e This Clauſe may belong either firſt, to all the places above-mentioned, which are here declared to be in the Land of Canaan. But ſo that Clauſe may ſeem ſuperfluous; for none would eaſily think that he would Build much out of his own Land. Or rather, Secondly, To Tadmor, which otherwiſe being in that Wilderneſs which was the border of the Land, might have been preſumed to have been out of the Land.

19 And all the cities of ſtore f that Solomon had, and cities for his charets, and cities for his horſemen, and † that which Solomon deſired to build in † Heb. the deſire of Solomon which he deſired.
Jeruſalem, and in Lebanon g, and in all the land of his dominion.

f To lay up Arms and Ammunition for War, and Corn, or other Proviſions, againſt a time of ſcarcity. See Exod. 1. 11. g Either in the Mountain of Lebanon, which being the Border of his Land, he might Build ſome Forts, or a Frontier City in it. Or, in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon: of which ſee Chap. 7. 2.

20 And all the people that were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebuſites, which were not of the children of Iſrael,

* Judg. 1. 21,27,29 21 Their children * that were left after them in the land whom the children of Iſrael alſo were not able utterly to deſtroy, upon thoſe did Solomon levy a tribute of bond-ſervice h unto this day.

h He uſed them as Bond-men, and impoſed Burdens and Bodily Labours upon them. See 2 Chron 2. 18. Hence ſome think they are called Solomon's ſervants, Ezra 2. 55, 58. Queſt. Why did not Solomon deſtroy them, as God had commanded, when now it was fully in his power to do ſo? Anſ. Firſt, The command of deſtroying them, Deut. 7. 2. did chiefly, if not only, concern that Generation of Canaanites, who lived in or near the time of the Iſraelites entring into Canaan. Secondly, That Command ſeems not to be Abſolute and Univerſal, but Conditional, and with ſome Exception for thoſe who ſhould ſubmit to them, and embrace the True Religion, as may be gathered both from Joſ. 11. 19. and from the Hiſtory of the Gibeonites, Joſ. 9. whom Joſhua did not ſin in ſparing, when he had Sworn to do ſo; and Saul did ſin in endeavouring to deſtroy them. But if God's Command had been Abſolute, the Oaths of Joſhua, and of the Princes, could not have obliged them, nor diſpenſed with ſuch a Command.

22 But of the children of Iſrael did Solomon * make no bond-man: but they were men of war, and his ſervants, and his princes, and his captains, and rulers of his charets, and his horſemen, * Lev. 25. 39.

23 Theſe were the chief of the officers that were over Solomons work, five hundred and fifty i, which bare rule over the people that wrought in the work.

i Obj. They were only 250 in 2 Chron. 8. 10. Anſ. Firſt, Thoſe might be Officers of another ſort; for they are not ſaid to be over the work, as theſe are, but only over the people. Secondly, The 250 were Iſraelites, who are therefore diſtinctly mentioned in that Book, where many things are more exactly noted than in the former; and the other 300 were ſtrangers, who therefore are neglected in that more accurate account. Or, Thirdly, There was but 250 at one time, which is noted there, and 250 at another time, (for it is apparent they did their work by turns) and the other 50 either were Superior to all the reſt; or rather, were a reſerve to ſupply the place of any of the 500 when there was occaſion, which might frequently happen. And ſo this was an act not unbecoming Solomon's Wiſdom, to make proviſion for Emergencies.

* 2 Chron. 8. 11. * Chap. 7. 8. 24 ¶ But* Pharaohs daughter came up out of the city of David, unto * her houſe which Solomon had built for her: then did he build Millo.

25 ¶ And three times in a year k did Solomon offer burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings upon the altar which he built unto the LORD, and he burnt incenſe † upon the altar that was before the LORD: ſo he finiſhed the houſe l. † Heb. upon it.

k i. e. At the three Solemn Feaſts. Which is not ſaid excluſively, as is evident both from 2 Chron. 8. 13. and from the expreſs and oft-repeated Commands of God to offer at other times, which it is abſurd to think that Solomon, not yet fallen into ſin, ſhould ſo wickedly and ſcandalouſly neglect; but becauſe then he did it more Solemnly, and more coſtlily, and more publickly: whereby it might be preſumed, that he did ſo at all other appointed times. l Or, ſo he perfected the houſe, to wit, by applying it to the uſe for which it was made, in which the perfection of ſuch things conſiſts. Or, the houſe may be put Metonymically for the Work or Service of the Houſe, as it is elſewhere commonly uſed for the things or perſons in the Houſe. Or, the words may be, and are rendred thus, After that (for ſo the Hebrew Vau oft ſignifies, as Iſa. 37. 9, 36. Hoſ. 1. 11. Zech. 12. 2.) he finiſhed the houſe; i. e. From the time of the finiſhing of the Houſe, until this time, he continued to do ſo.

* 2 Chron. 8. 17. 26 ¶ And * king Solomon made a navy of ſhips m, in Ezion-Geber, which is beſide Eloth n, on the † ſhore of the red ſea, in the land of Edom o. † Heb. lip.

m Not now in the order in which it is placed in the Hiſtory, but in the beginning of his Reign; as appears, becauſe the Almug-trees which he uſed in this Work, were brought in this Navy from Ophir, Chap. 10, 11, 12. 2 Chron. 9. 10, 11. which was a three Years Voyage there, ver. 22. For Ophir and Tharſis were either the ſame place, or one near to another. r Or, Elath, as it it is called 2 Kings 14. 22. See Deut. 2. 8. It is thought to be that famous Port on the Red Sea, which Ptolemy and Strabo call Elana. o Which David brought under his Dominion, and Solomon kept it.

27 And Hiram ſent in the navy his ſervants, ſhip-men that had knowledge of the ſea p, with the ſervants of Solomon.

p For which the Tyrians were famous. He ſent alſo Ships to joyn with Solomon's, 2 Chron. 8. 18. not from Tyre, the famous City of Phœnicia, which was in the Midland Sea, from whence he could not Sail to the Red-Sea, without fetching a vaſt compaſs; but from an Iſland in the Red-Sea, called Tyre, becauſe it was a Colony of the Tyrians, as Strabo notes.

28 And they came to Ophir q, and fet from thence gold, four hundred and twenty talents r, and brought it to king Solomon.

b A place famous for the plenty and fineneſs of the Gold there; Of which ſee Gen. 2. 11, 12. Job 22. 24. and 28. 16. Pſal. 45. 9. Iſa. 13. 12. It is manifeſt and agreed, that it was a part of the Eaſt-Indies. which though very remote from us, yet was far nearer to the Red-Sea, from whence they might eaſily Sail to it in theſe Ancient Times, becauſe they needed not to go far from the Coaſt to come to it, becauſe they might (according to the manner of theſe firſt Ages) Sail all along near the Coaſt, though the Voyage was thereby more tedious, which was the reaſon why three Years were ſpent in it. And here, and here only were to be had all the Commodities which Solomon fetched from Ophir, 1 Kings 10. 22. r In all there came to the King 450 Talents, whereof it ſeems 30 Talents were allowed by Solomon to Hiram and his Men for the Voyage, and ſo there were only 420 that came clearly into the King's Treaſury.

CHAP. X.

The Queen of Sheba cometh to Jeruſalem: admireth Solomon's Wiſdom and Glory: Giveth God thanks, and Solomon Preſents, 1,——10. His Riches, 11,—15. Targets: Ivory Throne, Veſſels, 16,——23. Preſents: Chariots and Horſes, Tribute, 24,—29.

AND when the * queen of Sheba a heard of the fame of Solomon, concerning the Name of the LORD b, ſhe came to prove him with hard queſtions c. * 2 Chr. 9. 1. Mat. 12. 42 Luk. 11. 31

a Either, Firſt, Of Æthiopia, as that People by conſtant Tradition from their Anceſtors affirm, which alſo was truly in the ends of the earth, whence ſhe came, Matt. 12. 42. Or rather, Secondly, Of that part of Arabia, called Sabæa, which was at a great diſtance from Jeruſalem, and really in the ends of the earth, and bordering upon the Southern Sea; for there, much more than in Ethiopia, were the Commodities which ſhe brought, v. 2, 10. Howſoever, this is here ſaid for her commendation, That being a Woman, and a Queen, and living at great eaſe, and in ſuch remote parts, ſhe was willing to take ſo long and chargeable a Journey to improve her ſelf in knowledge, and that of Divine things, as is here implied. b i. e. Concerning the great Work which he had done for the Name, i. e. the Honour, and Service, and Worſhip of the Lord, as it is expreſſed Chap. 8. 17. and elſewhere. Or, concerning God; the Name of God being oft put for God, as hath been noted before; concerning his deep knowledge in the things of God. For it is very probable, that ſhe had, as alſo had divers other Heathens, ſome knowledge of the True God, and an earneſt deſire to know more of the Being. and Nature, and VVorſhip of God, wherein the Heathens were generally at a great loſs, and which many of them deſired and endeavoured to underſtand. Or, concerning the great things which God had done for him, eſpecially in giving him ſuch incomparable Wiſdom, and that in an extraordinary manner. c Concerning Natural, and Civil, and eſpecially, concerning Divine things, about which there are, and ever were the hardeſt queſtions.

2 And ſhe came to Jeruſalem with a very great † train, with camels that bare ſpices, and very much gold, and precious ſtones: and when ſhe was come to Solomon, ſhe communed with him of all that was in her heart d. † Heb. hoſt. So Gr.

See 2 Kings 16. 18. But the Ancients, and ſome others, tranſlate the words thus, and the burnt-offerings which he offered up in the houſe of the Lord; under which, as the chief, all other Sacrifices are underſtood: when ſhe ſaw the manner of his offering Sacrifices to the Lord, which doubtleſs ſhe would not neglect to ſee; and in the ordering of which ſhe might diſcern many Characters of excellent Wiſdom, eſpecially when ſhe had ſo excellent an Interpreter as Solomon was, to inform her of the reaſons of all the circumſtances of that Service. m She was aſtoniſhed, and wrapt up in a kind of extaſie, and could ſcarce determine whether ſhe did really ſee theſe things, or whether it was not only a pleaſant Dream.

6 And ſhe ſaid to the king, It was a true † report that I heard in my own land, of thy ‖ acts, and of thy wiſdom. † Heb. word. ‖ Or, ſayings.

10 And ſhe gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of ſpices very great ſtore, and precious ſtones: there came no more ſuch abundance of ſpices, as theſe which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.

11 And the navy alſo of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great plenty of Almug-trees, and precious ſtones.

15 Beſides that he had of the merchant-men x; and of the traffique of the ſpice-merchants y, and of all the kings of Arabia z, and of the ‖ governours of the country a.

So this and the former particular contain both the branches of the King's Revenue, what he had from the Land and Fruits thereof, and what he had from the Merchants and Traders in other Commodities. z To wit, of thoſe parts of Arabia which were next to Canaan, which were either conquered by David, or ſubmitted to pay Tribute to Solomon. But we muſt not think all theſe to be Kings of large Dominions, but many of them only Governours of Cities, and the Territories belonging to them, ſuch as were formerly in Canaan, and were anciently called Kings. a Or, of the land, or of that land, for there is an Article in the Hebrew, i.e. either of the Land of Canaan: or rather, of the Land of Arabia: whereof ſome parts were ſo far Conquered, that he had Governors of his own over them, who were each of them to take care of the King's Revenue in his Juriſdiction; and part only ſo far, that they ſtill had Kings of their own, but ſuch as were Tributaries to him.

16 ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred * targets of beaten gold b: ſix hundred ſhekels of gold went to one target.

* 1 Sam. 17. 6.

b For Pomp and Magnificence, and (as may be thought from the uſe of the Brazen Shields, Chap. 14. 27, 28.) to be carried before him, by his Guard, when he went abroad.

h Either, Firſt, The Ships of the Sea, which may ſeem to be called Tarſhiſh, as Pſal. 48. 7. Iſa. 60. 9. from an eminent part of the Sea near Judea, ſo called. Or rather, the Ships that went to Tarſhiſh. For Tarſhiſh was the name of a certain place upon the Sea, famous for its Traffick with Merchants, as it is manifeſt from Iſa. 23. 6, 10. and 66. 19. Jer. 10. 9. Ezek. 27. 12. and it was a place very remote from Judea, as appears from the 3 Years uſually ſpent in that Voyage. But whether it was Spain, where in thoſe times there was abundance of Gold and Silver, as Strabo and others affirm; or, ſome place in the Indies, it is needleſs to determine.

23 So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth in riches, and for wiſdom.

24 ¶ And all the earth i † ſought to Solomon, to hear his wiſdom which God had put in his heart.

† Heb. ſought the face of, &c.

29 And a charet p, came up, and went out of Egypt for ſix hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and an horſe for an hundred and fifty: and ſo for all the kings of the Hittites q, and for the kings of Syria, did they bring them out † by their means.

p This is not to be underſtood of the Charets and Horſes themſelves, (for then all Horſes had been ſet at an equal price, which is moſt abſurd) but by a Metonymy, for the Lading of Charets and Horſes, which conſiſting of fine Linen and Silk, &c. were of great value; and the King's Cuſtom, together with the Charges of the Journey, amounted to theſe ſums. q A People dwelling principally in the Northern and Eaſtern parts of Canaan, Joſ. 1. 4. whom the Iſraelites, contrary to their Duty, ſpared, and ſuffered to live among them, Judg. 3. 5. who afterwards, it ſeems, grew numerous and potent, and, it may be, they ſent out Colonies (after the manner of the Ancient Times) into ſome parts of Syria and Arabia; and poſſibly, theſe kings of the Hittites may be ſome of thoſe kings of Arabia, 1 Kings 10. 15.

2 Of the nations concerning which the LORD ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, * Ye ſhall not go in to them c, neither ſhall they come in unto you ; for ſurely they will turn away your heart after their gods d : Solomon clave unto theſe in love.

c i. e. Marry them. See on Gen. 6. 4. d Poſſibly Solomon might think himſelf too Wiſe to be drawn to Idolatry by his Wives, and therefore to be unconcerned in the reaſon of the Law ; and conſequently free in ſome meaſure from the Obligation of the Law ; and ſo, like our firſt Parents, truſting his own Fancy more than God's Word, he fell dreadfully.

3 And he had ſeven hundred wives, princeſſes, and three hundred concubines e : and his wives turned away his heart.

e Partly, for his Luſt, which being indulged, becomes infinite and unſatiable ; and partly, from his Pride, accounting this a point of Honour and Magnificence.

* Chap. 15. 3.

4 For it came to paſs, when Solomon was old f, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods g : and * his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father.

f As having now reigned nigh 30 Years, when it might have been expected that Age ſhould have cooled his Luſt, and Experience have made him wiſer and better, and when probably he was ſecure as to any ſuch miſcarriages : Then God permitted him to fall ſo ſhamefully, that he might be to all ſucceeding Generations an example of God's Severity, and of the folly, and weakneſs, and wickedneſs of the wiſeſt and beſt Men, when left to themſelves. g Not that they changed his Mind or Opinion about the True God, and Idols, which is not credible ; but that they cooled his Zeal againſt them, obtained from him a publick Indulgence for their Worſhip, and Money for the making of Idols, and the ſupport of the Charges of their Prieſts and Sacrifices, and poſſibly perſuaded him ſometimes in complaiſance to joyn with them in the outward act of Idol-worſhip ; or, at leaſt, in their Feaſts upon their Sacrifices, which was a participation of their Idolatry. See Pſalm 106. 28. 1 Cor. 10. 20.

* Judg. 2. 13. 2 King. 23. 13. * Judg. 2. 13.

5 For Solomon went after h * Aſhtaroth the goddeſs of the Zidonians, and after * Milcom i the abomination of the Amorites.

8 And likewiſe did he for all his ſtrange wives o, which burnt incenſe, and ſacrificed unto their gods.

o Having once given way to ſome few of his moſt beloved Wives, he was forced to comply with the reſt.

* Chap. 3. 5. and 9. 2.

9 ¶ And the LORD was angry with Solomon, becauſe his heart was turned from the LORD God of Iſrael p, * which had appeared unto him q twice, p From the expreſs Command, and from the Worſhip of God ; not that he wholly neglected God, but becauſe God eſteems all the Worſhip of Idols (though it be not excluſive of, but conjoyned with his own Worſhip) to be a forſaking of, and departing from God, and oft-times ſo calls it. q To wit, in an extraordinary, and moſt gracious, and obliging manner.

* Chap. 6. 12.

10 And * had commanded him concerning this thing, that he ſhould not go after other gods : but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

† Heb. is with thee. * Ver. 31. Ch. 12. 15.

11 wherefore the LORD ſaid unto Solomon r, Foraſmuch as this † is done of thee, and thou haſt not kept my covenant, and my ſtatutes which I have commanded thee, * I will ſurely rend ſ the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy ſervant t.

r Either by ſuggeſtion to his mind : or, by appearance to him in a terrible manner : or by the Prophet Abijah, of whom ver. 29. ſ I will violently take away. The word in the Hebrew is doubled for the greater aſſurance of the thing. t To one of thy Servants and Subjects ; which was Jeroboam, ver. 26, &c.

12 Notwithſtanding, in thy days I will not do it, for David thy fathers ſake u : but I will rend it out of the hand of thy ſon.

u For the reſpect I bear to his Memory, and for my promiſe ſake made to him, 2 Sam. 7.

13 Howbeit, I will not rend away all the kingdom : but will give one tribe x to thy ſon, for David my ſervants ſake, and for Jeruſalems ſake y, which I have choſen.

x How but one, when he had both Judah and Benjamin, 2 Chron. 11. 12? Anſ Either Benjamin is ſwallowed up in Judah, becauſe it was comparatively very ſmall, and their habitation much intermixed with that of Judah : or, one, to wit, of that kingdom which he here threatens to rend away from him, i. e. Of the Kingdom of Iſrael ; and that was Benjamin : one beſide Judah, which was his own Tribe : or, but one, becauſe Benjamin was not entirely his, but part of it adhered to Jeroboam, as Bethel, 1 King. 12. 29 and Hephron, 2 Chron. 13. 19. both which were Towns of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 22. Or, if God promiſed to give one, and gave him two, I ſuppoſe that was no great Injury to him. y Not, ſurely, for its merits ; but becauſe he had choſen it, as it follows, to be the Seat of his Temple and Worſhip ; it being God's uſual method to give to him that hath, and to continue and multiply favours to them whom he hath begun to favour.

14 ¶ And the LORD ſtirred up an adverſary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite, he was of the kings ſeed in Edom.

* 2 Sam. 8. 14. * Numb. 24. 19. Deut. 20. 13.

15 * For it came to paſs when David was in Edom z, and Joab the captain of the hoſt was gone up to bury the ſlain a, * after he had ſmitten every male in Edom b.

z To wit, by his Army, to War againſt it. See 1 Chron. 18. 12, 13. a To wit, the Iſraelites which were ſlain in the Battel, 2 Sam. 8. 13, 14. whom he honourably interred in ſome certain place, to which he is ſaid to go up for that end. And this may be mentioned as that which gave Hadad the opportunity of making his eſcape, whilſt Joab and his Men were employed in that Solemnity. b Or, and he ſmote, &c. as it is in the Hebrew. Which is here noted as the cauſe of Hadad's flight ; he ſmote, &c. He underſtood what Joab had done in part, and intended further to do, even to kill all the Males, and therefore fled for his life.

16 (For ſix months did Joab remain there with all Iſrael, until he had cut off every male in Edom)

17 That Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his fathers ſervants with him, to go into Egypt ; Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they aroſe out of Midian c, and came to Paran, and they took men with them out of Paran d, and they came to Egypt unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gave him an houſe, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land e.

c He fled at firſt with an intent to go into Egypt, as is ſaid, ver. 17. but took Midian, a neighbouring Country, in his way, and ſtaid there a while, poſſibly till he had by ſome of his Servants tried Pharaoh's Mind, and prepared the way for his Reception. d Another Country in the Road from Edom to Egypt, where he hired Men to attend him, that making his entrance there ſomething like a Prince, he might find more favour and reſpect from that King and People. e To ſupport himſelf and his Train out of the Profits of it.

19 And Hadad found great favour in the ſight of Pharaoh f, ſo that he gave him to wife the ſiſter of his own wife, the ſiſter of Tahpenes the queen.

f God ſo diſpoſing his Heart, that Hadad might be a ſcourge to Solomon for his Impieties, which God foreſaw long before they were done.

20 And the ſiſter of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his ſon, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaohs houſe : and Genubath was in Pharaohs houſhold among the ſons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David ſlept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the hoſt g was dead, Hadad ſaid to Pharaoh, † Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country h.

g VVhom he feared as much as David himſelf. h VVhither accordingly he came ; and was there, even from the beginning of Solomon's Reign ; where he either lived as a private Perſon, yet ſecretly working for the recovery of his Crown when an opportunity was offered ; or rather, by the near relation which was between his VVife and Solomon's ; and, by Pharaoh's interceſſion, he obtained his Kingdom with condition of Subjection and Tribute to be paid by him to Solomon ; which Condition he kept till Solomon fell from God, and then it ſeems he began to be troubleſome to him, and dangerous to his Houſe and Kingdom.

22 Then Pharaoh ſaid unto him, But what haſt thou lacked with me, that behold thou ſeekeſt to go to thine own Country ? And he anſwered, † Nothing : Howbeit, let me go in any wiſe.

23 ¶ And God ſtirred him up another adverſary, Rezon, the ſon of Eliadah, which fled from his lord Hadadezer i king of Zobah k.

i VVhen David had defeated him : See 2 Sam. 10. 10, &c. k A part of Syria, between Damaſcus and Euphrates : of which ſee 1 Sam. 14. 47. 2 Chron. 8. 3. Pſalm 60. 2.

* 2 Sa. 8. 3. & 10. 18.

24 And he gathered men unto him, and became captain over a band l, * when David ſlew them of Zobah :

bah : and they m went to Damaſcus n, and dwelt therein, and reigned in Damaſcus.

l To wit, of Soldiers, who fled and diſperſed themſelves upon that Defeat, 2 Sam. 10. and others who readily joyned themſelves with them, and lived by Robbery, as many Arabians did. m When they were increaſed in number and ſtrength. n And took it, whilſt Solomon was wallowing in Luxury, and grown Effeminate.

25 And he was an adverſary to Iſrael all the days of Solomon o, beſide the miſchief that Hadad did p : and he abhorred Iſrael, and reigned over Syria q.

o He was a ſecret Enemy, watching all occaſions to do them miſchief cunningly and privately all that time; and when Solomon had forſaken God, and was forſaken by God, he ſhewed himſelf more openly and maliciouſly. p So the ſenſe is, This infelicity was added to the former concerning Hadad, mentioned above, ver. 14, &c. Whilſt Hadad moleſted him in the South, Rezon threatned him in the North. But ſome underſtand this of Hadadezer, who is here called Hadad, by way of abreviation, (which is not unuſual in proper Hebrew Names, as is well known) and that for, or becauſe of (for the Hebrew Particle eth, is ſometimes put for el, which oft ſignifies for, or becauſe of, as Hebricians know) the evil which befel Hadad, or Hadadezer; i. e. he bore a grudge againſt the Iſraelites from, and ever ſince the ſlaughter that Joab made in Hadadezer's Army, whereof he was a member, although he alſo took that occaſion of making a defection from his Maſter. q Over all that part of Syria, enlarging his Empire more and more, and thereby laying a foundation for much miſery to Solomon's Houſe and Kingdom.

* 2 Chron. 13. 6. 26 ¶ And * Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, an Ephrathite of Zereda, Solomons ſervant, (whoſe mothers name was Zeruah a widow woman) even he lift up his hand againſt the king r.

r i. e. Rebelled againſt the King, not now and immediately in the Perſon of Solomon himſelf, but in his Son and Succeſſor Rehoboam.

* Chap. 9. 24. † Heb cloſed. 27 And this was the cauſe that he lift up his hand againſt the king: * Solomon built Millo, and † repaired the breaches of the city of David his father.

† Heb. did work. † Heb. burden. 28 And the man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valour ſ: and Solomon ſeeing the young man that he † was induſtrious s, he made him ruler over all the † charge t of the houſe of Joſeph u.

ſ Or, a man of great ſtrength of Body, or courage of Mind, or both. s Ingenious, and diligent, and active, and every way fit for buſineſs, and for command. t i. e. The Taxes and Tributes which were to be gathered of the People by his Power and Authority. u Either of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, who were jointly comprehended under this name, Joſh. 17. 17. Or, of Ephraim only, who elſewhere comes under that name, as 1 Chron. 5. 1. Pſalm 78. 67. Ezek. 37. 16. And it ſeems moſt probable, that each Tribe had a ſeveral Ruler.

29 And it came to paſs at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jeruſalem x, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him in the way, and he had clad himſelf with a new garment; and they two were alone in the field y.

x Upon ſome occaſion, poſſibly to execute his Charge. y Having gone aſide thither for ſome private conference; for otherwiſe it is moſt likely that he had Servants attending upon him, who, though they heard not the words, yet might ſee the action, and the rending of Jeroboam's Coat; and thus it came to Solomon's Ears, who being ſo acute and wiſe, could eaſily underſtand the thing by what he heard of the action, eſpecially when a Prophet did it.

30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was
* See 1 Sam. 15. 27. and 24. 5. on him, and * rent it in twelve pieces.

* Ver. 11. 31 And he ſaid to Jeroboam, Take thee ten pieces z : for * thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee:

z Whence the Kingdom of Iſrael is oft called the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes: by which expreſſion it may ſeem, that David's Poſterity ſhould have one Tribe reſerved out of the Kingdom of Iſrael, beſides that of Judah, which becauſe of its Greatneſs and Eminency, is commonly diſtinguiſhed from Iſrael, and that not only after the diviſion of the two Kingdoms, but even before it, as 1 Sam. 11. 8. and 2 Sam. 5. 5.

32 (But he ſhall have one tribe a, for my ſervant Davids ſake, and for Jeruſalems ſake, the city which I have choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael) a See the Notes above on ver. 13.

33 Becauſe that they b have forſaken me, and have worſhipped Aſhtoreth the goddeſs of the Zidonians, Chemoſh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in my ways to do that which is right in mine eyes, and to keep my ſtatutes, and my judgments, as did David his father.

b i. e. The King, and his Concubines, and People, who eaſily followed his example, but were not at all excuſed by it.

34 Howbeit, I will not take the whole kingdom c out of his hand d: but I will make him prince all the days of his life, for David my ſervants ſake, whom I choſe, becauſe he kept my commandments and my ſtatutes e.

c To wit, of Iſrael, that which I have deſigned for thee. Or rather, I will not take any thing, or part of the kingdom. For the Hebrew Phraſe, lo col, which properly ſignifies not all, or not the whole, doth uſually ſignifie not any thing, as Deut. 8. 9. thou ſhalt not want every thing; i. e. not any thing. So alſo Gen. 4. 15. and 23. 6. and 39. 23. Pſal. 49. 18. and 143, 2, &c. d He ſhall poſſeſs it whilſt he lives, as it follows; and therefore thou ſhalt not yet attempt to invade it. e Whereby he ſheweth, that he doth not judge of Men by ſome particular acts, but by their general purpoſe and courſe of life.

* Chap. 12. 15. 35 But * I will take the kingdom out of his ſons hand, and will give it unto thee, even ten tribes.

* 2 King. 8. 19. † Heb. lamp, or candle. 36 And unto his ſon will I give one tribe, that * David my ſervant may have a † light f alway before me g in Jeruſalem, the city which I have choſen me, to put my Name there.

f i. e. A Son and Succeſſor, to preſerve his Name and Memory, and to give Light to the People in his ſtead. Kings are oft called Lights, partly, from their great Splendor; and partly, for the Counſel and Comfort which their People have or ſhould have from them. Compare 2 Sam. 21. 17. 1 King. 15. 4. Pſal. 132. 17. g In my preſence, which is in Jeruſalem, and under my favour and protection.

37 And I will take thee ∴, and thou ſhalt reign according to all that thy ſoul deſireth h, and ſhalt be king over Iſrael.

∴ And place thee in the Throne, as it follows. h He ſecretly taxeth him for his ambitious and aſpiring Mind.

38 And it ſhall be, if thou wilt hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do that is right in my ſight, to keep my ſtatutes, and my commandments, as David my ſervant did; that I will be with thee, and build thee a ſure houſe i, as I built for David, and will give Iſrael unto thee.

i i. e. Firmly ſettle thee and thy Poſterity in the Throne, as this or the like Phraſe is uſed, 2 Sam. 7. 16, 27. but he doth not ſay he would do this for ever, as is there ſaid of David's Houſe, v. 16.

39 And I will for this k afflict the ſeed of David, but not for ever l.

k For this cauſe, which I mentioned ver. 33. l There ſhall a time come when the Seed of David ſhall not be thus moleſted by the Kingdom of Iſrael, but that Kingdom ſhall be deſtroyed, and the Kings of the Houſe of David ſhall be uppermoſt, as it was in the days of Aſa, Hezekiah and Joſiah. And at laſt the Meſſiah ſhall come, who ſhall unite together the broken ſticks of Judah and Joſeph, and rule over all the Jews and Gentiles too.

40 Solomon m ſought therefore to kill Jeroboam: and Jeroboam aroſe, and fled into Egypt, unto Shiſhak king of Egypt n, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

m To whoſe Ears this might come, either, 1. by Jeroboam himſelf, who might ſpeak of this, either out of vain-glory and oſtentation; or, with deſign to prepare the People for his purpoſe. Or, 2. By the Servants. See above on ver. 29. n Who was either, firſt, Solomon's Brother-in-law, who yet might be jealous of him, or alienated from him, becauſe he had taken ſo many other Wives to his Siſter, as is here noted ver. 1. or, might caſt a greedy Eye upon the great riches and glorious things which Solomon had amaſſed together, and upon which, preſently after Solomon's death, he laid violent hands, 2 Chron. 12. 9. All this was known to Jeroboam, who therefore durſt put himſelf into Shiſhak's Protection; eſpecially, conſidering how little ſuch Relations commonly ſignifie in the Affairs of Princes; and withal, being made confident by God's Promiſe of the Kingdom. Or, 2. One of another Line or Houſe, to whom that Crown might deſcend for want of Iſſue.

41 ¶ And the reſt of the ‖ acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wiſdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon o? ‖ Or, words, or things.

o In the Publick Records, where the Lives and Actions of Kings were Regiſtred from time to time. So this was only a Political, but not a Sacred Book.

42 And the † time that Solomon reigned in Jeruſalem over all Iſrael, was * forty years. † Heb. days. * 2 Chron. 9. 30.

43 And Solomon ſlept with his fathers p, and was buried in the city of David his father: and * Rehoboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * Matth. 1. 7. called Roboam.

p This expreſſion is promiſcuouſly uſed concerning good and bad; and ſignifies only, that they died as their Fathers did. But hence Interpreters queſtion, Whether Solomon was ſaved, or damned? That he was damned, ſome believe upon this only Argument, That he died without Repentance; which they gather, 1. Becauſe his Repentance is not mentioned in his Hiſtory. 2. Becauſe if he had repented, he would have aboliſhed the Monuments of Idolatry which he had erected; which that he did not, they gather from 2 Kings 23. 13. Of which, (God aſſiſting) I ſhall ſpeak upon that place. But to the former, many things may be ſaid; 1. We read nothing of the Repentance of Adam; Noah, after his Drunkenneſs, Lot, Sampſon, Aſa, &c. ſhall we therefore conclude, they were all damned? The ſilence of the Scripture is a very weak Argument in matters of Hiſtory. 2. If he did Repent, yet the ſilence of the Scripture about it in this Hiſtory, was not without wiſe Reaſons; as, among others, That his Eternal Condition being thus far left doubtful, his Example might have the greater influence for the Terror and Caution of future Offenders. 3. His Repentance is ſufficiently implied in this, (to omit divers other Paſſages) That after Solomon's death the way of Solomon is mentioned with Honour, and joyned with the way of David, 2 Chron. 11. 17. But it ſeems to be put out of diſpute by the Book of Eccleſiaſtes; which (by the general conſent both of Jewiſh and Chriſtian Interpreters) was written by Solomon, and that after his Fall; as is evident, not only from the unanimous Teſtimony of the Hebrew Writers, who thence conclude, That he did Repent, and was ſaved; but alſo, from the whole ſtrain of that Book, which was written long after he had finiſhed all his Works, and after he had liberally drunk of all ſorts of ſenſual Pleaſures, and ſadly experienced the bitter Effects of his love of VVomen, Eccleſ. 7. 17, &c. VVhich makes it more than probable, that as David writ Pſalm 51. ſo Solomon wrote this Book as a publick Teſtimony and Profeſſion of his Repentance. And this Argument is ſo cogent, that thoſe Interpreters who are of the other Opinion, confeſs it, if Solomon did write this Book after his Fall, which they pretend he wrote before it: but they offer not any Argument to prove it. And therefore we have reaſon to conclude, That Solomon did Repent, and was Saved.

CHAP. XII.

The Iſraelites ſeek to Rehoboam for relaxation, 1,—5. He refuſing the old mens counſel, by the advice of the young men anſwereth them roughly, 6,—15. For which ten tribes revolt: kill Adoram: and make Rehoboam to flee, 16,—21. He raiſing an army is forbidden by Shemaiah, 22,—24. Jeroboam, king of Iſrael, ſtrengtheneth himſelf by cities: and by the idolatry of the two calves, 25,—33.

* 2 Chron. 10. 1. AND * Rehoboam went to Shechem; for all Iſrael were come to Shechem a to make him king b.

a Rehoboam did not call them thither, but went thither, becauſe the Iſraelites prevented him, and had generally pitched upon that place, rather than upon Jeruſalem; partly, becauſe it was moſt convenient for all, as being in the Center of the whole Kingdom: partly, becauſe that being in the potent Tribe of Ephraim, they ſuppoſed there they might uſe that freedom of Speech, which they reſolved to uſe, to get their Grievances redreſſed: and partly, by the ſecret direction of Jeroboam, or his Friends, who would not truſt themſelves in Jeruſalem; and thought Shechem a fitter place to execute their Deſign. b To confirm him in the Kingdom, which they generally intended to do; he being the undoubted Heir of the Crown, and the only Son which Solomon had from ſo vaſt a number of VVives.

2 And it came to paſs, when Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who was yet in * Egypt, heard of it c, (for he was fled from the preſence of king Solomon, and Jeroboam dwelt in Egypt) * Chap. 11. 40.

c In the Hebrew it is only heard, and may relate either to Solomon's death, or to the meeting which all the Tribes had appointed at Shechem.

3 That they ſent and called him d: and Jeroboam, and all the congregation of Iſrael came and ſpake unto Rehoboam, ſaying, d When the People ſent him word of Solomon's death, they alſo ſent a Summons for him to come to Shechem. Or, as ſoon as he had heard the tidings of Solomons death from others, or from common Fame; preſently there came a ſolemn Meſſage to him from the People, who deſired his Preſence and Aſſiſtance, as it ſeems probable from divers Motives; ſome, that they might tranſlate the Kingdom from Rehoboam to him; and others only for this reaſon, That the Preſence and Countenance of a Man of ſo great Intereſt and Reputation, and one that had ſome Claim or Pretence upon the Kingdom, might lay the greater Obligation upon Rehoboam to grant their deſires of Eaſe and Relief.

* Chap. 4. 7. 4 Thy father made our * yoke grievous e: now therefore make thou the grievous ſervice of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will ſerve thee.

e By heavy Taxes and Impoſitions, not only for the Temple and his Magnificent Buildings, but for the Expences of his numerous Court, and of ſo many Wives and Concubines, whoſe Luxury and Idolatry muſt needs be very coſtly. And Solomon having ſo groſly forſaken God, it is no wonder if he oppreſſed the People, and made their Yoke moſt grievous, as they ſpeak. But here the Peoples perverſeneſs is very obſervable, both in this, that they mention and aggravate only the grievances of the Government, but take no notice of the vaſt Benefits which they received from it; and in that, that they mind nothing but their outward preſſures, and have no regard unto that abominable Idolatry which he ſet up among them; being, it ſeemed, either leavened with it by his pernicious Example, or grown careleſs and negligent of all the concerns of Religion. By which, ſee how ripe they were all for thoſe dreadful Judgments of God which are now haſtening upon them.

5 And he ſaid unto them, Depart yet for three days, then come again to me f. And the people departed.

f Give me that time for deliberation and advice.

6 ¶ And king Rehoboam conſulted with the old men that ſtood before Solomon his father g, while he yet lived, and ſaid, How do ye adviſe, that I may anſwer this people?

g With Solomon's old Counſellors, whom Age and Experience of Men and Things, and converſe with ſuch a King, had made wiſe.

7 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, If thou wilt be a ſervant unto this people this day h, and wilt ſerve them, and i anſwer them, and ſpeak good words to them, then they will be thy ſervants for ever.

h By complying with their Deſires, and condeſcending to them for a ſeaſon, till the troubled Humours be quieted, and the Opportunity they now have, and ſome of them that ſeek, for Sedition, be gone, and thou beeſt better ſtabliſhed in thy Throne. They uſe this expreſſion, as fore-ſeeing that ſome would diſſuade him from this courſe, as ſervile or ſlaviſh, and below the Majeſty of a Prince. i For, that is; Thy Service, ſay they, is not hard, it is only a few good words, which it is as eaſie to give as bad ones.

8 But he forſook the counſel of the old men k which they had given him, and conſulted with the young men l that were grown up with him m, and which ſtood before him.

k Judging it unworthy of his Majeſty and Authority, and likely to encourage and increaſe the People in their inſolent Demands. l So called comparatively to the old Men; otherwiſe they were near 40 years old, as the following words imply. m Which is added as the reaſon of his inclination to their Counſels, becauſe his daily converſe with them, and the likeneſs of their Age and Humour to his, had engaged his Affections to them, and that bribed his Judgment, as it commonly doth.

9 And he ſaid unto them, What counſel give ye, that we may anſwer this people, who have ſpoken to me, ſaying, Make the yoke which thy father did put upon us, lighter?

10 And the young men that were grown up with him, ſpake unto him, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou ſpeak unto this people that ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us; thus ſhalt thou ſay unto them, My little finger ſhall be thicker n than my fathers loins.

n Or rather is thicker, and therefore ſtronger, and more able to cruſh you, if you proceed in theſe Mutinous Demands, than his loins, in which is the principal Seat of Strength. My Father was young and weak, and had many Enemies when he firſt took the Kingdom; but I am the undoubted Heir; and I find the Kingdom by his wiſe Care, far better ſettled and fortified againſt all Enemies, Foreign or Domeſtick, than he did.

11 And now whereas my father did lade you with an heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke o: my father hath chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions p.

o i. e. Make it heavier and ſtronger, both to puniſh your Petulancy, and to curb and reſtrain you from Seditious Attempts. p i. e. With ſuch Whips as will ſting you like Scorpions: If you proceed in theſe courſes, I will moſt ſeverely puniſh you for it.

12 ¶ So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, ſaying, Come to me again the third day.

13 And the king anſwered the people † roughly; and forſook the old mens counſel that they gave him: † Heb. hardly.

14 And ſpake to them after the courſe of the young men, ſaying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke; my father alſo chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

15 Wherefore the king hearkned not unto the people, for * the † cauſe was from the LORD q, that he might perform his ſaying, which the LORD * ſpake by Ahijah the Shilonite, unto Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat. * Judg. 14. 4. & 2 Chron. 10. 15. & 22. 7. & 25. 20. † Gr. the turning. * Chap. 11. 31.

q VVho gave up Rehoboam to ſo fooliſh and fatal a miſtake, and alienated the Peoples Affections from him; and ordered all Circumſtances by his wiſe Providence to that end.

16 ¶ So when all Iſrael ſaw that the king hearkned not unto them, the people anſwered the king, ſaying, What portion have we in David r? neither have we inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe s: to your tents, O Iſrael t; now ſee to thine own houſe, David u. So Iſrael departed unto their tents.

r i. e. In David's Family and Son; we can expect no benefit or relief from him, and therefore we renounce all Commerce with him, and Subjection to him. See 2 Sam. 20. 1. They named David, rather than Rehoboam; to ſignifie, That they did renounce, not Rehoboam only, but all David's Family. s So they call David in contempt; q. d. Rehoboam hath no reaſon to carry himſelf with ſuch Pride and Contempt toward his People; for if we trace his Original, it was as mean and obſcure as many of ours. And ſince he abuſeth his Power, let us reduce him to his former Obſcurity. t i. e. Let us all forſake him, and go to our own homes, there to conſider, and then to meet, and conclude how to provide otherwiſe for our ſelves. u i. e. Govern thy own Family; for thou ſhalt no longer Rule over us. Thus they brake out into actual Rebellion againſt him, whom God had made their Lawful Sovereign; wherein, though they fulfilled God's Counſel, yet they violated his Authority and Command. And they do again make an opprobrious mention of David, whom they ſhould not have named without Honour.

17 But * as for the children of Iſrael which dwelt in the cities of Judah x, Rehoboam reigned over them. * Chap. 11. 32.

x By which Phraſe he principally underſtands the Tribe of Judah; but withal, thoſe parts and parcels of the Tribes of Levi, and Simeon, and Benjamin, whoſe dwellings were within the Confines of Judah, or intermixed with them.

18 Then king Rehoboam ſent Adoram, who was over the tribute y, and all Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones that he died: therefore king Rehoboam † made ſpeed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jeruſalem z. † Heb. ſtrengthned himſelf.

y Him he ſent, either, 1. To pacifie the People, and promiſe them Relief, now when it was too late. But then he would not have ſent a Perſon ſo ungrateful to the People, as that ſort of Men uſe to be. Or rather, 2. To purſue the Counſel which he had reſolved upon, and to execute his Office, and exact their Tribute with Rigour and Violence, if need were. z From Shechem, where it ſeems he yet ſtaid, and his Guards and Friends with him; that being there in the midſt of his Kingdom, and among the Seditious Tribes, he might over-awe them by his Preſence, and repreſs any Tumults in their firſt riſe.

|| Or, fell away. 19 So Iſrael || rebelled a againſt the houſe of David unto this day.

a Their Revolt is called Rebellion, and therefore was ſinful, becauſe it was contrary to God's Authority, and Command of ſubjection to David, and his Seed for ever; from which the People were not freed by God's Promiſe and Grant made to Jeroboam, which was but a ſecret Tranſaction, not yet ſufficiently revealed to them, and was not a grant of preſent and actual Poſſeſſion; but only a Promiſe, That God would give it to him in his own time, and way; which might have been done, though neither Jeroboam, nor the People had uſed theſe indirect and evil Courſes to bring it about; as it befel David upon the ſame occaſion. Beſides, the People did not this in compliance with God's Counſel, but to gratifie their own Paſſions, and get themſelves a little eaſe.

20 And it came to paſs when all Iſrael heard that Jeroboam was come again b, that they ſent c and called him unto the congregation d, and made him king over all Iſrael: there was none ∴ that followed the houſe of David, but the Tribe of Judah * only.

* Chap. 11. 13.

b To wit, from Egypt; which was known before to the chief of the Tribes, and to them who met at Shechem, and now was more univerſally known by all the People. c To his Tent or Habitation, to which he had retired himſelf, as others alſo generally did; ſee above, ver. 16. d Which was ſummoned by the Elders of the ſeveral Tribes, to take advice, how to ſettle their Affairs, which they eaſily agreed to do, by conferring the Crown upon Jeroboam, according to God's Promiſe made to him. ∴ i. e. No intire Tribe. See on chap. 11. 13, 31, 32.

* 2 Chron. 11. 31. 21 And * when Rehoboam was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſembled all the houſe of Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin e, an hundred and fourſcore thouſand choſen men, which were warriours, to fight againſt the houſe f of Iſrael, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon.

e i.e. That part of it which was next to Judah, and joyned with them. See on Chap. 11. 13. f i.e. The Families or Tribes, (for theſe words are promiſcuouſly uſed one for the other) of Iſrael.

* 2 Chron. 11. 2. 22 But * the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God g, ſaying, g i.e. The Prophet, ſo called; partly, to diſtinguiſh him from others of that Name. See Nehem. 6. 10. Jer. 29. 31. And partly, to add the more weight to his words.

23 Speak unto Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon king of Judah, and to all the houſe of Judah, and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, ſaying, 24 Thus ſaith the LORD, Ye ſhall not go up nor fight againſt your brethren the children of Iſrael: return every man to his own houſe, for this thing is from me h. They hearkned therefore to the word of the LORD i, and returned to depart according to the word of the LORD.

h This Event is from my Counſel and Providence, to puniſh Solomon's Apoſtacy, though they procured it by ſinful means: and therefore, if you proceed, you muſt fight with me, as well as them. i Either from conſcience of their Duty, or becauſe they durſt not oppoſe ſo Potent an Adverſary.

25 ¶ Then Jeroboam built Shechem k in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein; and went out from thence, and built Penuel l.

k i. e. He repaired, and enlarged, and fortified it; for it had been ruined long ſince, Judg. 9. 45. He might chuſe it as a place both auſpicious, becauſe here the Foundation of his Monarchy was laid; and commodious, as being near the Frontiers of his Kingdom. l A place beyond Jordan; of which, ſee Gen. 32. 30. Judg. 8. 17. to ſecure that part of his Dominions.

26 And Jeroboam ſaid in his heart m, Now ſhall the kingdom return to the houſe of David:

m i.e. Reaſoned within himſelf. The Phraſe diſcovers the Fountain of his Error, That he did not conſult with God, who had given him the Kingdom; as in all Reaſon, and Juſtice, and Gratitude he ſhould have done: nor believed God's Promiſe, Chap. 11. 38. but his own Imaginations, and carnal Policies.

27 If theſe people go up to do ſacrifice in the houſe of the LORD at Jeruſalem, then ſhall the heart of this people turn again unto their LORD n, even unto Rehoboam king of Judah, and they ſhall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah.

n Which in it ſelf might ſeem a prudent Conjecture; for this would give Rehoboam, and the Prieſts, and Levites, the ſure and faithful Friends of David's Houſe, many opportunities of alienating their Minds from him, and of reducing them to their former Allegiance. But conſidering God's Providence, by which the Hearts of all Men, and the Affairs of all Kings and Kingdoms are governed, and of which he had lately ſeen ſo eminent an Inſtance; it was a fooliſh, as well as wicked courſe.

28 Whereupon the king took counſel, and made two calves of gold o, and ſaid unto them, It is too much for you p to go up to Jeruſalem: * behold thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt q.

* Exod. 32. 8.

o In imitation of Aaron's Golden Calf, and of the Egyptians, from whom he was lately come. And this he the rather preſumed to do, becauſe he knew the People of Iſrael were generally very prone to Superſtition, and Idolatry, as their whole Hiſtory ſheweth: and that Solomon's example and countenance given to falſe Worſhips, had exceedingly ſtrengthned thoſe Inclinations; and therefore they were in a great meaſure prepared for ſuch an Attempt; eſpecially, when his Propoſition tended to their own eaſe, and ſafety, and profit, which he knew was much dearer to them, as well as to himſelf, than their Religion. p Too great a trouble and charge, and neither neceſſary, nor ſafe for them, as things now ſtood. q Not as if he did himſelf believe, or thought to perſuade the People to believe, That theſe Calves were properly, and truly, that very God of Iſrael, who brought them ought of Egypt: (which was ſo monſtrouſly abſurd and ridiculous, that no Iſraelite in his right wits could believe it) and had been ſo far from attaining his end, and ſatisfying his People, that this would have made him both hateful, and contemptible to them; but his meaning was, that theſe Images were viſible Repreſentations, in, and by which he deſigned to worſhip the True God of Iſrael, as appears, partly from that Parallel-place. Exod. 32. 4. where ſee my Notes: partly, becauſe the Prieſts and Worſhippers of the Calves, are ſaid to worſhip Jehovah; and upon that account, are diſtinguiſhed from thoſe belonging to Baal, 1 Kings 18. 21. and 22. 6, 7. And partly, from Jeroboam's deſign in this Work, which was to quiet the Peoples Minds, and remove their Scruples about going to Jeruſalem to worſhip their God in that place, as they were commanded: which he doth, by ſignifying to them, That he did not intend any alteration in the ſubſtance of their Religion; nor to draw them from the worſhip of the True God, to the worſhip of Aſhteroth, or Milcom, or any of thoſe Baals, which were ſet up by Solomon; but to worſhip that ſelf-ſame God whom they worſhipped in Jeruſalem, even the True God, and the God of their Fathers, who brought them out of Egypt; but only to vary a Circumſtance: and that as they worſhipped God at Jeruſalem by, and before one viſible Sign, even the Ark, and the Sacred Cherubims there; ſo his Subjects ſhould worſhip God by another viſible Sign, even that of the Calves, in other places; and as for the change of the place, he might ſuggeſt to them, that God was preſent in all places, where Men with honeſt Minds did call upon him; that before the Temple was built, the beſt of Kings, and Prophets, and People, did pray, and ſacrifice to God in divers high Places, without any ſcruple; notwithſtanding that reſtraint of God to one Place, Deut. 12. 5, &c. That God would diſpenſe with them alſo in that matter; becauſe going to Jeruſalem was very dangerous to them at this time; and God would have Mercy, rather than Sacrifice; and God had been pleaſed to diſpenſe with his own Ordinances in caſes of neceſſity or great inconvenience, as he did with Circumciſion for 40 years in the Wilderneſs.

29 And he ſet the one in Bethel, and the other put he in Dan r.

r Which two Places he choſe for his Peoples conveniency; Bethel being in the Southern, and Dan in the Northern parts of his Kingdom.

30 And this thing became a ſin s: for the people went t to worſhip before the one, † even unto Dan u. † Heb. of the Calves.

s i. e. A cauſe or occaſion of great wickedneſs among that People; not only of Idolatry, which is called Sin by way of Eminency; nor only of the worſhip of the Calves, wherein they pretended to worſhip the True God; but alſo of the worſhip of Baal, and of the utter deſertion of the True God; and of all ſorts of Impiety, and abominable Sins; as is manifeſt from the Hiſtory of that Kingdom: in which, there was not one good King: and very few of the People who were not guilty of hainous Crimes, as the Prophets witneſs. t The King's Counſel and Example ſeduced them, though it did not excuſe their Sin; and they willingly walked after this his wicked commandment, Hoſ. 5. 11. u Which is not here mentioned excluſively, for that they went alſo to Bethel is evident from ver. 32, 33. but for other reaſons, either becauſe that of Dan was firſt made, or beſt frequented, the People in thoſe parts having been long leavened with Idolatry: See Judg. 18. 30. or to ſhew the Peoples readineſs to comply with the King's Command, and their Zeal for Idols; that thoſe who lived in, or near Bethel, had not patience to ſtay till that Calf was finiſhed, but all of them were forward to go as far as Dan, which was in the utmoſt borders of the Land, to worſhip an Idol there; when it was thought too much for them to go to Jeruſalem to worſhip God.

31 And he made an houſe of high places x, and made prieſts of † the * loweſt of the people y, which were not of the ſons of Levi z. † Heb. the extremities. * Chap. 13. 33. Ezek. 44. 7, 8.

x Or, an houſe (i. e. Houſes, or Chapels) in the high places. Beſides the famous Houſes, or Temples, which he built at Dan and Bethel; he built alſo for his Peoples better accommodation, leſſer Temples upon divers high Places, which were eſteemed Sacred and Venerable, becauſe their Pious Anceſtors had ſerved God in them: and thereby Jeroboam might not ſeem to bring in a new Religion, but only to revive the old. y Which he might do, either, 1. Becauſe the better ſort refuſed it, as an Office below their Quality: or, 2. Becauſe ſuch would be ſatisfied with mean allowances; and ſo he could put into his own Purſe a great part of the rich Poſſeſſions and Revenues of the Levites, which doubtleſs he ſeized upon when they forſook him, and went to Jeruſalem, 2 Chron. 11. 13, 14. which alſo was very neceſſary for his preſent and preſſing Occaſions; the rather, becauſe he durſt not yet lay grievous Taxes upon that People who had newly caſt off Rehoboam for that very Reaſon. Or, 3. Becauſe mean Perſons would depend upon his Favour, and therefore be very pliable to his Humour, and firm to his Intereſt, and zealous to promote the worſhip of the Calves. But the words in the Hebrew properly ſignifie, from the ends of the people; people; which is, and may be tranſlated thus, out of all the people; promiſcuouſly out of every Tribe. Which Expoſition ſeems to be confirmed by the following words, which are added to explain theſe, which were not of the ſons of Levi; though they were not of the Tribe of Levi. And that indeed was Jeroboam's Sin; not that he choſe mean Perſons, for ſome of the Levites were ſuch; and his Sin had not been leſs, if he had choſen the Nobleſt and Greateſt Perſons; as we ſee in the Example of Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. 18, 19. But that he choſe Men of other Tribes, contrary to God's appointment, which reſtrained that Office to that Tribe. z To whom that Office was confined by God's expreſs Command; but he gave the Prieſthood promiſcuouſly to any Perſon of any other Tribe.

32 And Jeroboam ordained a feaſt a in the eighth month, on the fifthteenth day of the month b, like unto the feaſt that is ‖ in Judah c, and he ‖ offered c upon the altar, (ſo did he in Bethel) d ‖ ſacrificing unto the calves e that he had made: and he placed in Bethel f the prieſts of the high places which he had made.

‖ Or, was.
‖ Or, went up to the altar, &c.
‖ Or, to ſacrifice.

a Either, 1. A Feaſt of Dedication, like that which was in Judah, at the Dedication of the Temple. Or rather, 2. The Feaſt of Tabernacles, as may be thought, 1. becauſe that began on the fifteenth day of the Month, Levit. 23. 34. 2. Becauſe he is not blamed for deviſing the Feaſt (which thereby ſeems to have been of God's appointment) but only for deviſing the month, ver. 33. for keeping God's Feaſt, not in God's time, which was the fifteenth day of the Seventh Month, and ſo onward, Levit. 23. 34. But on the fifteenth day of the Eighth Month. And this alteration he made, either, 1. To keep up the difference between his Subjects, and thoſe of Judah, as by the differing Manners, ſo by the diſtinct times of their Worſhip. Or, 2. Leſt he ſhould ſeem directly to oppoſe the God of Iſrael, (who had in a ſpecial manner obliged all the People to go up to Jeruſalem at that time, Deut. 16. 16.) by requiring their attendance to Celebrate the Feaſt elſewhere, at the ſame time. Or, 3. To engage as many Perſons as poſſibly he could, to come to his Feaſt; which they would more willingly do when the Feaſt at Jeruſalem was paſt, and all the Fruits of the Earth were moſt perfectly gathered in. b And ſo onward till the Seven days ended. c He took his Pattern thence, to ſhew, That he worſhipped the ſame God, and profeſſed the ſame Religion for Subſtance, which they did; howſoever he differed in Circumſtances, as here he did in the time. c Either, 1. By his Prieſts. Or, rather, 2. By his own hands; as appears from Chap. 13. 1, 4. which he did, to give the more countenance to his new-deviſed Solemnity. Nor is this ſtrange; for he might plauſibly think, that he who by his own Authority had made others Prieſts, might much more exerciſe a part of that Office; at leaſt, upon an extraordinary occaſion; in which caſe, he knew David himſelf had done ſome things, which otherwiſe he might not do. d i.e. He himſelf did offer there in like manner, as he now had done at Dan. e For they were two, ver. 29. f As he had done at Dan, ver. 31.

33 So he ‖ offered upon the altar which he had made in Bethel the fifteenth day of the eighth month, even in the month which he had deviſed of his own heart g: and ordained a feaſt unto the children of Iſrael, and he offered upon the altar, † and burnt incenſe.

‖ Or, went up to the altar, &c.
† Heb. to burn incenſe.

g Which he appointed without any Warrant from God, which was Superſtition. Compare Jer. 7. 31.

CHAP. XIII.

A prophet of Judah propheſieth againſt the altar at Bethel: Jeroboam, offering him violence, his hand withereth: and, at the prayer of the prophet, is reſtored, 1,—6. He, refuſing the king's entertainment, departeth from Bethel, 7,—10. An old prophet, ſeducing him, bringeth him back, 11,—19. He is for it reproved of God by the old prophet: and is ſlain by a Lion: and buried by the old prophet: who confirmeth his prophecy, 20,—32. Jeroboam's obſtinacy, 33, 34

AND behold, there came a man of God a out of Judah by the word of the LORD b unto Bethel: and Jeroboam ſtood by the altar to ‖ burn incenſe.

‖ Or, to offer. Gr. to burn ſacrifice.

a An Holy Prophet. b By Divine Inſpiration and Command.

2 And he cried againſt the altar c in the word of the LORD, and ſaid, O altar, altar d, thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, a child † ſhall be born unto the houſe of David, * Joſiah by name e, and upon thee ſhall he offer the prieſts f of the high places that burn incenſe upon thee, and mens bones ſhall be burnt upon thee.

* 2 King. 23. 16.

c And conſequently, againſt all that worſhip; which is oft ſignified by the name of the altar. See Iſa. 19. 19. 1 Cor. 9. 13. Heb. 7. 13. and 13. 10. d He directs his Speech to the Altar; partly, becauſe the following Signs were wrought upon it; and partly to ſignifie, That Jeroboam would no more regard his words, than the Altar did; and yet they ſhould take effect. e Which being done above 300 years after this Prophecy; plainly ſhews the abſolute certainty of God's Providence, and Fore-knowledge, even in the moſt contingent things. For this was in it ſelf uncertain, and wholly depended upon Man's Will, both as to the having of a Child, and as to the giving it this Name. Therefore God can certainly, and effectually over-rule Man's Will which way he pleaſeth; or elſe it was poſſible, that this Prediction ſhould have been falſe; which is Blaſphemous to imagine. f Synecdochically, the Bones of the Prieſts, 2 King. 23. 15, 16. whereby the Altar ſhould be defiled.

3 And he gave a ſign the ſame day g, ſaying, This is the ſign which the LORD hath ſpoken: Behold, the altar ſhall be rent, and the aſhes that are upon it poured out.

g i.e. He then wrought a Miracle, to aſſure them of the Truth of his Prophecy.

4 And it came to paſs when king Jeroboam heard the ſaying of the man of God, which had cried againſt the altar in Bethel, that he put forth his hand h from the altar i, ſaying, Lay hold on him. And his hand which he put forth againſt him, dried up k, ſo that he could not pull it in again to him.

h To point out the Man whom he would have the People lay hands on, and to ſtir them up to do ſo. i Where it was employed, in offering ſomething upon it. k Or, withered, the Muſcles and Sinews, the Inſtruments of Motion, were ſhrunk up. This God did, partly to chaſtiſe Jeroboam for offering Violence to the Lord's Prophet: partly, to ſecure the Prophet againſt further Violence: and partly, that in this Example God might ſhew, how highly he reſents the Injuries done to his Miniſters, in, and for the faithful diſcharge of their Office.

5 The altar alſo was rent, and the aſhes poured out from the altar, according to the ſign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD.

6 And the king anſwered l, and ſaid unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the LORD thy God m, and pray for me, that my hand may be reſtored me again. And the man of God beſought † the LORD n, and the kings hand was reſtored again o, and became as it was before.

† Heb. the face of the LORD.

l i.e. Spoke; as that word is oft uſed in both Teſtaments. m Who by his Zeal for thee, hath manifeſted himſelf to be thy God and Friend, in a ſingular manner; and therefore will hear thy Prayers for me, though he will not regard mine, becauſe I have forſaken him and his Worſhip. n To aſſure Jeroboam, that what he had ſaid, was not from ill-will to him, and that he heartily deſired his Reformation, not his Ruine. o Partly to aſſure him, that the ſtroke was from God: partly, becauſe he repented of that Violence which he intended againſt the Prophet, for which God inflicted it: and partly, that this Goodneſs of God to him, might have led him to Repentance; or, if he continued Impenitent, leave him without all excuſe.

7 And the king ſaid unto the man of God, Come home with me, and refreſh thy ſelf, and I will give thee a reward p.

p Horrid Stupidity! He deſires to requite the Inſtrument, but takes no notice of the chief Cauſe and Author of this great and wonderful Mercy, which was God.

9 And the man of God ſaid unto the king *, If thou wilt give me half thine houſe, I will not go in with thee, neither will I eat bread, nor drink water in this place:

* So Num. 22. 18. & 24. 13.

9 For ſo was it charged me by the word of the LORD q, ſaying, Eat no bread, nor drink water r, nor turn again by the ſame way that thou cameſt s.

q My refuſal of thy Favour, is not from any contempt, or hatred of thy Perſon; but in obedience to the juſt Command of my God, who hath forbidden me all further Converſe or Communication with thee. r To wit, in that Place, or with that People. Whereby God declares, how deteſtable they were in God's Eyes; not becauſe their Idolatry was ſo bad as that of the Heathens, but becauſe they were vile Apoſtates from the True God, and embraced this Idol-worſhip, againſt the Light of their own Conſciences, meerly to comply with the King's Humour and Command: and becauſe their Vicinity and Relation to the Tribe of Judah, made this more dangerous, as to their infection by it. s That by thy avoiding the way that led thee to Bethel as execrable, although thou wenteſt by my ſpecial Command, thou mighteſt teach all others, how much they ſhould abhor that way, and all thoughts of going to that place, or to ſuch People, upon any trivial and unneceſſary occaſion.

10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Bethel.

11 ¶ Now there dwelt an old prophet t in Bethel u, and his † ſons x came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel: the words which he had ſpoken unto the king, them they told alſo to their father.

t A Prophet of the Lord; one to whom, and by whom, God did ſometimes impart his Mind; as is manifeſt from ver. 20. 21. and one that had a Reſpect to the Lord's Holy Prophets, and gave Credit to their Predictions: all which the following Relation ſhews: but whether he was an holy and good Man, may juſtly be doubted, ſeeing all thoſe Qualifications might meet in a vicious Man, to, and by whom he may reveal ſome part of his Mind, as he did to Balaam Numb. 23, &c. and in ſuch, his other Qualities are ſometimes found; and we find him in a downright and premeditated Lye, and that without any great temptation to it, ver. 18. And albeit, an holy Prophet might poſſibly have continued in the Kingdom of Iſrael, he would never have gone from his own Habitation, to dwell at Bethel, the chief Seat of Idolatry, unleſs with deſign to preach againſt it: which it is evident he did not; his Sons ſeem to have been preſent at, and to have joyned with others in that Idolatrous worſhip, ver. 11. and that not without their Father's connivence. u For thither he came to dwell, probably expecting ſome great advantages from Jeroboam; but he came out of Samaria, 2 King. 23. 18. where he either was born, and had lived before. Or, his uſual dwelling was at Bethel, but had lately been at Samaria, and was now returned to Bethel. x Who probably were eye and ear-witneſſes of what had paſſed.

12 And their father ſaid unto them, What way went he? for his ſons had ſeen what way the man of God went, which came from Judah.

13 And he ſaid unto his ſons, Saddle me the aſs. So they ſadled him the aſs, and he rode thereon:

14 And went after the man of God, and found him ſitting under an oak [y]: and he ſaid unto him, Art thou the man of God that cameſt from Judah? And he ſaid, I am.

[y] Being faint and weary with his Journey, and poſſibly with the heat, which makes him chuſe this ſhady place; and eſpecially with hunger and thirſt, ver. 9. And he might eaſily gueſs that this was the old Prophet, by his Age and Carriage, and, it may be, by his Prophetical Mantle, and by the Character which his Sons had given him.

15 Then he ſaid unto him, Come home with me, and eat bread.

† Heb. cannot. Deut. 12. 16. & 17. 5. & 1 Cor. 10. 21. † Heb. a word was.

16 And he ſaid, I † may not return with thee, nor go in with thee: neither will I eat bread, nor drink water with thee in this place [z].

[z] i. e. In Bethel, where thou deſireſt me to do it.

17 For † it was ſaid to me by the word of the LORD, Thou ſhalt eat no bread, nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou cameſt.

18 He ſaid unto him, I am a prophet alſo as thou art, and an angel ſpake unto me by the word of the LORD, ſaying, Bring him back with thee into thine houſe, that he may eat bread, and drink water. But he lyed unto him [a].

[a] Not with evil deſign againſt him, but out of curioſity, to know all the truth and circumſtances from his own Mouth, and to expreſs his kindneſs to him, and to relieve his preſſing hunger; whereby poſſibly he thought to pleaſe God, and to compenſate for his miſcarriages. But his Sin was great; for he did not only tell a premeditated Lye, but alſo made God a Lyar, and to contradict himſelf, and all this without any pretence of neceſſity, or benefit to himſelf.

19 So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his houſe, and drank water.

20 ¶ And it came to paſs, as they ſat at the table [b], that the word of the LORD came [c] unto the prophet that brought him back [d]:

[b] There the Prophet meets with a ſevere Judgment, where he was pleaſing himſelf with this ſeaſonable Refreſhment. [c] By ſecret inſtinct into his Mind; as ſometimes God ſpake to Moſes and other Prophets when they were in company with others. [d] So he makes this Prophet publickly to call himſelf Lyar, and to pronounce a terrible Sentence againſt him, to whom he profeſſed ſo much kindneſs. Indeed the Hebrew words are ambiguous, and by others rendred thus, to the Prophet whom he had brought back; which agrees very well with the Hebrew Phraſe; and may ſeem to be the beſt Tranſlation, by comparing ver. 23. where the very ſame Phraſe is ſo rendred; and ver. 26. where this meſſage is ſaid to be ſpoken to him. But theſe Arguments are not cogent; not that from ver. 23. becauſe it is a common thing for the ſame Phraſe in divers Verſes, and ſometimes in one and the ſame Verſe, to be diverſly uſed: nor that from ver. 27. for that may be rendred concerning him. And therefore our Tranſlation is better, as is manifeſt from ver. 21.

21 And he cried [e] unto the man of God that came from Judah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Foraſmuch as thou haſt diſobeyed the mouth [f] of the LORD, and haſt not kept the commandment which the LORD thy God commanded thee, [e] With a loud Voice, the effect of his Paſſion, both for his own guilt and ſhame, and for the Prophets approaching miſery, and his unhappy influence both in procuring and in denouncing of it. [f] i. e. The word of command coming out of his mouth. A Metonymy of the Cauſe for the Effect.

22 But cameſt back, and haſt eaten bread, and drunk water in the place, of the which the LORD did ſay to thee, Eat no bread, and drink no water; thy carcaſe ſhall not come unto the ſepulchre of thy fathers [g].

[g] i. e. Thou ſhalt not die a natural, but a violent death; and that in this Journey, before thou returneſt to thy native habitation; and thy Carcaſe ſhall not be buried in the proper Sepulchre; which was eſteemed a kind of Curſe, and a note of Infamy; as the contrary was reckoned an honour and bleſſing. See chap. 14. 13. Iſa. 14. 19, 20. Jer. 22. 19. and 26. 24.

23 ¶ And it came to paſs, after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he ſadled for him the aſs [∴], to wit, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

[∴] That he might ſooner come to his home, and, if poſſible, eſcape the Judgment threatned. But, it is obſervable, he doth not accompany him; his guilty Conſcience making him to expect and fear to be involved in the ſame Judgment with him.

*Chap. 20. 36.

24 And when he was gone, a * lion met him [h] by the way, and ſlew him [i]: and his carcaſe was caſt in the way [k], and the aſs ſtood by it: the lion alſo ſtood by the carcaſe [l].

[h] For there were many Lions in Judea, and this was brought hither by God's ſpecial Providence. [i] Why doth God puniſh a good Man ſo ſeverely for ſo ſmall an offence? Anſ. Firſt, His Sin was not ſmall, for it was a groſs Diſobedience to a poſitive Command. Obj. But he ſuppoſed, and was told by another Prophet, that God had repealed his Command, and ſo was deceived. Anſ. 1. He had no ſufficient diſcharge from the former Command; for he neither was aſſured that the old Man was a Prophet, nor that the meſſage he delivered was from God; but had reaſon to ſuſpect the contrary, or at leaſt to enquire the mind of God in this doubtful Point, which he groſly neglected to do, and willingly believed the meſſage, becauſe it ſuited with his own inclination and neceſſity. Add to this, that he being a Prophet was obliged to the greater exactneſs in obedience to all God's Precepts; and therefore this Sin was much greater in him than in another, becauſe hereby God was diſhonoured, and the Authority and Succeſs of his meſſage blaſted, and Jeroboam and the Idolatrous Iſraelites hardened in their wicked Courſes; for the prevention whereof it was neceſſary that God ſhould exerciſe Severity towards him. Anſ. Secondly, As his Sin was not ſo ſmall, ſo his puniſhment was not ſo great, as may be imagined. For, as to his outward Man, his bodily death (which was a Debt that he owed to God and Nature) in this way was not ſo painful and terrible as many other kinds of death; and as to his Soul, God, by giving him a gracious Admonition both of his Sin and Danger, ver. 21, 22. awakened him to true Repentance, which doubtleſs he practiſed, and ſo was prepared for his death, and by this ſudden death freed from all the miſeries of an evil Time and World, and ſpeedily let into Eternal Glory. Anſ. Thirdly, As the World and all Men it were made for God's Glory, and all their Lives and Deaths ought to be laid out in his Service; ſo it cannot ſeem ſtrange nor harſh if God ſhould bring his deſerved death upon him in this manner, for the accompliſhment of his own Glorious Deſigns, as to vindicate his own Honour and Juſtice from the imputation of Partiality; to aſſure the Truth of his Predictions, and thereby provoke Jeroboam and his Idolatrous Followers to Repentance; to juſtifie himſelf in all his dreadful Judgments which he intended to inflict upon Jeroboam's Houſe, and the whole Kingdom of Iſrael, for their curſed Apoſtacy; and to warn all ſucceeding Sinners not raſhly to venture upon ſmall Sins, and eſpecially to take heed of greater Sins, for which they might expect far ſorer puniſhments. [k] His Life and Soul being gone, his dead Body falls to the Ground, and lies there. [l] See on ver. 28.

25 And behold, men paſſed by, and ſaw the carcaſe caſt in the way, and the lion ſtanding by the carcaſe: and they came and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

26 And when the prophet that brought him back from the way, heard thereof, he ſaid, It is the man of God, who was diſobedient unto the word of the LORD: therefore the LORD hath delivered him unto the lion, which hath † torn him, and ſlain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake unto him [m]. † Heb. broken.

[m] Or rather, concerning him: for ſo the Particle Lamed is oft uſed, as Gen. 20. 13. Pſal. 3. 2. and 91. 11. Compare with Matth. 4. 6. See the Notes on ver. 20.

27 And he ſpake to his ſons, ſaying, Saddle me the aſs [n]. And they ſadled him.

[n] Being ſecure as to himſelf, becauſe ſo many others had been there without any harm; and becauſe he perceived the Prophet's Death was a Judgment of God, and that for ſpecial Reaſons.

28 And he went and found his carcaſe caſt in the way, and the aſs, and the lion ſtanding by the carcaſe: the lion had not eaten the carcaſe, nor † torn the aſs [o]. † Heb. broken.

[o] Here was a concurrence of Miracles: That the Aſs did not run away from the Lion, according to his nature and cuſtom, but boldly ſtood ſtill, as reſerving himſelf for the carrying of the Prophet to his Burial; that the Lion did not devour its prey, as the manner is; nor yet go away when he had done his work which he was ſent for, but ſtood ſtill, partly, to preſerve the Carcaſe of the Prophet from other wild Beaſts or Fowls, which would quickly have eaten it; partly, as an evidence that the Prophet's Death was not caſual, nor the effect of a Lions hungry and ravenous Diſpoſition, but of God's ſingular and juſt Judgment; and conſequently, that his Prediction was Divine, and ſhould be infallibly accompliſhed in its proper time; and partly, as a token of God's Favour to the deceaſed Prophet, of whoſe very Carcaſe he took ſuch ſpecial Care: thereby ſignifying, that although for wiſe and juſt Reaſons he thought fit to take away his Life, yet his Remains were precious to him, and his Soul did live in his ſight.

29 And the prophet took up the carcaſe of the man of God, and laid it upon the aſs, and brought it back: and the old prophet came to the city, to mourn, and to bury him.

30 And he laid his carcaſe in his own grave [p], and they [q] mourned over him, ſaying, Alas my brother [r].

[p] So that threatning, ver. 22. was fulfilled; and withal, the memory of his Prophecy was revived and preſerved among them, and his very Carcaſe reſting there, might be a witneſs of their Madneſs and deſperate Wickedneſs, in continuing in their abominable Idolatry, after ſuch an aſſurance of the dreadful effects of it. [q] The old Prophet and his Sons, and others, whom common humanity taught to lament the untimely death of ſo worthy a Perſon. [r] Which was an uſual form of expreſſion in Funeral-Lamentations. See Jer. 22. 18.

31 And it came to paſs after he had buried him, that he ſpake to his ſons, ſaying, When I am dead, then bury me in the ſepulchre wherein the man of God is buried; * lay my bones beſide his bones [ſ]. * 2 King. 23. 18.

[ſ] That I may be ſecured from that Judgment threatned ver. 2.

32 For the ſaying which he cried by the word of the LORD, againſt the altar in Bethel, and againſt all the houſes of the high places, which are in the cities of * Samaria t, ſhall ſurely come to paſs.

Jeroboam ſendeth his Wife diſguiſed, and with Preſents to the Prophet Abijah at Shiloh, to enquire concerning his Son, who was Sick, 1,—4. He, forewarned by God, denounceth his Ruin becauſe of Idolatry: And the Death of his Child: And the Deſtruction of Iſrael, 5,—16. His Son dieth and is buried: And he likewiſe: Nadab his Son ſucceedeth, 17,—20. Rehoboam and Judah ſin againſt the Lord, 21,—24. Shiſhak King of Egypt ſpoileth Jeruſalem, 25,——28. He dieth: and Abijam his Son ſucceedeth, 29,——31.

Or, Secondly, many Years after it, i.e. Whilſt Jeroboam perſiſted in his former courſe. 7 Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, Foraſmuch as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people k Iſrael:

k For ſo they were when Jeroboam was firſt ſet over them.

8 And rent the kingdom away from the houſe of David, and gave it thee: and yet thou haſt not been as my ſervant David l, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart, to do that only which was right in mine eyes,

Nor as if they thought them to be other gods in a ſtrict and proper ſenſe; for it is apparent that they ſtill pretended to Worſhip the God of their Fathers, as the Jews at Jeruſalem did, though in a differing manner; but only becauſe God rejected their whole Worſhip, and, howſoever they called or accounted it, he reckoned it a manifeſt defection from him, and a betaking of themſelves to other gods, or devils, as they are called, 2 Chron. 11. 15. by whoſe Inſtigation they were led to ſuch Idolatrous practices, and whom alone they ſerved and worſhipped therein, whatſoever pretences they had to the contrary. o i.e. Whereby thou didſt provoke me. 15 For the LORD ſhall ſmite Iſrael e as a reed
* 2 Kings 17. 23. is ſhaken in the water f, and he ſhall * root up Iſrael out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and ſhall ſcatter them beyond the river g, becauſe they have made their groves h, provoking the LORD to anger.

e Becauſe they obeyed Jeroboam's wicked command of Worſhipping the Calves, and that willingly, Hoſ. 5. 11. f Eaſily and variouſly, hither and thither, with every wind. So ſhall the Kingdom and People of Iſrael be always in an unquiet and unſettled poſture, toſſed to and fro by Foreign Invaſions and Civil Wars; by oppoſite Kings and Factions, and by the diſſentions of the People. See 2 Kings 17. 18. g To wit, Euphrates, oft ſo called by way of eminency, as Gen. 15. 18. and 31. 21. 1 Kings 4. 21, 24. This was accompliſhed in part, 2 Kings 15. 29. and more fully, 2 Kings 17. 6. h For the Worſhip of their Idols, Exod. 34. 13. Deut 16. 21. God having before condemned the making and worſhipping of the Calves, by which they deſigned or pretended to Worſhip the True God; he now takes notice that they were not contented with the Calves, but (as it is the nature of Idolatry, and all ſin, to proceed from evil to worſe) were many of them fallen into another and a worſe kind of Idolatry, even their worſhip of the Heatheniſh Baals, which they commonly exerciſed in Groves. See on 1 Kings 18. 19.

16 And he ſhall give Iſrael up, becauſe of the ſins of Jeroboam, who did ſin, and who made Iſrael to ſin i.

i To wit, by his invention, and making of the occaſion of their ſin, the Calves; by his example by encouraging thoſe and only thoſe that worſhipped the Calves; and by his Authority requiring and compelling them to do it. This is mentioned as a monſtrous aggravation of his wickedneſs, that he was not content with his own ſin, but was the great Author and chief cauſe of drawing others into ſin, and of corrupting and undoing the whole Kingdom: which therefore God would never forgive him, nor forget him, but upon all occaſions mentions him with this eternal brand of infamy upon him.

17 ¶ And Jeroboams wife aroſe, and departed, and came to Tirzah k: and when ſhe came to the threſhold of the door l, the child died.

k An Ancient and Royal City, Joſ. 12. 24. in a pleaſant place, Cant. 6. 4. where the Kings of Iſrael had a Palace, Chap. 15. 33. and 16. 6, 8, 23, 24. whither Jeroboam was now removed from Shechem, either for his pleaſure, or for his Sons recovery, by the healthfulneſs of the place. l To wit, of the King's Houſe, which probably was upon, or by the Wall of the City, and near the Gate, which was the place of Judicature, See v. 12.

18 And they buried him, and all Iſrael mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake by the hand of his ſervant Ahijah the prophet.

19 And the reſt of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael m.

m Heb. in the book of the words or things of the days, &c. By which you are not to underſtand that Canonical Book of the Chronicles, for that was written long after this Book; but a Book of Civil Records, the Annals, wherein all remarkable paſſages were Recorded by the King's Command from day to day; out of which the Sacred Penman by the direction of God's Spirit, took out thoſe paſſages which were moſt conſiderable and uſeful for God's Honour, and Mens Edification.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned, were † Heb. lay down. two and twenty years n: and he † ſlept with his fathers o, and Nadab his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

n So he lived till Aſa's ſecond year, Chap. 15. 25. o Either, Firſt, He was Buried with his Anceſtors. But their Sepulchre ſeems to be too mean and improper for a great King; and Kings uſe to be Buried in peculiar Sepulchres. Or, Secondly, He died, as his Fathers did.

21 ¶ And Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon reigned
* 2 Chron. 12. 13. in Judah: * Rehoboam was forty and one years old p when he began to reign, and he reigned ſeventeen years in Jeruſalem, the city which the LORD did chuſe out of all the tribes of Iſrael, to put his Name there: and his mothers name was Naamah, an Ammoniteſs q.

p Therefore he was born a year before Solomon was King, as appears from 1 Kings 11. 42. This is noted as an aggravation of Rehoboam's folly, that he was old enough to have been wiſer. q A People curſed by God, and ſhut out of the Congregation of his People for ever, Deut. 23. 3. Neh. 13. 1. This is obſerved as one cauſe both of God's diſpleaſure in puniſhing Solomon with ſuch a Son, and of Rehoboam's Apoſtacy after his three firſt years, 2 Chro. 11. 17.

22 And Judah did evil r in the ſight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealouſie with their ſins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done.

r After a little time. 2 Chron. 11. 17.

23 For they alſo ſ built them high places t, and ‖ Or, ſtanding images, or, ſtatues. ‖ images, and groves u on every high hill, and under every green tree x.

ſ They followed the example of the Iſraelites, although they were better inſtructed, and had the Temple in their Kingdom, and liberty of acceſs to it, which was denied to the Iſraelites; and the priviledge of Worſhipping God in his own way, and the Counſels, and Sermons, and Examples of the Prieſts and Levites, to teach and ſtabliſh them, and the dreadful example of Iſrael's horrid Apoſtacy, to caution and terrifie them. t Which was unlawful, and, now eſpecially when the Temple was Built, and ready to receive them; unneceſſary, and therefore expreſſed a greater contempt of God and his expreſs Command to the contrary. u Not only after the manner of the Heathens and Iſraelites, but againſt a direct and particular prohibition. x The People were univerſally corrupted: which is a prodigious, all things conſidered, and is a clear evidence of the greatneſs and depth of the Original corruption of Man's Nature, which without Gods Grace is ready to break forth into all ſorts of wickedneſs.

24 And there were alſo Sodomites y in the land, and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

y i. e. Males, who proſtituted their Bodies to the filthy Luſts of others: of whom ſee on Deut. 23. 17. who alſo did this in the worſhip, and to the honour of their Idols, as alſo the Womem did, Numb 25. 1, 2. And this might be one occaſion of ſo great a ſpreading of Idolatry among the Luſtful Iſraelites. And on the other ſide, God doth frequently puniſh Idolatry with Corporal uncleanneſs, Rom. 1. 21, 28. See 1 Kings 15. 12. and 22. 46. 2 Kings 23. 7.

25 ¶ And it came to paſs in the fifth year of king Rehoboam z, that Shiſhak king of Egypt a came up againſt Jeruſalem b.

z Preſently after his and his Peoples Apoſtacy, which was not till his fourth year: When the Apoſtatical Iſraelites enjoyed Peace and ſome kind of Proſperity, at firſt, for many Years together: of which difference two reaſons may be given: Firſt, That Judah's ſins were committed againſt clearer Light, and more powerful means and remedies of all ſorts, and therefore deſerved more ſevere and ſpeedy Judgments. Secondly, That God diſcovered more Love to Judah in chaſtizing them ſpeedily, that ſo they might be humbled, and reformed, and ſo graciouſly preſerved, as it happened; and more anger againſt Iſrael, that he ſpared them, and by their impunity hardned and ripened them to that total deſtruction which he intended to bring upon them. a Of whom ſee 1 Kings 11. 40. and 2 Chron. 12. 2, &c. where this Hiſtory is more fully deſcribed. He is thought by many to be Solomon's Brother-in-law. But how little ſuch Relations ſignifie among Princes, when their Intereſt is concerned, all Hiſtories witneſs. Beſides Rehoboam was not Solomon's Son by Pharaoh's Daughter, and ſo the relation was in a manner extinct. b Either, From ambition and a deſire to enlarge his Empire: or, from jealouſie of Rehoboam's growing-greatneſs: Of which ſee 2 Chron. 11. or, by Jeroboam's inſtigation: or, from a covetous deſire of poſſeſſing theſe great Treaſures which David and Solomon had left: and, above all, by God's Providence, diſpoſing his heart to this expedition for Rehoboam's puniſhment.

26 And he took away the treaſures c of the houſe of the LORD, and the treaſures of the kings houſe, he even took away all: and he took away all the ſhields of gold * which Solomon had made. * Chap. 10. 16.

c It is implied, that firſt he took the City: which may ſeem ſtrange, conſidering the great ſtrength of that City, and how much time it took Nebuchadnezzar and Titus to take it. But, Firſt, It might coſt Shiſhak alſo ſome time, and a long Siege e're he took it, though that be not here related. Secondly, It is probable that David and Solomon in their building and altering of this City, had more reſpect to State and Magnificence, than to its defence, as having no great cauſe to fear the Invaſion of any Enemies, and being too ſecure in reference to their Poſterity, becauſe of God's Promiſe of the Kingdom to be continued to them and to their ſeed for ever. And it is probable and certain, that after the diviſion between Judah and Iſrael, the Kings of Judah did add very much to the Fortifications of this City.

27 And king Rehoboam made in their ſtead brazen ſhields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the † guard d, which kept the door of the kings houſe. † Heb. runners.

d Whereas the Golden Shields, as being more precious, were kept in a certain place.

28 And it was ſo, when the king went into the houſe of the LORD e, that the guard bare them, and brought them back into the guard-chamber.

e By which it ſeems the affliction had done him ſome good, and brought him back to the Worſhip of God, which he had forſaken, Chap. 12. 1.

29 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah f.

f Such a Book of Chronicles as that mentioned above, ver. 19.

30 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam g all their days.

g Not an Invaſive War with Potent Armies, which was forbidden, Chap. 12. 12. and not revived till Abijam's Reign, 2 Chron. 13. but a defenſive War from thoſe Hoſtilities which by ſmall Parties and Skirmiſhes they did to one another.

h This is repeated as a thing very obſervable. See above, ver. 21.

CHAP. XV.

Abijam followeth his Father's Sins: God however keepeth promiſe: He dieth, and Aſa his Son ſucceedeth him, 1——8. His good Reign, 9——15. Baaſha warreth againſt him: he maketh a League with Benhadad, 16——22. He dieth, and Jehoſaphat ſucceedeth him, 23, 24. Nadab's wicked Reign: Baaſha ſlayeth him: deſtroyeth his Father's Houſe: and ſucceeds him: His wicked Reign, 25——34.

NOw in the eighteenth year of king * Jeroboam a the ſon of Nebat, reigned Abijam over Judah. * 2 Chr. 13. 1.

a Obj. How can this be, when he Reigned 3 Years, ver. 2. and Aſa, his Succeſſor, began his Reign in the twentieth Year of Jeroboam, v. 9? Anſw. Parts of Years are commonly called and accounted Years both in the Old and New Teſtament, and in Prophane Writers. So his Reign began with Jeroboam's 18th Year, and continued his whole 19th Year, and ended within his 20th Year, in which alſo Aſa's Reign began. And thus one and the ſame Year may well be, as it frequently is, attributed to two ſeveral Perſons.

2 Three years b reigned he in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Maachah the daughter of Abiſhalom c.

b See the laſt Note, on ver. 1. c Or, of Abſalom, as he is called 2 Chron. 11. 21. And becauſe he is here mentioned as a known Perſon, without any addition of his Kindred or Quality, ſome conceive that this was Abſalom's Daughter, called properly Tamar, 2 Sam. 14. 27. and from her Royal Grandmother, 2 Sam. 3. 3. Maachah; and that ſhe is called Michajah (which differs not much from Maachah) the Daughter of Uriel, 2 Chr. 13. 2. becauſe ſhe was firſt Married to Uriel, as Joſephus affirms, Antiq. 8. 3. and afterwards to Rehoboam. Others think this was another Perſon, and that both ſhe and her Father had each of them ſeveral Names, which was not unuſual among the Hebrews.

3 And he walked in all the ſins of his father d, which he had done before him: and his * heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father. * Chap. 11. 4.

d Which his Father lived in, Either, Firſt, Before his Humiliation. Or rather, Secondly, after his Deliverance from Shiſhak, when, tho he did not openly renounce the Worſhip of God, he ſeems to have relapſed into his former Sins; which otherwiſe would not have been remembred againſt him; as David's Name and Memory is never loaded with the ſhame of his Sins, becauſe he truly repented of them.

4 Nevertheleſs, for Davids ſake did the LORD his God give him a || lamp e in Jeruſalem, to ſet up his ſon after him, and to eſtabliſh Jeruſalem f: || Or, candle.

e i. e. A Son and Succeſſor to perpetuate his Name and Memory, which otherwiſe had gone into obſcurity. The ſame Phraſe is uſed above, ch. 11. 36. 2 King. 8. 19. 2 Chr. 21. 7. f i. e. That he might maintain that City, and Temple, and Worſhip, as a Witneſs for God, in the World, againſt the Iſraelites and Heathen World, who ſhould have enquired after it, and embraced the True Religion there eſtabliſhed and ſet up, as a Beacon upon an high Hill, that all Men might take notice of it.

5 Becauſe David did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD, and turned not aſide from any thing that he commanded him all the days of his life, * ſave onely in the matter of Uriah the Hittite g. * 2 Sam. 11. 4. & 12. 9.

g Queſt. How is this true, ſeeing David ſinned in the matter of Nabal, 1 Sam. 25. and Achiſh, chap. 27. and Mephiboſheth, and his Indulgence to his Children, Adonijah, Amnon and Abſalom; and in the numbring of the People? Anſ. This and the like Phraſes are not to be underſtood as excluſive of every ſinful Action, but onely of a ſinful courſe or ſtate, or of an habitual and continued Apoſtaſie from God, or from his Ways, as the very Phraſe of turning aſide from God, or from his Commands, doth conſtantly imply, as appears from Exod. 32. 8. Deut. 9. 12, 16. 1 Sam. 8. 3. Pſal. 78. 57. Iſa. 44. 20. 1 Tim. 1. 6. and 5. 15, &c. And thus it is moſt true. For David's other Sins were either ſudden and tranſient Acts, proceeding from Humane Infirmity, and extraordinary Temptations, and ſoon repented of and blotted out, as in the caſes of Nabal and Achiſh; or, miſtakes of his Judgment, which was not fully convinced of the ſinfulneſs of ſuch Actions, as in the other Caſes alledged: whereas that which concerned Uriah's Wife was a deſigned and ſtudied Sin, long continued in, defended with a Succeſſion of other Sins, preſumptuous, and ſcandalous to his Government, and to the True Religion, which he ſo eminently profeſſed.

6 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam h all the days of his life.

h Which was ſaid, chap. 14. 30. and may be here repeated to ſignifie the Cauſe and Original of the War between Abijam and Jeroboam, which is implied here, and particularly deſcribed, 2 Chron. 13. Abijam continued the War which Rehoboam had begun, and puſhed it on to a deciſive Battel. But the place may be thus rendred, Yet there was War, &c. i. e. Although God was pleaſed to ſhew ſo much reſpect to David, as for his ſake to coutinue the Succeſſion to the Kingdom in his Poſterity, yet he thought fit to manifeſt his Diſpleaſure againſt David's Succeſſors for their Sins, and to mix their Honour and Happineſs with Wars and Troubles.

7 Now the reſt of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah i? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. * 2 Chr. 13. 3.

i In their Annals; whence they were long after this time Tranſlated into the Sacred Book of Chronicles. See above on chap. 14. 19.

8 And Abijam ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Aſa * his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * 2 Chr. 4. 1.

9 ¶ And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam k king of Iſrael, reigned Aſa over Judah.

k In or towards the end of the Year. See above, ver. 1.

10 And forty and one years reigned he in Jeruſalem: and his || mothers l name was Maachah, the daughter of Abiſhalom. || That is, grand-mother.

l i. e. His Grand-Mothers, as appears from ver. 2. who is called his Mother, as David is called Abijam's Father, v. 3. and this Aſa's Father, v. 11. And ſo the names of Father, and Mother, and Sons, and Daughters, are oft taken, both in Sacred and Prophane Authors, for Grand-Parents and Grand-Children. And his Grand-Mothers Name may be here mentioned, rather than his Mothers, becauſe his Mother was either an obſcure Perſon, or was long ſince dead, or indiſpoſed, or unwilling to take care of the Education of her Son, and ſo he was Educated by the Grand-mother, who, though ſhe did poiſon his Father Abijam with her Idolatrous Principles, ver. 12. yet could not infect Aſa, nor with-hold him from proſecuting his good purpoſes of Reforming Religion. Which is here remembred to his praiſe.

11 And Aſa did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD m, as did David his father.

m As to the Government of his Kingdom, and Life, and the Reformation, and Eſtabliſhment of God's Worſhip.

12 And he took away the Sodomites n out of the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.

n Of whom ſee chap. 14. 24. not all of them, but thoſe whom he could find out; but ſome eſcaped his obſervation and cenſure, as appears from chap. 22. 46.

13 And alſo * Maachah his mother, even her he removed from being queen o, becauſe ſhe had made † an idol p in a grove, and Aſa † deſtroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brook Kidron q. * 2 Chr. 15. 16. † Heb. an horror. † Heb. cut off.

o i. e. He took from her either the Name and Authority of Queen-Regent, which ſhe, having been Rehoboam's Wife, and Abijam's Mother, took to her ſelf during Aſa's Minority, and abuſed to the Patronage of Idolatry; or, the Dignity of the Queen-Mother, and thoſe Guards, or other Enſigns of Honor, or Inſtruments of Power, which, as ſuch, ſhe had enjoyed and miſemployed. Otherwiſe, he removed her from the Queen, i. e. from his Wife, that ſhe might not be infected by her, and afterwards infect his Children: which was a prudent and neceſſary care, for the prevention of ſo great and publick a Miſchief. p Heb. a terror, or horror, i.e. an horrible Idol; which it may be he ſo called, either, becauſe all Idols, though for a ſeaſon they pleaſe, yet in the end will bring dreadful effects upon their Worſhippers: or, becauſe this was an Idol of a more horrible or terrible Shape, more obominable than ordinary, and not to be ſeen without Horror: whether it was that filthy Idol, called Priapus, which was commonly placed in Groves or Gardens; or, Pan, or ſome other Heathen God, to whoſe Service ſhe in a ſpecial manner devoted her ſelf. q That when it was burnt to Powder, it might be thrown into the Water, and be unfit for any Uſe. See Exod. 32. 20. Deut. 12. 3.

14 But the high places were not removed r: nevertheleſs, Aſa his heart was perfect with the LORD ſ all his days.

r Obj. He did take theſe away, 2 Chron. 14. 3. Anſw. He took away thoſe which were devoted to the Worſhip of Idols, as is there ſaid, he took away the altars of the ſtrange gods, and the high places, to wit, where they were worſhipped: but as for thoſe High Places where the True God was Worſhipped, he did not take them away; partly, becauſe he thought there was no great Evil in them, becauſe they had been uſed by David and Solomon, and other Good and Wiſe Men; and becauſe the True God was there worſhipped, and that in the manner, though not in the place, which God had appointed; and partly, becauſe he thought the removal of them might do much more hurt than their continuance, to wit, by occaſioning the total neglect of God's Worſhip by many of the People, who either could not, or through want of competent Faith and Zeal would not go up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip, now eſpecially, when the Iſraelites, their near Neighbours, formerly their Friends, were become their Enemies, and watched all opportunities to invade or moleſt them, which they concluded they would do when all their Males were gone up to Jeruſalem; and partly, becauſe the People were ſo obſtinately bent towards them, that it was, or at leaſt, ſeemed to him, impoſſible to remove them without great Offence, or ſuch Commotions as were highly dangerous to that Church and State. ſ i. e. He did ſincerely and conſtantly adhere to the Worſhip and Service of God. Though he could not hinder the People from uſing the High Places, yet he did intirely Devote himſelf to the Worſhip of God in the manner and place preſcribed by God.

15 And he brought in the † things which his father had dedicated t, and the things which himſelf had dedicated, into the houſe of the LORD, ſilver, and gold, and veſſels. † Heb. holy.

t Abijam, to wit, when he was in diſtreſs, and going to fight with Jeroboam, 2 Chron. 13. though afterwards he did not perform his Vows, nor bring in what he had Devoted; whether becauſe he was prevented by Death, or becauſe he afterwards relapſed to Idolatry, as may ſeem probable from the 12th Verſe of this Chapter.

16 ¶ And there was war between Aſa and Baaſha king of Iſrael all their days u.

u So long as they two Lived and Reigned together. Which is not ſo to be underſtood, as if there were a ſolemn and delared War continuing all that time (for Aſa was quiet in a great meaſure for his firſt ten years, 2 Chr. 14. 1. till the Iſraelites had recovered themſelves from that dreadful Blow given them by Abijam, 2 Chron. 13. and Baaſha began to Reign in Aſa's third Year) but ſo that there were many private and particular Hoſtilities practiſed among them; in which ſenſe the ſame Phraſe is uſed, chap. 14. 30.

17 And * Baaſha king of Iſrael went up againſt Judah x, and built y Ramah z, that he might not ſuffer any to go out or come in to Aſa king of Judah a. * 2 Chr. 16. 1.

x Perceiving Aſa's great Succeſs; of which ſee 2 Chron. 14. and 15. and the defection of many of his own Subjects to him upon that occaſion, 2 Chron. 15. 9. he began to beſtir himſelf, and commenceth a War againſt him. y i. e. Repaired and fortified. z A City of Benjamin; which either belonged to the Kingdom of Iſrael, from the Diviſion (as ſome other places of that Tribe are ſuppos'd to have done; of which ſee on 1 King. 11. 13.) or belonged to Judah, but was now Invaded and taken by Baaſha, and Fortified. a Therefore he choſe this place, becauſe it was in the way from his Kingdom to Jeruſalem, and, as ſome add, in, or near the ſtraits of the Mountains, where they could eaſily diſcover and hinder all Paſſengers that way.

18 Then Aſa took all the ſilver, and the gold that were left b in the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD, and the treaſures of the kings houſe, and deliver'd them into the hand of his ſervants: and king Aſa ſent them to

*2 Chr. 16. 2. * Benhadad c the ſon of Tabrimon, the ſon of Hezion king of Syria, that dwelt at Damaſcus, ſaying, b Theſe poor Remainders, which either Shiſhak had left at that time, chap. 14. 26. or, Abijam, or Aſa, or others, both of Iſrael and Judah, had dedicated; which probably was not inconſiderable, becauſe Aſa had got great Spoils from Zerah, 2 Chron. 14. and he and his numerous and proſperous People did at this time expreſs a great Zeal for the Houſe and Worſhip of God. c Wherein he committed three great Faults, amongſt many others, Firſt, he Alienated things conſecrated to God, without neceſſity. Secondly, He did this out of Carnal Fear and Diſtruſt of that God whoſe Power and Goodneſs he had lately experienced. Thirdly, He did this for an ill intent, to hire him to the breach of his League and Covenant with Baaſha, v. 19. and to take away part of that Land which by Right, and the ſpecial Gift of God, belonged to the Iſraelites.

19 There is a league between me and thee, and between my father and thy father d: behold, I have ſent unto thee a preſent of ſilver and gold: come, and break thy

d Whereby it appears, that albeit he was an Adverſary to Iſrael all Solomon's days, chap. 11. 25. yet after the Diviſion of the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah, he was in League with both of them, either, becauſe his Deſigns lay upon the enlargement of his Empire other ways; or rather, becauſe he thought it his Wiſdom and Intereſt to leave them to themſelves to undo one another by their inteſtine Wars, and ſo to prepare the way to his Conqueſt of both; whereas his invading of either of them might have made up the Breach, and forced them to unite againſt their common Enemy. And therefore as ſoon as he was free from this fear, and one of them needed and earneſtly deſired his help againſt the other, he gladly embraced the opportunity. e That being called to defend himſelf, he may be forced to depart from my Territories.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkned unto king Aſa, and ſent the captains of the hoſts which he had, againſt the cities of Iſrael, and ſmote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Cinneroth f, with all the land of Naphtali.

f The Northern parts of Baaſha's Kingdom, which were neareſt to his own Kingdom of Damaſcus, and moſt remote from thoſe parts where Baaſha was now employed, which were in the moſt Southern parts of his Dominions.

21 And it came to paſs, when Baaſha heard thereof, that he left off building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah g.

g Now the Royal City of Iſrael. See chap. 14. 17. There he abode to defend his own Kingdoms, and durſt not return to oppoſe Aſa, leſt the Syrian King ſhould make a ſecond and worſe Invaſion. So Aſa met with Succeſs in his Ungodly Courſe, as on the other ſide good Men ſometimes meet with Diſappointment in a good Cauſe and Courſe. So there is no judging of Cauſes by Events.

22 Then king Aſa made a proclamation throughout

† Heb. free. all Judah, (none was † exempted ∴) and they took away the ſtones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baaſha had builded: and king Aſa built with them Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah h.

∴ All ſorts of Perſons were obliged to come, except thoſe who were diſenabled by Age, or Infirmity, or Abſence, or by the publick Service of the King and Kingdom in other places. h i. e. Repaired and ſtrengthened them, for they were built before. See Jer. 41. 9. Queſt. Why did he not rather perfect the Fortifications of Ramah which Baaſha had begun? Anſ. Becauſe Baaſha might have returned and recovered it afterwards; and he thought it moſt convenient that there ſhould be no City nor Fort in that place.

23 The reſt of all the acts of Aſa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? Nevertheleſs i, in the time of his old age he was diſeaſed in his feet.

i Notwithſtanding the great things which he had done, and the Glory and Proſperity which he enjoyed, he felt the effects of Humane Infirmity, and of his own Sins; of which ſee 2 Chron. 16. 12, 13.

24 And Aſa ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and

* 2 Chr. 17. 1. Matth. 1. 8. called Joſaphat. * Jehoſhaphat his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

† Heb. reigned. 25 ¶ And Nadab the ſon of Jeroboam † began to reign over Iſrael, in the ſecond Year of Aſa king of Judah, and reigned over Iſrael two years k.

27 ¶ And Baaſha the ſon of Ahijah, of the houſe m of Iſſachar, conſpired againſt him, and Baaſha ſmote him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philiſtines n, (for Nadab and all Iſrael laid ſiege to Gibbethon)

28 Even in the third year of Aſa n king of Judah, did Baaſha ſlay him o, and reigned in his ſtead.

n How this agrees with 2 Chron. 16. 1. ſee in the Notes there. o Which he did, not to fulfil God's Threatning, but only to advance himſelf; and therefore this is called Murder, Chap. 16. 7.

29 And it came to paſs when he reigned, that he ſmote all the houſe of Jeroboam, he left not to Jeroboam any that breathed p, until he had deſtroyed him, according unto * the ſaying of the LORD q, which he ſpake *Chap. 14. 10. by his ſervant Ahijah the Shilonite:

p i. e. Any of the Males of that Family. See Deut. 20. 16. Joſh. 10. 40. q So God over-ruled Baaſha's Ambition and Cruelty, to fulfil his own Counſel and Prediction.

30 Becauſe of the ſins of Jeroboam which he ſinned, and which he made Iſrael to ſin r, by his provocation wherewith he provoked the LORD God of Iſrael to anger.

r So that ſame wicked Policy which he uſed to eſtabliſh the Kingdom in his Family, proved his and their Ruine: which is very frequently the Event of Ungodly Counſels.

31 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael *? * See above 14. 19.

32 And there was war between Aſa and Baaſha king of Iſrael all their days.

CHAP. XVI.

Jehu prophecyeth againſt Baaſha, 1—7. Elah ſucceedeth him: Him Zimri ſlayeth, and ſucceedeth: He, beſieged by Omri, burneth himſelf, 8—20. Omri prevaileth againſt Tibni, and is King: Buildeth Samaria: Followeth the Sins of Jeroboam, and dieth, 21—28. Ahab his ſon ſucceedeth him: He is more wicked than his Predeceſſors, 29—33. Hiel buildeth Jericho: and Joſhua's Curſe is fulfilled in him. 34.

THen the word of the LORD came to Jehu a the ſon of Hanani b, againſt Baaſha, ſaying, a A Prophet, of whom ſee more, 2 Chron. 19. 2. and 20. 34. b Who alſo was a Prophet, 2 Chron. 16. 7.

2 Foraſmuch as I exalted thee out of the duſt c, and made thee prince over my people Iſrael, and thou haſt walked in the way of Jeroboam, and haſt made my people Iſrael to ſin, to provoke me to anger d with their ſins:

c Out of a low and mean Eſtate. See 1 Sam. 2. 8. Pſal. 113. 7. Queſt. How is Baaſha's Exaltation to the Kingdom aſcribed to God, when he got it by Treachery and Cruelty? Anſw. Though that way or manner of Invading the Kingdom was from himſelf, and his own wicked Heart; yet the Tranſlation of the Kingdom from Nadab to Baaſha ſimply conſidered, was from God, who by his Decree and Providence ordered it, and diſpoſed of all occaſions, and of the Hearts of all the Soldiers and People, ſo that Baaſha ſhould have opportunity of executing God's Judgment upon Nadab; and ſuch ſucceſs thereupon, that he ſhould get a preſent and quiet poſſeſſion of the Kingdom. Nay, the very Act of Baaſha, to wit, the killing of his Maſter Nadab, was an act of Divine Juſtice, foretold and appointed by God, Chap. 14. 10. And if Baaſha had done this in Obedience to God's Command, and with a ſingle Deſign, to execute God's Vengeance threatned againſt him, it had been no more a Sin, than Jehu's Act in killing his Maſter King Jehoram, upon the ſame account, 2 King. 9. But that Baaſha did this, meerly to gratifie his own Pride, or Covetouſneſs, or Malice; this was not from God, but from himſelf, and therefore is charged upon him as Murder here, v. 7. d See on 1 King. 14. 9.

3 Behold, I will take away the poſterity of Baaſha, and the poſterity of his houſe: and will make thy houſe like * the houſe of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat. * Chap. 15. 29.

4 * Him that dieth of Baaſha in the city, ſhall the dogs * Chap. 14. 11. eat: and him that dieth of his in the fields, ſhall the fowls of the air eat.

5 Now the reſt of the acts of Baaſha, and what he did, and his might, * are they not written in the book * 2 Chro. 16. 1. of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

6 So Baaſha ſlept with his Fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, and Elah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

7 And alſo by the hand of the prophet Jehu the ſon of Hanani, came the word of the LORD e againſt Baaſha, and againſt his houſe, even for all the evil that he did in the ſight of the LORD, in provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the houſe *Chap. 15. 29. and 2 King. 10. 17. of Jeroboam, and becauſe he * killed him f.

e The meaning is, The Meſſage which came from the Lord to Jehu, v. 1. &c. was here delivered by the hand, i. e. the Miniſtry of Jehu, unto Baaſha. Jehu did what God commanded him in this matter, tho it was not without apparent Hazard to himſelf. f i. e. Nadab; who tho he be not expreſſed, yet is ſufficiently underſtood: 1. By the manifeſt reference which theſe Words have to the Murder committed by Baaſha, which was done upon Nadab only, ch. 15. 28. 2. By the foregoing Words, the Houſe of Jeroboam; i. e. His Poſterity, which was Nadab. Queſt. Why doth God puniſh him for doing God's Work? Anſw. 1. Though God appointed, that Jeroboam's Family ſhould be cut off; yet he did not give Baaſha Commiſſion to do it; nor had declared how, or by whom he would do it. 2. Baaſha did this, not to fulfill God's Will, but his own Luſts. See on ver. 2.

8 In the twentieth and ſixth year of Aſa king of Judah, began Ela the ſon of Baaſha to reign over Iſrael in Tirzah, two years g.

g One compleat, and part of the other, ver. 10. which in Scripture-account is reckon'd for a Year. See above 7. 15. and 15. 25.

9 And his ſervant Zimri (captain of half his chariots h) conſpired againſt him, as he was in Tirzah, drinking himſelf drunk in the houſe of Arza † ſteward of his houſe in Tirzah i.

† Heb. which was over, &c.

h i. e. Of all his Military Chariots, and the Men belonging to them: the Chariots for Carriage of neceſſary things, being put into other, and meaner Hands. i Whilſt his Forces were elſewhere imployed, v. 15. which gave Zimri advantage to execute his Deſign.

10 And Zimri went in and ſmote him, and killed him in the twenty and ſeventh year of Aſa king of Judah, and reigned in his ſtead.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs, when he began to reign, asſoon as he ſat on his throne, that he ſlew all the houſe of Baaſha: he left him * not one that piſſeth againſt a wall, ‖ neither of his kinsfolks, k nor of his friends l.

* 1 Sam. 25. 22. ‖ Or, both his kinſmen and his friends

k Heb. Avengers; to whom it belong'd to Revenge his Death. See Numb. 35. 12. l His Confidents, and familiar Acquaintance, ſuch as were moſt likely to hinder his Settlement in the Throne, and to Avenge their Friends Quarrel.

12 Thus did Zimri deſtroy all the houſe of Baaſha, according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake againſt Baaſha m, † by Jehu the prophet:

† Heb. by the hand of, &c.

m i. e. Thus fulfilling God's Threatning, but either without his knowledge, or meerly for his own ends.

13 For all the ſins of Baaſha, and the ſins of Elah his ſons; by which they ſinned, and by which they made Iſrael to ſin, in provoking the LORD God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities n.

n i. e. Idols, oft called Vanities; as Deut. 32. 21. 1 Sam. 12. 21. Jer. 14. 22. becauſe they are but imaginary Deities, and meer nothings; 1 Cor. 8. 4. having nothing at all of a God in them, and nothing of Power to do either good or hurt.

14 Now the reſt of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael *?

* See above 14. 19.

15 ¶ In the twenty and ſeventh year of Aſa king of Judah, did Zimri reign ſeven days in Tirzah: and the people were encamped againſt Gibethon, which belonged to the Philiſtines o.

o Which had been beſieged before, Chap. 15. 27. but, it ſeems, was then relieved, or afterwards recovered by the Philiſtines; taking the advantage of the Diſorders and Contentions which were among their Enemies.

16 And the people that were encamped, heard ſay, Zimri hath conſpired, and hath alſo ſlain the king: wherefore all Iſrael made Omri the captain of the hoſt king over Iſrael that day in the camp.

17 And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Iſrael with him, and they beſieged Tirzah.

18 And it came to paſs when Zimri ſaw that the city was taken, that he went into the palace of the kings houſe, and burnt the kings houſe over him p with fire, and died;

p Or, and he burnt, &c. Either, 1. Omri burnt it over Zimri; for Pronouns ſometimes reſpect more remote Nouns. Or rather, 2. Zimri (to whom both the foregoing and following Words apparently belong) who burnt it upon himſelf; that neither himſelf, nor the Royal Palace and Treaſures might come into the hands of his inſulting Adverſary.

19 For his ſins q which he ſinned, in doing evil in the ſight of the LORD, in walking in the way of Jeroboam r, and in his ſin which he did, to make Iſrael ſin.

q i. e. This befell him for his ſins. r Which he might do, either before his Reign, in the whole courſe of his Life, which is juſtly charged upon him, becauſe of his Impenitency: or in the Seven Days of his Reign; in which, he had time enough to publiſh his Intentions or Decrees, about the continuance of the Worſhip of the Calves; or to Sacrifice to them, for his good Succeſs, either already obtained, or further deſired.

20 Now the reſt of the acts of Zimri, and his treaſon that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael *?

* See Chap. 14. 19.

21 ¶ Then were the people of Iſrael divided into two parts s: half of the people followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath, to make him king t: and half followed Omri u.

s Fell into a Civil War: yet neither this, nor any other of God's dreadful Judgments could win them to Repentance; which is an Evidence of their prodigious Impiety, and Incorrigibleneſs, and how ripe they were for Ruine. t Diſdaining that the Soldiers ſhould uſurp ſuch a Power over the whole Kingdom. u Becauſe they approved the Perſon, though not the manner of his Election.

22 But the people that followed Omri prevailed x againſt the people that followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath: ſo Tibni died y, and Omri reigned.

x Partly, becauſe they had the Army on their ſide; and principally, by the appointment and judgment of God, giving up the Iſraelites to him who was much the worſt; v. 25, 26. y A violent Death, in the Battel.

23 ¶ In the thirty and one year of Aſa king of Judah, began Omri to reign over Iſrael, twelve years z: ſix years reigned he in Tirzah.

z i. e. And he Reigned Twelve Years, not from this 31 Year of Aſa, for he died in his 38 Year, v. 29. but from the beginning of his Reign, which was in Aſa's 27 Year, v. 15, 16. So he Reigned four Years in a ſtate of War with Tibni, and eight Years peaceably.

24 And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer, for two talents of ſilver, and built a on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill † * Samaria.

† Heb. Shomron. *See Chap. 13. 32.

a To wit, the City; and eſpecially, a Royal Palace, becauſe that at Tirzah was burnt, v. 18.

25 ¶ But * Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worſe than all that were before him.

*Mic. 6. 16

26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam b the ſon of Nebat, and in his ſin wherewith he made Iſrael to ſin, to provoke the LORD God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities.

b i. e. Did not only promote the Worſhip of the Calves, as Jeroboam and all his Succeſſors hitherto had done; but did alſo imitate all Jeroboam's other ſins, which doubtleſs were many and great; and peradventure he added this to the reſt, that together with the Calves, he Worſhipped Devils: i. e. other Idols of the Heathens, as may be thought from 1 Cor. 10. 20. where his Worſhip of the Devils, and of the Calves is diſtinguiſhed. Beſides, though he did no more for the ſubſtance of the Action, than his Predeceſſors did; yet he might juſtly and truly be ſaid to do worſe than they, becauſe he did it with greater Aggravations, after ſo many terrible Examples of Divine Vengeance upon the Kings and People of Iſrael for that Sin; or, becauſe he made ſeverer Laws concerning the Calf-Worſhip; whence we read of the ſtatutes of Omri, Mich. 6. 16. or did more induſtriouſly and violently execute them, with greater Deſpight againſt God, and Malice againſt his Servants.

27 Now the reſt of the acts of Omri, which he did, and his might that he ſhewed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

28 So Omri ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria, and Ahab his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

29 ¶ And in the thirty and eighth year of Aſa king of Judah, began Ahab the ſon of Omri to reign over Iſrael; and Ahab the ſon of Omri reigned over Iſrael in Samaria, twenty and two years.

30 And Ahab the ſon of Omri did evil in the ſight of the LORD, above all that were before him.

31 And it came to paſs, † as if it had been a light thing for him c to walk in the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat; that he took to wife Jezebel d the daughter of Ethbaal e king of the Zidonians f, and went and ſerved Baal g, and worſhipped him.

† Heb. was it a light thing? &c.

c As if that Sin were not big enough to expreſs his Contempt of God; as if he thought it below his Wit and Dignity, to content himſelf with ſuch a Vulgar Fault. But the Hebrew runs thus, Was it a light thing, &c? i. e. Was this but a ſmall Sin, that therefore he needed to add more Abominations? Where the Queſtion, as is uſual among the Hebrews, implies a ſtrong Denial; and intimates, That this was no ſmall Sin, but a great Crime; and might have ſatisfied his wicked Mind, without any Additions. d A Woman infamous for her Idolatry, and Cruelty, and Sorcery, and Filthineſs. And this Idolatry was much worſe than that of the Calves; becauſe in the Calves they Worſhipped the True God; but in theſe, falſe Gods or Devils, as is evident from Chap. 18. 21.

32 And he reared up an altar for Baal in the houſe of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a grove h; and Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Iſrael to anger, than all the kings of Iſrael that were before him.

h Againſt God's expreſs Prohibition, Deut. 7. 5.

34 In his days i did Hiel the Bethelite k build Jericho l: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his firſtborn, and ſet up the gates thereof in his youngeſt ſon Segub m, * according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake by Joſhua n the ſon of Nun.

* Joſh. 6. 26.

i This is here added, 1. As a Character of the time, and an Inſtance of the Truth and Certainty of Divine Predictions and Comminations, this being fulfilled 800 Years after it was threatned; and withal, as a Warning to the Iſraelites, not to think themſelves innocent or ſafe, becauſe the Judgment threatned againſt them by Abijah, Chap. 14. 15. was not yet executed, though they continued in that Calf-worſhip which he condemned: but to expect the certain accompliſhment of it in due time, if they perſiſted in their Impenitency. Or, 2. And ſo he found by his own ſad Experience, the truth of God's Word, and how vain it was to contend with him. Qu. Why did not God rather puniſh Hiel himſelf? Anſw. This was a terrible Puniſhment, to ſee his Children cut off by Divine Vengeance, before their time, one after another; and all this, for his own folly and raſhneſs. Compare Jer. 52. 10. And as for Hiel himſelf, poſſibly after he had been ſpared ſo long, that he might be an Eye-witneſs of his Sons untimely Deaths; he alſo might be cut off, though it be not Recorded, as not belonging to the Prophecy here mentioned; or, if not, his preſent Impunity was his greateſt Miſery; either, as it continued his Torment in the ſad and laſting Remembrance of his Loſs and Miſery; or as it was a mean to harden his Heart ſo for greater Judgments, to which he was reſerved. n Of which, ſee on Joſh. 6. 26.

k Thus God reſcues him from the Fury of Ahab and Jezabel, who, he knew, would ſeek to deſtroy him. Qu. Why did not Ahab ſeize upon him immediately upon theſe words? Anſw. 1. This muſt be aſcribed to God's over-ruling Providence, who hath the Hearts of all Men in his hands; and hath oft protected his Prophets and Servants in ſuch caſes. 2. He might ſay this not by word of Mouth, but by Letter and Meſſage ſent to him; as that word is ſometimes uſed, as Exod. 18. 6.

4 And it ſhall be, that thou ſhalt drink of the brook, and I have commanded l the Ravens m to feed thee there.

l i. e. I have decreed or appointed. Or, I ſhall command, i. e. effectually move them, by Inſtincts and Inclinations, which I ſhall put into them, which ſhall be as forcible with them, as a Law or Command is to Men. 6 And the ravens brought him bread and fleſh n in the morning o, and bread and fleſh in the evening p: and he drank of the brook.

7 And it came to paſs † after a while q, that the brook dried up r, becauſe there had been no rain in the land.

† Heb. at the end of days. Gen. 4. 3. and 2 Sam. 14. 26.

q Heb. At the end of days; i. e. of a Year; for ſo the word days is oft uſed, as in Exod. 13. 10. Levit. 25. 29. Numb. 9. 22. Judg. 17. 10. 1 Sam. 1. 3. and 27. 7. And this ſeems to be a convenient time for the drying up of the Brook, which was gradually dried up. And ſo this agrees well with Chap. 18. 1. in the third Year: of which, ſee the Notes there. r God ſo ordering it, partly for the Puniſhment of thoſe Iſraelites who lived near it, and had hitherto been refreſhed by it: partly, for the Trial and Exerciſe of Elijah's Faith, and to teach him to depend upon God alone, not on any Creature for his Support: and partly, to ſhew his own allſufficiency in providing for his People.

8 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto him, ſaying,

9 Ariſe, get thee to * Zarephath s, which belongeth to Zidon t, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded u a widow-woman there to ſuſtain thee.

* Luk. 4. 26. called Sarepta.

See Luke 4. 25. And God's providing for his Prophet, firſt, by an Unclean Bird, and then by a Gentile, whom the Jews eſteemed Unclean, was a notable Preſage of the Calling of the Gentiles, and of the Rejection of the Jews. u i. e. Appointed or Provided, as before, ver. 4. for that ſhe had as yet no Revelation or Command of God about it, appears from ver. 12.

10 So he aroſe, and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of ſticks: and he called to her x, and ſaid, Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a veſſel, that I may drink.

x Knowing by Divine Suggeſtion, that this was the woman deſigned.

11 And as ſhe was going to fetch it, he called to her, and ſaid, Bring me, I pray thee, a morſel of bread in thine hand y.

y Which he ſaid only to try her, and to make way for what follows.

12 And ſhe ſaid, As the LORD thy God liveth z, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oyl in a cruſe: and behold, I am gathering two ſticks a, that I may go in, and dreſs it for me and my ſon, that we may eat it, and die b.

z By which ſhe diſcovers, That though ſhe was a Gentile, yet ſhe owned the God of Iſrael as the True God. a i. e. A few ſticks, that number being oft uſed indefinitely for any ſmall number, both in Scripture, as Hoſ. 6. 2. and by other Authors. b For having no more Proviſion, we muſt needs periſh with Hunger. For though the Famine was only in the Land of Iſrael, yet the Effects of it were in Tyre and Sidon, which were fed by the Corn of that Land. See Acts 12. 20. Or the ſame Famine might be in thoſe parts alſo; the chief cauſe of the Famine, to wit, the Worſhip of Baal, being common to both places.

13 And Elijah ſaid unto her, Fear not; go, and do as thou haſt ſaid: but make me thereof a little cake firſt c, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy ſon.

c Which he requires as a trial and exerciſe of her Faith, and Charity, and Obedience, which he knew God would graciouſly and plentifully reward; and ſo this would be a great Example to encourage others to the practice of the ſame Graces upon like occaſions.

14 For thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael d, The barrel of meal e ſhall not waſte, neither ſhall the cruſe of oil fail, until the day that the LORD † ſendeth rain upon the earth.

18 And ſhe ſaid unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee k, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me l to call my ſin to remembrance m, and to ſlay my ſon?

k Wherein have I injured or provoked thee? Or, Why didſt thou come to Sojourn in my Houſe, (as the following Words ſeem to explain theſe) if this be the Fruit of it? They are Words of a troubled Mind, ſavouring of ſome raſhneſs and impatience. l Didſt thou come for this end, that thou mighteſt ſeverely obſerve my Sins, and by thy Prayers bring down God's juſt Judgment upon me, for them, as thou haſt for the like cauſe brought down this Famine upon the Nation? m Either, 1. To my remembrance; that I ſhould by this dreadful Judgment be brought to the knowledge and remembrance of my Sins, which have procured it. Or rather, 2. To God's Remembrance: for God is oft ſaid in Scripture, to remember Sins, when he puniſheth them; and to forget them, when he ſpares the Sinner. See 2 Sam. 16. 10. Have I inſtead of the Bleſſing which I expected from thy preſence, met with a Curſe?

20 And he cried unto the LORD, and ſaid, O LORD my God, haſt thou alſo brought evil upon the widow, with whom I ſojourn, by ſlaying her ſon p?

p A Prayer full of powerful Arguments. Thou art the Lord, that canſt revive the Child: and my God; and therefore wiltſt not, do not deny me. She is a Widow, add not Affliction to the Afflicted; deprive her not of the great Support and Staff of her Age: She hath given me kind Entertainment: Let her not fare the worſe for her kindneſs to a Prophet, whereby wicked Men will take occaſion to reproach both her, and Religion.

21 And he † ſtretched himſelf upon the child q three times, and cried unto the LORD r, and ſaid, O LORD my God, I pray thee let this childs ſoul come † into him again s.

q Not as if he thought this could contribute any Warmth or Life to the Child; but partly, to expreſs, and withal to increaſe his Grief for the Child's Death, and his Deſire of its reviving; that thereby his Prayers might be more fervent, and conſequently, more prevalent with God: and partly, that it might appear, That this Miracle, tho wrought by God alone, yet was done for the ſake of Elijah, and in anſwer to his Prayers. Compare 2 King. 4. 34. Job. 9. 6. Act. 20. 10. r Firſt, he ſtretched himſelf, then he prayed, and that for Three times ſucceſſively. s By which it is evident, That the Soul was gone out of his Body, and therefore doth ſubſiſt without it after Death. Compare Gen. 35. 18. This was a great Requeſt; but Elias was incouraged to make it; partly, by his Zeal for God's Honour, which he thought was concerned in it, and would be eclipſed by it: partly, by the experience which he had of his prevailing Power with God in Prayer: and partly, by a Divine Impulſe moving him to deſire it.

22 And the LORD heard the voice of Elijah, and the ſoul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the houſe, and delivered him unto his mother: and Elijah ſaid, See, thy ſon liveth.

24 ¶ And the woman ſaid to Elijah, Now by this I know t that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in thy mouth is truth u.

t Now I am aſſured of that concerning which I began upon this ſad occaſion to doubt. u That the God whom thou profeſſeſt, is the True God; and the Doctrine and Religion which thou Teacheſt, is the only True Religion: and therefore henceforth I wholly renounce the Worſhip of Idols.

CHAP. XVIII.

Elijah in the extremity of Famine is ſent to Ahab: meeteth good Obadiah, 1—7. Chargeth him to certifie the King of his coming: He bringeth Ahab to him, 8—16. He reproveth Ahab and the Congregation: By Fire from Heaven convinceth Baal's Prophets: They are ſlain, 17—40. Elijah by Prayer obtaineth Rain: Runs before Ahab to Jezreel. 41—46.

AND it came to paſs after many days, that the word of the LORD came to Elijah in the third year a, ſaying, Go ſhew thy ſelf unto Ahab b, and I will ſend rain upon the earth c.

a Either, 1. From the time when he went to hide himſelf by the Brook Cherith; Six Months before which time the Famine might begin, tho it was not yet come to extremity. And ſo this being in, or towards the end of the third Year, it makes up theſe Three Years and Six Months, Jam. 5. 17. Or, 2. From the time of his going to Sarepta, which probably was a Year after the Famine begun; See on Chap. 17. 7. and ſo this might be in the middle of the Third Year, which alſo makes up the Three Years and Six Months. b To acquaint him with the Cauſe of this Judgment, ver. 18. and to adviſe him to remove it, and upon that condition to promiſe him Rain. c According to thy Word and Prayer, which thou ſhalt make for it. Thus God takes care to maintain the Honour and Authority of his Prophet, and in Judgment remembers Mercy to Iſrael for the ſake of the Holy Seed yet left among them, who ſuffered in this common Calamity.

2 And Elijah went to ſhew himſelf unto Ahab d: and there was a ſore famine in Samaria.

d Wherein he ſhews a ſtrong Faith, and reſolute Obedience, and invincible Courage, that he durſt at God's Command run into the Mouth of this raging Lion; which was a degree of Martyrdom.

3 And Ahab called † Obadiah which was † the governour of his houſe e: (now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly f:

† Heb. Obadiahu.

e Being valued by Ahab for his great Prudence and Fidelity, and therefore indulged as to the Worſhip of the Calves and Baal. f Queſt. How could he and ſome other Iſraelites be ſaid to fear the Lord, when they did not go up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip, as God had commanded? Anſw. Although they ſeem not to be wholly excuſable in this neglect, becauſe they ſhould have preferred God's Service before their Worldly Commodity, according to the good Example of the Prieſts and Levites, and the generality of the Godly People who did ſo, 2 Chron. 11. 13, 16. yet becauſe they Worſhipped God in Spirit and Truth, and performed all Moral Duties to God and their Brethren, and abſtained from Idolatry, and being kept from Jeruſalem by violence, they thought neceſſity, and the apparent Hazard of their Lives, would excuſe them from Ceremonial Services; and God bare with their Infirmity herein.

4 For it was ſo, when † Jezebel cut off the prophets of the LORD, that Obadiah took an hundred prophets g, and hid them by fifty in a cave, and fed them h with bread and water i)

g Which Name is not only given to ſuch as are endowed with an extraordinary Spirit of Prophecy, but to ſuch Miniſters as devoted themſelves to the Service of God in Preaching, Praying, Praiſing God, and the like, as 1 Sam. 10. 10, 11, 12. and in this place compared with ver. 22. where Elijah ſaith, I only remain a Prophet of the Lord, to wit, ſtrictly ſo called; and Matth. 10. 41. 1 Cor. 12. 28, 29. and 14. 29. h With the Hazard of his own Life, and againſt the King's Command; as wiſely conſidering, that no Command of an Earthly Prince could over-rule the Command of the Supreme Lord, the King of Kings, or diſcharge him from thoſe Acts of Piety to God, and Charity to Men, which God's Law indiſpenſably required. i Either properly; which was a great kindneſs in thoſe Circumſtances: or figuratively, i. e. with Meat and Drink.

5 And Ahab ſaid unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto all fountains of water, and unto all brooks k: peradventure we may find graſs to ſave the horſes and mules alive, † that we loſe not all the beaſts.

† Heb. that we cut not off our ſelves from the beaſts.

k About which, Graſs was moſt probably to be found in that great Drought.

6 So they divided the land between them, to paſs throughout it. Ahab went one way by himſelf l, and Obadiah went another way by himſelf.

l Not daring to truſt any other, Obadiah excepted, leſt being bribed by ſuch as had Graſs for their own uſe, they ſhould not give him a true Account.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Elijah met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face m, and ſaid, Art thou that my lord Elijah?

m By this profound Reverence, ſhewing his great Reſpect and Love to him.

8 And he anſwered him, I am: go tell thy lord n, Behold, Elijah is here.

n Ahab: whom, though a very wicked Man, he owns for Obadiah's Lord and King; thereby inſtructing him, that he did well in owning him as ſuch; and that the Wickedneſs of Kings doth not exempt their Subjects from Obedience to their Lawful Commands.

9 And he ſaid, What have I ſinned o, that thou wouldeſt deliver thy ſervant into the hand of Ahab, to ſlay me?

o Wherein have I ſo offended God, and thee, that thou ſhouldeſt inflict this puniſhment upon me, and expoſe me to certain ruin by this means?

10 As the LORD thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom p, whither my lord hath not ſent to ſeek thee: and when they ſaid, He is not there; he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not q.

p To wit, near to his own, where he could in reaſon think that Elijah had hid himſelf. Nothing is more frequent than to underſtand General Expreſſions with ſuch Limitations. q Not that he could force other Kingdoms to take an Oath, but that by his Perſuaſions he prevailed with the chief Perſons in ſeveral Kingdoms for his Satisfaction to ſwear that they did not know of Elijah's being among them. Which was not hard for him to obtain. For Ahab was a great Prince, and had a great Intereſt among the Neighbouring Kings. The King of Tyre was his Father-in-law; the King of Moab Tributary to him; Jehoſaphat, his Friend and Relation, to whom the King of Edom was Tributary. We read alſo of all the Kings of Arabia, and of all the Kings of the Hittites, and of Syria, 1 King. 10. 15, 29. which as they correſponded with Solomon, ſo how far they might be Allied to, or Confederate with Ahab, we know not; nor what Articles or Agreements were between him and them, among which this might be one, That they ſhould deliver up to one another all their Fugitive or Baniſhed Subjects upon Demand; which might give ſufficient ground for his deſire or expectation of this Oath. Queſt. How then could Elijah lie hid in the Houſe of the Widow of Sarepta? Anſw. That might eaſily be, either, becauſe ſhe her ſelf, or at leaſt others, did not know particularly who he was; or, becauſe ſhe uſed all poſſible Care to conceal him, her Conſcience and Intereſt both obliging her ſo to do; or becauſe God ſecured him there.

11 And now thou ſayeſt, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs, as ſoon as I am gone from thee, that the Spirit of the LORD r ſhall carry thee whither I know not ſ; and ſo when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee, he will ſlay me t: but I thy ſervant fear the LORD from my youth u.

r The Holy Ghoſt, to whom the Inſpiration and Conduct of the Prophets is commonly aſcribed in Holy Scripture, as Iſa. 48. 16. and 61. 1. Matth. 4. 1. Act. 16. 6, 7. who might do this either immediately by his own Power, or by an Angel, or by a ſtrong Wind. ſ Such tranſportations of the Prophets having doubtleſs been uſual before this time, as they were after it. See 2 King. 2. 16. Ezek. 3. 12, 14. Mat. 4. 1. Act. 8. 39. t Either as a curſed Impoſtor that hath deluded him with vain Hopes: or rather, becauſe I did not forthwith ſeize upon thee, and bring thee to him to receive puniſhment. u He ſpeaks not theſe, nor the following Words, in way of vain boaſting; but only for his own neceſſary vindication and preſervation, that he might move the Prophet to pity and ſpare him, and not put him upon that hazardous action; which yet he was reſolved to do, if the Prophet peremptorily required it.

13 Was it not told my lord, what I did when Jezebel ſlew the prophets of the LORD? how I hid an hundred men of the LORDS prophets by † fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

† Heb. fifty, fifty.

14 And now thou ſayeſt, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here: and he ſhall ſlay me.

15 And Elijah ſaid, As the LORD of hoſts x liveth, before whom I ſtand, I will ſurely ſhew my ſelf unto him to day.

x The Lord of all the Creatures, which are called God's Hoſts, Gen. 2. 1. Deut. 4. 19. Pſal. 103. 21. and 148. 2. and are all ſubject to his Command. He mentions this Title as his Shield, under the Protection whereof he did, and durſt venture to come into Ahab's Preſence.

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 ¶ And it came to paſs when Ahab ſaw Elijah, that Ahab ſaid unto him, Art thou he * that troubleth Iſrael y?

* Act. 16. 20.

y Have I at laſt met with thee, O thou great Diſturber of my Kingdom, the Author of this Famine, and of all our Diſquiets and Calamities?

18 And he anſwered, I have not troubled Iſrael, but thou and thy fathers houſe z, in that ye have forſaken the commandments of the LORD, and thou haſt followed Baalim.

z Theſe Calamities are not to be imputed to my Paſſions, but thine and thy Fathers Wickedneſs, which God puniſheth by this means. He anſwered him thus boldly, becauſe he ſpoke and acted in God's Name, and for his Honour and Service, whoſe Vaſſal Ahab was.

19 Now therefore ſend a, and gather to me all Iſrael b unto mount Carmel c, and the prophets of Baal d four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves e four hundred, which eat at Jezebels table.

a To wit, Meſſengers, that this Controverſie between thee and me may be decided, the true Cauſe of theſe heavy Judgments diſcovered and removed, That ſo this Plague may be removed. b By their Deputies, or Heads, or Repreſentatives, that they may be witneſſes of all our Tranſactions. c Not that Carmel in Judah, 1 Sam. 15. 12. but another in Iſſachar by the Mid-land Sea, Joſ. 19. 26. Jer. 46. 18. which he choſe as a very convenient place, being not far from the Center of his Kingdom, to which all the Tribes might conveniently reſort, and at ſome good diſtance from Samaria, that Jezebel might not hinder his Deſign; and a very high Mountain, Amos 9. 3. and that upon the Sea, whence he might have the opportunity to diſcover the Rain at its firſt approach, which he did, ver. 42, &c. d Which were diſperſed in all the parts of the Kingdom. e Which attended upon thoſe Baals or Idols which were worſhipped in the Groves, which were near the Royal City, and much valued and frequented by the King and the Queen, 1 King. 15. 13. and 16. 33. 2 King. 13. 6. and therefore were maintained at the Queens Charges.

20 So Ahab f ſent unto all the children of Iſrael, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

f He complied with Elijah's motion; partly, becauſe it was ſo fair and reaſonable, that he could not refuſe it with Honour, nor without the Diſcontent of all his People, this being propoſed in order to their Deliverance from this terrible Famine; partly, becauſe the Urgency of the preſent Diſtreſs made him willing to try all means to remove it; partly from a Curioſity of ſeeing ſome extraordinary Events; and principally, becauſe God inclined his Heart to cloſe with it.

21 And Elijah came unto all the people, and ſaid, How long halt ye between two ‖ opinions g? If the LORD be God h, follow him i: but if Baal k, * then follow him: And the people anſwered him not a word l.

‖ Or, thoughts.
* See Joſh. 24. 15.

g Why do you not make ſtraight Paths with your Feet, as the Phraſe is, Heb. 12. 13? Why do you walk ſo lamely and unevenly, being ſo unſteddy in your Opinions and Practices, and doubting whether it is better to Worſhip God or Baal? h Whom you pretend to Worſhip in the Calves, 2 King. 10. 16, 31. compare Exod. 32. 4. i Worſhip him, and him only, and that in ſuch place and manner as he hath commanded you, and not by the Calves. k If Baal can prove himſelf to be the True God. l Being convinced of the reaſonableneſs of his Propoſition; taught by Experience, that Jehovah had ſent this Judgment, and that Baal could not remove it, which had ſtaggered them in their Opinion about Baal; yet not daring to diſown Baal, for fear of the Diſpleaſure of the King, then preſent.

22 Then ſaid Elijah unto the people, I, even I onely remain m a prophet of the LORD; but Baals prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

m To wit, here preſent, publickly to own and plead the Cauſe of God; for he oppoſeth himſelf only to Baal's 450 Prophets, becauſe they only were preſent; the Prophets of the Groves, being, it ſeems, not permitted by Jezebel (through her Pride, or Obſtinacy, or Care, and Kindneſs to them) to go thither. See Chap. 22. 6. As for the other Prophets of the Lord, many of them were ſlain by Ahab or Jezebel, others baniſhed, or hid in Caves.

23 Let them therefore give us two bullocks n, and let them chuſe one bullock for themſelves o, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and I will dreſs the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under:

n He attempts the Deciſion of this Controverſie, not by God's Word, which was either rejected, or deſpiſed, or groſly neglected, by the generality of that People; but by a Miracle, to which all that had common Senſe muſt needs ſubmit. o Which they judge beſt and fitteſt for their purpoſe.

24 And call ye on the name of your ‖ gods, and I will call on the Name of the LORD: and the God that anſwereth by fire p, let him be God. And all the people q anſwered and ſaid, † It is well ſpoken.

‖ Or, God.
† Heb. The word is good.

p i. e. That ſhall conſume the Sacrifice by Fire ſent from Heaven; which the People knew the True God uſed to do, as Geneſis 4. 4. Judges 6. 21. and 13. 20. q Even the Baalites themſelves; partly, becauſe they could not without great reproach to themſelves and Baal, refuſe ſo equal a motion; and partly, becauſe they were confident of Baal's Power and Divinity, having probably had ſome Experiments of ſupernatural and prodigious Events done in the Worſhip of Baal by God's juſt and wiſe Permiſſion, for the hardening of that Apoſtatical and wicked People in their Idolatry; as God hath in ſeveral Ages for the like reaſon ſuffered lying Wonders to be wrought by the Devil, whom they worſhipped in and by their Idols.

25 And Elijah ſaid unto the prophets of Baal, Chuſe ye one bullock for your ſelves, and dreſs it firſt, for ye are many r: and call on the name of your ‖ gods, but put no fire under.

‖ Or, God.

r And I am willing to give you the precedency. This he did, partly, becauſe if he had firſt offered, and God had anſwered by Fire, as he knew that he would do, Baal's Prieſts would have been diſcouraged, and upon ſome Excuſe (which would eaſily be accepted in regard of the King's Authority, and the Favour which they had with the People) would have deſiſted from making the trial on their part; and partly, becauſe the Diſappointment of the Prieſts of Baal, of which he was well aſſured, would notably prepare the way for the Peoples more diligent attention unto his Words and Actions, and cauſe them to entertain the Prophets good Succeſs with more Admiration and Affection; and this coming laſt, would leave the greater Impreſſion and Reliſh upon their Hearts. And this they accepted, becauſe they might think, that if Baal did anſwer them firſt, which they preſumed he would, the People would be ſo confirmed and heightned in their Opinion of Baal, that they by the King's Aſſiſtance might murder Elijah before he came to his Experiment.

26 And they took the bullock which was given them ſ, and they dreſſed it t, and called on the name of Baal from morning u even until noon, ſaying, O Baal, ‖ hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that ‖ anſwered. And they ‖ leapt upon the altar x which was made y.

‖ Or, anſwer.
‖ Or, heard.
‖ Or, leaped up and down at the altar.

ſ Which being choſen by them, v. 25. was now put into their Hands by thoſe who had the Beaſts in their Cuſtody, till they were taken away for Sacrifice. t Cut it in pieces, and laid the parts in or upon the Wood. u From the time of the Morning-Sacrifice; which advantage Elijah ſuffered them to take for their Sacrifice. x Or, over the altar: which might eaſily be done, the Altar being low, and ſuddenly made for the preſent uſe. Or rather, beſide (as the Hebrew (al) oft ſignifies) the altar: or, before it. They uſed ſome ſuperſtitious, unuſual, and diſorderly Geſtures, either pretending to be acted by the Spirit of their God, and to be in a kind of Holy Rage, and Religious Extaſie; or, in way of Devotion to their god; which they might borrow from the Practice of their Progenitors, who, amongſt other things, uſed Dancing in God's Service and Preſence, as Exod. 15. 20. and 32. 19. Judg. 21. 21. 2 Sam. 6. 14. y Heb. which he made: Either, Firſt, Elias; which ſome think was already made, though the making of it be not mentioned till afterwards, ver. 31. and that it was their Deſign, by leaping upon his Altar, to overthrow it. Or rather, Secondly, Ahab on their behalf; or, any other Perſon: that being only an Hebraiſm, the Third Perſon Active, being put for the Paſſive Verb, as our Tranſlators well render it.

27 And it came to paſs at noon z, that Elijah mocked them a, and ſaid, Cry † aloud: for he is a god, either ‖ he is talking, or he † is purſuing, or he is in a journey b, or peradventure he ſleepeth, and muſt be awaked.

† Heb. with a great voice.
‖ Or, he meditateth.
† Heb. hath a purſuit.

z When they had long tried all means in vain. a Derided them and their gods, which were indeed, and had now proved themſelves to be ridiculous and contemptible things. By this example we ſee, that all jeſting is not unlawful, but only that which intrencheth upon Piety, and good Manners. See on Eph. 5. 4. b He is employed about ſome other buſineſs, and hath not leiſure to mind you: for being a god of a ſmall and narrow Underſtanding, he cannot mind two things at once, and you are immodeſt and unreaſonable to expect it from him.

28 And they cried aloud c, and cut themſelves after their manner with knives and lancers d, till † the blood guſhed out upon them.

† Heb. poured out blood upon them.

c As if Elias had ſpoken the truth, and their god needed rowzing. d Mingling their own Blood with their Sacrifices; as knowing by experience, that nothing was more acceptable to their Baal (which was indeed the Devil) than Humane Blood; and hoping hereby to move their god to pity and help them. And this indeed was the Practice of divers Heathens in the Worſhip of their falſe gods, as is manifeſt both from Scripture, as Levit. 19. 28. Deut. 14. 1. 1 King. 18. 28.

and from the expreſs Teſtimonies of Plutarch, Lucian, Apuleius, and many others.

29 And it came to paſs, when mid day was paſt, and they † propheſied e until the time of the † offering of the evening ſacrifice f, that there was neither voice, nor any to anſwer, nor any † that regarded g.

† Heb. had proph.

e i. e. Praiſed, and prayed unto, and worſhipped their God; for ſo the word prophecying is uſed, 1 Sam. 10. 10. and 19. 20, &c. 1 Chron. 25. 2, 3. Matth. 7. 22. 1 Cor. 11. 4. and 14. 5, 6. &c. f Heb. of the Sacrifice, which being here oppoſed to the time of their offering, which was the morning, ver. 26. muſt needs be meant of the Evening Sacrifice; of which ſee Exod. 29. 39. &c. which is called the Sacrifice, by way of Eminency, becauſe it was more ſolemn, and publick, and frequented, than the Morning Sacrifice; of which divers Reaſons may be given. See Exod. 12. 6. Pſal. 141. 2. Act. 3. 1. g Heb. there was no attention: Either, Firſt, Of their god, who was ſo far from anſwering, that he did not mind any of their Words and Actions. Or, Secondly, Of the People, who were now tired out with ſo long attention and expectation; and therefore more readily deſerted them, and approached to Elijah and his Altar, at his Call, v. 30.

30 And Elijah ſaid unto all the people, Come near unto me h. And all the people came near unto him; and he repaired i the altar of the LORD k that was broken down l.

h Come away from theſe impudent Deceivers to me, and expect from me what Satisfaction you deſire. i Which by the Peoples help was quickly done; the Materials being all ready, and very ſlightly put together, only for the preſent occaſion. k Which had been built there by ſome of their Anceſtors for the offering of Sacrifice to the God of Iſrael, which was frequently done in High-Places, of which this was none of the leaſt eminent ones: but being for ſome time neglected, it needed Reparations. l Either, Firſt, By the Prieſts of Baal at this time, who leaped upon it to that end: of which ſee on ver. 26. Or rather, Secondly, By ſome of the Baalites, out of their Enmity to the True God, whoſe Temple, becauſe they could not reach, they ſhewed their Malignity in deſtroying his Altars, ch. 19. 14.

31 And Elijah took twelve ſtones, according to the number of the tribes of the ſons of Jacob m, unto whom the word of the LORD came, ſaying, * Iſrael ſhall be thy name n.

* Gen. 32. 28.
King. 17. 34.

m This he did, partly, to renew the Covenant between God and all the Tribes, as Moſes did, Exod. 24. 4. Partly, to ſhew, that he prayed and acted in the Name, and for the Service of the God of all the Patriarchs, and of all the Tribes of Iſrael, and for their good: and partly, to teach the people, that though the Tribes were divided as to their Civil Government, they ought all to be united in the Worſhip of the ſame God, and in the ſame Religion. n Which Jacob was graciouſly anſwered by God when he prayed to him, and was honoured with the glorious Title of Iſrael, which noted his prevalency with God and Men. And I, calling upon the ſame God, doubt not of a like gracious Anſwer; and if ever you mean to have your Prayers granted, you muſt not ſeek to Baal for it, who, as you now ſee, neither hears nor regards his moſt devout Worſhippers; but unto the God of Jacob; and if you would recover the Honour which was once conferred upon Jacob, and continued a long time to his Poſterity, you muſt return to that God from whom you are revolted.

32 And with the ſtones he o built an altar p in the Name of the LORD q: and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two meaſures r of ſeed.

o With the aſſiſtance of the People, who readily yielded their helping hand. p Which, though generally forbidden, he might do, becauſe he did it by the command and ſuggeſtion of God, who can diſpence with his own Laws, and upon apparent and urgent neceſſity, and for a work of great mercy, (to which even by God's Command the Ceremonial Laws muſt give place, Hoſ. 6. 6. Mar. 2. 27.) even for the converſion of the Iſraelites, whom it was impoſſible to bring to the Altar of Jeruſalem at this time. q By the Authority of God, and for his Worſhip. r i. e. Two third parts of an Ephah: which ſhews that the Trench was of a competent largeneſs.

33 And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and ſaid, Fill four barrels with water ſ, and * pour it on the burnt-ſacrifice, and on the wood t.

* See Judg. 6. 20.

ſ Which they could quickly fetch, either from the River Kiſhon; or, if that was dried up, from the Sea; both which were at the foot of the Mountain. See Jer. 46. 18. t This he did, to make the Miracle more glorious, and more unqueſtionable, and ſo more ſucceſsful.

34 And he ſaid, Do it the ſecond time. And they did it the ſecond time. And he ſaid, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water † ran round about the altar, and he filled the trench alſo with water.

† Heb. went.

36 And it came to paſs, at the time of the offering of the evening ſacrifice u, that Elijah the prophet came near, and ſaid, LORD God of Abraham, Iſaac, and of Iſrael, let it be known this day, that thou art God in Iſrael, and that I am thy ſervant, and that I have done all theſe things x at thy word y.

u Which time he choſe, that he might unite his Prayers with the Prayers of the Godly Jews at Jeruſalem, who at that time aſſembled together to pray, Act. 3. 1. x Brought this Famine, gathered the People hither, and done what I have done, or am doing here. y Not in compliance with my own Paſſions, but in Obedience to thy Command, as thy Agent and Miniſter. For that action of ſhutting up Heaven, and that of killing the Prieſts of Baal, muſt needs expoſe him to great Envy and Reproach; which made this publick Vindication neceſſary, as it was alſo effectual, being witneſſed from Heaven.

37 Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the LORD God, and that thou haſt turned their heart z back again a.

z That they may feel ſo powerful and ſudden a change in their Hearts, that they may know it is thy Work, and the effect of thy Grace to them, and in them. Or, when thou haſt turned, &c. or, becauſe thou, &c. So the Particle Vau is oft uſed; and the Senſe is, That they may know thee to be the True God, by the effects of thy Divine Power, in converting their Hearts, and that in ſo miraculous a way, and in anſwer to my Prayers. a Unto thee, from whom they have revolted.

38 Then the fire of the LORD fell, and conſumed the burnt-ſacrifice, and the wood, and the ſtones, and the duſt, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

39 And when all the people ſaw it, they fell on their faces b: and they ſaid, The LORD, he is the God; the LORD, he is the God c.

b In way of acknowledgment and adoration of the True God. c He alone; and Baal is a dull and ſenſeleſs Idol. And they double the words, to note their abundant ſatisfaction and aſſurance of the Truth of their Aſſertion.

40 And Elijah ſaid unto them d, ‖ Take the prophets of Baal, let not one of them eſcape: and they took them, and Elijah brought them down to the brook Kiſhon e, and ſlew them there f.

‖ Or, apprehend.

d He takes the opportunity, whilſt the peoples Hearts were warm with the freſh ſenſe of this great Miracle. e That their Blood might be poured into that River, and thence conveyed into the Sea, and might not defile the Holy Land. f Queſt. How could Elijah do this, ſeeing he was but a private Perſon? Anſw. Firſt, He had no doubt the Conſent of all the Heads of the People, who were here aſſembled; and of the King too, who durſt not reſiſt the univerſal Torrent, and could not deny that they were Impoſtors, and worthy of Death; and probably was by the Prophet aſſured of Rain when this was done. Anſw. Secondly, As theſe Idolatrous Prieſts were manifeſtly under a Sentence of Death, paſſed upon ſuch by the Sovereign Lord of Life and Death, Deut. 13. and 17. ſo Elijah had ſufficient Authority to execute it, as being a Prophet, and an extraordinary Miniſter of God's Vengeance againſt Sinners, now eſpecially when the Magiſtrate ſo groſly neglected his Duty therein.

41 ¶ And Elijah ſaid unto Ahab, Get thee up g, eat and drink h, for there is ‖ a ſound of abundance of rain i.

‖ Or, a ſound of a noiſe of rain.

g From the River, where the King and he had been preſent at the ſlaughter of Baal's Prieſts, to thy Tent: which probably was pitched on the ſide of Carmel. h Take Comfort, and refreſh thy ſelf: for neither the King, nor any of the People could have any leiſure to eat, being wholly intent upon the deciſion of the great Controverſie. i The Rain is as certainly and ſpeedily coming, as if I did actually ſee it, or hear the Noiſe which it makes. God's Wrath is now appeaſed, and thou ſhalt have no cauſe to repent of this days Work.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel k, and he caſt himſelf down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees l, k Where he might ſecretly and ardently pour out his Prayers unto God; and whence he might look towards the Sea, and diſcern when the Rain was coming. l He either ſate, or rather, kneeled upon his Knees, and then caſt down his Face to the Ground between his Knees; either, in token of profound Reverence and Humility; or, out of Fervency of Spirit, which oft diſpoſeth Men to uncouth Geſtures, which at other times, or in other Men, would be ridiculous; but in them and in that caſe, are uſual and allowed; or, that turning away his Eyes from all outward Objects, he might be more intent and earneſt upon his Work, or pray to God without Diſtraction.

43 And ſaid to his ſervant, Go up now m, look towards the ſea n. And he went up, and looked, and ſaid, There is nothing. And he ſaid, Go again ſeven times o.

m Whilſt I continue praying. n Whence Clouds and Vapours uſually ariſe. Elijah deſired to have timely notice of the very firſt appearance and ſignification of Rain, not out of Vanity or Ambition, but that Ahab and the People might know that it was obtained from Jehovah by the Prophets Prayers, and thereby be confirmed in the True Religion. o Let us not be dejected for ſome Diſappointments, but continue to wait upon God, who will anſwer me, and that ſpeedily.

44 And it came to paſs at the ſeventh time, that he ſaid, Behold, there ariſeth a little cloud out of the ſea, like a mans hand. And he ſaid, Go up, ſay unto Ahab, † Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down, that the rain ſtop thee not.

† Heb. Tye, or, bind.

45 And it came to paſs in the mean while, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode and went to Jezreel p.

p Not that in Judah, Joſ. 15. 56. but another City in the border of Iſſachar and Manaſſeh, Joſ. 19. 18.

46 And the hand of the LORD was on Elijah q, and he girded up his loyns r, and ran before Ahab ſ, † to the entrance of Jezreel.

† Heb. till thou come to Jezreel.

q God gave him more than natural and ordinary ſtrength, whereby he was enabled to outrun Ahab's Chariot, and that for ſo many Miles together. r That his Garments, which were then long, might not hinder him. See 2 King. 4. 29. and 9. 1. ſ Partly, to ſhew how ready he was to honour and ſerve the King, if he did not exalt himſelf above or againſt God: partly, that by this humble and ſelf-denying Carriage, it might appear, that what he had done was not from Envy, or Ambition, or Humane Paſſion, but only from a juſt Zeal for God's Glory: partly, that by his Preſence with the King, and his Courtiers who attended upon him, he might animate and oblige them to proceed in the well-begun Reformation of Religion: and partly, to demonſtrate, that he was neither aſhamed of, nor afraid for what he had done, tho' he knew how Jezabel would reſent it, but durſt venture himſelf in the midſt of his Enemies, as being confident of the Divine Power and Protection.

CHAP. XIX.

Elijah threatned by Jezebel fleeth to Beer-ſheba: Is comforted by an Angel, 1—8. At Mount Horeb complaining to God, he is ſtrengthned by a ſpecial Revelation, 9—14. Is ſent to anoint Hazael, Jehu, and Eliſha, 15—18. Eliſha followeth Elijah, 19—21.

AND Ahab told Jezebel a all that Elijah had done, and withal how he had ſlain all the prophets b with the ſword.

a For his Vindication, and her Satisfaction. b To wit, of Baal; not of the Groves, who were not preſent, as may be gathered from chap. 18, 19, 22. and 22. 6.

2 Then Jezebel ſent a meſſenger unto Elijah c, ſaying, * Ruth 1. 17. * So let the gods do to me, and more alſo, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them by to morrow at this time d.

c She gives him notice of it before-hand: partly, out of the height of her Spirit, as ſcorning to kill him ſecretly and ſurreptitiouſly, and reſolving to make him a publick Sacrifice: partly, out of her Impatience, till ſhe had breathed out her Rage, which ſhe could do ſpeedily, when it required ſome time and preparation to ſeize him, who was now ſo much eſteemed and favoured by all the People: partly, becauſe ſhe ſuppoſed, that he who had the confidence to come thither (where, it ſeems, ſhe was at this time) would ſtill have the ſame Confidence to ſtay there, and be obliged in honour to maintain his ground: and principally, from God's all-diſpoſing Providence, that ſo he might have an opportunity of eſcaping. d So far was ſhe from being changed by that moſt evident Miracle, that ſhe perſiſts in her former Idolatry, and adds to it a mad and monſtrous Confidence, that in ſpight of God ſhe would deſtroy his Prophet.

3 And when he ſaw that, he aroſe, and went for his life e, and came to Beerſheba, which belonged to Judah f, and left his ſervant there g.

e i. e. To ſave his life: or, according to his ſoul, or mind. Whereby it may be intimated, that he did not flee from Jezreel by the hand or direction of the Lord, by which he came thither, ch. 18. 46. but becauſe of his own fear and apprehenſion of danger. For this may ſeem to be an act of humane frailty. For God had brought him hither, and his Preſence might ſeem very neceſſary here to incourage and ingage the King and People to go on to deſtroy the Prieſts of the Groves, and to purge out Idolatry; and his withdrawing, as we ſee, did diſcourage all the reſt, and occaſioned their return to Idolatry again; and, having had ſuch a late and ample experience of God's all-ſufficiency in protecting him againſt the King and 450 of Baal's Prieſts, and the current of the People incenſed againſt him for the Famine, he had little reaſon to fear the Threats of an impotent Woman, whom God could cut off in a moment. But Elias was a man ſubject to like Paſſions as we are, Jam. 5. 17. which probably is ſaid with reſpect to his fear and diſcontent, manifeſted here and ver. 4. And leſt he ſhould be exalted above meaſure (which was alſo Paul's caſe, 2 Cor. 12. 7.) for his eminent Gifts, and Graces, and miraculous Works, God ſaw fit to withdraw his Grace, and to leave him to himſelf, that he might be ſenſible of his own impotency and ſinfulneſs, and might not dare to take any part of God's Honour to himſelf. f Either, Firſt, To the Tribe of Judah, according to the firſt Diviſion; for Simeon's part, in which Beerſheba was, was afterwards taken out of it. Or, Secondly, to the Kingdom of Judah. g Partly, that he might abide there in ſafety; and partly, that he ſhould wait there till his return: partly, becauſe he would not expoſe him to thoſe Perils and Hardſhips which he expected: and partly, becauſe he deſired Solitude, that he might more freely converſe with God.

4 ¶ But he himſelf went a days journey into the wilderneſs h, and came and ſat down under a juniper-tree: * Jona 4. 3, 8. and he * requeſted † for himſelf i that he might die, and ſaid, It is enough k, now, O LORD, take away my † Heb. for his Life. life: for I am not better than my fathers l.

h The vaſt Wilderneſs of Arabia. He durſt not ſtay in Judah, tho' good Jehoſaphat Reigned there, becauſe he was Allied to Ahab, and was a Man of an eaſie temper, whom Ahab might circumvent, and either by force or art ſeize upon Elijah. i Heb. for his life, or his ſoul, that it might be taken away from his Body. Or, with his ſoul, as it is Iſa. 26. 9, i. e. He deſired it heartily or fervently. Which he did not only for his own ſake, that he might be freed from his great Fears and Troubles; but eſpecially from his Zeal for God's Glory, which he ſaw was and would be dreadfully eclipſed by the relapſe of the Iſraelites into Idolatry, and by Elijah's Death, if it ſhould be procured by the hands of Jezebel, or of the Worſhippers of Baal: and therefore he wiſhed to die in Peace, and by the Hand of God. k I have lived long enough for thy Service, and am not like to do thee any more Service; neither my Words nor Works are like to do any good upon theſe unſtable and incorrigible People. l That I ſhould continue in Life, when other Prophets who have gone before me, have loſt their Lives by Jezebel, or other Perſecutors.

5 And as he lay and ſlept under a Juniper-tree, behold then, an angel touched him, and ſaid unto him, Ariſe and eat.

6 And he looked, and behold, there was a cake baken † Heb. bolſter. on the coals, and a cruſe of water at his † head: and he did eat and drink, and laid him down again.

7 And the angel of the LORD came again the ſecond time, and touched him, and ſaid, Ariſe, and eat, becauſe the journey is too great for thee m.

m i. e. Above thy ſtrength, now eſpecially when thou art faint, and weary, and faſting.

8 And he aroſe, and did eat and drink, and went in the ſtrength of that meat n * forty days and forty *See Deut. 9. 9, 18. Matth. 4. 2. nights, unto * Horeb o the mount of God. *Exod. 3. 1.

n God giving that Food a far greater and more durable vertue than ordinary. o He wandred hither and thither for 40 days, till at laſt he came to Horeb, which in the direct Road was not above 3 or 4 days Journey.

9 ¶ And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there: and behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and he ſaid unto him, What doſt thou here p, Elijah?

p A tacit Reproof. This is not thy proper place, nor the ſtation in which I ſet thee, which was in Iſrael, to turn that back-ſliding People, to which end I gave thee my help, and would have proceeded to aſſiſt thee further, if thou hadſt continued there. Nor did I give thee thoſe excellent Gifts to lie idle in this Wilderneſs, but to employ them for thy People's Good, whom now thou haſt deſerted, and art come hither, not by my Command, but through thy own Fear and Cowardiſe.

10 And he ſaid, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hoſts q: for the children of Iſrael have forſaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars r, and ſlain thy prophets with the ſword: and * I, even I onely am left ſ, and they ſeek my life to take it away t. *Rom. 11. 3. Chap. 18. 22.

q I have not been wholly wanting to my Vocation, but have executed my Office with Zeal for God's Honour and Service, and with the hazard of my own Life; and am fled hither, not being able to endure to ſee the Diſhonour done to thy Name by their obſtinate Idolatry and Wickedneſs. r Thoſe which were erected for thy Worſhip in High-Places, which they did not deſtroy, becauſe they were to be aboliſhed by thy Command, Deut. 12. but out of meer contempt and oppoſition againſt thee, and therefore they ſuffered the Altars of Baal to ſtand. ſ To wit, of all thy Prophets, I mean, which do boldly and publickly plead thy Cauſe: for the reſt of thy Prophets who are not ſlain, hide themſelves, and dare not appear to do thee any Service. t I deſpair of doing them any good: for inſtead of receiving my Teſtimony, they hunt for my Life.

11 And he ſaid, Go forth, and ſtand upon the mount before the LORD. And behold, the LORD paſſed by u, and a * great and ſtrong wind rent the mountains, and * Ezek. 1. 4 & 37. 9. brake in pieces the rocks x before the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind y: and after the wind an earthquake; but the LORD was not in the earthquake.

u Either, Firſt, By his Harbingers: for, as it follows, the Lord was not yet there. Or, Secondly, Himſelf. And ſo this is a brief and general Deſcription of the thing, after which the manner of it is particularly explained. x Whereby he both prepares Elijah to receive this Diſcovery of God with greateſt Humility, Reverence, and Godly Fear; and ſignifies his Almighty and Irreſiſtible Power, to break the hardeſt Hearts of the Iſraelites, and to bear down all oppoſition that was or ſhould be made againſt him in the Diſcharge of his Office. y The Lord did not vouchſafe his Special and Gracious Preſence to Elijah in that Wind, where he confidently expected him: which poſſibly was, Either, Firſt, To qualifie the exceſſive Fervour and Paſſion of Elijah, which mixed it ſelf with his Zeal for God, and to make him more mild in his Cenſures, and more meek and patient in waiting for the Converſion of Iſrael; wherein he might ſooner expect God's Preſence and bleſſed Succeſs, than in the Storm of Anger or Impatience. Or, Secondly, To teach him not to wonder if God did not accompany his terrible Adminiſtration at Mount Carmel with the Preſence of his Grace, to turn the hearts of the Iſraelites to himſelf, as he deſired, but God for wiſe and juſt Reaſons ſaw fit to deny.

12 And after the earthquake, a fire; but the LORD was not in the fire: and after the fire a ſtill ſmall voice z.

z Wherein it is implied, That God was preſent. Which peradventure was to inſinuate, that God would do his Work in and for Iſrael in his own time, not by might or power, but by his own ſpirit, Zech. 4. 6. which moves with a powerful, but yet with a ſweet and gentle Gale.

13 And it was ſo, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle a, and went out, and ſtood in the entring in of the cave b: and behold, there came a voice unto him, and ſaid, What doſt thou here, Elijah c?

a Through Horror and Dread of God's Preſence, being ſenſible that he was neither worthy nor able to endure the ſight of God with open face. Compare Gen. 16. 13. with Exod. 3. 6. b Which God commanded him to do; and as he was going towards the mouth of the Cave, he was affrighted and ſtopped in his courſe, by the dreadful Wind, and Earthquake, and Fire; and, when theſe were paſt, he proſecutes his Journey, and goeth on to the mouth of the Cave, and there ſtands ſtill. Or, the words may be rendred, After (as Vau is elſewhere uſed) he was gone out, and ſtanding in the mouth of the cave: which may be mentioned as the reaſon why he covered his Face, becauſe now he wanted the ſhelter of the Cave. c What before he ſpake by an Angel, he now ſpeaks to him again immediately.

14 And he ſaid, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hoſts; becauſe the children of Iſrael have forſaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and ſlain thy prophets with the ſword; and I, even I onely am left, and they ſeek my life, to take it away.

15 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Go, return on thy way d to the wilderneſs of Damaſcus: and when thou comeſt, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria e.

d By which thou cameſt; for ſo in part lay the way from Horeb to Damaſcus. e Anoint: Either, Firſt, Figuratively, i. e. appoint or declare him King; which was done, 2 King. 8. 12. For this Word is oft uſed of them who were never anointed with Oil, Pſal. 45. 7. Iſa. 45. 1. and 61. 1. Zech. 4. 14. Dan. 9. 24. Or, Secondly, Properly; which might be done, though it be not related. Again, anoint, either, by thy ſelf; or, by another: for ſo he anointed Jehu by Eliſha, 2 King. 9. 1, 6.

* 2 King. 9. 1, 23. * Luk. 4. 27. called Elizeus.

16 And * Jehu the ſon of Nimſhi f ſhalt thou anoint to be king over Iſrael: and * Eliſha g the ſon of Shaphat of Abel-Meholah, ſhalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room.

f i. e. His Grand-ſon, for he was the ſon of Jehoſaphat, 2 King. 9. 2. g Whom he conſtituted Prophet, by caſting his Mantle over him, here, v. 19.

17 And it ſhall come to paſs, that him that eſcapeth the ſword of Hazael, ſhall Jehu ſlay: and him that eſcapeth from the ſword of Jehu, ſhall Eliſha ſlay h.

h Here the order of times ſeems to be perverted; for Eliſha was Prophet before Jehu or Hazael were Kings, and Hazael was King before Jehu. But that is of no moment as to the ſubſtance of the thing threatned, which is only this, That one or other of theſe ſhould infallibly execute God's Judgments upon the Apoſtatical Iſraelites. Eliſha is ſaid to ſlay them, either, becauſe he ſlew thoſe 42 Children, 2 King. 2. 24. beſides others whom upon like occaſions he might deſtroy; or, becauſe he by God's appointment inflicted the Famine, 2 King. 6. 31. or rather, by the Sword which came out of his mouth, as Iſa. 49. 2. Revel. 1. 16. and 19. 15, 21. by his Cutting-Prophecies and Threatnings of God's Judgments: the Prophets being ſaid to pull down and to deſtroy what they only declare and foretel ſhall be pulled down, &c. Hazael began to ſlay them before Jehu was King, 2 King. 8. 28. though his Cruelty was much increaſed afterward, 2 King. 10. 32. and 13. 1, 2, 3. and Jehu deſtroyed thoſe whom Hazael did not, as King Joram himſelf, and Ahaziah, and his 42 Brethren, 2 King. 9. 24, 27. and 10. 14. all the near Relations of wicked Ahab.

*Rom. 11. 4. ‖ Or, I will leave.

18 * Yet ‖ I have left i me ſeven thouſand k in Iſrael, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kiſſed him l.

i Or, I have reſerved to my ſelf; I have by my Grace kept from the common Contagion: therefore thou art miſtaken to think that thou art left alone, or that the People are univerſally corrupted. Or, I will reſerve, from the ſlaughters laſt mentioned, and from Jezebel's Rage. k Either, definitely ſo many: or rather, indefinitely, for many thouſands; the number of ſeven being oft uſed for a great number, as Lev. 26. 18. Pſal. 12. 6. Mic. 5, 5. Zech. 3. 9. Luk. 17. 4. For it is altogether improbable that all the Iſraelites, except 7000, did worſhip Baal: except Baal be here Synecdochically put for all their Idols, and the Calves among others. l i. e. All thoſe who have not worſhipped Baal, nor profeſſed Reverence or Subjection to him: which Idolaters did to their Idols, by bowing the Knee, Rom. 11. 4. compare Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 10. and by kiſſing them, or by kiſſing their Hand with their Mouth, before them, and in reſpect to them; of which mention is made both in Scripture, as Job 31. 26, 27. Hoſ. 13. 2. compare Pſal. 2. 12. and in Pliny, Apuleius, and other profane Authors. And God chuſeth theſe Expreſſions here, to teach men, that it is not ſufficient to deny inward Veneration of Mind and Heart to Idols. unleſs they do alſo forbear all outward ſignifications of Worſhip or Reverence to them; and that he will own none for his People that do otherwiſe.

19 ¶ So he departed thence, and found Eliſha the ſon of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelve m: and Elijah paſſed by him, and caſt his mantle upon him n.

m Who had twelve Ploughs going, whereof eleven were managed by his Servants, and the laſt by himſelf; according to the ſimplicity and humility of thoſe ancient times, in which Men of good Worth and Eſtate ſubmitted themſelves to the meaneſt Employments. n By that Ceremony conferring upon him the Office of a Prophet, which God was pleaſed to accompany with the Gifts and Graces of his Spirit, wherewith he endowed and qualified him for it. The Mantle was the uſual Habit of the Prophets. See 2 King. 1. 8. Zech. 13. 4. But whether he did alſo Anoint him, is uncertain. See the Note on ver. 16.

*Matth. 8. 21, 22. † Heb. Go, return.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah o, and ſaid p, Let * me, I pray thee, kiſs my father and my mother q, and then I will follow thee. And he ſaid unto him, † Go back again r; for what have I done to thee ſ?

o Being powerfully moved by God's Spirit to follow Elijah, and wholly to give up himſelf to his Function. p Or, but he ſaid: or, yet he ſaid. q i. e. Bid them farewell by the uſual Ceremony. See Gen. 29. 11. and 31. 28. Act. 20. 37. r And take thy leave of them, as thou deſireſt, and then return to me again. ſ Either, Firſt, To hinder thee from performing that Office. That Employment to which I have called thee, doth not require an Alienation of thy Heart from thy Parents, nor the total neglect of them. Or, Secondly, To make ſuch a Change in thee, that thou ſhouldſt be willing to forſake thy Parents, and Lands, and All, and deſire only this Liberty to go and bid them farewel, that thou mayſt follow me. Whence comes this marvellous Change? It is not from me, who did only throw my Mantle over thee; but from an higher Power, even from God's Spirit, which hath changed thy Heart, and conſecrated thee to thy Prophetical Office: which therefore it concerns thee vigorouſly to execute, and wholly to devote thy ſelf to it.

21 And he returned back from him t, and took a yoke of oxen, and ſlew them, and boiled their fleſh with the inſtruments of the oxen u, and gave unto the people x, and they did eat: then he aroſe, and went after Elijah, and miniſtred unto him.

t From Elias to his Parents; whom when he had ſeen and kiſſed, he returned to the Field where Elijah was. u i. e. With the Wood belonging to the Plow, &c. to which more was added, as occaſion required. But that he burned, to ſhew his total relinquiſhing of his former Employment. x i. e. He made thereof a Feaſt for his Servants who had been Ploughing with him, and for him, and his other Friends and Neighbours who came to take their leave of him. Hereby he ſhewed how willingly and joyfully he forſook all his Friends, that he might ſerve God in that high and honourable Employment.

CHAP. XX.

Benhadad not content with Ahab's Homage, beſiegeth Samaria, 1—12. By the Direction of a Prophet the Syrians are twice beaten: and Benhadad hides himſelf, 13—30. The Syrians ſubmit themſelves, and Ahab maketh a Covenant with Benhadad, 31—34. The Prophet by a Parable reproveth Ahab: and denounceth Judgments againſt him, 35—43.

AND Ben-hadad a the king of Syria gathered all his hoſt together b, and there were thirty and two kings c with him, and horſes, and chariots: and he went up and beſieged Samaria, and warred againſt it.

a Called Adad by Joſephus, and Ader by the LXX, and Adores by Juſtin; ſuch Changes of Names being uſual in their Tranſlations into other Languages, and by other Authors. b To War againſt Iſrael; wherein his Deſign was to amplifie the Conqueſts which his Father had made, chap. 15. 20. but God's Deſign was to puniſh Iſrael for their Apoſtacy and Idolatry. c Petty Kings, ſuch as were in Canaan in Joſhua's time, who indeed were no more than Governours of Cities or ſmall Territories. Theſe were either Subject or Tributary to Benhadad, or hired by him.

2 And he ſent meſſengers to Ahab king of Iſrael into the city, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Benhadad,

3 Thy ſilver and thy gold is mine d, thy wives alſo and thy children, even the goodlieſt are mine.

d I challenge them as my own, and accordingly expect to have them forthwith delivered into my Poſſeſſion, if thou expecteſt Peace with me.

4 And the king of Iſrael anſwered and ſaid, My lord, O king, according to thy ſaying, I am thine, and all that I have e.

e I do ſo far comply with thy Demand, that I will own thee for my Lord, and my ſelf for thy Vaſſal and Tributary; and will hold my Wives, and Children, and Eſtate, as by thy Favour, and with an Acknowledgment. But it is not likely that he would deliver up his Wives and Children into the Barbarians hand, or that his proud and imperious Wife Jezebel would permit him to do ſo.

5 And the meſſengers came again, and ſaid, Thus ſpeaketh Ben-hadad, ſaying, Although I have ſent unto thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt deliver me thy ſilver and thy gold, and thy wives, and thy children f:

f Although I did before demand not only the Dominion of thy Treaſures, and Wives, and Children, as thou mayſt ſeem to underſtand me, but alſo the Propriety and actual Poſſeſſion of them; wherewith I would then have been contented:

6 Yet I will ſend my ſervants unto thee to morrow about this time, and they ſhall ſearch thine houſe, and the houſes of thy ſervants; and it ſhall be, that whatſoever is † pleaſant in thine eyes, they ſhall put it in their hand, and take it away g.

g Yet now I will not accept of thoſe Terms, but together with thy Royal Treaſures, I expect all the Treaſures of thy Servants or Subjects; nor will I wait till thou deliver them to me, but I will ſend my Servants into the City, and they ſhall have free Liberty and Power to ſearch out and take away all which they deſire, and this to prevent Fraud and Delay; and then I will grant thee a Peace.

7 Then the king of Iſrael called all the elders of the land h, and ſaid, Mark, I pray you, and ſee how this man ſeeketh miſchief i: for he ſent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my ſilver, and for my gold, and † I denied him not k.

† Heb. I kept not back from him.

h Whoſe Counſel and Concurrence he now deſires in his Diſtreſs. i Though he pretended Peace, and a Friendly Agreement upon theſe Terms propounded, it is apparent by thoſe Additional Demands, That he intends nothing leſs than our utter Ruin. k I granted his Demands in the ſenſe before mentioned.

8 And all the elders, and all the people ſaid unto him, Hearken not unto him, nor conſent.

9 Wherefore he ſaid unto the meſſengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou didſt ſend for to thy ſervant at the firſt, I will do: but this thing I may not do l. And the meſſengers departed, and brought him word again.

l If I would do it, I cannot, becauſe my People will not ſuffer it.

* Chap. 19. 2. † Heb. are at my feet.

10 And Ben-hadad ſent unto him, and ſaid, * The gods do ſo unto me, and more alſo, if the duſt of Samaria ſhall ſuffice for handfuls for all the people that † follow me m.

m If I do not aſſault thy City with ſo potent and numerous an Army, that ſhall turn all thy City into an heap of Duſt, and ſhall be ſufficient to carry it all away, though every Soldier take but one handful of it: See the like Boaſt, 2 Sam. 17. 13.

11 And the king of Iſrael anſwered and ſaid, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his harneſs, boaſt himſelf, as he that putteth it off n.

n Do not Triumph before the Fight and Victory, for the Events of War are uncertain.

† Heb. Word. ‖ Or, Tents. ‖ Or, Place the Engines. And they placed Engines.

12 And it came to paſs, when Benhadad heard this † meſſage (as he was drinking, he, and the kings in the ‖ pavilions) that he ſaid unto his ſervants, ‖ Set your ſelves in array o: And they ſet themſelves in array againſt the city.

o Put your ſelves and Engines in order, to make the Aſſault.

† Heb. approached.

13 ¶ And behold, there † came a prophet p unto Ahab king of Iſrael, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD q, Haſt thou ſeen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day; and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD r.

p Who having hid himſelf before, now ventures to come to Ahab, having this welcome Meſſage in his Mouth. q God, though forſaken and neglected by Ahab, prevents him with his gracious Promiſe of Help; partly, That Ahab and the Idolatrous Iſraelites, might hereby be fully convinced and won to God, or left without all Excuſe: and partly, that Benhadad's intolerable Pride, and Contempt of God, and of his People, might be repreſſed and puniſhed: and partly, that the remnant of his Prophets and People who were involved in the ſame Calamity with the reſt of the Iſraelites, might be preſerved and delivered. r And not Baal, becauſe I will deliver thee, which he cannot do.

14 And Ahab ſaid, By whom? And he ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, Even by the || young men of the princes of the provinces s. Then he ſaid, Who ſhall † order the battel? And he anſwered, Thou t.

|| Or, Servants.
† Heb. bind, or tie.

s Not by Old and Experienced Soldiers, but by thoſe Young Men; either the Sons of the Princes, and great Men of the Land, who were generally fled thither for Safety; or their Pages, or Servants that uſed to attend upon them; who are bred up delicately, and ſeem unfit for the buſineſs. t Partly to encourage the Young Men to Fight couragiouſly, as being in the Preſence of their Prince: and partly, that it might appear, that the Victory was wholly due to God's gracious and powerful Providence, and not to the Valour or Worthineſs of the Inſtruments.

15 Then he numbred the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty two: and after them he numbred all the people, even all the children of Iſrael u, being ſeven thouſand x.

u Either, 1. All the Men; for they only went out to Battel; and the reſt of the Men might be conſumed with the Sword or Famine, or other Judgments: Or rather, 2. All the Men of War, or all that were fit to go out to War; all, except thoſe whom their Age, or Infirmity, or other ſufficient Cauſes excuſed. x Which number may poſſibly be noted with reſpect unto thoſe 7000, commended chap. 19. 18. for whoſe ſakes principally God gave this deliverance.

16 And they went out at noon y: but Benhadad was drinking himſelf drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him.

y When they were eating, and drinking, and ſecure from all fear and expectation of an Aſſault.

17 And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out firſt, and Benhadad ſent out, and they told him, ſaying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he ſaid, Whether they be come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive z.

z He bids them not Fight, for he thought they needed not to ſtrike one ſtroke; and that the Iſraelites could not ſtand the firſt brunt.

19 So theſe young men of the princes of the provinces came out of the city, and the army which followed them.

20 And they ſlew every one his man a: and the Syrians fled b, and Iſrael purſued them: and Benhadad the king of Syria eſcaped on an horſe, with the horſemen.

a i. e. Him who came to Fight with him, or to ſeize upon him, as Benhadad had commanded. b Being amazed at the unexpected and undaunted Courage of the Iſraelites, and being ſtruck with a Divine Terror.

21 And the king of Iſrael went out c, and ſmote the horſes and chariots d, and ſlew the Syrians with a great ſlaughter.

c i. e. Proceeded further in his March, and Fought againſt them. d i. e. The men that fought from them, or belonged to them: for ſo Horſes and Chariots are ſometimes taken. See on 1 Sam. 13. 5.

22 ¶ And the prophet came to the king of Iſrael, and ſaid unto him, Go, ſtrengthen thy ſelf, and mark, and ſee what thou doeſt e: for at the return of the year f the king of Syria will come up againſt thee.

e Conſider what is fit and neceſſary for thee to do by way of Preparation, or Prevention. f Next Year about this time, when the Seaſon comes of going forth to Battel: of which ſee 2 Sam. 11. 1. 1 Chron. 20. 1. 2 Chron. 36. 10.

23 And the ſervants of the king of Syria ſaid unto him g, Their gods are gods of the hills, therefore they were ſtronger than we: but let us fight againſt them in the plain h, and ſurely we ſhall be ſtronger than they.

g They ſuppoſe that their gods were no better than the Syrian gods (which the Idolatry of the Iſraelites had given them too great Cauſe to imagine;) and that there were many gods who had each his particular Charge and Juriſdiction; which was the Opinion of all Heathen Nations, That ſome were gods of the Woods, others of the Rivers, and others of the Mountains; and they fancied theſe to be the latter, becauſe the Land of Canaan was a mountainous Land, Deut. 12. 2. And the great Temple of their God at Jeruſalem ſtood upon an Hill, and ſo did Samaria, where they had received their laſt Blow: or becauſe the Iſraelites did generally chuſe High Places for the Worſhip of their gods. It is obſervable, that they do not impute their ill Succeſs to their Negligence, and Drunkenneſs, and bad Conduct, or Cowardize, of which they were really guilty; nor to the Valour of the Iſraelites; but to a Divine Power, which indeed was viſible in it. h Wherein there was not only Superſtition, but Policy; becauſe the Syrians moſt excelled the Iſraelites in Horſes, which are moſt ſerviceable in plain Ground.

24 And do this thing, Take the kings away every man out of his place i, and put captains k in their rooms.

i Who being of ſofter Education, and leſs experienced in Military Matters, were leſs fit for his Service; and being many of them but Mercinaries, and therefore leſs concerned in his good Succeſs, would be more negligent and cautious in venturing themſelves for his good. k i. e. Experienced Soldiers of his own Subjects, who will faithfully obey the Commands of the General (to which the Kings would not ſo readily yield) and uſe their utmoſt Skill and Valour for their own Intereſt and Advancement.

25 And number thee an army, like the army † that thou haſt loſt, horſe for horſe, and chariot for chariot: and we will fight againſt them in the plain, and ſurely we ſhall be ſtronger than they. And he hearkned unto their voice, and did ſo.

† Heb. that was fallen.

26 And it came to paſs at the return of the year, that Benhadad numbred the Syrians, and went up to Aphek l † to fight againſt Iſrael.

† Heb. to the War with Iſrael.

l Not that in Judah; of which, Joſh. 13. 4. and 15. 53. but that in Aſher; of which, Joſh. 19. 30. Judg. 1. 31. nigh unto which, was the great Plain of Galilee. And this ſeems to be one of thoſe Cities which Benhadad's Father had taken from Iſrael, ver. 34. Here alſo the Syrians might retreat, if they ſhould be worſted.

27 And the children of Iſrael were numbred, and || were all preſent m, and went againſt them n: and the children of Iſrael pitched before them o, like two little flocks of kids p: but the Syrians filled the country.

|| Or, were Victualled.

m i. e. All the Forces of the Iſraelites were here gathered together, to oppoſe the Syrians: ſo if thoſe had been conquered, all had been loſt. n Being perſuaded, and encouraged ſo to do; partly, to prevent the miſchiefs of a Siege in Samaria, and the waſte of all the reſt of their Country: and partly, by the remembrance of their former Succeſs, and an expectation of the ſame Aſſiſtance from God again. o Probably upon ſome hilly Ground, where they might ſecure themſelves, and watch for Advantage againſt their Enemies; which may be the reaſon why the Syrians durſt not aſſault them before the Seventh Day; ver. 29. p i. e. Few, and Weak, and Heartleſs; being alſo for conveniency of Fighting, and that they might ſeem to be more than they were, divided into Two Bodies.

28 ¶ And there came a man of God, and ſpake unto the king of Iſrael, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, Becauſe the Syrians have ſaid q, The LORD is God of the hills, but he is not God of the valleys: therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD r.

q Which he knew, either by common Report, ſtrengthned by their preſent Choice of a Plain Ground for the Battel: or rather, by Revelation from God, who diſcovered their Secret Counſels, 2 King. 6. 12. r To wit, The Univerſal Lord of all Places, and Perſons, and Things.

29 And they pitched one over againſt the other ſeven days, and ſo it was, that in the ſeventh day the battel was joined, and the children of Iſrael ſlew of the Syrians an hundred thouſand footmen in one day.

30 But the reſt fled to Aphek in the city, and the wall s fell upon twenty and ſeven thouſand of the men that were left: and Benhadad fled, and came into the city t, || † into an inner chamber u.

|| Or, from chamber to chamber.
† Heb. unto a chamber, within a chamber.

s Or, the Walls (the Singular Number, for the Plural; than which, nothing more frequent) of the City; or of ſome great Caſtle, or Fort, in, or near the City, in which they were now fortifying themſelves; or of ſome part of the City where they lay. Which might poſſibly happen through Natural Cauſes; but moſt probably, was effected by the mighty Power of God, then ſending ſome ſudden Earthquake, or violent Storm of Wind, which threw down the Wall, or Walls upon them; or doing this by the Miniſtry of Angels. Which cannot be incredible to any Man, except to him that denies the Truth of all the Miracles Recorded in the Old and New Teſtament; which being Atteſted, many of them, by Jews and Heathens, it is the height of Folly and Impudence to deny. For if ever Miracle was to be wrought, now ſeems to have been the proper time, and ſeaſon for it; when the Blaſphemous Syrians denied the Soveraign and Infinite Power of God, and thereby in ſome ſort obliged him, for his own Honour, to give a Proof of it; and to ſhew, That he was the God of the Plains, as well as of the Mountains; and that he could as effectually deſtroy them in their ſtrongeſt Holds, as in the open Fields; and make the very Walls, to whoſe Strength they truſted for their Defence, to be the Inſtruments of their Ruine. But it may be further obſerved, that it is not ſaid, That all theſe were killed by the Fall of this Wall; but only that the wall fell upon them, Killing ſome, and Wounding others; as is uſual in thoſe caſes. Nor is it neceſſary, that the Wall ſhould fall upon every individual Perſon; but it is ſufficient to juſtifie this Phraſe, if it fell upon the main Body of them; for the Words in the Hebrew run thus, the Wall fell upon 27000 (not of the men that are left, as we render it, but) which were left of that great Army. t Either, 1. Out of the Fields, as the reſt of his Army did. Which is diſtinctly, and particularly noted of him, becauſe he was the moſt eminent Perſon in it, and the Head of it. Compare the Title of Pſal. 18. Or, 2. At, and from the noiſe and report of that terrible Fall of the Wall, or Walls; which poſſibly might be in the outſide, or Suburbs of the City; from whence he fled further into the City. u Or, a chamber, within a chamber; where he ſuppoſed he might lie hid, till he had an opportunity of making an Eſcape, or of obtaining Mercy.

31 ¶ And his ſervants ſaid unto him, Behold, now, we have heard that the kings of the houſe of Iſrael are merciful kings x: let us I pray thee, put ſackcloth on our loins, and ropes upon our heads y, and go out to the king of Iſrael, peradventure he will ſave thy life.

x More merciful than others, becauſe that Religion which they had profeſſed, taught them Humanity, and obliged them to ſhew Mercy. y As a teſtimony of our ſorrow, for undertaking this War; and that we have juſtly forfeited our Lives for it, which we ſubmit to their Mercy.

32 So they girded ſackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Iſrael, and ſaid, Thy ſervant Benhadad ſaith, I pray thee let me live. And he ſaid, Is he yet alive? he is my brother z.

z I do not only freely Pardon him, but Honour and Love him as my Brother.

33 Now the men did diligently obſerve, whether any thing would come from him, and did haſtily catch it a: and they ſaid, Thy brother Benhadad b. Then he ſaid, Go ye, bring him: then Benhadad came forth to him; and he cauſed him to come up into the chariot.

a Or, they took that Word for a good token, and made haſte and ſnatched it (i. e. that Word) from him, i. e. from his Mouth; they repeated the Word again, to try whether the King would own it, or it only dropt caſually from him; or made haſte to know, whether it was from him: i. e. Whether he ſpoke this from his Heart, or only in Diſſimulation or Deſign: for it ſeemed too good News to be true. b Underſtand, liveth: for that he enquired after, v. 32.

34 And Benhadad ſaid unto him, The cities which my father took from thy father c, I will reſtore, and thou ſhalt make ſtreets d for thee in Damaſcus, as my father made in Samaria. Then ſaid Ahab, I will ſend thee away with this covenant e. So he made a covenant with him, and ſent him away.

c Either, 1. From Baaſha, Chap. 15. 20. whom he calls Ahab's Father, becauſe he was his Legal Father; i. e. His Predeceſſor. Or, 2. From Omri; in whoſe time, it ſeems, he made a ſucceſsful Invaſion into the Land of Iſrael, and took ſome more of the Cities, and Aphek amongſt the reſt; though it be not elſewhere Recorded in Scripture. d Or, Markets, &c. places where thou mayſt either receive the Tribute which I promiſe to pay thee, or exerciſe Judicature upon my Subjects in caſe of their Refuſal. Or outlets (as the LXX render it) in or into Damaſcus; i. e. Some ſtrong Fort near Damaſcus, which might curb the Kings of Damaſcut, and keep them from attempting any other Invaſion into the Land of Iſrael. e He takes no notice of his Blaſphemy againſt God; nor of the vaſt Injuries which his People had ſuffered from him, but only minds his own Grandure, and the advancement of his Power.

35 ¶ And a certain man of the ſons of the prophets ſaid unto his neighbour f in the word of the LORD g, Smite me h, I pray thee. And the man refuſed to ſmite him i.

f Or, Brother, another Son of the Prophets. g In the Name, and by the Command of God, whereof doubtleſs he had informed him. h So as to wound me, ver. 37. He ſpeaks what God commanded him, though it was to his own hurt; by which Obedience to God, he ſecretly reproacheth Ahab's Diſobedience in a far eaſier matter. And this the Prophet by God's appointment deſires, that looking like a wounded Soldier, he might have the more free acceſs to the King, and diſcourſe with him; which it was very hard for a Prophet to obtain, that ſort of Men being hateful to Ahab, Chap. 22. 8. and to his Courtiers. i Not out of Contempt of God's Command, but moſt probably, in tenderneſs and compaſſion to his Brother.

36 Then ſaid he unto him, Becauſe thou haſt not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as ſoon as thou art departed from me, a lion ſhall ſlay thee. And as ſoon as he was departed from him, a * lion found him, and ſlew him k. * Chap. 13. 24.

k If the Puniſhment ſeem too ſevere for ſo ſmall a Fault, let it be conſidered; 1. That Diſobedience to God's Expreſs Command, eſpecially when it is delivered by a Prophet, is a great Sin, and no leſs than Capital, Deut. 18. 19. 2. This Fault was much worſe in a Prophet, who very well knew the Authority of God's Commands, and this way or manner of Publiſhing them. 3. We cannot judge of the Caſe, becauſe this Man might be guilty of many other hainous Sins unknown to us, but known to God; for which, God might juſtly cut him off: which God choſe to do upon this occaſion, that by the ſeverity of this Puniſhment of a Prophet's Diſobedience, proceeding from pity to his Brother, he might teach Ahab the greatneſs of his Sin, in ſparing him through fooliſh pity, whom by the Laws of Religion, and Juſtice, and Prudence, and common Safety, he ſhould have Cut off, and what Puniſhment he might expect for it.

37 Then he found another man, and ſaid, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man ſmote him, † ſo that in ſmiting he wounded him. † Heb. ſmiting and wounding.

38 So the prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and diſguiſed himſelf l with aſhes m upon his face.

l That he might ſooner gain Acceſs to the King, and Audience from him. See on ver. 35. m Whereby he changed the Colour of it. Or, with a vail, or cloth, or band; (as the Hebrew Doctors underſtand the Word) whereby he might ſeem to have bound up his Wound, which probably was in his Face; for it was to be made in a very conſpicuous place, that it might be viſible to Ahab and others.

39 And as the king paſſed by, he cried unto the king: and he ſaid n, Thy ſervant went out into the midſt of the battel, and behold, a man o turned aſide, and brought a man unto me, and ſaid, Keep this man: if by any means he be miſſing, then ſhall thy life be for his life p, or elſe thou ſhalt † pay a talent of ſilver. † Heb. weigh.

n This following Relation is not an Untruth, but a Parable; an uſual way of Inſtruction in the Eaſtern parts, and ancient Times, and moſt fit for this occaſion, wherein an obſcure Prophet was to ſpeak to a great King; whoſe Ears were tender, and impatient of a down-right Reproof, and exceeding Partial in his own Cauſe; who by this Artifice is made to condemn himſelf, before he was aware of it, and ſo forced to receive the Prophet's juſt Sentence with more Patience and Moderation: Compare, 1 Sam. 12. and 14. o My Commander or Superior, as the manner of his Expreſſion here following ſheweth. p Thou ſhalt die in his ſtead; as below, ver. 42. Comp. Exod. 21. 23.

40 And as thy ſervant was buſie here and there, † he was gone. And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto him, So ſhall thy judgment q be, thy ſelf haſt decided it. † Heb. he was not.

q i. e. Thy Sentence; or the Sentence againſt thee: thou muſt perform the Condition to which thou didſt ſubmit. Either ſuffer the one, or do the other.

41 And he haſted, and took the aſhes away from his face: and the king of Iſrael diſcerned him that he was one of the prophets r.

r Either 1. By his Face, which was known either to the King, or to ſome of his Courtiers there preſent. Or, 2. By the change of the manner of his Addreſs to him, which now was ſuch as the Prophets uſed.

42 And he ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, * Becauſe thou haſt let go out of thy hand a man † whom I appointed to utter deſtruction, therefore thy life ſhall go for his life s, and thy people for his people t. * Chap. 22. 37. † Heb. of my Curſe.

s Queſt. What was the great Sin of Ahab in this Action, for which God ſo ſeverely puniſheth him? Anſw. The great Diſhonour hereby done to God, in ſuffering ſo horrid a Blaſphemer, ver. 23. to go unpuniſhed, which was contrary to an expreſs Law, Levit. 24. 16. Obj. What is this to Benhadad, ſeeing that Law concerned Iſraelites only? Anſw. It reached both to them that were born in the land, and (as is there expreſſed) unto ſtrangers that were among them, and in their Power, which was Benhadad's caſe; for God had delivered him into Ahab's hand, for his Blaſphemy, as he promiſed to do, v. 28. by which act of his Providence, eſpecially compared with that Law, it was moſt evident, that this man was appointed by God to Deſtruction, as is here ſaid. But Ahab was ſo far from puniſhing this Blaſphemer, that he doth not ſo much as Rebuke him, but Treats him like a Friend, and a Brother; diſmiſſeth him upon eaſie Terms, and takes his Word for the Performance, and takes not the leaſt Care for the Reparation of God's Honour, but only for the Amplification of his own Power. t Queſt. Why were the People puniſhed for Ahab's Sin? Anſw. 1. Becauſe Ahab was puniſhed in the loſs of his People. 2. The People were puniſhed for their own Sins, which were many, and great; though God took this occaſion to inflict it. 3. The great injury and miſchief was hereby done to his own People; who by this moſt fooliſh and wicked act, were expoſed to all thoſe Rapines and Slaughters which Benhadad either did commit, or might have committed againſt them afterwards; of which, conſequently Ahab was guilty. And it muſt be conſidered, That all the Iſraelites were the Lord's peculiar people; nor did their Apoſtacy from God, deprive God of his right; and the Kings of Iſrael and Judah had theſe committed to them, in way of Truſt, to be Governed and Protected by them. And therefore Ahab for this groſs breach of his Truſt, was juſtly liable, though not to the Cenſures of his People, yet to the Hand of God, who was his King and Governour.

43 And the king of Iſrael went to his houſe, heavy and diſpleaſed u, and came to Samaria.

u Not for his Sin, but for the ſad Effects of it upon himſelf, and People; which he might confidently expect, having had many experiences, that God did not ſuffer the Words of his Prophets to fall to the ground.

CHAP. XXI.

Ahab coveteth to buy Naboth's Vineyard: Which is denied him, and he is grieved, 1——4. Jezebel writeth Letters againſt Naboth: He is condemned of Blaſphemy, and ſtoned, 5——14. Ahab poſſeſſeth the Vineyard, 15, 16. Elijah denounceth Judgment againſt Ahab and Jezebel, 17——26. He repenting, God deferreth the Judgment, 27——29.

AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel a, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

a Where one of Ahab's Palaces was, as the other was in Samaria.

2 And Ahab ſpake unto Naboth, ſaying, Give me thy * vineyard that I may have it for a garden of herbs, becauſe it is near unto my houſe, and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it: or if it † ſeem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money. * 1 Sam. 8. 14. † Heb. be good in thine eyes.

3 And Naboth ſaid to Ahab, the LORD forbid it me, that I ſhould give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee b.

b For God hath expreſly, and for divers weighty Reaſons forbidden the alienation of Lands from the Tribes and Families to which they were allotted, Levit. 25. 15, 23, 25. Numb. 36. 7. Ezek. 46. 18. And although theſe might have been alienated till the Jubilee, yet he durſt not ſell it to the King for that time; becauſe he ſuppoſed, that if once it came into the King's Hand, eſpecially to be made a Garden of Pleaſure, and affixed to his Palace, neither he, nor his Poſterity, could ever recover it again; and ſo he ſhould both offend God, and wrong his Poſterity; which, being, as it ſeems, a Pious Man, he durſt not do.

4 And Ahab came into his houſe, heavy and diſpleaſed, becauſe of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had ſpoken to him: for he had ſaid, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers: and he laid him down upon his bed, and turned away his face c, and would eat no bread d.

c From the Light, and Company which either then were with him, or might come to him, to the Wall, as Hezekiah did under a like dejection of Spirit, Iſa. 38. 2. d Refuſed to eat meat in his uſual time.

5 ¶ But Jezebel his wife came to him, and ſaid unto him, Why is thy ſpirit ſo ſad, that thou eateſt no bread?

6 And he ſaid unto her, Becauſe I ſpake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and ſaid unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money; or elſe, if it pleaſe thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: and he anſwered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 And Jezebel his wife ſaid unto him, Doeſt thou now govern the kingdom of Iſrael e? ariſe, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

e Art thou fit to be King, that canſt put up ſuch Affronts from thy Subjects, and haſt not the Courage to uſe thy Abſolute Power to diſpoſe of them, and theirs, as ſeemeth good unto thee?

8 So ſhe wrote letters in Ahabs name, and ſealed them with his ſeal, and ſent the letters unto the elders, and to the nobles f that were in his city g dwelling with Naboth.

f Whom ſhe very well knew to be fit for her purpoſe. g i. e. In Jezreel. So ſhe ſeeks to deſtroy him with a pretence of Juſtice, and with as little reflection upon Ahab, as might be.

9 And ſhe wrote in the letters, ſaying, Proclaim a faſt h, and ſet Naboth || on high i among the people.

|| Heb. in the top of the people.

h To remove all ſuſpicion of hatred, or evil deſign in Ahab, and to beget a good opinion of him amongſt his People, as if his Afflictions had done him good, and as if he were grown zealous for Gods Honour, and careful of his Peoples welfare, and therefore deſirous to prevent the further diſpleaſure of God againſt his City and Kingdom, and in order thereunto, to enquire into all thoſe ſins which provoked God againſt them, and effectually to purge them out. i In a Scaffold, or ſome other high-place, where Malefactors were uſually and fitly Placed, that they might be ſeen, and their defence heard by all the People.

10 And ſet two men, ſons of Belial, before him, to bear witneſs againſt him, ſaying, Thou didſt || * blaſpheme k God and the king: and then carry him out l, and * ſtone him m that he may die n.

|| Heb. bleſs. So Gr. Job 2. 5, 9. * Act. 6. 11 * Lev. 24. 14.

k Heb. Bleſs. Bleſſing is put for curſing and blaſpheming, as Job 1. 5. and 2. 9. ſo alſo here, as is apparent, becauſe his bleſſing God and the king had been no Crime. It is a Figure called Euphemiſmus. God would have Blaſphemy ſo much abhorred, that it ſhould not eaſily and unneceſſarily be named by its proper name. Compare Pſal. 16. 4. l To the place where Malefactors were puniſhed, which was out of the City, Lev. 24. 23. Joſ. 7. 24. Mar. 15. 20. Heb. 13. 12. partly, to ſhew that they were unworthy of all humane ſociety, and abhorred by all the people: and partly, becauſe the place where they were killed, was thereby ceremonially polluted. m The proper puniſhment of Blaſphemers, Lev. 24. 15, 16. n As one that curſed his God, and his Political Father, his King. See Exod. 21. 17. and 22. 28.

11 And the men of his city, even the elders, and the nobles, who were the inhabitants in his city, did as Jezebel had ſent unto them o, and as it was written in the letters which ſhe had ſent unto them.

o Which is not at all ſtrange in them who had for a long time caſt off the fear and ſenſe of God, and proſtituted their Conſciences and Religion to pleaſe their King, and ſold themſelves to all manner of wickedneſs, and could not now make a ſafe and honourable retreat, and durſt not diſobey Jezebel's command, by whom they knew the King was wholly governed, and who could eaſily have taken away their Lives in the ſame manner, if they had refuſed to kill Naboth.

12 They proclaimed a Faſt, and ſet Naboth on high among the people.

13 And there came in two men, children of Belial, and ſat before him: and the men of Belial witneſſed againſt him, even againſt Naboth, in the preſence of the people, ſaying, Naboth did || blaſpheme God and the king. Then they carried him forth out of the city, and ſtoned * him p with ſtones that he died.

|| Heb. bleſs. So Gr. * 2 Kin. 9. 26.

p And his Sons with him, as it may be thought from 2 King. 9. 26. that ſo the King might have an undiſturbed poſſeſſion: for which they might pretend thoſe examples, Numb. 16. 32. Joſ. 7. 24. But theſe were examples of extraordinary vengeance, and by ſpecial Warrant from God; and the Law of God was poſitively contrary to it, Deut. 24. 16.

14 Then they ſent to Jezebel q, ſaying, Naboth is ſtoned, and is dead.

q By whom they knew the Affairs of the Kingdom were managed, and this Deſign contrived.

15 ¶ And it came to paſs, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was ſtoned, and was dead, that Jezebel ſaid to Ahab, Ariſe, take poſſeſſion of the vineyard of Naboth r the Jezreelite, which he refuſed to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.

r Either, Firſt, By right of Confiſcation, to repair the injury which he did to the King by blaſpheming him. Or, Secondly, By tyrannical Uſurpation. Or, Thirdly, By right of Inheritance: for ſome ſay that Ahab was his next Kinſman, his Sons being Dead; which they judge more likely, becauſe his Land was next to the Kings.

16 And it came to paſs, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab roſe up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jeſreelite, to take poſſeſſion of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tiſhbite, ſaying, 18 Ariſe, go down to meet Ahab king of Iſrael, which is in Samaria ſ: behold, he is t in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to poſſeſs it.

ſ Either, who now is there, and about to depart thence to Jezreel: or, who commonly dwells there. t Or rather, he will be; by that time that thou comeſt thither, thou ſhalt find him there.

19 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Haſt thou killed, and alſo taken poſſeſſion u? And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, in the place where dogs licked the Blood of Naboth, ſhall dogs lick thy blood, even thine x.

u Thou haſt murdered an Innocent and Righteous Man; and inſtead of repenting for it, thou haſt added another piece of injuſtice and violence to it, and art going confidently and chearfully to reap the Fruit of thy wickedneſs. He aſcribes Jezebel's Fact to Ahab, becauſe Jezebel did it by his Connivance, and Conſent, and Authority, and for the ſatisfaction of his inordinate Appetite. x Queſt. How was this fulfilled, when Ahab's blood was not licked in Jeſreel, which was in the Tribe of Iſſachar, but in the Pool of Samaria, chap. 22. 38. which was in the Tribe of Ephraim? Anſ. Firſt, This was done, though not in the ſame individual place, yet in the ſame general place, i. e. in the Territory of Samaria, within which Jezreel was; and in a place of the ſame nature, a publick and common place; for ſuch was both the place of Naboth's Execution, and the Pool of Samaria. Secondly, This was particularly accompliſhed in his Son Joram, as is affirmed, 2 King. 9. 25, 26. whoſe blood is not improperly called Ahab's blood, becauſe Children are ſaid to be born of their Parents blood. See Joh. 1. 13. Act. 17. 26. Obj. Theſe words, thy blood, even thine, ſhew that it is meant of Ahab's Perſon. Anſ. True, the threatning was ſo directed and deſigned at firſt; but afterwards, upon his humiliation, the puniſhment was transferred from him to his Son, as is expreſſed, ver. 29. Obj. This is ſaid to be fulfilled in Ahab's Perſon, chap. 22. 38. Anſ. Either that may be referred to ſome other Prediction or Commination not elſewhere mentioned: or rather, it intimates, that it was in part, and in ſome ſort fulfilled in him, though not ſo ſeverely and opprobriouſly, nor with ſuch Characters of the Curſe as it was in his Son; whence he there mentions only the thing, without any regard unto the place here deſigned. But it may further be obſerved, That although upon Ahab's humiliation the Curſe here threatned might ſeem to be wholly tranſlated from his Perſon to his Poſterity; yet upon Ahab's return to ſin, in the next Chapter, he brings back the Curſe upon himſelf, and ſo it is no wonder if it be in ſome ſort fulfilled in him alſo. Thirdly, The Hebrew word, rendred in the place where, may be, and is by ſome learned men otherwiſe rendred, either thus, Inſtead of this that; that being frequently ſaid to be done in anothers place, which was onely done in his ſtead: or, like as: or, becauſe that. So it doth not deſign the place, but the cauſe and reaſon of this Judgment. And in this ſenſe the ſame word is uſed, Zech. 2. 10.

20 And Ahab ſaid to Elijah y, Haſt thou found me z, O mine enemy a? And he anſwered, I have found thee b: becauſe thou haſt ſold thy ſelf c to work evil in the ſight of the LORD d.

y Upon, and after his delivery of the meſſage laſt mentioned, which it was needleſs to repeat. z Doſt thou purſue me from place to place? Wiltſt thou never let me reſt? Art thou come after me hither with thy unwelcome Meſſages? a That art always diſturbing, threatning, and oppoſing me, and expreſſing not ſo much Gods mind, as thy own hatred and enmity againſt me. Comp. ch. 22. 8. b The hand of God hath found and overtaken thee in the very act of thy ſin. c Thou haſt wilfully and wholly reſigned up thy ſelf to be the bondſlave of the Devil, or Baal, and of wicked Jezebel, to do whatſoever they perſuade thee to do; as a man that ſells himſelf to another is totally in his Maſters Power, and muſt employ all his time and ſtrength for his ſervice. Compare 2 King. 17. 17. See on Rom. 7. 14. d i. e. Impudently and and contemptuouſly. Withal he minds him, that although his ſin was in a great meaſure hid from the eyes of men by Jezebel's cunning contrivance, yet it was evident and known to God, who would require it at his Hands.

l i. e. In my preſence, and upon my threatning. But this humiliation or repentance of Ahab's was only external and ſuperficial, ariſing from the terror of God's Judgments; and not ſincere and ſerious, proceeding from the Love of God, or a true ſenſe of his ſin, or a ſolemn purpoſe of amendment of his Life, as appears, becauſe all the particulars of his repentance here, ver. 27. are external and ritual only; nor is there the leaſt intimation of any one ſign or fruit of his true repentance, as that he reſtored Naboth's Land, or reproved his infamous Wife; but in the very next Chapter you find him returning to his former Vomit, hating and threatning the Lords Prophets, &c. m i. e. The Judgment threatned, both that ver. 19. which was not inflicted upon Ahab with ſo much ignominy, and with that particular ſignature of Gods vengeance, that it was to be done in the ſame place, as it was upon his Son Joram; and eſpecially that, ver. 21, 22. which was wholly ſuſpended until his Sons days.

CHAP. XXII.

Ahab intending War againſt the Syrians, is adviſed by Jehoſhaphat firſt to ask Counſel of God: Ahab's Prophets adviſe him to it, eſpecially Zedekiah, 1.——12. Micaiah, a Prophet of the Lord, diſſuadeth him from it: And is put in Priſon by Ahab, 13——28. Ahab goeth to the Battel, is ſlain: The Dogs lick his Blood; and Ahaziah ſucceedeth him, 29——40. Jehoſhaphat's good Reign over Judah: His Acts and Death: Jehoram ſucceedeth him, 41——50. Ahaziah's evil Reign, 51——53.

AND they a continued three years b without war between Syria and Iſrael.

a The Syrians and Iſraelites deſigned in the following words. b Computed from the laſt War and League wherewith it was concluded: becauſe both Ahab and Benhadad were ſo weakned and broken by the late Wars, that they needed and deſired Peace to recruit themſelves, and repair their former loſſes.

2 And it came to paſs in the third year, that * Jehoſhaphat the King of Judah came down to the king of Iſrael c. * 2 Chro. 18. 1, &c.

c Having now, as he ſuppoſed, made a firm peace with Ahab by the Alliance contracted between Joram his Son, and Athaliah, Ahab's Daughter; Of which ſee 2 King. 8. 18. 2 Chron. 18. 1.

3 (And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto his ſervants, Know ye that * Ramoth in Gilead is ours d, and we be || ſtill, and take it not out of the hand of the king of Syria)? * 1 Chro. 6. 73. || Heb. ſi- ent from aking it.

4 And he ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battel to Ramoth-gilead? And Jehoſhaphat ſaid to the king of Iſrael, * I am as thou art, my people as thy people, my horſes as thy horſes e. * 2 King. 3. 7.

e I will heartily and effectually join with thee; and my Forces ſhall be at thy ſervice, as much as thine own.

5 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, Enquire f I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.

f By ſome Prophet; that we may know the mind of God in it, and what ſucceſs we may expect. This was the practice of the Godly. See Judg. 1. 1. and 20. 28. 1 Sam. 23. 2.

6 Then the king of Iſrael gathered the prophets g together, about four hundred men, and ſaid unto them, Shall I go againſt Ramoth-gilead to battel, or ſhall I forbear? And they ſaid, Go up: for the LORD ſhall deliver it unto the hand of the king.

g Which doubtleſs were his own falſe Prophets, or the Prieſts of Baal; probably thoſe very 400 Men whom Jezebel preſerved from that great ſlaughter, chap. 18. who yet gave in their Anſwer in the Name of Jehovah, not of Baal; either, in compliance with Jehoſhaphat; or rather, by Ahab's direction, that good Jehoſhaphat might be deceived by them, into a good opinion of the War.

7 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Is there not here a Prophet of the LORD beſides h, that we might enquire of him?

h Beſides theſe, who may ſeem to be ſuch by your Opinion, and their own profeſſion: but I deſire further ſatisfaction from ſome other Prophet.

8 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, There is yet one i man (Micaiah k the ſon of Imlah) by whom we may enquire of the LORD; but I hate him, for he doth not propheſie good concerning me, but evil l. And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Let not the king ſay ſo m.

i To wit, in this place, for whom I can ſpeedily ſend: for there were alſo other Prophets elſewhere in the Kingdom, as Elijah, Eliſha, and others: but theſe were not at hand for the preſent occaſion. k Not one of the 12 Prophets, who lived about 150 Years after this time, but another of that name. l He is always a meſſenger of evil tidings: which was true, but no ſufficient reaſon why he ſhould hate him, becauſe Micaiah was purely God's Inſtrument in all his Meſſages: and whatſoever evil he threatned, Ahab himſelf was the cauſe and procurer of it. m Do not preſage evil to our enterprize: let us neither hate his perſon, nor deſpiſe his meſſage; but firſt hear it, and then do as we ſee cauſe.

9 Then the king of Iſrael called an || Officer, and ſaid, Haſten hither Micaiah, the ſon of Imlah. || Or, Eunuch.

10 And the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, ſat each on his throne, having put on their robes n, in a || void place o in the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets propheſied before them. || Heb. floor.

11 And Zedekiah the ſon of Chenaanah made him horns of iron p: and he ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD q, With theſe ſhalt thou puſh the Syrians, until thou have conſumed them.

p Fit emblems of the Power and Victory of theſe two Kings. The Devil is God's Ape, and the falſe Prophets ſometimes imitating the true, who when they declared God's mind by words, did alſo oftentimes confirm it by ſenſible ſigns. See Iſa. 20. 2. Jer. 27. 2. q Heb. Jehovah: whoſe Name he pretends, to gain the more credit and countenance to his words. See on v. 7.

12 And all the prophets propheſied ſo, ſaying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and proſper: for the LORD ſhall deliver it into the kings hand.

13 And the Meſſenger that was gone to call Micaiah, ſpake unto him, ſaying, Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good unto the king with one mouth: let thy word, I pray thee, be like the word of one of them, and ſpeak that which is good r.

r This he deſigns, not out of any Love to Micaiah (whom he perſuades to debauch his Conſcience), but meerly out of a deſire to gratify his Kings humour.

14 And Micaiah ſaid, As the LORD liveth, what the LORD ſaith unto me ſ, that will I ſpeak.

ſ What anſwer God ſhall put into my mind and mouth; which, it ſeems, was not yet done.

15 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king ſaid unto him, Micaiah, ſhall we go againſt Ramoth-gilead to battel, or ſhall we forbear? And he anſwered him t, Go, and proſper: for the LORD ſhall deliver it into the hand of the king.

t Not ſeriouſly, but ironically, uſing the very words of the falſe Prophets, in way of deriſion: As appears, Firſt, From his omiſſion of that Solemn Preface, Thus ſaith the Lord; or, this is the word of the Lord, which the Prophets generally uſed, and which himſelf uſeth when he comes to his ſerious anſwer, v. 19. Secondly, From Ahab's reply, ver. 16. which ſhews that he ſuſpected Micaiah's ſincerity in that anſwer, and gathered by his geſture or manner of ſpeaking, that he ſpake onely mimically, as repreſenting and traducing the falſe Prophets for their anſwer. See the Like Ironical paſſages, Gen. 3. 22. Judg. 10. 14. 1 King. 18. 27. Eccleſ. 11. 9. Ezek. 20. 39. Amos 4. 4, 5. All which expreſſions are not uſed to lead Men into miſtakes, but to bring them to the ſight of their ſin and duty; which may be done ſometimes moſt efficaciouſly in this way. So Micaiah's meaning is plainly this, Becauſe thou doſt not ſeek to know the truth, but only to pleaſe thy ſelf, go to the Battel, as all thy Prophets adviſe thee, and expect the ſucceſs which they promiſe thee, and try the truth of their Prediction by thy own coſtly experience.

16 And the king ſaid unto him, How many times ſhall I adjure thee u, that thou tell me nothing, but that which is true in the Name of the LORD?

u I adjure thee again and again, that thou give over this mockery, and ſeriouſly tell me the mind of God in this matter.

17 And he ſaid, I ſaw x all Iſrael * ſcattered upon the hills y, as ſheep that have not a ſhepherd z: And the LORD ſaid, Theſe have no maſter, let them return every man to his houſe in peace a. * Matth. 9. 36.

x In the Spirit, or in a Viſion. y Upon the Mountains of Gilead, nigh Ramoth: either, where they lay encamped by Ahab's order: or, to which they fled from the Enemy, eſteeming that the ſafeſt place. See Matth. 24. 16. z As people who have loſt their King. See Num. 27. 17. Iſa. 40. 11. and 44. 28. Ezek. 34. 23. a Diſcharged from the War: which was fulfilled, v. 26.

18 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would propheſie no good concerning me, but evil b?

b Now thou ſeeſt my words verified, and this man ſhewing his hatred by this malignant and treaſonable Prophecy, and how little heed is to be given to his words. Which crafty inſinuation ſeems to have had too great an influence upon good Jehoſhaphat; otherwiſe, he would never have gone to the Battel.

19 And he ſaid, Hear thou therefore c the word of the LORD: I ſaw d the LORD ſitting on his throne, and * all the hoſt of Heaven e ſtanding by him f, on his right hand, and on his left. * Job 1. 6. and 2. 1. Dan. 7. 10. Zech. 1. 10. Matth. 18. 10. Heb. 1. 7, 14.

c Becauſe thou giveſt credit to thy falſe Prophets, and diſtruſteſt my words, as if they were but the ſuggeſtions of my own fancy, and hatred of thy Perſon; I will give thee a diſtinct and true account of the whole matter, in Gods Name and Preſence. d By the Eyes of my Mind: for he could not ſee the Lord with bodily Eyes. e i. e. The Angels, who are oft called Gods hoſt or hoſts, becauſe of their great number, excellent order, and conſtant readineſs to attend upon God, and to execute his Commands. See Gen. 2. 1. Pſal. 103.21. and 148.2. Theſe Angels were both good and bad, the one poſſibly on his right, the other on his left hand. Nor is it ſtrange that the Devils are called the hoſt of Heaven; if you conſider, Firſt, That their original ſeat was in Heaven, and men in Scripture are oft called by the name of the place from whence they came. Secondly, That the name of heaven is oft given to all that part of the World which is above the Earth, and among the reſt, to the Air, as Gen. 1. 20. and 7. 11. and 8. 2. and 27. 28. Deut. 4. 11. and 11. 11. where the Devils reſidence and dominion lies, Eph. 2. 2. and that both Michael and his Angels, and the Dragon and his Angels, are ſaid to be, and to wage war in heaven, Revel. 12. 7. i. e. either the Air, or the Church. And this place is not to be underſtood as if Micaiah had ſeen with his bodily Eyes, the Lord and his Angels ſitting in the third Heaven; but that he ſaw a repreſentation of the Divine Preſence in the Air, attended with good and bad Angels. f In the poſture of Miniſters, to receive and execute his Commands.

20 And the LORD ſaid, Who ſhall || perſwade Ahab g, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one ſaid on this manner, and another ſaid on that manner.

g This is not to be groſly underſtood, as if God did ask and take counſel from his Creatures, or were at a loſs to find out an expedient to accompliſh his own Will; did conſider ſeveral ways, and then cloſe with that which upon debate appeared to be beſt; all which, it is ridiculous to imagine concerning a God of perfect and infinite knowledge; but only to bring down divine things to our ſhallow Capacities, and to expreſs the various means which God hath to execute his own Deſigns.

21 And there came forth a ſpirit h, and ſtood before the LORD, and ſaid, I will perſwade him.

h An evil Spirit came out of the knot or company of them, ſtanding poſſibly on the left hand, and preſented himſelf before the Throne, as having ſomething to ſay to the Lord.

* Judg. 9. 23.

22 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Wherewith? And he ſaid, I will go forth, and I will be a lying ſpirit in the mouth of all his prophets k. And he ſaid, * Thou ſhalt perſwade him, and prevail alſo l: go forth, and do ſo m.

k I will inſpire a Lie into the Minds and Mouths of his Prophets. l I will give them up into thy hands, and blind their minds, and leave them to their own ignorance and wickedneſs, which will certainly lead them into dreadful miſtakes. m This is not a Command, but only a Permiſſion; which is oft expreſſed in the Imperative Mood; as 1 Sam. 16. 10. Matth. 8. 22. Joh. 13. 27. I will not hinder thee from tempting them, nor give them Grace to withſtand their temptation; whereby thou mayſt be aſſured of Succeſs.

23 Now therefore behold, the LORD hath put a lying ſpirit in the mouth of all theſe thy prophets, and the LORD hath ſpoken evil concerning thee.

* 2 Chr. 18. 23.

24 But Zedekiah the ſon of Chenaanah n went near, and ſmote Micaiah on the cheek o, and ſaid, * Which way went the ſpirit of the LORD from me to ſpeak unto thee p?

n The chief of the Falſe Prophets, who was much in the King's Favour, upon which he now preſumed. o In way of Contempt and Scorn, Job 16. 10. Jer. 20. 2. Lament. 3. 30. Mark 14. 65. p i.e. In what manner went it? Foraſmuch as I and my Brethren have conſulted the Lord, and anſwered in his Name, and have the ſame Spirit which thou pretendeſt to have, and not a lying Spirit, as thou doſt falſly and maliciouſly affirm, How is it poſſible that the ſame Spirit ſhould tell us one thing, and thee the quite contrary?

|| Or, from chamber, to chamber.
† Heb. a chamber in a chamber.

25 And Micaiah ſaid, Behold, thou ſhalt ſee in that day, when thou ſhalt go || into † an inner chamber to hide thy ſelf q.

q Out of a juſt fear and expectation of the deſerved puniſhment of a falſe Prophet, and of the great Author and Abettor of this pernicious War, and of Ahab's Deſtruction.

26 And the King of Iſrael ſaid, Take Micaiah, and carry him back r unto Amon the governour of the city, and to Joaſh the kings ſon:

r To wit, into Priſon; where it ſeems, he was before ſhut up; for ſo the Lords Prophets were uſed by Ahab. And ſome think he was the Deliverer of that unwelcome Meſſage, chap. 20. 41, 42.

27 And ſay, Thus ſaith the king, Put this fellow in the priſon, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction ſ, until I come in peace t.

ſ i. e. With a very courſe and ſparing Diet, whereby he may be only ſupported to endure his Torment. See Deut. 16. 3. 2 Chr. 18. 26. Iſa. 30. 20. t Until I return in Triumph, which I doubt not I ſhall do in ſpight of all his malicious Suggeſtions to the contrary, and then I ſhall call him to an account for all his Lies and Impudence.

28 And Micaiah ſaid, If thou return at all in peace, the LORD hath not ſpoken by me u. And he ſaid x, Hearken, O people, every one of you.

u I acknowledge my ſelf to be an Impoſtor, and to deſerve Death. x i. e. Micaiah, the Perſon laſt named, being aſſured of the Truth of his Prophecy, calls all the People to be Witneſſes of it.

29 So the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah y went up to Ramoth-gilead.

y Who, though a good Man, yet was eaſily deceived in this matter; partly, becauſe Micaiah was a Perſon unknown to him, and both he and the other Prophets pretending to give their Anſwer in the Name of the Lord, it ſeemed hard to him to determine the Controverſie, which only the Event could decide; and therefore it is no wonder if he was over-born by the vaſt Diſproportion of 400 Prophets to one, and by his Relation, and Obligation, and Affection to Ahab: and partly, becauſe the War was Juſt and Lawful to recover his own Rights, which the Syrian King unjuſtly detained from him.

|| Or, when he was to diſguiſe himſelf, and enter into the battel.

30 And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto Jehoſhaphat, || I will diſguiſe my ſelf z, and enter into the battel, but put thou on thy robes a. And the king of Iſrael diſguiſed himſelf, and went into the battel.

z i. e. Put off my Imperial Habit, that the Syrians may not know me, and direct their main Force againſt me; which they will aſſuredly endeavour, as knowing that this War proceedeth from me, and is likely to die with me: and then thou ſhalt ſee that this Man is a falſe Prophet, and I ſhall have the Succeſs which I deſire and expect, notwithſtanding all his Preſages. a Thy Royal Robes: which thou mayſt do without any Danger, becauſe thou art not the Object either of the Syrians Rage, or of this falſe Propheſie.

31 But the king of Syria commanded his thirty and two captains, that had rule over his chariots b, ſaying, Fight neither with ſmall nor great, ſave onely with the king of Iſrael c.

b And the Men that fought from them, or with them, i. e. his whole Army. Poſſibly the Chariots and the whole Army were diſtributed into thirty two ſeveral parts, and each Captain ruled thoſe Chariots and Soldiers attending upon them, which fell to his ſhare. c This he ordered, either in Policy, truly ſuppoſing this to be the beſt way to put an end to the War: or, with Deſign to take him Priſoner, that thereby he might wipe out the ſtain of his own Captivity, and recover the Honour and Advantage which then he loſt: or rather, by the Power and Providence of God, which diſpoſeth the Hearts of Kings as he pleaſeth; and inclined them to this courſe, that they might, though ignorantly, accompliſh his Word and Counſel.

32 And it came to paſs, when the captains of the chariots ſaw Jehoſhaphat, that they ſaid, Surely it is the king of Iſrael. And they turned aſide d to fight againſt him: and Jehoſhaphat cried out e.

d They drew their Forces from their ſeveral quarters towards Jehoſhaphat. e To the Lord for Help, 2 Chron. 18. 31.

33 And it came to paſs, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Iſrael f, that they turned back from purſuing him.

f Which they eaſily perceived; either, by the Words uttered to God or them; or, by the difference of his Shape and Countenance from that of Ahab, which probably many of them very well knew.

† Heb. in his ſimplicity.
† Heb. joynts and the breſtplate.
† Heb. made ſick.

34 And a certain man drew a bow † at a venture g, and ſmote the king of Iſrael between the † joints of the harneſs h: wherefore he ſaid unto the driver of his chariot, Turn thine hand, and carry me out of the hoſt i, for I am † wounded.

g Heb. in his ſimplicity, i. e. ignorantly, without care, or choice, or any deſign, or thought of reaching Ahab. Or, according to his perfection, i. e. with his perfect and utmoſt ſtrength: which is mentioned as the reaſon why it pierced through the Joints of his Armour. h Where the ſeveral parts of his Armour are joined together; which poſſibly were not then joined with ſo much art and cloſeneſs as now they are. i Out of the midſt of the Hoſt where the Heat of the Battel was, into a ſafer part of the Army. See the next Verſe.

† Heb. aſcended.
† Heb. boſom.

35 And the battel † increaſed k that day: and the king was ſtayed up l in his chariot againſt the Syrians, and died at even, and the blood ran out of the wound, into the † midſt of the chariot.

k i. e. Grew hot and violent. l Was ſupported by Cordials, or by his Servants, that by his Preſence he might encourage his Soldiers to Fight more couragiouſly, and that he might ſee the event of the Battel.

36 And there went a proclamation throughout the hoſt m, about the going down of the ſun, ſaying, Every man to his city, and every man to his own countrey n.

m Probably by Jehoſhaphat's Order, with the Conſent of the chief Captains of Iſrael; and poſſibly with the permiſſion of the King of Syria, upon notice of Ahab's Death, which was the only thing at which he aimed, v. 31. n The King is dead, and the Battel ended: and therefore every man hath liberty to return to his own Houſe and private occaſions.

† Heb. came.

37 ¶ So the king died, and † was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

* Chap. 21. 19.

38 And one waſhed the chariot in the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood o, and they waſhed his armour, according * unto the word of the LORD, which he ſpake p.

o Together with the Water wherewith it was mixed. p Of which ſee the Note on chap. 21. 19.

39 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory houſe q which he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

q Heb. the houſe of the tooth or teeth, to wit, of Elephants: See chap. 10. 18. Not that it was made wholly of ſolid Ivory, but becauſe the other materials were covered, or intermixed, or adorned with Ivory. Compare Amos 3. 15.

40 So Ahab ſlept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

* 2 Chr. 20. 31.

41 ¶ And * Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Aſa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab r king of Iſrael.

r Who Reigned 22 Years; therefore he Reigned about 18 Years with Ahab.

42 Jehoſhaphat was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years s in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

s Part, by himſelf; and partly, with his Sons whom he took into the Fellowſhip of his Kingdom. Of which, ſee more on 2 King. 1. 17.

43 And he walked in all the ways of Aſa his father t, he turned not aſide from it, doing that which was right in the eyes of the LORD: nevertheleſs, the high places were not taken away u; for the people offered and burnt incenſe yet it in the high places.

t He took the ſame care for the government of his Kingdom; and eſpecially for the reformation of Religion, that Aſa did: of whom, ſee Chap. 15. 11. u Object. It is ſaid, he did take them away, 2 Chron. 17. 6. Anſw. He took away thoſe which were erected to Idols; of which, he ſeems to ſpeak there, becauſe the high places are there joined with Groves, which were generally erected to Idols, and not to the True God, as will appear to any one that ſhall compare all the Scriptures where groves are mentioned; but he could not take away thoſe which were erected to the True God; of which, this place manifeſtly ſpeaks; as alſo that parallel place, 1 King. 15. 14. where ſee the notes. Or, he took them away, but not fully; or not in the very beginning of his Reign.

44 And Jehoſhaphat made peace with the king of Iſrael x.

x With Ahab firſt, and then with his Son. This is noted as a Blemiſh in his Government, 2 Chron. 19. 2. and proved of moſt miſchievous Conſequence to Jehoſhaphat's Poſterity; as we ſhall ſee 2 King. 9. and 10.

45 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoſhaphat, and his might that he ſhewed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah y?

y Whence the moſt memorable Paſſages were Tranſlated into that Canonical Book of the Chronicles.

46 And the remnant of the Sodomites z which remained in the days of his father Aſa, he took out of the land.

z Of whom ſee Deut. 23. 17. 1 King. 14. 24. and 15. 12.

47 There was then no king in Edom: a deputy a was king.

a Sent, and ſet over them by the Kings of Judah, from the time of David, 2 Sam. 8 14. until the days of Jehoram, 2 Chron. 21. 8.

48 Jehoſhaphat || made ſhips b of Tharſhiſh c to go to Ophir d for gold: but they went not; for the ſhips were broken at Ezion-geber e.

|| Or, had ſhips.

b As it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 20. 36. Or, there were to Jehoſhaphat ten ſhips: the Ellipſis of the Verb Subſtantive, and of the Præfix Lamed, being frequent in the Hebrew Language. Some render the Words, he made ten ſhips; ſo joining both Texts together, and out of both compleating the ſence. c Either, 1. Of the Sea, as this Word is thought ſometimes to be uſed. Or, rather 2. To go to Tarſhiſh, (as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 20. 36.) and thence to Ophir, as it here follows. See more on 1 King. 10. 22. d Of which, See 1 King. 9. 28. e Which was in Edom, and conſequently in Jehoſhaphat's Territories.

49 Then ſaid Ahaziah the ſon of Ahab unto Jehoſhaphat, Let my ſervants go with thy ſervants in the ſhips, but Jehoſhaphat would not f.

f Obj. It is ſaid, that he did joyn with Ahaziah herein, 2 Chron. 20. 35, 36. Anſw. That was before this time, and before the Ships were broken: for the breaking of the Ships mentioned here, ver. 48. is noted to be the Effect of his Sin, in joyning with Ahaziah, and of the Prophecy conſequent upon it, 2 Chron. 20. 37. And good Jehoſhaphat being warned and chaſtiſed by God for this ſin, would not be perſwaded to repeat it; whereby he ſhewed the ſincerity of his Repentance.

50 ¶ And Jehoſhaphat ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his Father: and Jehoram his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

51 ¶ Ahaziah the ſon of Ahab began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria the ſeventeenth year of Jehoſhaphat g king of Judah, and reigned two years h over Iſrael.

g By comparing this Verſe with ver. 41. it appears, that Ahaziah was made King by his Father, and Reigned in Conjunction with him a year or two before Ahab's Death, and as long after it; even as Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat was made King by his Father in his Life-time, as we ſhall ſee hereafter; which poſſibly was done in compliance with Ahab's deſire upon Marriage of his Daughter to Jehoſhaphat's Son; and it may be Ahab, to induce and encourage him to do ſo, gave him an Example of it, and made his Son his Partner in the Kingdom. h Either after his Father's Death: or one before it, and another after it.

52 And he did evil in the ſight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam i the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael to ſin.

i Which Clauſe ſeems here added, to ſhew, how little the Authority and Example of Parents, or Anceſtors, is to be valued, where it is oppoſed to the Will and Word of God.

53 For he ſerved Baal, and worſhipped him, * and provoked to anger the LORD God of Iſrael, according to all that his father had done.

* By ſo doing.

II. KINGS.

CHAP. I.

Moab rebelleth againſt Iſrael, 1. Ahaziah being ſick ſendeth to Baalzebub: Elijah foretelleth his Death, 1——4. Ahaziah hearing it, ſendeth twice Captains of 50, to bring Elijah to him: Upon whom he bringeth Fire from Heaven, 5——12. The third Captain entreateth Elijah: Who encourged by an Angel, goeth and telleth the King of his Death, 13——16. Jehoram ſucceedeth him, 17——18.

THEN Moab a rebelled againſt Iſrael, * after the death of Ahab.

* Chap. 3.

a Which had been ſubdued by David, 2 Sam. 8. 2. as Edom was; and upon the diviſion of this Kingdom into two, Moab was adjoined to that of Iſrael, and Edom to that of Judah, each to that Kingdom upon which it bordered. And when the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah were weak and forſaken by God, they took that opportunity to Revolt from them; Moab here, and Edom a little after it.

2 And Ahaziah fell down through a latteſs in his upper chamber b that was in Samaria, and was ſick, and he ſent meſſengers, and ſaid unto them, Go, inquire of Baal-zebub c the god of Ekron, whether I ſhall || recover of this diſeaſe?

|| Heb. e. So Gr.

b In which, the Latteſs might be left to convey Light into the lower Room. Which if it now ſeem abſurd to be in a King's Palace, we muſt not think it was ſo then, when the World was not arrived to that height of Curioſity and Art, in which now it is. But the Words may be, and are by ſome rendred, through the Battlements (or through the Latteſs in the Battlements) of the Roof of the Houſe. Where being firſt walking, after the manner, and then ſtanding and looking through, and leaning upon this Latteſs, which was grown infirm, it broke, and he fell down into the Court or Garden belonging to the Houſe. c Properly, the God of Flies. An Idol ſo called, becauſe it was falſly ſuppoſed to deliver thoſe People from Flies, which were both vexatious and hurtful to them: as Jupiter and Hercules were called by a like name among the Grecians, for the ſame reaſon. And it is evident, both from Sacred and Prophane Hiſtories, That the Idol-gods, being conſulted by the Heathens, did ſometimes through God's Permiſſion, and Juſt Judgment, give them Anſwers; though they were generally obſerved, even by the Heathens themſelves, to be dark and doubtful.

3 But the Angel of the LORD ſaid to Elijah the Tiſhbite, Ariſe, go up to meet the Meſſengers of the king of Samaria, and ſay unto them, Is it not becauſe there is not a God in Iſrael d, that ye go to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

d Doſt thou not by this action caſt contempt upon the God of Iſrael, as if he were either ignorant of the Event of thy Diſeaſe, or unable to give thee any Relief; and as if Baal-zebub had more Skill and Power than he?

4 Now therefore e thus ſaith the LORD, || Thou ſhalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die. And Elijah departed f.

|| Heb. The bed whither thou art gone up, thou ſhalt not come down from it.

e For this was a very hainous Crime, to deny the Perfections of God, and to transfer them to an Idol. See Levit. 19. 31. and 20. 6, 27. Deut. 18. 10. f The Meſſengers not daring to Apprehend him, as ſuſpecting him to be more than Man, becauſe he knew the ſecret Meſſage which the King delivered to them in his Bed-Chamber.

5 ¶ And when the meſſengers turned back unto him, he ſaid unto them, Why are ye now turned back g?

f Before you have been at Ekron: which he eaſily knew by their quick return.

6 And they ſaid unto him, There came a man up to meet us, and ſaid unto us, Go, turn again unto the king that ſent you, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, Is it not becauſe there is not a God in Iſrael, that thou ſendeſt to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? therefore thou ſhalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

7 And he ſaid unto them, || What manner of man was he which came up to meet you, and told you theſe words?

|| What was the manner of the man?

8 And they anſwered him, He was an hairy man h, and girt with a girdle of leather about his loins i: and he ſaid, It is Elijah the Tiſhbite.

h Either, 1. As to his Body; the hair of his Head and Beard being through neglect grown long, and ſpread over much of his Face. Or rather, 2. As to his outward Garment, which was rough and hairy, ſuch as were ſometimes worn by Eminent Perſons in Greece, in ancient Times; and were the proper Habit of the Prophets. See Iſa. 20. 2. Zech. 13. 4. Mat. 3. 4. Heb. 11. 37. i As John the Baptiſt alſo had; Mat. 3. 4. That by his very outward Habit, he might repreſent Elias, in whoſe Spirit and Power he came.

9 Then the king ſent unto him a captain of fifty, with his fifty: and he went up to him, (and behold, he ſat on the top of an hill) and he ſpake unto him, Thou man of God k, the king hath ſaid, Come down l.

k So he calls him in way of Scorn and Contempt; q. d. Thou that vaunteſt, as if thou waſt more than a meer Man. l The King commands thee to come to him: which if thou refuſeſt, I am here to carry thee to him by Force.

10 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid unto the captain of fifty, If I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty m. And there came down fire from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

m Which deſire did not proceed from a carnal and malicious Paſſion; but from a pure zeal, to vindicate God's Name and Honour, which was ſo horribly abuſed; and from the motion of God's Spirit; as is evident from God's miraculous Anſwer to his deſire. And therefore Chriſt doth not condemn this Fact of Elias, but only reproves his Diſciples for their perverſe imitation of it, from another Spirit and Principle, and in a more unſeaſonable time, Luke 9. 54, 55.

11 Again alſo he ſent unto him another Captain of fifty, with his fifty: and he anſwered and ſaid unto him, O man of God, Thus hath the king ſaid, Come down quickly n.

n Wherein he diſcovers more Petulancy and Impudence than the former; and ſhews, how little he was moved or affrighted by the former Example.

12 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid unto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty. And the fire of God came down from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

13 ¶ And he ſent again a captain of the third fifty, with his fifty: and the third captain of fifty went up, and came and || fell on his knees before Elijah, and || beſought him o and ſaid unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life, and the life of theſe fifty thy ſervants be precious in thy ſight.

|| Heb. bowed.
|| Heb. prayed unto him.

o Expreſſing both Reverence to his Perſon, and a Belief of his Power, and a Dread of God's Judgments.

14 Behold, there came fire down from heaven, and burnt up the two captains of the former fifties, with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy ſight.

15 And the Angel of the LORD ſaid unto Elijah, Go down with him, be not afraid of him. And he aroſe, and went down with him unto the king p.

p Not fearing the rage of the King, nor of Jezebel, nor of all their Forces. Wherein, he gives an eminent Example of his Faith and Obedience; and withal, of his growth in Grace ſince that time that he fled for fear of Jezebel, 1 King. 19. 3.

16 And he ſaid unto him q, Thus ſaith the LORD, Foraſmuch as thou haſt ſent meſſengers to inquire of Baalzebub the God of Ekron, (is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael to enquire of his word?) therefore thou ſhalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

q To his very Face. Nor duſt the King lay hands upon him, being daunted with the Prophets preſence, and great courage, and confidence; and affrighted by the late dreadful Evidence of his Power with God and over Men: and withal, ſtruck with a divine and extraordinary Terror.

17 ¶ So he died, according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had ſpoken: and Jehoram r reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah s, becauſe he had no ſon.

r His Brother, Chap. 3. 1. for he had no ſon to ſucceed him, as it here follows. s Other Paſſages of Scripture ſeem to claſh with this, as that Ahaziah, who reigned but two years, begun his reign in Jehoſhaphat's ſeventeenth year, 1 King 22. 51. and therefore this Jehoram muſt begin his Reign in Jehoſhaphat's Nineteenth Year; and therefore before the Reign of Jehoram, Jehoſhaphat's Son; and that Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat began to reign in the fifth year of Joram, Ahab's ſon, 2 King. 8. 16. Anſw. Theſe difficulties are eaſily reſolved by this conſideration, That it was an uſual Practice among Kings in former Ages, to make their Sons ſometimes their Viceroys and Deputies in the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom; and ſometimes formally Kings in Conjunction with themſelves, and whilſt they lived; whereof there are inſtances both in Prophane Hiſtory, among the Perſians, Greeks, and Romans, and in the Sacred Scripture, as in David; 1 Chron. 23. 1. and 29. 22. in Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. 21. (and to come cloſe to the point) in Jehoſhaphat, 2 King. 8. 16. who in his Seventeenth Year, when he went to Ahab, and with him to Ramoth-Gilead, appointed his Son Jehoram his Vice-roy, and (in caſe of his Death) his Succeſſor. In the ſecond year from that time, when Jehoram was thus made Vice-King in his Father's ſtead and abſence; this Jehoram, Ahab's ſon, began to Reign: and in the fifth year of the reign of this Joram ſon of Ahab, which was about the Twenty fourth year of Jehoſhaphat's Reign, Jehoram the Son of Jehoſhaphat was formerly made King of Judah, together with his Father; or whileſt Jehoſhaphat lived, and was king of Judah alſo. And ſo all the places agree. To which ſome add, that this Verſe, or this part of it, wherein the difficulty conſiſts, is wanting in ſome ancient Copies, and is omitted by the LXX Interpreters; which is far more prudent and pious to grant, than upon ſuch Chronological difficulties to queſtion the Truth and Divinity of the Holy Scriptures.

18 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaziah, which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

CHAP. II.

Elijah taking his leave of Eliſha, with his Mantle divideth Jordan, 1——8. And granting Eliſha his Requeſt on Condition, is taken up by a fiery Chariot into Heaven, 9——11. Eliſha dividing Jordan with Elijah's Mantle, is acknowledged his Succeſſor, 12——18. He with Salt healeth the Waters at Jericho, 19——22. Children mock him, he curſeth them: and they are devoured by two Bears, 23——25.

AND it came to paſs, when the LORD would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Eliſha from Gilgal.

2 And Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, a Tarry here, I pray thee: for the LORD hath ſent me to Bethel b: and Eliſha ſaid unto him, As the LORD liveth, and * as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Bethel.

* 1 Sam. 1. 26.

a This he deſires, Either, 1. That he being left alone, might better prepare himſelf for his great Change. Or, 2. Out of his Humility and Modeſty: he deſired no Witneſſes of his Glorious Removal, and no Fame and Glory from it. Or, 3. Out of Indulgence to Eliſha, that he might not be overwhelmed with Grief at ſo ſad a ſight. Or, 4. That he might trie his Love, and whet his Deſire to accompany him; it being highly convenient for God's Honour, and the Church's good, (which Elijah ſought above all things) that there ſhould be Witneſſes of ſo glorious a Tranſlation. b Which was truth, but not the whole truth: for he was to go a far longer Journey. But he was firſt to go to Bethel, as alſo to Jericho, to the Schools of the Prophets there, that he might comfort, and ſtrengthen their hearts in God's Work, and give them his laſt and dying Counſels.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Bethel came forth to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the LORD will take away thy maſter c from thy head d to day? And he ſaid, Yea, I know it; hold you your peace e.

c This was revealed to ſome of the Sons of the Prophets, and by them to the whole Colledge. d Heb. from above thy head: Which Phraſe may reſpect, either, 1. The manner of ſitting in Schools, where the Scholar ſat at his Maſters feet, Deut. 33. 3. Act. 22. 3. Or, 2. The manner of Elijah's Tranſlation, which was to be by a Power ſent from Heaven, to take him up thither. e Do not aggravate my grief, nor divert me with any unſeaſonable Diſcourſes; that I may digeſt my Sorrow, and prepare my ſelf for ſo great a Stroke, and diligently attend all my Maſter's ſteps, leſt he be ſnatched away from me whilſt I am talking with you; and that I may beg and obtain ſome great Bleſſing from him, before his departure.

4 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Eliſha, tarry here, I pray thee: for the LORD hath ſent me to Jericho: and he ſaid, As the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Jericho, came to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the LORD will take away thy Maſter from thy head to day? And he anſwered, Yea, I know it; hold you your peace.

6 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Tarry, I pray thee here: for the LORD hath ſent me to Jordan. And he ſaid, as the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.

7 And fifty men of the ſons of the prophets went and ſtood || to view f afar off: and they two ſtood by Jordan.

|| Heb. in ſight, or over againſt, &c.

f To obſerve this great Event, Elijah's Tranſlation to Heaven, which they expected every moment, now when he had taken his laſt farewell of all the Prophets: and whereof they deſired to be Spectators, not ſo much to ſatisfie their own Curioſity, as that they might be Witneſſes of it to others.

8 And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapt it together, and ſmote the waters, and * they were divided hither and thither, ſo that they two went over on dry ground.

* So Exod. 14. 21. Joſh. 3. 1

¶ 9 And it came to paſs when they were gone over, that Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, aſk what I ſhall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Eliſha ſaid, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy Spirit g be upon me.

g Either, 1. Double to what is in thee. Which it ſeems not probable, that he had confidence either to aſk, or to expect. Or, rather 2. Double to what the reſt of the Sons of the Prophets may receive at thy Requeſt upon this occaſion. He alludes to the double portion of the Firſt-born, Deut. 21. 17. But though Eliſha deſired no more, yet God gave him more than he deſired or expected; and he ſeems to have had a greater Portion of the Prophetical and miraculous gifts of God's Spirit, than Elijah had.

10 And he ſaid, || Thou haſt aſked a hard thing h: nevertheleſs, if thou ſeeſt me when I am taken from thee, it ſhall be ſo unto thee: but if not, it ſhall not be ſo i.

|| Heb. Thou ha done ha in aſking

h i. e. A rare and ſingular Bleſſing, which I cannot promiſe thee, which only God can give; and he gives it only when, and to whom he pleaſeth. i This Sign he propoſed, not without the inſtinct and direction of God's Spirit, that hereby he might engage him more earneſtly to wait, and more fervently to pray for this mercy.

11 And it came to paſs as they ſtill went on and talked, that behold there appeared a * chariot of fire, and horſes of fire k, and parted them both aſunder, and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven l.

* Chap. 17.

k A bright Cloud formed into ſuch a likeneſs, managed by Holy and Bleſſed Angels ſent from Heaven to conduct him thither. l Into the Third Heaven, being in the way ſo transformed and changed, as might make him meet to be admitted into thoſe bleſſed Manſions.

12 ¶ And Eliſha ſaw it, and cried, * My father, my father m, the chariot of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof n.

* Chap. 13, 14.

of n. And he ſaw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

m So he calls him for his Fatherly Affection to him, and for his fatherly Authority which by his Office he had over him, in which reſpect the Scholars of the Prophets are called their Sons, as 1 King. 20. 35. n Who by thy Example, and Counſels, and Prayers, and Power with God, didſt more for the Defence and Preſervation of Iſrael, than all their Chariots and Horſes, or other Warlike Proviſions. The Expreſſion alludes to the form of Chariots and Horſes which he had ſeen.

13 He took up alſo the mantle of Elijah, that fell from him o, and went back and ſtood by the † bank of Jordan. † Heb. lip.

o God ſo ordering it for Eliſha's comfort, and the ſtrengthning of his Faith, as a Pledge, that together with Elijah's Mantle, his Office and Spirit ſhould reſt upon him.

14 And he took the mantle of Elijah, that fell from him, and ſmote the waters, and ſaid, Where is the LORD God of Elijah p? and when he had ſmitten the waters, they parted q hither and thither: and Eliſha went over.

p Who at Elijah's Requeſt divided theſe Waters, and is as able to do it again; and hath given me his Spirit, and Office, and therefore I humbly beg, and confidently expect his Aſſiſtance in this matter. q But theſe Words after [Where is the God of Elijah?] are by many rendred otherwiſe, and that agreeably to the Hebrew, even himſelf? or, even the ſame? (which Words they join with the former, as an Emphatical Addition, or Repetition, which is uſual in fervent Prayers. But they may be rendred without an Interrogation, thus, Surely he is, to wit, here preſent, and ready to help me. Or, ſurely he is the ſame; to wit, to me, that he was to Elijah, as able and willing to work for me, as for Elijah. Then the following Words they render, as they are in the Hebrew) and he ſmote the water, and it was divided. By which Repetition it may ſeem, that he ſmote it twice, and that at the firſt ſmiting, the Succeſs did not anſwer his Deſire and Expectation. Which God ſo ordered, partly to keep him in a modeſt and humble ſenſe of his own Inſufficiency, that he might not be puffed up with the great Gifts which he had now received; Comp. 2 Cor. 12. 7. And partly, to ſtir him up to a more lively Exerciſe of Faith and Prayer, which followed God's Denial or Suſpenſion of his Help, as it is here expreſſed; which alſo was attended with deſired Succeſs.

15 And when the ſons of the prophets which were * to view at Jericho, ſaw him r, they ſaid s, The ſpirit of Elijah doth reſt on Eliſha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themſelves to the ground before him s. * Ver. 7.

r Or, as it is in the Hebrew, And the ſons of the Prophets who lived in Jericho, ſaw him over-againſt them, from ſome Hill where they ſtood at a convenient diſtance, to obſerve the Event, ver. 7. s Heb. and they ſaid, either by Revelation; or rather, by the viſible Effects of it which they ſaw. s Thereby teſtifying their Reverence and Subjection to him as Elijah's Succeſſor, and their Maſter and Teacher.

16 ¶ And they ſaid unto him, Behold now, there be with thy ſervants fifty † ſtrong men t, let them go, we pray thee, and ſeek thy maſter, leſt peradventure * the ſpirit of the LORD hath taken him up, and caſt him upon † ſome mountain, or into ſome valley u. And he ſaid, Ye ſhall not ſend.

† Heb. ſons of ſtrength.
* Ezek. 8. 3. Act. 8. 39.
† Heb. one of the mountains

t Able to take ſuch a Journey. u They thought, either, 1. That God had not finally taken him away from them, but only for a time; comp. 1 King. 18. 12. which they heartily deſired, and therefore eaſily believed; or that God had only taken away his Soul, and that his Body was caſt down into ſome place, which they deſired to ſeek, that they might give it an honourable Burial.

17 And when they urged him, till he was aſhamed x, he ſaid, Send. They ſent therefore fifty men, and they ſought three days, but found him not.

x i. e. To wit, to deny them any longer, leſt they ſhould think his denial proceeded from a neglect of his Maſter, or a contempt of the Sons of the Prophets, or a ſecret Content he took in his Maſters Loſs, that he might have his Honour and Power. Or, till they were aſhamed, becauſe he did ſo oft, and ſo obſtinately deny their Requeſt.

18 And when they came again to him (for he tarried at Jericho) he ſaid unto them, Did I not ſay unto you, Go not?

19 ¶ And the men of the city ſaid unto Eliſha, Behold, I pray thee, the ſituation of this city is pleaſant, as my lord ſeeth: but the water is naught, and the ground † barren y. † Heb. cauſing to miſcarry.

y Either it was ſo originally, at leaſt, as to that part of the City where the Colledge of the Prophets was; for it is not neceſſary to underſtand this of the whole Territory: or, it became ſo from the Curſe of God inflicted upon it, either when Joſhua firſt took it; or afterwards, when Hiel rebuilt it. Howſoever, upon the Prophets Care, it grew exceeding fruitful, and therefore is commended for its Fertility by later Writers.

20 And he ſaid, Bring me a new cruſe z, and put ſalt therein a. And they brought it to him.

z Partly, that there might be no ground of Suſpicion, that the Cure was wrought by any natural Vertue of any thing which was, or had been in the Cruſe before, but only by God's Power: and partly, that there might be no Legal Pollution in it which might offend God, and hinder his miraculous Operation by it. a A moſt improper Remedy; for Salt naturally makes Waters brackiſh, and Lands barren. Hereby therefore he would ſhew, That this was effected ſolely by the Divine Power, which could work either without means, or againſt them.

21 And he went forth unto the ſpring of the waters, and caſt the ſalt in there b, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, I have healed theſe waters: there ſhall not be from thence any more death c, or barren land.

b Which was in it ſelf idle and ineffectual, conſidering both the quality of Salt, and the ſmall quantity of it, and the place where it was put; the Fountain which quickly works out any thing which is put into it; See Levit. 11. 36. but was only uſed as a ſign of God's Preſence and Power, which did the thing; compare Exod. 15. 25. 2 King. 4. 41. and 6. 6. c i. e. Hurt, or Danger, as death is oft uſed, (as 2 Cor. 11. 23.) to Men or Beaſts, by drinking of it, as formerly.

22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the ſaying of Eliſha which he ſpake.

23 ¶ And he went up from thence unto Bethel d: and as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children e out of the city f, and mocked him g, and ſaid unto him, Go up h, thou bald-head i, go up thou bald-head k.

d To the other School or Colledge of Prophets, to inform them of Elijah's tranſlation, and his Succeſſion into the ſame Office; and to direct, and comfort, and ſtabliſh them, as he ſaw occaſion. e Or, children: or, young men: as this Hebrew word oft ſignifies, as Gen. 22. 5, 12. and 41. 12. 2 Chr. 13. 7. Iſa. 11. 6. It is more than probable they were old enough to diſcern between Good and Evil, as their Expreſſion ſheweth. f Bethel, which was the Mother-City of Idolatry, 1 King. 12. 28, 29. Hoſ. 4. 15. and 5. 8. where the Prophets planted themſelves, that they might bear witneſs againſt it, and diſſuade the People from it; though, it ſeems, they had but ſmall ſucceſs there. g With great petulancy and vehemency, as the Conjugation of the Hebrew Verb ſignifies; deriding both his Perſon and Miniſtry, and that from a prophane Contempt of the True Religion, and a paſſionate Love to that Idolatry which they knew he oppoſed. h Go up into Heaven, whither thou pretendeſt that Elijah is gone. Why didſt not thou accompany thy Friend and Maſter to Heaven? O that the ſame Spirit would take thee up alſo, that thou mighteſt not trouble us nor our Iſrael, as Elijah did! i So they mock his natural Infirmity, which is a great Sin. k The repetition ſhews their Heartineſs and Earneſtneſs, that it was no ſudden nor raſh ſlip of their Tongue, but a Scoff proceeding from a rooted Impiety and Hatred of God and his Prophets.

24 And he turned back, and looked on them, and curſed them l in the Name of the LORD m: and there came forth two ſhe-bears n out of the wood, and tare forty and two childran o of them.

l Nor was this Puniſhment too great for the Offence, if it be conſidered, that theſe Children were grown up to ſome maturity; (See on v. 23.) that their mocking proceeded from a great malignity of mind againſt God; that they mocked not only a man, and an ancient man, whoſe very Age commanded reverence; and a Prophet; but even God himſelf, and that moſt admirable and glorious Work of God, the aſſumption of Elijah into Heaven, which makes it in ſome degree reſemble the Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt; that they might be guilty of many other hainous Crimes, which God and the Prophet knew; and were guilty of Idolatry, which by God's Law deſerved Death; that the Idolatrous Parents were puniſhed in their Children; and that, if any of theſe Children were more innocent and ignorant of what they ſaid, God might have mercy upon their Souls, and then this Death was not a Miſery, but a real Bleſſing to them, that they were taken away from that wicked and idolatrous Education which was moſt likely to expoſe them not only to Temporal, but to an Eternal Deſtruction. m Not from any carnal or revengeful Paſſion, but by the motion of God's Spirit, and by God's Command and Commiſſion, as appears by God's concurrence with him. Which God did, partly, for the terror and caution of all other Idolaters and prophane Perſons who abounded in that place; partly, to vindicate the Honour, and maintain the Authority of his Prophets; and particularly, of Eliſha, now eſpecially in the beginning of his Sacred Miniſtry. And this did beget ſuch a Confidence in Eliſha, that he durſt venture to go into Bethel after this was done; and ſuch a terror in the Bethelites, that they durſt not avenge themſelves of him. n Poſſibly robbed of their Whelps, and therefore more fierce, Prov. 17. 12. Hoſ. 13. 8. but certainly acted by an extraordinary Fury, which God raiſed in them for this purpoſe. o This Hebrew word ſignifies not only young Children, but thoſe alſo who are grown up to maturity, as Gen. 32. 22. and 34. 4. and 37. 30. Ruth 1. 5.

25 And he went from thence to mount carmel p, and from thence he returned to Samaria q.

p Partly, to decline the Fury of the People of Bethel: partly, that he might retire himſelf from Men, and converſe more freely with God, and ſo fit himſelf more for the diſcharge of his Employment: and partly, that he might viſit the Sons of the Prophets who lived in that place, or near it. q By the direction of God's Spirit for the Service which he did, chap. 3. 11. &c.

CHAP. III.

Jehoram followeth the Sin of Jeroboam: He with Jehoſhaphat and the King of Edom goeth to Battel againſt Moab, 1——8. They in Diſtreſs for Water obtain it by Eliſha, and a Promiſe of Victory, 9——20. The Moabites deceived by the Colour of the Water, coming as to Spoil, are overcome, 21——25 The King of Moab, by ſacrificing his Eldeſt Son raiſeth the Siege, 26, 27.

NOw Jehoram the ſon of Ahab began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, the eighteenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah a, and reigned twelve years.

a Queſt. How can this be true, when Ahaziah, Jehoram's Predeceſſor, who Reigned two Years, began his Reign in Jehoſhaphat's 17th Year, 1 King. 22. 51? Anſw. Either, Ahaziah Reigned the greateſt part of two Years, to wit, of the 17th and 18th Years of Jehoſhaphat, (parts of Years being oft called Years in the computation of Times, both in Scripture and other Authors) and Jehoram began his Reign towards the end of his 18th Year: or, Ahaziah Reigned part of this two Years with his Father, and the reſt after him.

2 And he wrought evil in the ſight of the LORD, but not like his father, and like his mother: for he put away the † image of Baal, * that his father had made b.

† Heb. ſtatue.
* 1 King. 16. 31, 32.

b Not from any Principle of Conſcience (for that would have reached the Calves alſo:) but either, becauſe he was ſtartled at the dreadful Judgments of God inflicted upon his Father and Brother for Baal-worſhip: or, becauſe he needed God's help to ſubdue the Moabites, which he knew Baal could not do: or, to gratifie Jehoſhaphat, whoſe help he meant to crave, which he knew he ſhould never obtain without this; and for this reaſon, it ſeems, Jezabel was willing to connive at it, as a trick of State.

3 Nevertheleſs, he cleaved unto the ſins of Jeroboam c the ſon of Nebat, which made Iſrael to ſin: he departed not therefrom.

c i. e. The Worſhip of the Calves: which all the Kings of Iſrael kept up as a Wall of Partition between their Subjects and thoſe of Judah. Thus he ſhews that his Religion was over-ruled by his Intereſt and Policy.

4 ¶ And Meſha king of Moab was a ſheep-maſter d, and rendred unto the king of Iſrael an hundred thouſand lambs, and an hundred thouſand rams, with the wool.

d A Man of great Wealth (which in thoſe times and places conſiſted much in Cattel) which enabled and emboldned him to Rebel againſt his Sovereign Lord.

5 But it came to paſs, when Ahab was dead, that the king of Moab rebelled e againſt the king of Iſrael.

e See of this chap. 1. 1. It is here repeated to make way for the following Story. Ahaziah did not attempt the recovery of Moab; either, becauſe he was a Man of a low Spirit and Courage: or, becauſe his Sickneſs, or the ſhortneſs of his Reign, gave not opportunity for it.

6 ¶ And king Jehoram went out of Samaria f the ſame time, and numbred all Iſrael g.

f To ſome place appointed for the Rendezvous of his People. g To wit, ſuch as were fit for War.

7 And he went and ſent to Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah, ſaying, The king of Moab hath rebelled againſt me: wilt thou go with me againſt Moab to battel? and he ſaid, I will go up: I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horſes as thy horſes h.

h Of which ſee on 1 King. 22. 4. He joins with him in this War; partly, becauſe the War was very juſt in it ſelf, and convenient for Jehoſhaphat, both in the general, that Rebels and Revolters ſhould be chaſtiſed and ſuppreſſed, leſt the Example ſhould paſs into his Dominions, and the Edomites ſhould be hereby encouraged to revolt from him, as they did from his Son; and in particular, that the Moabites ſhould be humbled, who had with others Invaded his Land before this time, 2 Chron. 20. 1. and might do ſo again if they were not brought low; for which a fair opportunity was now offered to him; and partly, becauſe Jehoram had reformed ſome things, and Jehoſhaphat hoped by this means to engage him to proceed further in that work.

8 And he i ſaid, Which way ſhall we go up? And he anſwered, The way through the wilderneſs of Edom k.

i Either, Jehoſhaphat: or rather, Joram: for the following anſwer may ſeem to be Jehoſhaphat's. k Which though it was much the longer way, yet they thought it beſt; partly, to ſecure the King or Vice-Roy of Edom, of whom they might have ſome Suſpicion, from that Paſſage 2 Chron. 20. 22. and to carry both him and his Soldiers along with them into the War, both to get their Aſſiſtance, and to prevent them from making a War of Diverſion againſt Judah, whilſt Jehoſhaphat was engaged againſt Moab; and partly, that they might invade Moab on their weakeſt ſide, and where they leaſt expected them. God alſo thus diſpoſed their Hearts to make way for the following Miracle.

9 So the king of Iſrael went, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom l: and they fetcht a compaſs of ſeven days journey m: and there was no water n for the hoſt, and for the cattel † that followed them. † Heb. at their feet.

l i. e. The Vice-Roy under Jehoſhaphat, 1 King. 22. 47. here called king; either, becauſe he was ſo called and accounted by his own People: or, becauſe that word is ſometimes uſed for any Prince or chief Ruler. See Deut. 33. 5. Judg. 18. 1. and 21. 25. 1 King. 20. 1. m Becauſe they made a great Army, which could move but ſlowly; and they fetched a greater Compaſs than was uſual, for ſome advantage which they expected by it. n A frequent want in thoſe hot and deſart parts; and now, as it ſeems, increaſed by the extraordinary Heat and Drineſs of the Seaſon.

10 And the king of Iſrael ſaid, Alas, that the LORD hath called theſe three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab o.

o So he chargeth his Calamity upon God; and not upon himſelf, whoſe Sins were the true and proper Cauſes of it.

11 But Jehoſhaphat ſaid, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD, that we may enquire of the LORD by him p? And one of the king of Iſraels ſervants anſwered and ſaid, Here is Eliſha the ſon of Shaphat, which poured water on the hands of Elijah q.

p This he ſhould have asked before, when they firſt undertook the expedition, as he did in a like caſe, 1 King. 22. 5. and for that neglect he now ſuffers: but better late than never: His Affliction brings him to the remembrance of his former Sin, and preſent Duty. q i. e. Who was his Servant: this being one office of a Servant: and this Office was the more neceſſary among the Iſraelites, becauſe of the frequent Waſhings which their Law required.

12 And Jehoſhaphat ſaid, The word of the LORD is with him r. So the king of Iſrael, and Jehoſhaphat, and the king of Edom went down to him ſ.

r We may enquire the Mind of God by him: for he is a true Prophet. Which Jehoſhaphat might eaſily underſtand, becauſe being a good Man, and a great Favourer of the Lords Prophets, he would diligently enquire, and many Perſons would be ready to inform him of all things of that nature, and, amongſt others, of Elijah's calling of Eliſha by caſting his Prophetical Mantle over him, 1 King. 19. 19. and of Elijah's Tranſlation, and Eliſha's Subſtitution in his place, and of the proof of it, 2 King. 2. 8, 14. ſ To his Tent; which was either in the Camp, or not far from it: for he went along with the Army by the Impulſe of God's Spirit, for this very occaſion. They did not ſend for him, but went to him, that by giving him this Honour, they might more effectually ingage him to give them his utmoſt Aſſiſtance; and, becauſe they had heard that he was a man of a rugged temper and carriage, who therefore was to be ſweetned, and ſo diſpoſed to pity and relieve them.

13 And Eliſha ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, What have I to do with thee t? * Get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother u. And the king of Iſrael ſaid unto him, Nay x: for the LORD hath called theſe three kings y together to deliver them into the hand of Moab. * So Judg. 10. 14. Ruth. 1. 15.

t I deſire to have no Diſcourſe nor Converſe with thee. u i. e. To the Calves, which thou after thy Father's Example doſt worſhip; and to the Baals which thy Mother yet worſhippeth by thy Permiſſion; and to which thy Heart is yet inclined, though thou haſt deſtroyed one of his Images for politick Reaſons. Let theſe Idols whom thou worſhippeſt in thy Proſperity, now help thee in thy Diſtreſs. x I renounce thoſe falſe Prophets and Baals, and will ſeek to none but God for help. y If thou haſt no reſpect for me, yet pity this innocent King of Edom, and good Jehoſhaphat, who are involved in the ſame Danger with my ſelf.

14 And Eliſha ſaid, As the LORD of hoſts liveth, before whom I ſtand, Surely were it not that I regard the preſence of Jehoſhaphat the king of Judah z, I would not look toward thee, nor ſee thee.

z Whom I Reverence and Love for his Vertue and Piety.

15 But now bring me a minſtrel a. And it came to paſs when the minſtrel played, that the hand of the LORD b † came upon him. † Heb. was.

a One that can ſing and play upon a Muſical Inſtrument. This he requires, that his Mind which had been diſturbed and inflamed with Holy Anger at the ſight of wicked Jehoram, might be compoſed, and cheered, and united within it ſelf, and that he might be excited to the more fervent prayer to God, and joyfully praiſing him; whereby he was prepared to receive the Prophetical Inſpiration. For although Prophecy be the Gift of God, yet men might do ſomething either to hinder or further the reception of it: for which Cauſe Paul bids Chriſtians ſtudy to get the Gift of Prophecy, 1 Cor. 14. 1. And for this very end the Colledges of the Prophets were erected, wherein the Sons of the Prophets did uſe divers means to procure this Gift, which alſo they did ſometimes receive, as we ſee 2 King. 2. 3, 5. and, amongſt other means, they uſed Inſtruments of Muſick to exhilerate their Spirits, &c. 1 Sam. 10. 5. Of the great power of Muſick upon the Affections, ſee the Notes on 1 Sam. 16. 16. b i. e. The Spirit of Prophecy, ſo called, to note that it was not from Eliſha's temper of Body or Mind; that it was no natural nor acquired vertue inherent in him; but a ſingular Gift of God, given to whom and when he pleaſed. This Phraſe is uſed alſo Ezek. 1. 8. and 3. 14, 22. and 8. 1.

16 And he ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, Make this valley † full of ditches c. † Heb. ditches, ditches.

c Which may receive the Water, and hold it for the uſe of Men and Beaſts.

17 For thus ſaith the LORD, Ye ſhall not ſee wind d, neither ſhall ye ſee rain, yet that valley ſhall be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye, and your cattel, and your beaſts.

d Any of thoſe Winds which commonly produce Rain. And ſeeing is here put for perceiving or feeling, one ſenſe for another, or for all, as Gen. 42. 1. compare Act. 7. 12. Exod. 20. 18. and elſewhere.

18 And this is but a light thing in the ſight of the LORD e, he will deliver the Moabites alſo into your hand.

e This is but a ſmall Favour in compariſon of what he intends to you for Jehoſhaphat's ſake. He will give you more than you ask or expect. For they were ſo weakned and diſcouraged with the great Drought, that they had no hopes of proceeding in the offenſive War, and thought it ſufficient, if it were poſſible, to defend themſelves from the Moabites, ver. 13.

19 And ye ſhall ſmite every fenced city, and every choice city, and ſhall fell every good tree f, and ſtop all wells of water, and † mar every good piece of land with ſtones. † Heb. grieve, make uſeleſs.

f This is, Either, Firſt, A Command; and then the laſt Clauſe is an Exception from that Law, Deut. 20. 19. which being delivered by a Prophet, might be obeyed. And if this Command ſeem ſevere, it muſt be conſidered, that the Moabites were a very wicked People, perfidious, cruel, implacable Enemies to God's People upon all occaſions, and now in a ſtate of Rebellion. Or rather, Secondly, A Prediction of their Succeſs, that they ſhould have ſo full and compleat a Victory, that they ſhould be able to do all which is here expreſſed.

20 And it came to paſs in the morning, when the meat-offering was offered g, that behold, there came water h by the way of Edom i, and the countrey was filled with water.

g i. e. The Morning-Sacrifice: of which Exod. 29. 39, 40. which doubtleſs was attended with the ſolemn Prayers of God's People, as the Evening Sacrifice unqueſtionably was, Acts 3. 1. there being the ſame reaſon for ſubſtance for both times. At this time Eliſha joined his Prayers with the Prayers of God's People, eſpecially thoſe at Jeruſalem, as Elijah had done at a like time, 1 King. 18. 29. and this time God choſe to anſwer his and their Prayers, and to work this Miracle, that thereby he might determine the Controverſie between the Iſraelites and the Jews, about the place and manner of Worſhip, and give a publick Teſtimony from Heaven for the Jews, and againſt the Iſraelites. h Miraculouſly produced out of ſome Rock or Vein of the Earth. i From thoſe parts which were towards Edom.

21 ¶ And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight againſt them, they † gathered all that were able to † put on armour k, and upward, and ſtood in the border l.

† Heb. were cried together. † Heb. gird himſelf with a girdle.

k Heb. to gird on a girdle, i. e. a Military Girdle, to which the Sword was faſtened, 2 Sam. 20. 8. 1 King. 2. 5. l Or, in that border, to wit, of their Country, which was towards Edom, which way they underſtood the Kings came. Here they ſtood probably to defend the Paſſages into their Countrey.

22 And they roſe up early in the morning, and the ſun ſhone upon the water, and the Moabites ſaw the water on the other ſide as red as blood m.

m Becauſe of the Morning-Sun, which meeting with the Vapours that aroſe from the Earth, and ſhining through them upon the Water, gave it a reddiſh Tincture. God alſo ſo ordered things, that their Senſes and Fancies were diſturbed, or the Air ſo diſpoſed, that it might ſeem of this Colour. And they might more eaſily miſtake this for Blood, becauſe they knew that that ground was generally dry, and without any Trenches or Streams of Water, now eſpecially in this dry Seaſon, there being no noiſe of Wind and Rain, v. 17. And they might juſtly think that the three Kings being divided in their Religion and Intereſts, and diſcontented for want of Water, might fall into Diſſentions, and Heats, and mutual Slaughters, of which they had a late Example, 2 Chron. 20. 22, 23.

23 And they ſaid, This is blood: the kings are ſurely † ſlain, and they have ſmitten one another: now therefere Moab to the ſpoil n.

† Heb. deſtroyed.

n They were ſo highly confident, that they ſend no Scouts, but march thither with their whole Army, and that in great Diſorder. Wherein there was alſo a Divine Hand, ſtrengthening them in their Miſtakes, and hardening them to their Deſtruction.

24 And when they came to the camp of Iſrael, the Iſraelites roſe up and ſmote the Moabites, ſo that they fled before them: but ‖ they went forward ſmiting the Moabites, even in their countrey o.

‖ Or, they ſmote in it, even ſmiting.

o They purſued them to their own Countrey, and entred it, with and after them; the paſſes, which before the Moabites defended, being now open for them.

25 And they beat down the cities, and on every good piece of land caſt every man his ſtone p, and filled it, and they ſtopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good Trees: † only in Kirharaſeth q left they the ſtones thereof r: howbeit the ſlingers ſ went about it, and ſmote it t.

p The Stones which happily had been with great care and pains pickt out of the Land, and laid in heaps after the manner, they diſperſed again, and ſlew the people, who ſhould have cleanſed them again. q Which was the Royal and ſtrongeſt City of the Moabites, Iſa. 16. 7, 11. into which the remnant of the Moabites were gathered, where alſo their King was with them. r The Walls and Buildings of this City onely were left; other Cities, and, in a manner, their whole Countrey being utterly deſtroyed. ſ Either, Firſt, Such as ſlung ſmall Stones againſt thoſe that ſtood upon the Wall to defend it. Or rather, Secondly, Such as ſlung great Stones againſt the Walls to break them down, according to the manner of thoſe times. t i. e. Made Breaches in the Walls, by which they might enter into the City, and take it.

26 ¶ And when the king of Moab ſaw that the battel was too ſore for him, he took with him ſeven hundred men that drew ſwords, to break through even unto the king of Edom u: but they could not.

u That being unable to defend the City longer, he might make an eſcape: which he choſe to do on the King of Edom's quarter; becauſe he thought either that his was the weakeſt ſide: or, that he would more willingly ſuffer him to eſcape, becauſe he was not ſo hearty in the War as the reſt, but onely forced to it, and he might hereafter have ſome occaſion of the King of Moab to joyn with him, as before he had, 2 Chron. 20. 22.

27 Then he took his eldeſt Son x that ſhould have reigned in his ſtead, and * offered him for a burnt-offering upon the wall y, and there was † great indignation againſt Iſrael z, and they departed from him, and returned to their own land.

* Amos. 2. 1. † Heb. great repentance upon Iſrael.

x Either, Firſt, the King of Edom's Son; whom in this eruption he took, and then Sacrificed. Compare Amos 2. 1. But, Firſt, That place ſpeaks of the king, not of the king's ſon; and of the burning of his bones, not of the offering of a living man for a Burnt-Offering. Secondly, this would not have made the beſiegers to raiſe their ſiege, but to have followed it more warmly to revenge ſo barbarous an Action. Thirdly, The following clauſe, that ſhould have reigned in his ſtead, agrees not ſo well to the Edomites, whoſe King was only Jehoſhaphat's Vice-Roy, and therefore his Son had no right to ſucceed him; as it doth to the Moabites, whoſe King was revolted from Iſrael, and intended to keep that Kingdom to himſelf and Children. Or rather, Secondly, his own Son: whom he Sacrificed; partly, to obtain the favour of his God, according to the manner of the Phœnicians and other people in grievous and publick Calamities; whereof we have manifeſt Teſtimonies, both in Scripture, as Pſ. 106. 37. Ezek. 20. 31. and in Heathen Authors, as Porphyrius, Plutarch, and others: and partly, to oblige the Iſraelites to quit the ſiege out of compaſſion; or, as deſpairing to Conquer (at leaſt without greater loſs of men than it was worth) him who was reſolved to defend himſelf and City to the utmoſt extremity. y That the beſiegers might ſee it, and be moved by it. z Or, great trouble or repentance upon Iſrael, i. e. the Iſraelitiſh King and people (who was the firſt cauſe of the War, and had brought the reſt into confederacy with him) were greatly afflicted and grieved for this barbarous action, and reſolved to proſecute the War no further, and ſo withdrew their Forces, as alſo did their Allies, and returned to their ſeveral Homes. Which they were the more willing to do, becauſe the Kingdom and Countrey of Moab were ſo ruinated both as to their Men, and Cities, or Villages, and Lands, that they were all ſecure of any great annoyance from it.

CHAP. IV.

Eliſha multiplieth the Widows Oyl, 1——7. He is lodged by a Shunamite Women, who is barren: He promiſeth her a Son: Which is born, 8——17. Dieth, and is raiſed by Eliſha, 18——37. At Gilgal he healeth the deadly Pottage, 38——41. And feedeth 100 Men with 20 Loaves and ears of Corn, 42——44.

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the ſons of the prophets a unto Eliſha, ſaying, Thy ſervant my husband is dead, and thou knoweſt that thy ſervant did fear the LORD b: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two ſons to be bond-men c.

a Who, though they were wholly devoted to Sacred employment, were not excluded from Marriage, no more than the Prieſts and Levites. b His poverty therefore was not procured by his idleneſs, or prodigality, or rather, wickedneſs; but by his Piety, becauſe he would not comply with the King's way of worſhip, and therefore loſt all worldly advantages. c Either, to uſe them as his ſlaves, or to ſell them to others, according to the Law. Of which ſee Exod. 21. 2. Levit. 25. 39. Iſa. 50. 1. Matth. 18. 25.

2 And Eliſha ſaid unto her, What ſhall I do for thee d? Tell me, what haſt thou in the Houſe e? And ſhe ſaid, Thine hand-maid hath not any thing in the Houſe, ſave a pot of oil f.

d How ſhall I relieve thee, who am my ſelf poor? e Which may contribute to the Payment of thy Debts, or, at leaſt, to the ſatisfaction of thy Creditors, who may perchance deal favourably with thee through my perſuaſion. f Which was uſeful for divers things about the Service of God, and health, or delight, or ornament, and other uſes of men. See Judg. 9. 9.

3 Then he ſaid, Go, borrow thee veſſels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty veſſels, ‖ borrow not a few.

‖ Or, ſcant not.

4 And when thou art come in, thou ſhalt ſhut the door upon thee g, and upon thy Sons, and ſhalt pour out h into all thoſe Veſſels, and thou ſhalt ſet aſide that which is full.

g Partly, that none may hinder thee from minding thy work of filling and removing the Veſſels, which will require attention and diligence: partly, that thou alone mayeſt enjoy the benefit of it: partly, leſt any of thy Creditors ſhould break in upon thee, and ſeize upon thy borrowed Veſſels before they are filled: partly, that thy mind being freed from diſtraction, may be wholly employed in Prayer and Praiſing of God: and partly, that it may be manifeſt that this is the work of God alone. h Out of the Pot, in which God multiplied the Oil from time to time.

5 So ſhe went from him, and ſhut the door upon her, and upon her ſons: who brought the veſſels to her, and ſhe poured out.

6 And it came to paſs when the veſſels were full, that ſhe ſaid unto her ſon i, Bring me yet a veſſel. And he ſaid unto her, There is not a veſſel more. And the oil ſtayed k.

i To one of them: for ſhe had two, v. 1. k To teach us, that we ſhould not waſte any of God's Good Creatures; and that God would not work Miracles unneceſſarily.

7 Then ſhe came and told the man of God: and he ſaid, Go, ſell the oil, and pay thy ‖ debt, and live thou and thy children of the reſt l.

‖ Or, creditor.

l Firſt do Juſtice to others, and then take care of thy ſelf and Children.

8 ¶ And † it fell on a day, that Eliſha paſſed to Shunem m, where was a great woman n; and ſhe † conſtrained him o to eat bread p. And ſo it was, that as oft as he paſſed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

† Heb. there was a day. † Heb. laid hold on him.

m A City in Iſſachar, near Mount Carmel, Joſ. 19. 17, 18. whither the Prophet frequently went. n For Eſtate, or Birth and Quality. See Gen. 24. 35. 1 Sam. 25. 2. o By her importunate deſire. p To take his repaſt there.

9 And ſhe ſaid unto her husband, Behold, now I perceive, that this is an holy man of God q, which paſſeth by us continually.

q A Prophet, as Judg. 13. 6. and that of eminent Holineſs: by our kindneſs to whom, we ſhall procure a bleſſing to our ſelves.

10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall r, and let us ſet for him there a bed, and a table, and a ſtool, and a candleſtick ſ: and it ſhall be, when he cometh to us, that he ſhall turn in thither.

r That he may be free from the noiſe of Family-buſineſs, and enjoy that privacy, which, I perceive, he deſireth for his Prayers and Meditations. ſ He will not be troubleſome or chargeable to us: he cares not for rich Furniture or coſtly entertainment, and is content with bare neceſſaries.

11 And it fell on a day that he came thither, and he turned into the chamber, and lay there.

12 And he ſaid to Gehazi his ſervant, Call this Shunamite. And when he had called her, ſhe ſtood before him s.

s i. e. Before the Prophet, in the door of his Chamber, as it is ſaid, ver. 15. The relation ſeems to be a little perplexed, but may be thus conceived. It is in this Verſe recorded in the general, That the Prophet ſent Gehazi to call her, and that ſhe came to him upon that call: then follows a particular deſcription of the whole buſineſs, with all the Circumſtances, firſt, of the meſſage with which Gehazi was ſent when he went to call her, and of her anſwer to that meſſage, ver. 13. and of Gehazi's conjecture thereupon, ver. 14. and then of her coming to the Prophet at his call: which is there repeated to make way for the following Paſſages.

|| Or, had ſaid.

13 And he ſaid || unto him, Say now unto her, Behold, thou haſt been careful for us, with all this care, What is to be done for thee[t]? Wouldeſt thou be ſpoken for to the king, or to the captain of the hoſt[u]? And ſhe anſwered, I dwell among mine own people[x].

[t] Wherewith ſhall I recompence all thy care and kindneſs to me and my ſervant? [u] With whom he juſtly had great power for his eminent ſervice, chap. 3. [x] I live in Love and Peace among my Kindred and Friends; nor have I any cauſe to complain of them, or to ſeek relief from higher Powers.

14 And he ſaid, What then is to be done for her[∴]? And Gehazi anſwered, Verily ſhe hath no Child, and her Husband is old.

[∴] Haſt thou obſerved any thing which ſhe wants or deſires? For the Prophet kept himſelf much in his Chamber, whilſt Gehazi went more freely about the Houſe, as his occaſions led him.

15 And he ſaid, Call her. And when he had called her, ſhe ſtood in the door[y].

[y] Out of reverence, humility, and modeſty, waiting till he came to her, or called her further in to him.

† Heb. ſet time.

16 And he ſaid, About this † ſeaſon, according to the time of life[z], thou ſhalt embrace a ſon. And ſhe ſaid, Nay, my lord, thou man of God, do not lye unto thine hand-maid[a].

[z] Of which Phraſe ſee on Gen. 18. 10. [a] Do not delude me with vain hopes. She could not believe it for Joy, and ſuppoſed the Prophet might ſay thus either for her tryal, or from his own private judgment and affection, and not by warrant from God.

17 And the woman conceived and bare a ſon, at that ſeaſon that Eliſha had ſaid unto her, according to the time of life.

18 ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 And he ſaid to his father, My head, my head[b]: and he ſaid to a lad, carry him to his mother.

[b] His Head was grievouſly pained: which poſſibly came from the heat of the Harveſt-ſeaſon, to which he was expoſed in the field.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he ſat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And ſhe went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and ſhut the door upon him[c], and went out.

[c] Partly, in hopes that this might contribute ſomething to the Child's reſtitution to Life, ſhe having in all probability had an account of the like Miracle done by Elijah, 1 King. 17. 21. and partly, that ſhe might for the preſent conceal the death of the Child: which if it had been known, would have filled her Husband with grief, and hindred her journey, and opened the mouths of the Enemies of God and his Prophets to blaſpheme: whereas ſhe had a confidence put into her by God, that the Prophet could and would reſtore her Son.

22 And ſhe called unto her husband, and ſaid, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the aſſes, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon nor ſabbath[d]. And ſhe ſaid, It ſhall be || well[e].

|| Heb. peace.

[d] Which were the chief and uſual times in which they reſorted to the Prophets for inſtruction, for which he ſuppoſed ſhe now went, not ſuſpecting but that the Child was well by this time. [e] My going will not be troubleſom to him, nor prejudicial to thee or me. Heb. peace, i. e. peace be to thee, farewel, or be contented, let me go.

24 Then ſhe ſadled an Aſs, and ſaid to her ſervant, Drive, and go forward: || ſlack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee.

|| Heb. reſtrain not for me to ride.

25 So ſhe went, and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel: and it came to paſs when the man of God ſaw her afar off, that he ſaid to Gehazi his ſervant, Behold, yonder is that Shunamite:

26 Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and ſay unto her, Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with the child? And ſhe anſwered, It is well[f].

[f] So it was in ſome reſpects, becauſe it was the Will of a Wiſe and Good God, and therefore beſt for her. Or, it ſhall be well: though the Child be dead, I doubt not by God's Bleſſing upon thy Endeavours it ſhall live again and do well. But ſhe anſwers ambiguouſly, and briefly too, that ſhe might ſooner come to the Prophet, and more fully open her mind to him.

|| Heb. by his feet.

|| Heb. bitter.

27 And when ſhe came to the man of God to the hill, ſhe caught || him by the feet[g]: but Gehazi came near to thruſt her away[h]. And the man of God ſaid, Let her alone, for her ſoul is || vexed within her[i]: and the LORD hath hid it from me, and hath not told me[k].

[g] She fell at his Feet and touched them, as a moſt humble and earneſt ſuppliant. Compare 1 Sam. 25. 24. Matth. 28. 9. Withal, ſhe intimated, what ſhe durſt not preſume to expreſs in words, that ſhe deſired him to go along with her. [h] Judging this poſture indecent for her, and offenſive to his Maſter. [i] Diſturb her not, for this uncouth geſture is a ſign of ſome extraordinary grief. [k] Whereby he ſignifies, that what he knew or did, was not by any Vertue inherent and abiding in himſelf, but only from God, who revealed to him only what and when he pleaſed. Compare 2 Sam. 7. 3.

28 Then ſhe ſaid, did I deſire a ſon of my lord[l]? Did not I ſay, do not deceive me[m]?

[l] This Child was not given to me upon my immoderate deſire, for which I might have juſtly been thus chaſtiſed, as Rachel was, Gen. 30. 1. compare with 35. 18. but was freely promiſed to me by thee in God's Name, and from his ſpecial Grace and Favour: and therefore I truſt both thou didſt pray for it, and God deſign it as a Bleſſing, and not as an Affliction, as now it proves, unleſs thou doſt obtain the Child for me a ſecond time, which I know thou canſt do, and I humbly beg thee to do. [m] With vain hopes of a Comfort that I ſhould never have. And I had been much happier if I had never had it, than to loſe it ſo quickly. Therefore thou art in ſome meaſure concerned to revive my dead hopes, and to continue to me the great Bleſſing which thou haſt procured.

29 Then he ſaid to Gehazi, gird up thy loins[n], and take my ſtaff in thy hand, and go thy way: if thou meet any man, ſalute him no: and if any ſalute thee, anſwer him not again[o]: and lay my ſtaff upon the face of the Child[p].

[n] Tie up thy long Garments about thy Loins for expedition. See 1 King. 18. 46. [o] An Hyperbolical expreſſion: Make no delays nor ſtops by the way, neither by words nor actions, but go with all poſſible ſpeed. Compare Luk. 10. 4. He requires this haſte, that the Miracle might be done ſecretly and ſpeedily before the Child's death was divulged, which might cauſe many inconveniences. See on ver. 21. [p] For God can work a Miracle by the moſt unlikely and contemptible means, as he did by a Rod, Exod. 14. 16. and a Mantle, 2 King. 2. 8.

30 And the mother of the child ſaid, As the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee[q]. And he aroſe and followed her.

[q] Until thou goeſt home with me. For ſhe had no great confidence in Gehazi, nor was her Faith ſo ſtrong as to think that the Prophet could work ſo great a Miracle at this diſtance, and by his Staff: which poſſibly was one reaſon why this did no good. Compare Matth. 9. 18. and 13. 58. and 17. 20.

31 And Gehazi paſſed on before them, and laid the ſtaff upon the face of the child, but there was neither voice, nor || hearing[r]: wherefore he went again to meet him, and told him, ſaying, The child is not awaked[ſ].

|| Heb. attention.

[r] i. e. Neither ſpeech, nor Senſe, nor any ſign of Life, to wit, in the Child. Which diſappointment might proceed from hence, that Eliſha having changed his mind, and yielded to her importunity to go with her, did alter his courſe, and not joyn his fervent Prayers with Gehazi's action, but reſerved them till he came thither. [ſ] i. e. Not revived: death being oft and fitly campared to a ſleep, as Pſal. 76. 5. Dan. 12. 2. becauſe of the Reſurrection which will in due time follow it, and here followed ſpeedily, which makes the expreſſion moſt proper in this place.

32 And when Eliſha was come into the houſe, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and ſhut the door upon them twain[t], and prayed unto the LORD.

[t] Upon himſelf and the dead Child, that he might pray to God without diſtraction, and might more freely uſe all thoſe geſtures and means which he thought fit.

34 And he went up and lay upon the child[u], and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands[x], and he ſtretched himſelf upon the child, and the fleſh of the child waxed warm[y].

[u] And although ſome ceremonial uncleanneſs might ſeem to be contracted by the touch of this dead Body, yet that was juſtly to give place to a Moral Duty, and to an action of ſo great Piety and Charity as this was, eſpecially when done by a Prophet, and by the inſtinct of God's Spirit, who can diſpence with his own Laws. [x] One part upon another ſucceſſively; for the diſproportion of the Bodies would not permit it to be done together. Compare 1 King. 17. 21. Act. 20. 10. [y] Not by any external heat, which could not be tranſmitted to the Child's Body by ſuch ſlight touches of the Prophet's Body; but by a Natural heat, proceeding from a principle of Life, which was already infuſed into the Child, and by degrees enlivened all the parts of his Body.

35 Then he returned and walked in the houſe † to and fro[z], and went up and ſtretched himſelf upon him[a]: and the child neeſed ſeven times, and the child opened his eyes[b].

† Heb. once hither, and once thither.

[z] He changeth his poſtures for his own neceſſary refreſhment, and walked to and fro, exerciſing his mind in Prayer to God, and Faith, for the accompliſhment of this work. [a] Repeating his former actions, to teach us not to be diſcouraged in our Prayers, if we be not ſpeedily anſwered, but to wait with Patience, and continue, and be inſtant in Prayer, till we obtain what we ſeek for. [b] So the work begun in the former Verſe is here perfected. Although Miracles were for the moſt part done in an inſtant, yet ſometimes they were done by degrees, as here, and 1 King. 18. 44, 45. Mark 8. 24, 25.

36 And he called Gehazi, and ſaid, Call this Shunamite. So he called her, and when ſhe was come in unto him[c], he ſaid, Take up thy ſon.

[c] Heb. come to him, to wit, to the Door of his Chamber: Where probably he met her with this joyful Meſſage.

37 Then ſhe went in d, and fell at his feet, and bowed her ſelf to the ground, and took up her ſon, and went out.

d Into his Chamber, and, after ſhe had done him honour, to the Bed where the Child lay, whence ſhe took him, and went her way.

38 ¶ And Eliſha came again to Gilgal e, and there was a dearth in the land, and the ſons of the prophets were ſitting before him f: and he ſaid unto his ſervant, Set on the great pot, and ſeeth pottage g for the ſons of the prophets.

e When he came with Elijah, chap. 2. 1. where was a School of the Prophets, whom he deſigned to comfort concerning the preſent Dearth, and their other diſcouragements, and to confirm in the profeſſion and practice of Religion, and to inſtruct in the Duties of the preſent Seaſon. f At his feet, as Scholars to be taught by him. See chap. 2. 3. Act. 22. 3. g He provides no delicious Meats, but meer Neceſſaries, to teach them the contempt of worldly delights.

39 And one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine h, and gathered thereof wild gourds his lapful, and came and ſhred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew them not.

h A Plant called Coloquintida, whoſe Gourds or Leaves reſemble the Leaves of a Vine, and are very bitter, and pernicious to the eater.

40 So they poured out for the men to eat: and it came to paſs as they were eating of the pottage, that they cryed out, and ſaid, O thou man of God, there is death in the Pot i: and they could not eat thereof.

i i.e. Some deadly thing: which they gathered from its exceſſive bitterneſs, by which poſſibly ſome of them might diſcern what it was.

41 But he ſaid, then bring meal: and he caſt it into the Pot k: and he ſaid, Pour out for the people, that they may eat: and there was no † harm in the Pot l.

† Heb. evil thing.

k Together with the Pottage which they had taken out of it. l The Meal took away that hurtful quality, not by its natural Power, which could do little in ſo ſhort a time, but by the ſupernatural Bleſſing of God upon it.

42 ¶ And there came a man from Baal-ſhaliſha, and brought the man of God bread of the firſt fruits m, twenty loaves n of barley, and full ears of corn ‖ in the husk thereof, and he ſaid, give unto the people o, that they may eat.

‖ Or, in his ſcrip, or garment.

m Which were the Prieſts due, Numb. 18. 2. but theſe, and probably the reſt of the Prieſts dues, were uſually brought by the Pious Iſraelites, according to their ability and opportunity, to the Lord's Prophets; partly, becauſe they did a great part of the Prieſts office; and partly, becauſe they were not permitted to carry them to Jeruſalem; and they might reaſonably think that their circumſtances being extraordinary, would warrant their giving of them to extraordinary Perſons; and that thoſe ceremonial Inſtitutions ought to give place to the greater Laws of neceſſity and mercy to the Lord's Prophets. And this paſſage ſeems to be noted here, not only on occaſion of the following Miracle; but alſo that by this one inſtance we might underſtand how ſo many Schools of the Prophets were ſupported. n Small Loaves, as appears, both becauſe one Man brought them all ſo far; and becauſe, otherwiſe there had been no Miracle here. o To wit, the Sons of the Prophets, who were then preſent with him, ver. 38.

43 And his ſervitor ſaid, What ſhould I ſet this before an hundred men? He ſaid again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus ſaith the LORD, * They ſhall eat, and ſhall leave thereof.

*Joh. 6. 11

44 So he ſet it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the LORD.

CHAP. V.

Naaman by his Captive Maid's report goeth to Eliſha to be cured of his Leproſie, 1—9. Eliſha ſends to him a Command to waſh in Jordan: He is angry, and diſdaineth it: His Servant's Advice: He doth it, and is healed, 10—14. He returneth with Gifts to Eliſha, who refuſeth them: He departs, 15—19. Gehazi, Eliſha's Servant, abuſing his Maſter's Name unto Naaman: taketh Gifts from him: is ſmitten with Leproſie, 20—27.

NOw Naaman captain of the hoſt of the king of Syria, was a great man † with his maſter a, and ‖ † honourable b, becauſe by him the LORD had given ‖ deliverance unto Syria c: he was alſo a mighty man of valour, but he was a leper.

a In great Power and Favour with the King of Syria. b Highly eſteemed both for his quality and ſucceſs. c Which expreſſion he uſeth, partly, to mind the Iſraelites, that all the hurt they had from the Syrians was from the Lord, who uſed them as his Rod, and gave them the Succeſſes againſt Iſrael, which are recorded; and partly, to check that proud Conceit which then was working, and afterwards more fully diſcovered it ſelf in the Iſraelitiſh Nation, as if the Care, and Providence, and Goodneſs of God, were wholly confined to themſelves, and not imparted to any other People.

2 And the Syrians had gone out by companies d, and had brought away captive out of the land of Iſrael a little maid, and ſhe † waited on e Naamans wife.

3 And ſhe ſaid unto her miſtreſs, Would God my lord were † with the prophet that is in Samaria f; for he would † recover him of his leproſie g.

† Heb. before.
† Heb. gather in.

Or, Secondly, In the City of Samaria: where he was when ſhe was taken: or, where he commonly reſided, though he went to other places, as need required. g Or, take him away (as this Hebrew Verb is uſed, Gen. 30. 23. Zeph. 1. 2.) from his Leproſie, i. e. take away his Leproſie from him.

4 And one went in, and told his lord h, ſaying, Thus and thus ſaid the maid that is of the land of Iſrael.

h One of Naaman's Servants hearing this, went in and told it to Naaman, and he to the King of Syria, which is implied. Or, And he went in, &c. i. e. Naaman, mentioned, ver. 1. hearing this from his Wife, told it to the King of Syria, as the next Words intimate.

5 And the king of Syria i ſaid, Go to, go, and I will ſend a letter unto the king of Iſrael k. And he departed, and took † with him ten talents of ſilver, and ſix thouſand pieces of gold l, and ten changes of raiment.

† Heb. in his hand.

i Joram the Son of Ahab, chap. 3. 1. k Deſiring him to obtain this Favour from the Prophet. l Partly, for the Charges of his Journey; and partly, for Preſents to the Prophet, or others, as he ſaw fit.

6 And he brought the letter to the king of Iſrael, ſaying, Now when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have therewith ſent Naaman my ſervant to thee, that thou mayeſt recover him m of his leproſie.

m i. e. Procure his recovery by the means of Eliſha, v. 3, 4. whom thou maiſt command to uſe his utmoſt skill and power herein.

7 And it came to paſs, when the king of Iſrael had read the letter, that he rent his clothes n, and ſaid, Am * I God, to kill and to make alive o, that this man doth ſend unto me to recover a man of his leproſie? Wherefore conſider, I pray you, and ſee how he ſeeketh a quarrel againſt me p.

*Deut. 32. 39. and 1 Sam. 2. 6.

n Either, in deteſtation of his Blaſphemy, in giving God's Perfections to him: or rather, for Grief, ariſing from a ſuſpicion and fear that the Syrian made this only a pretence for the War which he deſigned againſt him. o He expreſſeth it thus, becauſe Leproſie is a kind or degree of Death, Numb. 12. 12. and he thought it as impoſſible to cure it, as to raiſe the Dead. p For not doing what he requires, which he knows impoſſible for me to do.

8 ¶ And it was ſo, when Eliſha the man of God q had heard, that the king of Iſrael had rent his clothes, that he ſent to the king, ſaying, Wherefore haſt thou rent thy clothes r? Let him come now to me, and he ſhall know that there is a prophet in Iſrael.

q Whom Joram had not adviſed with, either, becauſe the ſudden ſurprizal made him forget it: or, becauſe he hated him, and ſcorned to beg to any thing from him. r There was no juſt occaſion for thee to do ſo.

9 So Naaman came with his horſes, and with his chariot, and ſtood at the door of the houſe of Eliſha ſ.

ſ Waiting for Eliſha's coming to him.

10 And Eliſha ſent a meſſenger unto him t, ſaying, Go, and waſh in Jordan ſeven times, and thy fleſh ſhall come again u unto thee, and † thou ſhalt be clean.

† Heb. be clean.

t Which he did, partly, to try and exerciſe Naaman's Faith and Obedience: partly, for the Honour of his Religion and Miniſtry, that it might appear he ſought not his own Glory and Profit in his miraculous Performances, but only God's Honour, and the Good of Men: and partly, for the diſcovery of the Almighty Power of Cod, that could by ſuch ſlight means cure ſo deſperate a Diſeaſe. u Which was in great part conſumed by the Leproſie. See Numb. 12. 12.

11 But Naaman was wroth x, and went away, and ſaid, Behold, I † thought y, he will ſurely come out to me, and ſtand, and call on the Name of the LORD his God, and † ſtrike his hand over the place z, and recover the leper.

† Heb. ſaid, or, I ſaid with my ſelf, He will ſurely come out.
† Heb. move up and down.

x Suppoſing himſelf deſpiſed and mocked by the Prophet. y Herein he gives an Example of the perverſeneſs of Mankind, who are apt to prefer their own Fancies before God's Appointments. z Over or upon the affected part where the Leproſie is; without which it ſeemed to him ridiculous to expect a Cure.

12 Are not † Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damaſcus, better than all the waters of Iſrael? May I not waſh in them, and be clean a? So he turned and went away in a rage.

a Is there not as great a virtue in them to this purpoſe? But he ſhould have conſidered, that the Cure was not to be wrought by the Water, but by the Power of God, who might uſe what means and methods of Cure he pleaſed.

13 And his ſervants came near, and ſpake unto him, and ſaid, My father b, if the prophet had bid thee do ſome great thing, wouldeſt thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he ſaith to thee, Waſh and be clean?

b Or, our father. So they call him, both to ſhew their Reverence and Affection to him, and to mitigate his exaſperated Mind.

14 Then went he down, and dipped himſelf ſeven times in Jordan, according to the ſaying of the man of God: and his fleſh came again like unto the fleſh of a little child c, and * he was clean.

* Luk. 4. 27.

c i. e. Freſh and pure, free from the leaſt mixture or mark of the Diſeaſe.

15 ¶ And he returned to the man of God d, he and all his company, and came and ſtood before him: and he ſaid, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Iſrael e: now therefore, I pray thee, take a bleſſing f of thy ſervant.

d To give him thanks, and a recompence for his great kindneſs. e By this wonderful Work I am fully convinced, that the God of Iſrael is the only True God, and that other gods are but impotent Idols. f A thankful acknowledgment. See on Gen. 33. 11.

16 But he ſaid, As the LORD liveth before whom I ſtand, I will receive none: and he urged him to take it, but he refuſed g.

g Not that he thought it ſimply unlawful to receive Gifts or Preſents, which he did receive from others, chap. 4. 42. but becauſe of the ſpecial circumſtances of the preſent caſe; this being much for the Honour of the True God and Religion, that the Syrians ſhould ſee the generous Piety, and Charity, and Kindneſs of his Miniſters and Servants, and how much they deſpiſed all that worldly Wealth and Glory, which the Prieſts or Prophets of the Gentiles ſo greedily ſought after; and that hereby Naaman might be much confirmed in that good Religion which he had embraced, and others might be brought to a love and liking of it.

17 And Naaman ſaid, Shall there not then, I pray thee, be given to thy ſervant two mules burden of earth h? for thy ſervant will henceforth offer neither burnt-offering, nor ſacrifice unto other gods, but unto the LORD.

h Wherewith I may make an Altar of Earth, as was uſual, Exod. 20. 24. He deſires the Earth of this Land, becauſe he thought it more holy and acceptable to God, and proper for his Service; or, becauſe he would by this Token profeſs and declare his Conjunction with the Iſraelites in the Worſhip of God, and conſtantly put himſelf in mind of his great Obligations to that God from whoſe Land this was taken. And though he might freely have taken this Earth without asking any leave, yet he rather deſires it from the Prophet's Gift, as believing that he who had put ſo great a Vertue into the Waters of Iſrael, could put as much into the Earth of Iſrael, and make it as uſeful and beneficial to him in a better way. And theſe thoughts, though extravagant and groundleſs, yet were excuſable in an Heathen, and a Novice, who was not yet thoroughly inſtructed in the True Religion.

‖ Or, be favourable to. So Gr.

18 In this thing the LORD ‖ pardon thy ſervant, that when my maſter goeth into the houſe of Rimmon i to worſhip there, and he leaneth on my hand k, and I bow my ſelf in the houſe of Rimmon: when I bow down my ſelf in the houſe of Rimmon l, the LORD pardon thy ſervant in this thing m.

i A Syrian Idol, called here by the LXX Remman, and Act. 7. 43. Remphan. k Or, arm, as that word ſometimes ſignifies, both in Scripture and other Authors; or, ſhoulder. Upon which, the King leaned, either for ſtate, or for ſupport. Compare chap. 7. 2. l Not in honour to the Idol, which I do here, and ſhall there, openly renounce; but only in compliance with the King's infirmity and conveniency, who cannot well bow if I ſtand upright. m Becauſe there ſeemed to be an appearance of Evil in this action, though done with an honeſt mind, he deſires the Prophet's Prayers that God would not charge it upon him as Idolatry, nor be diſpleaſed with him for that practice.

† Heb. a little piece of ground.

19 And he ſaid unto him, Go in peace n. So he departed from him † a little way.

n Theſe words may contain an Anſwer: Either, Firſt, To his laſt Petition, v. 18. and ſo the ſenſe may be this, Be not too ſollicitous about this matter, Go, and the Peace or Bleſſing of God go along with thee. So the Prophet both Prays to God to bleſs and direct him in this and all other things, and intimates that God would do ſo. Or, Secondly, To the former, v. 17. trouble not thy ſelf about any of our Earth, but go to thy own Land, and I wiſh thee from God, and doubt not but God will give thee peace, i. e. his favour and other Bleſſings, which are oft contained in this Word, if thou doſt perſiſt in this Religion which thou haſt now received. Or rather, this is only a farewel Salutation, wherewith the Prophet diſmiſſeth him without any further Anſwer to his Requeſts, or Inſtruction about his Doubt: which he forbore by the Motion of God's Spirit, which ſometimes gives and ſometimes denies Inſtructions to Perſons or People, as he thinks fit. See Act. 16. 6, 7. And the Prophet by the Spirits Direction might forbear to give him particular Anſwers, partly, becauſe theſe matters were not of ſuch Importance as to concern the Eſſence or Foundation of Religion: and partly, becauſe he was yet but a Novice, and not able to bear all Truths, which was for a time the condition of the Apoſtles, Joh. 16. 12. nor fit to be preſſed to the practice of the hardeſt Duties, which Chriſt himſelf thought not convenient for his Diſciples, Matth. 9. 14, 15, 16, 17. And therefore he at preſent accepts of his profeſſion of the True, and his renunciation of the Falſe Religion; and of this Declaration, that what he did in the Temple of Rimmon ſhould not now be (as he had formerly intended and practiſed it) a Religious Action towards the Idol, but only a civil Reſpect to his Maſter. And what was neceſſary for him to know further about the Lawfulneſs or Sinfulneſs of that Action, the Prophet might take another and a more convenient time to inform him.

20 ¶ But Gehazi the ſervant of Eliſha the man of God, ſaid, Behold, my maſter hath ſpared Naaman this Syrian o, in not receiving at his hand that which he brought: but as the LORD liveth, I will run after him, and take ſomewhat of him p.

o A Stranger, and one of that Nation who are the implacable Enemies of God's People: whom therefore my Maſter ſhould not have had ſo much regard to, as to the Lord's Prophets, who better deſerved and more needed the Money which he offered, than Naaman himſelf did. p He ſwears, that he might have ſome pretence for the Action to which he had bound himſelf by his Oath; not conſidering, that to ſwear to do any wicked Action, is ſo far from excuſing it, that it makes it much worſe.

† Heb. Is there peace?

21 So Gehazi followed after Naaman: and when Naaman ſaw him running after him, he lighted down from the chariot to meet him q, and ſaid, † Is all well?

q Thereby teſtifying his great Reſpect to the Prophet his Maſter.

22 And he ſaid, All is well: my maſter hath ſent me r, ſaying, Behold, even now there be come to me from mount Ephraim two young men of the ſons of the prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of ſilver, and two changes of garments.

r This was a very unlikely Story; but Naaman was not willing to queſtion it, but glad of the opportunity of ſhewing his Gratitude to the Prophet.

23 And Naaman ſaid, Be content, take two talents: and he urged him ſ, and bound two talents of ſilver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his ſervants, and they bare them before him.

ſ Who at firſt refuſed it upon a pretence of Modeſty and Obedience to his Maſters command.

24 And when he came to the ‖ tower t, he took them from their hand, and beſtowed them in the houſe; and he let the men go u, and they departed.

‖ Or, ſecret places.

t A ſafe and private place which he choſe for that purpoſe, and where poſſibly he hid and kept other things which he had got by ſuch like Frauds and Artifices. u Before they came within ſight of his Maſter.

25 But he went in and ſtood before his maſter: and Eliſha ſaid unto him, Whence comeſt thou Gehazi? and he ſaid, Thy ſervant went † no whither.

† Heb. not hither, or thither.

26 And he ſaid unto him, Went not mine heart with thee x, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? Is it a time y to receive money, and to receive garments, and oliveyards, and vineyards, and ſheep, and oxen, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants z?

x Did not my Mind, being enlightned by God's Spirit, diſcern what thou ſaidſt and didſt? y Was this a fit ſeaſon for this action? I had but newly and obſtinately refuſed his Gifts, for great Reaſons; of which ſee on ver. 16. and now thou haſt given him cauſe to think, that I was a curſed and wicked Impoſtor, who vain-gloriouſly refuſed in Publick, what I inwardly and greedily deſired, and ſought only a fitter place and opportunity to take; and that all our Religion is but an Impoſture; and that the God who owns ſuch a vile Wretch for his Prophet, as thou haſt repreſented me to him, is not ſo holy and righteous as we pretend. z Which Gehazi intended to purchaſe with this Money: and therefore the Prophet names them, to inform him, That he exactly knew by Divine Inſpiration not only Gehazi's outward Actions, but even his moſt ſecret Intentions.

27 The leproſy therefore of Naaman ſhall cleave unto thee, and unto thy ſeed for ever ‖. And he went out from his preſence † a leper as white as ſnow *.

Or, to thy face; which may be joined with the following Words; and ſo the ſenſe may be this: It is apparent to thy view, that this place is too ſtrait for us. c The number of the Prophets increaſing by the gracious Providence of God, and by the Miniſtry and Miracles of Elijah and Eliſha.

2 Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan d, and take thence every man a beam e, and let us make us a place there where we may dwell. And he anſwered, Go ye.

d i. e. To the Woods near Jordan, which were near to them. See on v. 1. e i. e. A piece of Timber for the Building. Hence it may be gathered, That although the Sons of the Prophets principally devoted themſelves to Religious Exerciſes, ſuch as Prayer, and praiſing of God, and the ſtudying of God's Word, and Inſtructing of others, and waiting for Divine Revelations; yet they did ſometimes employ themſelves about Manual Arts; which now they might be forced to, through the Iniquity of the Times.

3 And one ſaid, Be content, I pray thee, and go with thy ſervants. And he anſwered, I will go.

4 So he went with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.

5 But as one was felling a beam, the † ax head f fell into the water: and he cried, and ſaid, Alas maſter, for it was borrowed g. † Heb. Iron.

f The Iron fell from the Wood. g He was the more concerned, partly, becauſe he was now forced to be idle and uſeleſs to them in the common Work; and partly, becauſe it was his Friends loſs, who now was likely to ſuffer for his kindneſs; and as Juſtice obliged him to reſtore it, ſo his Poverty diſenabled him from it.

6 And the man of God ſaid, Where fell it? and he ſhewed him the place: and he cut down a ſtick, and caſt it in thither, and the iron did ſwim.

7 Therefore ſaid he, Take it up to thee: and he put out his hand, and took it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Syria warred againſt Iſrael, and took counſel with his ſervants, ſaying, † In ſuch and ſuch a place ſhall be my || camp ∴.

15 And when the || ſervant of the man of god n was riſen early, and gone forth o, behold, an hoſt compaſſed the city, both with horſes and chariots; and his ſervant ſaid unto him, Alas my maſter, how ſhall we do?

|| Or, Miniſter.

n Who having been with him but a little time, even ſince Gehazi's Diſmiſſion, had not yet ſeen any Experiments of his great Power; or, if he had, his Faith might eaſily be ſhaken upon ſo great and ſudden a danger. o Either out of the Gates of the City, where he might ſee them; or, out of his Houſe into the Streets of the City, where he might learn this by the Common Fame and Tumult of the People.

16 And he anſwered, Fear not: for * they that be with us, are moe than they that be with them.

* 2Chron. 32. 7.

17 And Eliſha prayed, and ſaid, LORD, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may ſee p. And the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he ſaw: and behold, the mountain was full of horſes, and chariots of fire q round about Eliſha r.

p That by ſome viſible Appearance, he may ſee the Inviſible Guard of Angels which incompaſs and defend us. q Which is uſeful, both for Defence to thoſe that are ſurrounded by it, and Offence to the Enemies who ſhall attempt to break through it. r Either the Mountains were round about the City, and therefore round about Eliſha, who was within it: or, he ſaw in a Viſion, Eliſha upon the Mountain encompaſſed with Fiery Horſes and Chariots.

18 And when they came down to him s, Eliſha prayed unto the LORD, and ſaid, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindneſs. And he ſmote them with blindneſs t, according to the word of Eliſha.

s Either in the City, into which they eaſily got admiſſion when they Declared, That the only end of their coming, was to take Eliſha: or in the Field without the City, whither he went to meet them. t Not with a total Blindneſs, that they could ſee nothing, for then they would not have followed him; but with a partial Blindneſs, that they could not diſtinctly diſcern the Man they ſought: which might be by ſome Alteration made by God in their Brain, or in the Air. See the Notes on Gen. 19. 11.

19 ¶ And Eliſha ſaid unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city u: † follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye ſeek x. But he led them to Samaria y.

† Heb. come ye after me.

u To wit, where you will find the Man for whom you ſeek, which was very true; becauſe he was now come out of the City: and if they had gone on in that way into the City, they had found that Eliſha was gone thence. There is indeed ſome Ambiguity in his Speech, and an Intention to deceive them, which hath ever been eſteemed lawful in the ſtate of War, as appears from the uſe of Stratagems. x And ſo he did, though not in ſuch manner as they expected and deſired. y Which ſeemed to them to be ſome ſmall and ordinary City; their Senſes being ſtill deluded by a Divine Operation.

20 And it came to paſs, when they were come into Samaria, that Eliſha ſaid, LORD, open the eyes of theſe men, that they may ſee. And the LORD opened their eyes, and they ſaw, and behold they were in the midſt of Samaria.

21 And the king of Iſrael z ſaid unto Eliſha, when he ſaw them, My father a, ſhall I ſmite them? ſhall I ſmite them b?

z To whom Eliſha had doubtleſs ſent notice of his Intentions, that he might accordingly prepare himſelf. a Now he gives him this Title of Reverence and Affection, becauſe of a great and preſent Benefit he received from him; though otherwiſe he hated him, and would not hearken to his Counſel. b The repetition of the queſtion ſhews his great deſire to ſmite them, and that with utter Deſtruction.

22 And he anſwered, Thou ſhalt not ſmite them: Wouldeſt thou ſmite thoſe whom thou haſt taken captive with thy ſword, and with thy bow c? ſet bread and water before them d, that they may eat and drink, and go to their maſter.

c It is againſt the Laws of Humanity, and Cuſtom of War, to kill Captives, though thou thy ſelf haſt taken them with thy own Sword and Bow; which may ſeem to give thee ſome colour of Right to deſtroy them; but much more unworthy will it be in cold Blood to kill theſe, whom not thy Arms, but God's Miraculous Providence hath put into thy Hands. d i. e. Give them Meat and Drink, which may refreſh and ſtrengthen them for their Journey. Which was an action of ſingular Piety and Charity, in doing good to their Enemies, which was much to the Honour of the True Religion; and of no leſs Prudence, that hereby the hearts of the Syrians might be both mollified towards the Iſraelites, and afraid to Oppoſe that People who had ſuch an Invincible Protector.

23 And he prepared great proviſion for them, and when they had eaten and drunk, he ſent them away e, and they went to their maſter. So the bands of Syria came no more f into the land of Iſrael.

e Refreſhed, but Diſarmed, as is moſt probable. f Either, 1. In ſuch a manner, to wit, in ſmall Bands, or Companies, which might be Entrapped, as theſe had been: but their next Attempt was, by an open and ſolemn War, and a Conjunction of all their Forces, which they ſtill ridiculouſly conceited would be too hard for the King, and Prophet, and God of Iſrael; notwithſtanding their multiplied Experiences to the contrary. Or, 2. For ſome conſiderable time; until the Terror of theſe Examples was got out of their Minds.

24 ¶ And it came to paſs after this, that Benhadad king of Syria g gathered all his hoſt, and went up, and beſieged Samaria.

g He whom Ahab wickedly and fooliſhly ſpared, 1 King. 20. 42. who now comes to requite Ahab's Kindneſs, and to fulfil that Divine Prediction. Benhadad was a name very frequent among the Kings of Syria, 1 King. 15, 18, &c. and Chap. 13. 24. 2 King. 13. 3, 24. if not common to them all. See Jer. 49. 27. Amos 1. 4.

25 And there was a great famine in Samaria: and behold they beſieged it, until an aſſes head was ſold for fourſcore pieces h of ſilver, and the fourth part of a kab i of doves dung k for five pieces of ſilver.

h Suppoſed to be Shekels; and the common Shekel being valued at fifteen pence of Engliſh Money, this amounts to five pounds. A vaſt price, eſpecially for that which had on it ſo little Meat, and that unwholſome, and unclean by Law, Levit. 11. 13. though neceſſity might ſeem to excuſe their Violation of that Law. i A Meaſure containing 24 Eggs. k Which they uſed not for Fire (for he is ſpeaking here onely of the ſcarcity of Food) but for Food. Which if it ſeem incredible, it muſt be conſidered, Firſt, That Famine hath conſtrained People to eat things as improper and unfit for nouriſhment as this, as dry Leather, and Man's Dung, as is implied, Iſa. 36. 12. and affirmed by grave Hiſtorians. Secondly, That ſome Creatures do uſually eat the Dung of others. Thirdly, That Doves Dung, though it be hotter than ordinary, might in other reſpects be fitter for Nouriſhment than other, as being made of the beſt and pureſt Grains, and having ſome moiſture in it, &c. Fourthly, That this Hebrew Word being of an obſcure and doubtful ſignification, and no where elſe uſed, may be, and is by Learned Men otherwiſe rendred and underſtood: either, firſt, of the Corn which is found in the Crops of Doves: or, ſecondly, of the Guts and other Inwards of Doves: or rather, thirdly, of a ſort of Cicer or Peaſe, which in the Arabick Language (which is near a kin to the Hebrew, and from which many Words are explained) is called Doves Dung: for this was a Food much in uſe amongſt the poorer Iſraelites, and was by all eſteemed a very courſe Food, and therefore fit to be joined with an Aſſes Head: and a Kab was the uſual Meaſure of all ſorts of Grains and Fruits of that ſort.

26 And as the king of Iſrael was paſſing by upon the wall l, there cried a woman unto him, ſaying, Help my lord, O king.

l To give neceſſary order for the Defence of the City againſt Aſſaults, and to ſee if the ſeveral Guards were watchful and diligent, and if his Directions were executed, and to obſerve the Motions of the Enemy.

27 And he ſaid, || If the LORD do not help thee m, whence ſhall I help thee? out of the barn-floor, or out of the wine-preſs n?

|| Or, Let not the Lord ſave thee.

m Or, let not God help thee, as ſome both ancient and late Interpreters render the Words. So they are Words of Impatience, and Rage, and a formal Curſe, wiſhing that God would not help her, as he could not, as Joſephus amongſt others underſtand it: which agrees too well with the Character of the Man, an Infidel, and an Idolater, and a wicked Man, and at this time in a great Rage, as appears from ver. 31. Or, they may be rendred thus, No; (as this Hebrew Particle is ſometimes uſed, as Job 20. 17. Pſal. 34. 5. and 41. 2. and 50. 3. Prov. 3. 3, 25. and 31. 4.) let the Lord help thee. So it may be taken, either, Firſt, As a Direction: No: do not cry to me; but to God for help: God help thee, for I cannot. Or rather, Secondly, As a prophane Scoff. No: come not to me, but go to him to whom Eliſha directs you; Pray to the Lord: you ſee how ready he is to help you, by his ſuffering you to come to this Extremity: wait upon God for Relief, as Eliſha adviſeth me: but I will wait no longer for him, ver. 33. and I will take a courſe with Eliſha for thus abuſing both me and my People with vain hopes. Or, thus, the Lord (on whom forſooth thou and I are commanded to wait for help) will not help thee, as he could eaſily do, and would do, if he were ſo good as Eliſha pretends; whence then ſhall I help thee? [n] Doſt thou ask of me Corn or Wine, which I want for my ſelf?

28 And the king ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? And ſhe anſwered, This woman ſaid unto me, Give thy ſon, that we may eat him to day, and we will eat my ſon to morrow.

* Deut. 28. 53,57.
† Heb. other.

29 So * we boiled my ſon, and did eat him [o]: and I ſaid unto her on the † next day, Give thy ſon, that we may eat him: and ſhe hath hid her ſon [p].

[o] A dreadful Judgment threatned to them in caſe of their Apoſtacy, Deut. 28. 56, 57. in which they were now deeply plunged. Compare Ezek. 5. 10. [p] Either, that ſhe might eat him alone; or rather, that ſhe might ſave him from Death, her Bowels yerning towards him, and her hunger being in great meaſure ſatisfied.

30 ¶ And it came to paſs, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he rent his clothes [q], and he paſſed by upon the wall, and the people [r] looked, and behold, he had ſackcloth within upon his fleſh [ſ].

[q] Partly, in Grief for ſuch an horrid Fact: and partly, through Indignation at the Prophet, ver. 31. [r] Who were in great numbers upon the Wall, either to defend the City: or rather, to ſeek for relief from the Soldiers, for whoſe Proviſions the King doubtleſs took ſpecial care, as it was neceſſary, for the preſervation of the place. [ſ] Under his inner Garments, in token of his ſorrow, and with a pretence of humiliation, which he would ſhew by outward ſigns, as his Father Ahab had done, not without ſome advantage to himſelf, 1 King. 21. 27, 28, 29.

* Ruth 1. 17.

31 Then he ſaid, * God do ſo, and more alſo to me, if the head of Eliſha the ſon of Shaphat ſhall ſtand on him this day [t].

[t] If I do not this day take his head and life. This wretched and partial Prince overlooks his own great and various ſins, and amongſt others, his obſtinate cleaving to the Idolatry of the Calves, and the Whoredoms and witchcrafts of his Mother Jezebel, 2 King. 9. 22. and the Wickedneſs of his People, which was the true and proper cauſe of this and all their Calamities; and lays the blame of all upon Eliſha, either, ſuppoſing that he who had the Spirit of Elijah reſting upon him, had brought this Famine by his Prayers, as Elijah had formerly done, 1 King. 17. 1. or, becauſe he had encouraged them to withſtand the Syrians, by promiſing them help from God in due time: or, becauſe he would not by his interceſſion to God, and the working of a Miracle, deliver them from theſe Calamities, as he eaſily could have done. But he did not conſider, that the Prophets could not work what Miracles, and when they pleaſed, but only as far as God ſaw fit, whoſe time was not yet come; otherwiſe, it was Eliſha's Intereſt, as well as theirs, to be freed from this diſtreſs.

32 But Eliſha ſat in his houſe [u] (and the Elders [x] ſat with him) and the king ſent a man from before him [y]: but e're the meſſenger came to him, he ſaid to the elders [z], See ye how this ſon of a murderer [a] hath ſent to take away mine head [b]? Look when the meſſenger cometh, ſhut the door, and hold him [c] faſt at the door: Is not the ſound of his maſters feet behind him [d]?

[u] In the Houſe where he lodged: for he had no Houſe of his own, having forſaken all when he followed Elijah, 1 King. 19. 20, 21. [x] So they might be called, Either, Firſt, From their age. Or rather, Secondly, from their office, which was either Eccleſiaſtical, or Civil: ſo they were either the Sons of the Prophets: or rather, ſome Godly men who were then in ſome Power and Office, either in the Court, or Army, or City, as may ſeem probable from what he requires of them. And though Joram was a wicked King, and moſt of his Officers probably like himſelf; ye there were ſome of them, whom Eliſha's Holy Life, and Powerful Miniſtry, and Glorious Miracles, and the great and publick benefits procured by him, had won to God, and to the True Religion, at leaſt to the profeſſion of it, among which Jehu might be one: and theſe were here ſitting with him; either, to receive comfort and counſel from him in this diſtreſſed time; or rather, to ſollicite him to uſe his Power with God, for their relief: which accordingly he doth, and in compliance with them, not out of any fear of the King, (from which he very well knew by frequent experience, and certain aſſurance, that God both could and would deliver him), he gives the following anſwer, chap. 7. 1. [y] Or, one of them who ſtood before his face, one of his Guard, or ſome other Officer, to take away his head, as it follows. [z] Being admoniſhed by God of his danger. [a] The genuine Son of that wicked Ahab the Murderer of the Lord's Prophets, 1 King. 18. 4. and 21. 9. whoſe ſon he is not by Birth only, but alſo by his manners and bloody diſpoſition. Compare Job. 8. 44. This expreſſion may ſeem very harſh and unfit; nor is it to be drawn into imitation by others: but it muſt be conſidered, that he was an extraordinary Prophet, intruſted with a Power in ſome ſort ſuperior to that of Joram, and had Authority to controle and rebuke him in the Name of the King of kings. [b] To kill me, before he hear what I have to ſay. [c] Not the King, but the Meſſenger, who was laſt mentioned; that he may not break in upon me, and take away my Life, before the King comes. [d] You ſhall not need to hold him long, for the King is juſt at his heels coming, as is probable; either, to recal his raſh and furious ſentence; or, at leaſt to debate the matter with the Prophet, and to procure relief.

33 And while he yet talked with them, behold, the meſſenger came down unto him [e]: and he ſaid [f], Behold, this evil [g] is of the LORD [h], what ſhould I wait for the LORD any longer [i]?

[e] To wit, to the Door, where alſo we are to underſtand that he was held faſt, that he could not come at the Prophet till the King came, as the Prophet had commanded them to do. [f] Either, 1. The Meſſenger in the Kings name and words. Or, Secondly, The King himſelf, who, though not here named, may be preſumed to be preſent, both by the Prophets prediction of his ſpeedy coming, and by the preſence of the lord, on whoſe hand the king leaned, chap. 7. 2. [g] This dreadful Famine, which is now ſo extream, that Women are forced to eat their own Children. [h] He hath inflicted it, and (for ought that I ſee) he will not remove it. Thus he lays all the blame upon God, not, as he ought, upon his own, and his Mothers wickedneſs, which provoked God, who doth not willingly afflict, to ſend this heavy Judgment upon him. [i] Thou bidſt me wait upon God for help: but I perceive I may wait long enough before deliverance comes: I am weary with waiting, I can wait no longer.

CHAP. VII.

Eliſha propheſieth incredible Plenty in Samaria: And the death of a great Lord, who would not believe the Propheſie, 1, 2. Four Lepers viſit the Camp of the Syrians, and bring tidings of their flight, being haſted away by God, 3——11. The King ſendeth Spies, who confirm this Report: And he ſpoileth their Tents: Great Plenty: The Lord, on whoſe Hand the King leaned, is trodden upon by the People, and dieth, 12——20.

THen Eliſha ſaid [a], Hear ye the word of the LORD, Thus ſaith the LORD [b], To morrow about this time ſhall a meaſure [c] of fine flour be ſold for a ſhekel [d], and two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, in the gate of Samaria.

[a] Either, to the Meſſenger, to be reported to the King: or rather, to the King, being then come to him, as it is expreſſed, ver. 18. and to his Courtiers, who were come with him, ver. 2. [b] The Lord, whom you have ſo highly offended, and at preſent deſpiſe and refuſe to wait upon, of his own meer Grace and Bounty hath ſent you the glad tidings of your deliverance. [c] Heb. Seah, a Meaſure containing ſix Cabs, or 144 Egg-ſhells, or about a Peck and a Pottle of our Meaſure. [d] Compare this with chap. 6. 25.

2 Then † a lord on whoſe hand the king leaned [e], anſwered the man of God, and ſaid, Behold, if the LORD would make windows [f] in heaven, might this thing be? And he ſaid, behold, thou ſhalt ſee it with thine eyes, but ſhalt not eat thereof [g].

† Heb. lord which belonged to the King, leaning upon his hand.

[e] When he walked. See chap. 5. 18. [f] Through which he could Rain down Corn, as once he did Manna. [g] A juſt puniſhment for ſuch peremptory unbelief, whereby he made not only the Prophet, but even God himſelf (in whoſe Name it was evident Eliſha ſaid and did this and other things) a lyar.

3 ¶ And there were four leprous men at the entring in of the gate [h]: and they ſaid one to another, Why ſit we hear until we die?

[h] To wit, of the City; out of which they were ſhut by virtue of God's Law, Lev. 13. 46. and 14. 3. either, the dwelling place of the Lepers, was near the Gate: or, they were come very near the Gate, for fear of the Syrians.

4 If we ſay, we will enter into the city, then the famine is in the city, and we ſhall die there: and if we ſit ſtill here, we die alſo. Now therefore come, and let us fall unto the hoſt of the Syrians: if they ſave us alive, we ſhall live; and if they kill us, we ſhall but die.

5 And they roſe up in the twilight [i] to go unto the camp of the Syrians: and when they were come to the uttermoſt part of the camp of Syria, behold, there was no man there.

[i] In the Evening twilight, as appears from v. 9. and 12.

6 For the LORD made the hoſt of the Syrians to * hear a noiſe [k] of chariots, and a noiſe of horſes, even the noiſe of a great hoſt: and they ſaid one to another, Lo, the king of Iſrael hath hired againſt us the kings of the Hittites [l], and the kings of the Egyptians [m] to come upon us.

* Sam. 24.

[k] Either, in the Air: or rather in their Ears: otherwiſe the Samaritans had heard it. [l] Under which name (as elſewhere under the name of the Amorites) he ſeems to underſtand all, or any of the People of Canaan. For though the greateſt number of that People were deſtroyed, yet very many of them were ſpared, and many of them upon Joſhua's coming, fled away, ſome to more remote parts, (which that famous and ancient Inſcription upon a Pillar in Africa teſtifies) and others to the Lands bordering upon Canaan, where by reaſon of the ſcarcity of Inhabitants there was in that Age room enough for them; and there they ſeated themſelves, and grew numerous and powerful, and had (after their ancient and conſtant manner) Kings over them. The Kings alſo of Tyrus or Sidon may be here included. [m] By which they may underſtand, either the King of Egypt, the Plural number being put for the Singular, as it is elſewhere: or, the Princes and Governors of the ſeveral Nomi or Provinces in Egypt, ſuch being oft called kings in Scripture.

7 Wherefore they aroſe and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horſes, and their aſſes, even the camp as it was, and fled for life ∴.

∴ To ſave their Lives; which they fancied to be in ſuch preſent and extream danger, that they durſt not ſtay to take away any of their Goods, but every man fled the next way before him.

8 And when theſe lepers came to the uttermoſt part of the camp, they went into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence ſilver, and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it: and came again, and entred into another tent, and carried thence alſo, and went and hid it.

9 Then they ſaid one to another, We do not well n: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till the morning-light, † ſome miſchief will come upon us: now therefore come, that we may go and tell the kings houſhold.

† Heb. we ſhall find puniſhment.

n Not well for our Brethren, whom we ſhould pity and help: nor well for our ſelves; for we may ſuffer for this neglect; either, from the Syrians, who may lie lurking hreabouts; or, from our King and people; or, from God's immediate hand.

10 So they came, and called unto the porter of the city: and they told them o, ſaying, We came to the camp of the Syrians, and behold, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horſes tied, and aſſes tied, and the tents as they were.

o To wit, the Porter and his Companies.

11 And he called the porters p, and they told it to the kings houſe within.

p Either, his fellow-porters of the City: or rather, the Porters or Guards of the Gate of the King's Houſe.

12 ¶ And the king aroſe in the night, and ſaid unto his ſervants, I will now ſhew you what the Syrians have done to us: they know that we be hungry, therefore are they gone out of the camp, to hide themſelves in the field, ſaying, When they come out of the city, we ſhall catch them alive, and get into the city.

13 And one of his ſervants anſwered and ſaid, Let ſome take, I pray thee, five of the horſes that remain, which are left † in the city: (behold, they are as the multitude of Iſrael that are left in it: behold, I ſay, they are even as all the multitude of the Iſraelites that are conſumed q) and let us ſend and ſee.

† Heb. in it.

q So the ſenſe is, We may well venture theſe horſes, though we have no more, becauſe both they and we are ready to periſh through hunger; and therefore let us uſe them whilſt we may for our common good, or to make the diſcovery. But the repitition of the Phraſe ſeems to imply ſomething more emphatical and ſignificant than the ſaving of four or five Horſes, for which it is not probable they would be ſo much concerned in their circumſtances. The words therefore my be rendred otherwiſe, Behold, they are of a truth (the Hebrew prefix, Caph, being not here a note of ſimilitude, as the other Tranſlations make it, and as it is commonly uſed, but an affirmation of the truth and certainty of the things, as it is taken Numb. 11. 1. Deut. 9. 10. Hoſ. 4. 4. and 5. 10. Joh. 1. 14.) all the multitude of the horſes of Iſrael that are left in it: (to wit, in the City:) behold, I ſay, they are even all the multitude of the Horſes of the Iſraelites, which (i. e. which multitude) are conſumed, i. e. reduced to this ſmall number, all conſumed except theſe five. And thus the vulgar Latin, and ſome others, underſtand it. And this was indeed a memorable paſſage, and worthy of a double behold, to ſhew what miſchief the Famine had done both upon Men and Beaſts, and to what a low ebb the King of Iſrael was come, that all his Troops of Horſes, to which he had truſted, were ſhrunk to ſo ſmall a number.

14 They took therefore † two chariot-horſes r, and the king ſent after the hoſt of the Syrians, ſaying, Go, and ſee.

† Heb. two chariots of horſes, 1 Kin. 10. 29.

r Or, two chariots of horſes: or rather, two chariot-horſes, as divers render the words, i.e. Horſes which belonged to the Kings Chariots. For ſingle Horſes ſeem much more proper for this ſervice, than Chariots and Horſes. And whereas it was moved by the King's Servant, that all the five Horſes ſhould be ſent, it ſeems it was thought by the King and others, that two were ſufficient for that purpoſe.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan, and lo, all the way was full of garments and veſſels, which the Syrians had caſt away † in their haſte ſ: and the meſſengers returned and told the king.

† Gr. in their aſtoniſhment.

ſ Or, in their fear or conſternation, wherewith God ſtruck them.

16 And the people went out, and ſpoiled the tents of the Syrians: So a meaſure of fine flour was ſold for a ſhekel, and two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, according to the word of the LORD.

17 ¶ And the king appointed the lord on whoſe hand he leaned, to have the charge of the gate t: and the people trod upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had ſaid, who ſpake when the king came down to him.

t Partly, to prevent tumults, and diſorders and miſchiefs amongſt the People: and partly, to take order about the ſhutting of the Gates, if need were, and if the Syrians ſhould happen to return upon them.

18 And it came to paſs, as the man of God had ſpoken to the king, ſaying, Two meaſures of barley for a ſhekel, and a meaſure of fine flour for a ſhekel, ſhall be to morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria:

19 And that lord anſwered the man of God, and ſaid, Now behold, if the LORD ſhould make windows in heaven, might ſuch a thing be? And he ſaid, Behold, thou ſhalt ſee it with thine eyes, but ſhalt not eat thereof.

20 And ſo it fell out unto him: for the People trod upon him in the gate, and he died.

Poſſibly this might happen before the Hiſtory of Naaman, chap. 5. or at leaſt, before the Siege of Samaria, chap. 6. But this is not certain. b Expreſſing his gratitude for her former Kindneſſes, by taking ſpecial care for her preſervation. c In any convenient place out of the Land of Iſrael. d i.e. Hath appointed to bring a Famine, or a great ſcarcity of Proviſions. This Expreſſion intimates, that all afflictions are ſent by God, and come at his Call or Command. e A double time to the former Famine under Elijah, Jam. 5. 17. which is but juſt and reaſonable, becauſe they were ſtill obſtinate and incorrigible under all the ſevere and ſucceeding Judgments of God, and under the powerful miniſtry of Eliſha, who confirmed his Doctrine by glorious Miracles. See Levit. 26. 21, 24, 28.

2 And the woman aroſe, and did after the ſaying of the man of God: and ſhe went with her houſhold, and ſojourned in the land of the Philiſtines f ſeven years.

f Either, becauſe that was near her Lands and Dwelling, which ſhe thought ſhe might have an eye to, when occaſion required: or, becauſe there was more plenty than in Judah: or, becauſe ſhe knew that her going to dwell in Judah would be very diſpleaſing to the King of Iſrael, whoſe favour ſhe was like to need hereafter. Nor was there now that danger of Idolatry from the Philiſtines, as there had been formerly, becauſe their Power and influence was now grown inconſiderable, and probably many of the Jews and Iſraelites lived among them. And this Land, though bordering upon Iſrael, was free from this Famine, that it might appear that this was a ſpecial Hand and Judgment of God upon the Iſraelites for their Idolatry, and for their unprofitableneſs under all the means of Grace which now they plentifully enjoyed by Eliſha and many other Prophets; which the Philiſtines not enjoying, their ſin was much leſs, and therefore their preſent condition was better.

3 And it came to paſs at the ſeven years end, that the woman returned out of the land of the Philiſtines: and ſhe went forth to cry unto the king for her houſe, and for her land g.

g Which having been forſaken by her, were poſſeſſed by her Kindred, or others, who had obtained them from the King, and now intended to keep the poſſeſſion of them.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the Servant of the man of God h, ſaying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great things that Eliſha hath done.

h Queſt. How could the King ſpeak with Gehazi who was a Leper? Anſ. Either, the King might ſpeak with him at a convenient diſtance, it being uſual for others to diſcourſe with Lepers, as 2 King. 7. 8. Matth. 8. 2. Luk. 17. 12. or, his Leproſy might be of that ſort which was not infectious: or, if his Leproſy was ſuch as made him yet to be unclean, the King's great Curioſity might eaſily prevail with him to break a Ceremonial Law, who made no ſcruple of violating God's Moral Law.

5 And it came to paſs, as he was telling the king how he had reſtored a dead body to life, that behold, the woman i whoſe ſon he had reſtored to life, cried to the king, for her houſe, and for her land. And Gehazi ſaid, My lord, O king, this is the Woman, and this is her ſon, whom Eliſha reſtored to life.

i By God's wonderful and Gracious Providence brought thither in the moſt advantagious ſeaſon.

6 And when the king asked the woman k, ſhe told him. So the king appointed unto her a certain || Officer, ſaying, Reſtore all that was hers, and all the fruits of the field, ſince the day that ſhe left the land, even till now.

|| Or, eunuch.

k Concerning the truth of Gehazi's relation.

7 ¶ And Eliſha came to Damaſcus l; and Ben-hadad the king of Syria was ſick, and it was told him, ſaying, The man of God is come hither.

l Either to the City; or rather, to the Kingdom of Damaſcus; by comparing v. 9. as Samaria, which properly was the name of the City, is ſometimes the name of the Kingdom; of which ſee on 1 King. 13. 32. Hither he came by the ſpecial direction of the Spirit, and under God's protection, upon the Errand here following.

8 And the king ſaid unto Hazael, Take a preſent in thine hand m, and go meet the man of God, and enquire of the LORD by him, ſaying, Shall I recover of this diſeaſe?

m By which he thought to purchaſe his Favour, and the healing of his Diſeaſe.

9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a preſent † with him, even of every good thing of Damaſcus, forty camels burden n, and came and ſtood before him, and ſaid, thy ſon Ben-hadad o king of Syria hath ſent me to thee, ſaying, Shall I † recover of this diſeaſe?

† Heb. in his hand.

† Heb. live. Chap. 1. 2.

n Hazael carried the more noble Preſent, hoping, as his Maſter did, to get ſome Intereſt in the Prophet, and advantage to himſelf by it. Whether the Prophet received it or not, is not here mentioned; but it is moſt probable he did not, from his former practice, chap. 5. and becauſe the Reaſons which then ſwayed him, were ſtill of the ſame Force. o He who before perſecuted him as an Enemy, chap. 6. 13, 14. now in his Extremity honours him like a Father.

10 And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Go, ſay unto him, Thou mayeſt certainly recover: howbeit, the LORD hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die p.

p Here is no contradiction: for the firſt Words contain an Anſwer to Benhadad's Queſtion, ver. 8. Shall I recover this Diſeaſe? To which the Anſwer is, thou mayeſt or ſhalt recover, i. e. notwithſtanding thy Diſeaſe, which is not mortal, and ſhall not take away thy life. The latter Words contain the Prophet's Explication of, or Addition to that Anſwer, which is, that he ſhould die, not by the power of his Diſeaſe, but by ſome other Cauſe. But it is obſervable, that in the Hebrew Text it is, lo, the Adverb, which ſignifies not; which though moſt affirm to be put for lo, the Pronoun, ſignifying to him; yet others take it as it lies, and Tranſlate the Words thus, Say, thou ſhalt not recover: for the Lord hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die. Or, according to the former reading, the firſt Words may be taken interrogatively, ſay unto him, Shalt thou indeed recover? (as thou doſt flatter thy ſelf): no: (which Negation is implied in the very queſtion, and gathered from the following Words) for the Lord hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die.

† Heb. and ſet it. 11 And he ſetled his countenance † ſtedfaſtly q, until he was aſhamed r: and the man of God wept.

q The Prophet fixed his Eyes upon Hazael. r Either, till the Prophet was aſhamed to look any longer upon him: or, till Hazael was aſhamed, as apprehending that the Prophet ſuſpected or diſcerned ſomething extraordinary, and of an evil and ſhameful Nature in him. The Hebrew Words are ambiguous, and may indifferently be referred to either of them: but they ſeem more properly to belong to Hazael, becauſe it follows by way of Diſtinction, the Man of God wept.

12 And Hazael ſaid, Why weepeth my lord? And he anſwered, Becauſe I know * the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Iſrael ſ: their ſtrong holds wilt thou ſet on fire, and their young men wilt thou ſlay with the ſword, and wilt * daſh their children, and rip up their women with child.

* Chap. 10. 32. & 13. 3. Amos 1. 3.
* Chap. 15. 16. Hoſ. 13. 16 Amos 1. 13.

ſ So here was a double Cauſe of his Grief and Tears, the evil of ſin in Hazael: and the evil of ſuffering upon Iſrael.

13 And Hazael ſaid, But what, is thy ſervant a dog t, that he ſhould do this great thing? And Eliſha anſwered, The LORD hath ſhewed me that thou ſhalt be king over Syria u.

t Either, ſo vile and unworthy, as this Expreſſion is uſed, 2 Sam. 3. 8. and 9. 8. or ſo impudent, for which Dogs are noted: or, ſo fierce, and barbarous, and inhumane. Compare Pſal. 22. 16, 20. and 59. 6. u And when thou ſhalt have Power in thy hand, thou wiltſt diſcover that bloody Diſpoſition, and that Hatred againſt God's People, which now lies hid from others, and poſſibly from thy ſelf; and therefore with the Kingdom thou wiltſt inherit their cruel Diſpoſitions.

14 So he departed from Eliſha, and came to his maſter, who ſaid to him, What ſaid Eliſha to thee? And he anſwered, He told me that thou ſhouldeſt ſurely recover x.

x He repreſents the Prophets Anſwer by halves, that by his Maſters Security he might have the fitter opportunity to execute his Treaſonable Deſign.

15 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that he took a thick cloth, and dipt it in water, and ſpread it on his face y, ſo that he died: and Hazael reigned in his ſtead z.

y Pretending it may be to cool his immoderate Heat with it, but applying it ſo cloſely, that he choaked him therewith: by which Artifice his Death ſeemed to be Natural, there being no ſigns of a violent Death upon his Body. And this he the more boldly attempted, becauſe the Prophet's Prediction made him confident of the Succeſs. z Having the favour of the People, and of the Men of War.

* 2 Chr. 21. 4. † Heb. reigned. 16 ¶ And in the fifth year of Joram the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, Jehoſhaphat being then king of Judah, * Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah † began to reign a.

a Jehoram was firſt made King or Vice-Roy by his Father divers Years before this time, to wit, at his expedition to Ramoth-Gilead, as was noted before: which Dominion of his ended at his Fathers return. But now Jehoſhaphat, being not far from his Death, and having divers Sons, and fearing ſome Competition and Diſſention among them, makes Jehoram King the ſecond time, as David did Solomon upon the like occaſion, 1 Chron. 29. 22. which is the thing here related. But of this ſee more in the Notes on 2 King. 1. 17. and 3. 1.

17 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years b in Jeruſalem.

c After his Father's Death. d Athaliah, ver. 26. This unequal Marriage, though Jehoſhaphat poſſibly deſigned it as a mean of uniting the two Kingdoms under one Head, and in the True Religion, is here and elſewhere noted, as the Cauſe both of the great Wickedneſs of his Poſterity, and of thoſe ſore Calamities which befel them.

* 2 Sam. 7. 13. † Heb. candle, or lamp. 19 Yet the LORD would not deſtroy Judah, for David his ſervants ſake, * as he promiſed him to give him alway e a † light f, and to his children.

But when the Meſſiah was once come, there was no more need of any Succeſſion, and the Scepter might and did without any Inconvenience depart from Judah, and from all the ſucceeding Branches of David's Family, becauſe the Meſſiah was to hold the Kingdom for ever in his own Perſon, though not in ſo groſs a way as the carnal Jews imagined, but in a Spiritual manner. f i. e. A Son and Succeſſor. 20 ¶ In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah g, and made a king over themſelves.

g Under which they had been from David's time, 2 Sam. 8. 14. Compare 1 King. 22. 47.

21 So Joram went over to Zair, and all the chariots with him, and he roſe by night and ſmote the Edomites which compaſſed him about: and the captains of the chariots, and the people h fled into their tents.

h i. e. The common Soldiers of the Edomites, herein following the example of their Captains.

22 Yet Edom revolted i from under the hand of Judah until this day. Then Libnah k revolted l at the ſame time.

i For though Joram had given them a Defeat, yet it may ſeem to have been no great ſlaughter, but only a putting them to flight; and therefore they might eaſily rally again. And Jehoram could not purſue the Victory, becauſe he was recalled by the revolt of his own Subjects, which had took the occaſion of his Abſence, and probably feared that others would follow their Example, if they had the like occaſion. k A conſiderable City in Judah, belonging to the Prieſts, Joſ. 15. 42. and 21. 13. l Why, ſee 2 Chron. 21. 10, 11. It is probable they returned to their Obedience, becauſe thoſe Words, unto this day, which are added to the former Clauſe, are omitted here.

23 And the reſt of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah m?

24 And Joram ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and * Ahaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * 2 Chr. 22. 1.

25 ¶ In the twelfth year of Joram n the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, did Ahaziah o the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign.

n Obj. It was in the eleventh year of Joram, chap. 9. 29. Anſw. Either, Firſt, He began to Reign in the Confines of Joram's 11th and 12th Year, in the very end of his 11th Year, or towards the beginning of the 12th, whence it is indifferently aſcribed to the one or the other. Or, Secondly, The one year of Ahaziah did concur with the latter half of Joram's 11th Year, and the former half of his 12th Year: and if he could not be ſaid to begin to reign in both theſe Years, yet he might unqueſtionably be ſaid to reign in both of them; and the Hebrew word, both here and chap. 9. 29. properly ſignifies he reigned, and not, he began to reign, as it is Tranſlated. Or, Thirdly, Ahaziah began to Reign with his Father, and during his Life, according to the late Examples both in Judah and Iſrael, there being alſo ſpecial occaſion for it, by reaſon of Joram's cruel and long ſickneſs, 2 Chron. 21, 18, &c. and this was in Joram's 11th Year, and then his Father died, and he began his ſingle Reign in Joram's 12th Year. o Called alſo Jehoahaz, 2 Chron. 21. 17. and Azariah, 2 Chron. 22. 6.

26 Two and twenty years old p was Ahaziah when he began to reign; and he reigned one year in Jeruſalem; and his mothers name was Athaliah, the daughter q of Omri king of Iſrael.

27 And he walked in the way of the houſe of Ahab, and did evil in the ſight of the LORD, as did the houſe of Ahab; for he was the ſon in law of the houſe of Ahab r.

r He was the proper Son of Athaliah, Daughter of Ahab, and the Grand-Son-in-law of Ahab, becauſe his Father was Ahab's Son-in-law, ver 18.

28 ¶ And he went with Joram the ſon of Ahab, to the war againſt Hazael king of Syria in Ramoth-gilead, and the Syrians wounded Joram.

29 And * king Joram went back to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds † which the Syrians had given him at Ramah ſ, when he fought againſt Hazael king of Syria: and Ahaziah the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah, went down to ſee Joram the ſon of Ahab in Jezreel, becauſe he was † ſick.

Eliſha ſendeth a Young Prophet with Inſtructions to anoint Jehu King over Iſrael: whom he chargeth to deſtroy the Houſe of Ahab: and fleeth, 1——10. Jehu is made King by the Soldiers, killeth Joram in the Field of Naboth, 11——26. Killeth alſo Ahaziah King of Judah, 27——29. Cauſeth Jezebel to be thrown out of a Window: who is devoured by Dogs, 30——37.

AND Eliſha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and ſaid unto him, Gird up thy loins a, and take this box of oyl in thine hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead.

a For haſte, to take this opportunity when the Kings of Iſrael and Judah were both abſent, chap. 8. 29. and Jehu, as it ſeems, was left in Chief Command.

4 ¶ So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead d.

5 And when he came, behold, the captains of the hoſt were ſitting: and he ſaid, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jehu ſaid, Unto which of all us? And he ſaid, To thee, O captain.

6 And he aroſe, and went into the houſe e, and he poured the oyl on his head f, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, * I have anointed thee king over the people of the LORD, even over Iſrael.

Heb. eace.

k To the reſt of the Commanders and Officers there preſent. l Is not this unlucky Meſſenger come with ſome ill Tidings? m They perceived him to be a Prophet by his Habit, and Geſtures, and manner of Speech. And theſe prophane Soldiers eſteemed the Lord's Prophets Mad-men; partly, becauſe of their neglect of themſelves, and contempt of all Worldly Wealth and Honour, which the wiſe Men of this World ſo greedily ſeek, and of their ſtrange and uncouth manner of living: partly, becauſe of their Holy Exerciſes to which they devoted themſelves, which they eſteemed nothing but a Religious Phrenzy: and partly, becauſe of thoſe unuſual and ſeemingly ridiculous Geſtures and Actions which the Prophets ſometimes uſed in raptures of Spirit, or in the Fervours of Devotion. Compare Jer. 29. 26. Joh. 10. 20. Act. 26. 24. n You rightly gueſs that he was a Mad-man, and ſo it appears by his Diſcourſe with me, which was, after the manner of that ſort of Men, vain and impertinent, to tell me of my ſins, or of my duty, or ſuch things as are not worth my ſpeaking, or your hearing.

12 And they ſaid, It is falſe o; tell us now p. And he ſaid, Thus and thus ſpake he to me, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Iſrael.

o There is ſomething extraordinary and of great Importance in his Meſſage, as we plainly perceive by his calling thee into an inner Chamber, by his great Expedition, and by his Geſture and Carriage. p His Concealment of the thing made them more greedy to know it.

13 Then they haſted q, and took every man his garment, and put it under him r on the top of the ſtairs ſ, and blew with trumpets, ſaying, Jehu † is king.

14 So Jehu the ſon of Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Nimſhi, conſpired againſt Joram: (Now Joram had kept Ramoth-giliad t, he and all Iſrael, becauſe of Hazael king of Syria:

t Which Interpreters conclude to have been taken by Joram before this time, though the taking of it be not mentioned. This they gather, Firſt, from the mention of the inner chamber, ver. 2. and of the top of the ſtairs here. Secondly, From ver. 15. let none go forth out of the City. But theſe Arguments ſeem not to be cogent. Not the former, becauſe there might be ſome Suburbs or out-Buildings belonging to the City, or not far from it, which the Iſraelites might have in their Poſſeſſion. Nor the latter, as we ſhall there ſee. And if it was taken, why ſhould all Iſrael be there to keep it, for which a ſtrong Garriſon was ſufficient? The Words therefore may be otherwiſe rendred, exactly according to the Hebrew, Joram had kept, or did keep (to wit, by his Army left there) or put guards, or laid ſiege at, or to (for ſo the Particle Beth is oft uſed) Ramoth-Gilead. And therefore he had all Iſrael, i. e. all the Military Force of Iſrael, with him, that he might both maintain the Siege, and withal oppoſe Hazael who ſought to relieve it.

15 But * king † Joram was returned to be healed in Jezreel, of the wounds which the Syrians * had given him, when he fought with Hazael u king of Syria). And Jehu ſaid, If it be your minds, then † let none go forth nor eſcape out of the city x, to go tell it in Jezreel y.

16 So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went to Jezreel z, (for Joram lay there) and Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to ſee Joram.

z Accompanied with the Horſemen of his Army.

17 And there ſtood a watch-man on the tower in Jezreel, and he ſpied the company of Jehu as he came, and ſaid, I ſee a company. And Joram ſaid, Take an horſeman, and ſend to meet them, and let him ſay, Is it peace a?

a Enquire who it is comes, and if he come upon peaceable terms. For he feared, leſt either the Syrians had prevailed there; or, ſome Sedition or Rebellion was raiſed againſt him; which the Example of Libnah, and his own guilty Conſcience, made him fear.

18 So there went one on horſeback to meet him, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu ſaid, What haſt thou to do with peace b? turn thee behind me. And the watch-man told, ſaying, The meſſenger came to them, but he cometh not again.

b What right haſt thou, or thy Maſter that ſent thee, to Peace?

19 Then he ſent out a ſecond on horſeback, which came to them, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu anſwered, What haſt thou to do with peace? turn thou behind me.

f Doſt thou come to me with a peaceable Mind, or in a way of Hoſtility? For now, when it was too late, he began to ſuſpect ſome Treachery: which God hid from him before, to prepare him for Deſtruction. g What cauſe haſt thou to expect Peace, when thou haſt ſo long abetted, and doſt ſtill abet, and allow thy Mother in her abominable Practices? h Which are to be underſtood, either, Firſt, Literally; Spiritual Whoredom, which is Idolatry, being oft puniſhed with corporal. See ver. 30. and witchcraft there was oft practiſed by Idolaters. Or rather, Myſtically and Spiritually, of her Idolatry, which is oft called whoredom, becauſe it is a departing from God, to whom we are all tied by many Obligations; and witchcraft, either, becauſe it doth ſo powerfully bewitch and deceive Mens Minds; or, becauſe it is a manifeſt entring into Covenant with the Devil. For Idolatry being her chief Sin, and the cauſe of all the reſt, it ſeems improbable, that Jehu would omit that in the Inditement which he drew againſt her. He mentions not Joram's, but his Mother's Sins; partly, becauſe they were more notorious and infamous: partly, becauſe they were the principal cauſe why God inflicted, and he was come to execute theſe Judgments: partly, becauſe by his Connivance he had made them his own: and partly, becauſe he could find no groſs and odious matter wherewith to charge him, except about the Worſhip of the Calves; which he forbore to mention, both leſt it ſhould loſe his Intereſt amongſt his Officers and Soldiers, who were devoted to that Worſhip; and becauſe he himſelf intended to keep it up.

23 And Joram turned his hands i, and fled, and ſaid to Ahaziah, There is treachery, O Ahaziah.

For it is not unuſual to bring in ſuch fragments of Hiſtory in ſucceeding Writings which were neglected in the Hiſtory of thoſe matters. Thus we read of the earthquake in the days of Uzziah, Amos 1. 1. which was not recorded in his Hiſtory in the Books of the Kings or Chronicles. Although he might well be charged with taking away the lives of his Sons, becauſe he took away the neceſſary ſupports of their lives. o Of which ſee the Notes on 1 King. 21. 19. p Where he ſhall lie unburied, and be a prey to the Dogs or Fowls, according to the prediction, 1 King. 21. 24.

Or, Secondly, if Samaria be the City, then the Hiſtory is briefly and imperfectly deſcribed here, and the defects ſupplied there, (the Book of Chronicles being in great part written for that end, to ſupply things omitted in the Book of Kings) and out of both, the Hiſtory may be thus compleated: He fled firſt to Megiddo, and thence to Samaria, where he was caught, and thence brought to Jehu, and by his Sentence was put to death at Megiddo, either becauſe Jehu was there at that time upon ſome occaſion; or, for ſome other reaſon, which at this diſtance of time we cannot underſtand.

† Heb. nouriſhers.

AND Ahab had ſeventy ſons a in Samaria b: And Jehu wrote letters, and ſent to Samaria, unto the rulers of Jezreel c, to the Elders d, and to † them that brought up Ahabs children e, ſaying, a Either, Firſt, Properly Sons by ſeveral Wives. Or rather, Secondly Grand-ſons are comprehended, who are oft called ſons; and Grand-fathers, fathers in Scripture. b Either, becauſe they were bred up there, that being the chief city of the Kingdom: or, becauſe upon the tidings of Joram's ſlaughter, they fled thither, or were by their Friends conveyed from ſeveral parts thither, as to the ſtrongeſt place; in which it may ſeem by Jehu's meſſage, they intended to defend themſelves and Ahab's Children, and to ſet up one as King in Joram's ſtead: or rather, becauſe they were left there by Joram, when he went to Ramoth-Gilead, that, if the Syrians had prevailed againſt him, they might have ſafety in that very ſtrong and great City, and he by their means ſuccour from it. c Heb. the princes of Jezreel, i. e. The great Perſons and Officers of the Court, which then was, and had been for ſome time at Jezreel, who either had fled thither with Ahab's Sons, upon the news of Jehu's Actions and Succeſſes: or rather, had been ſent by Joram with his Sons to Samaria, to take care of them there. d Either, by Age: or rather, by Office, the Rulers or Senators of Samaria. e That had a more particular care of the ſeveral Children under the inſpection of the princes or rulers here mentioned.

2 Now aſſoon as this letter cometh to you, ſeeing your maſters ſons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horſes, a fenced city alſo, and armour:

3 Look even out the beſt and meeteſt of your maſters ſons, and ſet him on his fathers throne, and fight for your maſters houſe f.

f Thus he ſpeaks, either, becauſe he had ſome notice of their intentions thus to do: or, to make tryal of them, whether they would do ſo, or would be true to him and his deſigns: or, to ſignifie to them his intentions of fighting againſt them, if they did ſo, that by the terror hereof he might bring them to a compliance with him.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and ſaid, Behold two kings ſtood not before him g: how then ſhould we ſtand?

g All their Power and Intereſt, either in Jezreel, or in the Army before, or in Ramoth-Golead, could not hinder him from executing his deſign, from killing the two Kings, and from invading one of their Kingdoms. It is true, he ſurprized the Kings, which a little weakens their argument; but fear and ſelf-love made them eaſily yield to it.

5 And he that was over the houſe h, and he that was over the city i, the elders alſo, and the bringers up of the children, ſent to Jehu, ſaying, We are thy ſervants, and will do all that thou ſhalt bid us k; we will not make any king: do thou that which is good in thine eyes.

h The chief Governour of the Kings Palace or Caſtle there. i The chief Magiſtrate or military Governour. k They make no delays or conditions, but ſubmit all to his mercy.

† Heb. for me.

6 Then he wrote a letter l the ſecond time to them, ſaying, If ye be † mine, and if ye will hearken unto my voice, take ye the heads of the men m, your maſters ſons, and come to me to Jezreel by to morrow this time: (now the kings ſons being ſeventy perſons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up)

l Thus Jezebel is requited for her Letter directed in like manner to the Elders of Naboth's City, whereby his life was wickedly taken away, 1 King. 21. 8. And it is probable that ſome of theſe Elders were concerned in that very Buſineſs, which makes the Judgment of God more remarkable. m Which word ſeems to imply that ſome of them were grown up, who doubtleſs trod in their Parents ſteps; and thoſe that were younger, were juſtly cut off for their Parents ſin: of which ſee on Exod. 20. 5. Deut. 5. 9.

7 And it came to paſs when the letter came to them, that they took the kings ſons, and ſlew ſeventy per-ſons ∴, and put their Heads in baskets, and ſent him them to Jezreel.

∴ Jehu juſtly required this, becauſe the Sovereign and moſt righteous Lord of all mens lives commanded it; but the Samaritans wickedly obeyed it, becauſe they deſtroyed Perſons in a great meaſure innocent, meerly out of ſlaviſh fear, and without any knowledge of, or regard to God's Command.

8 ¶ And there came a meſſenger, and told him, ſaying, They have brought the Heads of the kings ſons. And he ſaid, Lay ye them in two heaps at the entring in of the gate n, until the morning.

n The place of Judicature; to ſignifie, that this was an act of Juſtice, and of God's Righteous Judgment; and the place of greateſt concourſe, where people went out of the City, and came into it, and whither they reſorted for Judgment, and other occaſions; that all men might behold this dreadful ſpectacle of divine vengeance upon Ahab's Family, and thereby might juſtifie Jehu's cauſe and proceedings.

9 And it came to paſs in the morning, that he went out, and ſtood, and ſaid to all the people o, Ye be righteous: behold, I conſpired againſt my maſter, and ſlew † Heb. and him: but † who ſlew all theſe?

o Either, Firſt, To the promiſcuous multitude met there to gaze upon this ſad and ſtrange ſpectacle. So the ſenſe is, Be not ye troubled nor affrighted with theſe unuſual and diſmal occurrences: if any thing be amiſs in theſe actions, I do here publickly and ſolemnly acquit you as Righteous and Innocent; do not you therefore fear any vengeance from God or men for it: if there be any guilt, it is in me, and in thoſe who cut off theſe heads. Or, Secondly, To thoſe who cut off, and brought the heads; for the ſame perſons did both, and were here preſent, as Jehu commanded them, v. 6. to them he ſpeaks in the audience of all the people; or by all the people may be meant all thoſe who brought the heads, and were there waiting for Jehu, according to his order. So the ſpeech is in part Ironical, to this purpoſe, You are Righteous in your own eyes, and you look upon me as a Traitor, and Rebel, and Murderer, becauſe I have riſen againſt, and ſlain my Maſter, which I acknowledge I have done. But if I am guilty, you are not innocent, and therefore cannot accuſe me: for I have killed one, but you a great number. This explication ſeems probable; only the Hebrew word, ham, being generally uſed of the common people, may ſeem not ſo fitly to agree to theſe Rulers and great Men, who had brought the Heads; and that expreſſion, to all the people, implies, that Jehu did not direct his ſpeech to ſome particular Perſons, but to the whole Body of the people then preſent, whom he clears from all blame, and to whom he appeals as Witneſſes, between him and theſe perſons.

10 Know now, that there ſhall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD ſpake p concerning the houſe of Ahab: for the LORD
1 King. hath done that which he ſpake * † by his ſervant Eli-p But the truth is, neither I nor they are to be blamed; nor you that aſſiſted and encouraged me herein: for this is not man's work, but God's, and done by his command. q Whom he mentions, rather than Eliſha; partly, becauſe Elijah was now dead, and therefore his name and memory was more ſacred than Eliſha's, who was yet alive; this being the common humour and folly of Mankind, to value and honour thoſe that are dead, whom they contemned whilſt they lived: and partly, becauſe Elijah's Prophecy was known, and publick, and famous; when Eliſha's was delivered in a corner, and that not from his own mouth, but by one of the Sons of the Prophets.

h Either all his Houſhold: or rather, all his Kindred, and Relations, though more remote from him.

18 And Jehu gathered all the people together i, and ſaid unto them, Ahab ſerved Baal a little, but Jehu ſhall ſerve him much k.

i By their Repreſentatives, their Elders or Rulers, as was uſual: to whom he imparts his mind: and they being generally Corrupt, and Time-ſervers, and ſuch as had no ſence of Religion in them, durſt not oppoſe his Reſolution, but ſeemed to comply with it. k As if he had ſaid, My quarrel is only with Ahab's Family, and not with Baal; which my actions ſhall manifeſt. Which words being manifeſtly falſe, and ſpoken with a deſign to deceive, cannot be excuſed from Sin, though they were uttered with a pious intention; this being an unmoveable Principle, That we muſt not do the leaſt Evil of Sin, that the greateſt good may come, Rom. 3. 8. And if Jehonadab did concur with Jehu herein, it was a humane Infirmity.

19 Now therefore call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all his ſervants l, and all his prieſts, let none be wanting: for I have a great ſacrifice to do to Baal m; whoſoever ſhall be wanting, he ſhall not live. But Jehu did it in ſubtilty n, to the intent that he might deſtroy the worſhippers of Baal.

l Either, 1. All his Miniſters: of whom there may ſeem to have been ſeveral ſorts, whereof two are here diſtinctly mentioned, his Prophets and Prieſts; and the reſt of the Inferior ſort, may be comprehended under this general Title of Servants, becauſe they were to attend upon the others in their Sacred Miniſtrations. And theſe being once deſtroyed, Jehu rightly concluded, that the reſt would fall of courſe. And this ſence may ſeem to be favoured by ver. 22. wherein Veſtments were brought forth for all theſe worſhippers of Baal; which were not commonly uſed by the People, in the Worſhip either of God, or of Baal; but onely by the Prieſts, or Miniſters. Or, 2. All his Worſhippers, as the ſame word is Tranſlated, in the cloſe of this Verſe. Queſt. How could all theſe be contained in one Houſe of Baal? Anſ. Well enough, for the number of Baal's Worſhippers had been vaſtly diminiſhed by the Miniſtry of Elijah, and Eliſha, and the reſt of the Prophets; and by Joram's neglect, and diſuſe of that Worſhip. For the generality of the Iſraelites had too much knowledge to have any real and Religious reſpect to ſuch ſenſleſs Idols; only they practiſed it in compliance with the humour of their King and Queen, and for worldly, or wicked ends; and therefore when the King deſerted it, they generally forſook it; ſome few ſilly and beſotted Perſons excepted, who are here gathered together. Beſides, this Houſe or Temple of Baal might be very large and capacious, and probably was ſo, becauſe it was the chief of that ſort, as being in the King's City, and nigh his Palace, and for the uſe of the King and Queen, and the whole Court; and for great and high Solemnities. Moreover, as the name of the Houſe or Temple of God at Jeruſalem oft ſignifies, not only the principal Building, but all the other Buildings and Courts belonging to it; in which all the Worſhippers ſtood when they Worſhipped, ſo it might be here; and ſo there was ſpace ſufficient for all the Worſhippers of Baal, which can reaſonably be thought to have been at this time in all Iſrael. m I will offer to him a noble and acceptable Sacrifice; not of Sheep, or Oxen, &c. as they underſtood it; but of his own beloved Prieſts, and Prophets, and Servants; as he meant it. n With another deſign, that he might both certainly Diſcover, and utterly Deſtroy them all, without any farther trouble, or danger of Sedition or Tumult in his Kingdom.

Baal: and they proclaimed it. ſanctifie.

o Heb. Sanctifie. Prepare your ſelves, and all things neceſſary for this Solemn day, and Sacrifice, and Feaſt, which I intend to keep.

|| Or, ſo full that they ſtood mouth to mouth.

Baal; and the houſe of Baal was || full from one end to another.

p Either, 1. Becauſe they thought Jehu was ſerious and ſincere in his Profeſſions; it being natural, and uſual for men too eaſily to believe, what they wiſh to be true. And for the Prieſts which Jehu deſtroyed before, ver. 11. they might think that was done, only becauſe of their nearneſs and Relation to Ahab and his Family. Or, 2. For fear of their Lives; for certain Death was threatned to all that did not come, ver. 19. which conſidering Jehu's fierce and bloody Temper, they knew would be executed; whereas, if they did come, there was more than a poſſibility of the ſparing of their Lives: for Jehu was known to be indifferent and unconcerned in matters of Religion, one that had ſerved Baal when his Prince Ahab lived and did ſo; and forſook it when the next Prince Joram did; and therefore it was doubtful whether Jehu had not in good earneſt returned to his firſt Love, to that Religion which he had formerly embraced, and only deſerted in complacency to others. Or, 3. By God's juſt Providence, deceiving their Minds, and enclining their Hearts to come to their own Deſtruction. q i.e. The Temple.

22 And he ſaid unto him that was over the veſtry, Bring forth veſtments r for all the worſhippers of Baal. And he brought them forth veſtments.

r Sacred Garments; ſuch as were uſed by the Prieſts and others of the Lord's Miniſtry in God's Worſhip; and from thence the Devil borrowed this Cuſtom in his Worſhip.

23 And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the ſon of Rechab s into the houſe of Baal, and ſaid unto the worſhippers of Baal, Search, and look that there be here with you none of the ſervants of the LORD t, but the worſhippers of Baal only.

s Whom the Baalites poſſibly did not know, and therefore ſuſpected nothing; or, if any of the more crafty ſort ſuſpected any thing, it was now too late to amend their Error. t Becauſe their Preſence will offend Baal, and deride, or pollute his Worſhip: whence Prophane Perſons have been oft excluded from Solemn Acts of Worſhip, both by Jews and Heathens. So this did not raiſe their ſuſpicion.

24 And when they went in u to offer ſacrifices, and burnt-offerings, Jehu appointed fourſcore men x without, and ſaid, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands, eſcape, he that letteth him go, his life ſhall be for the life of him.

25 And it came to paſs aſſoon as he y had made an end of offering the burnt-offerings z, that Jehu ſaid to the guard, and to the captains a, Go in, and ſlay them, let none come forth. And they ſmote them with † the edge of the ſword, and the guard and the captains caſt them out b, and went to the city of the houſe of Baal c.

y i.e. The Chief Prieſt of Baal. See 2 Chron. 23. 17. z So far he ſuffered them to proceed; either, becauſe till then they were not all come into the Houſe: Or, becauſe having been taken in the very act of groſs Idolatry, their Deſtruction was more juſt and reaſonable. a i.e. To the Fourſcore Men, and their Officers. b i.e. Caſt their Carcaſſes out of the City. But that was not proper Work for the Guard: nor could they ſo ſoon have done it; nor would they ſtay to do it, when they were going in haſte to other Work; nor indeed was it neceſſary to be done; becauſe they intended to pull down the Houſe, and bury them in its Ruines, and turn it into a Draught-Houſe, as it follows. This Word therefore is, and may be joined with the next; and both rendred, They went haſtily and eagerly; properly, they flung themſelves out (Hiphil for Hithpahel, which is not unuſual in the Hebrew Language) and went. The like Expreſſion is uſed, Eſth. 6. 12. haſted, Heb. puſhed himſelf on, or flung himſelf, i. e. went with great haſte; and in the Greek Text, Mark 14. 72. c Either, 1. To ſome City near to Samaria, where another eminent Temple of Baal was erected. But this ſeems not to agree with the Context, there being but one Houſe or Temple of Baal mentioned, both in the foregoing and following Verſes. Or rather, 2. To ſome Buildings belonging to this Houſe of Baal, which may be here called the City; either for ſome particular reaſon now unknown: or, becauſe they were very numerous and capacious. For as there were divers Chambers and Rooms built without the Temple, belonging to it, for the uſe of the Prieſts, and Levites, &c. So it may probably be conceived, That this famous Temple of Baal had many ſuch Buildings; in ſome of which, the Prieſts of Baal, or of the Groves, (whereof there were great numbers belonging to the King's Court, 1 King. 18. 19.) peradventure might dwell; and others of them might be for divers uſes belonging to the Houſe, and Service of Baal. And into theſe Buildings the Guard might go, and that haſtily, to ſurprize, and kill thoſe inferiour Miniſters of Baal, who were there employed in preparing things for the Sacrifices which were to be offered; or, in other Services belonging to that Houſe, or that Solemnity.

g Herein he diſcovers his Hypocriſie, that he follows God as far as his Intereſt would permit; namely, in deſtroying the Houſe of Ahab, and the Worſhip of Baal, but no further: for he ſtill reſolves to keep up the Worſhip of the Calves: partly, leſt he ſhould diſoblige and irritate his own Nobles and Subjects, who had been long inured, and were heartily affected to it: and partly, leſt he ſhould open a Door for his People to return to their Obedience to the Houſe of David. And his ſin and folly is the more inexcuſable, both becauſe he durſt not truſt that God with the keeping of his Kingdom, of whoſe Power, and Faithfulneſs, and Kindneſs to him, he had ſuch ample Experience in his giving him the Kingdom; and becauſe he had ſo great and uncontrolable a Power in the matters of Religion; having firſt pretended, and ſeemed to ſet up the Worſhip of Baal with all his might, and then deſtroying it with no leſs Vehemency, none daring to mutter againſt him in either caſe; and becauſe the Houſe of David, and Kingdom of Judah, his Competitor, now was, and was likely to be in a feeble and declining Condition, and much more likely to fall into his Hands, than that his Kingdom ſhould come into theirs.

30 And the LORD ſaid unto Jehu h, Becauſe thou haſt done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes i, and haſt done unto the houſe of Ahab according to all that was in mine heart, * thy children of the fourth generation ſhall ſit on the throne of Iſrael k.

a i.e. All of the Royal Family, left after thoſe Slaughters, 2 Chron. 21. 2, 4. and 22. 1. and 2 King. 10. 13, 14. except one, as the next Verſe limits and explains it. This ſhe did, partly out of Rage at the Extirpation of her Family; reſolving, that David's Family ſhould not out-live hers; partly, from Ambition and deſire of Rule; for which many Perſons have deſtroyed their neareſt Relations: partly, from the Zeal which ſhe had for Idolatry, and the Worſhip of Baal which ſhe intended to eſtabliſh; to which ſhe knew the Houſe of David were implacable Enemies. And partly, in her own Defence, that ſhe might ſecure her ſelf from Jehu's Fury, who was commanded by God, and reſolved in himſelf, utterly to deſtroy all the Branches of Ahab's Family, whereof ſhe was one, Chap. 8. 18, 26. For had ſhe not done this, ſhe ſuſpected, that either the King, or People of Judah would have delivered her up to Jehu upon his Demand. Poſſibly thoſe whom ſhe ſlew were Joram's Children by another Wife: Of which, ſee on the next Verſe. And this was the fruit of Jehoſhaphat's Marrying his Son to a Daughter of that Idolatrous and Wicked Houſe of Ahab, even the extirpation of all his Poſterity, but one. And this dreadful Judgment God permitted, and inflicted upon him and his, to ſhew how much he abhors all ſuch ſinful and unequal Affinities.

2 But Jehoſheba b the daughter of king Joram c ſiſter of Ahaziah, took Joaſh the ſon of Ahaziah c, and ſtole him from among the kings ſons which were ſlain d; and they e hid him, even him and his nurſe in the bed-chamber f, from Athaliah, ſo that he was not ſlain.

b Called Jehoſhabeath, 2 Chron. 22. 11. c To wit, by another Wife, and not by this Athaliah: for it is not likely Jehoiadah who Married her, 2 Chron. 22. 11. would have Married one of that wicked and curſed Houſe, except he were married very young, and therein over-ruled by his Parents. c Either, 1. His Adopted, and Legal Son, who was to ſucceed him, though he was of another Houſe, and of Nathan's Family, as many think: ſuch Perſons being ſometimes called the Sons of their Predeceſſors, as we ſhall ſee hereafter. Or rather, 2. His proper and natural Son; for not only he, but the reſt who were ſlain, are here called the kings (i. e. Joram's) ſons. d Either, 1. From amidſt of the Carcaſſes, where this Infant was laid, and ſuppoſed by her to be killed, though it was not quite dead; either through the Compaſſion, or Connivance of the Inſtruments of this Execution; or by ſome other Artifice which his Nurſe uſed. Or, 2. Out of that Apartment of the Palace which was allotted for the Kings Children. e Jehoſheba and her Husband Jehoiadah. f Which was in the Houſe of the Lord; as is affirmed in the next Verſe. So that it was one of thoſe Chambers adjoyning, or near to the Temple, which were for the uſes of the Prieſts and Levites, and for them only: which made it more proper for this purpoſe.

3 And he was with her hid in the houſe of the LORD, ſix years g: and Athaliah did reign over the land h.

g Either, Athaliah thought they were all Dead; or if ſhe ſuſpected that this was preſerved, ſhe thought an Infant could do her no great harm; and that ſhe could ſo well aſſure the Kingdom to her ſelf within a few Years, that ſhe need not fear any ſuch weak Competitor; or ſhe was willing to ſmother up the buſineſs, leſt if ſhe had made a ſtrict and diligent Search for it, the People ſhould thereby learn, that there was yet a Son of David's Family left; and ſo be unquiet under her Government, and deſirous of a Change. h Which ſhe had an opportunity to do, becauſe ſhe was not only the late King's Wife, but alſo was probably made Queen-Regent upon Joram's going to Ramoth-Gilead.

Chron. 1. 4 And * in the ſeventh year Jehoiada ſent i, and ſet the rulers over hundreds k, with the captains l and the guard m, and brought them to him into the houſe of the LORD n, and made a covenant with them o, and took an oath of them p in the houſe of the LORD, and ſhewed them the kings ſon.

i If this action of Jehoiadah's ſeem ſtrange and irregular, this was no ordinary caſe, but there were divers peculiar things in it; as that Athaliah was a meer Uſurper, having no pretence of Right to the Crown, and one of that wicked Houſe which God had particularly, and by Name, devoted to Deſtruction; that Jehoiadah's Wife was nearer Allied, and had more Right to the Crown, than Athaliah; that the Crown of Judah was by Divine appointment appropriated to the Sons of David; and therefore the Right of the Crown was inherently in him whom Jehoiadah ſet up, which Right her Uſurpation could not exclude: That Jehoiadah was not a meer private Perſon, but the Husband of the King's Aunt; and probably the High-Prieſt, to whom it belonged in great part to ſee the Laws of God executed: That Jehoiadah did not act alone in the buſineſs, but had the Conſent and Concurrence of the Chief Rulers both Civil and Eccleſiaſtical; and beſides all this, that it is conceived, That he had a ſpecial Motion of God's Spirit, or the Direction and Encouragement of the Prophets of that time. So that this action cannot be drawn into a Preſident for ſucceeding Times, and for other Kingdoms. k Of whom ſee Exod. 18. 25. Of theſe there were five, which are named, 2 Chron. 23. 1. And theſe were either, 1. Civil, or Military Officers. But then ſuch ſmall Officers could not have ſtood him in much ſtead. And why did he not rather engage Captains of Thouſands, or greater Perſons, whom doubtleſs he might eaſily have brought iuto this Confederacy? Or rather, Prieſts or Levites of eminency, as their Work ſheweth, ver. 5, 6, 7. and 2 Chron. 23. 1, 2. and their diſtinction from the Captains and Guard. l Or, Princes, or Nobles, or Commanders; ſuch as he knew were weary of her Idolatrous and Tyrannical Government, and Faithful to their King. m Poſſibly thoſe who had been the former King's Guard, who had been diſplaced by Athaliah, as Perſons whoſe Fidelity ſhe ſuſpected. n i. e. Into the Courts of that Houſe, which oft come under the Name of the Houſe, or Temple of the Lord: for into the Houſe none but the Prieſts or Levites might enter. o To reſtore the King to his Kingdom, and Religion to its Purity. p For their Secreſie and Fidelity in the preſent Deſign.

5 And he commanded them, ſaying, This is the thing

q Either, 1. A third part of you, (i. e. of the whole Number, including thoſe that come in, and thoſe that go out on the Sabbath) even they that enter in on the Sabbath: and ſo the two other Third parts were to conſiſt of thoſe that went out on the Sabbath; as ſome gather from ver. 6, 7. Or rather, 2. A third part only of thoſe that enter in on the Sabbath, who ſeem to be plainly divided into three Thirds here; and ver. 6. as thoſe that went forth on the Sabbath are expreſly diſtributed into Two Parts, ver. 7. r i. e. That come into the Temple on the Sabbath-day. For the underſtanding of this matter, you muſt know, That the Levites were, in and from David's time, diſtributed into Twenty four Courſes, which were to do the Work of the Temple ſucceſſively, and by turns; each Courſe conſiſting of about a Thouſand Men for his Week: of which ſee 1 Chron. 23. and 24. s Either, 1. Of that Bed-chamber where the King now was. But it is unlikely, and without Example, either that one Bed-chamber, or the Temple, or any part of it, ſhould be called the King's Houſe. i Let them go abroad through all the parts of the Land, as they have acquaintance and intereſt, and gather up the Money, and bring it to Jeruſalem. k Either through decay; or, by ill accidents; or, by the malice of Athaliah or her Relations: Of which ſee 2 Chron. 24. 7.

6 But it was ſo, that † in the three and twentieth year of king Jehoaſh, the prieſts had not repaired the breaches of the houſe l.

l Either, becauſe the People were generally corrupt and backward to the Worſhip of God, eſpecially where it coſt them any thing: or, becauſe the Perſons employed in making the Collections, were negligent, or unfaithful, perverting the Money received, to their own uſes, as may ſeem probable from the contrary character of other Perſons, of whom it is noted, that they dealt faithfully, below, v. 15. or, becauſe the people did not like this way of Collection, and had no good opinion of the Collectors Faithfulneſs.

7 Then king Jehoaſh called for Jehoiada the prieſt, and the other prieſts, and ſaid unto them, Why repair ye not the breaches of the houſe? now therefore receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it m for the ‖ breaches of the houſe.

4 And Jehoahaz beſought the LORD, and the LORD hearkened unto him c: for he ſaw d the oppreſſion of Iſrael e, becauſe the king of Syria oppreſſed them f.

c Not for his ſake, for God regards not the prayers of the wicked and impenitent, Pſal. 66. 18. Prov. 1. 28. and 15. 8. but for other reaſons expreſſed below, ver. 23. d i. e. He obſerved it with care and compaſſion. e His choſen and once beloved people. 7 Neither did he k leave of the people l to Jehoahaz, but fifty horſemen, and ten chariots, and ten thouſand footmen: for the king of Syria had deſtroyed them, and had made them like the duſt by * threſhing m. * Amos 1. 3.

k i. e. The King of Syria, ver. 4. with which this Verſe is to be joyned; ver. 5. and 6. being put within a Parentheſis, as it is in our Tranſlation. But this verſe may be tranſlated otherwiſe, Although he (either the King of Syria, v. 4. or the Lord, ver. 5. to whom Judgments are oft aſcribed, even when wicked men are the inſtruments of executing it) had not left, &c. And ſo it may be joyned with the next foregoing Verſe, as a great aggravation of their impenitency, and obſtinate continuance in their Idolatry, notwithſtanding ſuch terrible Judgments, which in all reaſon ſhould have driven them from it. l i. e. Of his Army, or Men of War, as the following words evince. m i. e. Had broken and ground them to duſt, or powder, as the Corn is many times broken by threſhing.

8 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might n, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

n For though his ſucceſs was not good, he ſhewed much perſonal valour and courage. Which is noted to intimate, that the Iſraelites were not conquered, becauſe of the baſeneſs and cowardiſe of their King, but meerly from the Righteous and dreadful Judgment of God, who was now reſolved to reckon with them for their filthy Apoſtacy.

9 And Jehoahaz ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joaſh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

10 ¶ In the thirty and ſeventh year of Joaſh king of Judah o, began Jehoaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned ſixteen years.

o By which, compared with v. 1. it may be gathered, that Jehoahaz had two or three Years before his death made his Son Jehoaſh King with him: which is very probable, becauſe he was perpetually in the ſtate of War, and conſequently in danger of an untimely death; and becauſe he was a Man of valour, as is implied here, ver. 12. and declared 2 Chron. 25.

11 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD; he departed not from all the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, who made Iſrael ſin: but he walked therein.

12 And the reſt of the acts of Joaſh, and all that he did, and his might wherewith he fought againſt Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

13 And Joaſh ſlept with his fathers, and Jeroboam ſat upon his throne: and Joaſh was buried in Samaria with the kings of Iſrael.

14 ¶ Now Eliſha was fallen ſick, of his ſickneſs whereof he died, and Joaſh the king of Iſrael came down unto him, and wept over his face p, and ſaid, O my father, my father, the chariot of Iſrael and the horſemen thereof q.

p Not for any true Love and Reſpect to him, for then he would have followed his counſel, in forſaking the Calves, and returning to the Lord; but for his own and the Kingdoms ineſtimable loſs in him. q See 2 King. 2. 12.

15 And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Take bow and arrows: And he took unto him bow and arrows.

16 And he ſaid to the king of Iſrael, † Put thine hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it: and Eliſha put his hands upon the kings hands. † Heb. Make thine hand to ride.

17 And he ſaid, Open the window eaſtward r: and he opened it. Then Eliſha ſaid, Shoot: and he ſhot. And he ſaid, The arrow of the LORD's deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria: for thou ſhalt ſmite the Syrians in Aphek ſ, till thou have conſumed them t.

r Either, towards Syria, which lay North-Eaſt-ward, from the Land of Iſrael: or, towards the Iſraelites Land beyond Jordan, which lay Eaſt-ward from Canaan, and which was now poſſeſſed by the Syrians. Either way this Arrow is ſhot againſt the Syrians, as a token what God intended to do againſt them. ſ Not in the City, but in the Territory of it, where it ſeems there was a great Battel to be fought between the Iſraelites and Syrians. Of Aphek ſee 1 Sam. 4. 1. and 29. 1. 1 King. 20. 30. though it is poſſible there might be ſeveral Cities of that name. Or, as in Aphek, i. e. thou ſhalt ſmite them as they were ſmitten in the City and Territory of Aphek, i. e. utterly deſtroy them. See 1 King. 20. 26, 29, 30. the Particle as being oft underſtood, as hath been formerly and frequently proved. t i. e. The Syrians, not all that people, but their Armies, or at leaſt that which was to be at Aphek, where a dreadful Battel was to be fought. Or, if this be meant of all the Syrian Armies, this is to be underſtood conditionally, if he did not hinder it by his unbelief or neglect, ſignified in the following Verſes.

18 And he ſaid, Take the arrows: and he took them. And he ſaid unto the king of Iſrael, Smite upon the ground u: and he ſmote thrice, and ſtayed.

u The former ſign portended Victory, and this was to declare the number of the Victories.

19 And the man of God was wroth with him, and ſaid, Thou ſhouldeſt have ſmitten five or ſix times, then hadſt thou ſmitten Syria till thou hadſt conſumed it: whereas now thou ſhalt ſmite Syria but thrice x.

x Queſt. Wherein was Jehoaſh his fault, or why was the Prophet angry with him? Anſw. The Prophet himſelf did not yet know how many Victories Jehoaſh ſhould obtain againſt the Syrians, but God had ſignified to him, that he ſhould learn that by the number of the Kings ſtrokes. And he was angry with him, not ſimply, becauſe he ſmote onely thrice, but becauſe by his unbelief and Idolatry he provoked God ſo to over-rule his heart and hand, that he ſhould ſmite but thrice, which was a token that God would aſſiſt him no further. Although his ſmiting but thrice might proceed either from his unbelief or negligence, For by the former ſign, and the Prophet's Comment upon it, he might clearly perceive that this alſo was intended as a ſign of his ſucceſs againſt the Syrians, and therefore he ought to have done it frequently, and vehemently.

20 ¶ And Eliſha died, and they buried him y: and the bands of the Moabites invaded the land at the coming in of the year z.

y In or near Samaria. z In the Spring, when the Fruits of the Earth grew ripe.

21 And it came to paſs as they were burying ∴ a man, that behold, they ſpied a band of men a, and they caſt the man into the ſepulchre of Eliſha b: and when the man c † was let down, and touched the bones of Eliſha d, he revived, and ſtood up on his feet e. † Heb. went down.

∴ Or, were about to bury, as that Particle is oft uſed in the Hebrew Tongue. a Coming towards them, but at ſome diſtance. b Not daring to carry the dead Corps further to the place appointed for his burial, they made uſe of the next burying-place, where Eliſha was buried, and there they removed ſome Stone, or opened ſome Door, and haſtily flung down their dead Corps there. c i. e. The man's dead Body, or the Coffin in which he was put. d Which might eaſily be, the Coffin and linnen in which Eliſha's Body was put, and the Fleſh of his body being now conſumed: for this was ſome conſiderable time after his death. e Which Miracle God wrought there, partly, to do honour to that great Prophet, and that by this Seal he might confirm his Doctrine, and thereby confute the falſe Doctrine and Worſhip of the Iſraelites; partly, to ſtrengthen the Faith of Joaſh, and of the Iſraelites, in his promiſe of their ſucceſs againſt the Syrians; and partly, in the midſt of all their Calamities to comfort ſuch Iſraelites as were Eliſha's followers, with the hopes of that Eternal Life, whereof this was a manifeſt pledge, and to awaken the reſt of that people to a due care and preparation for it.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Syria oppreſſed Iſrael all the days of Jehoahaz.

23 And the LORD was gracious unto them, and had compaſſion on them, and had reſpect unto them, becauſe of his covenant with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and would not deſtroy them, neither caſt he them from his † preſence f as yet. † Heb. face.

f i. e. From the Land of Canaan, to which the preſence, and publick and ſolemn Worſhip of God was confined.

24 So Hazael king of Syria died, and Benhadad his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

25 And Jehoaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz † took again out of the hand of Benhadad the ſon of Hazael, the cities which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his Father by war: three times did Joaſh beat him g, and recovered the cities of Iſrael. † Heb. returned and took.

g According to the Prediction above, v. 19.

CHAP. XIV.

Amaziah's good reign: His juſtice on the Murtherers of his Father: His Victory over Edom: Warreth againſt Jehoaſh King of Iſrael: Is overcome by him; and ſlain by his own People: Azariah ſucceedeth him, 1——22. Jehoaſh dieth; and Jeroboam his Son is King over Iſrael: His Acts, and Death: Zachariah his Son ſucceedeth him, 23——29.

IN the ſecond year of Joaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael a, reigned * Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah. * 2 Chro. 25. 1.

a i. e. After he began to Reign alone: for he Reigned two or three Years with his Father: Of which ſee on chap. 13. 10.

2 He was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty and nine years b in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan of Jeruſalem.

b To wit, 14 Years with Joaſh King of Iſrael, who reigned onely 16 Years, chap. 13. 10. and 15 Years after the death of Joaſh, or with Jeroboam the Son of Joaſh, as is affirmed here, ver. 17. and 2 Chron. 25. 25.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD c, yet not like David his father d: he did according to all things as Joaſh his father did e.

c That which was in ſome ſort agreeable to God's Will. d Not ſincerely, 2 Chron. 25. 2. e i. e. For a time ſerved God aright, but afterwards fell to Idolatry, 1 Chron. 25. 14. as Joaſh had done, 2 King. 12. 3.

4 Howbeit f, the high places were not taken away: as yet the people did ſacrifice, and burnt incenſe on the high places.

f Though he did right, &c. for this particle is to be joyned with thoſe words, the reſt being to be cloſed with a Parentheſis.

5 ¶ And it came to paſs aſſoon as the kingdom was confirmed in his hand, that he ſlew his ſervants * which had ſlain the king his father ∴. * Chap. 12. 20.

∴ Whereby it is implied, that his Father's Murderers had powerful Friends and Abettors, and that their fact was in ſome ſort approved by the generality of the People, to whom Joaſh had made himſelf hateful by his Apoſtacy to Idolatry, and by his ingratitude to the Houſe of Jehoiada.

6 But the children of the murderer he ſlew not g: according unto that which is written in the book of the law of Moſes, wherein the LORD commanded, ſaying, * The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, nor the children be put to death for the fathers; but every man ſhall be put to death for his own ſin. * Deut. 24. 16. Ezek. 18. 20.

g Wherein he ſhewed ſome Faith and Courage, that he would obey this Command of God, though it was very hazardous to himſelf, ſuch perſons being likely to ſeek revenge for their Fathers death.

7 He ſlew of Edom b in the valley of ſalt i, ten thouſand, and took ‖ Selah k by war, and called the name of it Joktheel l, unto this day. ‖ Or, the rock.

b i. e. Of the Edomites, or the children of Seir, as they are called 2 Chron. 25. 11. either, becauſe they dwelt in Seir; See Gen. 36. 8. or, becauſe theſe people were confederates. And he invaded theſe People becauſe they were Subjects to his Kingdom, from which they had revolted in Joram's days, 2 King. 8. 20. i Which was the Land of Edom: Of which ſee 2 Sam. 8. 13. Pſal. 60. 2. k Or, the rock: the chief City of that part of Arabia, called by other Authors Petra, which ſignifies a rock, becauſe it was built upon a Rock, 2 Chron. 25. 12. l Which ſignifies, the obedience of God, i. e. given him by God as a reward of his Obedience to God's Meſſage by the Prophet, 2 Chron. 25. 8, 9.

8 ¶ Then Amaziah ſent meſſengers to Jehoaſh, the ſon of Jehoahaz ſon of Jehu, king of Iſrael, ſaying, Come, let us look one another in the face m.

m Let us fight perſonally, and with our Armies. This challenge he ſent, partly upon the late and great injuries done by the Iſraelites to his people, 2 Chron. 25. 10. 13. and partly, from ſelf-confidence, and a deſire of advancing his Glory and Empire by his Arms.

9 And Jehoaſh the king of Iſrael ſent to Amaziah king of Judah, ſaying, The thiſtle that was in Lebanon, ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon n, ſaying, Give thy daughter to my ſon to wife o: and there paſſed by a wild beaſt that was in Lebanon, and trod down the thiſtle p.

n By the thiſtle, a low and contemptible, yet troubleſome Shrub, he underſtands Amaziah; and by the cedar, himſelf, whom he intimates to be far ſtronger than he, and out of his reach. o Let us make a match, i. e. let us fight. Onely he expreſſeth this Bloody work in a civil manner, as Amaziah had done, ver. 8. and as Abner did, 2 Sam. 2. 14. Or, let thy Kingdom and mine be United under one King, as formerly they were; and let us decide it by a pitched Battel, whether thou or I ſhall be that King. Or, as ſome expound it, by affirming, That it was great arrogancy and preſumption for him to deſire a Friendly League or Affinity with him; he leaves him to gueſs how intolerable it was that he ſhould undertake to wage War againſt him. p And with no leſs eaſe ſhall my Soldiers tread down thee and thy Forces.

11 But Amaziah would not hear r: therefore Jehoaſh king of Iſrael went up ſ, and he and Amaziah king of Judah looked one another in the face at Beth-ſhemeſh, which belongeth to Judah t.

13 And Jehoaſh king of Iſrael took Amaziah king of Judah, the ſon of Jehoaſh, the ſon of Ahaziah, at Beth-ſhemeſh, and came to Jeruſalem x, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem, from the gate of Ephraim y, unto the corner-gate, four hundred cubits z.

x Commanding entrance in Amaziah's name, and with his conſent, which he durſt not deny. y Which led to Ephraim. z Which was done, partly in ſcorn and contempt; and partly, that he might re-enter and retake it, if they ſhould attempt to renew the War.

14 And he took all the gold and ſilver, and all the veſſels that were found in the houſe of the LORD, and in the treaſures of the kings houſe, and hoſtages a, and returned to Samaria b.

a To aſſure their peaceable carriage towards him. b He did not keep Jeruſalem, nor ſeek to gain the poſſeſſion and dominion of that Kingdom; partly, becauſe he thought he could not keep it, conſidering the difficulty he found in keeping his own from ſuch potent and near Enemies as the Syrians were; and the great affection which all Judah bare to David's Houſe: and partly, becauſe God ſo inclined his heart, that he might make good his promiſe to David and his Family.

15 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoaſh which he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

† Heb. reigned.

IN the twenty and ſeventh year of Jeroboam king of Iſrael a, † began Azariah b ſon of Amaziah king of Judah to reign c.

a Queſt. How can this be true, ſeeing Amaziah, the Father of this Azariah, lived only till the 15th Year of Jeroboam's Reign, chap. 14. 2, 23? Anſw. This might be either, Firſt, Becauſe Jeroboam was made King by, and Reigned with his Father eleven or twelve Years, and afterwards Reigned alone; and ſo there is a two-fold beginning of his Kingdom; by the former this was his 27th Year, and by the later, his 15th Year. Or, Secondly, becauſe there was an Inter-Reign for eleven or twelve Years in the Kingdom of Judah; either, through the prevalency of that Faction which cut off Amaziah the Father, and kept the Son out of his Kingdom; or, becauſe Azariah was very young when his Father was ſlain, and the people were not agreed to reſtore him to his Right till his 16th Year, chap. 14. 21. 2 Chr. 26. 1. And yet theſe 11 or 12 Years of Inter-Reign, in which he was excluded from the exerciſe of his Regal Office, ſome think to be included in thoſe 52 Years which are here aſcribed to Azariah's Reign, ver. 2. which may well be doubted. b Called alſo Uzziah here, and ver. 13, 30. c Solely and fully to exerciſe his Regal Power.

2 Sixteen years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned two and fifty years d in Jeruſalem, and his mothers name was Jecholiah of Jeruſalem.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done e; e i. e. In the ſame manner, unſincerely, and but for a time.

5 ¶ And the Lord * ſmote the king, ſo that he was a leper g unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a ſeveral houſe h: and Jotham the kings ſon was over the houſe, judging the people of the land i.

g The Cauſe whereof ſee 2 Chron. 26. 16. h Separated from Converſation with others by vertue of that Law, Lev. 13. 46. which being the Law of the King of Kings, bound Kings no leſs than Subjects. i i. e. He governed the King's Court and whole Kingdom, in his Name, and as his Vicegerent.

† Heb. cauſed to come forth.

20 And Menahem † exacted the money of Iſrael, even of all the mighty men of wealth, of each man x fifty ſhekels of ſilver, to give to the king of Aſſyria: ſo the king of Aſſyria turned back, and ſtayed not there in the land.

x i.e. Of each of thoſe wealthy Iſraelites. But as each of theſe were not equally Wealthy, ſo it is not probable that he taxed them equally. Others therefore render it, to or for each man, i. e. for every Aſſyrian Soldier: which Interpretation is favoured by the placing of the Words in the Hebrew Text, which differs from that in our Tranſlation.

21 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

22 And Menahem ſlept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the ſon of Menahem began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, and reigned two years.

f Which he did more eaſily effect, becauſe the people were enraged againſt Pekah, as the Man who by his Murder of King Pekahiah the Son of Menahem, whom the Aſſyrian Monarch ſet up and favoured, and by his unneceſſary War with Ahaz, had brought the Aſſyrian upon them, and cauſed the loſs of one half of that Kingdom. g Queſt. How could this be, when Jotham Reigned only 16 Years, below, ver. 33? Anſ. The meaning is, That he began his Reign in the twentieth Year after the beginning of Jotham's Reign; or, which is the ſame thing, in the fourth Year of Ahaz, Son of Jotham, as appears from chap. 16. 1. But the Sacred Writer, having not yet made mention of Ahaz, thought it more proper to number Hoſhea's Years by Jotham, of whom he had ſpoken, than by Ahaz. Beſides, as Jotham did Reign divers Years in his Father's Life, ſo might Ahaz in Jotham's Life, and Jotham might for divers Reaſons (which it is needleſs here to enquire) reſign up the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom wholly into Ahaz his hands ſome Years before his Death, and therefore might be ſaid to Reign but 16 Years, though he lived longer.

a Of which ſee on ch. 15. 30.

2 Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign b, and reigned ſixteen years in Jeruſalem, and did not that which was right in the ſight of the LORD his God, like David his father.

b Of the Difficulty hence ariſing, ſee the Notes on chap. 18. 2. to which it more properly belongs.

3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Iſrael, yea, and made his ſon to paſs through the fire c, according to the abominations of the heathen, whom the LORD caſt out from before the children of Iſrael.

c Either, 1. By way of Luſtration, to paſs haſtily thorow it, ſo as to be ſcorched, and, as it were, baptized with it: Or, 2. By way of Oblation, ſo as to be utterly conſumed, and offered for a Burnt-offering, which was the practice of Heathens, and of ſome Iſraelites, in imitation of them; of which, ſee 2 Kings 21. 6. Pſal. 105. 36. Jer. 7. 31. which ſeems beſt to agree with 2 Chron. 28. 3. where it is ſaid, he burnt his children, i. e. ſome of them: firſt one, as is here noted, and afterwards others of them, as is there obſerved. Of theſe practices, ſee more on Lev. 18. 21. and Deut. 18. 10.

5 ¶ * Then Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah ſon of Remaliah king of Iſrael, came up to Jeruſalem to war: and they beſieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him e.

e Becauſe God of his own meer Grace, undertook their Protection, as he promiſed to do, and diſappointed the Hopes and Deſign of their Enemies: of which, ſee on Iſa. 7.

6 At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath f to Syria, and drave the Jews from Elath: and the Syrians came to Elath, and dwelt there unto this day.

f i.e. Took it from the Jews, who had not long ſince taken it, chap. 14. 22. It lay in the land of Edom, upon the Red Sea, very conveniently for Navigation: of which, ſee on 1 Kings 9. 26.

7 So Ahaz ſent meſſengers to Tiglath-pileſer king of Aſſyria, ſaying, I am thy ſervant, and thy ſon g: come up, and ſave me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Iſrael h, which riſe up againſt me.

g I yield my ſelf to thee, as thy Vaſſal, to ſerve and obey thee, and pay thee Tribute, upon condition thou doeſt aſſiſt me againſt my Enemies. h For though they were now gone from Jeruſalem, yet he juſtly concluded they would return again, and from time to time moleſt and vex him.

* Chap. 12. 18.

9 And the king of Aſſyria hearkened unto him: for the king of Aſſyria went up againſt † Damaſcus i, and took it, and carried the people of it captive k to Kir l, and ſlew Rezin.

10 ¶ And king Ahaz went to Damaſcus, to meet Tiglath-pileſer king of Aſſyria m, and ſaw an altar n that was at Damaſcus: and king Ahaz ſent to Urijah the prieſt the faſhion of the altar, and the pattern of it, according to all the workmanſhip thereof.

m To congratulate his Victory, and acknowledge his Favour and Help, and to beg the Continuance of it. n Of an excellent Structure, upon which the Syrians uſed to offer to their Idols; ſee 2 Chron. 28. 23.

o So he complied with the King's Command againſt his own Conſcience, and againſt the expreſs Command of that great God, to whom the King, and he both, were ſubject. p He made haſte, and delayed not to do it, to pleaſe the King, and advance himſelf.

12 And when the king was come from Damaſcus, the king ſaw the altar: and the king approached to the altar, and offered thereon q.

q To wit, a Sacrifice, and that not unto God, but unto the Syrian Idols, as appears from 2 Chron. 28. 23, 24. to whom that Altar was appropriated. Whether he offered this by himſelf, or by a Prieſt, is not certain.

13 And he burnt his burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and poured his drink-offering, and ſprinkled the blood of † his peace-offerings r upon the altar.

† Heb. which were his.

r For the Heathens; and Ahaz, in imitation of them, offered the ſame ſorts of Offerings to their Falſe Gods, which the Iſraelites did to the true, the Devil being noted to be God's Ape in his Worſhip.

14 And he brought alſo the brazen altar ſ which was before the LORD t, from the fore-front of the houſe, from between the altar and the houſe of the LORD u, and put it on the north ſide of the altar x.

ſ Of Burnt-Offerings, made by Solomon, and placed there by God's appointment. t i. e. From before the Lord's Houſe; See on *Lev.*1.3. u Or rather, from between his Altar, &c. or, that Altar, &c. His new Altar was at firſt ſet below the Brazen Altar, and at a further diſtance from the Temple. This he took for a Diſparagement to his Altar; and therefore moſt impiouſly and audaciouſly takes that away, and puts his in its place. x Or, of that Altar; or of his Altar; as before. So he put God's Altar out of its place and uſe.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Urijah the prieſt, ſaying, Upon the great altar y burn * the morning burnt-offering, and the evening meat-offering, and the kings burnt-ſacrifice, and his meat-offering, with the burnt-offering of all the people of the land, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, and ſprinkle upon it all the blood of the burnt-offering, and all the blood of the ſacrifice z: and the brazen altar ſhall be for me to enquire by a.

* Exod. 29. 39,40, 41.

y i. e. This new Altar; which was greater than Solomon's, either in quantity, or in his eſtimation. z Whatſoever is offered to the true God, either in my Name (for poſſibly he did not yet utterly forſake God, but Worſhipped Idols with him) or on the behalf of the People, ſhall be offered upon this new Altar: Which he ſeems to preſcribe, not only to gratifie his own Humour, but alſo in deſign to diſcourage, and by degrees to extinguiſh the Worſhip of the True God: for he concluded, that the Worſhippers of God would never be willing to offer their Sacrifices upon his Altar. a That ſhall be reſerved for my proper uſe, to enquire by; i. e. at which I may ſeek God, or his favour, or enquire of his Will, to wit, by Sacrifices joined with Prayer, when I ſhall ſee fit. He ſaith only to ſeek, or to enquire; not ſeek the Lord, or, to enquire of the Lord, as the Phraſe is more largely expreſſed elſewhere; but he would not vouchſafe to mention the name of the Lord, whom he had ſo groſly forſaken and deſpiſed.

16 Thus did Urijah the prieſt, according to all that king Ahaz commanded b.

b Having once began to debauch his Conſcience, he could not now make an honourable Retreat; and therefore proceeds to execute all the King's Commands.

17 ¶ And king Ahaz cut off * the borders of the baſes, and removed the laver from off them, and took down the * ſea from off the brazen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of ſtones c.

* 1 Kings 7.27,28.
* 1 Kings 7.23,25.

c Which he did, either to expreſs his Contempt of them, or to render them inconvenient for the uſes to which they had been deſigned; or to diſpoſe of them, or of the Braſs of them, in ſome other place and way, as beſt ſuited with his fancy; or for the King of Aſſyria, as it follows in the next Verſe.

18 And the covert for the ſabbath d that they had built in the houſe, and the kings entry without e, turned he from the houſe of the LORD, for the king of Aſſyria f.

d The form and uſe whereof is now unknown. It is generally underſtood of ſome Building, or Covert, either that where the Prieſts after their Weekly Courſe was ended, abode until the next Courſe came, and relieved them; which was done upon the Sabbath-day, ſee 2 Kings 11. 5, 7. or that in which the Guard, or Watchmen of the Temple, kept their ſtation; or that under which the King uſed to ſit to hear God's Word, and ſee the Sacrifices; which is called, the covert of the Sabbath, becauſe the chief times in which the King uſed it for thoſe ends, was the Weekly Sabbath, and other ſolemn Days of Feaſting, or Faſting (which all come under the name of Sabbaths in the Old Teſtament) upon which the King uſed more certainly, and ſolemnly, to preſent himſelf before the Lord, than at other times. e By which the King uſed to go from his Palace to the Temple; ſee on 1 Kings 10. 5, 12. f i. e. That he might ingratiate himſelf with the King of Aſſyria, by his publick Contempt and Rejection of that Religion which had been the only Partion-Wall between the Kings of Judah, and other Kings; and which poſſibly the preſent King of Aſſyria did vehemently diſlike and hate; and therefore required theſe things from Ahaz.

19 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaz, which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And Ahaz ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Hezekiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XVII.

Hoſhea King of Iſrael his wicked Reign: Being ſubdued by Shalmaneſer King of Aſſyria, he conſpireth againſt him with So King of Egypt: He is beſieged: taken Priſoner: and with all the People carried Captive to Aſſyria for their Sins, 1—23. The ſtrange Nations tranſplanted into Samaria, are plagued with Lions: an Iſraelitiſh Prieſt is ſent to them: Whence followeth a mixture of Religions, 24—41.

IN the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, † began Hoſhea the ſon of Elah to reign a in Samaria, over Iſrael nine years b.

† Heb. reigned.

a Queſt. How can this be true, ſeeing it is ſaid, that he reigned, or began to reign in Iſrael in the twentieth year of Jotham, chap. 15. 30. which was the Fourth Year of Ahaz, as was there noted? Anſ. He uſurped the Kingdom in Ahaz his Fourth Year; but either was not owned as King, by the generality of the People; or was not accepted and eſtabliſhed in his Kingdom by the Aſſyrian, till Ahaz his Twelfth Year: Or, in his eight firſt Years, he was only a Tributary Prince, and the King of Aſſyria's Vice-Roy; and after that time he ſet up for himſelf, which drew the Aſſyrian upon him. b To wit, after his Confirmation and peaceable Poſſeſſion of his Kingdom: For in all, he reigned Seventeen, or Eighteen Years; to wit, Twelve with Ahaz, who reigned Sixteen Years, and Six with Hezekiah, 2 Kings 18. 10.

2 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD, but not as the kings of Iſrael that were before him c.

c For he neither worſhipped Baal, as many of his Predeceſſors did; nor compelled the People to Worſhip the Calves; one of them, that of Dan, being deſtroyed, or carried away before, as the Hebrew Writers affirm; nor, as ſome add, hindred thoſe by force, who were minded to go to Jeruſalem to worſhip. And yet, the meaſure of the Iſraelites ſins, being now full, vengeance comes upon them without remedy; Compare 2 Kings 23. 26.

3 ¶ Againſt him came up Shalmaneſer d king of Aſſyria, and Hoſhea became his ſervant, and † gave him ‖ preſents e.

† Heb. rendred.
‖ Or, tribute.

d The Son, or Succeſſor of Tiglath-pileſer. The ancient Hebrew Writers make him the ſame with Sennacherib, who Eight Years after this time, invaded the Kingdom of Judah; See chap. 18. 10, 13. it being very frequent in the Eaſtern parts, for one man to be called by ſeveral Names, eſpecially by the People of ſeveral Countries. Joſephus affirms, that he met with his Name in the Annals of the Tyrians, which were extant in his days. He came againſt him, either becauſe he denied the Tribute which he had promiſed to pay; or that he might make him Tributary. e Swore Fealty to him, and engaged to pay him a Tribute.

4 And the king of Aſſyria found conſpiracy in Hoſhea: for he had ſent meſſengers to So king of Egypt f, and brought no preſent to the king of Aſſyria, as he had done year by year: therefore the king of Aſſyria ſhut him up, and bound him in priſon g.

f By Heathen Writers called Sua, or Sabachus, that by his Aſſiſtance he might ſhake off the Yoke of the King of Aſſyria; who now was, and for many Years had been the King of Egypt's Rival; See 2 Kings 18. 21. Jer. 37. 5. g To wit, after he had come up againſt him, and taken him, with Samaria; the particular Relation whereof here follows.

5 ¶ Then the king of Aſſyria came up throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria, and beſieged it three years.

6 ¶ * In the ninth year of Hoſhea, the king of Aſſyria took Samaria, and carried Iſrael away into Aſſyria, and placed them in Halah, and in Habor, by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes h.

* Chap. 18. 10.

h This is added, to diſtinguiſh this place from the former, which was either in Aſſyria, or in the mountainous and leſs inhabited parts of Media. Hither he carried them, partly to repleniſh his own Country; and partly, becauſe theſe places were at ſo great a diſtance from Canaan, that this would cut off all Hopes and Thoughts of returning to their own Countrey.

7 For ſo it was, that the children of Iſrael had ſinned againſt the LORD their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods:

8 And walked in the ſtatutes of the heathen i (whom the LORD had caſt out from before the children of Iſrael) and of the kings of Iſrael, which they had made k.

i i. e. According to the Laws and Cuſtoms of the Heathen, in the Worſhip of their Baals, and other of their ſins. k i. e. Which the Kings of Iſrael had ordained concerning the Worſhip of the Calves, and againſt their going up to Jeruſalem to worſhip.

9 And the children of Iſrael did ſecretly thoſe things that were not right, againſt the LORD l their God, and they built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen, to the fenced city m.

l This belongs, either, 1. To their groſs Idolatries, and other abominable Practices, which they were aſhamed to own before others; Compare Ezek. 8. 12. Or, 2. to the Worſhip of Calves: And ſo the Words are otherwiſe rendered, and that agreeably to the Hebrew Text; they cloaked, or diſguiſed, or covered things that were not right againſt, or before, or towards the Lord: i. e. They covered their Idolatrous Worſhip of the Calves, with fair Pretences of neceſſity, the Two Kingdoms being now divided, and at enmity; and of their honeſt intention of ſerving the True God, and retaining the ſubſtance of the Jewiſh Religion, from which they alledged, that they differed only in Circumſtances of Worſhip. m In all parts and places, both in Cities, and in the Countrey; yea, in the moſt uninhabited and neglected parts, where few or none dwell, beſide the Watchmen, who are left there in Towers, to preſerve the Cattel and Fruits of the Earth, or to give notice of the approach of Enemies.

† Heb. ſtatues. *Exod. 34. 13. Deut. 16. 21. *Deut. 12. 2.

10 And they ſet them up † images and * groves in every * high hill, and under every green tree:

11 And there they burnt incenſe in all the high places, as did the heathen n whom the LORD carried away before them o; and wrought wicked things to provoke the LORD to anger p.

n Not only to the Lord, which was practiſed and tolerated, ſometimes in the Kingdom of Judah; but alſo to the Idols or Baals of the Heathen. o For the ſame ſins: by whoſe Example they ſhould have taken warning. p i. e. In deſpight and contempt of God, and his Authority and Command, as the next Verſe ſhews.

13 Yet the LORD teſtified againſt Iſrael q, and againſt Judah † by all the prophets, and by all * the ſeers r, ſaying, * Turn ye from your evil ways, and keep my commandments, and my ſtatutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers s, and which I ſent to you by my ſervants the prophets.

q Diſowned, and gave Teſtimony againſt their falſe Worſhip, which they would faſten upon him, and againſt all their Impieties. r To whom he declared his Mind, by extraordinary Revelations and Viſions, and by whom he publiſhed it to you, bearing Witneſs from Heaven to their Doctrine, by eminent and glorious Miracles. s Whereby he accuſeth them of Partiality, that they obſerved only thoſe Laws of God, which they might ſafely keep, and lived in the conſtant Breach of others, which their Kings forbad them to obſerve.

* Deut. 31. 27.

14 Notwithſtanding, they would not hear, but * hardened their necks t like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the LORD their God.

15 And they rejected his ſtatutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his teſtimonies which he teſtified againſt them, and they followed vanity u, and became vain x, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them, that they ſhould not do like them.

u i. e. Idols; oft ſo called, becauſe of their nothingneſs, impotency, and unprofitableneſs; and to ſhew the folly and madneſs of Idolaters. x By the long Worſhip of Idols, they were made like them, vain, ſottiſh, and ſenſeleſs Creatures.

16 And they left all the commandments of the LORD y their God, and * made them molten images, even two calves, and made a * grove, and worſhipped all the hoſt of heaven z, and ſerved * Baal.

y They grew worſe and worſe; from a partial Diſobedience to ſome of God's Laws, they fell by degrees to a total Apoſtacy from all of them. z The Stars, as Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus, &c. See Deut. 4. 19.

17 And they * cauſed their ſons and their daughters to paſs through the fire, and uſed divination, and inchantments, and ſold themſelves to do evil a in the ſight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

a Of which Phraſe, ſee on 1 Kings 21. 21.

* 1 King. 11. 13.

18 Therefore the LORD was very angry with Iſrael, and removed them out of his ſight b: there was none left * but the tribe of Judah only c.

b i. e. Out of Canaan, the only place of God's ſolemn Worſhip, and gracious Preſence; or, out of his Church. c And the greateſt part of the Tribe of Benjamin, and thoſe of the Tribes of Simeon and Levi who adhered to them, and were incorporated with them; and therefore very fitly denominated from them: See of this Phraſe on 1 Kings 11. 13.

19 Alſo Judah kept not the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the ſtatutes of Iſrael which they made d.

d Judah's Idolatry and Wickedneſs is here remembred, as an aggravation of the ſin of the Iſraelites, which was not only evil in it ſelf, but ſcandalous, and miſchievous to their Neighbour, who by their Examples were inſtructed in their wicked Arts, and provoked to an Imitation of them; See Hoſea 4. 15. and compare Matth. 18. 7.

20 And the LORD rejected all the ſeed of Iſrael e, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of ſpoilers, until he had caſt them out of his ſight.

e i. e. All the Kingdom, or Tribes of Iſrael: firſt, one part of them, chap. 15. 29. and now the reſt. But this extends not to every individual Perſon of theſe Tribes; for many of them removed into the Kingdom of Judah, and were aſſociated with them, as appears from 2 Chron. 11. 16. and many other places.

* 1 Kings 11. 11, 31. * 1 Kings 12. 20, 28.

21 For * he rent Iſrael from the houſe of David, and * they made Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat king f, and Jeroboam drave Iſrael from following the LORD g, and made them ſin a great ſin h.

f Which Action is here aſcribed to the People, becauſe they would not tarry till God, by his Providence, had inveſted Jeroboam with the Kingdom which he had promiſed him; but raſhly, and unthankfully, and rebelliouſly, roſe up againſt the Houſe of David, to which they had ſuch great Obligations; and ſet him upon the Throne without God's leave or advice. g He not only diſſwaded, but kept them by force from God's Worſhip at Jeruſalem, the only place appointed for it. h So the Worſhip of the Calves is called, to meet with that idle Conceit of the Iſraelites, who eſteemed it a ſmall ſin, eſpecially when they were forced to it by ſevere Penalties; which yet he ſhews did not excuſe it from being a ſin, and a great ſin too.

22 For the children of Iſrael walked in all the ſins of Jeroboam which he did, they departed not from them i:

i But willingly and reſolutely followed the wicked Examples and Commands of their Kings, though contrary to God's expreſs Commands.

23 Until the LORD removed Iſrael out of his ſight k, as he had ſaid by all his ſervants the prophets. So was Iſrael carried away out of their own land to Aſſyria, unto this day.

k They continued to the laſt, obſtinate and incorrigible under all the Inſtructions and Corrections which God ſent to them; and therefore were moſt juſtly given up by God into this dreadful Captivity; which all this foregoing Diſcourſe was deſigned to prove.

24 ¶ And the king of Aſſyria l brought men from Babylon m, and from Cuthah, and from Ana, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim n, and placed them in the cities of Samaria, inſtead of the children of Iſrael; and they poſſeſſed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

l Either Shalmanezer, or rather his Son and Succeſſor, Eſarhaddon, Ezra 4. 2. becauſe this was a work of ſome time; and as his Father had projected, and poſſibly began this; ſo he executed or finiſhed it: whence it is aſcribed to him, rather than to his Father. m Which then was ſubject to the Aſſyrian Monarch; but a few years after revolted from him, and ſet up another King; as appears both from Sacred and Profane Hiſtories. n Several places then in his Dominion.

25 And ſo it was at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they feared not the LORD ||; therefore o the LORD ſent lions among them, which ſlew ſome of them.

|| They did not acknowledge, nor worſhip God in any ſort. o For this groſs Neglect, and contempt of God, which was contrary to the Principles and Practices of the Heathens, who uſed to worſhip the Gods of the Nations where they lived, and gave that honour to their falſe gods, which here they denied to the true. Hereby alſo God aſſerted his own Right and Soveraignty over that Land, and made them to underſtand, that neither the Iſraelites were caſt out, nor they brought into that Land by their Valour, or Strength, but by God's Providence, who as he had caſt the Iſraelites out for their neglect of God's ſervice; ſo both could, and would in his due time, turn them out alſo, if they were guilty of the ſame ſins.

26 Wherefore they ſpake p to the king of Aſſyria, ſaying, The nations which thou haſt removed, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land q: therefore he hath ſent lions among them, and behold, they ſlay them, becauſe they know not the manner of the God of the land.

p i. e. They wrote, or ſent Meſſengers to him for relief. q They ſuppoſed the true God to be like one of their Topical Deities, who had their particular Countries and Provinces allotted to them.

27 Then the king of Aſſyria commanded, ſaying, Carry thither one of the prieſts r, whom ye brought from thence, and let them go and dwell there, and let him teach them the manner of the God of the land.

r i. e. One of the chief of the Prieſts, with others, to be under his Inſpection and Direction, as may be gathered from the following Words; where it is ſaid of the ſame Perſon, or Perſons, let them go, &c. and then, let him teach, &c. Nor is it probable, that one Prieſt could ſuffice for the inſtruction of the Inhabitants of ſo many and diſtant parts.

28 Then one of the prieſts whom they had carried away from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they ſhould fear the LORD ſ.

ſ i. e. The manner of God's Worſhip, as it was practiſed in Iſrael; as may be gathered both from the Quality of this Perſon, who was an Iſraelitiſh Prieſt; and from the place of his Reſidence, Bethel, a place infamous for the Worſhip of the Calves, and from the manner of their making Prieſts by this man's Direction, ver. 32.

29 Howbeit, every nation made gods of their own t, and put them in the houſes of the high places, which the Samaritans u had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

t Or, worſhipped (as that Verb is ſometimes uſed; of which, ſee Exod. 32. 35.) i. e. thoſe whom they worſhipped in the places from whence they came, whoſe names here follow. u i. e. The former People, or Inhabitants, not of the City, but of the Kingdom of Samaria.

30 And the men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Aſhima.

31 And the Avites made Nibhaz, and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burnt their children in fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.

32 So they feared the LORD, and made unto themſelves of the loweſt of them prieſts of the high places x, which ſacrificed for them y in the houſes of the high places.

x See the Notes on 1 Kings 12. 31. y To wit, unto the true God: For as to the Worſhip of their own Gods, they needed no Inſtruction, and would not permit a Perſon of another Religion to miniſter therein.

* Zeph. 5. || Or, wh carried them away fr thence.

33 * They feared the LORD z, and ſerved their own gods, after the manner of the nations || whom they carried away from thence a.

z They worſhipped God externally in that way which the Iſraelites uſed. a Theſe words belong, either, 1. To both the foregoing Branches, and to the Iſraelites; and then the ſenſe is, They trod in the ſteps of their Predeceſſors, the Iſraelites (who, in regard of their ſeveral Tribes, are both here, and elſewhere, called Nations) who did, many of them, worſhip both God in their Calves, and Baal too. Or, 2. To the laſt Branch only; but then the Words muſt be otherwiſe rendred; they ſerved their own Gods, after the manner of the Nations from which they brought, or carried them, or from whence they (theſe new Inhabitants) were brought; i. e. each of them ſerved the God of the Country or Place whence he was brought, as is related above, ver. 30, 31. But theſe Nations could not ſo properly be ſaid to be carried away, or to be carried away captive (as this Hebrew word ſignifies) as the Iſraelites; and therefore the former Interpretation ſeems more proper.

34 Unto this day they b do after the former manners: they fear not the LORD c, neither do they after their ſtatutes d, or after their ordinances, or after the law and commandment which the LORD commanded the children of Jacob e, * whom he named Iſrael f.

* Gen. 32. 28. & 35. 10.

b Either, 1. the Samaritans, whoſe Religion he hath hitherto been deſcribing, and to the deſcription whereof he returns, ver. 41. So the following Verſes are a Digreſſion, wherein he deſigns only to take an occaſion to compare them with the Iſraelites, and to aggravate the ſins of the Iſraelites above theirs, which he doth, ver. 35, &c. and then returns to the former Deſcription, ver. 41. Or rather, 2. The Iſraelites, who are the principal Subjects of this whole Diſcourſe; and of whom he unqueſtionably ſpeaks, ver. 35. and thence to ver. 41. of whom alſo the laſt words of ver. 33. are to be underſtood; and from thence he takes an occaſion to return to his main buſineſs, to relate, and aggravate the ſins of Iſrael; and thereby to juſtifie his ſevere proceedings againſt them, to all the World. So the ſenſe of the place is this; As the Iſraelites before their Captivity, gave theſe Nations an ill Example, in ſerving the Lord, and Baal together; ſo, or after their former manner, they do unto this day, in the Land of their Captivity. c Though they pretended to fear, and ſerve both the Lord and Idols, yet in truth they did not, and do not fear or worſhip the Lord, but their own Calves, or other vain Inventions: And God will not accept that mongrel and falſe Worſhip, which they pretend to give to the true God. Or, this may intimate, that the Iſraelites were worſe than their Succeſſors, becauſe theſe feared the Lord, and Idols too; but they did quite caſt off the Fear and Worſhip of God in their Captivity, and wholly degenerated into Heatheniſh Idolatry. d i. e. God's Law delivered to their Fathers, and to them, as their Inheritance, Pſal. 119. 111. This is alledged as an Evidence, that they did not fear the Lord, whatſoever they pretended, becauſe they lived in the conſtant Breach of his ſtatutes. e i. e. Themſelves: the Noun put for the Pronoun; which is uſual among the Hebrews. f A Name, ſignifying his ſpecial Intereſt in God, and Power with him, which was given to him, not only for himſelf, but for his Poſterity alſo, whom God frequently honours with that Name. And by this great favour he aggravates their ſin.

35 With whom the LORD had made a covenant g, and charged them, ſaying, * Ye ſhall not fear other gods, nor bow your ſelves to them, nor ſerve them, nor ſacrifice to them:

* Judg. 6. 10.

g Containing many precious Promiſes, upon the Condition here following: ſee Gen. 17. 7. Exod. 19. 5. and 24. 7.

36 But the LORD, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and a ſtretched-out arm, him ſhall ye fear, him ſhall ye worſhip, and to him ſhall ye do ſacrifice.

37 And the ſtatutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment which he wrote for you, ye ſhall obſerve to do for evermore, and ye ſhall not fear other gods:

38 And the covenant that I have made with you, ye ſhall not forget, neither ſhall ye fear other gods.

39 But the LORD your God h ye ſhall fear, and he ſhall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies i.

h i. e. God alone, as the whole Context ſhews. i And therefore you have no pretence of need to go to other gods for relief.

40 Howbeit, they did not hearken, but they did after their former manner.

41 So k theſe nations l feared the LORD, and ſerved their graven images, both their children, and their childrens children: as did their fathers, ſo do they unto this day.

k i. e. In like manner, and after their Example. l Who came in their ſtead.

NOw it came to paſs in the third year a of Hoſhea ſon of Elah king of Iſrael, that * Hezekiah the ſon of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.

Chron. 27. & 1. is cal- Ezeki- Mat. 1. 9 a In the third of thoſe nine years mentioned, chap. 17. 1. of which ſee there. See below ver. 10.

2 Twenty and five years old was he when he began to reign b, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jeruſalem: his mothers name alſo was Abi c, the daughter of Zachariah.

b How is this credible? For then Ahaz, who lived but Six and Thirty Years, chap. 16. 2. muſt beget Hezekiah at the Eleventh Year of his Age. Anſ. 1. There are ſome like Inſtances mentioned by credible Authors; which theſe very Men will not deny, who are ſo ready to quarrel with the holy Scriptures for ſuch matters. 2. This being the confeſſed Cuſtom of Sacred, and other Writers, in the numbring of Years, ſometimes to omit, and ſometimes to add thoſe which are imperfect, or unfiniſhed: And ſo Ahaz might be near One and Twenty Years old when he began to Reign, and near Seventeen Years older when he died: And on the other ſide, Hezekiah, when he began to Reign, might be only Four and Twenty years old compleat, and but entred into his Five and Twentieth Year.—— And thus Ahaz might be between Thirteen and Fourteen Years old, when he got Hezekiah; which is not at all ſtrange, eſpecially in that Nation to which God had promiſed a ſingular degree of Fruitfulneſs, and in that Houſe of David to which God had made ſo many, and ſuch great Promiſes. 3. It is not certain that Ahaz lived only Thirty ſix Years, for thoſe Sixteen Years which he Reigned, Chap. 16. 2. may be computed, not from the firſt beginning of his Reign, when he Reigned with his Father; (of which, ſee the Notes on Chap. 15. 30.) which was at the Twentieth Year of his Age, but from the beginning of his Reign alone. 4. Some affirm, That Hezekiah was not the Natural, but only the Legal Son and Succeſſor of Ahaz: for the name of Son is given in Scripture to ſuch Perſons; as 1 Chron. 3. 16. comp. with 2 King. 24. 17. Matth. 1. 12. compared with Jer. 22. 30. and to Adopted Sons, Act. 7. 21. Heb. 11. 24. And to Sons in Law, 1 Sam. 24. 16. and 26. 17. Luk. 3. 23. Any of theſe Solutions are far more credible to any Man of common Prudence, than that theſe Sacred Books, whoſe Divine Original hath been ſo fully evidenced both by God and Men, are but the Fictions and Contrivances of a baſe Impoſtor. And if none of theſe Solutions were ſufficient, it is abſurd to conclude, That a true Reſolution cannot be found, becauſe it is not yet found; becauſe it is manifeſt, That many difficulties both in Scripture, and in the Arts, which were formerly judged Inſoluble, have been cleared in later Times: and therefore we may juſtly expect the Reſolution of other Difficulties, which may be thought not yet fully explained. c Or, Abiah, 2 Chron. 29. 1.

And this he attempted to do, notwithſtanding the Peoples great and conſtant Affection to them; partly, becauſe he had more Zeal and Courage than his Predeceſſors: and partly, becauſe the dreadful Judgments of God upon the Kingdom of Iſrael for their Superſtition and Idolatry, had made the People of Judah more pliable to the Commands of God, and of their good King. e By God's Command to be an Ordinance or Mean for the conveyance of God's Bleſſing to the People: which therefore had been hitherto kept as a Memorial of God's Mercy; but being now commonly abuſed to Superſtition, was deſtroyed. f Not doubtleſs as to a God, but only as to an Inſtrument and Token of God's Mercy, by and through which, their Adoration was directed to God, and given to that only for God's ſake. g i. e. He ſaid, This Serpent, howſoever formerly honoured, and uſed by God as a ſign of his Grace, yet now it is nothing but a piece of Braſs, which can do you neither Good nor Hurt; and therefore is no fit Object for your Worſhip.

5 He truſted in the LORD God of Iſrael h, ſo that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor any that were before him i.

h Without calling in Foreign and Heatheniſh Succours to ſtabliſh or help him; which his Father Ahaz did; Chap. 16. 7. and Iſa. 7. and before him Aſa, 1 Kings 15. 18, 19. with reflection upon whom this ſeems to be noted. i To wit, of the Kings of Judah only; for David and Solomon were Kings of all Iſrael. Object. The like is ſaid of Joſiah, Chap. 23. 25. Anſw. Each of them excelled the other in ſeveral qualities or actions: Hezekiah in this, That he fell upon this Work with great Expedition, even in the beginning of his Reign, which Joſiah did not, Chap. 23. and with no leſs Reſolution, undertaking to do that which none of his Predeceſſors durſt do, even to remove the High Places, wherein Joſiah did only follow his Example; Chap. 22. 1, 3.

7 And the LORD was with him, and he proſpered whitherſoever he went forth: and he rebelled againſt the king of Aſſyria l, and ſerved him not.

l He ſhook off that Yoke of Subjection and Tribute, to which his Father had wickedly ſubmitted, Chap. 16. 7. and reaſſumed that full and independent Soveraignty which God had ſetled in the Houſe of David, which Ahaz could not alienate further, than for his own time. And Hezekiah's Caſe differs much from that of Zedekiah, who is blamed for Rebellion againſt the King of Babylon, both becauſe he had ingaged himſelf to him by a ſolemn Oath and Covenant, which we do not read of Ahaz; and becauſe he broke the Covenant which he himſelf had made; and becauſe God had actually given the Dominion of his own Land and People to the King of Babylon, and commanded both Zedekiah and his People to ſubmit to him. And whereas Hezekiah is here ſaid to Rebel; that Word implies, only a defection from that Subjection which had been profeſſed and performed to another; which ſometimes may be juſtly done, and ſometimes may not: and therefore that Word doth not neceſſarily prove this Action to be a Sin. And theſe Words, he rebelled, &c. are explained by the next following Words, and he ſerved him not. And that it was not a Sin in him, ſeems moſt probable, becauſe God did own, and aſſiſt him therein; and did not at all reprove him for it, in that Meſſage which he ſent to him by Iſaiah about this matter, Chap. 19. 20, &c. nor afterwards, though he did particularly reprove him for that which might ſeem a leſs Fault, for his Vain-glory, and Oſtentation, 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. But the words are, and may be rendred otherwiſe; either thus, thou ſpeakeſt ſurely words of the lips; i. e. Thou encourageſt thy ſelf, and thy people with talk, and words; but counſel and ſtrength are for War, are neceſſary for thy Defence: neither of which thou haſt within thy ſelf, but muſt ſeek them from others: and where wilt'ſt thou find them? on whom (as it follows) doſt thou truſt? Or thus, thou ſayeſt, I have the word of my lips. (Either, 1. m Thereby robbing him of that Worſhip and Service which he had in thoſe places. 24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain o of the leaſt of my maſters ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen?

o How wiltſt thou force him to turn his back to thee, and flee away from thee?

p Without his conſent and Commiſſion? q To wit, by ſecret Inſpiration; or, by his Providence. But indeed, he neither owned God's Word, nor regarded his Providence; but he forged this, to ſtrike a terror into Hezekiah and the People.

26 Then ſaid Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rabſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy ſervants in the Syrian language, (for we underſtand it) and talk not with us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall r.

a Either, 1. From God, wherein God rebukes and chaſtens us ſorely. Or rather, 2. We have attempted to deliver our ſelves from the Aſſyrian Yoke; and had carried on that work to ſome maturity, and as we thought, brought it to the Birth; but now we have no might to finiſh, unleſs thou aſſiſt us. We have begun an happy Reformation, and are hindred by this inſolent Aſſyrian, from bringing it to perfection. See 2 Chron. 32. 1.

4 It may be c the LORD thy God d will hear e all the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words f which the LORD thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant g that are † left.

c He ſpeaks doubtfully, becauſe he knew not whether God would not deliver them all up into the Aſſyrians hand, as he, and his people deſerved. But ſometimes this is not a word of doubt, but of good hope; as Numb. 22. 33. Joſh. 14. 12. d To whom thou art dear and precious. He ſaith not our God, becauſe he ſeemed to have forſaken and rejected them; and they, by their Deſigns had forfeited all their intereſt in him. e i. e. Will ſhew by his Actions, that he hath heard them with juſt Indignation. f Or rather, will reprove him, (an Ellipſis of the Pronoun, which is frequent in the Hebrew Tongue) for the words, as the Syriack, and Arabick, and Caldee render it. g This he mentions as an Argument, to ſtir up Iſaiah to pray, and to move God's Compaſſion towards them; That they were but a ſmall Remnant either of God's People, of whom Ten Tribes were now loſt: or of the Kingdom of Judah, which had been greatly waſted and depopulated in the days of Ahaz; and now lately by this Aſſyrian, ver. 13.

5 So the ſervants of King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 ¶ And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to your maſter, Thus ſaith the LORD, Be not afraid of the words which thou haſt heard, with which the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt upon him h, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and ſhall return to his own land, and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land.

Although the place may be rendred thus, I will put a Spirit within him, ſo that he ſhall hear a rumour, and return, &c. For by Spirit, is many times underſtood an Imagination, or Inclination, or Affection: in which ſenſe we read of the Spirit of fear; 2 Tim. 1. 7. Of the Spirit of jealouſie, Numb. 5. 14. Of the Spirit of ſlumber, Rom. 11. 8. Or, a Spirit againſt (for ſo the Hebrew Prepoſition Beth is oft uſed, as hath been noted before) him; Of whom this Word is elſewhere uſed, as Judg. 9. 23. 1 Sam. 16. 14, 23. 1 King. 22. 23 as it is alſo given to Man's Soul, Job 12. 10. Eccleſ. 12. 7. which is a Spiritual ſubſtance, as the Angels are. And this Interpretation ſeems moſt agreeable to the deſign of this Verſe, which is in brief to repreſent all the Judgments of God which were to befall him, and which are related in the following Hiſtory; and therefore all the other Particulars being contained in the following Branches of this Verſe; the tidings of Tirhakah, ver. 9. in theſe words, he ſhall hear a rumour; his returning to his own Land, and being ſlain there, ver. 36. 37. in the next words, it ſeems moſt probable, That the chiefeſt of all the Judgments, to wit, the Deſtruction of 185 thouſand Souldiers in one night, ver. 35. is not omitted here, but expreſſed in the firſt branch of the Verſe; and the Spirit here is the ſame thing, which is there called an Angel; this latter Word being there uſed, to limit and explain the former, which otherwiſe was of a doubtful ſignification.

8 ¶ So Rabſhakeh returned i, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh k.

i To the King, to give him an account of the Treaty, and to adviſe with him what was further to be done; leaving behind him the Army under the other Commanders mentioned, Chap. 18. 17. as is moſt probable from the other threatning Meſſage here following; which would have been very unſuitable, if his Siege had been raiſed. k Not being able to take it.

9 And when he heard ſay of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia l, Behold, he is come out to fight againſt thee: he ſent meſſengers again unto Hezekiah, ſaying, l Heb. of Cuſh, i. e. Either, 1. of Arabia, as that Word is moſt commonly meant; of which ſee the notes, and eſpecially my Latin Synopſis, upon Numb. 12. 1. Or rather, 2. Of Ethiopia beyond Egypt. Nor was there any need, that he ſhould force his paſſage through Egypt, which is objected againſt this Opinion by a very Learned Man; becauſe the Egyptians (againſt whom this Sennacherib Warred, as Heathen Hiſtorians, Herodotus and Beroſus, relate) and the Ethiopians were Confederates in this Expedition, as Joſephus expreſly affirms; who lived above 1600 Years nearer the time when this was done, than we; and therefore was more likely to underſtand it.

10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God in whom thou truſteſt deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands, by deſtroying them utterly: and ſhalt thou be delivered m?

m No certainly, never expect it: ſuch queſtions oft imply a denial; as Gen. 18. 17.

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed; as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelaſar n?

n Several places about, or beyond Euphrates. See Gen. 11. 31. Ezek. 27. 23.

13 Where is the king o of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Henah, and Ivah p?

o Either, 1. Their god, whom he here calls their King; becauſe they looked upon him as their Protector and Governour; which Kings are, or ſhould be to their People. Or rather, 2. Their King properly ſo called. And as before he compared their gods with the God of Jeruſalem; ſo now he compares their Kings with King Hezekiah; and by both intends to perſwade them, that neither their God, nor their King, was able to ſave them out of his Hand. p Of which ſee the notes on Chap. 18. 34.

14 ¶ And Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up into the houſe of the LORD q, and ſpread it before the LORD r.

q i. e. Into the Court of the Temple: for further he might not enter. r i. e. Before the Ark, or Temple: which he did, not to acquaint God, but to ſtrengthen his own Faith, and quicken himſelf to Prayer.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD, and ſaid, O LORD God of Iſrael, * which dwelleſt between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou haſt made heaven and earth:

* 1 Sam. 4. 4.

16 LORD, bow down thine ear, and hear: open, LORD thine eyes, and ſee; and hear the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent him s to reproach the living God.

s i. e. The meſſenger who brought this railing Letter, ver. 14. Or Rabſhakeh, who was eaſily underſtood out of the former Chapter, although he would not do him the honour to name him; or, ſent it; to wit, This Letter.

17 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Aſſyria have deſtroyed the nations, and their lands.

18 And have † caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no Gods, but the work of mens hands, wood and ſtone: therefore they have deſtroyed them.

† Heb. given.

19 Now therefore, O LORD our God, I beſeech thee ſave thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the LORD God, even thou onely.

20 ¶ Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent to Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, That which thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria, I have heard t.

t i. e. Accepted it, and will anſwer it: A common Synecdoche.

21 This is the word that the LORD hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin u, the daughter of Zion x hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn; the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee y.

u So he calls Zion, or Jeruſalem; partly, becauſe ſhe was pure in good meaſure from that groſs Idolatry wherewith other people were defiled, which is called Spiritual Whoredom: partly, to ſignifie, that God would defend her from that Rape which Sennacherib intended to commit upon her, with no leſs Care and Zeal, than Parents do their Virgin Daughters from thoſe who ſeek to Force and Deflour them: and partly, to intimate, that as ſhe had not yet been Forced, and taken by her Barbarous Enemies, ſo ſhe ſhould ſtill retain her Virginity, in ſpight of his Attempts againſt her. x i. e. The People of Zion; i. e. as it follows, of Jeruſalem; ſo called Synecdochically from the Mountain and City of Zion, which was an Eminent part of it. Cities and Countries are oft called Mothers, as 2 Sam. 20. 19. and their Inhabitants Daughters; as Numb. 21. 25. Joſh. 17. 16. Judg. 1. 27. Pſal. 45. 13. and 137. 8. y Laughed at all thy proud and impotent Threatnings. This is a Geſture of Contempt and Deriſion: of which, ſee Pſal. 22. 7. and 44. 13. Jer. 18. 16. Matt. 27. 39.

22 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice z, and lift up thine eyes on high a? even againſt the holy One of Iſrael b.

z By Rabſhakeh, who cryed with a loud voice, Chap. 18. 28. a A Geſture of Pride, and Scornfulneſs, Prov. 21. 4. b Not againſt Man, but againſt the Holy God, who will not ſuffer thy Impious Blaſphemies to go unpuniſhed; and againſt the holy one of Iſrael, who hath a ſpecial relation and kindneſs to Iſrael, having as it were ſet himſelf apart for them, and ſet them apart for himſelf, as being at this time the God of the Jews onely, and not the God of the Gentiles; whom, as yet, he ſuffered to walk in their own evil ways, Act. 14. 16. And therefore he will Plead their Cauſe againſt thee.

23 By † thy meſſengers c thou haſt reproached the LORD, and haſt ſaid, With the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the heighth of the mountains d, to the ſides of Lebanon e, and will cut down † the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof f: and I will enter into the lodgings of his borders g, and into the || foreſt of his Carmel h.

† Heb. By the hand of, &c.

† Heb. the tallneſs, &c.

|| Or, the foreſt and his fruitful field.

c So thou haſt advanced thy very Servants above me. d I have brought up my very Chariots to thoſe Mountains which were thought inacceſſable by my Army. e An high Hill, famous for Cedars and Firtrees, here following. f This may be underſtood, either, 1. Miſtically, I will deſtroy the Princes, and Nobles of Judah, (which are ſometimes compared to cedars, &c.) Or, their ſtrongeſt Cities. Or rather, 2. Literally, I will cut down the Trees that hinder my March, and plain and prepare the way for all my numerous Army and Chariots. And by this one Inſtance, he intimates, that nothing ſhould ſtand in his way; no not the higheſt and ſtrongeſt Places. g i. e. Thoſe Towns and Cities (which he calls Lodgings in way of Contempt) which are in his utmoſt Borders, and moſt remote from me. I am come into the Land of Canaan at one Border Lebanon, and I reſolve to march on to the other extreme Border, and ſo to deſtroy the whole Countrey, from one border to another: the borders of a Land being oft put for the whole Land within its Borders; as Exod. 8. 2. Pſal. 74. 17. and 147. 14. Iſa. 54. 12. Or, as it is in the Hebrew, into the Lodging of his border; for which, in the Parallel place, Iſa. 37. 24. it is, into the height of his border. And ſo this may be underſtood of Jeruſalem; which it is not probable, that in all his brags he would omit; and againſt which, his chief Deſign now lay, which he here calleth a lodging, for its contemptible ſmallneſs, if compared with his great and vaſt City of Niniveh; or, as it is in Iſa. 37. the height, for its two famous Mountains, Zion and Moriah; or for the Mountains which were round about Jeruſalem; Pſal. 125. 2. and he adds, of his border, becauſe this City was in the Border of Judah; as being part of it in the Tribe of Benjamin, and near the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes, which was now in the Aſſyrians hands. h i. e. The Foreſt of Mount Carmel, which may ſeem to be another Inacceſſible Place, like Lebanon. Or, into his foreſt, and his fruitful field. For Carmel, though properly it was a pleaſant and fruitful Mountain in the Tribe of Iſſachar, of which ſee Joſh. 12. 22. yet it is oft us'd to ſignifie, any fruitful place, as is manifeſt from Iſa. 10. 18. and 16. 10. Jer. 2. 7. And thus all the parts of the Land are here enumerated; the Mountains, the Cities, the Woods, and the Fruitful Fields. Or, his fruitful foreſt; to wit, Jeruſalem; which is thought by many Interpreters, to be called a Foreſt, Jer. 21. 14. Ezek. 20. 46. a name which agrees well enough to Cities, where Buildings are very numerous, and cloſe, and high, like Trees in a Foreſt. And if Jeruſalem might be called a Foreſt, it might well be called Hezekiah's Carmel; or, Fruitful Place: becauſe his chief Strength, and Treaſure, and Fruit was now in it: and this laſt Word may ſeem to be added here, to intimate, that this was not like other Foreſts, unfruitful, and barren. And ſo both this, and the foregoing words are underſtood of the ſame place, even of Jeruſalem; the laſt Branch being joined to the former by way of Appoſition; into the lodging of his border, the foreſt of his Carmel; or, his fruitful Foreſt; there being no more words in the Hebrew Text.

24 I have digged and drank ſtrange waters i, and * with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of || beſieged places k.

* Deut. 11. 10.

i Such as were never diſcovered nor uſed by others. And therefore all thy endeavours to deprive me of Water for my Army, 2 Chron. 32. 3. are Idle and Fruitleſs. k And as I can furniſh my Army with Water digged out of the Earth, by their Labour, and my Art; ſo I can deprive my Enemies of their Water, and can dry up their rivers, and that with the ſole of my feet; i. e. With the March of my vaſt and numerous Army, who will eaſily do this, either by marching through them, and each carrying part away with them: or by drinking every one a little of them: or by their pains, making many new Channels, and deriving the Waters of the River into them, as Cyrus dried up Euphrates, and thereby took Babylon.

25 || Haſt thou not heard long ago, how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it l? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte fenced cities into ruinous heaps m.

|| Or, Haſt thou not heard how I have made it long ago, and formed it of ancient times? ſhould I now bring it to be laid waſte, and fenced cities to be ruinous heaps?

l Haſt thou not long ſince learned, that which ſome of thy Philoſophers could, and did teach thee; that there is a Supreme and Powerful God, by whoſe Decree and Providence all theſe Wars and Calamities were ſent, and ordered; whoſe meer Inſtrument thou art, ſo that thou haſt no cauſe for theſe vain Boaſtings? This work is mine, more than thine. Or, as it is in the Margent of our Bibles, Haſt thou not heard that (a Particle oft underſtood) I have made (i. e. Conſtituted, or Purchaſed, or Adorned, for all theſe ways is this Hebrew Verb uſed) it (either Jeruſalem, which he now threatned; or rather, the Jewiſh Nation, which he endeavoured to Root out: the Relative Pronoun, being put without the Antecedent, which is to be gathered out of the Context; of which I have formerly given inſtances) long ago, and formed it of ancient times? i. e. Didſt thou not hear what I did for this People many Ages ſince, that I carried them out of Egypt in ſpight of Pharaoh and all his Hoſt; and through the Read-ſea, where I overthrew the Egyptians; and through the vaſt howling Wilderneſs; and then brought them into this Land, by a ſtrong hand, by which I deſtroyed all their Enemies, and planted them in their ſtead? By which thou mayeſt underſtand how dear this People are to me, and how eaſily I could deſtroy thee before them, If I ſaw it fit; and that the Places which thou haſt taken, and the Conqueſts which thou haſt made here, are not to be imputed to thy Valour, or Numbers, but unto my Providence, who for wiſe and juſt Reaſons, have given them up into thy hands, as it here follows. This may ſeem to be the trueſt ſence, becauſe that barbarous Prince and People were much more likely to hear the tidings of what God did for the Iſraelites in Egypt, and at the Red-ſea, and in Canaan; the fame of which was ſpread in all thoſe parts; than to hear of, or be inſtructed in the Doctrine of God's particular Providence in the Government of ſeveral Nations, and all their Counſels, and actions of State, and War. For, though the Aſſyrian was indeed the Rod in God's hand, &c. Iſa. 10. 5. yet he did not ſo underſtand it, nor was God in all his thoughts, but he minded only the enlargement of his own Empire, by the Deſtruction of other Kingdoms, as it there follows, ver. 7, 13, 14, 15. m This Tranſlation ſeems better to agree both with the foregoing Branch of this Verſe, and with the following Verſe, than the other Interrogative Tranſlation in the Margent; and the plain ſenſe ſeems to be this, Great Things I have done for this People, which thou canſt not be ignorant of; but now I have changed my courſe towards them, reſolved to Puniſh them ſeverely for their Sins; and therefore, now I have brought it to paſs, i. e. I have ſo diſpoſed of things by my Providence, that thou ſhouldeſt be a Great and Victorious Prince, and that thou ſhouldeſt imploy thy Forces againſt them, to do my work upon them, that thou ſhouldeſt be (to wit, a perſon raiſed up, and fitted, and ſtrengthned for this very purpoſe) to lay waſte fenced cities (and to turn them) into ruinous heaps; i. e. That thou ſhouldeſt be ſo ſucceſsful as thou haſt hitherto been, firſt againſt the Kingdom of Iſrael, and now againſt Judah.

26 Therefore n their inhabitants o were † of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded, they were as the graſs of the field p, and as the green herb, as * the graſs on the houſe tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up q.

† Heb. ſhort of hand.

n Becauſe I had armed thee with my Commiſſion and ſtrength, and taken away their Spirit and Courage, and withdrew my help from them, to give it to thee. o The People of Iſrael, and Judah, and other Places which thou haſt Conquered. p Which is weak and quickly fading, and unable to reſiſt any Hand or Inſtrument which offers Violence to it. q i. e. All their Deſigns and Hopes were diſappointed, before they could come to any Perfection or Succeſs.

27 But I know thy || abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in r, and thy rage againſt me s.

|| Or, ſitting.

r Though thou doſt not know me, yet I thoroughly know thee, and all thy Deſigns and Actions, all thy ſecret and ſubtil Contrivances in the place of thy abode, in thy own Kingdom and Court; and the Execution of thy Deſigns abroad, what thou intendeſt in thy going out, and with what ſucceſſes or further thoughts thou comeſt in, or returneſt to thy own Land. For the Phraſe, Compare Deut. 31. 2. Pſal. 139. 2, 3. s i. e. Againſt my ſervant Hezekiah, and my People, againſt whom he was engaged, becauſe they would not deliver up Jeruſalem to him, which he demanded. Things are frequently ſaid to be done againſt God, which are only done againſt his People, becauſe of that near Union and Relation which is between them. See Zech. 2. 8. Acts 9, 4, 5. But the Words may well be rendred, and thy rage is with me, or before me, as the Syriack hath it; or, is manifeſt to me; as the Chaldee renders it. And ſo this Branch of the Verſe anſwers to the former; I know, &c. and it is before me.

28 Becauſe thy rage againſt me, and thy tumult t is come up into mine ears, therefore * I will put my hook in thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips u; and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt x.

* Ezek.29. 4. & 38.4.

t i. e. Thy tumultuous Noiſe, thy Clamours, and Blaſphemies which Rabſhakeh in thy Name belched forth againſt me, with a loud voice, Chap. 18. 28. u A Metaphor from wild and furious Beaſts, that muſt be thus managed. x I will cauſe thee to return to thy Home with ſhame and loſs.

29 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee y, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch things as grow of themſelves, and in the ſecond year, that which ſpringeth of the ſame, and in the third year z ſow ye, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruits thereof a.

y To wit, of the certain accompliſhment of the Promiſes here made to thee; That Zion ſhould triumph over this inſulting Enemy, ver. 21. That God would not only preſerve the City from his preſent Fury, ver. 34. but alſo, That God would bleſs his People with a durable Proſperity, and an happy Increaſe, ver. 30, 31. And thus, it is not only a ſign of a ſhort Deliverance, which would be paſt before this Sign was fulfilled, (though there are Inſtances of ſuch Signs as followed the thing done; as Exod. 3. 12. Iſa. 7. 14.) but of a future Mercy, which was to continue long after that Sign. And this Sign was the more neceſſary, becauſe otherwiſe Hezekiah and his People had cauſe to fear, That the Aſſyrians would be greatly enraged for their ſhameful Repulſe, and the Deſtruction of their Army, and would quickly recruit their Army, and return againſt them with far greater Force and Violence. But ſome affirm, That Sennacherib when he heard of Tirhakah's March againſt him, of which, ver. 9. went with his Army to meet him, and overthrew him, and the Egyptian who was joined with him, as was noted before; and proſecuted his Victory, by following them into Egypt, and Ethiopia: in the Conqueſt of which, he ſpent two years; in which ſpace, the People did eat ſuch things as grew of themſelves: and in the third year returned to Jeruſalem, intending to Beſiege it. It is true, it is ſaid, and ſo the Sign went before the thing, (which may be objected againſt the Truth of this Relation) ver. 9. That when he heard of Tirhakah, he ſent Meſſengers to Hezekiah, pretending as if he would forthwith come againſt him; but it is not ſaid, that he did ſo: nor is it ſet down what he did with Tirhakah, becauſe the Deſign of the Sacred Writer, was only to write the Hiſtory of the Jewiſh Nation; not of others, but only with reſpect to them. z This was an excellent Sign, for it was miraculous; eſpecially, conſidering the waſte and havock which the Aſſyrians had made in the Land; and that the Jews had been forced to retire into their ſtrong hold, and conſequently to neglect their Tilling, and Sowing, and Reaping; and yet this Year they ſhould have ſufficient Proviſion from thoſe Fruits of the Earth which the Aſſyrian left; and the Second Year, which probably was the Year of Releaſe, in which they might neither Sow, nor Reap, from ſuch Fruits as the Earth brought forth of its own accord; and ſo in the Third Year. a You ſhall not Sow, and another Reap, as lately you did; but you ſhall enjoy the Fruit of your own Labours.

32 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhield, nor caſt a bank againſt it e.

e Which was true, though he ſent Rabſhakeh, and others, with a great Hoſt againſt Jeruſalem, Chap. 18. 17. Either becauſe that Hoſt went away with Rabſhakeh to Libnah; above ver. 8. Or rather, becauſe that Army did not form a cloſe Siege againſt it, but only marched towards it, and diſpoſed themſelves ſo as to block it up at ſome diſtance; poſſibly waiting till the King of Aſſyria had taken Libnah and Lachiſh, (which they preſumed he would ſpeedily do) and ſhould come up with the reſt of his Forces, when they intended to fall more vigorouſly to their Work.

33 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return f, and ſhall not come into the city, ſaith the LORD.

It is true, that when Hezekiah received that inſolent Meſſage from the Aſſyrian, he was in Health, and went into the Temple to pray, ch. 19. 14. but there might be time more than enough for this Sickneſs and Recovery, between that Threatning, and this Deſtruction of the Aſſyrian. b Take care to make thy Will, and to ſettle the Affairs of thy Family and Kingdom: which he the rather preſſeth upon him, becauſe the ſtate of his Kingdom required it: for it is plain, that Hezekiah had not as yet any Son, Manaſſeh his Heir and Succeſſor not being born till three years after this time, by comparing this chap. 20. 6. with chap. 21. 1. c According to the Courſe of Nature, and of thy Diſeaſe, which is mortal in its kind, and will be ſo in effect, if God doth not miraculouſly prevent it. Such Threatnings, though abſolutely expreſſed, have ofttimes ſecret Conditions, which God reſerves in his own Breaſt. See Jonah 3. 4.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall d, and prayed unto the LORD, ſaying, d Either, becauſe the Temple lay that way: or rather, that by turning his Face from the Company, he might intimate his deſire of Privacy, and ſo might with more Freedom and Fervency pour out his Soul to God.

3 I beſeech thee, O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth e, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight: and Hezekiah wept † ſore f.

† Heb. with a great weeping.

e i. e. Sincerely, with an honeſt Mind, as the following Words explain it. I have in ſome meaſure (humane frailty excepted) kept the Condition which thou didſt require, 1 King. 8. 25. and therefore do humbly beg of thee, that the Promiſe made to David and to his Poſterity upon that condition, may not fail in my Perſon, for as yet thou haſt not given me a Son. See on ver. 1. I am not conſcious to my ſelf of any groſs Exorbitances in the Courſe of my Life, for which thou uſeſt to ſhorten Mens Days, and cut off my Life in thy Diſpleaſure, which by this ſharp Meſſage thou threatneſt to do. f Partly, for that Horror of Death which is and was common to Men, eſpecially, in the times of the Old Teſtament, when the Grace of God in Chriſt was not ſo fully manifeſted, as now it is: and principally, for the diſtracted and miſerable Condition in which the Church and State were then likely to be left, through the uncertainty of the Succeſſion to the Crown, and the great Proneneſs of the People to backſlide to their falſe Worſhip, and evil Practices; which he eaſily perceived, and which he knew would bring far worſe Calamities upon them, if he were removed; as afterwards it came to paſs.

4 And it came to paſs, afore Iſaiah was gone out into the middle ‖ court g, that the word of the LORD came to him, ſaying, g To wit, of the King's Palace; of which ſee on 1 King. 7. 8. Or, into the middle city, as it is in the Hebrew. For ſome obſerve, that there were three Cities, or three parts of this City; one called the City of David in Sion; another called Jebus, or Salem; and a third which was betwixt theſe two parts, and united them all into one City, called Jeruſalem. This is noted to ſhew God's great readineſs to hear the ſincere and fervent Prayers of his Children.

‖ Or, city.

5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of David thy father h, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee; on the third day i thou ſhalt go up into the houſe of the LORD k.

h I am mindful of my Promiſe made to David and his Houſe, and will make it good in thy Perſon. i Which ſhews that the Cure was miraculous. k To give me Solemn Praiſe for this Mercy. Which proves the Perfection of the Cure.

6 And I will add unto thy days fifteen years l, and I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria m: and * I will defend this city for mine own ſake n, and for my ſervant Davids ſake.

* Chap. 19. 34.

l Beyond what thou doſt expect, and beyond what thou wouldſt do if I ſhould leave thee to the force of thy Diſeaſe. m This is added, either, firſt, Becauſe he might otherwiſe fear the Aſſyrians return to this City from which he was ſo ſhamefully repulſed. Or, Secondly, Becauſe this Sickneſs happened before that great ſlaughter, chap. 19. 35. Of which ſee the Notes on ver. 1. n To vindicate my Glory againſt that inſolent Blaſphemer.

7 And Iſaiah ſaid, Take a lump of figs o. And they took and laid it on the boil ∴, and he recovered.

o Though the deliverance was certainly promiſed, yet means muſt be uſed, and thoſe ſuitable: for this hath naturally a power of ripening and ſoftning Boils or Sores; though that Power was altogether inſufficient to produce ſo ſudden and ſo compleat a Cure. ∴ Which ſeems to have been a Plague-ſore.

8 ¶ And Hezekiah ſaid p unto Iſaiah, What ſhall be the ſign q that the LORD will heal me, and that I ſhall go up into the houſe of the LORD the third day?

p Or rather, had ſaid: for it is evident this was ſaid before his recovery, though his recovery be mentioned before it; ſuch tranſpoſitions being frequent in Scripture. q He asketh a Sign, not becauſe he diſtruſted it; but for the ſtrengthning of his Faith, which otherwiſe might be ſhaken by the greatneſs of his danger, and by the contradiction between this and his former Meſſage. Compare Judg. 6. 17, 37, 39. Iſa. 7. 11.

9 And Iſaiah ſaid, This ſign ſhalt thou have of the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he hath ſpoken: ſhall the ſhadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah anſwered, It is a light thing for the ſhadow to go down ten degrees r: nay, but let the ſhadow return backward ten degrees.

r To wit, in an inſtant: for that Courſe or Motion of the Sun is natural for the kind of it, though miraculous for the ſwiftneſs of it; but the other would be both ways miraculous.

11 And Iſaiah the prophet cried unto the LORD ſ, and * he brought the ſhadow ten degrees backward t, by which it had gone down in the † dial of Ahaz u.

* Iſa. 38. 8.

ſ Being moved by God's Spirit firſt to offer him this Sign, and then to pray for it. t Queſt. 1. What were theſe degrees? Anſw. Lines in the Dial: but whether each of theſe Lines or Degrees noted an hour, or half an hour, or a quarter of an hour, is uncertain, and not very conſiderable in this caſe. Queſt. 2. What was it that went down? Anſw. Either, Firſt, The Shadow alone went back without the Sun. For God could ſo diſpoſe of the Light of the Sun, by interpoſing Clouds, or other things, ſo that the Shadow ſhould fall only upon thoſe Lines, and in that manner as God directed it. And whereas the Sun is ſaid to have gone down, that may be ſpoken according to appearance, as other Paſſages of Scripture are underſtood, as when the Moon is called one of the great Lights, Gen. 1. though it be leſs than ſome of the Stars: and when the Sun is ſaid to go down, Jer. 15. 9. and to be turned into darkneſs, Joel 2. 31. Or, Secondly, The Sun it ſelf went back, and the Shadow with it. This may ſeem moſt probable: Firſt, By comparing this with Joſ. 10. 13. where the Sun it ſelf ſtood ſtill. Secondly, Becauſe it is ſaid, the Sun it ſelf returned, Iſa. 38. 8. for which he here mentions the Shadow only, becauſe the Miracle was not ſo eaſily diſcovered in the Sun, as in the Shadow of a Dial. And though the Sun may be elſewhere taken improperly, yet where the improper ſignification is unneceſſary, the proper is and ought to be preferred before it. Thirdly, Becauſe this Miracle was noted by the Babylonians, who, having underſtood that it was done for Hezekiah his ſake, ſent to enquire into the truth and manner of it, 2 Chron. 32. 31. Obj. If this had been done, the Heathen Hiſtorians and Aſtronomers would have taken notice of it, which we do not find that they did. Anſw. So it is moſt probable they did: although thoſe Books be not now extant: which is not ſtrange; this being confeſſed and bewailed, that ſo very few of the firſt and ancient Writers are now left. Herodotus himſelf, the firſt, and Father of the ancient Hiſtorians, being long after this time. And yet it is obſerved, that there are ſome Intimations of theſe things left, though mixed with Fables, as many true Hiſtories were; as what the Poets fabled of Jupiter's making the Night twice as long as it ſhould have been, that he might enjoy Alcmena longer. Whether the Sun or Shadow went backward ſuddenly, or leiſurely, and in the ſame time in which it had gone down, is a Queſtion of no great moment, the Miracle being evident either way. u Which Ahaz had made in the King's Palace. This Dial he mentions, becauſe the truth of the Miracle might be beſt and ſooneſt diſcovered there; this Dial poſſibly being viſible out of the King's Chamber, or at leaſt being near to it, and the Degrees being moſt diſtinct and conſpicuous in this Dial; but the ſame thing was diſcerned by all other Dials.

12 ¶ * At that time Berodach-baladan x the ſon of Baladan king of Babylon, ſent letters and a preſent unto Hezekiah y: for he had heard that Hezekiah had been ſick.

x Called Merodach-Baladan, Iſa. 39. 1. whoſe Name Joſephus found in that famous Chaldean Hiſtorian, Beroſus. He ſeems to have been the King of Aſſyria's Vice-Roy in Babylon, and upon that terrible Slaughter of 185 thouſand in the Aſſyrian Hoſt, and the Death of Sennacherib, and the differences among his Sons, to have uſurped and abſolute Sovereignty over Babylon; and either himſelf or his Son deſtroyed the Aſſyrian Monarchy, and tranſlated the Empire to Babylon. y Partly, for the Reaſons mentioned, 2 Chron. 32. 31. and partly, to aſſure himſelf of the Friendſhip and Aſſiſtance of Hezekiah againſt the Aſſyrians, their common, and as yet powerful Enemy.

13 And Hezekiah hearkned unto them z, and ſhewed them all the houſe of his ‖ precious things, the ſilver, and the gold, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his ‖ † armour, and all that was found in his treaſures a: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not b.

‖ Or, ſpicery.
‖ Or, Jewels.
† Heb. Veſſels.

z i. e. Granted their Deſires of a League and Amity with them. a For though his Country had lately been haraſſed by the Aſſyrians, yet he had reſerved all his Treaſures and precious things, which he and his Fathers had gathered in Jeruſalem. Beſides, he had conſiderable Spoils out of the Aſſyrian Camp. Alſo he had many Preſents ſent to him, 2 Chr. 32. 23. which doubtleſs were things of conſiderable Worth. b Which he did through vain Oſtentation and pride of heart, 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. being lifted up by the great Honour which God had done him, in working ſuch glorious Miracles for his ſake, and by the great Reſpects and Preſents rendred to him from divers Princes and People, and now by this great Babylonian Monarch. So hard a matter is it even for a good man to be high and humble.

14 ¶ Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men, and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country c, even from Babylon d.

c A vain-glorious Expreſſion, intimating the great Honour which he had from all parts both far and near. d That great and potent Monarchy: which he ſpeaks to magnifie his own Honour and Happineſs.

15 And he ſaid, What have they ſeen in thine houſe e? and Hezekiah anſwered, All the things that are in mine houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſure that I have not ſhewed them.

e He asketh, not that he was ignorant of it, but that from his Anſwer he might take the occaſion of delivering God's meſſage to him.

16 And Iſaiah ſaid unto Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD.

17 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore unto this day, * ſhall be carried into Babylon f: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the LORD.

* Chap. 24. 13. & 25. 13. Jer. 27. 22.

f This Judgment is denounced againſt him for his Pride, which God exceedingly abhors; and for his Ingratitude, whereby he took that Honour to himſelf which he ſhould have given entirely to God; and abuſed God's Gifts and Favours to the Gratification of his own Luſts: Of both which ſee 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. and for his carnal Confidence in that League which he had now made with the King of Babylon, by which, it is probable, he thought his Mountain to be ſo ſtrong, that it could not be removed.

18 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget g, ſhall they take away, and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon h.

g i. e. Of thy Grand-Children, who are oft called Sons. h They ſhall be Servants to that Heathen Monarch, whereby both their Bodies will be ſubject to Slavery, and the Luſts of their Lords, and their Souls expoſed to the peril of Idolatry, and all ſorts of Wickedneſs; which muſt needs be very grievous to ſo good a Man as Hezekiah, and was indeed a very ſore Judgment. Whereby God would teach the World the great Evil of Sin, yea even of thoſe Sins which are generally eſteemed but ſmall and venial; for ſuch were thoſe Sins of Hezekiah noted upon v. 17.

19 Then ſaid Hezekiah unto Iſaiah, Good is the word of the LORD i, which thou haſt ſpoken. And he ſaid, ‖ Is it not good, if peace and truth be in my days k?

‖ Or, Shall there not be peace and truth, &c.

i I heartily ſubmit to this Sentence, as being both juſt, becauſe deſerved and procured by mine and my Peoples ſins; and merciful, becauſe the Puniſhment is leſs than I have deſerved. k Which ſpeaks not as if he were careleſs and unconcerned for his Poſterity, (which neither the common Inclinations and Affections of Nature in all Men, nor that ſingular Piety and Charity which was eminent and manifeſt in Hezekiah, can ſuffer us to believe) or for the Church and People of God, for whoſe Welfare he was ſo ſolicitous and induſtrious in the whole Courſe of his Life; but becauſe it was a ſingular favour that this Judgment did not immediately follow his Sin, the Cauſe of it, but was ſuſpended for a longer time.

20 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought Water into the city, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21 And Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers: and Manaſſeh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

[e] That place I have peculiarly Conſecrated to my Worſhip and Honour: which made it the greater Injuſtice, and Impiety, and Sacriledge, to alienate it from God, and to dedicate it, or any part of it, eſpecially the Temple, to the ſervice of Idols, whom God abhorreth.

5 And he built altars for all the hoſt of heaven, in the two courts[f] of the houſe of the LORD.

8 Neither will I make the feet of Iſrael move any more out of the land[k] which I gave their fathers; only if they will obſerve to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that my ſervant Moſes commanded them.

[k] They ſhall no more be carried Captives into a ſtrange Land, as it had happened before.

9 But they hearkened not: and Manaſſeh ſeduced them to do more evil than did the nations whom the LORD deſtroyed before the children of Iſrael[l].

[l] Partly, becauſe they were not contented with thoſe Idols which the Canaanites worſhipped, but either themſelves invented, or they borrowed from other Nations many new Idols and kinds of Idolatry; and partly, becauſe as their light was far more clear, their obligations to God infinitely higher, and their helps and antidotes againſt Idolatry much ſtronger than the Canaanites had; ſo their ſins, though the ſame in kind, were unſpeakably worſe in reſpect of theſe dreadful aggravations.

10 ¶ and the LORD ſpake by his ſervants the prophets, ſaying,

* Jer. 15. 4.

11 * Becauſe Manaſſeh king of Judah hath done theſe abominations, and hath done wickedly above all that the Amorites[m] did, which were before him, and hath made Judah alſo to ſin with his idols[n];

[p] She ſhall have the ſame meaſure and lot, i. e. the ſame Judgments which Samaria had. The line is oft put for ones lot or portion, as Pſal. 16. 6. 2 Cor. 10. 16. becauſe mens portions or poſſeſſions uſed to be meaſured by Lines, Pſal. 78. 55. Amos 7. 17. See Iſa. 34. 11. Lam. 2. 8. Amos 7. 7, 8. Zech. 1. 16. Or, it is an alluſion to that fact of David, who deſtroyed the Moabites by a meaſuring Line, 2 Sam. 8. 2. [q] As men do with a Diſh that hath been uſed, firſt wholy empty it of all that is in it, then throughly cleanſe and wipe it; and laſtly, turn it upſide down, that nothing may remain in it; ſo will I deal with Jeruſalem, throughly empty and purge it from all its wicked Inhabitants, and that ſo as to cut off all hopes of reſtitution.

14 And I will forſake the remnant of mine inheritance[r], and deliver them into the hand of their enemies, and they ſhall become a prey, and a ſpoil to all their enemies;

[r] i. e. The Kingdom of Judah, the onely remainder of all the Tribes of Iſrael, which I did once chuſe for my Inheritance, but now, notwithſtanding that priveledge, will utterly reject and forſake them.

15 Becauſe they have done that which was evil in my ſight, and have provoked me to anger, ſince the day their fathers came forth out of Egypt, even unto this day[ſ].

[ſ] This ſore Judgment, though it was chiefly inflicted for the ſins of Manaſſeh and his Generation, yet had a reſpect unto all their former ſins, the guilt whereof, was upon this occaſion revived. See Exod. 32. 34.

16 Moreover, Manaſſeh ſhed innocent blood[t] very much, till he had filled Jeruſalem † from one end to another, beſide his ſin[u] wherewith he made Judah to ſin, in doing that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD. † Heb. from mouth to mouth.

[t] The Blood of thoſe Prophets and Righteous Men who either reproved his ſinful practices, or refuſed to comply with his wicked commands and worſhip. [u] i. e. His Idolatry, which is elſewhere called evil and corruption, and here ſin, by way of eminency; which is the more conſiderable, becauſe it is here compared with horrid cruelty, and implied to be worſe than that, and more abominable in God's ſight, becauſe it doth more directly and immediately ſtrike at the Glory and purity of the Divine Majeſty, by reſpect unto which all ſins are to be meaſured. And this expreſſion God here uſeth in oppoſition to the groſs error of moſt men, who look upon Idolatry as a ſmall ſin, as a meer miſtake of the mind, as the fruit of a good intention, and as an exceſs proceeding from Zeal in Religion.

17 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Manaſſeh, and all that he did, and his ſin that he ſinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

18 And * Manaſſeh ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own houſe[x], in the garden of Uzza[y]: and Amon his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * 2 Chro. 33. 20.

[x] Not in the Sepulchre of the Kings; either, by the people's deſignation, who judged him unworthy of that honour; or rather, by his own choice and command, as a laſting teſtimony of his ſincere Repentance and Abhorrency of himſelf for his former Crimes. [y] Or, of King Uzziah, who poſſibly planted or enlarged it.

19 ¶ Amon was twenty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Meſhullemeth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.

20 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD, as his father Manaſſeh did.

21 And he walked in the way that his father walked in, and ſerved the Idols that his father ſerved, and worſhipped them:

22 And he forſook the LORD God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the LORD.

23 ¶ And the ſervants of Amon conſpired againſt him, and ſlew the king in his own houſe.

24 And the people of the land ſlew all them that had conſpired againſt King Amon, and the people of the land made Joſiah his ſon king in his ſtead.

25 Now the reſt of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

26 And he was buried in the ſepulchre, in the garden of Uzza: And * Joſiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * Matth. 1. 10. Called, Joſias.

CHAP. XXII.

Joſiah's good reign: His care for the repair of the Temple, 1——7. Hilkiah found a Book of the Law: The King by it underſtandeth God's Threatnings againſt Backſliders, and by Huldah the Propheteſs enquireth of the Lord, 8——14. She propheſieth the deſtruction of Jeruſalem: but not in Joſiah's time, 15——20.

JOſiah * was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Jedidah the daughter of Adajah of Boſcath. * 2 Chr. 34. 1.

2 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aſide to the right hand or to the left.

3 ¶ And it came to paſs in the eighteenth year[a] of king Joſiah, that the king ſent Shaphan the ſon of Azaliah, the ſon of Meſhullam the ſcribe[b], to the houſe of the LORD, ſaying,

[a] Not of his Life, but of his reign, as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 34. 3, 8. What he did before this time, ſee 2 Chron. 34. 3, &c. [b] The Kings Secretary.

4 Go up to Hilkiah the high prieſt, that he may ſum the ſilver[c] which is * brought into the houſe of the LORD, which the keepers of the † door[d] have gathered of the people: * Chap. 12. 4. † Heb. threſhold.

5 And let them deliver it into the hand of the doers of the work, that have the overſight of the houſe of the LORD[e]: and let them give it to the doers of the work, which is in the houſe of the LORD, to repair the breaches of the houſe.

[e] i. e. The care and overſight of the workmen; which alſo were Levites, 2 Chron. 34. 12.

6 Unto carpenters, and builders, and maſons, and to buy timber, and hewen ſtone f, to repair the houſe.

f Either, hewed or cut out of the Quarries; or, to be hewed and fitted to the Building.

7 Howbeit, there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, becauſe they dealt faithfully g.

g i. e. Becauſe it was found by experience that they dealt faithfully. Verbs ſignifying the being of a thing, are oft put for the manifeſtation of it.

8 ¶ And Hilkiah the high prieſt ſaid unto Shaphan the ſcribe, I have found the book of the law h in the houſe of the LORD: and Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it.

h That original book of the law of the Lord, given or written by the hand of Moſes, as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 34. 14. which by God's Command was put beſide the Ark, Deut. 31. 26. and probably taken from thence and hid, by the care of ſome godly Prieſt, when ſome of the Idolatrous Kings of Judah perſecuted the true Religion, and defaced the Temple, and (which the Jewiſh Writers affirm) burnt all the Copies of God's Law which they could find, and now found among the Rubbiſh, or in ſome ſecret place.

† Heb. melted.

9 And Shaphan the ſcribe came to the king, and brought the king word again, and ſaid, Thy ſervants have † gathered the money that was found in the houſe, and have delivered it into the hand of them that do the work, that have the overſight of the houſe of the LORD.

10 And Shaphan the ſcribe ſhewed the king, ſaying, Hilkiah the prieſt hath delivered me a book: And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And it came to paſs when the king had heard the words of the book of the law i, that he rent his clothes.

i i. e. The dreadful Comminations againſt them for the ſins ſtill reigning among the people. Queſt. Did Joſiah never ſee and read a Copy of this Book before this time? If he did not, how could he do ſo much towards the Reformation of Religion, as he did before? if he did, why was he not ſooner convinced and humbled by it? Anſw. If Joſiah had not yet ſeen a Copy of this Book (which is not impoſſible) yet there was ſo much of the Law left in the minds and memories of many of the People, as might eaſily perſuade and direct him to all that he did till this time: or, if Joſiah had ſeen and read it before, which ſeems more probable, yet the great Reverence which he juſtly bare to the Original Book, and the ſtrange, and remarkable, and ſeaſonable finding of it, had very much awakened and quickened him to a more ſerious and diligent reading, and attentive conſideration of all the paſſages contained in it, than he uſed before.

12 And the king commanded Hilkiah the prieſt, and Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, and Achbor the ſon of Micaiah, and Shaphan the ſcrbe, and Aſahiah a ſervant of the kings k, ſaying, k Who moſt conſtantly waited upon the King's Perſon: otherwiſe all of them were the King's Servants.

13 Go ye, enquire of the LORD l for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book m that is found: for great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled againſt us, becauſe our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according unto all that which is written concerning us.

n For we read of Women Propheteſſes, both in the Old and New Teſtament, as Miriam, Exod. 15. 20. Deborah, Judg. 4. 4. Hannah, 1 Sam. 2. Elizabeth, and the Bleſſed Virgin, Luk. 1. and Philip's Daughters, Act. 21. 9. Queſt. But why did he ſend to this Woman, and not rather to Zephaniah, or Jeremiah, who were Prophets in Joſiah's days? Anſ. Either, Firſt, Becauſe the King's earneſt affection in this buſineſs required great haſte; and ſhe was in Jeruſalem, which is therefore noted in the following part of the Verſe, when Jeremiah might at this time be at Anathoth, or in ſome more remote part of the Kingdom; and the like may be ſaid of Zephaniah, who alſo might not be a Prophet at this time, though he was afterward, in the days of Joſiah, which is all that is affirmed of him, Zeph. 1. 10. Or, 2. Becauſe the King or his Courtiers had longer and greater experience of the eminency of her Prophetical Gifts, than of Jeremiah's, who began not to prophecy till the thirteenth Year of Joſiah, Jer. 1. 2. and being well aſſured of her Fidelity in delivering the Mind and Counſel of God, to thoſe that enquired of her, they rightly concluded, that it was much more conſiderable what meſſage God ſent, than by whom it was conveyed to them. o Where the Sons of the Prophets, or others, who devoted themſelves to the ſtudy of God's Word, uſed to meet and diſcourſe of the things of God, and receive the Inſtructions of their Teachers. Others both Ancient and Modern render it, in another or the ſecond part, to wit, of the City, i. e. in the Suburbs, which alſo were Fortified and Walled about by Hezekiah, 2 Chron. 32. 5.

15 ¶ And ſhe ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, tell the man that ſent you to me,

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah hath read;

17 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and have burnt incenſe unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands p: therefore my wrath ſhall be kindled againſt this place, and ſhall not be quenched.

p Gods made with hands. This ſhe adds to aggravate their folly and contempt of God, in preferring ſuch vain and idle things before him.

18 But to the king of Judah, which ſent you to enquire of the LORD, thus ſhall ye ſay to him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, As touching the words which thou haſt heard;

19 Becauſe thine heart was tender, and thou haſt humbled thy ſelf before the LORD, when thou heardſt what I ſpake againſt this place, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, that they ſhould become a deſolation and a curſe, and haſt rent thy clothes, and wept before me: I alſo have heard thee, ſaith the LORD.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou ſhalt be gathered into thy grave in peace q, and thine eyes ſhall not ſee all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

q i. e. In a time of publick Peace, and the Tranquility of thy Kingdom; or ſo as thou ſhalt not ſee all the evil which I will bring upon this place, as the following words explain it: for otherwiſe he died in Battel, chap. 23. 29. Or if they were wholly rooted out, Amon's new Altars are called by his Fathers name, becauſe they were built by his example, and in the very ſame place where his Fathers Altars were; as the Wells which Iſaac digged in the ſame place, where Abraham had digged them before, were therefore called by their ancient names, Gen. 26. 15. Not the ſame indvidual Altars; which doubtleſs either Solomon upon his repentance, or ſome other of Joſiah's Godly predeceſſors had taken away long before this time; but other Altars built by Manaſſeh or Amon, which becauſe erected by Solomon's example, and for the ſame uſe, and in the ſame place, are called by his name; this brand being left by the Holy Ghoſt upon his name and memory, as a juſt puniſhment of that abominable practice, and a mean to deter others from the like. t Of which and the reſt ſee on 1 King. 11. 5, 6, 7. u i. e. The Idol, ſo called, becauſe it was abominable, and made them abominable to God.

y Queſt. How could he rightly do this, ſeeing Bethel was a part of the Kingdom of Iſrael, not of Judah? Anſ. Either, Firſt, This City was now under the Kingdom of Judah, to which it was added by Abijah long ſince, 2 Chron. 13. 19. Or, Secondly, He did this by vertue of that ancient right which David and his Poſterity had to the Kingdom of Iſrael, which though ſuſpended for a time by God's grant of the Ten Tribes to Jeroboam, and the ſucceeding Kings of of Iſrael: yet theſe being all extinct, it might ſeem to return to him, at leaſt ſo far as to pluck up Idolatry out of the Land of Iſrael, as he had opportunity, and eſpecially out of thoſe parts of it which bordered upon Judah. Or, Thirdly, The King of Babylon having ingaged in a War with the Aſſyran, Hezekiah's great Enemy, and having thereupon occaſion for Hezekiah's friendſhip, did (as ſome ſuppoſe) enlarge his Dominion, and give him ſome power over the Kingdom of Iſrael, at leaſt as to matters of Religion: Which may ſeem not improbable from 2 Chron. 30. 1, 4, 5, 6. And the ſame power ſeems to have been continued, and ſome kind of League made between the King of Babylon and Manaſſeh (who thereupon was reſtored to his Kingdom, 2 Chron. 33. 13.) and after him Joſiah, who therefore was ſo zealous in his quarrel againſt the King of Egypt, 2 Chron. 35. 20, &c. Or, Fourthly, He did it in purſuance of God's prediction concerning this Action, 1 King. 13. 2. which (in a matter ſo good, and ſo agreeable to God's will and word, as the extirpation of Idolatry unqueſtionably was) had the force of a Warrant or command upon him to do it, as God's prediction of the Converſion of the Gentiles by the Meſſias, was a command to his Apoſtles to Preach to them, Act. 13. 47. z Which ſeems to have been ſome little Temple or Houſe erected for that Worſhip, or for the Prieſts attending upon it.

Or rather, 2. By this Relation it appears, and from the nature of the thing, and common practice in like caſes, it is more than probable, that after the departure of the King of Aſſyria, divers of the Iſraelites who had retired to other parts, and kept themſelves out of the Conquerours hands, returned together with their Prieſts to their own Land, and to their old trade of Worſhipping Idols; to whom, peradventure, they aſcribed this their Deliverance from that Judgment which Jehovah had brought upon them. h According to that Famous Prophecy, 1 King 13. 1, 2.

6 So Jehoiakim ſlept with his Fathers: and Jehojachin h his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

h Called alſo Jechoniah, 1 Chron. 3. 16. (as Jehojakim alſo was, by comparing this with Matt. 1. 11.) and in way of contempt, Choniah, Jer. 22. 24.

7 And the King of Egypt came not again any more out of his land i: for * the king of Babylon had taken from the river of Epypt unto the river Euphrates, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

* Jer. 46. 2.

i To wit, in this Kings days; nor until Zedekiah's time, Jer. 37. 6, 7. nor to any purpoſe. He could not now come out to Protect the King of Judah, being ſcarce able to defend his own Kingdom.

8 ¶ Jehojachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign k, and he reigned in Jeruſalem three months l: and his mothers name was Nehuſhta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jeruſalem.

k Object. He was then but Eight years old, 2 Chron. 36. 9. Anſw. 1. Both are true; in his Eighth Year he began to Reign with his Father, who made him King with him, as divers other Kings of Iſrael and Judah had done in the like times of trouble; and in his Eighteenth Year he reigned alone. 2. He is called a ſon of eight years when he began to reign, 2 Chron. 36. 9. becauſe this was the Eighth Year, not of his Age, but of the Babyloniſh Captivity, or Bondage; under which, both he, and his Father had been juſt ſo long; for it began in the Fourth Year of Jehojakim, as it is affirmed, Jer. 25. 1. and continued all his Reign, which laſted Eleven Years, Chap. 23. 36. and ſo the firſt Year of Jehojakim was preciſely the Eighth Year of that Captivity. And this is certain, That the Years of Kings mentioned in Scripture, are not always accounted from the beginning of their Age, but from ſome other Remarkable Time or Thing: thus Saul, when at Man's Eſtate, is called, the ſon of one year, 1 Sam. 13. 1. of which ſee my notes there; and Ahaziah, (whoſe Father lived only Forty Years, 2 Chron. 21. 20.) is called a ſon of forty and two years when he began to reign, 2 Chron. 22. 2. becauſe that was the Forty and ſecond Year of the Reign of Omri's Family, as moſt think. And therefore it cannot ſeem ſtrange, if the Years of this King be computed, not from his Birth, but from the beginning of ſo great and famous a Change of the Jewiſh Affairs, as this Captivity made; this being the uſual way of the Romans and Greeks, and other more Ancient and Eaſtern Nations, to compute the times from the great Changes and Revolutions happening among them. And that this was the practice of the Jews in the Computation of theſe very times, is evident from the uſe of it in the Prophecy of Ezekiel, Chap. 1. 2. which was the fifth year of Jehojakim's captivity; and Chap. 33. 21. in the Twelfth year of our Captivity; and Chap. 40. 1. in the Twenty fifth year of our captivity. 3. To all this might be added, That ſome here acknowledge an Error of the Scribe, and affirm, That in the firſt and beſt Copies, in 2 Chron. 36. 9. it was not eight, but eighteen; which they gather from hence, becauſe thoſe two Ancient and Venerable Tranſlators, the Syriack and Arabick, read there, as it is here, was eighteen years old; which they ſay, they would never have preſumed to do, if they had not ſo read it in thoſe Hebrew Copies, out of which they drew their Tranſlation; or in ſome of them. l And ten days, which are added, 2 Chron. 36. 9. But ſuch ſmall ſums are frequently omitted in great Numbers. See on Gen. 15. 13. 1 King. 16. 8.

9 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD, according to all that his father had done.

10 ¶ * At that time the ſervants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up againſt Jeruſalem m, and the city † was beſieged.

13 * And he carried out thence all the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD, and the treaſures of the kings houſe, and cut in pieces p all the veſſels of gold q which Solomon king of Iſrael had made r in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had ſaid.

* Chap. 20. 17. Iſa. 39. 6.

p Or rather, took away, as this word elſewhere ſignifies; or cut off, to wit, from the Temple. For why ſhould they cut in pieces thoſe Veſſels which might conveniently be carried away? And that they were not cut in pieces, but reſerved whole, is manifeſt from Ezra 1. 7. and Dan. 5. 2, 3. q i. e. The moſt and choiceſt of them, by comparing this with ch. 25. 14, 15. r So he expreſſeth it, either Firſt, becauſe theſe Veſſels were made by the godly Kings of Judah, inſtead of thoſe which Solomon made, and ſo they go by his Name; as the Ship of the Argonauts was ſtill reputed the ſame Ship, though it was from time to time recruited with new materials, until nothing of the old was left. Or, Secondly, Becauſe though the City and Temple had been rifled more than once both by the Kings of Egypt and Iſrael, and by the wicked Kings of Judah; yet theſe Golden Veſſels were preſerved from them, either by the care of the Prieſts, who hid them out of the way; or by the clemency of the Conquerors, and the reverence which they bare to ſuch ſacred Inſtruments; or by the ſpecial providence of God, diſpoſing their hearts to leave them. Or, if they had been taken away by any of theſe Kings, they might afterwards be recovered by the intreaty, or at the Coſt of the godly Kings of Judah.

14 And he carried away all Jeruſalem ſ, and * all the Princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even ten thouſand t captives, and all the craftſmen and ſmiths u: none remained ſave the pooreſt ſort of the people of the land.

20 For through the anger of the LORD it came to paſs in Jeruſalem and Judah, until he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon y.

y Thus the Peoples Sins were the true Cauſe why God gave them wicked Kings, whom he ſuffer'd to do wickedly, that they might bring the long-deſerved, and threatned Puniſhments upon themſelves and their People.

30 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him of the king, a daily rate for every day, all the days of his life.

I. CHRONICLES.

These Books of the Chronicles are not the ſame which are ſo called 1 King. 14. 19. and elſewhere, (becauſe ſome Paſſages ſaid to be there mentioned, are not found here) but other Books, and written by other Perſons, and for other Ends. Yet this ſame Writer took out of thoſe Books ſuch Hiſtorical Paſſages as were moſt uſeful or neceſſary. They were written after the Babyloniſh Captivity, as appears from 2 Chron. 36. 20, &c. by Ezra, as may be gathered not only from the ſame Words uſed in the place now quoted, and in the beginning of that Book which goeth under the name of Ezra, but alſo from ſome other Paſſages, which we may obſerve hereafter, and from the Exactneſs and Diligence here uſed in making Catalogues of Perſons and Families, which alſo is uſed in the Book of Ezra. If one or two Paſſages ſeem to be of a later Date, thoſe were added by ſome other Prophets; there being ſome few ſuch Additional Paſſages in the Books of Moſes. The chief Deſign of theſe Books is, to compleat the Hiſtory of the Kings of Judah, and to gather up the Fragments of Sacred Hiſtory, which were omitted in the Books of Samuel and Kings, and to explain ſome Paſſages there mentioned, and to give an exact Account of the Genealogies: Which (though ignorant or inconſiderate Perſons may think trivial and uſeleſs) was a Work of great Neceſſity, to preſerve the Diſtinction of the Tribes and Families; that ſo it might appear that Chriſt came of that Nation, and Tribe, and Family, of which he was to be born. And this Account having been hitherto neglected, is moſt ſeaſonably mentioned in theſe Books, becauſe this was to be in a manner the laſt part of the Sacred and Canonical Hiſtory of the Old Teſtament, and therefore the fitteſt place to Record thoſe Genealogies, upon which the Truth and Authority of the New Teſtament in ſome ſort depends. And whereas many things in theſe Genealogies to us are obſcure and doubtful, they were not ſo to the Hebrews; and all the Perſons here named, were known to them by thoſe very particular and exact Genealogies, which they kept in their ſeveral Families and in publick Regiſters; from whence this Sacred Pen-man, by the Direction of God's Spirit, took thoſe Things which were of moſt Importance.

2 Kenan, Mahalaleel, Jered,

3 Henoch, Methuſhelah, Lamech,

4 Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth[b].

[b] Formerly he mentions only one Son, but here he names and treats of Noah's three Sons, partly becauſe they were all the Founders of the New World; and partly becauſe the Accompliſhment of Noah's Famous Prophecy, Gen. 9. 25, 26, 27. could not otherwiſe appear, but by the account of their ſeveral Poſterities.

14 The Jebuſite[e] alſo, and the Amorite, and the Girgaſhite, [e] The People ſo called. So the Names which follow until v. 17. are not the Names of particular Perſons, but of People or Nations. And all theſe deſcended from Canaan, though ſome of them were afterwards extinct or confounded with others of their Brethren by Cohabitation or mutual Marriages, whereby they loſt their Names: Which is the Reaſon why they are no more mentioned, at leaſt under theſe Names.

15 And the Hivite, and the Archite, and the Sinite, 16 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite.

17 The ſons of * Shem[f]; Elam, and Aſhur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram, and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and || Meſhech. * Gen. 10. 22. & 11. 10. || Or, Maſh. Gen. 10. 23.

18 And Arphaxad begat Shelah[g], and Shelah begat Eber.

[g] Either Immediately, or Mediately by his Son Cainan, who is expreſſed, Luke 3. 35. of which, God aſſiſting, I ſhall ſpeak in its proper place.

19 And unto Eber were born two ſons: the name of the one was || Peleg, (becauſe in his days the earth was divided[h],) and his brothers name was Joktan. || That is, diviſion.

24 * Shem, Arphaxad[k], Shelah, * Gen. 11. 10. Luke 3. 36.

Cities which he is ſaid to have, v. 22. s i. e. from the former Inhabitants, which is eaſily underſtood. t Which was taken by Nobah, one of Jairs Commanders ſent by him to take it, as may be gathered from Numb. 32. 41, 42. u Partly to his own Sons, and partly to his Son-in-law Jair, who by reaſon of that dear Affection which was betwixt them, and his forſaking his own Tribe and Kindred to fight for them and to dwell with them, is here reckoned as his own Son.

24 And after that Hezron was dead in Caleb-ephratah x, then Abiah Hezrons wife bare him Aſhur y the father of Tekoa z.

x A place then ſo called by a Conjunction of the Names of the Man and his Wife; afterwards ſuppoſed to be called Bethlehem-Ephratah. Others tranſlate the words thus, When Caleb took Ephratah. So it is an Ellepſis of the Verb which is here to be underſtood out of v. 19. where it is expreſſed. y After the father's death. z A known place, 2 Sam. 14. 2, 4. Jer. 6. 1. Amos 1. 1. Whoſe Father he is called, becauſe he was either the Progenitour of the People inhabiting there: Or, their Prince and Ruler: Or, the Builder of the City.

25 And the ſons of Jerahmeel the firſt-born of Hezron were, Ram the firſt-born, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah a.

a Or, of (the prefix, mem being oft underſtood) Abijah, his Wife ſo called, as may ſeem probable from the next Verſe, where he mentions another Wife.

26 Jerahmeel had alſo another wife whoſe name was Atarah, ſhe was the mother of Onam.

27 And the ſons of Ram the firſt-born of Jerahmeel were Maaz, and Jamin, and Eker.

28 And the ſons of Onam were, Shammai, and Jada. And the ſons of Shammai; Nadab, and Abiſhur.

29 And the name of the wife of Abiſhur was Abihail, and ſhe bare him Ahban, and Molid.

30 And the ſons of Nadab, Seled, and Appaim: but Seled died without children.

31 And the ſons b of Appaim; Iſhi. And the ſons of Iſhi; Sheſhan. And * the children of Sheſhan; Ahlai. * See ver. 34, 35.

b An Expreſſion oft uſed both afterwards in this Verſe, and elſewhere, and in prophane Authors too, where there is but one Son. It is an Enallage of the Number, which is frequent in the Hebrew.

32 And the ſons of Jada the brother of Shammai; Jether, and Jonathan: and Jether died without children.

33 And the ſons of Jonathan; Peleth, and Zaza. Theſe were the ſons of Jerahmeel.

34 Now Sheſhan had no ſons c, but daughters: and Sheſhan had a ſervant, an Egyptian, whoſe name was Jarha.

c To wit, living when he died, his Son Ahlai, v. 31. dying before him: unleſs Ahlai was the Name of a Daughter.

35 And Sheſhan gave his daughter to Jarha his Servant to wife, and ſhe bare him Attai.

36 And Attai begat Nathan, and Nathan begat * Zabad, * Chap. 11. 41.

37 And Zabad begat Ephlal, and Ephlal begat Obed,

38 And Obed begat Jehu, and Jehu begat Azariah,

39 And Azariah begat Helez, and Helez begat Eleaſah, 40 And Eleaſah begat Siſamai, and Siſamai begat Shallum, 41 And Shallum begat Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begat Eliſhama.

42 Now the ſons of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel d were, Meſha his firſt-born, which was the father of Ziph e: and the ſons of Mareſhah the father of Hebron f.

d To wit, of that Caleb mentioned v. 18. as appears by comparing that Verſe with v. 25. And theſe are his Sons by another and his third Wife. See on v. 18. e The Name either of a Man: or of a Place, of which ſee Joſ. 15. 24, 55. And then Father is to be underſtood here as v. 23, and 24. f Not the place ſo called, but a Man, as is evident becauſe his Sons here follow.

43 And the ſons of Hebron; Korah, and Tappuah, and Rekem, and Shema.

44 And Shema begat Raham the father of Jorkoam: and Rekem begat Shammai.

45 And the ſon of Shammai was Maon: and Maon was the father of Beth-zur g.

g A Place in Judah, Joſ. 15. 58. See on v. 23.

46 And Ephah Calebs Concubine bare Haran, and Moza, and Gazez: and Haran begat Gazez.

47 And the ſons of Jahdai h; Regem, and Jotham, and Geſhan, and Pelet, and Ephah, and Shaaph.

h The Son of Gazez laſt mentioned: which is implied becauſe he follows next after him in the Genealogy. Or, the Sons of Moza: whoſe name might be changed into Jahdai for ſome reaſon now unknown.

48 Maachah Calebs Concubine bare Sheber and Tirhanah.

49 She bare alſo Shaaph the father of Madmannah i, Shevah the father of Machbenah, and the father of Gibea: and the daughter of Caleb was * Achſah. * Joſh. 15. 17.

i This, and divers other following Names are the Names of Places in Judah, and Father is meant as v. 32, 24.

50 Theſe were the ſons of Caleb the ſon of Hur, the firſt-born of Ephratah; Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim.

51 Salma the father of Beth-lehem k, Hareph the father of Beth-gader l.

k To wit, in part: For Boaz deſcended from another Salmon, who was the Son of Naaſſan, v. 11. l Called alſo Penuel the father of Gedor, chap. 4. 4.

52 And Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim, had ſons; || Haroeh m, and || half of the Manahethites. || Or, Reaiah, chap. 4. 2. || Or, half of the Menuchites, Or, Hatſi-hammenuchoth.

m Which may ſignifie an Overſeer, a Prophet, or Teacher, or Ruler; but here is a proper Name, as appears from chap. 4. 2. where he is called Reaiah with no great variation in the Hebrew.

53 And the families of Kirjath-jearim n; the Ithrite, and the Puhite, and the Shumathite, and the Miſhraite: of them o came the Zareathite, and the Eſhtaulite p.

n Or, In Kirjath-jearim, all which deſcended from Shobal, v. 51. o i. e. Of the Family of the Miſhraite, laſt mentioned. p The Inhabitants of two places called Zoreah and Eſhtaol, Joſ. 15. 33.

54 The ſons of Salma q; Bethlehem r, and the Netophathite, || Ataroth s, the houſe of Joab t, and half of the Manahethites u, the Zorites x. || Or, Atarites: or, crowns of the Houſe of Joab.

q Of that Salma mentioned, v. 51. r i. e. The inhabitants of Beth-lehem. s The name of a Perſon, or People. t The Progenitors of Joab's Family. u The other half being mentioned v. 52. x For, to wit, the Zorite.

55 And the families of the Scribes y which dwelt z at Jabez ||; the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and Suchathites. Theſe are the * Kenites that came of Hemath † the father of the houſe of * Rechab. * Judg. 1. 16. * Jer. 35. 2.

y Either Civil, who were Publick Notaries, who wrote and ſigned Legal Inſtruments: Or Eccleſiaſtical. And theſe were either Levites, or Simeonites, or rather Kenites, and are here mentioned not as if they were of the Tribe of Judah, but becauſe they dwelt among them, and probably were allied to them by Marriages, and ſo in a manner Incorporated with them. z Or, rather dwelt; Heb. Were Dwellers. For the other tranſlation, which dwelt, may ſeem to inſinuate that theſe were Deſcendants of Judah, which they were not; but this Tranſlation only ſignifies their Cohabitation with them, for which cauſe they are here named with them. || A Place in Judah, ſo named probably from that Famous Jabez of that Tribe, chap. 4. 9. † Who dwelt in Judah, Judg. 1. 11. Thus they are diſtinguiſh'd from the other Branch of the Kenites, who dwelt in the Tribe of Manaſſeh, Judg. 4. 11.

CHAP. III.

The Sons of David, 1——9. His Line to Zedekiah, 10——16. the Succeſſors of Jeconia, 17——24.

NOw theſe were the ſons of David, which were born unto him in Hebron: the firſt-born * Amnon, of Ahinoam the * Jezreeliteſs a: the ſecond || Daniel, of Abigal the Carmeliteſs b: * 2 Sam. 3. 2. * Joſh. 15. 56. || Or, Chileab, 2Sam. 3. 3.

a Of that Jezreel in Judah, Joſ. 15. 56. not of that in Manaſſeh, Joſ. 17. 16. b So called, becauſe ſhe was the Wife of Nabal who dwelt in Carmel, 1 Sam. 25. 2. which was in Judah, Joſ. 15. 55.

2 The third, Abſalom the ſon of Maachah, the daughter of Talmai King of Geſhur: the fourth, Adonijah the ſon of Haggith:

3 The fifth, Shephatiah of Abital: the ſixth, Ithream by * Eglah his wife c. * 2 Sam. 3. 5.

c Which Title belongs either to all the foregoing Women, or rather, as the ſingular numb. ſheweth, to Eglah onely, laſt mentioned: who poſſibly may be ſo called becauſe ſhe was his firſt, and therefore moſt proper, Wife, though her ſon was born after all the reſt before-mentioned, and therefore both ſhe and her Son are put in the ſixth Place, the Wives being here named onely for the Sons ſakes. See more on 2 Sam. 3. 5.

4 Theſe ſix were born unto him in Hebron, and * there he reigned ſeven years and ſix months: and * in Jeruſalem he reigned thirty and three years. * 2 Sam. 2. 11. * 2 Sam. 5. 5.

5 * And theſe were born unto him in Jeruſalem, || Shimea, and Shobab, and Nathan, and * Solomon, four d, of || Bathſhua the daughter of || Ammiel e: * 2 Sam. 5. 14. 2 Sam. 5. 14. * 2 Sam. 12. 24. || Or, Shammua, || Or, Bathſheba. 2 Sam. 11. 3. || Or, Eliam, 2 Sam. 11. 3.

d All David's Children by her, as the Text poſitively affirms: and therefore Solomon is called her onely Son, Prov. 4. 3. becauſe ſhe loved him as if he had been ſo. e Called alſo Eliam, 2 Sam. 11. 3. See on 2 Sam. 11. 3.

6 Ibhar, alſo, and || Eliſhama, and Eliphelet f, f And he had two other ſons called by the ſame Names, v. 8. but they were by differing Wives: and probably they were then diſtinguiſhed by ſome additional Clauſe or Title, which is here omitted, becauſe it was now needleſs for us to know it: Or, the two firſt were dead before the two ſecond were born, and therefore the Names of the diſeaſed were given to theſe to preſerve their Memory.

7 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

8 And Eliſhama, and || Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine g. || Or, Eliſhua, 2 Sam. 5. 15. || Or, Beeliada, Ch. 14. 7.

g Obj. There are but ſeven mentioned, 2 Sam. 5. 14, &c. Anſ. Two of them are omitted there, becauſe they died very early, or were Inglorious, or died without iſſue: And here we have all the ſons of David, as it here follows v. 9. which Clauſe is not added 2 Sam. 5.

9 Theſe were all the ſons of David, beſides the ſons of the concubines, and * Tamar their ſiſter. * 2 Sam. 13. 1.

10 And Solomons ſon was * Rehoboam, || Abia his ſon, Aſa his ſon, Jehoſhaphat his ſon, * 1 King. 11. 43. & 15. 6. || Abijam, 1 King. 15. 1.

11 Joram his ſon, || Ahaziah his ſon, Joaſh his ſon, || Or, Azariah, 2Chr. 22. 6. Or, Jehoahaz, 2 Chron. 21. 17.

12 Amaziah his ſon, || Azariah his ſon, Jotham his ſon, || Or, Uzziah, 2 King. 15. 30.

13 Ahaz his ſon, Hezekiah his ſon, Manaſſeh his ſon, 14 Amon his ſon, Joſiah his ſon.

15 And the ſons of Joſiah were, the firſt-born || Johanan, the ſecond || Jehoiakim, the third || Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum h. || Or, Jehoahaz, 2 King. 23. 30. || Or, Eliakim, 2 King. 23. 34. || Or, Mattaniah, 2 King. 24. 17.

h Of whom, at leaſt under that Name, there is no mention in the Hiſtory of the Reign of Joſiah's Sons, 2 King. 23, & 24. But in Jerem. 22. 11. there is mention of Shallum the Son of Joſiah King of Judah, which reigned inſtead of Joſiah his Father. Which moſt conceive to be the ſame who is otherwiſe called Jehoahaz, 2 King. 23. And this ſeems moſt probable, 1. From that Phraſe, he reigned inſtead of Joſiah; which implies that he immediately ſucceeded his Father; otherwiſe he would not have been ſaid to have reigned inſtead of his Brother, as Zedekiah is ſaid to reign inſtead of Jehojachim, 2 King. 24. 17. becauſe he was his next Succeſſor. 2. From the Order of that Sermon or Diſcourſe of Jeremiah, which was directed to Zedekiah, and his Servants, and People, as appears by Jer. 21. 1, 2, 11. and 22. 1, 2. whom he admoniſheth by the Examples of the Kings his Predeceſſors, and of the Sentence of God concerning each of them, and that in order as they reigned; 1. Of Shallum, v. 11. &c. 2. Of Jehojakim, v. 18, &c. 3. Of Jechoniah, &c. Therefore Shallum is the ſame with Jehoahaz, who was the firſt King after Joſiah, 2 King. 23. 31. 3. From the nature of that Prophecy, Jer. 22. 11. 12. which beſt agrees to Jehoahaz, who was carried captive not ſo far as Babylon, but onely to Egypt a very near Countrey, whence the People hoped that he would ſpeedily and eaſily return, or be re-eſtabliſhed in his throne by the King of Egypt, in oppoſition to the King of Babylon. 4. Becauſe Jehoahaz was one of Joſiah's younger Sons, as appears by comparing 2 King. 23. 31. 36. And this Shallum is here called his fourth Son.

|| Or, Jehoiachin, 2 King. 24. 6. Or, Coniah, Jer. 22. 24.

16 And the ſons of Jehojakim, || Jeconiah his ſon, Zedekiah his ſon i.

i Not his Natural Son, for he was his Uncle, 2 Kings 24. 17. but his Legal Son, or his Succeſſor, upon whom the Son's Right was devolved by vertue of that Law, Numb. 27. 8, 9, 10. and therefore it is not ſtrange if he have the Name of Son with it. See the Notes on Luke 3. Or this was another Zedekiah; becauſe it is improbable and without Example, that one and the ſame Man ſhould be twice mentioned in the ſame Genealogy as the Son of two ſeveral Parents.

† Heb. Shealtiel. * Mat. 1. 11.

17 And the ſons of Jeconiah; Aſſir k, † Salathiel * his ſon l.

k Or, of Jechoniah the Captive, or Priſoner: which is added to ſhew that he begat his Son when he was Captive in Babylon, as it is noted, Mat. 1. 12. whither he was carried Captive, 2 King. 24. 17. Obj. It is ſaid of this Jechonias, Jer. 22. 30. Write this Man childleſs. Anſw. So he is called, becauſe he was an Unhappy Prince, and had no Son that ſucceeded him in the Throne, as the next Words explain it. See more on that Place. l Either his Legal, or his Natural Son: of which ſee the Notes on Jer. 22. 30. and Mat. 1. 12. and Luke 3. 27.

18 Malchiram alſo, and Pedajah m, and Shenazar, Jecamiah, Hoſhama, and Nedabiah.

m The Sentence ſeems to be ſhort and imperfect, as is frequent in the Hebrew Language, and ſomething is here underſtood, as, The Sons alſo of Salathiel were Malchiram and Pedajah, &c. as they gather from hence that the ſame Zerubbabel is called the Son of Pedajah, v. 19. and the ſon (i. e. the Grandſon) of Salathiel, Mat. 1. 12. Or, Malchiram and the reſt here named were the Sons of Jechoniah; and they are differing Zerubbabels, which are mentioned here v. 19. and Mat. 1. 12. and Luk. 3. 27. of which ſee the Notes on thoſe places.

19 And the ſons of Pedajah were, Zerubbabel, and Shimei; and the ſons of Zerubbabel; Meſhullam, and Hananiah, and Shelomith their ſiſter n:

n i. e. Siſter to the two laſt named Sons of Zerubbabel, to wit, by both Parents; and therefore named before the other five, v. 20. who were her Brethren by the Father, but not by the Mother.

20 And Haſhubah, and Ohel, and Berechiah, and Hazadiah, Juſhab-heſed, five o.

o Either of Zerubbabel: or of Meſhullam, as is gathered from hence that the Sons of Hananiah (Brother to Meſhullam, v. 19.) are named v. 21. and therefore thoſe v. 20. are preſumed to be the Sons of Meſhullam. But that is no neceſſary Inference, for Meſhullam poſſibly had no Sons, and therefore he paſſeth from him to Hananiah, v. 21.

21 And the ſons of Hananiah, Pelatiah, and Jeſajah: the ſons of Rephajah, the ſons of Arnan, the ſons of Obadiah, the ſons of Shekaniah p.

p. All theſe Men, both Parents and their Sons here blended together, are mentioned as the Sons of Hananiah, and Branches of the Royal Stock.

* Ezra 8. 2.

22 And the ſons of Shechaniah; Shemajah: and the ſons of Shemajah; * Hattuſh, and Igeal, and Bariah, and Neariah, and Shaphat, ſix q.

q To wit, including the Father. But the Hebrew word, Shiſha, which is rendred ſix, may be the proper Name of one of the Sons of Shemajah, who may be ſo called, becauſe he was the ſixth Son.

† Heb. Hizkijahu.

23 And the ſons of Neariah r; Elioenai, and † Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three.

r Who alone is here mentioned, becauſe his Elder Brethren probably died without Iſſue.

24 And the ſons of Elioenai were, Hodajah, and Eliaſhib, and Pelajah, and Akkub, and Johanan, and Dalajah, and Anani, ſeven.

CHAP. IV.

The Poſterity of Judah by Caleb the Son of Hur, 1——4. By Aſhur, 5——8. By Jabez: His Prayer, 9——20. The Poſterity of Shelah, 21——23. The Poſterity, and Cities of Simeon: Their Conqueſt of Gedor: And of the Amalekites in Mount Seir, 24——43.

THe ſons a of Judah; * Pharez, Hezron, and || Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal.

a i. e. The Poſterity: For onely Pharez was his immediate Son. But they are all mentioned here only to ſhew Shobal's Deſcent from Judah, of whom he intended to ſpeak more particularly.

2 And || Reajah b the ſon of Shobal, begat Jahath, and Jahath begat Ahumai, and Lahad. Theſe are the families of the Zorathite c.

b Called Haroeh, ch. 2. 52. of whom ſee there. c Of whom ſee on ch. 2. 53.

3 And theſe were of the father of Etam d; Jezreel, and Iſhma, and Idbaſh: and the name of their ſiſter was Hazelelponi.

d Etam is the Name either of a Man, or of a Place: of which ſee below, v. 32. and 2 Chron. 11. 6. Whoſe Inhabitants deſcended from him. The Name of his Father is not here expreſſed.

4 And Penuel the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Huſhah. Theſe are the ſons of Hur, the firſt-born of Ephratah e, the father of Beth-lehem f.

e Either they are other Sons beſides thoſe mentioned ch. 2. or there is ſome variation in their Names, which is moſt frequent among the Hebrews, as hath been oft proved. f This Title is here given to the Father, and ch. 2. 51. to Salma, his Son, who had it either with, or after his Father. See the Notes on ch. 2. 51, 52.

* Ch. 2. 24.

5 And * Aſhur the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah, and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hepher, and Temeni, and Haahaſhtari. Theſe were the ſons of Naarah.

7 And the ſons of Helah were, Zereth, and Jezoar, and Ethnan g.

g Underſtand here, and Coz, out of the beginning of the following Verſe. The like Ellipſes we have in the end of v. 13. and of ch. 7. v. 18.

8 And Coz begat Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel, the ſon of Harum.

9 And Jabez h was more honourable than his brethren i: and his mother called his name || Jabez, ſaying, Becauſe I bare him with ſorrow.

|| That is ſorrowful.

h One of the Fathers of the Families of Aharhel laſt mentioned. i For Courage, and eſpecially for true and fervent Piety expreſſed in the following Petition.

10 And Jabez called on the God of Iſrael k, ſaying, † Oh that thou wouldeſt bleſs me indeed l, and enlarge my coaſt m, and that thine hand might be with me n, and that thou wouldeſt † keep me from evil o, that it may not grieve me p. And God granted him that which he requeſted.

† Heb. If thou wilt, &c. † Heb. Do me.

k When he was undertaking ſome great and dangerous Service. l I truſt not to my own or Peoples Valour, but only to thy Bleſſing and Help. m Drive out theſe wicked and curſed Canaanites, whom thou haſt commanded us to root out, and therefore I juſtly beg and expect thy bleſſing in the Execution of thy Command. n To protect and ſtrengthen me againſt my Adverſaries. o Or, work with (for ſo the Hebrew Prefix Mem is ſometimes uſed, as Cant. 1. 2. & 3. 9. Iſa. 5. 7, 8.) evil, i. e. ſo reſtrain and govern it. p That it may not oppreſs and overcome me, which will be very grievous to me. The conſequent put for the antecedent; and more is underſtood than is expreſſed. He uſeth this expreſſion in alluſion to his Name, which ſignifies grief, q. d. Lord, let me not have that Grief which my Name implies, and which my Sin deſerves.

11 And Chelub the brother of Shuah, begat Mehir, which was the father of Eſhton.

12 And Eſhton begat Beth-rapha, and Paſeah, and Tehinnah the father of || Irnahaſh. Theſe are the men of Rechah q.

|| Or, the City of Nahaſh.

q From theſe are ſprung the preſent Inhabitants of Rechah, a Town not elſewhere mentioned.

13 And the ſons of Kenaz r; Othniel, and Serajah: and the ſons of Othniel; || Hathath s.

|| Or, Hathath and Menothai, who begat, &c.

r The Son either of Chelub, v. 11. or of his Son Eſhton, v. 12. and the Father of Jephunneh, and conſequently Caleb's Grandfather, v. 15. Whence Caleb is called a Kenezite, Numb. 32. 12. s Underſtand, and Meonothai, out of v. 14. See above on v. 7.

14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah: and Serajah: begat Joab, the father * of the || valley t of † Charaſhim, for they were Craftſmen.

15 And the ſons of Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam: and the ſons of Elah; || even Kenaz u.

|| Or, Uknaz.

u Another Kenaz differing from that Kenaz, v. 13. Or, his Name might be Uknaz.

16 And the ſons of Jehaleleel x; Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Azareel.

x The Son of Kenaz, or Uknaz laſt mentioned.

17 And the ſons of Ezra y were, Jether, and Mered, and Epher, and Jalon: and ſhe bare z Miriam, and Shammai, and Iſhbah the father of Eſhtemoa.

y The Son of Azareel laſt named. z She, i. e. Bithiah, bare unto Mered, As may ſeem by comparing this with v. 18.

18 And his wife a || Jehudijah b bare Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Zocho and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. And theſe c are the ſons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh d, which Mered took.

|| Or, the Jeweſs.

* Gen. 38. 1, 5.

h Having treated of the Poſterity of Judah by Pharez, and by Zare, he now comes to his Progeny by Shelah, of whom ſee Gen. 38.

22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joaſh, and Saraph, who had the dominion in Moab i, and Jaſhubi-lehem. And, || theſe are ancient things k. || Or, But.

i Which they ruled in the name and for the uſe and ſervice of the Kings of Judah, to whom Moab was Subject from David's Time. Or, who had Poſſeſſions in Moab: or, who married Wives in Moab. k The Senſe is either, 1. Theſe Perſons and things were in Ancient times; and therefore it is not ſtrange if now they be ſo little known. But that might have been with equal Truth ſaid of divers other parts of this Account. Or, rather, 2. But thoſe Bleſſed times and Things are long ſince paſt and gone. Our Anceſtors then had the Dominion over the Heathen, but their degenerate Poſterity are now ſlaves to them in Chaldea, Perſia, &c. where they are employed as Potters or Gardiners, or in other Servile Works.

23 Theſe were l the Potters, and thoſe that dwelt amongſt plants and Hedges: there they dwelt m with the King n for his work.

l Or rather, theſe are: for he ſeems to oppoſe their preſent Servitude to their former Glory, and to ſhew their low and mean Spirits that had rather tarry among the Heathen to do their Drudgery, than return to Jeruſalem to ſerve God and enjoy their Freedom. m Or, tarried, Or, now dwell; when their Brethren are returned. n Of Babylon or Perſia: Eſteeming it a greater Honour and Happineſs to ſerve that Earthly Monarch in the meaneſt Employments, than to ſerve the King of Kings in his Temple, and in his moſt Noble and Heavenly Work.

|| Or, J-muel, Gen. 46. 10. Exod. 6. 15.

24 The ſons of Simeon o were || Nemuel, and Jammi, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul:

o Theſe are here joyned with Judah, becauſe their Poſſeſſion was taken out of Judah's Portion, Joſ. 19. 1. This Account ſeems to differ from that, Gen. 46. both in the Number and Names of the Perſons, which is not ſtrange, conſidering how Cuſtomary it was amongſt the Hebrews for one Perſon to have 2, or 3 Names given to him upon ſeveral occaſions. And for Obad, Gen. 46. 10. he may be omitted here, becauſe he left no Poſterity or Family after him, as the reſt did.

25 Shallum his ſon p, Mibſam his ſon, Miſhma his ſon.

p i. e. Son of Saul laſt mentioned.

26 And the ſons of Miſhma; Hamuel his ſon, Zacchur his ſon, Shimei his Son.

† Heb. unto.

27 And Shimei had ſixteen ſons, and ſix daughters: but his brethren had not many children, neither did all their Family multiply, † like to the children of Judah q.

q The Tribe of Simeon did not increaſe proportionably to the Tribe of Judah in which they dwelt; as appears by thoſe two Catalogues, Numb. 1. 22. & 26. 14. Which is to be aſcribed to Gods Curſe upon them delivered by the Mouth of Holy Jacob, Gen. 49. and ſignifyed by Moſes his neglect of them when he Bleſſed all the other Tribes.

* Joſh. 19. 2.

28 And they dwelt at * Beerſheba r, and Moladah, and Hazar-ſhual, r This, and the following Cities are mentioned, Joſ. 19. 2. &c. with no great Alterations.

|| Or, Balah, Joſh. 19. 3. || Or, Eltolad, Joſh. 19. 4. || Or, Hazar-ſuſah, Joſh. 19. 5.

29 And at || Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at || Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and || Hazar-ſuſim, and at Beth-birei, and at Shaaraim. Theſe were their cities unto the reign of David c.

c Either 1. of David's Poſterity; i. e. as long as the Kingdom of Judah laſted, or until the Captivity of Babylon. But this ſeems not to be true; for Simeon was gone into Captivity with the reſt of the Ten Tribes long before that time. Or rather 2. of David himſelf. And this may ſeem to be added, becauſe ſome of theſe Cities though given to Simeon by Joſhua, yet through the Sloth or Cowardiſe of that Tribe, were not taken from the Philiſtins, until David's time, who took ſome of them; and, the Simeonites having juſtly forfeited their Right to them by their neglect, gave them to his own Tribe. For it is evident concerning Ziklag, one of them, that it was in the Philiſtins Hands in David's time, and by them given to him, and by him annexed to the Tribe of Judah, 1 Sam. 27. 6.

|| Or, Ether Joſh. 19. 7.

32 And their Villages were, || Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Aſhan, five Cities.

|| Or, Baalathbeer, Joſh. 19. 8. || Or, they divided themſelves by Nations among them.

33 And all their Villages that were round about the ſame cities unto || Baal. Theſe were their habitations, and || their genealogy.

34 And Meſhobah, and Jamlech d, and Joſhah, the ſon of Amaziah.

d Theſe and the reſt here following are particularly mentioned for their Valiant and Succeſsful Atchievements related v. 39, &c.

35 And Joel, and Jehu the ſon of Joſibiah, the ſon of Serajah, the ſon of Aſiel.

36 And Elioenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeſhohajah, and Aſajah, and Adiel, and Jeſimiel, and Benajah, 37 And Ziza the ſon of Shiphi, the ſon of Allon, the ſon of Jedajah, the ſon of Shimri, the ſon of Shemajah.

† Heb. coming. † Heb. brake out into a multitude.

38 Theſe e † mentioned by their names, were princes in their families: and the houſe of their fathers † increaſed greatly f.

e Named v. 34, 35, 36, 37. f Which forced them to ſeek for new and larger Habitations.

39 And they went to the entrance of Gedor g, even unto the eaſt ſide of the valley h, to ſeek Paſture for their flocks.

g To that Country that belongs to Gedor, or borders upon it: either that Gedor, Joſ. 15. 58. or that called Gederah, Joſ. 15. 36. h Of which ſee on 1 Sam. 17. 1, 52.

40 And they found fat paſture and good, and the land was wide, and quiet, and peaceable: for they of Ham i had dwelt there of old k.

i i. e. The Poſterity of that curſed Ham, either the Arabians: or the Canaanites, or Philiſtins, who deſcended from Ham, Gen. 10. 6. And accordingly theſe words contain a Reaſon, either 1. to prove that the land was good; becauſe the Arabians, who being wholly given to Paſturage, uſed to find out the Choiceſt Grounds, had formerly pitched their Tents there. Or, 2. Why they went and poſſeſſed this place, becauſe it was not in the Hands of their Brethren of Judah, but in the Poſſeſſion of that People which they had Authority and Command to expel. k i. e. Had poſſeſſed it of old and hitherto. Or, dwelt there before, i. e. before they came and caſt them out of their Poſſeſſions.

41 And theſe written by name, came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah l, and ſmote their tents m, and the habitations that were found there, and deſtroyed them utterly unto this day n, and dwelt in their rooms: becauſe there was paſture there for their flocks.

l But a little before their Captivity, which was in the ſixth year of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 17. So their Joy in their new, and pleaſant, and fruitful Poſſeſſions laſted but for a very litttle while. m i. e. The People dwelling in Tents: for ſo it ſeems theſe ſtill did for the conveniency of Paſturage. n i. e. ſo as they could never after recover themſelves.

42 And ſome of them, even of the ſons of Simeon, five hundred men, went to mount Seir o, having † for their captains Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rephajah, and Uzziel the ſons of Iſhi, † Heb. in the head of them, Deut 20. 9.

o Probably about the ſame time.

43 And they ſmote * the reſt of the Amalekites p that were eſcaped, and dwelt there unto this day q. * See 1 Sam. 15. 8. & 30. 17. 2 Sam. 8. 12.

p Not deſtroyed by Saul, or David, or his Succeſſors. q Either 1. until the Captivity of the Ten Tribes. But that happening ſo ſpeedily after this time, this Expreſſion may ſeem to be very improper and inſignificant here. Or rather 2. until the Babyloniſh Captivity, or the time next after it, when theſe books were written. For although the main Body of that Tribe dwelling in Canaan were carried into Captivity, yet this ſmall Remnant of them having removed their Dwellings, and being planted in Mount Seir, which lay Southward from Judah, might poſſibly be continued and preſerved in thoſe Parts, when their Brethren were gone into Captivity.

And it is Joſeph's Poſterity which is here conſidered. c Ephraim and Manaſſeh, each having a diſtinct Portion. d This is added emphatically, becauſe they were reputed and treated as if they had been the immediate Sons of Jacob: of which ſee Gen. 48. 5. e This is the ſecond Reaſon, which ſheweth both why Reuben's Genealogy was not firſt mentioned; and if another Tribe was to be ranked before it, why that was Judah, and not Joſeph, as it might ſeem moſt fit for the former Reaſon; becauſe, ſaith he, the Order of their Genealogy was not to be ruled by the Birth-right, but by an higher Priviledge, which was given to Judah, and which here follows.

Or, as to the Ruler, (i. e. as to the Point of Dominion) he was more than he, or preferred before him, i. e. before Joſeph, who is named in the very next clauſe, the pronoun being referred unto the following noun, which is frequent among the Hebrews, as Pſal. 87. 1. & 105. 19. k Or, although, as vau is oft uſed; ſo this prevents or removes an Objection againſt Judah's Precedency taken from his Birth-right.

And thus both Baſhan and Gilead are uſed for parts of them, Joſ. 17. 1. where it is ſaid of Machir a Manaſſite, that he had Gilead and Baſhan. And as it is unqueſtionably true that Gilead is taken ſometimes more largely for all the Land of the Iſraelites beyond Jordan, ſometimes more ſtrictly for that part of it which Borders upon Mount Gilead; of which ſee my notes on Joſ. 17. 1. * Lev. 1. 9.
* Ex. 30. 7.

[a] Having mentioned the Work and Employment of the High Prieſts, he briefly rehearſeth the Names of the Perſons who ſucceſſively performed it.

50 And theſe are the ſons of Aaron: Eleazar his ſon, Phinehas his Son, Abiſhua his ſon, 51 Bukki his ſon, Uzzi his ſon, Zerahiah his ſon,

52 Merajoth his ſon, Amariah his ſon, Ahitub his ſon, 53 Zadok his ſon, Ahimaaz his ſon.

54 Now theſe are their dwelling places throughout their caſtles in their coaſts, of the ſons of Aaron, of the families of the Kohathite: for theirs was the lot[b].

[b] Or, this Lot or Portion which here follows. Or, the firſt Lot as appears by the ſequel.

55 And they gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the ſuburbs thereof round about it.

56 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, they gave to Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

57 And to the Sons of Aaaron they gave the cities[c] of Judah, namely, Hebron the city of refuge, and Libna with her ſuburbs, and Jattir, and Eſhtemoa, with their ſuburbs.

[c] Or, out of the Cities; the Hebrew eth being put for meeth, as hath been oft noted.

58 And || Hilen with her ſuburbs, Debir with her ſuburbs,

|| Or, Holon, Joſh. 21. 15.

59 And || Aſhan with her ſuburbs, and Beth-ſhemeſh with her ſuburbs.

|| Or, Ain, Joſh. 21. 16.

60 And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Geba with her ſuburbs, and || Alemeth with her ſuburbs, and Anathoth with her ſuburbs. All their cities throughout their families, were thirteen cities[d].

|| Or, Almon, Joſh. 21. 18.

[d] Whereof 11 are here numbred, and two more added to them, Joſ. 21. 13.

61 And unto the ſons of Kohath, which were left[e] of the family of that tribe, were cities given out of the half tribe, namely, out of the half tribe of Manaſſeh, * by lot, ten cities[f].

* Joſh. 21. 5.

[e] Over and above the Prieſts who were of the ſame Family of Kohath and Tribe of Levi. [f] Or, by lot. (with a full Point, for there the Senſe ends.) All their Cities were ten Cities, as it is expreſly ſaid, Joſ. 21. 26. Thoſe words, all their Cities were, are to be underſtood out of the former Verſe; which is not unuſual in the Holy Scripture. And ſo this ſacred Writer explains himſelf, v. 66, &c. where eight of theſe Cities are named, whereof only two are taken out of this half Tribe of Manaſſeh, v. 70. the other two being named, Joſ. 21. 21, &c. where theſe things are more plainly and fully declared.

62 And to the ſons of Gerſhom[g] throughout their families, out of the tribe of Iſſachar, and out of the tribe of Aſher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan, thirteen cities.

[g] Underſtand here, cities were given, which is alſo underſtood, v. 61, and expreſſed, v. 64.

63 Unto the ſons of Merari were given by lot throughout their families, out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, * twelve cities.

* Joſh. 21 7, 34.

64 And the children of Iſrael gave to the Levites[h] theſe cities[i] with their ſuburbs.

[h] i. e. To the Tribe of Levi, conſiſting of Prieſts and other Levites.
[i] Which are numbred or named in this Chapter.

65 And they gave[k] by lot out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, theſe cities which are called by their names[l].

k To wit, to thoſe Levites of the Family of Kohath who were Prieſts, as appears both by v. 57, &c. where the Cities given to the Aaronites are ſaid to be taken out of the Tribes here named, even out of Judah, (under which Simeon is comprehended, becauſe his Lot lay within that of Judah) and Benjamin; and by the next Verſe where the other Kohathites who were not Prieſts are called, the Reſidue of the Families of the Sons of Kohath, by way of diſtinction from thoſe of them to whom this v. 65. relates. l Which are expreſſed by their Names above, v. 57, &c.

66 And the reſidue of the families of the ſons of Kohath, had cities of their coaſts m out of the tribe of Ephraim.

m Or, of their borders, i. e. of their Country contained within its Borders, as that word is oft uſed, as hath been noted before.

67 * And they n gave unto them o of the cities of refuge p, Shechem in mount Ephraim with her ſuburbs: they gave alſo Gezer with her ſuburbs.

* Joſh. 21. 21.

n Either the Ephraimites: or rather the Children of Iſrael, as it is expreſſed v. 64. who gave part out of Ephraim, and part out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, as it here follows. But the Ephraimites could not give away any Cities belonging to the Manaſſites. o i. e. To the reſidue of the Kohathites laſt mentioned. p Or, the cities (i. e. the City: the plural number uſed of one; of which frequent Examples have been given before, ſee ch. 7, 3, 12, 14.) of refuge. Or, cities, (the conſtruct form being put for the abſolute, of which there wants not Examples in the Hebrew Language) the City of refuge. As to the Names of theſe Cities, divers of them are differing from thoſe Names which were given to them, Joſ. 21. 15. Nor is it at all ſtrange that the Names of Places ſhould be changed in ſo many hundreds of years as were between Joſhua and this time. And to the Cities themſelves, this is further to be obſerved, that they are diſperſed among all the Tribes, partly that Jacob's Prophecy might be fulfilled concerning the ſcattering of Levi, Gen. 49. 7. and partly that every Tribe might have Teachers among them by whom they might be directed in, and quickned to the obſervation of God's Laws, upon which their ſafety and happineſs wholly depended.

* See Joſh. 21. 22, ad 35. where many of theſe Cities have other names.

68 And * Jokmeam with her ſuburbs, and Beth-horon with her ſuburbs, 69 And Ajalon with her ſuburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her ſuburbs.

70 And out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, Aner with her ſuburbs, and Bileam with her Suburbs, for the family of the remnant of the Sons of Kohath.

71 Unto the Sons of Gerſhom were given out of the family of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, Golan in Baſhan with her ſuburbs, and Aſhtaroth with her Suburbs.

72 And out of the tribe of Iſſachar, Kadeſh with her ſuburbs, Daberath with her Suburbs, 73 And Ramoth with her ſuburbs, and Anem with her ſuburbs.

74 And out of the tribe of Aſher, Maſhal with her ſuburbs, and Abdon with her ſuburbs, 75 And Hukok with her ſuburbs, and Rehob with her ſuburbs.

76 And out of the tribe of Naphthali, Kedeſh in Galilee with her ſuburbs, and Hammon with her ſuburbs, and Kirjathaim with her ſuburbs.

77 Unto the reſt of the children of Merari, were given out of the tribe of Zebulun, Rimmon with her ſuburbs, Tabor with her ſuburbs.

78 And on the other ſide Jordan by Jericho, on the eaſt-ſide of Jordan were given them out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wilderneſs with her ſuburbs, and Jahzah with her ſuburbs, 79 Kedemoth alſo with her ſuburbs, and Mephaath with her ſuburbs.

80 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her ſuburbs, and Mahanaim with her ſuburbs, 81 And Heſhbon with her ſuburbs, and Jazer with her ſuburbs.

* Gen. 46. 13. Numb. 26. 23.
|| Or, Phuvah. Job.

1 NOw the ſons of Iſſachar were, * Tola, and || Puah, Jaſhub a, and Shimron, four.

a called by way of contradiction, Job, Gen. 46. 13.

* 2 Sam. 24. 1, 2.

2 And the ſons of Tola; Uzzi, and Rephajah, and Jeriel, and Jahmai, Jibſam, and Shemuel, heads of their fathers houſe, to wit, of Tola: they were valiant men of might in their generations, * whoſe number was in the days of David b, two and twenty thouſand and ſix hundred.

b When he numbred the People, 2 Sam. 24. 1, &c.

3 And the ſons c of Uzzi, Izrahiah: and the ſons of Izrahiah; Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, Iſhiah, five d: all of them chief men.

c For, the ſon: for he names but one Son. d Including their Father Izrahiah.

4 And with them by their generations, after the houſe of their fathers were bands of ſouldiers for war, ſix and thirty thouſand men e: for they had many Wives and ſons.

e To wit, of the Poſterity of Uzzi, as the other 22600, v. 2. were the Poſterity of Tobah.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Iſſachar, were men of might, reckoned in all by their genealogies four ſcore and ſeven thouſand.

* Gen. 46. 21.

6 The ſons of * Benjamin; Bela, and Becher, and Jediael, three f.

f They were Ten, Gen. 46. 21. and five of them are named, ch. 8. 1. but here only three are mentioned, either becauſe theſe were moſt Eminent for Courage or Fruitfulneſs; or becauſe the other Families were now extinct.

7 And the ſons of Bela; Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five; heads of the houſe of their fathers g, mighty men of valour, and were reckoned by their genealogies, twenty and two thouſand and thirty and four.

g Each of them Head, or Chief, or Commander of that Houſe or Family from which he was deſcended, or to which he belonged. For it may ſeem by comparing this with ch. 8. 3, &c. that theſe were not the immediate ſons of Belah, but his Grandchildren deſcended each from a ſeveral Father; and their Fathers are here omitted, peradventure becauſe they were obſcure perſons, as their Sons are mentioned for their Eminency.

8 And the ſons of Becher; Zemira, and Joaſh, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah, and Anathoth, and Alameth. All theſe are the ſons of Becher.

9 And the number of them after their genealogy by their generations, heads of the houſe of their fathers, mighty men of valour, was twenty thouſand and two hundred.

10 The ſons alſo of Jediael, Bilhan: and the ſons of Bilhan, Jeuſh, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tarſhiſh, and Ahiſhahar.

11 All theſe the ſons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers, mighty men of valour, were ſeventeen thouſand and two hundred ſouldiers fit to go out for war and battel.

|| Or, ver. 7.
|| Or, Ahiram, Numb. 26. 38.

12 Shuppim alſo and Huppim h, the children of || Ir, and Huſhim, the ſons of || Aher i.

h Called Muppim and Huppim, Gen. 46. 21. alſo Hupham and Shupham, Numb. 26. 39. i But divers take the Hebrew word aher for a Common, not Proper Name, and render the words thus, another ſon, or the ſon of another Family or Tribe, to wit, of Dan, as may be gathered, 1. from Gen. 46.23. where Huſhim is mentioned as the only Son of Dan, where alſo the word ſons is uſed of that one Man, as it is here. 2. From the Clauſe of the next Verſe, the ſons of Bilhah, who was Mother both to Dan and Napthali. 3. Becauſe otherwiſe the Genealogy of Dan is quite left out. 4. From the word another, which is uſed in the Hebrew Writers to deſign an Abominable thing which the Writer diſdained to mention; whence they call a Swine, which to them was a very unclean and loathſome Creature, another thing. And it muſt be remembred that the Tribe of Dan had made themſelves and their Memory Infamous and Deteſtable by that groſs Idolatry, which began firſt and continued longeſt in that Tribe, Judg. 18. For which reaſon many Interpreters conceive this Tribe is omitted in the numbring of the ſealed Perſons, Rev. 7.

* Gen. 46. 24. Shillem.

13 The ſons of Naphtali; Jahziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and * Shallum, the ſons k of Bilhah.

k i. e. The Grandchildren: for Bilhah was Jacob's Concubine, and Mother both to Napthali, the Father of theſe laſt named Perſons, and to Dan. See on v. 12.

14 The ſons l of Manaſſeh; Aſhriel, whom ſhe bare m, (but his concubine the Aramiteſs bare Machir the father of Gilead n.

l i. e. Grandchildren, as v. 13. For both Aſhriel and Zelophehad were the Grandchildren of Machir Son of Manaſſeh, Numb. 26. 29, &c. and 27. 1. m To wit, his Wife, as may be thought, becauſe his Concubine is here oppoſed to her. Or, whom he got; for the Hebrew Word yalad is ſometimes uſed of Mens begetting, as Gen. 5. 18, &c. Compare Pſal. 2. 7. But theſe and the following words may be otherwiſe rendred according to the Hebrew Text, whom his Concubine the Aramiteſs bare, who bare him (which Ellipſes are very frequent in the Hebrew) for meeth, of, or by Machir: So this was a differing Aſhriel from him named Numb. 26. 31. for that was Gilead's Son, and this his Brother. n A Perſon ſo called, as is manifeſt from v. 17. and Numb. 26.29.

15 And Machir took to wife the Siſter o of Huppim, and Shuppim, whoſe ſiſters name was Maacah) and the name of the ſecond p was Zelophehad: and Zelophehad had daughters q.

o Which Word is here fitly underſtood out of the following Clauſe, where it is expreſſed, and ſhe is called Maacah, who alſo is called the wife of Machir, v. 16. p Of the ſecond Son or Grandſon of Machir; for ſo Zelophehad was, Numb. 26. 29, &c. Or, Zelophedad is here called the ſecond, becauſe he was the younger Brother of Aſhriel, who was the eldeſt ſon of Hepher, the Son of Gilead, the Son of Machir. q i. e. Onely Daughters, and no Sons.

16 And Maacah the wife of Machir bare a ſon, and ſhe called his name Pereſh, and the name of his brother was Shereſh, and his ſons were Ulam and Rakem.

* 1 Sam. 12. 11.

17 And the ſons of Ulam, * Bedan. Theſe r were the ſons of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh.

r To wit, Aſhriel and Zelophehad, named, v. 14, 15. the Relative being here referred to the remoter Antecedent; as is frequent in the Hebrew.

18 And his ſiſter s Hammoleketh bare Iſhod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah t.

s i. e. Gilead's Siſter. t Underſtand, and Shemida, out of the next Verſe.

19 And the ſons of Shemida were Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi, and Aniam.

20 And the ſons of Ephraim; Shuthelah, and Bered his ſon u, and Tahath his ſon, and Eladah his ſon, and Tahath his ſon, u Either, 1. the Son of Shatelah; and ſo Tahath the ſon of Bered; and ſo the reſt, which make up ſeven ſucceeding Generations. Or, 2. the ſon of Ephraim, and ſo Tahath is the ſon not of Bered, but of Ephraim, and ſo forward. And thus all theſe were Brethren, and Sons or Grandchildren of Ephraim living together at one time with their Father. Obj. This cannot be, becauſe then Ephraim had two ſons called Shathelah, and two called Tahath. Anſw. That might eaſily happen; either becauſe the firſt Shathelah and Tahath were dead before the other two of thoſe Names were born: or becauſe two of them were Ephraim's Sons, and two of them his Grandchildren called after their Uncles Names. For this is certain, the Name of Sons is promiſcuouſly uſed concerning immediate Children, and Grandchildren, and Great Grandchildren.

21 And Zabad his ſon, and Shutelah his ſon, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath that were born in that land, ſlew x, becauſe they came down to take away their cattel.

x This Hiſtory is not recorded elſewhere in Scripture, but it is in the ancient Hebrew Writers, though mixed with many Fables. The Philiſtins (one of whoſe Cities this Gath was) and the Egyptians were next Neighbours; and in thoſe Ancient Times it was uſual for ſuch to make Inroads one into anothers Country, and to carry thence what Prey they could take; as we find both in Scripture and in profane Writers. And as the Philiſtins had probably made ſuch Inroads formerly into Egypt, and particularly into the Land of Goſhen, which was the utmoſt part of Egypt bordering upon the Philiſtins Land; ſo the Iſraelites might requite them in the like kind: and particularly the Children of Ephraim, either preſuming upon their Numbers and Strength: or having poſſibly received the greateſt Injury from the Philiſtins in their laſt Invaſion, might make an Attempt upon the Philiſtins to their own great loſs; as is here related. And this ſeems to have happened a little before the Egyptian Perſecution, and before the Reign of that new King mentioned, Exod. 1. 8. The Philiſtins are here called the men of Gath, either becauſe they were ſubject to the King of Gath, as afterwards that People were; or becauſe they lived about Gath. And this Clauſe, that were born in that land, may be added emphatically, as the Motive which made them more reſolute and furious in their Fight with the Ephraimites, becauſe they fought in, and for their own Land, wherein all their Wealth and Concerns lay, and againſt thoſe that unjuſtly endeavoured to turn them out of their Native Country.

22 And Ephraim their father y mourned many days, and his brethren z came to comfort him.

y Either, 1. That Ephraim of whom he ſpeaks, v. 20. whoſe Sons are here named. But that to many ſeems hard, eſpecially if theſe ſeveral Sons named, v. 20, 21. be underſtood ſucceſſively ſo as each Man be the ſon of him who is named next and immediately before him, which ſeems moſt probable; for ſo here are Seven ſucceſſive Generations of Ephraim, which it is not likely that Ephraim lived to ſee; for then he muſt have been near 200 years old. Although it is not neceſſary that the Perſons here ſaid to be ſlain, ſhould be that Generation which was laſt mentioned; but the Particle whom may belong to the other Sons of Ephraim of the fourth, or fifth, or ſixth Generation. Nor is the word, whom, in the Hebrew Text, which runs thus, and the men of Gath——ſlew them, i. e. the Sons of Ephraim in the general, as they are expreſſed in the beginning of v. 20. without reſpect to this or that particular Generation. And the relative Particle, them, may be referred not unto the Perſons laſt named, but unto ſome of the other and more remote Perſons: this being a common Obſervation of Hebricians, that the Relative oft belongs to the remoter Antecedent. Or, 2. Zabad the Father of the three Perſons and Families laſt named, who might poſſibly have two Names, and be called both Zabad and Ephraim. Or rather the Name of Ephraim may be put patronymically (as the Learned ſpeak) for the Son and Succeſſor of Ephraim; who being now in Ephraim's ſtead, the Head of the Tribe, as old Ephraim was in his time, might well be called by the ſame name. Thus Iſaac is put for his Son Jacob or Iſrael, Amos 7. 9. and Moſes for the Sons of Moſes, Pſal. 90. Title, and David for his Son Rehoboam, 1 King. 12. 16. and for Chriſt, Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23. and (as many think) Abraham for Jacob, Abraham's Grandchild, Acts 7. 16. And theſe words, their Father, ſeem to be added by way of diſtinction, to ſhew that he meant not this of the old Ephraim, but of another, who was Father to the three Perſons ſaid to be ſlain, v. 21. For if he had underſtood this of the firſt Ephraim, having called theſe the Sons of Ephraim, it might ſeem ſuperfluous and tautological to tell us that Ephraim was their father. z i. e. His Kinſman, as that Word is frequently uſed.

The Sons and Chief Men of Benjamin, 1——34. The Stock of Saul and Jonathan, 35——40.

1 NOw Benjamin a begat * Bela b his firſt-born, Aſhbel the ſecond, and Aharah the third, a He had ſpoken ſomething of this Tribe before, ch. 7. 6. but now he treats of it again, and that more fully and exactly; partly for Saul's ſake, who was of this Tribe; and partly, becauſe this Tribe adhered to David and the Kingdom of Judah, and went with Judah into Babylon; and now were returned from thence in greater Numbers than the other Tribes, except Judah. b So called by Moſes: but the Names of the reſt vary from thoſe in Moſes: either becauſe the ſame Perſon had two ſeveral Names, as hath been often noted: or becauſe theſe were not the immediate ſons of Benjamin, but his Grandchildren here mentioned in their Parents ſtead, poſſibly becauſe they were more eminent than their Parents.

* Gen. 46. 21. Numb. 26. 38.

2 Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.

3 And the ſons of Bela, were ‖ Addar, and Gera, and Abihud,

6 And theſe c are the ſons of Ehud: theſe are the heads of the fathers of the Inhabitants of Geba d, and they removed them e to * Manahath:

* Ch. 2. 52

c Either thoſe three laſt mentioned; or rather theſe following, v. 7. becauſe he here ſpeaks of them who were removed, and they are ſaid to be removed, v. 7. He deſcribes the Sons of Benjamin by the Places of their Habitation, without an exact Account of their Parents; becauſe their Genealogies were broken by that almoſt total Extirpation of this Tribe, Judg. 20. e Either their Fathers, or their Heads and Superiours removed them: or they removed themſelves; either becauſe they were too numerous for that place: or becauſe they deſired to change their Habitation, and hoped it would be for the better, and judged Manahath a more convenient Place.

7 And Naaman, and Ahiah, and Gera, he f removed them, and begat Uzza, and Ahihud g.

f Either, 1. Their Father: Or, 2. Gera laſt mentioned, who, it ſeems, was the Chief Counſellor or Promoter of this Work. g When he was ſeated in Manahath.

8 And Shaharaim begat children in the country of Moab h, after he i had ſent them away. Huſhim and Baara were his wives k.

h Whither he had removed himſelf either at the ſame time when Elimelech did, Ruth 1. 1. &c. or upon the ſame or like occaſion. i Ehud or Gera laſt mentioned. k Others joyn theſe Words with the former, and render the place thus, after he had ſent them (to wit, his Sons) away, with Huſhim and Baara his wives, i. e. as he alſo ſent his Wives away from him. Which may be here mentioned as a Brand upon him, to ſhew that he was without natural Affection to his Wives and Children. And it ſeems the more probable that he divorced them, becauſe we find him married to another Wife, v. 9.

9 And he begat of Hodeſh his wife, Jobab, and Zibia, and Meſha, and Malcham, 10 And Jeuz, and Shachiah, and Mirma. Theſe were his ſons, heads of the fathers.

11 And of Huſhim he begat Ahitub, and Elpaal.

CHAP. IX.

The Chief of the Tribe of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manaſſeh, who returned from Captivity, and dwelt at Jeruſalem, 1——9. Alſo the Prieſts and Levites, and how they executed their Office in the Temple at Jeruſalem, 10——34. The Family of Saul, 35——44.

1 SO all Iſrael were reckoned by genealogies: and behold, they were written in the book of the kings of Iſrael and Judah a, who b were carried away to Babylon for their tranſgreſſion.

a Not in that Sacred and Canonical Book ſo called, but (as hath been oft obſerved before) in the Publick Records, wherein there was an Account of that Kingdom, and of the ſeveral Families in it, according to their Genealogies. b i. e. Which Tribe or People of Judah laſt mentioned.

2 Now the firſt inhabitants c that dwelt in their poſſeſſions, in their cities d, were the Iſraelites e, the prieſts, Levites f, and the Nethinims g.

c The firſt after the Return from Babylon. d i. e. That took poſſeſſion of their own Lands and Cities, which had been formerly allotted to them; but of late years had been taken from them for their Sins, and poſſeſſed by other People. e i. e. The common People of Judah and Iſrael, called here by the general Name of Iſraelites, which was given to them before that unhappy Diviſion of the two Kingdoms, and now is reſtored to them when the Iſraelites are united with the Jews in one and the ſame Commonwealth, that ſo all the Names and Signs of their former Diviſion might be blotted out. And although the generality of the ten Tribes were yet in Captivity, yet divers of them were now returned, either ſuch as had long before the Captivity fled to Jeruſalem to Worſhip God, and joined themſelves with Judah, as thoſe 2 Chron. 11. 16. and others. Or ſuch as, upon Cyrus his general Proclamation, aſſociated themſelves, and returned with thoſe of Judah and Benjamin. f Theſe took poſſeſſion of the Cities or Places belonging to them, as they had need and opportunity. g A certain Order of Men, either Gibeonites, or others joyned with them, devoted to the Service of God, and of his Houſe, and of the Prieſts and Levites; who, that they might attend upon their Work without Diſtraction, had certain Places and Poſſeſſions given to them; which they are now ſaid to repoſſeſs.

3 And in * Jeruſalem dwelt of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manaſſeh h.

* Nehem. 11. 1.

h i. e. Some of each of theſe Tribes; either ſuch as offered themſelves; or ſuch as were choſen by Lot: See Nehem. 11. 1, 2.

4 Uthai, the ſon of Ammihud i, the ſon of Omri, the ſon of Imri, the ſon of Bani, of the children of Pharez the ſon of Judah.

i That there is ſo great a Diverſity of Names between this Catalogue and that Nehem. 11. may be aſcribed to two Cauſes: 1. To the Cuſtom of the Hebrews, who uſed very frequently to give two or three ſeveral Names to one Perſon: And, 2. To the change of Times; for here they are named who came up at the firſt Return; but many of thoſe in Nehemiah might be ſuch as returned afterward, and came and dwelt either in ſtead of the Perſons here named, who might be then dead, or gone from Jeruſalem, or with them.

5 And of the Shilonites k, Aſajah l the firſt-born, and his ſons.

k Or, Shelanites, as they are called from Shelah, Numb. 26. 20. l Called alſo Maaſeiah, Nehem. 11. 5.

6 And of the ſons of Zerah; Jeuel, and their brethren, ſix hundred and ninety.

7 And of the ſons of Benjamin; Sallu the ſon of Meſhullam n, the ſon of Hodaviah, the ſon of Haſenuah.

n Who is mentioned, but deſcribed by other Parents, Neh. 11. 7. or at leaſt by Perſons under other Names. Poſſibly theſe were his more immediate, and thoſe his more remote Parents: or he might be born of one, and adopted by another. For this is certain, Men are ſometimes in Scripture called the Sons of thoſe who adopted them, or whoſe Right of Inheritance fell to them.

8 And Ibnejah the ſon of Jeroham, and Elah the ſon of Uzzi, the ſon of Michri, and Meſhullam the ſon of Shophatiah, the ſon of Reuel, the ſon of Ibnijah;

9 And their brethren according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty ſix o. All theſe men were chief of the fathers in the houſe of their fathers.

o They are reckoned but 928. in Neh. 11. 8. either becauſe there he mentions only thoſe that were by Lot determined to dwell at Jeruſalem, to whom he here adds thoſe who freely offered themſelves to it; ſee Neh. 11. 1, 2. becauſe ſome of the Perſons and Families firſt placed there were dead or extinguiſhed, or elſe removed from Jeruſalem upon ſome emergent occaſion.

10 And of the prieſts; Jedajah, and Jehojarib, and Jachin, 11 And Azariah p the ſon of Hilkiah q, the ſon of Meſhullam, the ſon of Zadok, the ſon of Merajoth, the ſon of Ahitub, the ruler of the houſe of God r.

p The ſame called Seraiah, Nehem. 11. 11. q Either of him in Joſiah's time, 2 King. 22. 8. or rather another of the ſame name. r Or, a ruler in the houſe of God: Not the High-Prieſt, who was Ezra, Ezr. 3. 8. but a Chief Ruler under him; either the ſecond Prieſt, as ſuch are called, Numb. 3. 32. or the Head of one of the 24 Families or Courſes of the Prieſts.

12 And Adaiah the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Paſhur s, the ſon of Malchijah, and Maaſai the ſon of Adiel, the ſon of Jahzerah, the ſon of Meſhullam, the ſon of Meſhillemith, the ſon of Immer.

s i. e. His Great Grandſon, as appears from Neh. 11. 12, 13.

13 And their brethren, heads of the houſe of their fathers, a thouſand and ſeven hundred and threeſcore, † very able men t for the work of the ſervice of the houſe of God.

t Heb. mighty men of valour: Which is here noted as an excellent Qualification for their Place; becauſe the Prieſts might meet with great Oppoſition and Difficulty in the faithful Diſcharge of their Office, in the Execution of the Cenſures upon all Impure Perſons without out Exception, and in preſerving Sacred things from Violation by the Touch of Forbidden Hands. Of which ſee an eminent Inſtance in Azariah, 2 Chron. 26, 17, &c.

14 And of the Levites; Shemajah the ſon of Haſhub, the ſon of Azrikam, the ſon of Haſhabiah, of the ſons of Merari.

15 And Bakbakkar, Hereſh, and Galal: and Mattaniah the ſon of Micah, the ſon of Zichri, the ſon of Aſaph.

16 And Obadiah the ſon of Shemajah, the ſon of Galal, the ſon of Jeduthun: and Berechiah the ſon of Aſa, the ſon of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathite u.

u Or, Netophathites; which were in Judah, ch. 2. 54. Here they now dwelt, either becauſe their proper Cities were not yet built: or becauſe they were not yet numerous enough to repleniſh them.

17 And the porters x were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief.

x Whoſe Office it was to keep all the Gates of the Temple, that no unclean Perſon or Thing might enter into it.

18 (Who hitherto waited in the kings gate y eaſtward) They were porters in the companies z of the children of Levi.

y In the Eaſt-gate of the Temple, which was ſo called, either becauſe it was the Chief and moſt Magnificent of all the Gates: or becauſe the Kings of Judah uſed to go to the Temple through that Gate, 2 King. 16. 18. Compare Ezek. 44. 1, 2. Under this Gate he comprehends all the reſt, which alſo were guarded by theſe Porters. z Or, according to the companies, or orders, or courſes, i. e. They kept the Gates ſucceſſively, according to that Method into which themſelves and the reſt of their Brethren the Levites were diſtributed, for the more convenient management of their ſeveral Offices; among which this of the Porters was one.

19 And Shallum the ſon of Kore, the ſon of Ebiaſaph, the ſon of Korah, and his brethren (of the houſe of his father) the Korhites were over the work of the ſervice, keepers of the † gates of the tabernacle a: and their fathers b being over the hoſt of the LORD c, were keepers of the entry d.

a Or, who were, to wit, in time paſt, which is expreſſed in a like caſe, v. 20. when the Tabernacle was ſtanding, before the Temple was built. b The Kohathites, of whom ſee on Numb. 4. 4. c Or, with (as this Hebrew Particle is oft uſed) the hoſt, &c. i. e. When the Iſraelites were in the Wilderneſs, encamped in a military manner round about the Tabernacle, with, or among whom theſe were then placed. d i. e. Of the Vail by which they entred into the Tabernacle; which he calls the entry diſtinctively, becauſe then there were no Gates. The meaning is, That all things were now reſtored to their Primitive Order and Inſtitution; and the ſeveral Perſons took thoſe Places and Offices upon them, which their Anceſtors had before them.

20 And * Phineas the ſon of Eleazar was the ruler over them e in time paſt, and the LORD was with him f.

e i. e. Over all the Porters, and other Levites and Prieſts before mentioned. f To direct, and aſſiſt, and bleſs him in the diſcharge of his Place. Which ſeems here related to encourage his Succeſſor, and conſequently all the Prieſts and Levites of this time to go on couragiouſly and reſolutely in their Work, not doubting but God will ſtand by them as he had done by their Fathers.

21 And Zechariah the ſon of Meſhelemiah, was g porter h of the door of the tabernacle i of the congregation.

g To wit, in the time of David, as the following Verſe ſheweth. See ch. 26. 1, 2. and 27. 2. h i. e. Chief Porter. i i. e. Of the Door which led out of the Prieſts Court into the Tabernacle, in which the Ark was placed, 2 Sam. 6. 17.

* Ch. 26. 1, 2.
* 1 Sam. 9. 9.
† Heb. founded.
|| Or, truſt.

22 All theſe which were choſen to be porters in the gates, were two hundred and twelve. Theſe were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages k: whom * David and Samuel the * ſeer † did ordain l in their || ſet office m.

k Where their uſual Reſidence was, and whence they came to Jeruſalem in their Courſes. l In the times of the Judges there was much Diſorder and Confuſion both in the Jewiſh State and Church, and the Levites came to the Tabernacle promiſcuouſly, and as their Inclinations or Occaſions brought them. But Samuel the beſt of Judges, having ſome proſpect and good hopes of deliverance from their Enemies, and of an happy Settlement of the Iſraelitiſh Church and Nation; and obſerving that the Levites were greatly increaſed, he began to think of eſtabliſhing ſome Order among the Levites in their Miniſtration about the Tabernacle. And theſe Intentions of his probably were communicated by him to David, who after Samuel's Death, and his own peaceable Settlement in his Throne, revived and perfected Samuel's Deſign, and took care to put it in Execution. m Heb. in their faith, or faithfulneſs, i. e. Either, 1. In their Office, which is called faithfulneſs, becauſe this is required in that Office. Or, 2. In the Faithful Diſcharge of their Duty, and in obedience to the Will of God, ſignified to them by Revelation, or by the ſpirit, as it is ſaid of David, 1 Chron. 28. 12. which they received by Faith, and accordingly deſigned, and David executed it. And ſo this is added to ſhew, that this was no Humane Invention, as ſome might conceive, but a Divine Appointment, to which all ought to ſubmit.

23 So they and their children had the overſight n of the gates of the houſe of the LORD, namely, the houſe of the tabernacle o, by wards p.

n To wit, in David's time. o This is added to explain what he means by the Houſe of the Lord, not that Tabernacle which David had ſet up for the Ark; but that more ſolemn Tabernacle, which Moſes had made by God's expreſs Command and moſt particular Direction; which in David's time was at Gibeon; in which God was, and would be worſhipped until the Temple was built. See 1 King. 3. 2, &c. 2 Chron. 1. 3, 5, &c. p i. e. By Turns or Courſes, each of them at his Gate, and in his appointed time.

24 In four quarters were the porters q: toward the eaſt, weſt, north, and ſouth.

q i. e. The Chief Porters, as this is explained, v. 26.

25 And their brethren which were in their villages, were to come r after ſeven days s, from time to time with them t.

r From their ſeveral Villages to the Place of Worſhip. s Every Sabbath or Seventh Day the Courſes were changed, and the New Comers were to tarry till the the next Sabbath-day. See 2 King. 11. 5, 7, 9. t i. e. To be with them, i. e. with the Chief Porters, who always abode in the Place of God's Worſhip, and to miniſter to them.

26 For theſe Levites, the four chief porters, were in their || ſet office u; and were over the || chambers and treaſuries x of the houſe of God.

|| Or, truſ
|| Or, ſtore houſes.

u i. e. Theſe were conſtantly upon the place, and in the execution of their Office, that ſo they might overſee and direct the Inferiour Porters in their Work. Or, as others render the Words, agreeably to the Hebrew Text, For theſe (i. e. their Brethren, v. 25.) were under the charge, or committed to the truſt of the four chief porters, who alſo were Levites, as their Brethren were; whereas the Chief of all of them was a Prieſt. Either way theſe Words contain a Reaſon of what was ſaid, v. 25. why the reſt were to come to theſe, and to be with them. x In which the Sacred Utenſils, and other Treaſures belonging to the Temple, were kept.

27 And they lodged round about the houſe of God y, becauſe the charge was upon them, and † the opening thereof every morning pertained to them.

† Heb. the were ove the key. S Gr.

y Therefore they were obliged to conſtant Reſidence in the Place; and were not permitted to dwell in the Villages, as their Brethren were.

28 And certain of them had the charge of the miniſtring veſſels, that they ſhould † bring them in and out by tale.

† Heb. bring the in by tale and carry them out tale.

29 Some of them alſo were appointed to overſee the veſſels, and all the || inſtruments of the ſanctuary, and the fine flour, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincenſe, and the ſpices.

z This is added to prevent a Miſtake, and to ſhew, that although the Levites were intruſted with the keeping of this Ointment, yet none but the Prieſts could make it. See Exod. 30. 22, &c.

31 And Mattithiah, one of the Levites (who was the firſt-born of Shallum the Korhite) had the || ſet office over the things that were made || in the pans a.

Saul's Overthrow and Death, 1——7. The Philiſtines triumph over Saul, 8——10. The Kindneſs of Jabeſh-Gilead towards Saul and his Sons: His Sin, 11——14.

1 NOW * the Philiſtins fought againſt Iſrael a, and the men of Iſrael fled from before the Philiſtins, and fell down || ſlain in mount Gilboa.

Or, ounded.

2 And the Philiſtins followed hard after Saul, and after his ſons, and the Philiſtins ſlew Jonathan, and || Abinadab, and Malchi-ſhua, the ſons of Saul.

Or, Iſhui, Sam.14. 9.

3 And the battel went ſore againſt Saul, and the † archers † hit him: and he was wounded of the archers.

Heb. ooters ith bows.
Heb. und him.

4 Then ſaid Saul to his armour-bearer, Draw thy ſword, and thruſt me through therewith, leſt theſe uncircumciſed come, and || abuſe me: but his armour-bearer would not, for he was ſore afraid. So Saul took a ſword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armour-bearer ſaw that Saul was dead, he fell likewiſe on the ſword, and died.

6 So Saul died, and his three ſons, and all his houſe b died together.

b i. e. All his Children, to wit, then preſent with him, namely, his three ſons, as it is expreſſed, 1 Sam. 31. 6. For it is evident that Iſhboſheth and Mephiboſheth were not ſlain. But nothing is more common in Scripture and all Authors, than to underſtand all of a great and moſt conſiderable part.

7 And when all the men of Iſrael that were in the valley c, ſaw that they fled, and that ſaul and his ſons were dead, then they forſook their cities, and fled, and the Philiſtins came and dwelt in them.

c Which was beneath Mount Gilboa, where the Fight was, v. 1.

8 And it came to paſs on the morrow, when the Philiſtins came to ſtrip the ſlain, that they found Saul and his ſons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And when they had ſtripped him, they took his head, and his armour, and ſent into the land of the Philiſtins round about, to carry tidings unto their idols, and to the people.

10 And they put his armour in the houſe of their gods, and faſtened his head in the † temple of Dagon d.

11 And when all Jabeſh-gilead heard all that the Philiſtins had done to Saul:

12 They aroſe, all the valiant men, and took away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his ſons, and brought them to Jabeſh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabeſh, and faſted ſeven days e.

e To wit, every Day till Evening, after the manner of the Jewiſh Faſts.

13 So Saul died for his tranſgreſſion f which he † committed againſt the LORD, * even againſt the word of the LORD g, which he kept not; and alſo for asking counſel of one that had a familiar ſpirit h, * to enquire of it i:

f The Senſe is, Wonder not that Saul fell by the Hands of the Philiſtins, who were armed againſt him by his own Sin, and by God's Vengeance for it. g Againſt God's expreſs, and plain, and poſitive Command: which is a great Aggravation of any Sin. h Which alſo was contrary to a manifeſt Command, Levit. 19. 31. and moreover, contrary to his own Conſcience, which was ſo fully convinced hereof, that he had endeavoured the utter Extirpation of all ſuch Perſons, in purſuance of God's Law. See 1 Sam. 28. 9. i Concerning the Event of the approaching Battel.

14 And enquired not of the LORD k: therefore he ſlew him, and turned the kingdom unto David the ſon of † Jeſſe.

k Obj. Saul enquired of the Lord, 1 Sam. 28. 6. Anſ. He did ſo, but not in a right manner, not humbly and penitently, not diligently and importunately, not patiently and perſeveringly: but when God would not anſwer him ſpeedily, he gives it over, and goes from God to the Devil. Compare 1 Sam. 14. 18, 19. Such an inconſiderable and trifling Inquiry as Saul made, is juſtly accounted to be no Enquiry at all. As they are ſaid not to eat the Lord's Supper, 1 Cor. 11. 20. who did eat it in a ſinful and irregular manner.

David made King at Hebron: by Joab's valour winneth the Caſtle of Zion from the Jebuſites: repaireth the city of Jeruſalem, 1——9. A Catalogue of his mighty men, 10——47.

1 THen * all Iſrael a gathered themſelves to David unto Hebron, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy fleſh.

a i. e. All the Tribes of Iſrael, as it is expreſſed, 2 Sam. 5. 1. i. e. their Elders, as it is here ſaid v. 3. and Officers, and a great multitude of the Soldiers and People.

2 And moreover, † in time paſt, even when Saul was king, thou waſt he that leddeſt out, and broughteſt in Iſrael: and the LORD thy God ſaid unto thee b, Thou ſhalt || feed my People Iſrael, and thou ſhalt be ruler over my people Iſrael.

† Heb. both yeſterday and the third day.
|| Or, rule.

b Or, concerning thee: for it is apparent that they knew of it; and therefore many of them oppoſed David hitherto againſt their own Conſciences.

3 Therefore came all the elders of Iſrael to the king to Hebron, and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Iſrael, according to the word of the LORD † by * Samuel.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus ſaid to David, Thou ſhalt not come hither. Nevertheleſs David took the caſtle of Zion, which is the city of David.

6 And David ſaid, whoſoever ſmiteth the Jebuſite firſt, ſhall be † chief and captain. So Joab the ſon of Zerujah went firſt up, and was chief d.

† Heb. head.

d Before this he was one of David's Chief Captains, 2 Sam. 3. 22, 23. and General of the Forces of Judah; but now he is made Captain-General of all the Forces of Iſrael and Judah.

7 And David dwelt in the caſtle: therefore they called || it, The city of David.

|| That is, Zion, 2 Sam. 5. 7.

8 And he built the city round about: even from Millo round about: and Joab † repaired the reſt of the city.

But concerning that and other Differences about theſe Perſons or Things, ſee my Notes on 2 Sam. 23.

12 And after him was Eleazar the ſon of Dodo the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties.

|| Or, Epheſdammim, 1 Sam. 17. 1.

14 And they || ſet themſelves in the midſt of that parcel, and delivered it, and ſlew the Philiſtins, and the LORD ſaved them by a great || deliverance.

|| Or, ſtood.

* 2 Sam. 23. 13.

16 And David was then in the hold, and the Philiſtins || garriſon was then at Beth-lehem.

|| Or, deputy.

17 And David longed and ſaid, O that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, that is at the gate.

18 And the three brake through the hoſt of the Philiſtins, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David. But David would not drink of it, but poured it out to the LORD,

19 And ſaid, My God forbid it me, that I ſhould do this thing: ſhall I drink the blood of theſe men, † that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it: therefore he would not drink it. Theſe things did theſe three mightieſt i.

i Heb. theſe three mighties, to wit, laſt mentioned, whereof one was Abiſhai, v. 20. For the Acts of two of the firſt three are here paſſed over, being recorded 2 Sam. 23.

20 And Abiſhai the brother of Joab, he was chief of the three: for lifting up his ſpear againſt three hundred, he ſlew them k, and had a name among the three.

k He vanquiſhed them all, and ſlew a great number of them; tho' it be not ſaid that he ſlew them all at one time, as it is ſaid of Jaſhobeam above v. 11.

21 * Of the three he was more honourable than the two, for he was their captain, howbeit he attained not unto the firſt three l.

* 2 Sam. 23.19. &c.

l He did not equal them in Valiant Exploits.

22 Benajah the ſon of Jehojada, the ſon of a valiant man of Kabzeel, † who had done many acts: he ſlew two lion-like men of Moab: alſo he went down, and ſlew a lion in a pit in a ſnowy day.

† Heb. great of deeds.

23 And he ſlew an Egyptian, † a man of great ſtature, five cubits high, and in the Egyptians hand was a ſpear like a weavers beam, and he went down to him with a ſtaff, and pluckt the ſpear out of the Egyptians hand, and ſlew him with his own ſpear.

† Heb. a man of meaſure.

24 Theſe things did Benajah the ſon of Jehojada, and had the name m among the three mighties.

m Or, had a name, i. e. was greatly reputed: For though he did not equal Abiſhai, one of theſe three, as appears by v. 20, 21. yet he did excel the third of them, and all the thirty here following.

25 Behold, he was honourable among the thirty, but attained not to the firſt three; and David ſet him over his † guard n.

a As he returned from the Camp of the Philiſtins to Ziklag, 1 Sam. 29. 11.

* 1 Sam. 30. 1, 9, 10. || Or, with a band.

21 And * they helped David || againſt the band of the rovers b: for they were all mighty men of valour c, and were captains in the hoſt d.

b i. e. Againſt the Amalekites who had taken and burnt Ziklag, whom David and his 600 Men were now purſuing, whom theſe accompanied in that Expedition. Or, with a band or troop of Souldiers, which they brought along with them to David's Aſſiſtance. c Therefore they readily came to David's help. d Therefore they brought others along with them.

22 For at that time e day by day, there came to David to help him, until it was a great hoſt, like the hoſt of God f.

e i. e. While he was at Ziklag, and in his March to Hebron, and principally at Hebron, as the next Verſe explains it. f i. e. Innumerable like the Stars or Angels, both which are called God's hoſts. Oth. the hoſt of God, i. e. a very great Hoſt, great things being ſo called, as Cedars, Mountains, &c. of God. But the particle of likeneſs here added excludes this ſenſe, for it had been very improper to ſay, a great hoſt like a great hoſt, i. e. like it ſelf.

|| Or, captains, or, men. Heb. heads. * 2 Sam. 2. 3, 4. * 1 Sam. 16. 1, 3.

23 And theſe are the numbers of the || bands, that were ready armed to the War, and * came to David to Hebron, to turn the Kingdom of Saul to him, * according to the word of the LORD g.

g Whereby he had ſettled the Crown upon David after Saul's death.

|| Or, prepared.

24 The children of Judah that bare ſhield and ſpear, were ſix thouſand and eight hundred h ready || armed to the war.

h Who came hither in the name of all their Brethren; for that whole Tribe ſtuck to David at his very firſt coming to Hebron.

25 Of the children of Simeon, mighty men of valour for the war, ſeven thouſand and one hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi, four thouſand and ſix hundred.

† Heb. Aaron.

27 And Jehojada was the leader of † the Aaronites i, and with him were three thouſand and ſeven hundred.

i Not the High-prieſt, for that was Abiathar, 1 Sam. 23. 6. but one of Eminent place under him, and who had a great Power and intereſt among his Brethren.

* 2 Sam. 8. 17.

28 And * Zadok k, a young man mighty of valour, and of his fathers houſe twenty and two captains l.

k Thought to be the ſame who was made High-prieſt in Solomon's time, 1 Kings 2. 35. which if true, he was very young at this time. l Whom he brought along with him.

† Heb. brethren. † Heb. a multitude of them. * 2 Sam. 2. 8, 9.

29 And of the children of Benjamin, the † kindred of Saul, three thouſand: for hitherto the † * greateſt part of them had kept the ward of the houſe of Saul m.

m i. e. Indeavoured to keep the Crown in their own Tribe, and in Saul's Family.

† Heb. men of names.

30 And of the Children of Ephraim, twenty thouſand and eight hundred mighty men of valour, † famous throughout the houſe of their fathers.

31 And of the half tribe of Maneſſeh n, eighteen thouſand, which were expreſſed by name o, to come and make David King.

n Which was within Jordan: for of the other half beyond Jordan he ſpeaks v. 37. o Which were not aſhamed nor afraid publickly to own David firſt by putting their Names to ſome Paper preſented to them for that purpoſe; and then by marching to him to Hebron.

32 And of the children of Iſſachar, which were men that had underſtanding of the times p, to know what Iſrael ought to do: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandment.

p Either, 1. skill in the Stars, and ſeveral Seaſons and Changes of the Air; which might be of good uſe in Husbandry, to which this Tribe was addicted, Gen. 49. 14. Deut. 33. 18. Or rather, 2. Political Prudence to diſcern and embrace the fit Seaſons for all Actions, as appears, 1. from the following words, to know what not only their own Tribe but all Iſrael ought to do. 2. By the great Authority and Command which they had over all their Brethren upon this account, as it here follows. 3. Becauſe this is ſo conſiderable a Circumſtance in all Humane, and eſpecially in publick Affairs, that the Succeſs or Diſappointment of them depends very much upon the right or wrong Timing of them, and therefore this is a very fit expreſſion to ſignifie their great Prudence. And particularly they ſhewed this point of their Wiſdom at this time; for as they had adhered to Saul whilſt he lived, as knowing the time was not yet come for David to take Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom: and as they could not join themſelves to David, whilſt Abner lived, and was potent, and had the Command of the other Tribes wherewith they were encompaſſed, ſo as ſoon as he was dead, and they had opportunity to declare themſelves, they owned David for their King. 4. By the like uſe of this Phraſe, Eſth. 1. 13.

|| Or, rangers of battel, or, ranged in battel. || Or, ſet the battel in array. † Heb. without a heart and a heart.

33 Of Zebulun ſuch as went forth to battel, || expert in war, with all inſtruments of war, fifty thouſand q, which could keep || rank r: they were † not of double heart s.

q For this Tribe being next to that of Iſſachar, which was generally well-affected to David, were probably very much ſwayed by their Opinion and Advice. r Or, which were diſpoſed or prepared, or ordered for battel or to fight for David, if occaſion ſo required. s Heb. without an heart and an heart: which may relate either, 1. to the whole Body of them, they were all of one heart and one mind towards David, not ſome for him, and others ſecretly againſt him, but all with one ſoul and one conſent adhered to him. Or, 2. To the ſame particular perſons, they were each of them ſincerely Loyal to David, and did not diſſemble with David, pretending to be for him, whilſt in their hearts they favoured Saul's Family; which poſſibly ſome of thoſe who came to Hebron, did. Or this is particularly noted of this Tribe, becauſe they lay under ſome ſuſpicion in this matter; as alſo ſome of the other Tribes did; and therefore the like teſtimony is given to all of them, v. 38.

34 And of Naphtali a thouſand captains, and with them, with ſhield and ſpear, thirty and ſeven thouſand.

35 And of the Danites, expert in war, twenty and eight thouſand and ſix hundred.

|| Or, keeping their rank.

36 And of Aſher, ſuch as went forth to battel, || expert in war, forty thouſand.

37 And on the other ſide of Jordan, of the Reubenite, and the Gadite, and of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, with all manner of Inſtruments of War for the battel, an hundred and twenty thouſand.

38 All theſe men of war, that could keep rank, came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over all Iſrael: and all the reſt alſo of Iſrael were of one heart t to make David King.

t To wit, after the death of Abner and Iſhboſheth.

39 And there they were with David, three days, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover, they that were nigh them u, even unto Iſſachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali x, brought bread on aſſes, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen y, and ‖ meat, meal, cakes of figs, and bunches of raiſins, and wine, and oil, and oxen, and ſheep abundantly: for there was joy in Iſrael z.

‖ Or, vi-ctual of meal.

u That lived not far from Hebron, the place where they now were. x This is added by way of amplification and explication, to ſhew that he did not underſtand this of thoſe Iſraelites only who lived in the Neighbourhood of Hebron, but of thoſe that lived at ſome diſtance, yet were nearer to Hebron, than ſome of the other Tribes here named. y Which, though not commonly uſed in this manner, nor fit for ſuch purpoſes, now they ſo uſed, becauſe the quantity of Proviſions which they brought was very great, as the Numbers of the People at Hebron were, and Horſes they had few in Iſrael, and moſt of their Aſſes, and Camels, and Mules here mentioned probably were uſed to carry divers Men, or Women and Children, to this great, and publick, and happy Solemnity. z Partly becauſe their Civil Wars were wholly ended, and they were all united under one King: and partly becauſe they had now a King of Eminent Valour, and Piety, and Felicity, and therefore expected to be ſaved from all their Enemies and Calamities, as they were.

CHAP. XIII.

David fetcheth the Ark from Kirjath-jearim, with great Solemnity, 1——8. Uzza being ſmitten, the Ark is left at the Houſe of Obed-Edom, 9——14.

1 AND David conſulted with the captains of thouſands, and hundreds, and with every leader a.

a Or, Governour, or Elder of the People.

2 And David ſaid unto all the congregation of Iſrael b, If it ſeem good unto you, and that it be of the LORD our God c, † let us ſend abroad d unto our brethren every where, that are left e in all the land of Iſrael, and with them alſo to the Prieſts and Levites, which are † in their cities and ſuburbs, that they may gather themſelves unto us.

† Heb, let s break rth and nd.

† Heb. in ecities of eir ſub- rbs.

b i. e. Unto all the People then aſſembled with him at Hebron. This Story is mentioned in another place in 2 Sam. 5. & 6. even after the taking of Jeruſalem and the two firſt Fights with the Philiſtins, whereas here it is placed before the latter, and there is no mention here of the former. The matter may be thus conceived: There being now a great and general concourſe of all Iſrael, and David being now Eſtabliſhed in his Throne with univerſal conſent and applauſe, he begins with God, and his firſt Thoughts and Cares are about Religion and the Ark, then the great Inſtrument and Ornament of it, and takes the Opportunity of this Aſſembly to deſire their Advice and concurrence with him in it, that the Ark might be brought either to Hebron, which then was the Royal City; or to Jeruſalem, which as probably he told them, he was reſolved to Beſiege, and doubted not, by God's Help, to take. After this was propoſed by the King and accepted by the People, this great Aſſembly was diſmiſſed, only ſome of them David reſerved to go with him againſt Jeruſalem, which accordingly he did, and ſucceeded in his Enterprize, as is related, 1 Sam. 5. But before this Reſolution could be executed, the Philiſtines came and fought twice with David, as is related 1 Sam. 5. 17, &c. and here ch. 14. 8, &c. And after they were repulſed with great loſs and ſhame, David ſets upon the Execution of that which before he had reſolved, and in order to it calls another General Aſſembly of the People. c i. e. If this Tranſlation of the Ark be pleaſing to God, which I purpoſe to enquire by the Urim after the manner, and to act accordingly. d Heb. let us break out and ſend, i. e. let us ſend Meſſengers ſpeedily and univerſally to the ſeveral Tribes. We are now in ſome ſort pent up in a Corner of the Land in Hebron, but let us break up the Aſſembly and diſperſe our ſelves, and ſend far and near about this Work. It is a Metaphor from the Sea or Rivers, which, when the Banks are Broken, do ſuddenly overflow the whole adjoyning Country. e By which word he minds them of the great Deſolations and Deſtructions which God for their ſins had hitherto made among them; and therefore adviſeth that Remnant whom God had ſo graciouſly ſaved in and from thoſe dreadful Ruines, that they would more ſeriouſly ſet themſelves to ſeek God than they had formerly done.

3 And let us † bring again the Ark of our God to us: for we enquired not at it f in the days of Saul g.

† Heb. g a- f The Ark was then neglected; and the generality of the People either lived in the groſs neglect of the ſolemn worſhip of God; or contented themſelves with going to Gibeon and offering Sacrifices there, not caring, though the Ark, the Soul of the Tabernacle, was in another place. g So it was in the days of Samuel; but it is rather charged upon Saul than him: partly becauſe Samuel was exerciſed with continual Wars or expectation of Wars with the Philiſtins all the time of his Regency, and therefore wanted the Opportunity to bring back the Ark, which Saul had and neglected: partly becauſe Samuel took care to ſtir up and maintain Religion among them by other Means and in an extraordinary manner; whereas this was but one Branch of Saul's Impiety, and was joyned with a contempt of all Religion, as the Hiſtory of his Life ſhews: and partly becauſe it was more proper to accuſe himſelf and the preſent Generation who were guilty of this neglect, than to rake into the Aſhes of their deceaſed Progenitors, and lay his Charge againſt thoſe who were dead and gone ſome good while ſince.

4 And all the congregation ſaid that they would do ſo: for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people h.

h Their Conſciences ſmiting them for their former negligence, and being fully convinced of the Piety and Reaſonableneſs of this Propoſition.

5 So * David gathered all Iſrael i together, from Shihor of Egypt k, even unto the entring of Hemath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim.

* 1 Sam. 7. 1. 2 Sam. 6. 2.

6 And David went up, and all Iſrael to * Baalah, that is, to Kirjath-jearim l, which belonged to Judah, to bring up thence the ark of God the LORD, that dwelleth between the cherubims, whoſe Name is called on it m.

* Joſh. 15. 9. 60.

l Which Explication is juſtifyed by Joſ. 15. 9. 60. where the ſame City is called by both Names. Obj. They are ſaid to go from this Baale, 2 Sam. 6. 2. Anſ. 1. Some Learned Men render that Place alſo to Baale, the particle Mem being ſometimes uſed for to amongſt the Hebrews, and eſpecially amongſt the Arabians. 2. Both were true: they firſt went to Baale for the Ark, as is here ſaid, and then went from Baale to bring or to carry (for the word ſignifies either) or carrying from thence the Ark of God, as is there related. But of this and other difficulties or differences between theſe two Relations, ſee the Notes on 2 Sam. 6.

7 And they † carried the ark of God in a new cart out of the Houſe of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drave the cart.

† Heb. made the ark to ride.

8 And David and all Iſrael played before God with all their might, and with † ſinging and with harps, and with Pſalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

† Heb. ſongs.

9 And when they came to the threſhing-floor of ‖ Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen ‖ ſtumbled.

‖ Called Nachin, 2 Sam. 6. 6.

‖ Or, ſhook it.

10 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Uzza, and he ſmote him, * becauſe he put his hand to the Ark: and there he died before God.

* Numb. 4. 15.

11 And David was diſpleaſed, becauſe the LORD had made a breach upon Uzza: wherefore that place is called ‖ Perez-uzza, to this day.

‖ That is, breach of Uzza.

12 And David was afraid of God that day, ſaying, How ſhall I bring the ark of God home to me?

13 So David † brought not the ark home to himſelf to the city of David, but carried it aſide into the houſe of Obed-edom the Gittite.

† Heb. removed.

14 And the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his houſe three Months. And the LORD bleſſed * the houſe of Obed-edom, and all that he had.

Hiram's Kindneſs to David, 1. His Felicity in People, Wives and Children, 2--7. His two Victories againſt the Philiſtines, 8--17.

1 NOW * Hiram king of Tyre ſent meſſengers to David, and timber of cedars, with maſons and carpenters to build him an houſe.

* 2 Sam. 5. 11, &c.

2 And David perceived a that the LORD had confirmed him king over Iſrael, for his kingdom was lift up on high, becauſe of his people Iſrael.

anointed King over all Iſrael, all the Philiſtins went up to ſeek David, and David heard of it, and went out againſt them.

9 And the Philiſtins came and ſpread themſelves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 And David enquired of God, ſaying, Shall I go up againſt the Philiſtins? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? and the Lord ſaid unto him, Go up, for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David ſmote them there. Then David ſaid, God hath broken in upon mine Enemies by mine hand, like the breaking forth of waters: therefore they called the name of that place || Baal-perazim.

|| That is, a place of breaches.

12 And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burnt with fire.

13 And the Philiſtins yet again ſpread themſelves abroad in the || valley ||.

|| Or, that.
|| Or, of Rephaim, v. 9.

14 Therefore David enquired again of God, and God ſaid unto him, Go not up after them: turn away from them, * and come upon them, over againſt the mulberry trees.

* 2 Sam. 5. 23.

15 And it ſhall be, when thou ſhalt hear a ſound of going in the tops of the mulberry-trees, that then thou ſhalt go out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to ſmite the hoſt of the Philiſtins.

16 David therefore did as God had commanded him: and they ſmote the hoſt of the Philiſtins from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands b, and the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations.

b i. e. Into all the neighbouring Countries.

CHAP. XV.

David having prepared a place for the Ark, ordereth the Prieſts and Levites to bring it from Obed-Edom, 1——24. He performeth the Solemnity thereof with great joy, 25——28. Michal deſpiſeth him, 29.

1 AND David made him houſes a in the city of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent b.

a A Palace conſiſting of many Houſes or Apartments for his ſeveral Wives and Children. b Qu. Why did he not firſt fetch the tabernacle of Moſes from Gibeon, where it now was, that ſo he might put the Ark into its proper place? Anſ. Partly becauſe he had no motion or direction from God concerning the Tabernacle, as he had concerning the Ark: and partly becauſe he thought the Tabernacle was not ſo neceſſary for that end as formerly, ſeeing he intended forthwith to ſet upon the building of the Temple, as appears from chap. 17.

2 Then David ſaid, † None ought to carry the * ark of God but the Levites c: for them the LORD hath choſen to carry the ark of God, and to miniſter unto him for ever d.

3 And David gathered all Iſrael together to Jeruſalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD unto his place which he had prepared for it.

4 And David aſſembled the children of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the ſons of Kohath e; Uriel the chief, and his || brethren an hundred and twenty.

e To wit, of Amram or Izhar, Kohath's Sons, Numb. 3. 27. Otherwiſe Elizaphan, v. 8. and Hebron, v. 9. and Uzziel, v. 10. were Kohath's Children; of which ſee Exod. 6. 17, 18, 22.

6 Of the ſons of Merari; Aſajah the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty.

7 Of the ſons of Gerſhom; Joel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the ſons of Elizaphan; Shemajah the chief, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the ſons of Hebron; Eliel the chief, and his brethren fourſcore.

10 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Amminadab the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.

11 And David called for Zadok, and Abiathar the prieſts f, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Aſajah, and Joel, Shemajah, and Eliel, and Amminadab;

f i. e. The Chief Prieſts, Abiathar the High-Prieſt, and Zadok the ſecond Prieſt, ſee Numb. 3. 32.

12 And ſaid unto them, Ye are the chief of the fathers of the Levites: ſanctifie your ſelves g, both ye and your brethren, that ye may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Iſrael unto the place that I have prepared for it.

g By ſolemn Purification and Preparation of your ſelves, both in Soul and Body. See on Exod. 19. 10. 15.

13 For * becauſe ye did it not at the firſt h, the LORD our God made a breach upon us, for that we i ſought him not after the due order k.

* 2 Sam. 6. 3. Ch. 13. 7.

h Becauſe you did not ſanctifie and prepare your ſelves by ſolemn Prayer, and ſeeking Counſel from God, and by a ſerious conſideration of God's Will as to the Manner of carrying it; which it was your Duty more than others to obſerve and ſee it executed. i He takes a part of the guilt to himſelf, becauſe it was his Duty, as well as theirs, diligently to read the Law and word of God, and to ſee it executed, and their overſight did not excuſe his. k According to the Rules which he appointed.

14 So the Prieſts and the Levites ſanctified themſelves, to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Iſrael.

15 And the children of the Levites l bare the ark of God upon their ſhoulders, with the ſtaves thereon, as * Moſes commanded, according to the word of the LORD.

* Exod. 25. 14. Numb. 4. 15. & 7. 9.

16 And David ſpake to the chief of the Levites, to appoint their brethren to be the ſingers, with inſtruments of muſick, pſalteries, and harps, and cymbals, † ſounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.

† Heb. cauſing to hear.

* Ch. 6. 39.
* Ch. 6. 44.

18 And with them their brethren of the ſecond degree m, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benajah, and Maaſiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphalet, and Mikniah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel the porters n.

m The firſt rank or degree of Sacred Muſicians being thoſe three famous Perſons named v. 17. next unto whom were theſe here named. n Who were to keep the Doors of the Tabernacle and Courts, but withal were inſtructed in Muſick and ſinging, that when they were free from Attendance upon their proper Office, they might not be idle nor unprofitable perſons in God's Houſe.

19 So the ſingers, Heman, Aſaph, and Ethan, were appointed to ſound with cymbals of braſs.

20 And Zechariah o, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaſiah, and Benajah, with Pſalteries on Alamoth p.

o In this Catalogue Ben is omitted, who was mentioned v. 18. Yet others think him to be the ſame who is called Azariah, v. 21. But Ben might be ſome other perſon, who was indeed appointed for this Work, as is related, v. 17, 18. and yet he might be taken off by death or ſickneſs, or ſome ſudden and extraordinary Accident which hindred his Execution of the Place and Work allotted for him, which might force the chief of the Levites to appoint ſome other in his ſtead, when they came to put their Inſtitution in practice, as here they did. p Or, with (as that particle is elſewhere uſed) Alamoth which is thought to be the name of an Inſtrument of Muſick; or of a certain Tune, or Note, or part in Muſick. The certain ſignification of it is not now known, nor is it neceſſary for us to know it. And the like may be ſaid of Sheminith, v. 21.

21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphaleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps || on the Sheminith q to excel r.

|| Or, on the eighth to overſee.

q See on v. 20. r Which word may be here added to note the Excellency of that Inſtrument, or Note, or part of Muſick; or that there was a greater Extenſion or Elevation of the Voice than in the former.

22 And Chenaniah chief of the Levites || was for † ſong s: he inſtructed about the ſong, becauſe he was skilful.

|| Or, was for the carriage: he inſtructed about the carriage.
† Heb. lifting up, or, prophecy.

s Heb. Was for lifting up, either, 1. of the Ark: he was for carriage of the Ark, being appointed to inſtruct or direct the time and manner of carrying the Ark, and when they ſhould make a ſtand or a change in the Bearers. Or rather, 2. of the Voice: he was the Moderator of the Muſick, inſtructing them when and how to lift up their Voices, or change their Notes, or make their Stops, which beſt agrees with the following Reaſon, becauſe he was skilful: For this required far more Skill than the carriage of the Ark; which any man of common diſcretion could eaſily govern; and with v. 27. where this ſame Chenaniah is joyned with the Singers.

23 And Berechiah, and Elkanah were door-keepers for the ark t.

t They were appointed to keep the Door of the Tent in which the Ark was to be put and kept, that no unallowed Perſon might preſs in and touch it; and in like manner they were to attend upon the Ark in the Way, and to guard it from the preſs and touch of prophane Hands; for which end theſe two went before the Ark, as their other two Brethren mentioned in the cloſe of v. 24. came after it, that ſo it might be Guarded on all ſides: which, how neceſſary it was to be done, ſufficiently appears from the danger of coming too near the Ark, or to look into it, which was exemplifyed in the Bethſhemites, 1 Sam. 6. 19.

24 And Shebaniah, and Jehoſhaphat, and Nathaneel, and Amaſai, and Zechariah, and Benajah, and Eliezer the Prieſts * did blow with the trumpets before the ark of God: and Obed-edom and Jehiah were door-keepers for the ark.

25 So * David and the elders of Iſrael, and the captains over thouſands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD, out of the houſe of Obed-edom with joy.
* 2 Sam. 6. 12, 13. &c.

26 And it came to paſs when God helped the Levites u that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that they offered ſeven Bullocks, and ſeven rams.

u Either, 1. by giving them ſtrength to carry their Burden: or rather, 2. by encouraging them in their Work with ſome comfortable Sign of his Preſence with them, and approbation of their work and manner of carrying the Ark. When they ſaw that he did not cut off any of the perſons employed, as he had done before, but ſpared and favoured them; which they perceived when they had gone ſix paces, as appears by 2 Sam. 6. 13.

27 And David was cloathed with a robe of fine linnen x, and all the Levites that bare the ark, and the ſingers, and Chenaniah the maſter of the † ſong with the ſingers. David alſo had upon him an ephod of linen.
† carriage, v. 22.

x i. e. With a Linen Ephod, as it is explained in the cloſe of this verſe, where this circumſtance is repeated, becauſe it was a notable and unuſual thing for David, who was no Levite, to wear a Levitical Garment. See of this and the following verſes the Notes on 2 Sam. 6, 14, 15, 16.

28 Thus all Iſrael brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with ſhouting, and with ſound of the cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a noiſe with pſalteries, and harps.

29 And it came to paſs as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, that Michal the daughter of Saul, looking out at a window, ſaw king David dancing and playing, and ſhe deſpiſed him in her heart.

David's Feſtival Sacrifice and Alms. The Pſalm of Thankſgiving, ſung by a Quire, and the People ſaid Amen, 1——36. Miniſters, Porters, Prieſts, and Muſicians appointed to attend the Ark continually, 37——43.

1 SO * they brought back the Ark of God a, and ſet it in the midſt of the tent that David had pitched for it: and they offered burnt-ſacrifices and peace-offerings before God.
* 2 Sam. 6. 17.

a Of theſe three firſt Verſes ſee on 2 Sam. 6. 17, 18, 19.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt-offerings, and the peace-offerings, he bleſſed the people in the name of the LORD.

3 And he dealt to every one of Iſrael, both man and woman, to every one a loaf of bread, and a good piece of fleſh, and a flagon of wine.

4 And he appointed certain of the Levites to miniſter before the ark of the LORD, and to record, and to thank, and praiſe the LORD God of Iſrael:

5 Aſaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benajah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel † with pſalteries and with harps: but Aſaph made a ſound with cymbals.
† Heb. with inſtruments of pſalteries and harps.

6 Benajah alſo and Jahaziel the prieſts, with trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.

7 Then on that day David ‖ delivered firſt this pſalm b to thank the LORD into the hand of Aſaph and his brethren:
‖ Or, appointed to ſerve the Lord by the hand of Aſaph.

b Whereby it is implied, that after this he delivered many other Pſalms ſucceſſively into their Hands, to be ſung by them to the praiſe of God in his publick Service. See 2 Sam. 23. 1. 2 Chron. 29. 30. As for the matter of this Pſalm, I ſhall defer the Explication of it till I come to the Book of Pſalms, where we ſhall find it in the ſame words, in Pſal. 96. and 105.

8 * Give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name: make known his deeds among the people.
* Pſal. 105.

9 Sing unto him, ſing pſalms unto him, talk ye of all his wondrous works.

10 Glory ye in his holy Name, let the heart of them rejoyce that ſeek the LORD.

11 Seek the LORD and his ſtrength, ſeek his face continually.

12 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth.

13 O ye ſeed of Iſrael his ſervant, ye children of Jacob his choſen ones.

14 He is the LORD our God, his judgments are in all the earth.

15 Be ye mindful always of his covenant: the word which he commanded to a thouſand generations.

16 Even of the * covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Iſaac:
* Gen. 1 2. & 26 & 28. 1

26 For all the * gods of the people are idols: but the LORD made the heavens.

28 Give unto the LORD, ye kindreds of the people; give unto the LORD glory and ſtrength.

29 Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; bring an offering, and come before him, worſhip the LORD in the beauty of holineſs.

30 Fear before him, all the earth: the world alſo ſhall be ſtable, that it be not moved.

31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice: and let men ſay among the nations, The LORD reigneth.

32 Let the ſea roar, and the fulneſs thereof: let the fields rejoyce, and all that is therein.

34 * O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.
* Pſal. 107. 1. & 118. 1. & 136. 1.

35 And ſay ye, Save us, O God of our ſalvation, and gather us together, and deliver us from the heathen c, that we may give thanks to thy holy name, and glory in thy praiſe.

c This might ſeem an improper and unſeaſonable Prayer for David's time, when the Iſraelites were not yet ſcattered amongſt the Heathen, but indeed it was not ſo: partly becauſe they had already been ſadly divided by a Civil War among themſelves; and though they were now externally and viſibly united under David, yet he might juſtly think that there were ſome who yet retained in their Hearts their old Leaven, their Hatred of him, and their affection to Saul, which might hereafter break forth when occaſion was offer'd, as it did, 2 Sam. 16. 8. and therefore he juſtly prays, that they may be gathered and united together in hearty Love as well as in outward Shew: and partly, becauſe this Pſalm or Prayer was made by David for the uſe of the Church, not only in that preſent time, but in future Ages, in which David foreſaw by the Spirit of Prophecy, or by conſideration of thoſe Ancient and Sacred Predictions, Deut. 31. and 32. that the Iſraelites would one time or other forſake God, and for their Apoſtacy be diſperſed among the Heathens, when they ſhould have great and particular need of this Prayer.

36 Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael for ever and ever: and all * the people ſaid, Amen, and praiſed the LORD.
* Deut. 27. 15.

37 So he left there d, before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, Aſaph and his brethren, to miniſter before the ark continually, as every days work required:

Ark and by the High-Prieſt, Exod. 28. 12, 20, 21. who now was Abiathar; who therefore abode here with the Ark, when Zadok was left at Gibeon.

g So exceeding careful was this good King of God's Worſhip, that he would have no perſon employed in it, but ſuch as he appointed to it, and were fit for it.

CHAP. XVII.

David deſigning to build God an Houſe: Nathan at firſt approveth of it: After by the Word of God forbiddeth him, 1—10. Promiſing him Bleſſings and Benefits in his Seed, 11—15. David's Prayer and Thankſgiving, 16—22.

* 2 Sam. 7. , &c.

1 NOw * it came to paſs a as David ſat in his houſe, that David ſaid to Nathan the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an houſe of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD remaineth under curtains.

a This whole Chapter is explained, 2 Sam. 7. where the ſame things are recorded with very little variation of the Words; which alſo hath been conſidered in my Notes upon that Chapter; to which I refer the Reader, taking notice here but of ſome very few things.

2 Then Nathan ſaid unto David, Do all that is in thine heart, for God is with thee.

3 And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the word of God came to Nathan, ſaying, 4 Go and tell David my ſervant, Thus ſaith the LORD, Thou ſhalt not build me an houſe to dwell in.

† Heb. ave been.

5 For I have not dwelt in an houſe ſince the day that I brought up Iſrael, unto this day, but † have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another.

6 Whereſoever I have walked with all Iſrael, ſpake I a word to any of the judges of Iſrael (whom I commanded to feed my people) ſaying, Why have ye not built me an houſe of cedars?

† Heb. rom after.

7 Now therefore thus ſhalt thou ſay unto my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, I took thee from the ſheep-cote, even † from following the ſheep, that thou ſhouldeſt be ruler over my people Iſrael:

8 And I have been with thee whitherſoever thou haſt walked, and have cut off all thine enemies from before thee, and have made thee a name like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 Alſo I will ordain a place for my people Iſrael, and will plant them, and they ſhall dwell in their place, and ſhall be moved no more, neither ſhall the children of wickedneſs b waſt them any more: (as at the beginning, b Such as are devoted and wholly given up to Wickedneſs; elſewhere called Children of Belial.

‖ Or, as.

10 And ‖ ſince the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Iſrael) moreover, I will ſubdue all thine enemies. Furthermore, I tell thee, that the LORD will build thee an houſe.

11 And it ſhall come to paſs, when thy days be expired, that thou muſt go to be with thy fathers, that I will raiſe up thy ſeed after thee, which ſhall be of thy ſons, and I will eſtabliſh his kingdom.

12 He ſhall build me an houſe, and I will eſtabliſh his throne for ever.

* 2Sam. 7. 14.

13 * I will be his father, and he ſhall be my ſon, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will ſettle him in mine houſe c, and in my kingdom d for ever, and his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for evermore.

c In my Dwelling-place, either, 1. In Jeruſalem, the place where God had put his Name for ever, 2 King. 21. 4, 7. 2 Chron. 6. 5, 6. Compare 1 King. 11. 36. and 15. 4. Or, 2. In the Temple, which is more properly and conſtantly called God's Houſe; and ſo this Expreſſion agrees but very imperfectly with Solomon, or his Succeſſors, who might be ſaid to be ſettled in God's Houſe, becauſe they were ſettled near it, and in ſome ſort ſet over it, becauſe they were to take care that the Prieſts and others ſhould perform their Offices and God's Service in it; but ſtrictly and properly agrees only to Chriſt, to whom alone that Promiſe alſo of an Everlaſting Eſtabliſhment in this Kingdom belongs, as was noted on 2 Sam. 7. And this Expreſſion ſeems to be moſt emphatically added, to ſignifie, that that Perſon in whom all thoſe Promiſes ſhould be fully and perfectly accompliſhed, to wit, the Meſſias, ſhould be ſettled not only in the King's Thone, as others of David's Succeſſors were, but alſo in God's Houſe or Temple; and conſequently, that he ſhould be a Prieſt as well as a King; which Myſtery was more clearly revealed to David, Pſal. 110. 1, 2, 4. and may be intimated, though obſcurely (as was fit and uſual in that ſtate of the Church) in theſe Words. d Either, 1. In the Kingdom of Iſrael, which God calls his Kingdom, becauſe he was in a ſpecial manner their King and Governour, having raiſed them up and formed them into a Kingdom, and given them that Protection and Aſſiſtance which Kings owe to their Kingdoms; and becauſe he expected and required from them, what Kings do from their People, that they ſhould be wholly governed by his Laws, and devoted to his Service. Or, 2. In God's Kingdom in a more large and general Sence. And this, as well as the former Phraſe, may ſeem ſingularly to belong to the Meſſiah, who was not only to be the King of Iſrael, but alſo of all Nations, as was foretold even in the Old Teſtament, as Pſal. 2. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12. and 22. 27, 28. and 72. 11. Iſa. 2. 4. Hagg. 2. 7. and ſo this may be an Intimation of that great Myſtery which is more fully revealed in the New Teſtament, to wit, that Chriſt is the Head, or King, or Governour of all God's Church, conſiſting of Jews and Gentiles, and of all Nations, and indeed of all Creatures, the Angels not excepted; all which is God's Kingdom, and by him given to his Son our Bleſſed Lord Chriſt. And for the ſignification of theſe great things there is ſo great and remarkable an Alteration of the Phraſe here from what it is in 2 Sam. 7. where ſpeaking to David, he conſtantly calls it his (i. e. David's) Kingdom, and his Houſe, v. 12, 13, 16, 19, 25, 27. for which he here ſaith my Houſe, and my Kingdom, which alſo he diſtinguiſheth from his Throne, which is mentioned in the next Clauſe of this Verſe, and in v. 11, 12. But theſe things I ſubmit to the Judicious Reader.

15 According to all theſe words, and according to all this viſion, ſo did Nathan ſpeak unto David.

16 And David the king came, and ſat e before the LORD, and ſaid, Who am I, O LORD God, and what is mine houſe, that thou haſt brought me hitherto?

e Which may note either his Geſture; or his Continuance there till he had finiſhed this following Prayer.

17 And yet this was a ſmall thing in thine eyes, O God, for thou haſt alſo ſpoken of thy ſervants houſe for a great while to come, and haſt regarded me according to the eſtate of a man of high degree, O LORD God f.

f i. e. Thou haſt treated me as if I had been born the Son of a great Monarch, and not a poor Shepherd, as indeed I was, O Lord God. Oth. Thus, Thou haſt regarded or reſpected me as the Type or Figure, or according to the Rank or Order of that excellent Man, or Man of high Degree, who is alſo the Lord God, i. e. of the Meſſiah, who is God-Man. i. e. Thou haſt given to me and my Houſe an Everlaſting Kingdom, which is the peculiar Priviledge of that great Perſon the Meſſiah, Dan. 2. 44. and 7. 13, 14.

18 What can David † ſpeak more to thee for the honour of thy ſervant? for thou knoweſt thy ſervant. † Heb. add.

19 O LORD for thy ſervants ſake g, and according to thine own heart haſt thou done all this greatneſs, in making known all theſe † great things. † Heb. greatneſſes.

g In 2 Sam. 7. 21. it is, for thy words ſake, i. e. for the ſake of thy Word and Promiſe made to thy Servant; as that Phraſe, for David's ſake, is oft thus underſtood, for God's Covenants ſake made with David.

20 O LORD, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beſides thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

21 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people Iſrael, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make thee a name of † greatneſs and terribleneſs, by driving out Nations from before thy people, whom thou haſt redeemed out of Egypt? † Heb. greatneſſes and terrible things.

22 For thy people Iſrael didſt thou make thine own people for ever, and thou LORD, becameſt their God.

23 Therefore now LORD, let the thing that thou haſt ſpoken concerning thy ſervant, and concerning his houſe, be eſtabliſhed for ever, and do, as thou haſt ſaid.

24 Let it even be eſtabliſhed, that thy name may be magnified for ever, ſaying, The LORD of hoſts is the God of Iſrael, even a God to Iſrael h, and let the houſe of David thy ſervant be eſtabliſhed before thee.

h Or, The Lord of Hoſts, the God of Iſrael, is a God to Iſrael, i.e. He is really to his People that which he hath ſtiled himſelf, their God, having taken ſuch care of them, and ſhewed ſuch Mercy and Truth to them, as did fully anſwer that Title.

25 For thou, O my God, † haſt told thy ſervant that thou wilt build him an houſe: therefore thy ſervant hath found in his heart to pray before thee. † Heb. haſt uncovered the ear of thy ſervant

26 And now, LORD, (thou art God, and haſt promiſed this goodneſs unto thy ſervant.)

27 Now therefore ‖ let it pleaſe thee to bleſs the houſe of thy ſervant, that it may be before thee for ever: for thou bleſſeſt, O LORD, and it ſhall be bleſſed for ever. ‖ Or, it hath pleaſed thee.

David ſubdueth the Philiſtines and the Moabites: ſmiteth Hadarezer and the Syrians, 1——8. Tou ſendeth Hadoram with preſents to bleſs David: the preſents and ſpoil David dedicated to God, 9——12. he putteth gariſons in Edom, 13. David's Officers, 14——17.

*Sam. 8.1, &c. † Heb. aughters.

NOw after this * it came to paſs, that David ſmote the Philiſtins a, and ſubdued them, and took Gath and her † towns out of the hands of the Philiſtins.

a All this Chapter is explained on 2 Sam. 8.

2 And he ſmote Moab: and the Moabites became Davids ſervants, and brought gifts.

|| Or, Hada- ezer, 2 Sam. 8.3. † Heb. hand, Jer. 34.1.

3 And David ſmote || Hadarezer king of Zobah unto Humath, as he went to eſtabliſh his † dominion by the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thouſand chariots, and ſeven thouſand horſemen, and twenty thouſand footmen: David alſo houghed all the chariot-horſes, but reſerved of them an hundred chariots.

† Heb. Darmeſek.

5 And when the Syrians of † Damaſcus came to Hadarezar king of Zobah, David ſlew of the Syrians two and twenty thouſand men.

6 Then David put gariſons in Syria-damaſcus, and the Syrians became Davids ſervants, and brought gifts. Thus the LORD preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

7 And David took the ſhields of gold that were on the ſervants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Jeruſalem.

|| Called in e Book of am. Beta, nd Bero- ai. * 1 Kings 7.23. Chr. 4.15.

8 Likewiſe from || Tibhath, and from Chun b, cities of Hadarezer, brought David very much braſs, wherewith * Solomon made the brazen ſea, and the pillars, and the veſſels of braſs.

b For which 2 Sam. 8. 8. Betah and Berothai are mentioned. Either therefore they were the ſame places called by ſeveral names, as is uſual: Or they were four neighbouring places, out of all which the Braſs was taken, whereof two places having been named there, and omitted here, and the other two places there omitted are here remembred.

|| Or, Toi. Sam. 8.9.

|| Or, Joram. Sam. 8.10. || Or, to ſa- te. † Heb. to leſs. † Heb. was e man of ars.

10 He ſent Hadoram his ſon to king David, || to enquire of his welfare, and || to congratulate him, becauſe he had fought againſt Hadarezer, and ſmitten him, (for Hadarezer † had warred with Tou) and with him all manner of veſſels of gold, and ſilver, and braſs.

11 Them alſo king David dedicated unto the LORD, with the ſilver and the gold that he brought from all theſe nations; from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philiſtins, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover, Abiſhai the ſon of Zerujah ſlew of the Edomites in the valley of ſalt, eighteen thouſand.

13 And he put gariſons in Edom, and all the Edomites became Davids ſervants. Thus the LORD preſerved David whitherſoever he went.

14 So David reigned over all Iſrael, and executed judgment and juſtice among all his people.

David's Meſſengers to Hanun are villanouſly intreated, 1——5. The Ammonites and Syrians are overcome by Joab and Abiſhai, 6——15. By David himſelf, 16——19.

* 2 Sam. o.1, &c.

NOw * it came to paſs after this, that Nahaſh the king of the children of Ammon died a, and his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

a Of all the Contents of this Chapter ſee the notes on 2 Sam. 10. where we have the ſame things, and almoſt the very ſame words.

2 And David ſaid, I will ſhew kindneſs unto Hanun the ſon of Nahaſh, becauſe his father ſhewed kindneſs to me. And David ſent meſſengers to comfort him concerning his father: ſo the ſervants of David came into the land of the children of Ammon, to Hanun, to comfort him.

† Heb. in e eyes h David.

3 But the princes of the children of Ammon ſaid to Hanun, † Thinkeſt thou that David doth honour thy father that he hath ſent comforters unto thee? are not his ſervants come unto thee for to ſearch, and to overthrow, and to ſpie out the land.

4 Wherefore Hanun took Davids ſervants, and ſhaved them, and cut off their garments in the midſt hard by their buttocks, and ſent them away.

5 Then there went certain, and told David how the men were ſerved. And he ſent to meet them (for the men were greatly aſhamed) and the king ſaid, tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 And when the children of Ammon ſaw that they had made themſelves † odious to David, Hanun and the children of Ammon ſent a thouſand talents of ſilver to hire them chariots and horſemen out of Meſopotamia, and out of Syria-maachah, and out of Zobah. † Heb. to ſtink.

7 So they hired thirty and two thouſand chariots b, and the king of Maachah and his people, who came and pitched before Medeba. And the children of Ammon gathered themſelves together from their cities, and came to battel.

b i. e. 32000 Men fighting from or with Chariots, as that word is elſewhere uſed: of which ſee my Notes on 1 Sam. 13. 5. And this Interpretation ſeems the more probable by comparing this place with 2 Sam. 10.6. where this Army is ſaid to conſiſt of 20000 footmen, and 12000 men of Iſhtob; which make up theſe 32000 men, who fought partly from Chariots, and partly on foot with Chariots, or attending upon the Chariots, as the ancient manner of fighting was. And here v. 6. this Army is made up of Chariots and Horſemen; where, except the chariots be underſtood of footmen, there were no footmen in the Army, which is unuſual and incredible.

8 And when David heard of it, he ſent Joab, and all the hoſt of the mighty men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battel in aray before the gate of the city: and the kings that were come, were by themſelves in the field.

10 Now when Joab ſaw that † the battel was ſet againſt him, before and behind, he choſe out of all the || choice of Iſrael, and put them in aray againſt the Aſſyrians. † Heb. the face of the battel was. || Or, young men.

11 And the reſt of the people he delivered unto the hand of † Abiſhai his brother, and they ſet themſelves in aray againſt the children of Ammon. † Heb. Abſhai.

12 And he ſaid, If the Syrians bee too ſtrong for me, then thou ſhalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too ſtrong for thee, then I will help thee.

13 Be of good courage, and let us behave our ſelves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God: and let the LORD do that which is good in his ſight.

14 So Joab and the people that were with him, drew nigh before the Syrians, unto the battel; and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon ſaw that the Syrians were fled, they likewiſe fled before Abiſhai his brother, and entred into the city. Then Joab came to Jeruſalem.

16 And when the Syrians ſaw that they were put to the worſe before Iſrael, they ſent meſſengers and drew forth the Syrians that were beyond the || river: and || Shophach, the captain of the hoſt of Hadarezer, went before them. || That is, Euphrates. || Or, Shobach, 2 Sam. 10. 16.

17 And it was told David, and he gathered all Iſrael, and paſſed over Jordan, and came upon them, and ſet the battel in aray againſt them, ſo when David had put the battel in aray againſt the Syrians, they fought with him.

18 But the Syrians fled before Iſrael, and David ſlew of the Syrians ſeven thouſand men, which fought in chariots, and forty thouſand footmen c, and killed Shophach the captain of the hoſt.

c How this agrees with 2 Sam. 10.18. ſee in the Notes on that place.

19 And when the ſervants of Hadarezer ſaw that they were put to the worſe before Iſrael, they made peace with David, and became his ſervants: neither would the Syrians help the children of Ammon any more.

Rabbah beſieged, ſpoiled, and tortured by David, 1——3. Three Giants ſlain, 4——8.

ANd * it came to paſs, that † after the year was expired, at the time that kings go out to battel, Joab led forth the power of the army, and waſted the country of the children of Ammon a, and came and beſieged Rabbah, (but David tarried at Jeruſalem) and Joab ſmote Rabbah, and deſtroyed it. * 2 Sam. 11.1. † Heb. at the return of the year.

David numbreth the people, 1——6. He repenteth: of three Judgments propounded, he chooſeth the Peſtilence: and why, 7——13. David, by God's direction, buildeth an Altar, and ſacrificeth: the Plague is ſtayed, 14——30.

AND * || Satan ſtood up a againſt Iſrael, and provoked David to number Iſrael.

* 2 Sam. 24.1,&c.
|| Or, an adverſary, Num. 22. 22,23.

a Heb. ſtood, to wit, before the Lord and his Tribunal to accuſe David and Iſrael, and to beg God's permiſſion to tempt David to number the People. Standing is the Accuſers poſture before Mens Tribunals; and conſequently the Holy Scripture (which uſeth to ſpeak of God, and of the things of God, after the manner of Men, to bring them down to our Capacities) elſewhere repreſents Satan in this poſture, as 1 Kings 22.21. *Zech.*3.1. And ſo this agrees with 2 Sam. 24.1. where the Lord is ſaid to move David, i. e. to give Satan Commiſſion or Permiſſion to move him; for otherwiſe God tempteth no man, James 1. 13. But of this, and of this whole Chapter, and of the Variations and ſeeming Contradictions between this Narrative and that in Samuel, ſee my Notes on 2 *Sam.*24.

2 And David ſaid to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, number Iſrael, from Beerſheba even to Dan; and bring the number of them to me, that I may know it.

3 And Joab anſwered, The LORD make his people an hundred times as many mo as they be: but my lord the king, are they not all my lords ſervants, why then doth my lord require this thing! why will he be † a cauſe of treſpaſs to Iſrael b.

† Heb. a treſpaſs. So Gr.

b Or, why will he be, or, why ſhould this be a treſpaſs, or a cauſe of treſpaſs, or an occaſion of puniſhment, (for Hebrew words ſignifying ſin are oft uſed to note the puniſhment of ſin:) or a deſolation, or a cauſe of deſolation or deſtruction (for the verb whence this noun proceeds is oft uſed in that ſenſe) to or againſt Iſrael? Why wilſt thou provoke God by this ſin to puniſh Iſrael? Thus he ſpeaks, becauſe God commonly puniſheth the People for the ſins of their Rulers, becauſe they are for the moſt part guilty of their ſins in one kind or other; or at leaſt God takes this occaſion to puniſh People for all their ſins.

4 Nevertheleſs, the kings word prevailed againſt Joab: wherefore Joab departed, and went throughout all Iſrael, and came to Jeruſalem.

5 And Joab gave the ſum of the number of the people unto David. And all they of Iſrael were a thouſand thouſand and one hundred thouſand men that drew ſword: and Judah was four hundred threeſcore and ten thouſand men that drew ſword.

6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them c; for the kings word was abominable to Joab.

c Partly for the following reaſon; and principally by Gods ſpecial and gracious Providence to theſe two Tribes, to Levi, becauſe they were devoted to his Service; and to Benjamin, becauſe they were the leaſt of all the Tribes, having been almoſt extinct, *Judg.*21. and becauſe God foreſaw that they would be faithful to the Houſe of David in the diviſion of the Tribes, and therefore he would not have them diminiſhed. And Joab preſumed to leave theſe two Tribes unnumbred, becauſe he had ſpecious pretences for it; for Levi, becauſe they were no Warriors, and the Kings Command reached only to thoſe that drew ſword, as appears from v. 5. And for Benjamin, becauſe they, being ſo ſmall a Tribe, and bordering upon Jeruſalem their chief City, might eaſily be numbred afterward.

7 † And God was diſpleaſed with this thing d, therefore he ſmote Iſrael e.

† Heb. and it was evil in the eyes of the LORD concerning this thing.

d Becauſe this was done without any colour of neceſſity, and out of meer Curioſity, and Oſtentation, and carnal Confidence, as Davids own Conſcience told him, which therefore ſmote him, as it is related, 2 Sam. 24.10. e Which is particularly related in the following verſes.

8 And David ſaid unto God, * I have ſinned greatly, becauſe I have done this thing; * but now I beſeech thee, do away the iniquity of thy ſervant, for I have done very fooliſhly.

* 2 Sam. 24.10.
*2 Sam.12. 13.

9 And the LORD ſpake unto Gad, Davids ſeer, ſaying,

10 Go, and tell David, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, I † offer thee three things, chuſe thee one of them that I may do it unto thee.

† Heb. ſtretch out.

11 So Gad came to David, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, † chuſe thee, † Heb. take to thee.

12 Either three years famine, or three months to be deſtroyed before thy foes, (while that the ſword of thine enemies overtaketh thee) or elſe three days the ſword of the LORD, even the peſtilence in the land, and the angel of the LORD deſtroying throughout all the coaſts of Iſrael. Now therefore adviſe thy ſelf, what word I ſhall bring again to him that ſent me.

13 And David ſaid unto Gad, I am in a great ſtrait: let me fall now into the hand of the LORD, (for very || great are his mercies) but let me not fall into the hand of man.

|| Or, many.

14 So the LORD ſent peſtilence upon Iſrael; and there fell of Iſrael ſeventy thouſand men.

15 And God ſent an * angel unto Jeruſalem to deſtroy it: and as he was deſtroying, the LORD beheld, and he repented him of the evil, and ſaid to the angel that deſtroyed, It is enough, ſtay now thine hand. And the Angel of the LORD ſtood by the threſhing-floor of || Ornan the Jebuſite.

2 Sam. 24. 16.
|| Or, Araunah, 2 Sam. 24.18.

16 And David lift up his eyes, and ſaw the angel of the LORD ſtand between the earth and the heaven, having a drawn ſword in his hand ſtretched out over Jeruſalem: then David and the elders of Iſrael, who were clothed in ſackcloth f, fell upon their faces.

f i. e. In mourning Garments, humbling themſelves before God for their Sins, and deprecating his Wrath againſt the People.

17 And David ſaid unto God, Is it not I that commanded the people to be numbred? even I it is that have ſinned and done evil indeed; but as for theſe ſheep what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, O LORD my God, be on me, and on my fathers houſe, but not on thy people, that they ſhould be plagued.

18 Then † the * angel of the LORD commanded Gad to ſay to David, that David ſhould go up and ſet up an altar unto the LORD, in the threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jebuſite.

† Heb. an angel.
* 2 Chr. 3.1.

19 And David went up at the ſaying of Gad, which he ſpake in the name of the LORD.

20 || And Ornan turned back, and ſaw the Angel; and his four ſons with him hid themſelves g. Now Ornan was threſhing wheat.

|| Or, when Ornan turned back and ſaw the angel, then he and his four ſons with him, hid themſelves.

g Or, And Ornan turned back (i. e. turned his face from the Angel) for or when (for the Hebrew vau is frequently uſed both thoſe ways) he ſaw the angel, and (ſo did) his four ſons with him hiding themſelves; partly becauſe of the Glory and Majeſty in which the Angel appeared, which mens weak and ſinful natures are not able to bear; and partly from the fear of Gods Vengeance which was at this time riding circuit in the Land, and now ſeemed to be coming to their Family.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and ſaw David, and went out of the threſhing-floor, and bowed himſelf to David with his face to the ground.

22 Then David ſaid to Ornan, † Grant me the place of this threſhing-floor, that I may build an altar therein unto the Lord: thou ſhalt grant it me for the full price, that the plague may be ſtayed from the people.

† Heb. give.

23 And Ornan ſaid unto David, Take it to thee, and let my Lord the King do that which is good in his eyes: lo, I give thee the oxen alſo for burnt-offerings, and the threſhing-inſtruments for wood, and the wheat for the meat-offering, I give it all.

24 And king David ſaid to Ornan, Nay, but I will verily buy it for the full price: for I will not take that which is thine for the LOLD, nor offer burnt-offerings without coſt.

25 So * David gave to Ornan for the place, ſix hundred Shekels of Gold by weight.

* 2 Sam. 24.24.

26 And David built there an Altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, and called upon the LORD; and he anſwered him from Heaven by fire h upon the Altar of burnt-offering.

h Heb. by fire ſent from Heaven: which was the ſign of Gods Acceptance. See Levit. 9.24. 1 King 18.24, 38. 2 Chron. 7. 1.

27 And the LORD commanded the Angel, and he put up his ſword again into the ſheaf thereof.

28 At that time, when David ſaw that the LORD had anſwered him in the threſhing-floor of Ornan the Jeſubite, then he ſacrificed there i.

i When he perceived that his Sacrifice there offered was acceptable ble to God, he proceeded to offer more Sacrifices in that place, and did not go to Gibeon, as otherwiſe he ſhould have done.

29 For the Tabernacle of the LORD which Moſes made in the Wilderneſs, and the altar of the burnt-offering were at that ſeaſon in the high place at * Gibeon.

* 1 King. 3. 4. Ch. 16. 39. 2 Chr. 1. 3.

30 But David could not k go before it l † to enquire of God m; for he was afraid becauſe of the ſword of the angel of the LORD n.

† Heb. to ſeek God, 2 Chr. 1. 5.

When he ſaw the Angel ſtand with his drawn ſword over Jeruſalem, as is related above, v. 15, 16. he durſt not go away thence to Gibeon, leaſt the Angel in the mean time ſhould deſtroy Jeruſalem; for the prevention whereof he thought it moſt proper to continue to worſhip God in that place, which he had conſecrated by his ſpecial Preſence and gracious acceptance.

CHAP. XXII.

David prepareth for the Building of the Temple, 1——5. Inſtructeth Solomon in God's Promiſes and his Duty, 6——16. he chargeth the Princes to aſſiſt his Son, 17——19.

* Deut. 12. 5. 2 Sam. 24. 18.

THen David ſaid a, * This is the houſe of the LORD God b, and this is the altar of burnt-offering for Iſrael.

a Partly by his obſervation of this gracious and glorious Appearance of God, and his command to erect an Altar and his Acceptance of a Sacrifice offered in this place: and partly by the Inſtinct and Direction of Gods Spirit, by which as he is ſaid to have had the pattern of the houſe, porch, Altar, &c. 1 Chron. 28. 11, 12, 19. ſo doubtleſs he was alſo inſtructed as to the place where the Houſe ſhould be built. b This is the place appointed by God for the building of his Temple and Altar.

2 And David commanded to gather together the ſtrangers that were in the Land of Iſrael c, and he ſet maſons to hew wrought ſtones d, to build the houſe of God.

c The ſame perſons whom Solomon afterwards employed in the ſame Work: of which ſee 1 Kings 5. 15. compared with 1 Kings 9. 20, 21. d Wherein he could not do much, being prevented by death: but Solomon carried on and perfected what David had begun.

3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates, and for the joynings e; and braſs in abundance without weight.

e To be uſed together with melted Lead, for the joyning of thoſe great and ſquare Stones together.

4 Alſo cedar-trees in abundance: for the Zidonians, and they of Tyre, brought much cedar-wood to David.

h. 29. 1.

5 And David ſaid f, * Solomon my Son is young and tender g, and the houſe that is to be built for the LORD, muſt be exceeding magnifical, of fame and of glory throughout all countries: I will therefore now make preparation for it. So David prepared abundantly before his death.

f Within himſelf, or in his own thoughts. g And therefore through youthful vanity and folly, and unſettledneſs, may not uſe that Care, and Conſideration, and Diligence in making ſuch Proviſions as this great Work requires. Of Solomons Age, ſee 1 Kings 3. 7.

6 Then he called for Solomon his Son, and charged him to build an houſe for the LORD God of Iſrael.

Sam. 7. 2. Deut. 12. 11.

7 And David ſaid to Solomon, My Son, as for me, * it was in my mind to build an houſe † unto the name of the LORD my God.

Ch. 28. 3. ing. 5. 3.

8 But the word of the LORD came to me, ſaying, * Thou haſt ſhed blood abundantly, and haſt made great wars: thou ſhalt not build an houſe unto my name, becauſe thou haſt ſhed much blood upon the Earth h in my ſight i.

h Not that Wars either now are or then were ſimply Unlawful, or that David ſinned in ſhedding the Blood of War; for it is manifeſt, that Davids Wars were undertaken by Gods command, or with his Leave, and were attended with his Bleſſing; but partly becauſe Davids Military Employments did for a good while fill his Head and Hands, and gave him no leiſure for Temple-work: and principally for myſtical Signification, to teach us that the Church (whereof the Temple was a manifeſt and illuſtrious Type) ſhould be built by Chriſt, the Prince of Peace, Iſa. 9. 6. and that it ſhould be gathered and built up, not by might or power, or by force of Arms, but by Gods Spirit, Zech. 4. 6. and by the preaching the Goſpel of Peace. i Which I have taken particular notice of. And this expreſſion may poſſibly be added in reference to Uriah and the reſt of the Iſraelites, who were ſlain at the Siege of Rabbah by Davids contrivance; which peradventure David had in his Eye, Pſal. 51. 4. where David confeſſing this Sin, uſeth this very Expreſſion, I have done this Evil in thy ſight.

9 Behold, a ſon ſhall be born to thee, who ſhall be a Man of reſt, and I will give him reſt from all his enemies round about: for his name ſhall be || Solomon, and I will give peace and quietneſs unto Iſrael in his days.

|| hat is, eable.

10 * He ſhall build an houſe for my name, and he ſhall be my ſon, and I will be his Father, and I will eſtabliſh the throne of his Kingdom over Iſrael for ever k.

* 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Kin. 5. 5. Ch. 17. 12, 13.

k Of this ſee my Notes on 2 Sam. 7. 13.

11 Now my Son, the LOBD be with thee, and proſper thou l, and build the houſe of the LORD thy God, as he hath ſaid of thee.

l Go on proſperouſly in carrying on this Work. Or, the Lord give thee that Reſt and Proſperity which is neceſſary for it.

12 Only the LORD give thee wiſdom and underſtanding; and give thee charge concerning Iſrael m, that thou mayeſt keep the Law of the Lord thy God.

m i. e. Give thee Inſtructions or Direction rightly to manage and rule his People Iſrael. Or, and ſet thee over Iſrael, as the Syriack renders it, whom the Arabick follows: Or when (as the Hebrew vau is oft uſed) he ſhall ſet thee over Iſrael, i. e. when thou ſhalt be King; for then Solomon would need this Wiſdom, for which therefore he Prayeth, 1 King. 3. 9.

13 Then ſhalt thou proſper, if thou takeſt heed to fulfil the ſtatutes and judgments which the LORD charged Moſes with concerning Iſrael. Be ſtrong, and of good courage, dread not, nor be diſmayed.

14 Now behold, || in my trouble n I have prepared for the houſe of the LORD, an hundred thouſand talents of Gold o, and a thouſand thouſand talents of Silver p; and of braſs, and iron, without * weight: (for it is in abundance) timber alſo and ſtone have I prepared, and thou mayeſt add thereto.

|| Or, in my poverty.

n This he alledgeth as a reaſon why he could do no more, becauſe of the many Troubles and Wars both Forreign and Civil, whereby much of his Treaſures was exhauſted. o A Talent of Cold in the firſt conſtitution was 3000 Shekels, as may be gathered from Exod. 38. 24, 25, 26. and ſo this amounts to a very vaſt Sum, yet not impoſſible for David to get, conſidering how many and great Conqueſts he made, and what vaſt Spoils and Preſents he got; and that he endeavoured by all juſt and honourable ways to get as much as he could, not out of Covetouſneſs, or for his own Ends, but meerly out of Zeal for Gods houſe. And whereas ſome object, that this quantity of Gold and Silver was ſufficient, tho the whole Fabrick of the Temple had conſiſted of Maſſy Gold and Silver: it is to be conſidered, that all this Treaſure was not ſpent upon the Materials of the Temple, but a very great part of it upon the Workmen, which were nigh 200000, whereof a great number were Officers, which being employed for ſo long time together, would exhauſt a conſiderable part of it; and what was not employed in the building of the Temple, was laid up in the Sacred Treaſures for future occaſions, there being mention of the great Treaſures left by David, even in other Authors. But ſome Learned Men make theſe Talents far leſs than thoſe in Moſes his time; and they conceive, that as there were two ſorts of Shekels both of Gold and Silver, the common and the ſacred Shekel, whereof the latter is commonly thought to be double to the former, ſo alſo there were Talents of divers kinds and values. For the Hebrew word kikkar, which is rendred a Talent, properly ſignifies only a Maſs or a Piece, as it is uſed, Exod. 29. 23. 1 Sam. 2. 36. Zech. 5. 7. So it may indifferently denote either a greater or a leſſer piece. And this is certain, and obſerved by two Ancient and moſt Learned Writers, Varro and Pollux, and by others, that a Talent among the Greeks and Romans ſometimes notes but a ſmall quantity: and that a Talent of Gold contains only ſix drams. And Homer in his Iliads, among other things of no great value, which are propounded as Rewards to the Conquerour at a ſolemn and publick Exerciſe, a Bondwoman, an Horſe and a Pot, mentions two Talents of Gold; which plainly ſhews that in his Time (which was after the Building of this Temple) Talents of Gold were very far inferiour in quantity and price to what they had been in former Ages. And Joſephus a Jew, and therefore the more competent judge of theſe things, ſpeaking of this very thing for 100000 Talents of Gold here mentioned, he puts 10000, and for 1000000 Talents of Silver he puts 100000; either becauſe the Talents in Moſes his time were of ten times more bulk and price than in Davids and Solomons time, and therefore theſe Talents reduced to them amounted to no greater Sum; or becauſe he read ſo in his Copy of the Hebrew Bible. And certainly it is infinitely more tolerable, and reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that there is a miſtake here in the generality of the preſent Copies of the Hebrew Bible, through the Errour of the Scribe, (which being only in a Numeral and Hiſtorical Paſſage, might happen without Impeachment to the Care of Gods Providence, which hath ſo miraculouſly preſerved all the moſt Important and Subſtantial parts of Scripture, as hath been formerly ſaid) than upon ſuch Pretences to deny the Truth and Divine Original and Authority of the Holy Scriptures. Add to this, that all the Gold then uſed was not of equal worth and purity; as appears both by the ſpecial Commendation given to ſome ſorts of Gold in divers parts of Scripture, and particularly by the difference obſerved in this very Hiſtory between the Gold and Gold which David gave for this uſe; whereof one little part being diſtinctively called pure Gold and refined Gold, 1 Chron. 28. 17, 18. it is ſufficiently implied, that all the reſt of the Gold was not refined nor pure, which might greatly diminiſh the Worth of it; for in what degree it was impure or allayed with other things in thoſe Times and Places we cannot know at this Diſtance: and therefore we cannot make a true Eſtimate what thoſe Talents of Gold did amount to in our Value. p Juſt as much in Silver as in Gold; for this is known and agreed, that the Proportion of Gold to Silver is Ten to One.

15 Moreover, there are Workmen with thee in abundance, hewers, and || workers of ſtone and timber, and all manner of cunning Men for every manner of work.

|| That is, maſons and carpenters.

16 Of the gold, the ſilver and the braſs, and the iron there is no number. Ariſe therefore, and be doing q, and the LORD be with thee.

q To wit, when thou ſhalt come to the Throne in my ſtead.

17 David alſo commanded all the princes of Iſrael to help Solomon his Son, ſaying,

18. Is not the LORD your God with you? and hath he not given you reſt on every ſide? for he hath given the Inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is ſubdued before the LORD, and before his people r.

r Either 1. It is brought under the command of God and of you his people, all the enemies of God and of Iſrael, in it or near it, being now perfectly ſubdued. Or, 2 It is really ſubdued, whereof both God and your own Eyes are Witneſſes.

19 Now ſet your heart and your ſoul to ſeek the LORD your God: ariſe therefore, and build ye the ſanctuary of the LORD God, to bring the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and the holy veſſels of God, into the houſe that is to be built to the name of the LORD.

CHAP. XXIII.

David maketh Solomon King, 1. The number and diſtribution of the Levites, according to their families, 2——23. Their Office, 24——32.

* 1 King. 1. 33. 39. Ch. 28. 5.

SO when David was old and full of days, he made * Solomon his ſon king over Iſrael a.

a Not that he did reſign the Kingdom to him, but that he declared his mind concerning his Succeſſion into the Throne after his death. As David himſelf is called King, 1 Sam. 16. 1. becauſe he was appointed and anointed to be King after Saul's death, though till then he was only a Subject.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Iſrael, with the Prieſts and the Levites b.

b Partly to declare God's Mind and his own Will, that Solomon ſhould be his Succeſſor; and ſo to cut off the claims and pretences which others of his Sons might make to the Crown: and partly to acquaint them with thoſe Directions which he had received from God by the Spirit, as appears from ch. 28. 11. &c. concerning the Eſtabliſhment of a new order and method in the Miniſtration of the Prieſts and Levites in the Temple.

* Numb. 4. 3.

3 Now the Levites were numbred from the age of * thirty years and upward c: and their numbers by their polls, man by man, was thirty and eight thouſand.

c Not only till fifty, as it was appointed, Numb. 4. 2, 3. but even till their death: For that was but a Temporary Law grounded upon a ſpecial reaſon, becauſe the Levites were employed in carrying the Tabernacle and Sacred veſſels from place to place; and therefore God would have them freed from thoſe burdens when they came to feel the infirmities of Age: Which Reaſon wholly ceaſing upon the Building of the Temple, and their Work being far eaſier than it had been, and their Service being more a Privilege than a Burden, their time of Service is juſtly and fitly prolonged.

|| Or, or to overſee. * Deut. 16. 18.

4 Of which, twenty and four thouſand were || to ſet forward the work of the houſe of the LORD d: and ſix thouſand were * officers and judges e.

d i.e. To take care that all the Work of the Temple about Sacrifices and other parts or means of Gods Service ſhould be punctually and diligently performed, either by themſelves or others: Which they were not to do all at once, but by courſes, 1000 at a time, as we ſhall ſhortly ſee. e Whoſe Work it ſeems to have been to judge of, and determine all difficult Cauſes or differences which might ariſe either among the inferiour Prieſts or Levites about their Sacred Adminiſtrations; or among the People, which being governed in all their Concerns only by the Laws of Moſes, it was fit and neceſſary, that the Prieſts and Levites ſhould be conſulted and concerned in their matters.

5 Moreover, four thouſand were porters f, and four thouſand praiſed the LORD with inſtruments g which I made (ſaid David) to praiſe therewith.

f Whoſe Office was to take the Charge of all the Gates of the Temple and its Courts, that no forbidden or unclean Perſon might enter there, and of the Courts themſelves, and of ſeveral Chambers or Buildings belonging to the Temple and the Service thereof. m Not poſitively; for ſo he could not ſanctifie them, they being already ſanctified by God in the higheſt degree; but negatively, i. e. that he might keep them from Pollution: For theſe moſt holy things were polluted when they were touched by any other perſons. n Not only his eldeſt Sons the High-prieſts ſucceſſively, but all his Poſterity or all the Prieſts; for the Works here following were not peculiar to the High-prieſt, but common to all the Prieſts, who might all burn Incenſe, 2 Chron. 29. 11. Luke 1. 9. and to miniſter in the Temple, and to bleſs the People in Gods name, Numb. 6. 23. Deut. 10. 8.

14 Now concerning Moſes the man of God, his ſons were named of the Tribe of Levi n.

n i. e. They were accounted only as common Levites, and were not Prieſts: which is mentioned partly to ſecure the Prieſthood within the bounds to which God had confined it, leſt they ſhould preſume to invade it upon a confidence in the Nobleneſs of their Extraction: and partly for the honour of Moſes, and the demonſtration of his eminent Piety and Self-denial, who willingly left the Government to Joſhua, and the Prieſthood to Aaron, and was content to have his Poſterity reduced to a very private and mean condition.

24 Theſe were the ſons of * Levi, after the houſe of their fathers; even the chief of the fathers, as they were counted by number of names by their polls, that did the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, from the age of * twenty years q and upward.

q As the Levites were anciently numbred from two ſeveral times, from the 25th year of their Age, and from the 30th Numb. 4. 3. & 8. 24. In like manner and for the ſame Reaſons they are here numbred both from their 20th year, as here, when they were more ſolemnly prepared for, and inſtructed, and by degrees exerciſed in ſome parts of their Work; and from their 30th year, above v. 3. when they were admitted to the full and compleat Exerciſe of all the Parts and Works of their Office. And the reaſon why they were now ſooner admitted to Service than they had been formerly by the Conſtitution of Moſes, is given in the next verſes, becauſe now their Work was more eaſie, they being wholly diſcharged from that burdenſome Work of carrying the Tabernacle and its Utenſils, which was too heavy for young and tender Shoulders. To which may be added, that the number of the Iſraelites were greatly increaſed, and conſequently the Services which were to be performed by the Levites on their behalf were multiplied, and the Work of the Temple was much greater than that of the Tabernacle, and therefore more of the Levites were to be employed, and conſequently they were to be ſooner taken into Service.

s By his laſt Order and Conſtitution made by Gods direction and by the Spirit, as hath been once and again noted and proved before. This is here added to ſignifie, that this great Affair was thus ſettled by David, not in his younger years, when it might have been thought to have the effect of youthful Heat, and Confidence, and Preſumption, and Raſhneſs, but when he was come to the greateſt Maturity, when he was old and near his death, and going to give up his Account to his Lord and Maker, of all his Actions, and particularly of the Alterations which he made in the Service of God; which he declared was done by the Spirit of God. Theſe were in a manner his dying words, which uſually make the deepeſt impreſſions.

28 Becauſe † their office was to wait on the ſons of Aaron, for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, in the courts, and in the chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things t, and the work of the ſervice of the houſe of God.

The Prieſts are divided by Lot into 24 Orders, 1——19. Miniſters allotted them out of the Levites, out of the Tribe of the Kohathites and Merarites, 20——31.

c Or, courſes: or, prefectures, i. e. Allotting to each of them ſeveral times wherein they or theirs ſhould by turns have the Government of Holy Miniſtrations in the Temple Service.

4 And there were moe chief men found of the ſons of Eleazar, than of the ſons of Ithamar, and thus were they divided. Among the ſons of Eleazar there were ſixteen chief men of the houſe of their fathers, and eight among the ſons of Ithamar, according to the houſe of their fathers.

5 Thus were they divided by lot d, one ſort with another; for † the governours of the ſanctuary, and governours of the houſe of God e, were of the ſons of Eleazar, and of the ſons of Ithamar.

6 And Shemajah the ſon of Nathaneel the ſcribe, one of the Levites, wrote them before the king, and the princes, and Zadok the prieſt, and Ahimelech the ſon of Abiathar, and before the chief of the fathers of the Prieſts and Levites: one † principal houſhold being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar f.

The meaning is, that the firſt Lot fell to Eleazar, and the ſecond to Ithamar; and the third to Eleazar, and the fourth to Ithamar; and ſo ſucceſſively, until all the families of Ithamar had received their Lots: And afterwards all the Lots came forth to the reſt of Eleazars Families, which were double in number to thoſe of Ithamar, as was ſaid *v.*4.

|| Or, Eb aſaph, Ch.6.37. & 9.19.

COncerning the diviſions of the porters ||: Of the Korhites was || Meſhelemiah the ſon of Kore, of the ſons of || Aſaph a.

a Not that famous Aſaph the Singer, but another Aſaph called alſo Ebiaſaph, ch. 6. 37.

2 And the ſons of Meſhelemiah were, Zechariah the firſt-born, Jediael the ſecond, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth,

3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the ſixth, Elioenai the ſeventh;

4 Moreover, the ſons of Obed-edom were, Shemajah the firſt-born, Jehozabad the ſecond, Joab the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Nethaneel the fifth:

5 Ammiel the ſixth, Iſſachar the ſeventh, Peulthai the eighth: for God bleſſed || him b.

b To wit, with a numerous Poſterity and other Bleſſings, for his Reſpect and Affection to the Ark. See 2 Sam. 6. 11.

6 Alſo unto Shemajah his ſon were two ſons born, that ruled throughout the houſe of their fathers c: for they were mighty men of valour d.

c That had the command of their Brethren and Families, being, as ſome ſay, Captains of Hundreds or of thouſands: of which ſee Exod. 18. 25. 2 King. 11. 9. d This clauſe is divers times mentioned, becauſe their Office required both Strength and Courage: for they were to ſhut the Doors of the Temple, one whereof was ſo great and weighty, that in the ſecond Temple it required the help of twenty Men to open and ſhut it, as Joſephus an Eye-witneſs reports. They were alſo to keep the Guard, and to keep out all unclean or forbidden Perſons who might ſometimes preſumptuouſly attempt to enter into the Temple, as Uzziah did, and to prevent or ſuppreſs any Tumults or Diſorders which might happen in the Temple or in its Courts, and to keep the Treaſures of the Temple, v. 20, 22, 24, 26. and to be Officers and Judges over Iſrael, v. 29. and to manage every matter pertaining to God, and the affairs of the King, v. 32.

7 The ſons of Shemajah; Othni, and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad, whoſe brethren were † ſtrong men; Elihu and Semachiah.

8 All theſe of the ſons of Obed-edom: they, and their ſons and their brethren, able men for ſtrength for the ſervice, were threeſcore and two of Obed edom.

9 And Meſhelemiah had ſons and brethren, ſtrong men, eighteen.

10 Alſo * Hoſah of the children of Merari, had ſons; Simri the chief, (for though he was not the firſt-born, yet his Father made him the chief e.)

e Taking away the Birth-right from the Firſt-born, either abſolutely for ſome groſs Miſcarriage, as Gen. 49. 4. or only in this reſpect, becauſe he wanted either Strength or valour, or ſome other Qualification neceſſary for his Office.

11 Hilkiah the ſecond, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the ſons and brethren of Hoſah were thirteen.

12 Among theſe were the diviſions of the porters, even among the chief men, having wards one againſt another f, to miniſter in the houſe of the LORD.

f Heb. having wards againſt or anſwerably to their Brethren, to wit, the other Levites, who were divided into 24 Courſes, as the Prieſts alſo were, and ſo, it ſeems were the Porters.

13 And they caſt lots ‖ as well the ſmall as the great g, according to the houſe of their fathers h, for every gate i.

g Determining the times and places of their Service not by Age or Dignity but meerly by Lot. h A ſeveral Lot being allowed for each ſeveral houſe. i That it might be known to whom the Care of each Gate was more eſpecially committed.

14 And the lot Eaſtward fell to ‖ Shelemiah; then for Zechariah his ſon (a wiſe counſeller k) they caſt lots, and his lot came out northward.

k Which is noted as an excellent and uſeful accompliſhment for his Office, in which there was need of Wiſdom as well as Courage, as may appear by the deſcription of their Work, v. 20. &c. See the Note on v. 6.

15 To Obed-edom ſouthward, and to his ſons, the houſe of † Aſuppim l.

l A Place ſo called: or of gatherings, ſo named either from the Aſſembly of the elders, who met there to conſult about the Affairs of the Temple: or from the People who were there gathered together, to hear the Diſcourſes and Debates of the Teachers of the Law: or becauſe the Gifts of the People towards the Houſe and Worſhip of God were kept there. See 2 Kings 22. 4. 2 *Chr.*25. 24.

16 To Shuppim and Hoſah m, the lot came forth weſtward, with ‖ the gate Shallecheth n, by the cauſey of the going ‖ up o, ward againſt ward p.

m Who for ſome reaſon were joyned together in the Cuſtody of that Gate. n. A Gate of the Court ſo called, as ſome think, becauſe the Aſhes and filth of the Temple were caſt out on that ſide, which was the moſt convenient Gate for that purpoſe, becauſe that was a private Quarter, the great Ways to the Temple lying on the other ſides. o By which Cauſey they went up towards the Temple. p Which may reſpect either 1. The time of their Watching, that when one Guard went off, another came on. Or rather, 2. the place of their Guard: and ſo this may be underſtood, either 1. of this Weſtern Quarter, where there was a double Guard, either becauſe there were two gates there, as ſome think, or for ſome other cauſe now unknown. Or rather, 2. of all the Quarters compared together; of all which having ſpoken, he adds this, That as one gate was overagainſt another, the Weſt againſt the Eaſt, and the North againſt the South, ſo one Ward was over againſt another.

17 Eaſtward were ſix Levites q, north-ward four a day, ſouthward four a day, and toward Aſuppim r two and two.

q For that being the chief Gate of the Temple required a better Guard. r i. e. The houſe of Aſuppim, as it is called v. 15. where alſo it is ſaid to be on the South-ſide; on which there ſeems to have been a double Guard both belonging to Obed-edom, v. 15. one at the South-gate, and the other at Aſuppim; where poſſibly the Sacred Treaſures mentioned v. 20. &c. were lay'd up, and therefore a particular Guard was neceſſary. See on v. 15.

18 At Parbar s weſtward, four at the cauſey t, and two at Parbar u.

s Or, As concerning Parbar, which was another Gate, or ſome building on the Weſtern Quarter of the Temple. t Which led to Parbar. u at the Gate or Houſe it ſelf; by which it may ſeem, that this was a place of ſome importance, either the veſſels of the Temple, or ſome part of the Treaſures of God's Houſe, being kept here.

19 Theſe are the diviſions of the porters among the ſons of Kore, and among the ſons of Merari.

20 And of the Levites, Ahijah was over * the treaſures of the houſe of God, and over the treaſures of the † dedicate things x.

* Mal. 3. 10.
† Heb. holy things.

x Either theſe are the ſame kind of Treaſures, the latter phraſe only explaining the former, the particle and being uſed for that is: or rather they are two different kinds of Treaſures, the former containing the Sacred Veſſels and other Treaſures, which by God's Command were appropriated to the Maintenance of the Houſe, and Worſhip, and Miniſters of God, as Tithes and Firſt-fruits, and other things; and the latter only thoſe things which had been freely given or dedicated to God for thoſe Ends; of which ſee v. 26, 27.

21 As concerning the ſons of ‖ Laadan: the ſons of the Gerſhonite Laadan, chief fathers y, even of Laadan the Gerſhonite were, ‖ Jehieli z.

‖ or, Libni, Ch. 6. 17.
‖Or Jehiel, Ch. 23. 8.

y i. e. Which ſons were Chief Fathers, or Heads of the Houſes of their Fathers. z Underſtand here, and his ſons, which here follow.

22 The ſons of Jehieli; Zetham, and Joel his brother, which were over the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD a.

a As Shelomith and his Brethren were over the Treaſures of the dedicated things, v. 26. But both may ſeem to have been ſubject and accountable to Abijah, who was over both theſe kinds of Treaſures, v. 20. Or Abijah might have a general overſight into the Management of thoſe Treaſures as an Auditour of the Accounts, although the others had more dignity and power in the diſpoſal of them.

23 Of the Amramite, and the Izharite, the Hebronite, and the Uzzielite b b Or, As concerning the Amramite, &c. The meaning is, The perſons here following were of theſe, or the moſt of theſe Families. Only here is none of the Family of the Uzzielites; either becauſe that Family was now extinct; whence it is that we read no more of them in the Scripture, but only in this place, and Numb. 3. 27. or becauſe there was none of them fit to be employ'd and truſted in theſe Matters.

24 And * Shebuel the Son of Gerſhom, the ſon of Moſes, was ruler of the treaſures c.

* Ch. 23. 16.

c The Prince or Chief over all the Treaſures, and Treaſures mentioned either before or afterward, as his very Title ſhews, which is peculiarly given to him and to none of the reſt.

25 And his brethren by Eliezer d; Rehabiah his ſon, and Jeſhajah his ſon, and Joram his ſon, and Zichri his ſon, and * Shelomith his ſon:

* Ch. 23. 18.

d Another Son of Moſes, Exod. 18. 4.

26 Which Shelomith and his brethren, were over all the treaſures of the dedicate things, which David the king, and the chief fathers, the Captains over thouſands and hundreds, and the Captains of the hoſt had dedicated.

27 † Out of the ſpoils won in battels, did they dedicate to † maintain e the houſe of the LORD.

† Heb. out of the battels and ſpoils.

e Heb. To ſtrengthen it, either to make that building ſtrong and ſubſtantial by theſe and other charges: or rather to repair it when it ſhould be built; for which they might the rather take particular Care, becauſe it was likely, that every one would contribute to the building of the Temple, and there would be no want for that uſe; but few would provide for the Repairs of it, when by the Injury of Men or time, it ſhould receive any damage.

28 And all that Samuel the * Seer, and Saul the ſon of Kiſh, and Abner the ſon of Ner, and Joab the ſon of Zerujah had dedicated, and whoſoever had dedicated any thing, it was under the hand of Shelomith f, and of his brethren.

* 1 Sam. 9. 9.

f Who is particularly named here, and v. 26. becauſe they were chiefly committed to his Truſt, he being, it ſeems, a Perſon of Eminent Wiſdom and Faithfulneſs.

29 Of the Izharite, Chenaniah and his ſons g were for the outward buſineſs h over Iſrael i for Officers and judges k.

g Who are probably thought to have been 1600, for that Sum added to the 1700, v. 30, and the 2700, v. 32. make up thoſe 6000 Levites which were Officers and Judges, 1 Chron. 23. 4. h For that buſineſs of the Lord and of the King (as it is explained here, v. 30, 32.) which was to be done without the Temple and without Jeruſalem; for what was to be done within them was committed to other hands, as we have ſeen. i Synecdochically, i. e. over part of Iſrael, even over the Midland part, and that which lay upon the Sea-Coaſt: for the other parts of the Land on both ſides of Jordan are here committed to others, v. 30, 31, 32. k Who ſhall be Officers and Judges over the People, in the ſeveral Cities and Towns or Parts of the Land, to determine Queſtions and Controverſies which might ariſe among them. And the reaſon why the Levites were intruſted with theſe matters was, becauſe the Common or Municipal Law of Iſrael, by which they had and held all their Rights, was no other than the Law of God, whereof the Prieſts and Levites being the beſt and eſtabliſhed Interpreters, muſt needs therefore be the moſt proper Judges of things depending thereupon.

30 And of the Hebronite, Haſhabiah and his brethren, men of valour, a thouſand and ſeven hundred were † officers, among them of Iſrael on this ſide Jordan weſtward l, in all buſineſs of the LORD m, and in the ſervice of the king n.

l In thoſe parts of the Land of Canaan which border upon Jordan, or are not very remote from it. m i. e. In all things which did or ſhould concern the Houſe or Worſhip of God; partly to take care that ſuch Monies as were either impoſed by a Tax or freely given by the People, towards the building or repairing of the Temple, or towards the Sacrifices and other Holy Miniſtrations ſhould be gathered and received, and faithfully ſent up to Jeruſalem to be employed in that Work; partly to ſee to the Execution of all the Laws of God among the People, and to reſtrain or puniſh wilful Offenders againſt it. n Not that all the Kings Buſineſſes were managed by them; for it is apparent, both from the nature of the thing and from Scripture, that the King's Military Affairs were managed by his Captains, and his Political or Civil Affairs were managed by the Princes and Judges, and Officers of other Tribes: but becauſe they ſerved the King in the Execution of his Decrees, made perſuantly to the Laws of God, by which the ſeveral Rights of King and People were eſtabliſhed, and all things both in Church and Commonwealth were to be ordered. Now as the King was the Principal Perſon intruſted with the Execution of Gods Laws, ſo theſe Levites chiefly were his Eyes by which he ſaw his Peoples Tranſgreſſions, and his Hands by which he inflicted due and deſerved Cenſures upon them for their Miſcarriages. And the doing of this was very much for the ſervice of the King, whoſe Throne was eſtabliſhed and ſecured by ſuch Righteous Adminiſtrations. Beſides, they were to take care by their Counſel and Authority to keep the People in Obedience to their King; which the Levites were moſt obliged and beſt obliged to do.

* Ch. 23. 19.

31 Among the Hebronites was * Jerijah the chief, even among the Hebronites, according to the generations of his fathers. In the fortieth year n of the reign of David, they were ſought for, and there were found among them mighty men of valour, at Jazer of Gilead o.

n Which was his laſt year, in which he made all the Orders and diſtributions of Families and Offices recorded in theſe Chapters. o Which place is here named, either becauſe they were ſeated in or near that place, but for what cauſe it is now unknown: or becauſe they were numbred there by ſome Perſon ſent by David to that purpoſe.

† Heb. things. 2 Chr. 19. 11.

32 And his brethren men of valour, were two thouſand and ſeven hundred p chief fathers, whom king David made rulers over the Reubenite, the Gadite, and the half tribe of Manaſſeh, for every matter pertaining to God, and † affairs of the king.

p Which is a very great number to be employed about two Tribes and an half; when all the reſt of the Tribes had only 1700, v. 30. beſides thoſe under Chenaniah; of whom ſee on v. 29. But the reaſon hereof is plain, becauſe the Tribes without Jordan being more remote from the Kings Court, and from the place of publick and ſolemn Worſhip, needed more than ordinary help to inſtruct and keep them in the Practiſe of the True Religion and the Worſhip of God, and in Obedience to their King.

C H A P. XXVII.

The 12 Captains for every ſeveral Month, 1——15. The Princes of the 12 Tribes, 16——22. The chief keepers of David's Treaſures, 25——31. His Counſellors and Friends, 32——34.

NOW the Children of Iſrael after their number, to wit, the chief fathers and captains of thouſands and hundreds, and their officers a that ſerved the king in any matter of the courſes b, which came in and went out c month by month d, throughout all the months of the year, of every courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

a The ſtanding Force or Militia of Iſrael as it was ſettled under their ſeveral Officers, as it here follows. b i. e. In all the buſineſs wherein the King had occaſion for theſe Perſons who were to attend upon him or his Commands, by courſes or by turns. Or, according to all the order or ſtate of the diviſions, or, about the Companies or Courſes into which they were deſtributed. c i. e. Executed their Office: which is commonly ſignified by this Phraſe, as Numb. 27. 17. and elſewhere. d Who were to be Armed and Muſtered, and to wait upon the King, either at Jeruſalem or in other places, as the King ſhould ſee fit. By this order near 300000 of his People were Inſtructed and Exerciſed in the uſe of their Arms, and fitted for the defence of their King and Kingdom when it ſhould be needful, and in the mean time ſufficient Proviſion was made againſt any ſudden Tumults or Irruptions of Enemies. And this monthly Courſe was contrived that the Burden of it might be eaſy and equally diſtributed among the People.

2 Over the firſt courſe for the firſt month, was Jaſhobeam e the ſon of Zabdiel: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

e Of whom ſee 2 Sam. 23. 8. and 1 Chron. 11. 11.

3 Of the children of Perez f, was the chief of all the Captains of the Hoſt for the firſt month.

f Or, of Pharez, of the Poſterity of Judah, Gen. 46. 12. This ſeems to be underſtood of Jaſhobeam, and to be mentioned as a reaſon why he was the chief, &c. and the verſe may be rendred thus, He was (which is eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing words) of the children of Perez (and conſequently of the Tribe of Judah, to which the Pre-eminence belonged, and of which Judah was) and he was (or, therefore he was) the chief, (to wit, in Dignity and Precedency, though not in Power and Authority, for theſe Captains were equal in Power, and Joab was their General) of all the Captains of the Hoſt (whoſe ſeveral Names here follow) and was for the firſt month; therefore he was firſt in Order, and was Captain for the firſt month.

4 And over the courſe of the ſecond month, was ‖ Dodai an Ahohite, and of his courſe was Mikloth alſo the ruler g: in his courſe likewiſe were twenty and four thouſand.

‖ Or, Do 2 Sam. 2 9.

g Who was either 1. the Captain of this Courſe after the death of this Dodai, as Zebadiah was after Aſahel, v. 7. But the differing Phraſe there and here ſufficiently intimates, that the ſame thing is not meant in both places. Or, 2. His Lieutenant or Deputy in caſe of his neceſſary Abſence. But why ſhould ſuch an one be named here and not in the reſt of the Courſes? Or rather 3. One of the Officers of his Courſe; who ſeems here particularly to be named as a Perſon then of great Note and Eminency.

5 The third captain of the hoſt for the third month, was Benaiah the ſon of Jehojada a ‖ chief prieſt h: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

‖ Or, prin cipal Offi cer.

h Or, The chief Prieſt. Or rather, a chief Prince, as this Hebrew Word is oft uſed, as Gen. 41. 45. & 47. 22. 2 Sam. 8. 18. & 20. 26. 1 King. 4. 5. 2 King. 10 11. and elſewhere. Probably he was not only a Captain of this Courſe, but a great Officer in the Court and State. For although the Prieſts might take up Arms in ſome ſpecial Caſes; yet it is not likely, that ſuch were conſtant Officers in the Kings Army, eſpecially ſeeing the reſt of the Captains here named, were of other Tribes. Beſides, neither Benajah nor Jehojadah was High-Prieſt at that time, but Zadok or Abiathar, and before them Abimelech, in whom the Prieſthood had been for a long time together, even in the days of Samuel and Saul, and David, and Solomon.

* 2 Sa 23. 2 23. Ch. 11. 22.

6 This is that Benajah, who was * mighty among the thirty, and above the thirty: and in his courſe was Ammizabad his ſon i.

i Who ſeems to have been his Fathers Lieutenant, becauſe his Father was Captain of the Kings Guard, 2 Sam. 8. 18. and therefore needed a Deputy in the one or in the other place.

* 2 S 23. 2 Ch. 11

7 The fourth captain for the fourth month, was * Aſahel the brother of Joab k, and Zebadiah his ſon after him l: and in his m courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

k By which, it ſeems, the Foundation of this Project was laid whilſt David was in Hebron, during which time Aſahel was Slain, and Davids Forces were then divided into 24 Courſes under 24 Chief Commanders, whereof Aſahel was one; only it is probable that the number of their Forces was much leſs than that which is here mentioned: But when David was fully ſettled in his whole Kingdom, the deſign was perfected, and the numbers of their Souldiers increaſed to this Number. l i. e. After his death; of which ſee 2 Sam. 2. 23. m Not Aſahels, for in his time they were not ſo numerous, but Zebadiah his Son.

8 The fifth captain for the fifth month, was Shamhuth n the Izrahite: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

n Suppoſed to be the ſame called Shammah, 2 Sam. 23. 11. and Shammoth, 1 Chron. 11. 27.

* Ch. 1 28.

9 The ſixth captain for the ſixth month, was * Ira the ſon of Ikkeſh the Tekoite: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

10 The ſeventh captain for the ſeventh month, was Helez the Pelonite o, of the children of Ephraim: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

o So called alſo 1 Chron. 11. 27. and the Paltite, 2. Sam. 23. 26.

* 2 Sam 18.

11 The eghth captain for the eighth month, was * Sibbecai the Huſhathite, of the Zarhites p: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

p Of the Family of the Zarhites.

12 The ninth captain for the ninth month, was Abiezer the Anetothite, of the Benjamites: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

13 The tenth captain for the tenth month, was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

‖ Or, Hel Ch. 11.

14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month, was Benajah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

15 The twelfth captain for the the twelfth month, was ‖ Heldai the Netophathite of Othniel: and in his courſe were twenty and four thouſand.

16 Furthermore, over the children of Iſrael q: the ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer the ſon of Zichri: of the Simeonites, Shephatiah the ſon of Maacha.

* Ch. 2 30. † Heb. on.

q i. e. Theſe were the Princes of the Tribes, as they are called below, v. 22. who were the moſt ancient and conſtant Rulers of the Tribes at all times, whether of War or Peace; who ſeem to have had a ſuperiour Power to theſe 24 Captains, and therefore are named before them, ch. 28. 1. being probably the Kings chief Counſellors and Aſſiſtants in the great Affairs of his Kingdom.

17 Of the Levites, * Haſhabiah the ſon of Kemuel: † of the Aaronites, Zadok:

18 Of Judah, Elihu r, one of the brethren of David: of Iſſachar, Omri the ſon of Michael:

r Called alſo Eliab, 1 Sam. 16. 6.

19 Of Zebulun, Iſhmajah the ſon of Obadiah: of Naphtali, Jerimoth, the ſon of Azriel:

20 Of the children of Ephraim, Haſhea the ſon of Azaziah: of the half tribe of Manaſſeh, Joel the ſon of Pedajah:

21 Of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh in Gilead, Iddo the ſon of Zechariah: of Benjamin, Jaaſiel the ſon of Abner:

22 Of Dan, Azareel the ſon of Jeroham. Theſe were the princes of the Tribes s of Iſrael.

s Of the moſt of the Tribes, not of all: for Gad is omitted, probably becauſe that Tribe was joyned with the Reubenites under one Prince; and Aſher, for ſome ſuch reaſon; or for ſome other Cauſes now unknown, and not worth our Enquiry.

23 But David took not the number of them from twenty years old and under t: becauſe * the LORD had ſaid, he would increaſe Iſrael like to the ſtars of the Heavens u. * Gen. 15. 5.

t The meaning is, David when he deſired to number the People, he deſigned to number only thoſe who were from twenty years old and upward, or (which is the ſame thing) thoſe that drew ſword, 1 Chron. 21. 5. and not thoſe who were from twenty years old and under. u And therefore to number them all both above and under twenty years old, had been both an infinite trouble and a tempting of God, or a queſtioning of the Truth of his Promiſes. And poſſibly this Circumſtance might in part deceive or quiet David's Conſcience, that his deſire of knowing the number of his People, did not proceed from diſtruſt of God's Promiſe or Providence, but from a Prudent Care to know the true State and Strength of his Kingdom.

24 Joab the ſon of Zerujah began to number x, but he finiſhed not y, becauſe * there fell wrath for it againſt Iſrael z, neither † was the number put in the account of the Chronicles of king David a. * 2 Sam. 24. 15. Ch. 21. 7. † Heb. aſcended.

x To wit, All from twenty years old and upward, as David commanded him. y For Levi and Benjamin he counted not, 1 Chron. 21. 6. z Whilſt he was doing the Work; which was one reaſon which made him to ceaſe. Heb. And there fell, &c. Though David numbred them with Caution and Limitation, as was noted before, yet this did not hinder God's Wrath from falling upon Iſrael for this Sin. a The ſence is either 1. That the full number was not Regiſtred, becauſe Levi and Benjamin were not counted by Joab. Or rather 2. That David being ſenſible of and ſmarting for his Sin, would not have the number brought in by Joab to him, put into the publick Regiſter, though God would have it recorded in Scripture for the inſtruction of ſucceeding Ages. For he ſpeaks not here of the Account given in to the King, which was done, and was Joabs Act; but of the putting of the Account into the publick Records, which was not done, and which could not be done but by David's Command or Permiſſion.

25 And over the kings treaſures b was Azmaveth the ſon of Adiel: and over the ſtore-houſes c in the fields, in the cities, and in the villages; and in the caſtles, was Jehonathan the ſon of Uzziah.

b Of Gold or Silver, or other things of great price, which for greater ſecurity were kept in Jeruſalem and in the Kings Palace: and thither the Tribute-money alſo was ſent and committed to his Care. c Of the Fruits of the Earth, or that ſhare of them which belonged to the King, which were laid up in the Fields, or Cities, or Villages, or Caſtles, as there was conveniency and occaſion.

26 And over them that did the work of the field d for tillage of the ground, was Ezri the ſon of Chelub.

d Over the King's Husbandry.

27 And over the vineyards e was Shimei the Ramathite: † over the increaſe of the vineyards for the Wine cellars, was Zabdi the Shiphmite. † Heb. over that which was of the Vineyards.

e i. e. Over the Workmen and Labourers in the Vineyards; as the next Officer is over the Fruit of the Vineyards. In like manner, one Man was over the Labourers in the Fields, v. 26. and another over the Fruits of the Fields put into Stores after the manner, v. 25.

28 And over the olive-trees, and the ſycamore-trees that were in the low plains, was Baal-hanan the Gederite: and over the cellars of oil was Joaſh.

29 And over the herds that fed in Sharon f, was Shitrai the Sharonite, and over the herds that were in the valleys was Shaphat the ſon of Adlai.

f A place famous for its Fruitfulneſs. See Iſa. 33. 9. & 35. 2.

CHAP. XXVIII.

David in a ſolemn Aſſembly declareth Gods favour to him, and promiſe to his ſon Solomon: exhorteth them to fear God, and encourageth Solomon to build the Temple, 1——10. Giveth him a pattern for the form, and Gold and Silver for the materials, 11——21.

AND David aſſembled a all the * princes of Iſrael, the princes of the tribes, and * the captains of the companies that miniſtred to the kingly courſe, and the captains over the thouſands, and captains over the hundreds, and the * ſtewards over all the ſubſtance and || poſſeſſion of the king, and of his ſons, with the || officers, and with * the mighty men, and with all the valiant men unto Jeruſalem. * Ch. 27. 16. * Ch. 27. 1, 2. * Ch. 27. 25. || Or, cattel. || Or, eunuchs. * Ch. 11. 10.

a This Aſſembly ſeems to be diſtinct from that ch. 23. 2. and more general, as may be gathered from the perſons ſaid to be aſſembled here and there. Though others think them to be the ſame, and this to be a return to his former Diſcourſe.

2 Then David the king ſtood up upon his feet b, and ſaid, Hear me, my brethren c, and my people. As for me, I had in mine heart to build an houſe of reſt d for the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and e for the foot-ſtool of our God, and had made ready for the building:

b Partly out of Reverence to God and his Word, which was the Matter of the following Diſcourſe; and partly out of Reſpect to this great and honourable Aſſembly. c So he calls the Princes and chief Rulers, both becauſe they had a ſhare with him, though under him in the Government; and in compliance with the Divine Command, that the King ſhould not be lifted up above his brethren, Deut. 17. 20. d A place where it might be fixed, and no more removed from place to place, as it had been. e Which is here put expoſitively, for by the Footſtool, &c. he means the Ark.

3 But God ſaid unto me, * Thou ſhalt not build an houſe for my name, becauſe thou haſt been a man of war, and haſt ſhed † blood. * 2 Sam. 7. 5, 13. 1 Kin. 5. 5. Ch. 22. 8. † Heb. bloods.

4 Howbeit, the LORD God of Iſrael choſe me before all the houſe of my father to be king over Iſrael * for ever: for he hath choſen * Judah to be the ruler; and of the houſe of Judah, the houſe of my father; and among the houſe of my father, he liked me to make me king over Iſrael. * 2 Chr. 13. 5. * Gen. 49. 8. 1 Sam. 16. 13. 5 * And of all my ſons (for the LORD hath given me many ſons) he hath choſen f Solomon my ſon to ſit upon the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Iſrael. * Ch. 23. 1.

f It is not my Fancy or fond Affection, but Gods expreſs Will, that Solomon ſhould be preferred before his elder Brethren; and therefore all of you are obliged to ſubmit to him, and accept of him as your king by Divine Appointment.

6 And he ſaid unto me, * Solomon thy ſon, he ſhall build my houſe and my courts: for I have choſen him to be my ſon, and I will be his father. * 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Chr. 22. 9. 2 Chr. 1. 9.

7 Moreover, I will eſtabliſh his kingdom for ever, if he be † conſtant to do my commandments and my judgments, as at this day g. † Heb. ſtrong.

g As he hath begun and hitherto continued in ſome good meaſure to do.

8 Now therefore in the ſight of all Iſrael, the congregation of the LORD, and in the audience of our God h, keep and ſeek for all the commandments of the LORD i your God, that ye may poſſeſs this good land, and leave it for an inheritance for your children after you for ever.

h i. e. I do here exhort and charge you every one, calling God who is here preſent, and this Congregation wherein all Iſrael are preſent by their Repreſentatives, for Witneſs againſt you, if you do not follow my Counſel. i Keep thoſe Commands which you know, and ſeek for or ſearch into what you are yet ignorant of, that you may diſtinctly underſtand the whole will of God and all the parts of your Duty, and ſeriouſly give up your ſelves to the Practice thereof.

9 And thou, Solomon my ſon, know thou the God k of thy father, and ſerve him with a perfect heart, and with a willing mind; for * the LORD ſearcheth all hearts, and underſtandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts l: if thou ſeek him, he * 1 Sam. 16. 7. 1 King. 8. 39. will be found of thee; but if thou forſake him m, he will caſt thee off for ever n.

k Know him, ſo as to love him and ſerve him, as it follows: for Words of Knowledge in Scripture-uſe commonly imply Affection and Practiſe: or acknowledge him, as thy God, by loving and obeying him: For otherwiſe Solomon did already know God, having doubtleſs been very well inſtructed in the knowledge of Gods Nature and Law. l If thou doeſt only put on a Profeſſion of Religion to pleaſe me and ſecure thy hopes of the Kingdom; or if thy obedience to God be unſincere and with grudging, thou may'ſt indeed deceive me, but thou canſt not deceive him, for he ſearcheth thy inward Thoughts and the Motions of thy Heart. m If when I am dead and gone, and thou art perfectly at thy own diſpoſe, thou ſhalſt caſt off that Religion and Fear of God of which thou now makeſt Profeſſion, and ſhalt continue to do ſo without true Repentance for thine Errours. n Notwithſtanding all his Promiſes made to me and to my Seed, and that great Honour and Favour which he hath ſhewed to thee, with which poſſibly thou mayeſt flatter thy ſelf.

10 Take heed now, for the LORD hath choſen thee to build an houſe for the ſanctuary o, be ſtrong p and do it.

o Or, for a ſanctuary, i. e. which is to be a Sanctuary for him, to wit, for the Ark, to dwell in. p Take Courage and Reſolution to break through all Difficulties, Troubles, Diſcouragements or Oppoſitions which thou mayeſt poſſibly meet with.

11 Then David gave to Solomon his ſon the pattern of the porch q, and of the houſes thereof r, and of the treaſuries thereof, and of the upper chambers thereof, and of the inner parlours thereof s, and of the place of the mercy-ſeat t.

u For, Even the pattern of all: for this clauſe belongs both to the foregoing and to the following Particulars. x By the Spirit of God, as is evident from v. 19. For ſeeing all the particulars of the Tabernacle built by Moſes were ſuggeſted to him by Gods Spirit, by which even the Workmen were inſpired, Exod 25. 40. and 31. 3. it is not credible that God would uſe leſs care and exactneſs in the building of this far more glorious and durable Work. y All which were within the Courts or adjoyning to them, as the other Chambers, v. 11. were adjoyned to the Houſe.

13 Alſo for the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, and for all the work of the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, and for all the veſſels of ſervice in the houſe of the LORD.

14 He gave of gold by weight, for things of gold, for all inſtruments of all manner of ſervice, ſilver alſo for all inſtruments of ſilver, by weight, for all inſtruments of every kind of ſervice.

15 Even the weight for the candleſticks of Gold, and for their lamps of gold, by weight for every candleſtick, and for the lamps thereof: and for the candleſticks of ſilver by weight, both for the ‖ candleſtick, and alſo for the lamps thereof, according to the uſe of every candleſtick z.

16 And by weight he gave gold for the tables of ſhew bread a, for every table; and likewiſe ſilver for the tables of ſilver:

a By this and 2 Chron. 4. 19. it appears, that there were divers Tables to be uſed either ſucceſſively or together about the Shew-bread; but one of them ſeems to have been of more Eminency and uſe than the reſt, and therefore it is moſt commonly called the Table of the Shew-bread in the ſingular number. But of this and the reſt of the Utenſils here named, ſee the Notes on Exodus.

17 Alſo pure gold for the fleſh-hooks, and the bowls and the cups: and for the golden baſons he gave gold by weight for every baſon, and likewiſe ſilver by weight for every baſon of ſilver.

b i. e. Of the Cherubims, which Solomon was to make, of which ſee 1 King. 6. 23. (for thoſe which were faſtened to the Mercy-ſeat were made by Moſes long before) which he fitly compares to a Chariot, becauſe within them God is oft ſaid to ſit and to dwell, as 2 King. 19. 15. Pſal. 80. 1. & 99. 1. and ſometimes he is ſaid to ride upon a Cherub, Pſal. 18. 10. And becauſe a Chariot is made to carry a Perſon from place to place, this Expreſſion may be uſed to intimate that God was not ſo fixed to them by the building of this Temple, but that he both could and would remove from them if they forſook him. And when they did ſo, God did make uſe of the Chariot of his Cherubims to convey himſelf away from them, as is noted Ezek. 10. 15, &c. c Not above it, for that was done by Moſes his Cherubims, but before it, to keep it from the Eyes of the High-Prieſt, when he entered into the moſt Holy Place, 1 King. 6. 23.

d The meaning is either 1. That God revealed this to Samuel (ſee 1 Chron. 9. 22.) or Gad, or Nathan, or ſome other Man of God who put it into Writing, and by them to David. Or, 2. That God did, as it were, by his own Hand and Finger, (wherewith he wrote the Ten Commandments, Exod. 31. 18.) write theſe things upon the Table of my Mind, which now I deliver to thee.

20 And David ſaid to Solomon his ſon, Be ſtrong and of good courage e, and do it: fear not nor be diſmayed, for the LORD God, even my God, will be with thee, he will not fail thee, nor forſake thee, until thou haſt finiſhed all the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD.

21 And behold, the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, even they ſhall be with thee for all the ſervice of the houſe of God, and there ſhall be with thee for all manner of workmanſhip, every willing skilful man, for any manner of ſervice: alſo the princes and all the people will be wholly at thy commandment.

o Theſe Words may contain a reaſon, either 1. of the firſt clauſe of v. 14. Who am I, &c. i. e. What mean and contemptible Creatures are we, and how unworthy of ſo high a Favour? For, ſaith he here, we, I and my People, as it is v. 14. are ſtrangers, &c. poor Pilgrims who bring nothing into the World, and paſs haſtily thorough it, and can carry nothing with us out of it. Or rather 2. Of the laſt clauſe of that 14th verſe, of thine own, &c. For the Land which we poſſeſs is thine, not ours; we are not the Proprietors or perpetual Poſſeſſors of it, but only thy Tenants: and as our Fathers once were meer ſtrangers in it, even with or before Men, Pſal. 105. 12. ſo we at this day are no better with or before thee, having no abſolute Right and Title in it, but only to travel through it, and ſojourn in it for that ſhort time that we live in the World. And thus the Argument ſeems to be borrowed from Levit. 25. 23. where this is given as a reaſon why the Inheritances of the Land of Canaan could not be Sold for ever, but only till the Jubily, for, ſaith God, the land is mine, as to Dominion and Propriety, for ye were (or, for, or, but you are) only ſtrangers and ſojourners with me. p We only give to thee what we muſt ſhortly leave, and what we cannot keep to our ſelves: and therefore it is a great Favour that thou wilſt accept ſuch Offerings; or, and therefore we are not perpetual Poſſeſſors of this Land and the Fruits of it, but only Pilgrims and Paſſengers thorough it.

z i. e. Before the Ark, in Courts or Places as near to it as they conveniently could. Or, as in God's Preſence, in a Solemn and Religious manner, praiſing God for this great Mercy, and begging his Bleſſing upon this great Affair. a This is called the ſecond time in reference to the firſt time, which was either 1. when he was made King during Adonijah's Conſpiracy, of which ſee 1 King. 1. 34. &c. And ſo this was done after David's Death, and not upon that day, when this Feaſting and Solemnity laſted, as the words at firſt view ſeem to inſinuate, this being related in the ſame verſe, and immediately after the Relation of the Feaſt. But there are Examples of things done at diſtant times put together in one verſe, as Act. 7. 15. So Jacob went down into Egypt, and dyed, he and our Fathers, i. e. firſt he, and afterward our Fathers. So here, They did eat——————on that day with great gladneſs, and afterward they made Solomon——king the ſecond time. And this Opinion ſeems to be confirmed by the following Paſſages, in which it is related, that at this ſame time they anointed Zadok to be Prieſt, and that Solomon was King inſtead of David, and that all Iſrael, and all David's ſons ſubmitted to him: all which was not done till after David's Death, as may be gathered by comparing this with 1 King. 1. & 2. or 2. in 1 Chron. 23. 1. where it is ſaid that David——made Solomon his ſon king over Iſrael; i. e. he declared him his Succeſſor. And ſo this ſecond time was during David's Life. And what David had more privately declared, ch. 23. he now more ſolemnly owns in this great and general Aſſembly, in which by David's Order, and the Conſent of all that Aſſembly, Solomon was anointed King, i. e. to be King after his Father's Death. And this Opinion the Text ſeems moſt to favour. For it is ſaid, And they made Solomon king, &c. they, who? That muſt be fetched out of the foregoing Words and Verſes, they who did eat and drink before the Lord on that day with great gladneſs, as it is here ſaid, and then immediately it follows, and that with a copulative conjunction, and they made Solomon king, &c. which without violence cannot be pulled away from the foregoing Words. And therefore they muſt be David and all the Congregation, who were then preſent, v. 20. of whom it is ſaid, they ſacrificed, &c. v. 21. and they did eat, &c. and they made Solomon, &c. The great Objection againſt this Opinion is, that they anointed Zadok to be Prieſt at this time, which was not done till after David's death; for till then Abiathar was not thruſt out from being Prieſt, &c. 1 King. 2. 26, 27. This indeed is a difficulty, but not inſoluble. It muſt be remembred that the High-prieſt had his Vicegerent who might officiate in his ſtead, when he was hindred by ſickneſs or other indiſpenſable Occaſion; and that there ſeems to be ſomething more than ordinary in Zadock's caſe; for although Abiathar was properly the High-prieſt, yet Zadok ſeems after a ſort to be joyned in Commiſſion with him, as we ſee 2 Sam. 15. 29. & 19. 11. and it is expreſly ſaid, Zadock and Abiathar were Prieſts, 2 Sam. 20. 25. and 1 King. 4. 4. And it may be further conſidered, that this anointing of Zadok might be occaſioned by ſome miſcarriage of Abiathar not recorded in Scripture. Poſſibly he was unſatisfied with this deſign of Tranſlating the Crown to Solomon, and did now ſecretly favour Adonijah's Perſon and Right, which afterward he did more openly defend: Which being known to David by information, might induce him and the Princes who favoured Solomon to take this courſe. Which they might the more willingly do in conſideration of that Divine Threatning, 1 Sam. 2. 31. &c. of Tranſlating the Prieſthood from Ithamar's and Elis houſe, of which Abiathar was, to Eleazar's Line, to which it had been promiſed to perpetuity, Numb. 25. 13. of which Line Zadock was. And they might judge this a fit Seaſon, or might be directed by God at this time to Execute that Threatning to the one, and Promiſe to the other Family. And yet this Action of theirs in Anointing Zadok did not, as I ſuppoſe, actually conſtitute him High-prieſt, but only ſettled the Reverſion of it upon him and his Line after Abiathar's death. Even as David's making Solomon King, ch. 23. 1. and their anointing Solomon to be the chief Governour here, did not put him into actual Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom, but only gave him a Right to it in Reverſion after the preſent King's death, as Samuel's anointing of David, 1 Sam. 16. had done to David before him. Hence, notwithſtanding this Anointing, Abiathar continued to exerciſe his Office till Solomon thruſt him out, 1 King. 2. 27. and even after he was removed from the Execution of his Office, yet he was reputed the Prieſt till he died, being ſo called 1 Kings 4. 4. And this, I hope may in ſome ſort reſolve that difficulty. For the other Arguments they ſeem not conſiderable. For as for what follows, v. 23, 24, 25. Then Solomon ſat on the Throne, &c. that indeed ſeems to belong to the time after David's death, being ſufficiently ſeparated from this 22d. verſe; and not ſo knit to the foregoing Words, as thoſe words, and they made Solomon King, &c. are. And for the particle, then, that is confeſſed by all to be often uſed at large and indefinitely for, about, or after that time. b i. e. To be King after David's death. c Of which the laſt Note but one.

23 Then Solomon ſat on the throne of the LORD d as king in ſtead of David his father, and proſpered, and all Iſrael obeyed him.

Or, 3. The Throne of the Lord is put for, The Throne of the People of the Lord, by a conciſe and ſhort manner of Speech, which is frequent in the Hebrew Language, as when the Key of David is put for the Key of the Houſe of David; and the Mountain of the Lord, for the Mountain of the Lord's Houſe: Or 4. Becauſe this Throne fell to Solomon not by right of Inheritance, for he had elder Brethren, but by the ſpecial Appointment and Gift of the Lord. And ſo this, of the Lord, is the genitive caſe of the Efficient, as the Learned call it, and ſignifies, which the Lord gave him.

CHAP. I.

K. Solomon's ſolemn Offering at Gibeon, 1——6. His choice of Wiſdom, is bleſſed by GOD, 7——12. His Strength and Wealth, 13——17.

* 1 Kings, 2. 45. AND * Solomon the ſon of David was ſtreng-

* exceedingly.

a Or, eſtabliſhed, after his Seditious Brother Adonijah and his Partiſans were ſuppreſſed; and he was received with the univerſal Conſent and Joy of his Princes and People.

2 Then Solomon ſpake b unto all Iſrael, to the cap-b To wit, concerning his Intention of going to Gibeon, and that they ſhould attend him thither, as the next Verſe ſhews.

3 So Solomon, and all the congregation with him,
* 1 Kin. 3. 4. went to the high place c that was at * Gibeon, for there 1 Chr. 16. 39. was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which

* 1 Sam. 6. 17. 4 * But the ark of God had David brought up from 1 Chr. 16. 1. Kirjath-jearim, to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jeru-ſalem d.

d He ſeparated the Ark from the Tabernacle, and brought it to Jeruſalem, becauſe there he intended to build a far more noble and laſting Habitation for it.

* Exo. 38. 1 5 Moreover, * the brazen altar that Bezaleel the ſon

7 In that night h did God appear i unto Solomon, and ſaid unto him, Ask what I ſhall give thee.

h After thoſe Sacrifices were offered. i In a Dream, of which ſee the Notes on 1 King. 3. 5, &c.

5 And the houſe which I build is great e: for great is our God above all gods.

10 And behold, I will give to thy ſervants, the hewers that cut timber, twenty thouſand meaſures of beaten wheat, and twenty thouſand meaſures of barley, and twenty thouſand baths of wine, and twenty thouſand baths of oyl.

11 Then Huram the king of Tyre anſwered in writing, which he ſent to Solomon, Becauſe the LORD hath loved his people, he hath made thee king over them.

† Heb. knowing prudence and underſtanding.

12 Huram ſaid moreover, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael that made heaven and earth, who hath given to David the king a wiſe ſon, † endued with prudence and underſtanding, that might build an houſe for the LORD, and an houſe for his kingdom.

13 And now I have ſent a cunning man (endued with underſtanding) of Huram my fathers i; i i. e. Who was my Father's chief Work-man. Or, Huram Abi, a Man ſo called; the Prefix Lamed being here only a Note of the Accuſative Caſe. See more on ch. 4. 16.

14 The ſon of a woman of the daughters of Dan k, and his father was a man of Tyre, skilful to work in gold and in ſilver, in braſs, in iron, in ſtone and in timber, in purple, in blue, and in fine linnen, and in crimſon: alſo to grave any manner of graving, and to find out every device which ſhall be put to him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord l David thy father.

k Of which ſee the Notes on 1 King. 7. 14. l So he calls David here, and Solomon in the next Verſe, either out of ſingular reſpect to their Greatneſs and true Worth: or becauſe he was indeed Tributary to them: or, at leaſt, his Country was nouriſhed by their Country, as it was afterwards, Act. 12. 20.

15 Now therefore the wheat, and the barley, the oil, and the wine which my lord hath ſpoken of, let him ſend unto his ſervants:

m For David had not only numbred his own People, for which he ſmarted, 2 Samuel 24. but afterward he numbred the Strangers, not out of Vanity, but that Solomon might have a true Account of them, and employ them about his Buildings, as he ſaw fit. Yet Solomon thought fit to number them again, becauſe Death might have made a conſiderable Alteration among them ſince David's numbring of them; and it behoved him to have an exact Account of them.

* As it is verſe 2.

18 And he ſet * threeſcore and ten thouſand of them to be bearers of burdens, and fourſcore thouſand to be hewers in the mountains, and three thouſand and ſix hundred over-ſeers to ſet the people a work.

By which it is evident that there were Cubits of different ſorts and ſizes; which alſo appears from Ezek. 40. 5. and 43. 13. But how big thoſe Cubits were, and how much larger than the common Cubits, and whether this was the Cubit uſed by Moſes in the building of the Tabernacle, which ſeems moſt probable, or ſome other and yet larger Cubit, is not agreed among Learned Men, and cannot now be exactly known, nor is it of any great moment for us to know.

2 But I have built an houſe of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for ever.

3 And the king turned his face, and bleſſed the whole congregation of Iſrael, (and all the congregation of Iſrael ſtood)

4 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael, who hath with his hands fulfilled that which he ſpake with his mouth to my father David, ſaying,

5 Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt, I choſe no city among all the tribes of Iſrael to build an houſe in, that my name might be there, neither choſe I any man to be * a ruler over my people Iſrael:

* 2 Sam. 6. 21. 1 Chron. 28. 4.

6 But I have choſen Jeruſalem, that my name might be there, and have choſen David to be over my people Iſrael.

7 Now * it was in the heart of David my father, to build an houſe for the name of the LORD God of Iſrael.

* 2 Sam. 7. 2. 1 Chron. 28. 2.

8 But the LORD ſaid to David my father, Foraſmuch as it was in thine heart to build an houſe for my name, thou didſt well in that it was in thine heart:

9 Notwithſtanding, thou ſhalt not build the houſe, but thy ſon which ſhall come forth out of thy loins, he ſhall build the houſe for my name.

10 The LORD therefore hath performed his word that he hath ſpoken: for I am riſen up in the room of David my father, and am ſet on the Throne of Iſrael, as the LORD promiſed, and have built the houſe for the Name of the LORD God of Iſrael;

11 And in it have I put the ark, wherein is the covenant of the LORD, that he made with the children of Iſrael.

12 And he ſtood before the altar of the LORD, in the preſence of all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands;

13 (For Solomon had made a brazen Scaffold, of five cubits † long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and had ſet it in the midſt of † the court, and upon it he ſtood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands toward heaven)

14 And ſaid, O LORD God of Iſrael, * there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepeſt covenant, and ſheweſt mercy unto thy ſervants, that walk before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou which haſt kept with thy ſervant David my father, that which thou haſt promiſed him, and ſpakeſt with thy mouth, and haſt fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now therefore, O LORD God of Iſrael, keep with thy ſervant David my father, that which thou haſt promiſed him, ſaying, * † There ſhall not fail thee a man in my ſight to ſit upon the throne of Iſrael; yet ſo, that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou haſt walked before me.

18 Then will I eſtabliſh the throne of thy kingdom, according as I have covenanted with David thy father, ſaying, * † There ſhall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Iſrael. * Ch. 6. 16. † Heb. there ſhall not be cut off to thee.

19 * But if ye turn away, and forſake my ſtatutes and my commandments, which I have ſet before you, and ſhall go and ſerve other gods, and worſhip them: * Lev. 26. 14, 33. Deut. 28. 15, 36, 37.

20 Then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them; and this houſe which I have ſanctified for my name, will I caſt out of my ſight, and will make it to be a proverb, and a by-word among all nations.

21 And this houſe which is high, ſhall be an aſtoniſhment to every one that paſſeth by it; ſo that he ſhall ſay, * Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and unto this houſe! * Deut. 29. 24. Jer. 22. 8, 9.

22 And it ſhall be anſwered, Becauſe they forſook the LORD God of their fathers which brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods, and worſhipped them, and ſerved them: therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

CHAP. VIII.

Solomon's Buildings, 1——6. The Heathen who remained in the Land he maketh Tributaries: but the Iſraelites Rulers, 7——11. His yearly ſolemn Sacrifices: he appointeth to the Prieſts and Levites their places, 12——16. The Navy fetcheth Gold from Ophir, 17, 18,

AND * it came to paſs (at the end of twenty years, wherein Solomon had built the houſe of the LORD, and his own houſe.) * 1 Kings 9. 10.

2 That the cities which Huram had reſtored to Solomon a, Solomon built them, and cauſed the children of Iſrael to dwell there.

a Which Solomon gave to Hiram, who not being pleaſed with them, 1 King. 9. 12, 13. here returns them to him again.

3 And Solomon went to Hamath-zobah, and prevailed againſt it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderneſs b, and all the ſtore-cities, which he built in Hamath.

b Of this and the following verſes, ſee on 1 King. 9. 18. &c.

5 Alſo he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, fenced cities, with walls, gates and bars:

6 And Baalath, and all the ſtore-cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot-cities, and the cities of the horſemen, and † all that Solomon deſired to build in Jeruſalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion. † Heb. All the deſire of Solomon which he deſired to build.

7 As for all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, which were not of Iſrael,

8 But of their children who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Iſrael conſumed not, them did Solomon make to pay tribute unto this day.

9 But of the children of Iſrael did Solomon make no ſervants for his work: but they were men of war, and chief of his captains, and captains of his chariots and horſemen.

10 And theſe were the chief of king Solomons officers, even two hundred and fifty that bare rule over the people.

11 And Solomon * brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David, unto the houſe that he had built for her: for he ſaid, My wife ſhall not dwell in the houſe of David king of Iſrael, becauſe the places are † holy whereunto the ark of the LORD hath come c. * 1 King. 3. 1. & 7. 8. † Heb. Holineſs.

c Not becauſe every place where once the Ark came was thereby conſecrated to God, and might not after the Ark was gone be put to any common uſe; for then both the houſe of Obed-edom and all other places where the Ark either reſted or paſſed were made Holy thereby, and unlawful for Men to dwell in; but either 1. Becauſe ſhe was a Woman, and attended by many other Women, who beſides the common Pollutions of all, are ſubject to many and frequent Ceremonial Pollutions peculiar to their Sex, and either ſhe, or at leaſt many of her followers might be Heathens at this time; and therefore he thought it indecent that ſuch perſons ſhould come as it were in God's ſtead, and ſucceed him in the place where he had dwelt. Or, 2. He ſpeaks not of the time when the Ark was gone, but whil'ſt it was there; and theſe words contain a Reaſon not of the more remote words, why he now brought her up thither, but of the words immediately preceding, why he built this Houſe for her; becauſe the Ark was now in the Houſe of David, which therefore ought to be kept pure and free from the very Danger and Appearance of Pollution.

12 Then Solomon offered burnt-offerings unto the LORD, on the altar of the LORD, which he had built before the porch.

13 Even after a certain rate every * day, offering according to the commandment of Moſes, on the ſabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the Solemn feaſts, * three times in a year, even in the feaſt of unleavened bread, in the feaſt of weeks, and in the feaſt of tabernacles. * Exod. 29. 38. * Exod. 23. 14. Deut. 16. 16.

14 And he appointed according to the order of David his father, the * courſes of the prieſts to their ſervice, and * the Levites to their charges, to praiſe and miniſter before the prieſts, as the duty of every day required: the * porters alſo by their courſes at every gate: for † ſo had David the man of God d commanded. * 1 Chr. 24. 1. * 1 Chr. 25. 1. * 1 Chr. 9. 17. & 26. 1. † Heb. So was the commandment of David the man of God.

d i. e. A Prophet inſpired by God in theſe Matters, whoſe Commands therefore are the Commands of God.

15 And they departed not from the commandment of the king, unto the prieſts and Levites, concerning any matter, or concerning the treaſures.

16 Now all the work of Solomon was prepared e unto the day of the foundation of the houſe of the LORD, and until it was finiſhed: ſo the houſe of God was perfected.

e All the Materials were procured, and in all points ſquared and fitted and compleated before hand.

17 Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber f, and to ‖ Eloth, at the ſea-ſide in the land of Edom. ‖ Or, Elath, Deut. 2. 8.

18 And Huram ſent him by the hand of his ſervants, ſhips, and ſervants that had knowledge of the ſea, and they went with the ſervants of Solomon to Ophir, and took thence four hundred and fiſty talents of gold, and brought them to king Solomon.

CHAP. IX.

The queen of Sheba viſiteth Solomon, and admireth his wiſdom: giveth and receiveth preſents, 1——12. Solomon's Gold, his Target, 13——16. The throne of ivory, 17——19. His veſſels, his preſents, 20——24. His chariots and horſes; his tributes; his reign and death, 25—31.

*1 Kin. 10. 1, &c. Mat. 12. 42. Luk. 11. 31.

AND * when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, ſhe came to prove Solomon a with hard queſtions at Jeruſalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare ſpices, and gold in abundance, and precious ſtones: and when ſhe was come to Solomon, ſhe communed with him of all that was in her heart.

a Almoſt all this Chapter is contained in 1 King. 10. where it is explained.

2 And Solomon told her all her queſtions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.

3 And when the queen of Sheba had ſeen the wiſdom of Solomon, and the houſe that he had built,

‖ Or, butlers

4 And the meat of his table, and the ſitting of his ſervants, and the attendance of his miniſters, and their apparel, his ‖ cup-bearers alſo, and their apparel, and his aſcent, by which he went up into the houſe of the LORD, there was no ſpirit in her.

† Heb. word. ‖ Or, ſayings

5 And ſhe ſaid to the king, It was a true † report which I heard in mine own land, of ‖ thine acts, and of thy wiſdom.

6 Howbeit, I believed not their words, until I came, and mine eyes had ſeen it: and behold, the one half of the greatneſs of thy wiſdom was not told me: for thou exceedeſt the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are theſe thy ſervants, which ſtand continually before thee, and hear thy wiſdom.

8 Bleſſed be the LORD thy God, which delighted in thee to ſet thee on his throne, to be king for the LORD b thy God: becauſe thy God loved Iſrael, to eſtabliſh them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and juſtice.

b i. e. In the Lord's Name and Stead, both in general, becauſe all Kings have and hold their Kingdoms from God, and act as his Vicegerents and Deputies; and in a ſpecial manner, becauſe he ſat in God's own Throne, and ruled over God's Peculiar People, and did in a ſingular and eminent manner maintain the Honour and Worſhip of God in his Land, and in the Eyes of all the World beſides.

9 And ſhe gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of ſpices great abundance, and precious ſtones: neither was there any ſuch ſpice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.

10 And the ſervants alſo of Huram, and the ſervants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum-trees, and precious ſtones.

‖ Or, ſtayes. † Heb. high ways. Gr. aſcents.

11 And the king made of the algum-trees ‖ † terriſes to the houſe of the LORD, and to the kings palace, and harps and pſalteries for ſingers: and there were none ſuch ſeen before in the land of Judah.

12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba, all her deſire, whatſoever ſhe asked, beſides that which ſhe had brought c unto the king: So ſhe turned, and went away to her own land, ſhe and her ſervants.

c Beſides what he gave her of his Royal Bounty, as it is expreſſed, 1 King. 10. 13. which was in compenſation for her Preſents, as is here noted.

13 Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year, was ſix hundred and threeſcore and ſix talents of gold;

‖ Or, captains.

14 Beſides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and ‖ governours of the country, brought gold and ſilver to Solomon.

15 And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: ſix hundred ſhekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundred ſhields made he of beaten gold: three hundred ſhekels of gold went to one ſhield: and the king put them in the houſe of the forreſt of Lebanon.

17 Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold.

† Heb. hands.

18 And there were ſix ſteps to the throne with a foot-ſtool of gold, which were faſtened to the throne, and † ſtayes on each ſide of the ſitting-place, and two lions ſtanding by the ſtayes.

19 And twelve lions ſtood there, on the one ſide, and on the other, upon the ſix ſteps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.

† Heb. ſhut up. ‖ Or, there was no ſilver in them.

20 And all the drinking veſſels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the veſſels of the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon, were of † pure gold: ‖ none were of ſilver; it was not any thing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

‖ Or, elephants teeth.

21 For the kings ſhips went to Tarſhiſh with the ſervants of Huram: every three years once came the ſhips of Tarſhiſh bringing gold and ſilver, ‖ ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

22 And king Solomon paſſed all the kings of the earth in riches, and wiſdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth ſought the † preſence of Solomon, to hear his wiſdom that God put in his heart.

24 And they brought every man his preſent, veſſels of ſilver, and veſſels of gold, and rayment, harneſs, and ſpices, horſes, and mules, a rate year by year.

* 1 Kin. 4. 26. & 10. 26. Ch. 1. 14.

25 And Solomon * had four thouſand ſtalls d for horſes and chariots, and twelve thouſand horſemen, whom he beſtowed in the chariot-cities, and with the king at Jeruſalem.

29 Now the reſt of the * acts of Solomon firſt and laſt, are they not written in the † book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the viſions of * Iddo the ſeer e, againſt Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat?

e Mentioned alſo ch. 12. 15. ſuppoſed to be the ſame who is called Obed, ch. 15. 1. This, and the other Prophets mentioned, were alſo Hiſtorians, and wrote ſome Annals or Hiſtories of their times; out of which theſe Sacred and Canonical Books were taken, either by theſe, or other Prophets.

30 And Solomon reigned in Jeruſalem over all Iſrael forty years.

31 And Solomon ſlept with his fathers; and he was buried in the city of David his father, and Rehoboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. X.

Rehoboam made king. The Iſraelites by Jeroboam requeſt a relaxation, 1——5. Rehoboam refuſing the old men's counſel, by the advice of young men, anſwereth them roughly, 6——15. Ten tribes revolting, kill Hadoram, and make Rehoboam to flee, 16——19.

* 1 Kin. 12. 1, &c.

AND * Rehoboam went to Shechem a: for to Shechem were all Iſrael come to make him king.

a The Contents of this Chapter are in 1 King. 12. where ſee the Notes.

2 And it came to paſs when Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, (who was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the preſence of Solomon the king) heard it, that Jeroboam returned out of Egypt;

3 And they ſent b and called him. So Jeroboam and all Iſrael came, and ſpake to Rehoboam, ſaying, b Or, For (as that Particle is oft uſed, as hath been noted before) they had ſent, &c. So this is the Reaſon why he returned, as was ſaid, v. 2.

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous, now therefore eaſe thou ſomewhat the grievous ſervitude of thy father, and his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will ſerve thee.

5 And he ſaid unto them, come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam took counſel with the old men that had ſtood before Solomon his father, while he yet lived, ſaying, What counſel give ye me, to return anſwer to this people?

7 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, If thou be kind to this people, and pleaſe them, and ſpeak good words to them, they will be thy ſervants for ever.

8 But he forſook the counſel which the old men gave him, and took counſel with the young men that were brought up with him, that ſtood before him.

9 And he ſaid unto them, What advice give ye, that we may return anſwer to this people, which have ſpoken to me, ſaying, Eaſe ſomewhat the yoke that thy father did put upon us?

10 And the young men that were brought up with him, ſpake unto him, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou anſwer the people that ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it ſomewhat lighter for us: thus ſhalt thou ſay unto them, My little finger ſhall be thicker than my fathers loins.

11 For whereas my father † put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: my father chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions. † Heb. laded.

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king bade, ſaying, Come again to me on the third day.

13 And the king anſwered them roughly, and king Rehoboam forſook the counſel of the old men:

14 And anſwered them after the advice of the young men, ſaying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add thereto: my father chaſtiſed you with whips, but I will chaſtiſe you with ſcorpions.

15 So the king hearkened not unto the people, for the cauſe was of God, that the LORD might perform his word which he ſpake by the * hand of Ahijah the Shilonite, to Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat. * 1 Kin. 11. 29.

16 And when all Iſrael ſaw that the king would not hearken unto them, the people anſwered the king, ſaying, What portion have we in David? and we have none inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe: every man to your tents, O Iſrael: and now David, ſee to thine own houſe. So all Iſrael went to their tents.

17 But as for the children of Iſrael that dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then king Rehoboam ſent Hadoram that was over the tribute, and the children of Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones, that he died: but king Rehoboam † made ſpeed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jeruſalem. † Heb. rengthen- himſelf 19 And Iſrael rebelled againſt the houſe of David unto this day.

CHAP. XI.

Rehoboam raiſing an Army to ſubdue Iſrael, is forbidden by Shemaiah 1——4. He ſtrengthneth his Kingdom with Forts and Proviſion, 5——12. The Prieſts and Levites, and ſuch as feared God, forſaken by Jeroboam, who turneth Idolater, ſtrengthens the Kingdom of Judah, 13——17. The Wives and Children of Rehoboam, 18——23.

AND * when Rehoboam was come to Jeruſalem, he gathered of the houſe of Judah and Benjamin a an hundred and fourſcore thouſand choſen men which were warriours, to fight againſt Iſrael, that he might bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam. Kin. 12. 21, &c.

a Of this Verſe, and v. 2, 3, 4. ſee the Notes on 1 Kings, 12. 21, &c.

2 But the word of the LORD came to Shemajah the man of God, ſaying,

3 Speak unto Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon king of Judah, and to all Iſrael in Judah and Benjamin, ſaying,

4 Thus ſaith the LORD, Ye ſhall not go up, nor fight againſt your brethren: return every man to his houſe; for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the LORD, and returned from going againſt Jeroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jeruſalem, and built cities b for defence in Judah.

b i. e. Repaired, and enlarged, and fortified them: as building is oft uſed in Scripture, as hath been formerly proved: For theſe Cities, or divers of them, were built before, as appears from Joſ. 10. 10. & 12. 15. & 15. 24, 33, 35, 58. & 19. 42.

6 He built even Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Mareſha, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, Lachiſh, and Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Ajalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and in Benjamin, fenced cities.

11 And he fortified the ſtrong holds, and put captains in them, and ſtore of victuals, and oyl, and wine.

12 And in every ſeveral city c he put ſhields, and ſpears, and made them exceeding ſtrong, having Judah and Benjamin on his ſide.

c To wit, ſo fortified, as he ſaid v. 11.

13 And the prieſts and the Levites that were in all Iſrael, † reſorted to him out of all their coaſts. Heb. pre- ted mſelves him.

14 (For the Levites left their * ſuburbs, and their poſſeſſion, and came to Judah and Jeruſalem: for * Jeroboam and his ſons had caſt them off from executing the prieſts office unto the LORD d. * Num. 35. 2. * Ch. 13. 9.

d They would not ſuffer them to inſtruct and aſſiſt the Iſraelites in the Worſhip and Service of God, nor to go up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip in their Courſes: and theſe Prieſts would not joyn with them in the Worſhip of the Calves, as they were deſired and commanded to do; and therefore they willingly forſook all their Patrimonies and Poſſeſſions for God's ſake.

15 And he ordained him prieſts for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves e which he had made.)

e Or, for the high places, both for the Devils (i. e. the Baals, or falſe gods, which divers of his People worſhipped, whom he permitted and encouraged to do ſo, giving them liberty to do any thing but to ſerve God at Jeruſalem) and for the Calves. So he erected two ſorts of High-places, ſome for Baal, and ſome for the True God, whom he pretended and would be thought to worſhip, in and by the Calves.

16 And after them out of all the Tribes of Iſrael, ſuch as ſet their heart to ſeek the LORD God of Iſrael f, came to Jeruſalem, to ſacrifice unto the LORD God of their fathers.

f Such as loved and feared God in truth, and with their whole Heart.

17 So they ſtrengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon ſtrong three years: for three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon g.

g This honourable mention of Solomon, as a Pattern of Piety, is a conſiderable Evidence of his true Repentance before his death: of which ſee more on 1 King. 11. 43.

18 And Rehoboam took him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab, the ſon of Jeſſe:

19 Which bare him children; Jeuſh, and Shamariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her, he took * Maachah the daughter of Abſalom, which bare him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith. * 1 Kin. 15. 2. She is called Michaiah the daughter of Uriel. Cha. 13. 2.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maachah the daughter of Abſalom above all his wives and his concubins: (for he took eighteen wives, and threeſcore concubins, and begat twenty and eight ſons and threeſcore daughters.)

22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the ſon of Maachah the chief, to be ruler among his brethren h: for he thought to make him king.

h He declared him his Succeſſor, and gave him the Dominion over his Brethren: wherein (if he was not the Firſt-born, as it ſeems to be implyed, becauſe this is mentioned as an Effect of his Superlative Love to his Mother) he tranſgreſſed that Law, Deut. 21. 15, 16. unleſs God was pleaſed to diſpence with it at this time.

23 And he dealt wiſely, and diſperſed i of all his children throughout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin, unto every fenced city k: and he gave them victuals in abundance: and deſired † many wives l. † Heb. a multitude of wives.

i Leſt his other Sons ſhould after his death unite their Counſels and Forces together againſt Abijah, he wiſely diſperſed them into ſeveral and diſtant Places, and under pretence of honouring them with the Government of them, he made them Priſoners in a ſort, appointing ſeveral perſons to obſerve their motions, and prevent their Combinations.

k Agreeable to their Quality, that their Reſtraint might be more eaſie to them. l Either 1. for his Children: Or rather, 2. for himſelf, by comparing this with v. 21.

CHAP. XII.

Rehoboam forſaking the LORD is puniſhed by Shiſhak, 1——4. Shemajah reproveth him: He with the Princes repenteth: Is preſerved in his kingdom; but is ſpoiled of the treaſures of the temple, and of his royal palace, 5——12. His reign and death, and Abijah his ſon is made king, 13——16.

AND it came to paſs when Rehoboam had eſtabliſhed the kingdom, and had ſtrengthened himſelf, * he forſook the law of the LORD, and * all Iſrael with him. * 1 Kin. 14. 22. * Ch. 11. 3. & 28. 19.

2 And it came to paſs, that in the fifth year a of king Rehoboam, Shiſhak king of Egypt came up againſt Jeruſalem (* becauſe they had tranſgreſſed againſt the LORD) * 1 Kin. 14. 24, 25.

a Preſently after the Apoſtacy of the King and People, which was in his fourth year, by comparing this with ch. 11. 17.

3 With twelve hundred chariots, and threeſcore thouſand horſemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt, the Lubims b, the Sukkiims c, and the Ethiopians d.

b A People of Africa bordering upon Egypt: of whom ſee ch. 16. 8. Dan. 11. 43. Nah. 3. 9. c A People living in Tents, as the Word ſignifies; and ſuch there were not far from Egypt, both in Africa and in Arabia. d Either thoſe beyond Egypt, or the Arabians.

4 And he took the fenced cities which pertained to Judah, and came to Jeruſalem.

5 Then came Shemajah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together to Jeruſalem becauſe of Shiſhak, and ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD, Ye have forſaken me, and therefore have I alſo left you in the hand of Shiſhak.

6 Whereupon the princes of Iſrael, and the king humbled themſelves, and they ſaid, The LORD is righteous.

7 And when the LORD ſaw that they humbled themſelves e, the word of the LORD came to Shemajah, ſaying, They have humbled themſelves, therefore I will not deſtroy them, but I will grant them || ſome deliverance, and my wrath ſhall not be poured out f upon Jeruſalem by the hand of Shiſhak.

e Which though they did not forcedly, yet God was pleaſed ſo far to regard it, as to mitigate their Calamity. f I will give ſome ſtop to the courſe of my Wrath, which was ready to be poured forth upon them to their utter Deſtruction.

8 Nevertheleſs, they ſhall be his ſervants; that they may know my ſervice, and the ſervice of the kingdoms of the countries g.

g That they may experimentally know and feel the Difference between my Yoke and the Yoke of a Forreign and Idolatrous Prince, and what Miſchief they have done to themſelves by forſaking me and my Service.

9 So Shiſhak king of Egypt came up againſt Jeruſalem, and took away the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD, and the treaſures of the kings houſe h, he took all: he carried away alſo the ſhields of gold, which Solomon had * made.

* 1 Kin. 10. 16. Ch. 9. 15.

h Upon which Condition, and Rehoboam's Submiſſion to him he delivered up to him the fenced Cities of Judah, which he had taken, v. 4. But of this, and the two next verſes, ſee on 1 Kin. 14. 26, &c.

10 Inſtead of which king Rehoboam made ſhields of braſs, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, that kept the entrance of the kings houſe.

11 And when the king entred into the houſe of the LORD, the guard came and ſet them, and brought them again into the guard-chamber.

12 And when he humbled himſelf, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, that he would not deſtroy him altogether: || and alſo in Judah things went well i.

|| Or, and yet in Judah there were good things.

i Heb. There were good things. The meaning is either 1. Though there were many Corruptions in Judah, yet there were alſo divers good things there, which were not in Iſrael, as the Word and Ordinances, and pure Worſhip of God, Prophets and Miniſters of God's Inſtitution, and divers truly Religious People. And ſo this is an additional Reaſon why God would not deſtroy them. Or, 2. Notwithſtanding this loſs, they began to recruit themſelves, and to regain ſome degree of their former Proſperity. Whence it follows, v. 13. So, there being ſome reſpite given, and Peace being reſtored, Rehoboam ſtrengthened himſelf, &c.

13 So king Rehoboam ſtrengthened himſelf in Jeruſalem and reigned: for * Rehoboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned ſeventeen Years in Jeruſalem, the city which the LORD had choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, to put his Name there: and his mothers name was Naamah an Ammoniteſs.

k Or, directed not: or, ſettled not, &c. i. e. Although he humbled himſelf, and ſeemed penitent for a ſeaſon, and profeſſed the True Religion and Worſhip of God; yet he quickly relapſed into his former Sins, becauſe he was not ſincere nor ſerious in his Actions, and his Heart was not right with God.

15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, firſt and laſt, are they not written in the † book of Shemajah the prophet, and of Iddo the ſeer, concerning genealogies l? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jereboam continually.

2 He reigned three years in Jeruſalem: (his mothers name alſo was Micajah the daughter of Uriel a of Gibeah) and there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

a Called Maachah the Daughter of Abſolom, 1 King. 15. 2. She might be Daughter to one, and Grand-daughter to the other; or the proper and natural Daughter of the one, and the others by Adoption; of which there are Inſtances in Scripture: or the ſame Perſon might be called Uriel and Abſalom. See 1 King. 15. 2.

3 And Abijah † ſet the battel in aray c, with an army of valient men of war, even four hundred thouſand choſen men: Jeroboam alſo ſet the battel in aray againſt him with eight hundred thouſand men, being mighty men of valour.

c Againſt Jeroboam. We need not ſcrupulouſly enquire into the Lawfulneſs of this War, for this Abijah, though here he makes a fair Flouriſh and maintained the better Cauſe, yet was indeed an Ungodly Man, 1 King. 15. 3. and therefore minded not the ſatisfaction of his Conſcience, but only the Recovery of his Parents Ancient Dominions.

4 And Abijah ſtood up upon mount Zemaraim d, which is in mount Ephraim, and ſaid, Hear me, thou Jeroboam, and all Iſrael.

d Some commodious Place whence his Voice might be heard by Jeroboam, and ſome of his Hoſt, who poſſibly were pitched in the Valley. Or, the two Armies being pitched near to one another, Abijah might deſire a Parly before they fought; whereupon Jeroboam, and ſome of his Commanders and Souldiers, might draw near to him, and ſtand below him at the bottom of the Hill, where they might hear his Speech: which Jeroboam was the more willing to do, that in the mean time he might cauſe an Ambuſhment to come behind Abijah and his Army, as he did v. 13. whileſt he was quietly ſtanding before them, and ſeemed to hearken to any Terms of Accommodation which might be offered.

5 Ought ye not to know, that the LORD God of Iſrael gave the kingdom over Iſrael to David for ever, even to him and to his ſons by a covenant of ſalt e?

e i. e. By a perpetual Covenant, which thy Uſurpation cannot diſanul. For the Phraſe ſee on Numb. 18. 19.

6 Yet Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, the ſervant of Solomon the ſon of David, is riſen up and hath * rebelled againſt his lord.

7 And there are gathered unto him vain men, the children of Belial f, and have ſtrengthened themſelves againſt Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young g and tender-hearted h, and could not with-ſtand them.

f Such as have caſt off the Yoke and Obedience which they owed both to God and to their King. g Not in Age, for he was then 41 years old, but in his Kingdom, which he had but newly obtained, and in Experience in Politick, and eſpecially in Military Affairs, to which he was wholly a ſtranger, as having been born and bred up in a time of great Peace and Security. h i. e. Cowardly and fearful, who durſt not adventure to chaſtiſe the Rebels as he ſhould have done. But herein Abijah forgets his Duty both to his Father, whom he falſely traduceth; and to God, by whoſe Expreſs Command Rehoboam was reſtrained from the War againſt Iſrael, which otherwiſe he had both Courage and Reſolution to proſecute, as appears from the Hiſtory, 1 King. 12. 21.

8 And now ye think to with-ſtand the kingdom of the LORD, in the hand of the ſons of David i, and ye be a great multitude k, and there are with you golden calves l, which Jeroboam * made you for gods m.

i That Kingdom which was not ſet up by Vain Men in purſuance of their own Ambition and Diſcontent, as yours was, but ordained and eſtabliſhed by God himſelf in the Houſe of David. k Or, becauſe (that Hebrew Particle being oft ſo uſed) ye be, &c. This he mentions partly as the ground of their Confidence, that they had more Tribes and a greater Hoſt; and partly as a preſage of their Downfal, which truſting to the Arm of Fleſh is. l Or, but there are, &c. There is that among you which may damp your Courage and Confidence: You worſhip thoſe Images which God abhors and ſeverely forbids. m Or, for God, as that plural word is moſt commonly uſed, i.e. inſtead of God, to give them the Name of God, as Exod. 32. 4. and that worſhip which is peculiar to him.

9 * Have ye not caſt out the prieſts of the LORD, the ſons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you prieſts after the manner of the nations of other lands? ſo that whoſoever cometh † to conſecrate himſelf n with a young bullock, and ſeven rams, the ſame may be a prieſt of them that are no gods o.

12 And behold God himſelf is with us † for our captain, and his prieſts with ſounding trumpets to cry alarm againſt you x: O children of Iſrael, * fight ye not againſt the LORD God of your fathers y, for ye ſhall not proſper.

13 But Jeroboam cauſed an ambuſhment to come about behind them z: ſo they were before Judah, and the ambuſhment was behind them.

z Whileſt Abijah was diſcourſing, Jeroboam takes the advantage of it to lay an Ambuſh.

14 And when Judah looked back, behold, the battel was before and behind: and they cried unto the LORD, and the prieſts ſounded with the trumpets.

15 Then the men of Judah gave a ſhout; and as the men of Judah ſhouted, it came to paſs that God ſmote a Jeroboam and all Iſrael before Abijah and Judah.

a By ſtrengthning the Hearts and Hands of the Men of Judah, and taking away the Spirits and Power of their Enemies; and, it may be, by ſome extraordinary Aſſiſtance.

16 And the children of Iſrael fled before Judah: and God delivered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people ſlew them with a very great ſlaughter: ſo there fell down ſlain of Iſrael five hundred thouſand b choſen men.

b A vaſt number: but it hath been oft obſerved and recorded by ſacred and profane Hiſtorians, that in thoſe antient times there were very numerous Armies, and oft times very great Slaughters; and if this Slaughter was more than ordinary, there is nothing ſtrange nor incredible, becauſe the Almighty God fought againſt the Iſraelites.
